EFFICIENCY BILL IS POSTPONED BY HOUSE UNTIL NEXT MONDAY

Drastic Amendments Are Proposed to Meet Objections Raised.

Board of Control and Railroad Commission to Be Retained.

Board of Health to Be Made a Separate Department.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a vote of 81 to 7 on a motion by opponents, the special order on the efficiency and economy bill was postponed by the house today until next Monday. The friends of the bill, on a motion by Representative Bjornson, sought to have it postponed until Thursday only, but Representative Gordon, moved as an amendment to put it over until Monday.

It understood that friends of the bill are planning drastic amendments to it which will meet the objections of the strongest and most active opponents. The railroad and warehouse commission will be left as it is, as a result of one of these amendments, and will also retain control of the grain inspection; the board of health will be a separate department; and the board of control will be retained in its present form. These amendments, it is hoped, will placate the most active opponents of the bill among the state officers.

Gordon Measure First.

The postponement will bring the Gordon committee measure before the house first, as it is a special order for Friday.

Will the efficiency bill pass the house? You can get almost any sort of answer you wish to that question. On the whole, the chances seem to be that it will pass. Yet these chances do not seem quite so strong today as they were a couple of weeks ago. For one thing, there is something like an organized opposition to the bill today, and there was only an organized support of the bill then. For another, the schedule of salaries inserted in the bill by the Spooner committee has sounded an

SMALL CONCESSIONS.

Austrian Emperor Has Not Refused to Give Italy Anything.

Rome, Sunday, March 14, via Paris, March 15.—The report current in Rome today that Francis Joseph, emperor of Austria, had absolutely rejected the idea of any territorial concessions to Italy has been given authoritative denial. The situation seems to be that the little Austria is reluctantly disposed to concede is so inadequate compared to what Italy would accept that an understanding seems hopeless.

Premier Salandra in the chamber of deputies today made remarks interpreted as meaning that the efforts to induce Austria to make concessions to Italy are proceeding under the guidance of Prince Von Buelow, the German ambassador to Italy.

FOR CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Bills Are Reported to the House Without Recommendation.

House to Consider Bill Prohibiting Future Trading in Grain.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The restoration of capital punishment in this state, with the provision that execution shall be by electrocution and in the state penitentiary, is provided for in bills by Representative Ernest C. Pless of Gibbon, reported to the house without recommendation this morning by the committee on crimes and punishment. It also is provided that the death penalty shall be imposed only when it is fixed by the jury in its verdict.

Trading in Grain Futures.

The house wrangled for an hour this morning over the question whether it should consider the A. F. Teigen bill prohibiting future trading in grain. The grain and warehouse committee recommended its defeat, but a minority report recommended that it be printed and placed on general orders. The minority report was adopted by a vote of 82 to 19, and the bill went to the foot of a long list of general orders.

Representative Pless, who made the principal talk for the majority report, said it will be impossible to prohibit future trading, which the friends of the bill declare to be gambling, without also prohibiting hedging, which they admit to be legitimate, and which is a protection to the producer by stabilizing prices. Moreover, he said, to eliminate hedging in Minnesota would hit the little fellow, while the big fellow could still protect himself by hedges in the markets of other states.

Those who supported the minority report, while not by any means all favoring the bill, said it was asked for by the producers of the state, and

DULUTH MEN CONFIDENT

Feel Assured of Winning in the County Division Fight.

Much Interest in High Tax Levies in Some Communities.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county division fight, so far as St. Louis county is concerned, is nearing its close. The range bill is a special order for a week from tomorrow in the house. It is still in committee in the senate, and will not be moved there until after the house has acted.

The Duluth house members are confident of the result, for these reasons:

1. Because the introduction of similar bills affecting Otter Tail and Polk counties has shown the legislature what it would mean to establish the precedent of county division by secession—that is, county division by the votes of whatever section of a county might choose to cut itself off into a new county, giving the rest of the county no voice in the matter whatever.

2. Because the injustice of the proposed system of county division has aroused the spirit of fair play that is in every man's heart.

3. Because while there is no evidence of any great inconvenience to anybody in the present situation, it is obvious to everybody that whatever inconvenience there may be will not be remleded by division, while the FIRE IN SUBWAY TIES UP TRAFFIC IN N. Y.

New York, March 15.—Fire early today in the new subway under construction on Seventh avenue between Forty-second and Forty-fifth streets filled the streets with smoke, tied up traffic on a portion of the old Broadway subway and some of the adjacent surface lines and drove hundreds of guests from the hotels clustering about Times square.

The fire was attributed to a short circuit said to have been caused by a workman who drove his drill into a large power cable. The firemen tore up the timbers over the subway and cut and attacked the smoldering wires with sand.

KRONPRINZ WILHELM HAS SUNK THIRTEEN.

Rio Janeiro, March 15.—The German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, which has aboard 500 German sailors, has sunk thirteen vessels since she began her raid on commerce, according to the passengers and crew of the French steamer Guadeloupe, who were taken to Pernambuco by the British steamer Churchill. The Guadeloupe was sent to the bottom by the Kronprinz Wilhelm near the Island of Fernando de Noronha off the eastern extremity of Brazil.

TORPEDOED BOATS ALL WENT DOWN.

London, March 15.—The British steamers Florazan, Headlands and Hartdale, torpedoed by German submarines, all have sunk according to an announcement made by the British admiralty today.

Earlier reports held out the hope that these vessels, attacked within the last few days by German raiders, had not been destroyed and might be brought into port.

Hearing in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 15.—Hearing of the petition of railroads operating in Oklahoma to have re-established 3-cent fare for intra-state passenger traffic was begun in Federal district court here today.

GEN. CARRANZA RAISES BLOCKADE OF PROGRESO AT THE DEMAND OF U. S.

American Ships Loaded With Sisal Sail Without Interference.

Mexican Gunboat Had Stopped Both U. S. and British Shipping.

Text of President Wilson's Note in Answer to Carranza.

Washington, March 15.—Gen. Carranza has abandoned his blockade of the port of Progreso on urgent representations by the United States.

The Mexican gunboat Zaragosa has been called off and two American ships laden with sisal for the United States were cleared Saturday without interference.

Rear Admiral Caperton, commanding the American fleet in Mexican waters, reported the raising of the blockade early today, and reported that the Zaragosa has returned to Vera Cruz.

The admiral's dispatch crossed a new note from the United States to Carranza this morning giving notice that the United States was determined to raise the blockade and, if necessary, use the cruiser Des Moines to do so.

Stopped American Ship.

It became known for the first time today that last week the Mexican gunboat had stopped one American ship with a shot across her bows, had held up another and had interfered with British shipping.

The seriousness of the situation growing out of the blockade of Progreso was pointed out by Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture, who advised the president that 200,000,000 pounds of twine are used each year in the United States in binding grain, flax and corn crops, and that nine-tenths of the supply is made from sisal grown in Yucatan and exported through Progreso.

BISHOP JOSEPH FOX OF WISCONSIN DEAD

Head of Green Bay Catholic Diocese Dies From Operation.

Chicago, March 15.—Bishop Joseph Fox of the Catholic diocese of Green Bay, Wis., who was taken to the Alexian Brothers' hospital March 1 for a serious operation, died late yesterday.

Friends of Bishop Fox had been encouraged by the great improvement shown in his condition after the operation, and last week he was believed to be out of danger and was looking forward to returning to his charge. His physicians yesterday observed distressing conditions and his heart action was found to be weaker. Several hours later he succumbed.

Funeral services will be held in Green Bay, where the body will be taken tomorrow.

FEWER MINERS LOST THEIR LIVES IN 1914.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 15.—More than 1,000 lives were lost in and about the mines of Pennsylvania in 1914, according to statistics made public today by the state department of mines. There were 600 men and boys killed in the anthracite mines, a reduction of 24 as compared with 1913, and 413 lost their lives in the bituminous regions, a decrease of 198 compared with the previous year.

The total production of coal in the state was 235,251,835 tons.

The number of persons employed in and about the mines last year was 376,831.

OFFERS 9,000 GREEKS FOR THE DARDANELLES

Mrs. Spohrleder had been an invalid for thirty years. Her husband devoted his time to her care until he became ill six weeks ago, since which time both prayed daily that they might be called together. Mr. Spohrleder died at 6 o'clock and his wife passed away fifty minutes later.

BRITISH ORDER, CUTTING OFF ALL SUPPLIES FOR GERMAN EMPIRE, GIVEN TO PUBLIC

Text of Retaliatory Measure Is Announced By Council.

Provisions Applying to Shipping of Most Drastic Nature.

London, March 15.—The British order in council decreeing retaliatory measures on the part of the government to meet the declaration of the Germans that the waters surrounding the United Kingdom are a military area was made public today.

The text of the order in council follows:

"Whereas, The German government has issued certain orders, which, in violation of the usages of war, purport to declare that the waters surrounding the United Kingdom are a military area in which all British and allied merchant vessels will be destroyed irrespective of the safety of the lives of the passengers and the crews, and in which neutral shipping will be exposed to similar danger in view of the uncertainties of naval warfare.

"And, whereas, In the memorandum accompanying the said orders, neutrals are warned against intrusting crews, passengers or goods to British or allied ships.

Right of Retaliation.

"And, whereas, Such attempts on the part of the enemy give to his majesty an unquestionable right of retaliation.

"And whereas, His majesty has therefore decided to adopt further measures in order to prevent commodities of any kind from reaching or leaving Germany, although such measures will be enforced without risk, to neutral ships or to neutral or non-combatant life, and in strict observance of the dictates of humanity.

"And whereas, The allies of his majesty are associated with him in the steps now to be announced for restricting further the commerce of Germany, his majesty is therefore pleased

U-29 GETS FIVE IN THREE DAYS

Fast German Submarine Sinks Four British and One French Ship.

Three Other Vessels in English Channel Damaged By Elusive Craft.

London, March 15.—The submarine U-29, one of the largest and fastest of Germany's under-water craft, had a successful three days off the Scilly islands and in the English channel, where on Thursday, Friday and Saturday she succeeded in sinking four British steamers and one French steamer, and in damaging three others.

The German commander gave the crews of most of the steamers time to leave their vessels, and in some cases, towed the ship's lifeboats with the crew, to passing steamers, by which they were brought to port.

The U-29 was chased by patrol boats, but proved too elusive for them, while steamers which tried to ram or escape her, found that the submarine was much faster than similar craft which had been sent previously on a mission to destroy Great Britain's overseas trade.

With a German submarine in the waters around the Scilly islands, which the big liners pass on their way across the Atlantic, there is much uwneasiness in shipping circles, and the report, which also reached the American liner New York by wireless, was circulated to the effect that one of them had been torpedoed. This report, it is believed, arose from the sinking of the

SURROUNDED BY RUSSIANS FOR MONTHS

Russians Believe Present Attempt Will Result in Failure.

Mystery Envelops Von Hinderburg's Latest Advance Into Poland.

British Successes at Neuve Chappelle Greater Than Reported.

Petrograd, March 15, via London—Austrian forces, supported by a large German contingent, again are making a determined effort to relieve the Przemysl fortress in Galicia, besieged by the Russians since the early months of the war.

Having failed in their movement in East Galicia near Stanislau, when they hoped to strike northwest in the direction of Przemysl, and having transferred the center of their operations further to the west, they are now attempting to take the direct route from Ujok pass to the north. In the vicinity of Stuben, almost half way between Ujok and Przemysl, the Austrians encountered serious Russian resistance and the success of their movement depends upon the outcome of their concentrated efforts to break through the Russian lines at this point.

Russian military authorities today expressed confidence that the present advance toward Przemysl will result in failure.

Enveloped in Mystery.

London, March 15.—Mystery envelopes the progress of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's latest advance into Poland, but it is the opinion of British observers that the vast forces along the line from the Niemen to the Vistula cannot much longer be kept from decisive contact unless the direction of the German offensive undergoes a radical change.

At the present time the meager information coming through of the operations in the eastern arena indicates that the Germans have been successful in the forest of Augustowo, whence the Russians have fallen back under the guns of Grodno. Further to the south, in the Mlawa region, the German advance has been stayed and the Russians are initiating an advance on the northern bank of the Vistula in the direction of Plock. So far as the Germans are concerned, however, all of these movements may be abandoned and Central Poland again become the scene of a determined attack on Warsaw. It is recalled that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg never has been fond of moving far from his line of rail communication.

YOUNG TURKS ARE PREPARING TO FLEE

Paris, March 15.—The Havas agency publishes this dispatch from its correspondent at Athens:

"News reaching here from Constantinople, sets forth that the Young Turks are beginning to find their position difficult and are preparing for flight.

"The Germans, many of whom have sent their families to places of safety, continue their efforts to convince the Turks that the Dardanelles are impregnable, but the inhabitants are showing much uneasiness.

"The Sultan Selim, formerly the German cruiser Goeben, undoubtedly is out of commission. There is a rent in her armor eighteen yards long, said today to have been caused by a Turkish mine."

LOSING PATIENCE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The British government's plan in cooperation with its allies of cutting off trade to and from Germany was announced today in London. It contains drastic provisions, not only for holding up ships to and from German ports, but for confiscation of goods of German origin or destination which are shipped from neutral ports.

Authoritative denial was given in Rome today of a report that Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria had refused to consider making territorial concessions to Italy.

Today's official war reports show that fighting of increasing violence is in progress in the west. The Germans yesterday made attacks in force against the British near the Francco-Belgian border and against the French in Champagne and the Argonne. According to the French version, all these assaults were repulsed. The German report says the Germans made good progress south of Ypres.

The Berlin statement indicates that the Russians are making strong efforts to repulse the new German advance on Prasnysz.

A new phase of the campaign in the east has developed, in an attempt by Austro-German forces in Galicia to relieve Przemysl, whose resistance month after month to the investing Russian army has been one of the striking episodes of the war.

A Paris newspaper publishes a report that before his resignation Premier Venizelos of Greece offered 9,000 men to the entente powers for the Dardanelles expedition. The former premier is now quoted as urging the abandonment of neutrality by Greece.

Bulgaria is represented as considering the expediency of entering the war, but as being undecided whether she would assist Turkey or her opponents.

The young Turks, under whose leadership Turkey went into the war, according to one report from Greece, may flee from Constantinople.

The British admiralty announces that the steamers Florazan, Headlands and Hartdale, previously reported torpedoed by German submarines, have all gone to the bottom.

In France and Belgium, offensive operations at present rest chiefly with the allies.

CHRISTIAN MUST LIVE CHRIST LIFE

Complication of Beliefs Puts Religion in Bad Light, Says Pastor.

In speaking yesterday morning on "What Is Christianity?" Rev. Herbert Ford, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues, said that the great variety of creeds posing as Christianity have had a disastrous effect and that many of them had put Christianity in bad repute. These, he said, had bewildered many honest seekers after truth and resulted in making religious quackery easy. He said:

"In seeking to know what is the real Christianity, we find that there are several things which Christianity is not. It is not a system of theology; it is not identical with any particular ecclesiastical organization; neither is it characterized by any one type of emotional disturbance. Furthermore, it is not a set of minute rules of conduct, not even a literal observance of the recorded sayings of Jesus, nor a blind imitation of His acts. Lastly, it is not a mere system of social betterment.

"Real Christianity consists of three elements: A belief in God and in the spiritual supremacy of Jesus, an acceptance into the individual life of the spirit of Jesus, which is the spirit of love and unselfishness; a personal surrender of the will to God. If these three conditions are met, there will inevitably follow a high standard of personal morality, not by set rules, but by following out the spiritual supremacy of Jesus; and acceptance into the individual life of the spirit of Jesus.

NEW BUILDING FOR A FIRE HALL

Tentative Plans Are Made to Build as Soon as Fund Is Raised.

A new building for the firehall, planned early last fall, will be built within the next two years, but how soon is still a question with the public safety department. Commissioner W. A. Hicken said this morning that tentative plans had been made, and it was proposed to build the firehall just as soon as the fund for the purpose could be appropriated.

It is rumored that the old firehall on Cody and Central avenue has been resold by the railroad company, and that the new owners intend remodeling it for a garage. According to the terms of sale, the city still has two years before it is necessary to find other quarters for Engine Company No. 8.

The new firehall is to be erected on the northwest corner of Cody and Central avenue. The building will have a frontage of fifty feet and will be about 110 feet deep. In the rear of the building provisions will be made for the West Duluth police station, and it is planned to make arrangements for a courtroom over the police station.

The plans will have to be carried out no matter what candidates are elected this spring, according to the opinion of Mr. Hicken.

UNCONSCIOUS AS RESULT OF BEATING

Woman Accuses Landlady of Assault—Latter Is Arrested.

The aftermath of a quarrel, said to have started Saturday when Mrs. Peter Sejovich announced her desire to move out of Mrs. Jevana Lumovich's house, occurred yesterday morning when the latter is claimed to have beaten the former and rendered her unconscious. The assault is said to have occurred when Mrs. Sejovich started moving.

The woman was still unconscious when Dr. O. S. Olson arrived. She had a small cut on her head which the physician said was not serious. Mrs. Lumovich was arrested by Sergeant Robert McDermott and later released on $50 bail. She was taken to the West Duluth municipal court this afternoon for a hearing.

POOLROOM WRECKED.

Patron Arrested for Malicious Destruction of Property.

Because he had been refused permission to play without paying for the privilege, John Vucovich, 25, is said to have attempted to wreck the poolroom at 5516 Raleigh street late Saturday evening. He was arrested by Patrolman L. D. Root on a charge of malicious destruction of property and later released on a deposit of $20 for bail.

Vucovich had played two games during the early part of the evening and had refused to pay for them. Coming in later, he started to play another game, when the proprietor told him he would have to stop. Becoming enraged, Vucovich is said to have tipped over one of the tables, breaking off two of its legs and otherwise badly damaging it. His trial was set for Thursday afternoon.

WORSE THAN HE THOUGHT.

Prisoner Denies Seven Arrests—Is Confronted With List of Eleven.

WHEN James J. Doyle, aged 42, appeared in municipal court this morning, charged with drunkenness, seventh offense, he admitted that he had been imbibing, but said there was some mistake about the seventh part. Investigation showed that he had been in jail eleven times in a year and a half, nine times for drunkenness.

His is a record record. When Capt. A. G. Fiskett presented it to Judge E. H. Cutting, Doyle changed his plea.

Since July, 1913, this is the record: July 16, ten days; July 20, ten days; Aug. 8, twenty days; Dec. 30, thirty days; Jan. 14, 1914, begging; Jan. 17, sixty days; May 6, fifteen days; June 11, eighty-five days; July 6, escaped from work farm; Nov. 19, thirty days; Dec. 11, sixty days.

EXPENSIVE HUGS.

Mathew Johnson Pays $40 for His; Herman Lund's Costs $60.

"When the grown-up ladies
Act like babies
I've got to love 'em,
That's all."

Matthew Johnson and Herman Lund, two woodsmen living at a Lake avenue south rooming house, thought there was no harm in hugging two girls, but shortly after the hugging they found a roll of "phoney" money in their pockets, neatly substituted for the $100 they had.

Johnson's hug cost him $40, while Lund paid $60 for his. They did not suspect the robbery until they returned to their rooms, when Lund put his hand in his pocket and drew out a roll of Confederate bills—but they weren't even real Confederate bills.

In reporting the affair to the police the men said they were walking towards Superior street, along Lake avenue and met the two girls at about First street. The girls stopped and made themselves agreeable, finally favoring the men with a kiss before they continued on their way.

And now Johnson and Lund won't pay any attention to the ladies, no matter how much like babies they act.

Get Rid of Lingering Colds, Coughs and La Grippe.

Spring finds many afflicted with lingering, hacking coughs that weaken the system. Slush and wet cause more colds than zero weather. Croup, bronchitis and pneumonia are prevalent. It eases a cough, checks a cold and relieves inflamed and congested membranes. It clears the air passages and soothes inflammation. Sold everywhere.

SAYS HE WAS "HEN-PECKED."

Husband Charged With Assault, Brings Charge Against Wife.

"Beat her? Why, she's the one that's doing all the beating at our house," declared Hans Lund, age 40, arrested Sunday on a charge of assaulting his wife, when he was arraigned before Municipal Judge F. M. Cutting this morning. He was arrested Saturday by Humane Officer Robert McKercher and Officer P. Barber, after he eluded them for several hours.

"When I go to the county officials and get enough fuel and food to last a few days," declared the wife, "he comes home and stays, but as soon as it is gone, he goes away."

"There's no law in this country that can make me work," retorted her lord and master. He is alleged to have tried to carry away one of the children Saturday night, after beating his wife.

He will be given a hearing Tuesday morning.

PLUTOCRAT OF HOTEL DE GINK.

Gets Saturday Herald for His Mattress, Sheets and Blankets.

Newspapers were much in demand at police headquarters last night, but no one wanted to read them.

One hundred and thirty-six lodgers, the largest number accommodated on the concrete basement floor this year, were looking for papers, to use as mattresses, sheets, pillows and blankets.

One newspaper usually serves all four offices for the guests at Duluth's Hotel de Gink.

One lucky individual evidently liked The Herald, for he had saved a Saturday's edition, and thoroughly protected from the hard floor, the cold, and all draughts, by its twenty-eight pages, he slept like a lord.

Two late comers, Nos. 135 and 136, divided a Labor World between them, and caught a slight cold, according to Jailer Kreager. Saturday night also was a busy one at the "hotel," ninety-four guests being shown to their respective suites.

Goodridge Postmistress.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Goodridge, the growing town near here, now has a postmaster, Mrs. Jennie M. Payne having been appointed. Heretofore the mail for that place has been handled through the Thief River Falls office. The service under this arrangement has not been very satisfactory to the residents of the new village, although it has been the best that could be given under existing conditions.

CITY HALL LOSES TO WATER PLANT EMPLOYES

Employes at the city hall lost to the members of the Merritt Utilities association in the indoor baseball game held at the armory last Saturday evening to decide the championship of the city. The score was 15 to 9 in favor of the employes in the water and light department.

The game was exciting throughout, the feature of the contest being the stellar pitching of Gallagher for the water and light department. Tobin and Anderson were the batteries for the city hall employes, while Gallagher and Brian worked for the winners.

After the game about 150 people enjoyed a short dancing program, music for which was furnished by Helmer's orchestra.

McCALL MUST FACE JURY.

Will Be Tried for Receiving Stolen Property.

Selection of a jury to try Bert McCall, indicted by the March grand jury on a charge of receiving stolen property, will be made this afternoon in Judge Cant's division of the district court. The case will be called for trial as soon as the jury engaged at the trial of the $50,000 suit brought against the Higgins Land company by William J. Wallace retires. The Wallace-Higgins case will go to the jury this afternoon.

McCall is accused of the crime of receiving a watch which had been stolen from the D. A. Miller jewelry store, 217 West Superior street, several months ago. McCall was indicted for burglary of the store by the May, 1914, grand jury, but the jury which tried him under the indictment failed to agree. While awaiting a second trial, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Fesler to the work farm.

After McCall completed his work farm sentence it is claimed by the police that he sold one of the stolen watches which had not previously been accounted for. This led the authorities to believe that the theft of the jewelry on March 15, 1914, had been committed by him and he was held to the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. The inquisitorial body, however, indicted him on a charge of receiving stolen property.

ATTACKED BY STALLION, FARMER FATALLY HURT.

Benedict, N. D., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pulled from a buggy, then held down by the animals knees, John A. Robinson, a farmer near here, was trampled and bitten so seriously by a stallion that he died a few hours afterward. He had been to town in the afternoon and on his return home took the animal from a stall and led it to water about forty rods from the house, behind the team he was driving. At the watering places the animal became enraged and dragged Robinson from the rig. A son of Robinson saw the animal on his father's body and inflicting severe bits on its victim.

MORE VOTERS THAN IN 1913

Registration on Saturday Brings Total Above 12,000 Mark.

Total on Second Day Was in Excess of 5,000.

With a total registration of 5,371 on Saturday, with two precincts estimated, there are 12,428 voters in the city who are entitled to a ballot for the regular spring election on Tuesday, April 6.

At the spring election two years ago the total registration was 10,923, including 808 voters who were granted ballots on election day, April 1, 1913, by means of affidavits. It is not expected that all who are registered will vote, but the total will be retained with the addition of those who vote by means of affidavits.

Last Tuesday, the first registration day, 7,057 voters enrolled on the ballot books, while on Saturday 5,371 voters registered. It is believed that the total vote on April 6 will exceed the one of two years ago by at least 2,000.

Voters who failed to register on either of the two days and who did not file certificates of identification during last week, will be compelled to bring two freeholders with them to the polls on election day, if they want a vote.

The New Dress Goods

For Easter and Spring Are In.

Wonderfully Attractive Variety in Weave and Shade.

The exhibition is authoritative, and is international in its scope. The new colors and shades and color-combinations are shown in serges, broadcloths, silk-and-wool goods, gabardines, poplins, coverts, coatings and cream suitings, and their variant weaves.

Beautiful!—the verdict of the Jury of Viewers who have come to see and share. And, by the way, Easter is none too far away to allow good time for making the Easter costume—dressmakers, even now, are "hoping" to have things ready. Don't let certainty pale into a "will-if-I-can" uncertainty.

Federal Authorities Investigate Charges Against Charles Redd.

Federal authorities are investigating the case of Charles Redd, age 45, a negro, 925 West Michigan street, who now is serving a sentence of eighty-five days in jail under the new ordinance covering the operation of disorderly houses. Redd was brought into court Friday as a witness in the case of Elisa White, age 32, also colored, charged with being a common prostitute. Angered by one of Redd's remarks, the White woman launched into a story of their relations, and stated that he had brought her here from Detroit, Mich., stopping at various towns en route while she provided money for meals and fares to the next place.

Chief of Police C. T. Troyer referred the testimony to Federal authorities, suggesting that the case be investigated with the view of prosecuting the negro under the Mann act.

TELLS HOW TO VOTE PROPERLY

City Clerk Issues Instructions for Voters in the Approaching Municipal Election.

Do you know how to vote properly?

At the election two years ago many voters, unacquainted with the ballots and election laws as prescribed in the new charter, failed to vote properly and as a result many votes were declared illegal and election contests followed, causing litigation among the candidates for more than a year.

To avoid a repetition at the election on April 6, City Clerk Palmer is making every effort to acquaint the voters with the rules that must be followed, while the ballots will, in addition, have several specific suggestions to each voter.

Here are some of the rules that City Clerk Palmer says voters must learn, so that their ballots will be legal and valid:

"Vote two first choices for commissioners, or ballot will be void as to commissioners.

"Don't vote more than one choice for any one candidate for commissioner, as only one choice will count for any one candidate.

"Vote for only one candidate for judge on first choice, and only one on second choice.

"Any distinguishing marks on a ballot make it void.

"If you wrongly mark, tear or deface ballot, return it to the election officers and obtain another.

"First choices must be voted in the first column, second choices in the second column and other choices in the third column.

"There will be blank spaces on ballots, so that each voter may insert any name he wishes."

Two years ago there were no blank spaces on the ballots and as a result there was quite an argument in the courts as to whether a ballot containing but one choice was valid or not. Attorneys claimed that a voter, finding but one candidate he favored, was at a loss and unable to cast a good ballot. This year there will be two blank spaces, so that voters can insert two names, if they cannot find candidates they favor in the list.

There will be two ballots, one red for candidates for commissioner and municipal judge and a lavender for the charter amendments. Voters failing to cast a ballot either for or against these amendments in reality vote against them, as the amendments must have a three-fifths of all the votes cast to become part of the charter.

The two amendments to be voted on provide for an increase in the non-advertised purchase limit from $100 to $500 and reduce the minimum for the payment of assessments in annual installments and also allow the payment of sidewalk assessments in four annual installments.

APPROPRIATED BY CONGRESS

Total of $1,115,121,409 at Last Session With Added Contracts.

Statements By Chairman Fitzgerald and Representative Gillett.

Washington, March 15.—Statements issued by Chairman Fitzgerald of the house appropriations committee and Representative Gillett, the ranking Republican member, agree that the appropriations of the last session of congress totaled $1,115,121,409, that contracts involved additional appropriations of $37,400,000 were authorized, and that a treasury deficit is probable.

Chairman Fitzgerald's statement did not give the total of appropriations for both sessions of the Sixty-third congress.

Mr. Gillett placed that total at $2,231,000,000, which he said, was $113,000,000 more than that of the Sixty-second congress and $177,000,000 more than the last Republican congress appropriated.

Mr. Fitzgerald estimated that should the condition of the treasury continue as at present until June 30 the deficit would be $133,000,000, offset, however, by the income tax collections, which are estimated at about $80,000,000. Mr. Gillett asserted in his statement that the treasury has not been so empty since the Cleveland administration.

Tariff Not Responsible.

Mr. Fitzgerald said that the effect of the war was world-wide and that as it goes on, reduction of customs imports and their revenue will continue. At some length he discussed the need of economy.

"The finances of the Federal government must be adjusted, said he.

"No more important problem will confront congress when it reassembles.

"Under our system of government, the chief hope of the people of the prevention of extravagant and unjustifiable expenditures, is in the house of representatives. The executive department of the government may co-operate, but as the success of an administration is frequently believed to be measured by the expenditures to carry out predetermined policies, the volume of expenditures must necessarily be of secondary importance.

Must Be Radical Change.

"To make the work of the house of representatives really effective, there must be a radical change in its methods of handling appropriations. Many times the present system has been condemned as illogical and unscientific. Real reform is impossible with eight committees of the house framing appropriation bills, while seven of the committees have legislative jurisdiction of the matters for which they recommend appropriations. Further consideration deepens my convictions that one committee should be given control of all appropriations and that no legislation should be contained in appropriation bills."

Mr. Gillett assailed the Democratic leaders for what he characterized as extravagance.

"The appropriations of this session shamefully have disregarded the principles of sound business and true economy. With revenues falling and precarious, with business and commercial conditions feverish and uncertain, with a steady monthly deficit and no assured prospect of its relief, and with a cash fund reduced to a point that has generally been deemed unsafe, the administration has recommended and the congress has authorized expenditures on a larger scale than ever before and no step has been taken to meet the prospective deficit.

"The executive has been more reckless and improvident than congress and with less excuse. The prevalent opinion that congress is mainly to blame, is incorrect. It is the executive who is primarily at fault.

"As long as the executive shows no appreciation of his responsibility in advising how to make the two ends meet, congress with its large membership and diversity of interests, can hardly be expected to assume the entire responsibility. To accomplish wise results, there must be a sympathy of purpose and a unity of effort and a recognition of mutual responsibility. That has all been lacking in this congress.

Train Kills Aged Woman.

Winona, Minn., March 15.—Mrs. Katherine Sheehan, 70-year-old pioneer resident of Wabasha county, stepped in front of a passenger train and was instantly killed. She was walking on the tracks when a train approached in front of her, and in stepping out of the way of one train she deliberately stepped in front of another.

CLEANING OUT A SEWER MANHOLE.

Business streets in the center section of the city were given their first spring cleaning last week, when the street flushers were sent out to clean off the winter's accumulation of dirt and snow.

Later the water froze, and drivers had considerable trouble in negotiating the hills because of the slippery condition. Commissioner Murchison urges drivers to be careful, although the warm weather is fast melting the ice that remains along the avenues.

WHO SAYS ROMANCE IS DEAD?

Grocer Delivering Sack of Sugar Chases Thieves Fifteen Miles, Meets Fair Maiden and Has Battle.

A fifteen-mile chase after thieves, a capture, a battle royal, an encounter with a fair maiden and two breakdowns—all while delivering a sack of sugar. Such is the prosaic life of a grocerymant.

Ed Dubruiel, 916 West Second street, has claimed the prize for accidents after a trip Saturday night to an East end suburb with a sack of sugar. He is manager of the Marine Supply company's marine department.

Accompanied by two other employes, he started for the suburban home early Saturday evening. Several miles out the "gas" ran out and the passengers started a hunt for fuel. While they were away, some one eloped with the sack of sugar.

For nearly fifteen miles the automobile followed the wagon trail, up and down hill, through mud holes and gulleys. Finally the auto was abandoned, and Dubruiel, by making a short cut, surprised two farmers, with a girl, who were driving at a rapid rate.

"That girl looks rather sweet," said the grocer, after unhitching the team. "I believe she knows something about the sugar." He helped her to her feet, and there was the sugar, where her skirt had covered it.

The battle followed, and the two rustics bit the dust—so the story goes. On the way back engine trouble developed. Then——

Dubruiel delivered the sugar.

REWARDED FOR SELLING SEALS

Bemidji and Brainerd to Have Service of Baby Welfare Nurse.

Bemidji and Brainerd will have the services of a baby welfare nurse for one month each, at the expense of the Minnesota Public Health association, for having sold 10,000 or more red cross Christmas seals during the recent holidays.

Before the sale was started last year, officials of the Minnesota Public Health association announced that campaign districts, excluding the three largest cities of the state, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, where 10,000 or more seals were sold, would be presented with the services of a baby welfare nurse for one month.

It was announced in St. Paul Saturday that the districts eligible to this award are Bemidji, which was in charge of Mrs. H. L. Wilcox, Women's Study club, and R. R. Livingston, secretary of the National Loan company of Brainerd.

To all campaign managers and adults who sold 100 or more seals, the Minnesota Public Health association will present with a card of honorary membership in the organization.

CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD CHARGED

H. J. Nathanson Brings Suit Against the Eureka Ore Company.

Charging his associates with conspiracy to defraud him out of an interest in the fee of the Madrid mine, a Mesaba range property, Herman J. Nathanson has instituted suit in district court against the Eureka Ore company, Henry Siegel, H. F. Smith, Henry Johnson, Harry Osterberg and Walter Markham to recover his alleged rights.

Nathanson alleges that prior to Jan. 1, 1914, he had an interest in the royalties of the Madrid mine then under lease to A. B. Coates. The Coates lease expired Dec. 31, 1913, and Nathanson alleges that because of his interest he had until Jan. 20, 1914, to take it over, providing he could raise enough money to swing the deal.

Nathanson declares that he put the proposition up to Siegel, Markham and the other defendants and that after furnishing them with valuable information as to the mine, they agreed to join with him in taking the lease on a 50-cent-per-ton basis from the owners. The agreement, he alleges, was that he was to be allowed 10 cents per ton royalty in addition to his partnership interest after he had invested $5,000.

Just before the time expired Markham announced that he could not invest and, it is alleged, repudiated the agreement. Others dropped out and Nathanson was obliged to let the deal fall through. Later, he alleges, the defendants organized the Eureka company, which took over the lease. He now demands his proportionate share in the company in accordance with the terms of the agreement.

SERVICES FOR LATE MRS. ROCKEFELLER

Tarrytown, N. Y., March 15.—Funeral services for Mrs. John D. Rockefeller were held late yesterday in the Rockefeller home at Pocantico Hills. Only members of the family, close friends and employes on the Rockefeller estate attended.

After the services it was announced that the body of Mrs. Rockefeller would be placed in the receiving vault of John D. Archbold in Sleepy Hollow cemetery here until it is decided whether the burial shall take place at Pocantico Hills or in the family plot in Cleveland.

John D. Rockefeller held little Winthrop Rockefeller, his grandson, on his knee during the services, which began shortly after 4 o'clock and were conducted by the Rev. Cornelius Woelfkin, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church in New York, which the Rockefeller family attended when in that city. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., with his wife, sat close beside his father.

Solemn tones from the great pipe organ opened the services and the hymns, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Oh, Love That Will Not Let Me Go." "Oh, Love That Will Not Let Me Go," were sung by a quartet. There followed the reading of the Scripture by the Rev. Mr. Woelfkin and a violin solo by Richard Arnold. The quartet sang "The Sands of Time Are Swift" and "Nearer My God to Thee" and prayer was offered. It was followed by another violin solo and after "Now the Day Is Over" was sung by the quartet the services were closed with the benediction.

The coffin was banked with hundreds of floral offerings. Telegrams of condolence also came from friends throughout the country.

MAY ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE IN NIGHT

Newport News, Va., March 15.—Apparently the one hope of the officers and men of the converted German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich is that some dark night, when the fog is thick, and the watch of the British warships outside the capes lags, the Eitel may push her prow out of the estuary into the broad Atlantic and "take another chance." This was the impression of the Associated Press correspondent from an interview with Capt. Thierichens. The fact that the Eitel has broken all records for continued sailing, seemed in no degree to have appeased the appetites of her complement for more adventure on the high seas in the interests of the Fatherland:

"You have no idea what it means to lie idle here, when we know they are fighting at home," said the commander to the correspondent. "When we were out there chasing enemy ships and dodging war vessels, we couldn't help feeling that all the things that were happening at home would be only printed history for us."

"The nearest we ever came to real action," the captain explained, "was during the battle off Chile. I didn't see that. But I heard it."

"I was with our operator and I heard the Scharnhorst give the orders when the British ships were sighted. I heard the flagship call 'clear for action.' I listened to every command until the battle was ended and I knew that the Monmouth was sinking."

The news of the other engagement in the Atlantic, the captain said, was not known to the Eitel's men until long after their brave comrades had been defeated.

WEALTH OF ODD MOMENTS

Much Can Be Accomplished During Spare Time, Says Dr. Hovis.

Examples Given From the Lives of Many Noted Men.

"The Wealth of Odd Moments" was the subject of the sermon preached by Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, yesterday morning. His sermon in part follows:

"On a dial at Oxford are inscribed the words 'periunt et imputantur,' which being freely translated mean, 'the hours perish and are laid to our charge.' The legend is intended to impress the passerby with the truth that time is fleeting and that no one escapes the responsibility of a day. It is quite possible that Ruskin, who was educated at Christ college, Oxford, was duly impressed by the message of the dial, for it is said that during his lifetime he kept before him constantly a piece of chalcedony inscribed with the word 'To-day.'

"Among the many epigrammatic precepts of 'Poor Richard' is the oft-quoted and poorly-practiced maxim, 'Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of.' There is infinite pathos in Shakespeare's tragedy of Richard II, where he makes the king, who had been deposed by his cousin, Henry, surnamed Bolingbroke, soliloquize while in the castle of Pomfret, where he is soon to die by an assassin's hand, 'I wasted time and now doth time waste me.' There is no lesson which youth needs to learn so well as the value of watching every grain that passes in the hourglass and the absolute necessity of extracting from every moment its largest wealth and power.

Cannot Be Restored.

"Eternity itself cannot restore the loss of a single minute. It would be well if the telling words of Horace Mann could be branded on the fleshy tablets of every human heart: 'Lost! Somewhere between sunrise and sunset, two golden hours, each set with sixty diamond minutes. No reward is offered, for they are gone forever.' It is indeed true that lost fortune may be regained by industry and economy, lost knowledge by study and reflection, lost health by diligence and attention, but lost time can never be regained. The only way that time can be redeemed is by 'working overtime.' The only way for one who is behind time to catch up, is to accelerate his motion.

"The word redeem means to 'buy up' or make one's own. It has in it the idea of making amends. It is the recovery of that which is lost by the requisite fulfillment of an obligation. So far as time is concerned, it can only be redeemed by a surplus of achievement. He who wastes half his life is under the necessity of double duty while he works. When one runs behind he gets in debt, and the only way that he can ever balance the account is to run ahead the distance that he ran behind. The safest way is not to run behind. There are few of us who never know the burden of debt.

Value of Spare Moments.

"One of the most common expressions of the average household is something like this: 'It is only five or ten minutes till mealtime; there's not enough time to do anything now.' We forget that Beecher read Froude's 'England' a little each day while he had to wait for dinner, and that Longfellow translated the 'Inferno' by snatches of ten minutes a day while waiting for his coffee to boil, persisting for years until the work was done. It is possible to pick up a liberal education in the spare moments and odds and ends of time which people often, in fact usually, throw away.

"The finest example of 'redeeming the time' is found in Christ, the Savior, of whom it was said, 'He went about doing good.' His miracles of healing were merely incidents in a busy life. He did not seek occasions; He simply improved opportunities. There is no indication that He ever wasted a moment of His time. He lived the ingenious life of goodness. Time is exactly what we make it—in the hands of the wise, a blessing; in the hands of the foolish, a curse. The bee gets its honey from the same flower from which the spider gets its poison. The Christian represents the highest type of happy work and wholesome play."

MAN INVINCIBLE IN SPIRIT ONLY

Lesson Drawn From Jacob's Disobedience By Dr. A. W. Ryan.

Only in spiritual strength is man invincible, according to Rev. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church, in his sermon Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Ryan spoke on Jacob's meeting with the angel. Among other things he said:

"In spite of the prosperity which great wealth of lands and flocks and herds, Jacob was drifting back to a spirit of disloyalty and disobedience. His meeting and conflict with the angel brought him to a realization of his spiritual state, and he arose from the meeting with a new name, 'Prince of God.'

"Thereafter he went humbly, knowing his strength to be, not in the material things, but in the spiritual, and this is the realization which comes to everyone when his strength is measured against omnipotence and he finds how feeble and futile are the things of the world to give security or permanent satisfaction."

MAY ABANDON ITS WORK.

Rumor Current North Dakota Enforcement League Will Quit.

Bismarck, N. D., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is said to be a possibility that the North Dakota Enforcement league will abandon its work, Supt. F. L. Watkins having sent out letters calling for an expression of sentiment with respect to the proposal to abandon the operations.

The present condition arises from the fact that the state legislature failed to pass the bill which would have created the office of state enforcement commissioner, who was expected to take over the work that has been prosecuted by the league. The league is supported through private donations, and the question of whether or not the work will be continued depends very largely upon the caliber of donations that are pledged.

"INSPIRED SCRIPTURE"

Rev. Gebauer Discusses the Question of What It Is.

"Inspired Sripture" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. G. R. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church yesterday.

"According to 2 Timothy iii, 16 'all Scripture is inspired by God,' but he who reads the Bible with an open mind cannot fail to see how very human it is," said the speaker.

"Indeed I think it hardly complimentary to God to hold Him responsible for a good deal we find in it, even if true. I need not mention names, but it is quite obvious that not a few of the books are rather barren and trivial and of a commonplace wisdom, which does not require any special inspiration. It is perhaps for this reason that English and American scholarship in the so-called revised version tried to improve upon the King James' version by translating: 'Every Scripture inspired by God is also profitable, etc. To me this is hardly an honest performance and does not help matters. But the new version at least opens up the subject of inspiration in general and leaves it to each to determine for himself what 'inspired Scripture' is. It does not help us very much to say that after all the Bible on the whole is an inspired book, because so many good people have believed so. My belief must rest upon my own conviction, and cannot rest upon somebody else's, no matter how wise and good that person may be. Of course, we always should treat with reverence a sincere conviction of others, but we prostitute our souls if we believe against our conviction. The proof of the pudding is after all in the eating and in not in what others say about it. And so the question which confronts us is 'What is inspired Scripture?' Better still, 'What is inspiration?'

Inspiration and Truth.

"It seems to me with all due regard to those who may differ from me that there is a very simple answer to this question. In the first place inspiration, in the sense I would interpret it, has nothing to do with any truth that is obvious to the senses and the simple commonsense. That two and two is four is not an inspired truth, it is a fact. Inspired truth deals with what is beyond the seen; it deals with the spiritual side of truth. And the inspired word is neither more or less than the word that inspires you or me. It is the word which not merely appeals to our common sense or intellect, but that addresses itself to what is deepest in us, to our inmost soul and spirit and there meets with response. That which truly inspires us puts us en rapport with the deep things in life, where spirit touches spirit, where the divine rushes into the human. It is an inpouring of forces for our highest best; it lifts us above our little self and carries us toward the all-spirit of eternal goodness and truth and beauty. Thus in a wider sense everything that gives us the impulse to a higher life in the soul is inspired.

"You see that this conception does away with the narrow interpretation which would confine inspiration to a certain people or persons, place and time; which, too, would make inspiration dependent upon so-called historical records, whose historicity is often rather uncertain. To assume, what is quite obvious, that the thing of inspiration is the thing or word which inspires brings the whole matter into the realm of personal experience. It gives inspiration a wider realm and makes it possible for us to see God's working in the present as well as in the past. We then recognize that the Divine may speak to us through art and music, poetry and drama. We recognize that we are living in the age of prophecy. And finally we see in greater beauty the strength and the beauty of the inspired Scripture. We realize that Paul had in mind the inspiring passages of the Bible mainly, when in the enthusiasm of his soul, he said that all Scripture was inspired.

"And so the rational man may well accept in this sense the Bible as inspired. Not literally, not everywhere, but throughout are found the high notes of the spirit and may inspire us. But in all let us not forget that God also may speak in our souls, as He spoke in the souls of those of old, and that the revelation of His spirit is not confined to any one book."

CHRIST DID NOT DESTROY THE "LAW"

Christians Urged to Keep Seventh Day By Pastor White.

With the use of stereopticon slides and special singing, Pastor Stemple White illustrated his address last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church, corner of Sixth street and Tenth avenue east, where he spoke on "The Ten Commandments in the New Testament."

Taking for his text, "It Is Time for Thee, Lord, to Work, for They Have Made Void Thy Law," he said:

"The character of any ruler is known by his law and this is pre-eminently true of the supreme ruler of the universe concerning the Ten Commandments John Wesley wrote, 'the law of God is a copy of the eternal mind, a transcript of the divine nature; yea, it is the fairest offspring of the everlasting Father, the brighest efflux of his essential wisdom, the visible beauty of the most High.' God's law is the eternal, inflexible standard of all moral conduct in all eyes; its very transgression is sin; James declares it will be the divine rule of final judgment; and it could no more be changed than could its author, 'with whom is no variableness neither shadow of turning.'

Did Not Destroy Law.

"When the Son of God came in flesh as our Saviour and Example, in whose footsteps Peter affirms we should follow, He solemnly announced at the beginning of His ministry, 'Think not that I am come to destroy the law, for it is easier for heaven and earth to pass, than for one tittle of the law to fail.'

"It is a most remarkable fact, that Paul, the great gentile preacher, who taught and practiced all of the Ten Commandments, has stated in the Roman epistle just to 'God forbids' against all arguments that would tend to make the law void through faith, and his famous three scriptures dealing with the nothingness of circumcision or uncircumcision, comes down through the ages declaring that that 'new creature' has 'faith that works by love' the keeping of the commandments of God.'

Keeping the Sabbath.

"The 'articles of faith' of leading Protestant denominations affirm that the moral law is binding on all, but it remains for Seventh Day Adventists to practice the keeping of the Sabbath in harmony with God's law and the whole Bible teaching. More is said about the Sabbath in the New Testament than any other commandment, and the seventh day of the week is as definitely specified therein as the Sabbath or Lord's day, as that the creator is the only true God."

CHRISTIANS MUST RESTORE PEACE

Have Taken Their Duties Too Lightly, Declares Rev. Mr. Thorp.

That the great European conflict can only be ended and peace be restored through the medium of a Christian civilization was the sentiment which Rev. Charles N. Thorp conveyed in his morning sermon Sunday at the Pilgrim Congregational church.

"These are stirring days," declared Rev. Mr. Thorp, "It is no time for anyone calling himself a Christian to take his religious duties lightly. The crisis is upon the world in part because Christians have not gone more heartily into the magnificent distance of our creed. We have been dilatory in our loyalty to the Lord of our whole earth.

"You hear men say—'O for some great outstanding man to rise, some mighty leader of men, to sway Europe toward peace.' There is but one leader big enough for the emergency. That is the living Christ, and to Him most of us are already devoted, at least in name."

SCORES PASTOR RUSSELL.

Theory of Millennial Dawn Pernicious, Declares Rev. Mr. Fish.

Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, preached on "Jesus Christ the Unchangeable' yesterday morning. Among other things he said:

"The troublous times are marked not only by the outbreak of physical violence but the spread of blasphemous attacks against Jesus Christ. Conspicuous among these anti-Christian movements is the pernicious movement headed by one, C. T. Russell, known as 'Millennial Dawnism.'

"According to this soul-destroying error, Christ is changeable, viz: Before the incarnation He was a spirit created by God. At Bethlehem's manger He lost His spiritual nature, becoming a mere man. On the cross He was annihilated and has ceased to live for all eternity. The body did not rise but may have been dissolved into gases. After three days God created a spirit being called Christ and raised Him to the God-head where He is, without any of the human nature or personality that was once known as Jesus of Nazareth.

"This is the devilish doctrine of 'millennial dawn.' Some say, the conception held of Jesus Christ is a mere theoretical theological problem that has nothing to do with life. But Jesus taught that the right opinion of Himself had almost everything to do with daily life. To know or to be ignorant of Christ as He really is, is a question of eternal life or death.

"Opposed to 'millennial dawnism' is the Scriptural teaching as follows:

"Before creation the Son, the Uncreated God, was with the Eternal Father in glory of His own nature. He so included man's nature within Himself that He could say to the Father and the Spirit, 'Let us make man in our own image.' He was the active agent in creating the universe and He Himself was uncreated the eternally begotten Son. Unto the Son the Father says, 'Thy throne, Oh God, is forever and ever.'

"Nineteen hundred years ago He became flesh, living the human life of God. He did not, though emptied of the reputation and form of God, cease to be God when in the earth life. The Second Man is Lord from heaven. He demanded the same worship as men accorded to Father. He forgave sin, the prerogative of God only, and declared that all who saw Himself saw the Father.

"He died as to His body only. His soul was not annihilated 'for it was not possible for Him to be holden of death.' He endured for man the essence of death, which is not loss of being but separation from God.

"He arose not as a memory, a ghost, or a merely created spirit being, but as the same Jesus, both God and man. Humanly His mannerisms of breaking bread, the tone of his voice, his methodical habits persisted and were recognized by the disciples. The disciples preached this same Jesus is now living, was unchanged by death of the body. The nature of Christ is eternally the same.

"So they taught not a spiritual something but the man Christ Jesus is mediator betwen God and man. By the Man Jesus God will judge the world. And the angels declared that this same Jesus shall come again in like manner as He ascended.

"Be not deceived by millennial dawnism for it is a Satanic attack upon the person of our unchangeable Lord."

TWO JITNEY CARS HERE

Autos Carry Passengers for Five Cents Within Limited District.

More May Be Added—Slight Loss for First Day.

Duluth has a "jitney" bus line.

Yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, two Ford cars started the first "jitney" bus line in Duluth and if it proves profitable more cars will be added.

A "jitney" bus, by way of explanation, is an automobile that carries passengers for 5 cents. Hence, the name "jitney," which is a Western slang word for small change. The "jitney" bus was first started in Los Angeles, Cal., early last winter and the movement has already spread to all the cities on the coast, and many interior towns.

On the coast, the "jitneys" carry passengers to the suburbs and the movement has appealed especially to commuters.

For the present, Duluth's "jitney" bus line will operate within the city, but if it should prove popular and paying proposition, the automobiles will run from West Duluth to New Duluth and from the western end of the city to Proctor. However, no such arrangement will be made until the early part of this coming summer, it was said this morning.

Engineer in Charge.

Duluth's "jitney" bus line is being operated by James O. Renning, a former D., M. & N. engineer, who is now living at 705 West Second street. Mr. Renning had made his home at Proctor up to this winter, but he had been receiving such encouraging reports from his brother, who is operating a bus line in Seattle, that he decided to introduce the "jitneys" in Duluth.

The two Ford cars, labeled "Jitney bus line, 5 cents the fare," surprised many early church goers yesterday morning. The machines did a fair business the first day, according to one of the drivers, who said this morning that the cars took in a total of $12.

Their Schedule.

The "jitneys" operate from Third avenue west to Twenty-fourth avenue west, running at 20-minute intervals, and from Fifth avenue west to Twenty-fourth avenue east. The cars never stop, but continue running throughout the day, making stops for passengers only at corners. Anyone desiring a ride must wave his hand, just as if he is getting on a street car and the driver stops, takes his passengers and goes on. The car stops at any point along the route.

For the present, Mr. Renning said this morning, the "jitneys" will run from 7 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock in the evening, but if business should warrant a change, the cars will run until 1 o'clock in the morning.

"The present plan will continue for a short time," Mr. Renning said this morning. "However, if business improves and Duluth people want the 'jitneys' I will bring my brother to Duluth and we will operate ten cars during the summer. I would like to operate a line from West Duluth to New Duluth and Proctor. I would also like to run 'jitneys' to Superior."

Herbert Warren, vice president of the Duluth Street Railway company, expressed the opinion that the company would not begin to worry yet about the effect the "jitneys" will have on the street car system.

Amazing Growth.

In some cities the "jitneys" have had a most amazing growth. The idea is less than three months old, but some cities have from 200 to 300 cars.

Already some serious problems in city government are arising from their popularity. Their popularity has resulted in many abuses. In some cases highwaymen have turned drivers of jitney busses to ply their trade.

In other instances, it is claimed, they have been used by recruits for immoral resorts. Already some cities have passed ordinances licensing the drivers and strictly regulating the business. In Duluth there is already an ordinance which covers them, and the drivers must be licensed.

Whether or not the jitney will remain is a much debated question. Some maintain that the business is just in its infancy, and will expand so rapidly that it will seriously affect the street railway companies.

Others maintain that when the jitney owners begin to pay depreciation charges, and buy new cars to replace old ones, and bad weather begins to cut into their patronage, that their profits will show a shrinkage.

Mr. Renning estimates that he can operate his cars profitably, pay his drivers, cost of operation, maintenance, and repairs, and depreciation on a daily income of $8 for a Ford car. On that basis his two cars lost about $2 apiece yesterday, but the receipts are expected to run from $9 to $12 daily when the service becomes better known.

DINNER TO THE BOSSES

Office Men Will Play Host to Their Employers, Friday.

Congressman Miller and University Professor Will Speak.

Next Friday evening the Duluth Association of Office Men will give a banquet at the Commercial club in honor of the employers of the city. The entertainment will be known as "Employers' Night."

J. Harris Trux, secretary to Mayor Prince, who is president of the association, announced this morning that Congressman Clarence B. Miller, Prof. Richard R. Price of the general extension division of the state university and H. W. Richardson, local weather forecaster, will be the principal speakers. Congressman Miller expects to arrive here the latter part of the week from Washington.

According to Mr. Trux, every member of the Duluth Association of Office Men will bring his employer to the banquet as his personal guest. The object, Mr. Trux explained, is to bring the employer and employe into closer social relations and to show the employers of the city what the organization is really doing.

In addition to the addresses, Mr. Trux announced that there will be a program of music and motion pictures of American and British men-of-war.

Mr. Trux expects "Employers' night" to bring out the largest crowd in the history of the association. The banquet will start at 6:30 o'clock.

BOUND, GAGGED AND ROBBED

Harry Gordon Is Victim of Two "Strong Arm" Men.

Robbed, bound, gagged, and knocked senseless with the butt of a revolver, Harry Gordon, a carpenter, age 34, told the police Saturday night that he lay in a room of a hotel at 1021 West Michigan street in that condition for more than an hour. He stated that he had lost $3 in addition to several teeth.

Police were assigned to the case by Capt. A. G. Fiskett but Gordon failed to appear again, to help the officers in the search, and his alleged assailants are still at large.

Two men passed Gordon on Michigan street Saturday evening, he said, and addressed him in Russian. They started up a conversation and later the trio went to a room in the Soo lodging house, after the pair had offered to "buy." As they entered the door of the room, the two fell upon Gordon, kicking and beating him into insensibility. He was found by a roomer later, he said.

Gordon told the police he was from Minneapolis, and that he had been in Duluth but a short while.

LAST TRIBUTE TO W. H. COLE

Mining and railroad men of Northern Minnesota paid their last tribute to William H. Cole, prominent mining expert, at the Masonic temple this afternoon. Mr. Cole died at Pasadena, Cal., last Monday, after a short illness. Members of the Masonic order of Knights Templar, of which he was a member, were in charge of the funeral.

Burial will take place from the old family home of the deceased at Iron Mountain, Mich. Mrs. Cole, Miss Alice Cole, a daughter, and other relatives, will leave Duluth this evening, to accompany the remains to Iron Mountain. Services will be held there tomorrow, from the residence of Mr. Cole's mother, who still is living.

Mrs. Cole, Miss Cole and George H. Cole, a brother, were with Mr. Cole at the time of his death. They arrived in Duluth from Pasadena yesterday, with the body.

SOUL-CARE FOR ETERNITY

Dr. Hoffman Preaches on "Foundations" at Opening Noon Meeting.

Initial Audience Is Large One—Good Musical Program.

Rev. Dr. John W. Hoffman began his series of noon services at the Lyceum today, and the opening meeting proved to be an attraction which brought a very large crowd, the lower floor and the two first balconies of the theater being well filled. Indications are that the series of services, which will take up all week, will be fully as well attended as those of last year, at which time Dr. Hoffman was greeted daily by capacity houses.

The service of today began at 12:10 and ended at 12:50, the doctor's address beginning at 12:30. That will be the duration of the services and addresses each day.

"Foundations" was the subject today, and Dr. Hoffman laid stress on the doctrine that while attention to material needs is well enough in its place, greater attention should be given to soul-care. The body, he reminded his hearers, is merely a temporary abode but that the soul is self and must be dealt with on the basis of eternity.

The chorus, directed by J. R. Batchelor, sang several numbers, Charles Helmer, cornetist, played, and a duet, "Watchman, What of the Night?" was sung by John Koneczy and C. O. Applehagen.

Dr. Hoffman's subject for tomorrow noon will be "The New Life"; that for Wednesday, "Assets"; Thursday, "Judgment"; Friday, "Forgiveness"; and Saturday, "The Supreme Question."

Mr. Hoffman's sermon was in part as follows:

"The audacity of Jesus is as startling as it is refreshing. He has the temerity to erect His teaching into a criterion of conduct that is eternally right and proper. There is nothing timid about His affirmations. They come with directness and force from His very soul. He does not argue. He simply states His truth, His facts, His ideals. Nowhere does He reveal the process by means of which He arrived at conclusions. He announces them. Where others must build their world-view item by item and fact by fact, our Lord discerns it at a glance and immediately unfolds its contents to our enraptured vision. With a skill that is consummate and an insight that is infallible the Christ not only discovers the very best materials for life but reminds us that goodness, usefulness, and wisdom will be realized as one shapes character in accord with His eternal truth.

The Vital Thing.

"The incomparable excellence of Christ is seen in the directness with which He deals with the sources of conduct. He is not concerned with the infinite variety of forms human life assumes. The age in which one lives, race, temperament, the degree of culture and many other incidentals determine these. The vital thing, the really indispensable is the basis of life. Force, genius, wealth these are but externals. Synthetic chemistry, steam and electricity are not the chief civilizing factors. The barnbuilder of scripture is heartily condemned not because he was a good business man seeking to care for his bountiful crops but because this was all that he desired. In torments the rich man suffers not because of his wealth but because this was all he possessed. It was his only badge of manhood. While never undervaluing these externals of human welfare, our Lord emphasizes the soul with its ideas, its emotions, its experiences, and its fundamental objective. If these be noble, truthful, and Godlike then we are wise, if not then are we stupidly foolish.

"It is the shallow and superficial who rear their life structure on the externals of society. It is obedience to the big strong truths of the eternal Christ which makes men vigorous and heroic. Depth and power come not from the circumstantial but from the absolute and sovereign. There are those whose ambitions have run off with their principles. Others have sold themselves for a toy and a trinket. The tinsel and glamour of life have dazzled the eye of some, and blinded them to ideals that are infinite as God. Success, measured in terms of dollars, culture and skill rather than in service, character and destiny, has obsessed them. Pitiful indeed is the foolish fellow who forgets the infiniteness of moral ideals and the illimitable value of God. Things have captured his imagination and enmeshed his soul. Astute as a man of business he is the merest novice in religion. In art and letters, cultivated and brilliant, he is a dullard in morals. Skillful as a mechanic, he is a horrible bungler in matters of the soul. It is amazing how ambitious men are to be thoroughgoing in business, in culture, in mechanical skill and how content they are to build life and character out of elements that are external, transitory and tragically weak.

The Wise Man.

"Christ warns us that such a life cannot endure the unusual strain of human experience. It is built, not upon the substantial ideals and truths of the eternal God, but upon the shifting and incoherent ideas of the passing moment. Observe the traveler as he takes out his accident policy, the bank as it stores away its legal reserve, the student as he bends over his technical studies, the nation as it drills its manhood in arts of industry and citizenship. Need one ask why all this forethought in the wise statesman, the shrewd man of affairs, the toiling student? It is self-evident. Yonder is the man who prays, who worships, who has his eye on Jesus Christ. He is wise. He well knows the subtle emergency sin may cause at any moment. He appreciates the severity and the significance of the moral struggle. Like the banker, the student, the statesman and the sagacious man of commerce his thought leaps beyond a day and self into the vast future and the heart of divine reality. The wise man is never content with superficiality. He is as thorough in dealing with truths eternal as he is in handling the tools of industry. Reverence, holiness and righteousness absorb his most luminous moments. Like the alert gardener he understands that if fragrance and beauty are to mature one must have a care to the roots of life.

Collapse of Character.

"The collapse of character is one of the saddest experiences of life. When a great office building went crashing to the ground men were horrified. It meant the loss of dollars and of lives. But how shall one describe the wreckage of the soul, the pitiable ruin of immortal prospects, the demoralization of one capable of infinite development. Recall the picture Christ has here drawn for us in these words. A home is in ruins. The plans and ambitions, the hopes and joys of lifetime swept away in an instant. The labor and savings of years, the toil and sacrifices of long weary days all gone in a moment. Desolateness and destruction overtake one not because life was cruel, fateful, and ruthless but because the builder was foolish, lacked in forethought, in thoroughness, in carefulness. To hear the matchless teachings of the Christ and not heed; to admire the character of Jesus and not obey; to debate the truths of God and not practice them is to invite the most terrible disaster of life. The gospel of Christ is a message of the redemptive love of God. It is also a way of life. It is none the less the divine comfort for the sobbing soul of humanity. To translate its love and truth into daily living, to weave it into character, to fashion it into citizenship and social service is to build for time and for eternity. To win the plaudits of men, to wrest millions from the soil, to snatch fabulous wealth from the skies, to develop the cultivated and polite life and miss the Christ is to meet at last the wreck and ruin of every hope and joy and to suffer an irretrievable collapse of conduct and character.

"Christ has spoken. He is foolish who obeys not the incarnate love. He is wise who yields loyalty and fidelity to the infinite savior who alone can show us how to build a new social order, a new humanity, and a destiny of incomparable glory and excellence. Wise or foolish—which shall your fellow-citizens, your own conscience, your God write over the portals of your soul."

JURY OF ELEVEN WILL DECIDE CASE

One Man Excused to Take Civil Service Examination.

A jury of eleven men will decide a case which was concluded in Judge Ensign's district court this afternoon.

W. E. Remington, one of the jurors on the panel, was excused this morning from service on the case in order that he might take a civil service examination which is being conducted today at the Federal bulding. Attorneys in the case stipulated that the case might be decided by eleven men instead of twelve.

The case is one in which Mrs. Jessie Isadore Anderson is suing the Royal league, a fraternal benefit society, for $1,000 on an insurance policy held by Robert Whidden. Whidden died Oct. 15, 1914, leaving a policy which named Mrs. Anderson, his stepdaughter, as beneficiary. The questions in the case for the jury are whether or not Mrs. Anderson was a dependant of Whidden, and whether she complied with the provisions of the policy as beneficiary.

Andrew Nelson and George B. Sjoselius are attorneys for Mrs. Anderson and John H. Norton is appearing for the Royal league.

The New Fabrics May Be Easily Made Up In the Season's Vogue

Last week's Silk Show scored another great triumph for Gray's—the third floor was a scene of silken splendor possible in but few cities in the land.

All the lovely weaves you admired during the silk show are now on sale in their own department on the main floor. Come and see them. And when your are in—by all means see these

Mme. Butterfly Silk Voile

A sheer material that has won a prominent place on account of its fine even weave, and its great strength. You probably have noticed it mentioned in the better fashion magazines as "a sheer fabric as strong as broadcloth, and sheer as cobweb." We do not know of any other material so sheer and even that will give the service that "Madam Butterfly" voile will. We show it in all the wanted shades, 40 inches wide, at, a yard, $1.50.

Black Swiss Taffeta

We expect that there will be quite a demand for this particular cloth this season. On account of conditions abroad there is very little of this particular article to be had in the market. As you know, Swiss taffetas are made of Italian silk and are much more lustrous, "softer" to touch, and more elegant than the domestic cloths. Note their extra width, 44 in. You will enjoy seeing these beautiful qualities, $3.00 a yard.

Pleating

All kinds. Any width. Leave your orders at the Silk Dept.

Mohair and Wool Poplins

This is known quite generally as the Chuddah weaves, and it is very much in demand just now for separate skirts, dresses, and tailored suits. The cloth we are featuring is of English manufacture, and is of Mohair and wool construction. As you know, all mohairs are very coarse, admitting air freely. Consequently, they are especially desirable for spring and summer wear. They do not wrinkle. They shed dust, and have a finish second only to the high-grade silk. We show them in a number of different qualities in blacks, and in two qualities in colorings. Splendid all-around material. Widths run from 42 to 54 inches. Prices range from $1.50 to $3.00 a yard.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dd. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

OBJECT TO DANCE HALL

West End Citizens Do Not Want One in Lincoln Park.

Hicken Says He Will Not Violate City Ordinance.

Sixty-five West end residents and property holders presented a petition to Commissioner Hicken this morning protesting against the opening of a dance hall in the Lincoln park skating rink.

The petition states that the signers have learned of tentative plans for the opening of a dance hall in the park and they ask the commissioner of public safety to refuse any license or permit, as it would be in violation of an ordinance prohibiting dance halls in public parks. The petition will be taken up at the regular meeting of the city council tomorrow afternoon.

Commissioner Hicken said this morning that he had not made any plans to issue a permit and that he will not violate a city ordinance by granting a license for the opening of a dance hall in any public park. He said that he will take the matter up with the other commissioners.

The petition, signed by sixty-five West end residents, including several ministers, follows:

"Being apprised that it is the intention of certain parties to open up the Lincoln park skating rink for dancing purposes, providing permission is obtained from the safety division, we, the undersigned, wish to state that the proposition of a dance hall within the park has been most vigorously opposed in years past and that we do now oppose the same as being a public nuisance and in violation of an ordinance prohibiting dance halls in public parks and therefore ask that said permission be not granted."

Held to Grand Jury.

Cloquet, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—In municipal court charges were heard against Joseph Laundry, Joseph Posey and Charles Cadotte, defendants, accused of selling liquor to Joe Le Prarie, an Indian. Laundry, Posey and Cadotte are also Indians, but would not tell where they originally bought the liquor. All three were bound over to the grand jury. Posey and Cadotte were unable to furnish bonds and are now in custody. The case was prosecuted by County Attorney J. E. Diesen.

Asiatic Cholera.

To Keep the Face Fresh, Clear, Youthful

More important than the cosmetic care of the complexion is its physical care. To keep the face clean, fresh, youthful, there's nothing better than common mercolized wax. It absorbs the soiled or faded worn-out skin particles. Cosmetics simply add unwholesomeness to the complexion. That's the difference. By all means, acquire the mercolized wax habit. It's so easy to get an ounce of the wax at the druggist's, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off next morning. There's no detention indoors, the old skin coming off so gradually no one suspects you're using anything. When in a week or two the alluring youthful, roselike, underskin is fully in view—well, you won't want, or need, a make-up complexion after that. It must be apparent that this process means complete riddance of all cutaneous blemishes, like freckles, pimples, blotches and blackheads.

For obstinate wrinkles, a face bath made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half pint witch hazel, surpasses massage cream and everything else for results.—Advertisement.

SUNDAY CONCERT PROGRAM HAS MANY GOOD FEATURES

An audience of about 450 enjoyed an excellent program at the free concert yesterday afternoon at the Masonic temple.

The soloist, Miss Myrtle Hobbs, who made her first appearance at these concerts, won her audience from the start. Miss Hobbs has a pure soprano voice, which, though sweet and bird-like, has plenty of reserve power; she shows evidences of careful training and assiduous study. Her artistic conception was especially notable in her rendering of Burleigh's beautiful song "Jean," and she was equally proficient in the songs of a lighter vein, such as "Visitors" and "He Advertised." Her accompaniments were sympathetically played by her teacher, Donna Ribiette Flaaten.

Of the organ numbers the best was undoubtedly Tschaikowsky's "Italian Cappricio," of which the second movement was played. Von Weber's jubilee overture was also much enjoyed.

Fred Ward, superintendent of the work farm, gave a most interesting talk on the work that is done in that institution. He outlined its history from its establishment in 1913, told how it is managed, and described much of the details of the work there. He said that the three necessities for a working man, good food, good clothes and a good night's rest, are constantly provided, in return for which a good day's work is expected. Owing to the reasonable system of supervision, there is little trouble with discipline. Men are treated as men, and appreciate the treatment. Amusements are provided, and Mr. Ward invited any aspiring baseball team to come out next summer and get "trimmed." Religious instruction is given with the object of teaching the men how to "live right." Successful efforts are made to secure employment for discharged men. Mr. Ward concluded by saying that as yet the "work farm system" was only in an experimental stage, and urged people to realize that if only the causes of crime could be lessened or eliminated, there would be no more need for work farms or penitentiaries.

The last concert of the season will take place on Palm Sunday.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Keep Your Appointments.

Away back in my "first reader" period were harrowing tales in the study books that were calculated to instill into the youthful mind the all importance of punctuality. One of them, and this was typical of all, told an awe-inspiring story of a train wreck that was caused by the tardiness of a switchman. The closing lines, wherein was the moral, have always clung to my memory: "And 100 souls were dashed into eternity all because one man was behind time."

The moral of the school-book stories is a worthy one, but because few of us are engaged in work which involves the lives and safety of others, it seems to have no direct personal bearing upon our own lives. It is for matters of less consequence that men and women need training in punctuality. We think very little of going to keep a 2 o'clock appointment at 3 or after. When we are supposed to be at work at 9 o'clock, we quite often arrive several minutes after that hour.

In the larger offices, stores and factories, which give employment to great numbers of people, the rules regarding punctuality are very stringent and of necessity they must be for the protection of the employers, but in small offices with few employes, there is great laxity in this respect. The business heads of the large concerns are also very insistent that business appointments be kept just as punctually as the hours of the employes.

Keeping appointments is a thing of very vital importance at times. You who have had the experience of waiting for a tardy friend know how long the minutes seem and you may also remember the succession of things that went wrong during the entire balance of the day simply because your friend heedlessly delayed you in the morning. There are times when delays are unavoidable, but these are in the minority.

There are people who are habitually behind time either because of thoughtlessness or lack of proper consideration for others. Before going to keep an engagement they invariably think of just one other thing to do first. Without putting the thought into words they reason that being a little late will make no difference, and it is often a matter of considerable moment to the friend that they be on time.

Those who have the reputation of being punctual have the confidence and esteem of all, while those who are habitually late are considered unreliable and are never intrusted with important work or duty when others are available. One should keep a promise to meet an appointment just as literally as in other things.

GRAPHANOLA FOR CITY LODGING HOUSE

A $50 graphanola was presented to the municipal lodging house Saturday afternoon by the Red, White and Blue society that is composed of young girls who hold monthly meetings and take an active part in philanthropic work.

Most of the money to buy the instrument was raised at a card party given recently in Memorial hall by the members of the society.

The presentation of the graphanola was the occasion of an entertainment for the residents of the lodging house. There were addresses, recitations, a speech of acceptance by Frank Hicks, manager of the city welfare department, and the playing of pieces on the new instrument.

FINAL DRESS REHEARSALS FOR DRAMA LEAGUE PLAYS

The final dress rehearsals will be held at the Little theater this evening for "How He Lied to Her Husband" and "The Dear Departed" that will be given by the Drama league at the Little theater tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock. Joseph de Stephani of the Baldwin Players has had the supervision of the rehearsals of "How He Lied to Her Husband" and Mrs. F. A Patrick and Francis Webb have assisted Mrs. John A. Sinclair with the rehearsals of "The Dear Departed."

WHAT SOME WOMEN ARE DOING

Miss Mabel McCalmont, hospital consultant, is worth $50 a day to the state of New York. So the department of efficiency and economy has decided, valuing her services in advising concerning the construction of the big state hospital in Poughkeepsie at that amount. Miss McCalmont is an expert in hospital equipment. She has visited the leading institutions of the kind from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In the new hospitals, she advises as to exactly the equipment to purchase, and the methods of organization to enforce. In the old ones she makes a survey from cellar to roof, and suggests changes to increase efficiency. Miss McCalmont, when a young girl, became a trained nurse. She saw in it no great future unless she designed one. So she went to the Philippines for the government and helped construct the hospitals in Manila and other cities of the islands. In 1911 she returned to New York, with the necessary experience to make a success of her new calling.

Dr. Midzuko Takahashi of Tokio, the first woman physician ever given permission to practice in Japan, and for the last forty years a noted figure in the Japanese medical world, will be one of the distinguished visitors to the exposition in California this spring. Dr. Takahashi was the pioneer of scientific education for women in her country, and she had to overcome secular tradition of almost irresistible force. She won out, however, and both fame and fortune came to her. She became a leading philanthropist in Japan and by her help more than a score of men were sent through the imperial medical college in Tokio. Her medical studies were completed in Berlin, and she has traveled in many countries. She will be given a rousing welcome to the United States.

Miss Margaret Ash has completed her fifty-first year in the bureau of engraving at Washington. She began as printer's assistant, and worked up to the position of examiner.

CROWS FLY BACK FROM THE SOUTH

"Caw! Caw! Caw!"

An old friend is back.

Many Duluthians, especially those living out Woodland way and beyond, heard that familiar cry this morning.

The crow is about the first of the feathered tourists to return, and some of the black coated brethren flew back this morning.

The crow has some defenders and some defamers. He undoubtedly does much damage to growing crops, kills young birds, eats eggs of other birds out of the nests, and is generally a good deal of a nuisance.

His only good point is that he is a first-class scavenger. He keeps the dead fish cleared up along the lake shores, and in this way adds much to the enjoyment of picnic parties and fishermen. On the whole, though, the crow is not generally held in high esteem, but he is a very wary bird and not easy to kill.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Life's Shop Window."
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.
REX—"Kreutzer Sonata," Photoplay.

MELODRAMA IS ENJOYED.

"Life's Shop Window" Pleases Big Audiences at Lyceum.

A man's neglect, a woman's weakness, and the honeyed words of promise of a different life—a life of glamor, if a life of shame—constitute the causes for "Life's Shop Window," a four-act melodrama by Victoria Cross, and presented with good effect by the Baldwin Players this week at the Lyceum. It is the same old story: a husband's neglect, innocent neglect; a wife's longing for the unattainable except by the loss of virtue, home and child, and the completion of the ever-recurrent triangle—the other man.

But in "Life's Shop Window" all ends well; the wife leaves, but is overtaken by her husband; the other man, bareheaded and with forceful earnestness, assures the husband that his wife can return, if she will, unsullied, and the husband, overcoming with an effort his disappointment, takes her back to the home at the final curtain.

Homer Barton plays with a lot of force the ever-busy husband, whose promises to his wife always run against domestic duties that interfere with the fulfillment of the promises, thus opening a chasm between himself and his wife.

Joseph de Stephani takes the part of Eustace Pelham of the English aristocracy, and does it well. It is Pelham who, first meeting the young wife in England, and later at her husband's ranch in America, charms her with his culture, his music (few people knew de Stephani could "play" the violin), and finally causes her to run away.

Walter Baldwin, Jr., cast as Hodge, the farmhand, with a heart, intelligent beyond his position, in love with the wife himself, but in an honorable manner, adds this week to his remarkable record before Duluth audiences. He is the type needed for the part.

William Donovan makes an acceptable, profane Black Feather, an Indian, and has many laughable lines.

Al Smith swears and acts the cowboy, who has had several unfortunate matrimonial experiences, having lost his three wives to three home-wreckers.

Miss Doris Olsson plays Lydia Wilton with care and discrimination. Margaret Lotus plays the Indian girl, Starlight, the latter part of the play, most effectively, and Bella, daughter of Farmer and Mrs. Anderson, taken respectively by William A Mortimer and Helen Keers, earlier in the plot.

The play, taken from a well-read novel of several years ago, is scarcely recognizable in its stage form. Taken from opening to closing, the play is interesting, but overly sentimental and unwholesome. A large crowd turned out to see the initial performance Sunday. The play will continue throughout the week with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Next week's offering by the Baldwinians will be "The Confession," said by New York newspapers to be "not confined to any class or age of women or men."

Tonight will be Royal League night at the Lyceum.

At the New Grand.

Probably the best array of vaudeville talent seen in Duluth in many a day is the new bill opening at the New Grand this afternoon.

Heading the bill is the famous comedienne, Maidie De Long, known as "The Baseball Bug." With plenty of new characterizations in her repertoire, she will present her original character studies, "The 1915 Girl," "The Office Boy," and "A Swedish Slavey." She will close her offering with a character study which made her famous—the comedy pantomime imitation of a baseball pitcher.

Archer and Carr will offer a series of songs and dances and are said to be entertainers of the better class.

Edna and Billy St. Allen will offer a novelty on the tight-wire. They accomplish some exceedingly dangerous stunts and perform wonderful feats in equilibrium while poised on a steel thread at a dangerous height.

Musical comedians are the Four Musical Kings. They offer a singing and instrumental novelty brimful of comedy and good things in vaudeville entertainment.

The feature photoplay is a stirring three-reel drama, "In Spite of All." This photoplay was taken from Mrs. Fiske's great stage success of the same title.

"Father's New Maid," a comedy; "The Man Who Knows," a drama, and the "Pitcher Plant" an educational subject, complete the bill.

At the Zelda.

"Hearts and Flowers" featuring Mrs. Thomas Whiffin, known as the "grand old lady" of the American stage, is in five acts, and was produced under the direction of Joseph A. Golden. Mrs. Thomas Whiffin is supported by Beulah Poynter, who takes the part of the millionaire's daughter. The beloved old lady takes the part of the mother. In this drama of intense heart interest Tom, the son of John and Mary Landers, an old-fashioned country couple, is in love with a pretty country girl, who is also being courted by a Walter Terry. Tom, in a fit of crazed jealousy, strikes Walter, and in the fight that ensues, Tom accidentally pushes Walter over the edge of a cliff. Fearing that he has killed his rival, he leaves the farm home for the city. The dear old mother is seen waiting nightly for her boy to return. Some beautiful scenes of old-fashioned home and farm life are shown and this production will without doubt bring memories back to many theater patrons. This five-act production will be shown only tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday in six complete performances daily. Seats may be reserved for theater parties.

The Kreutzer Sonata.

In an appendix in explanation of "The Kreutzer Sonata," playing at the Rex today and tomorrow, Count Leo Tolstoi says in part: "To many persons the thoughts I have expressed in 'Kreutzer Sonata' will seem strange, so accustomed are they to hiding these evils of society, but only by bringing these conditions to the pure light of day can they ever be stamped out."

Nance O'Neil, appearing in "Kreutzer Sonata," is the greatest emotional actress in America today. For sheer power and skill she has never been surpassed. In "The Lily," she caused a scene of enthusiasm such as is seldom seen in a playhouse. The roof of the Stuyvesant theater throbbed with mad enthusiasm. Men cheered and women raved. This is the actress who portrays the character of Miriam in "Kreutzer Sonata." Miriam, the woman who sees her life's happiness filched from her and her heart left crushed. It is a wonderful drama that holds the spectator relentlessly in thrall.

Dress Form Club.

Our club plan enables every woman, regardless of how limited her income may be, to own one of these economical "attire producers." Gray's carry a complete line of Hall-Borchert dress forms. See other ad, page 6.

GRAPHANOLA FOR CITY LODGING HOUSE

A $50 graphanola was presented to the municipal lodging house Saturday afternoon by the Red, White and Blue society that is composed of young girls who hold monthly meetings and take an active part in philanthropic work.

Most of the money to buy the instrument was raised at a card party given recently in Memorial hall by the members of the society.

The presentation of the graphanola was the occasion of an entertainment for the residents of the lodging house. There were addresses, recitations, a speech of acceptance by Frank Hicks, manager of the city welfare department, and the playing of pieces on the new instrument.

Joseph de Stephani of the Baldwin Players has had the supervision of the rehearsals of "How He Lied to Her Husband" and Mrs. F. A Patrick and Francis Webb have assisted Mrs. John A. Sinclair with the rehearsals of "The Dear Departed."

WHAT SOME WOMEN ARE DOING

Miss Mabel McCalmont, hospital consultant, is worth $50 a day to the state of New York. So the department of efficiency and economy has decided, valuing her services in advising concerning the construction of the big state hospital in Poughkeepsie at that amount. Miss McCalmont is an expert in hospital equipment. She has visited the leading institutions of the kind from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In the new hospitals, she advises as to exactly the equipment to purchase, and the methods of organization to enforce. In the old ones she makes a survey from cellar to roof, and suggests changes to increase efficiency. Miss McCalmont, when a young girl, became a trained nurse. She saw in it no great future unless she designed one. So she went to the Philippines for the government and helped construct the hospitals in Manila and other cities of the islands. In 1911 she returned to New York, with the necessary experience to make a success of her new calling.

Dr. Midzuko Takahashi of Tokio, the first woman physician ever given permission to practice in Japan, and for the last forty years a noted figure in the Japanese medical world, will be one of the distinguished visitors to the exposition in California this spring. Dr. Takahashi was the pioneer of scientific education for women in her country, and she had to overcome secular tradition of almost irresistible force. She won out, however, and both fame and fortune came to her. She became a leading philanthropist in Japan and by her help more than a score of men were sent through the imperial medical college in Tokio. Her medical studies were completed in Berlin, and she has traveled in many countries. She will be given a rousing welcome to the United States.

Miss Margaret Ash has completed her fifty-first year in the bureau of engraving at Washington. She began as printer's assistant, and worked up to the position of examiner.

CROWS FLY BACK FROM THE SOUTH

"Caw! Caw! Caw!"

An old friend is back.

Many Duluthians, especially those living out Woodland way and beyond, heard that familiar cry this morning.

The crow is about the first of the feathered tourists to return, and some of the black coated brethren flew back this morning.

The crow has some defenders and some defamers. He undoubtedly does much damage to growing crops, kills young birds, eats eggs of other birds out of the nests, and is generally a good deal of a nuisance.

His only good point is that he is a first-class scavenger. He keeps the dead fish cleared up along the lake shores, and in this way adds much to the enjoyment of picnic parties and fishermen. On the whole, though, the crow is not generally held in high esteem, but he is a very wary bird and not easy to kill.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Life's Shop Window."
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.
REX—"Kreutzer Sonata," Photoplay.

MELODRAMA IS ENJOYED.

"Life's Shop Window" Pleases Big Audiences at Lyceum.

A man's neglect, a woman's weakness, and the honeyed words of promise of a different life—a life of glamor, if a life of shame—constitute the causes for "Life's Shop Window," a four-act melodrama by Victoria Cross, and presented with good effect by the Baldwin Players this week at the Lyceum. It is the same old story: a husband's neglect, innocent neglect; a wife's longing for the unattainable except by the loss of virtue, home and child, and the completion of the ever-recurrent triangle—the other man.

But in "Life's Shop Window" all ends well; the wife leaves, but is overtaken by her husband; the other man, bareheaded and with forceful earnestness, assures the husband that his wife can return, if she will, unsullied, and the husband, overcoming with an effort his disappointment, takes her back to the home at the final curtain.

Homer Barton plays with a lot of force the ever-busy husband, whose promises to his wife always run against domestic duties that interfere with the fulfillment of the promises, opening a chasm between himself and his wife.

Joseph de Stephani takes the part of Eustace Pelham of the English aristocracy, and does it well. It is Pelham who, first meeting the young wife in England, and later at her husband's ranch in America, charms her with his culture, his music (few people knew de Stephani could "play" the violin), and finally causes her to run away.

Walter Baldwin, Jr., cast as Hodge, the farmhand, with a heart, intelligent beyond his position, in love with the wife himself, but in an honorable manner, adds this week to his remarkable record before Duluth audiences. He is the type needed for the part.

William Donovan makes an acceptable, profane Black Feather, an Indian, and has many laughable lines.

Al Smith swears and acts the cowboy, who has had several unfortunate matrimonial experiences, having lost his three wives to three home-wreckers.

Miss Doris Olsson plays Lydia Wilton with care and discrimination. Margaret Lotus plays the Indian girl, Starlight, in her part of the play, most effectively, and Bella, daughter of Farmer and Mrs. Anderson, taken respectively by William A Mortimer and Helen Keers, earlier in the plot.

The play, taken from a well-read novel of several years ago, is scarcely recognizable in its stage form. Taken from opening to closing, the play is interesting, but overly sentimental and unwholesome. A large crowd turned out to see the initial performance Sunday. The play will continue throughout the week with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Next week's offering by the Baldwinians will be "The Confession," said by New York newspapers to be "not confined to any class or age of women or men."

Tonight will be Royal League night at the Lyceum.

At the New Grand.

Probably the best array of vaudeville talent seen in Duluth in many a day is the new bill opening at the New Grand this afternoon.

Heading the bill is the famous comedienne, Maidie De Long, known as "The Baseball Bug." With plenty of new characterizations in her repertoire, she will present her original character studies, "The 1915 Girl," "The Office Boy," and "A Swedish Slavey." She will close her offering with a character study which made her famous—the comedy pantomime imitation of a baseball pitcher.

Archer and Carr will offer a series of songs and dances and are said to be entertainers of the better class.

Edna and Billy St. Allen will offer a novelty on the tight-wire. They accomplish some exceedingly dangerous stunts and perform wonderful feats in equilibrium while poised on a steel thread at a dangerous height.

Musical comedians are the Four Musical Kings. They offer a singing and instrumental novelty brimful of comedy and good things in vaudeville entertainment.

The feature photoplay is a stirring three-reel drama, "In Spite of All." This photoplay was taken from Mrs. Fiske's great stage success of the same title.

"Father's New Maid," a comedy; "The Man Who Knows," a drama, and the "Pitcher Plant" an educational subject, complete the bill.

At the Zelda.

"Hearts and Flowers" featuring Mrs. Thomas Whiffin, known as the "grand old lady" of the American stage, is in five acts, and was produced under the direction of Joseph A. Golden. Mrs. Thomas Whiffin is supported by Beulah Poynter, who takes the part of the millionaire's daughter. The beloved old lady takes the part of the mother. In this drama of intense heart interest Tom, the son of John and Mary Landers, an old-fashioned country couple, is in love with a pretty country girl, who is also being courted by a Walter Terry. Tom, in a fit of crazed jealousy, strikes Walter, and in the fight that ensues, Tom accidentally pushes Walter over the edge of a cliff. Fearing that he has killed his rival, he leaves the farm home for the city. The dear old mother is seen waiting nightly for her boy to return. Some beautiful scenes of old-fashioned home and farm life are shown and this production will without doubt bring memories back to many theater patrons. This five-act production will be shown only tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday in six complete performances daily. Seats may be reserved for theater parties.

The Kreutzer Sonata.

In an appendix in explanation of "The Kreutzer Sonata," playing at the Rex today and tomorrow, Count Leo Tolstoi says in part: "To many persons the thoughts I have expressed in 'Kreutzer Sonata' will seem strange, so accustomed are they to hiding these evils of society, but only by bringing these conditions to the pure light of day can they ever be stamped out."

Nance O'Neil, appearing in "Kreutzer Sonata," is the greatest emotional actress in America today. For sheer power and skill she has never been surpassed. In "The Lily," she caused a scene of enthusiasm such as is seldom seen in a playhouse. The roof of the Stuyvesant theater throbbed with mad enthusiasm. Men cheered and women raved. This is the actress who portrays the character of Miriam in "Kreutzer Sonata." Miriam, the woman who sees her life's happiness filched from her and her heart left crushed. It is a wonderful drama that holds the spectator relentlessly in thrall.

SAMUEL BOWLES.

No man has been more closely identified with the advancement of American newspapers in the last third of a century than has Samuel Bowles, editor and publisher of the Springfield, Mass., Republican. In the death of Mr. Bowles yesterday the press of America loses one of the men most worthy to be called a leader.

It was not as an ordinary new venture Mr. Bowles assumed the control of the Republican in 1878. He took over the paper at the death of Samuel Bowles, his father, who in turn had received it from Samuel Bowles, his father, who still earlier had taken it over on the death of his father, also named Samuel Bowles. Each succeeding generation helped in the development of the publication, which began its existence as a weekly in 1824 and became a daily in 1844. But with the increasing facilities both for securing news and for publication, the Samuel Bowles who has just ended his life's work was able to advance the Republican to a point beyond the wildest dreams of the earlier bearers of his name. He was recognized as progressive, not only by his fellow directors of the Associated Press but throughout the newspaper world.

There has been one thing, however, that was put into the Republican by its founder, and that has remained there ever since, and that is the element that makes any newspaper worth while—unswerving allegiance to the interests of the public which is served, and unyielding fidelity to the best and highest principles of humanity, society and the state. In politics the Republican has been held to an independent position, the welfare of all being constantly placed above all other considerations. It has held true to this principle through all conditions, and has won a position of honor, respect and influence such as has been attained by few other publications.

This has been the work of Samuel Bowles, than whom American or any other newspaperdom never has seen a more earnest, advanced and honorable director. His death is a loss to the entire country, but his example will be an inspiration to all the thousands who knew his work, and his personality has left an indelible impression of high character on all with whom he came into contact during his life.

Almost time to swat the fly.

THE LIST NOT COMPLETE.

Constantly recurring reports from Europe indicate that the list of nations to be involved in the great war is not yet complete. Italy may yet join the belligerents, whether Greece takes such action or not.

There seemed reason to hope, after the long time that Italy kept out of the struggle, that she would maintain peace to the end. Certainly that is the wish of some of her leading men, and the experience she has had in recent wars would seem to have encouraged the idea of peace rather than that of conflict.

But there are ugly rumors afloat in Italy; the kind that stir a people to anger and might even lead them to demand that war begin against another nation or group of nations. The latest report is that Germany, or at least German interests, have been arming the tribesmen in Tripoli and stirring up a spirit of revolt against Italian rule. This is something that is bound to inflame the popular imagination and may lead to serious consequences.

Of course there may be nothing to the charge, but it could at least be given color by arguing that Italy might be kept from joining the allies if she were given enough trouble in Tripoli, and that this would be to the interests of Germany. On the other hand, it might easily be urged that since the weapons discovered in Tripoli were of French manufacture, the agitation there might readily have been the work of agents of the allies, who would also take care to let it be understood that they were working in behalf of Germany. So it may even work out to a standoff so far as that particular matter is concerned.

More serious developments are reasonably to be expected from the statement in the Giornale d'Italia—a statement regarded in Rome as of a semi-official nature—that Italy must seek means of over-sea territorial expansion, especially on the Mediterranean. There is nothing to indicate what course this would take, but an easy inference is that it would involve the seizure of North African territory now controlled by one or another of the warring powers.

Those who watch the affairs of nations will be inclined to think that Italy is only grooming herself for entrance into the big war.

The Slingsby case promises to be to the English lawyers much the same as the Thaw case is to those on this side.

BACK TO THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Reno has gone back to the good old days, and it is to be hoped that the people there are happy and contented. That they will be prosperous seems to be a foregone conclusion in their own minds at least, and there can be no question of the fact that their city will get a deal more advertising than it has been getting in the last few months.

As a matter of fact it is all Nevada that has gone back—and you can add the phrase "to the good old days" or not, just as you choose. The passage of the bill re-establishing the old divorce laws that made that state a Mecca for the matrimonially disgruntled affects the whole commonwealth.

It is recorded that when the bill passed, and again when the governor signed it, there was rejoicing throughout Nevada, and especially in Reno. Which fact throws rather an interesting light on both the city and the state. Other states and other cities have looked down on those two as being a disgrace to the nation. Even Eva Tanguay at her best could hardly have given a more insolent tone to the phrase "I don't care" than has now been given by these political bodies.

Maybe Nevada likes that kind of notoriety. If she does, and if it is necessary that somebody have it, let us all rejoice with Nevada that it falls to her. But there are other states and other cities that have rather higher ambitions, and where the people prefer development and advancement to non-development and retrogression.

Will it peeve the Turks any if the shells of the enemy do damage to the mosques?

WHAT IS THE GOOD OF IT?

Lincoln Beachey, known the country over as one of the most daredevil aviators in the world, has at last gone the way of others of the same propensities. Oddly enough, Beachey did not die as others have—by being crushed to death in falling—but by drowning after having survived a drop of some three thousand feet. Perhaps this was as he would have had it.

But Beachey's death revives a question that has been asked again and again in the last few years: What is the good of an aviator's taking the tremendous risks involved in the feats of the spiral glide, flying upside down, doing the perpendicular drop (the stunt that led directly to the death of Beachey) and other spectacular acts?

There are some tricks of flying that have a demonstrable value. For instance there is the one of shutting off the engine and volplaning to the earth. Beachey himself proved the advantage of being able to do this when, at a height of eleven thousand feet in one of his flights, his gasoline gave out. Other aviators have been compelled by one cause or another to do the same thing, and it would seem wise for an aviator to be prepared to depend on his planes for safety in case of accident to his engine.

But these other freakish doings seem to the layman to be nothing except a flirtation with death, to no advantage whatever either to the cause of aviation or to the good of the race. It may be, as one military authority says, that the spirit that led Beachey and others to make these attempts is invaluable when it comes to developing military aviators; but it seems more or less foolish to allow that spirit to dominate the activities of men whose ability and resourcefulness should make them of almost inestimable worth to the country for military or other purposes.

Beachey's death unquestionably takes from American aviation one of the greatest of its votaries. He has been a favorite with the crowds that have watched aerial contests, and besides he was one of those who first grew up with the art of flying. He helped develop it, and his name will go down in history among those of the men who did much to popularize aerial travel and to establish it as a practical proposition.

The jitney's best chance to make a killing would be by collecting a nickel from every person who stares after it.

Bread Making in Spain

By U. S. Consul Wilbur T. Gracey, Seville.

The bread used in Spanish households is somewhat similar to the French bread seen in the United States, but of a closer texture and harder surface. There are several bread-making establishments in Seville still making bread in the same primitive way that has been followed for hundreds of years in Spain and, so far as I have been able to discover, only one establishment that uses modern machinery.

The bread that is considered the finest is produced at Alcala, about fifteen miles from Seville, where several thousand persons are engaged in the industry. So famous has this village become that it is known throughout Spain as "Alcala of the bread-makers." The bakeries are usually located in buildings that once were private homes, and in many—in fact, in most—of them the family and employes reside still.

The wheat most sought by the Alcala bakers is that produced in Estremadura (provinces of Caceras and Badajoz), in the Seville consular district, and at present there is a shortage of wheat on the market and a call for foreign supplies. Heretofore Russian wheat has been seen on this market, but little has been imported from the United States. The grain is ground into flour between millstones turned by a donkey. A series of revolving sieves, approximately 10 feet long by 1 foot in diameter, sift the flour into bins, whence it is carried to the mixers; these are large earthenware open tubs set in cement.

Spadefuls of dough are transferred to a wooden rolling machine having steel rollers that knead it out and roll it into thin wafers, the dough being returned again and again to the rollers until it is the proper consistency. It is then carried to another room, where women form it by hand into loaves of four shapes—a long narrow shape, a round high loaf, a square flat one and a double loaf that bears some resemblance to a German pretzel. Each loaf is carefully stamped with the trademark of the town of Alcala and is then carried to ovens built of bricks, tiles and cement. When completely cooked the bread is stored in double panniers, lined with canvas, ready for packing on muleback the following morning.

An early train leaves Alcala daily for Seville and before daylight long lines of pannier-laden mules begin to arrive from all directions. At the station the panniers are removed and placed in freight cars, the donkeys being driven into similar cars, and mules, drivers and bread are all transported by train to Seville. Here, amid scrambling, hallooing and shrill cries, the animals are unloaded, panniers adjusted and the bread-sellers go forth into the streets of Seville, calling their wares and boasting of the fineness of Alcala bread. They return at midday, pack their empty panniers into the cars, drive in the mules, light their cigarettes and enter the third-class carriages, to be taken back to their home town, ready for the following day's trade. A charge of 18 cents is made by the railway company for the round trip of donkey, man and bread.

Minnesota Leads.

New York Post: To the Minnesota legislature there have just been submitted statistics about cooperation in the Northwest. Minnesota leads all her neighbors. Her farmers "are more thoroughly organized than is generally realized." She has no less than 674 cooperative creameries and 270 elevators, doing a combined yearly business of nearly $47,000,000. There are 754 cooperative telephone and fire insurance companies, 115 stock-shipping associations, even 34 cheese factories and 120 stores. The last are of especial significance. After many years of failure the farmers have finally learned to make such enterprises pay. The figures would look small beside those for Germany, which has the largest gross number of farm co-operative associations, or Denmark, with the largest per capita number. But they are encouraging as to the future, especially as Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Michigan can each boast of nearly as many co-operative creameries and insurance companies—the more obvious undertakings. Our own state and the Federal agencies have been as far behind Europe in promoting the farmers' economic development as they have generally been ahead in the technical promotion of plant and animal breeding, soil testing and the destruction of pests.

Good Roads.

If it were vain to build a college
For the youth to gather knowledge
If the roadways leading to it
Were a mess of ruts and mire,
And if swamps and dank morasses
Barred the pathways and the passes
Then a church were dead to service
Though it bore the tallest spire.
Light beneath a bushel hidden
By the Master was forbidden,
For a buried gleam is darkness
And a friend in trouble sore
Has no kindly spirit near him
In his hour of care to cheer him
Howsoe'er you wish to do it
If you cannot reach his door.

It were vain to build a nation
If from station unto station
Track of steel and wire of copper
Did not hold the common touch;
If a people could not neighbor
In their hours of ease and labor
All the splendor of their ages
Then would not amount to much.
Vain were all man's great inventions,
And all buildings but pretentions
If their usefulness and beauty
Were confined unto the few;
Here's life's secret to unravel,
'Tis upon the ease of travel
That is based the final value
Of whatever mortals do.

You on your way, I on my way
Must construct a better highway
For the feet of those who follow
Who are journeying behind;
If we leave life's road no better
Than we found it, we are debtor
To our children and their children,
We have selfish been and blind,
Stripped of tinsel and of gilding
Life's road that we are building,
And we're failing in our duty,
If we only understood,
When we find a grim and sad road,
And we leave it still a bad road,
Full of ruts and dangerous places,
When we could have made it good.

Stating the Case "Agin" the Jitney

From the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

As a factor in transportation of passengers the jitney bus is coming for permanent stay. At present it is looked upon as an experiment by many of the public, with relief by the straphangers and with dread by the traction companies.

In that feeling of dread, thinly veiled with smiles of indifference, the certainty of the jitney bus is admitted by traction magnates. Legislatures, particularly that of California, have enacted laws designed—on the face of the papers—in the interest of the public, but, in fact, in the interest of the dominating traction companies. The commissioners of Oklahoma City attempted to put the jitney bus out of existence before it concluded its first trip. They decreed that the jitney bus shall not operate on any street "longitudinally" if a traction car uses the same street. Licenses are within the discretion of the commissioners and the owner is required to insure the safety of his passengers.

The Texas legislature has enacted that the jitney bus operator must take out a license in the sum of $50, that he must be responsible for any accident to any passenger and must give bond to the mayor of the city in the sum of $5,000 to "make good" the accident.

The council of Denver requires each jitney bus to have a franchise from the city and the county under penalty of from $100 to $300, or imprisonment not exceeding ninety days, or both, with each trip constituting a separate offense. There are other instances—and the query arises: why are the regulations, especially as to accidents, so severe against the jitney bus and so lenient when the traction companies are considered?

The answer is given in the following from the Municipal Journal of Feb. 18, 1915:

"If but five jitney cars are allowed to operate unlicensed and unregulated, they can rob us of all our earnings and eventually force us into bankruptcy," is what Charles H. Bosler of Dayton, Ohio, president of the Tulsa Street Railway company, told the city commissioners in support of a proposed ordinance which would place a heavy tax and stringent regulations on "jitneys." The Tulsa Street Railway company had an investment of $500,000, according to Bosler, at Port Arthur, Tex., where the same company owns the street railway system. Jitney cars have reduced street car revenue almost to nothing. Bosler said in Tulsa they have cut heavily into the revenue since their advent. At Enid jitney cars are making themselves a menace to the street railway, also owned by the Boston interests.

There is no city wherein the citizenship wants to reduce the earnings of the traction companies to nothing. There is no desire to force them into bankruptcy. There is, however, a desire on the part of the citizenship for good and for adequate service—a seat for a nickel and not a nickel for the privilege of straphanging, the long continued rule of action by traction companies in all cities, with long term irrevocable franchies, contempt for the public comfort and sneers at public demands.

The severity of the legislation directed against the jitney bus, an enterprise altogether lawful and enterprising, is not in the interest of the public, but in the interest of the traction companies. The fact is made plain by the terms of the legislation and scarcely needed the frank admission of President Bosler to emphasize the intent and meaning of legislators and commissioners.

Of the three elements involved—the traction companies, the jitney bus and the citizenship—is consideration to be paid to traction companies only? Is straphanging to continue simply because the traction companies make money by it? Is the jitney bus to be put out of business because it competes with the traction companies?

Legislatures

Lee Shippey in the Higginsville, Mo., Jeffersonian: The more we see of legislatures the more we like the idea of abolishing them. The state of Missouri should be run as a business institution, and what business institution could survive if run by a board of directors selected as our legislatures are?

The state legislature has more than two hundred members, approximately two-thirds of whom are in the house and the rest in the senate. If every member of the house should vote for a measure and the senate refused to pass it the measure could not become a law. Therefore, the smaller house can set at naught the work of the larger house. Silly, isn't it? Since the senators and representatives represent the same people, wouldn't we save a lot of money and get a lot more efficient service and get it a lot more promptly if we had only one house instead of two? We pay both you know. And what one of us would be such a fool as to hire two sets of men to run his private business, each set with power to deadlock and nullify every act of the other set?

Homer Hoch in the Marion, Kan., Record: Why is it that so many members of the legislature seem to feel called upon, just because they are members, to defend the manifest weaknesses of the present legislative system?

Can any unprejudiced, intelligent observer visit the legislature and not be impressed with the inefficiency of the system?

The individual members are not to blame—there is no occasion for them to take as personal thrusts the criticisms of the system. Among the members are many men of considerably more than average intelligence. Some are men of marked ability. With very few, if any exceptions, the members are honest men, intending to render faithful service.

But it's the system. Very few of the members have had legislative experience and many are not fitted for that sort of work. And the session is nearly over before they have become familiar with the procedure. And then there are entirely too many of them. Twenty-five men could deliberate together—125 makes a crowd that smothers itself.

Force of Habit.

Everybody's Magazine: Here is a story by Baron Douse, the celebrated Irish judge:

"I was down in Cork last month, holding assizes. On the first day, when the jury came in, the officer of the court said:

"'Gentlemen av the jury, ye'll take your accustomed places, if ye plaze.'

"And may I never laugh," said the baron, "if they didn't all walk into the prisoners' dock!"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—When William B. McKinley, the Champaign, Ill., multi-millionaire, retired from congress two years ago, he set to work at once on a little project that had been in his mind for many weeks—that was, to return to congress. And he determined to set about the thing in a slightly different way than had ever been done before. In his unsuccessful campaign of 1912 McKinley had tried a number of innovations, which included band concerts for the voters by the famous United States Marine band of Washington. But that didn't work. Much as they liked McKinley's band music, a great many of the voters strayed from him on election day. It was plain enough to McKinley that he must throw more originality into his next campaign.

Soon after he ceased to be a congressman McKinley went to Europe. The trip was made partly for pleasure, but mostly by reason of McKinley's earnest desire to return to congress. It may be a trifle unusual to approach a seat in congress via Europe, but McKinley felt that it was the only way.

For years McKinley ransacked Europe and part of Asia for people and scenes suitable for his purposes, having photographs made as he went along.

When he returned to his district he had a collection of pictures and information with which he could have gone to any lyceum bureau and obtained employment as travel lecturer at good wages. But McKinley wished to be a lecturer only as a preliminary to being a congressman. He had slides made from his photographs of people and things in the various places he had visited, and each one of these slides served as a text for a tariff argument. One had only to look at the picture and listen to what McKinley had to say concerning same and be convinced that McKinley's tariff views were exactly right.

Long before any other candidate thought of getting ready for the congressional campaign, McKinley was giving his illustrated lecture in school houses and town halls throughout his district. If there was a single little red doghouse-shaped school building in the district where McKinley did not exhibit his pictures at least once, it was because he did not learn of his existence.

And each school child went home to talk about McKinley and his lantern slides and to be an unconscious cog in his campaign organization.

The other candidates, of course, had no chance. What voter is going to traipse up to a political meeting to hear a mere speech when he can go just as readily to an illustrated lecture?

Official stenographers in the house of representatives have a keen hatred, it is believed, for Albert Johnson, member from the state of Washington. The reason is this: There is an Indian reservation or two in Johnson's district and he keeps talking about the tribes that dwell there, mentioning them by name. The tribes are known as the Quin-i-aults and the Quin-i-utes. Various schools of thought advance different theories as to how these names should be spelled. The stenographers frankly do not know which spelling is correct. They only know that Johnson brings the names into his remarks much oftener than they regard as necessary.

The Seed Catalogue

Indianapolis News: So, here you are again, you disturber of dreams and domestic peace, you builder of false hopes and blower of soap bubbles, you delightful, fickle confidant, you seed catalogue. Yes, here you are with your same gay roses and overfed tomatoes, your rogues' gallery of peas and beans and corn and morning glories and columbines. It is like your assurance to come back with the same old stories of your magic seeds—little you know or care of last year's failures. You are content and proud because you are full of pretty pictures and elaborate promises.

If a picture of the eighteen lima beans and the scanty mess of peas which I really raised could be inserted in your pages, it might take you down a peg or two. If all the flowers that did not grow and all the weeds that did grow could be made into a book it would be big enough to make you look very small in comparison. Yes, I believed every word you said the first year. The second year I made allowances. This is the third year, and I have no confidence in you. That does not bother you, however. You display your charms undisturbed and know that yours are irresistible. Of course, I will have to take a look at you, just to see how very shameless you are, but you need not think that I am going to order anything.

I am going to fish or play golf this summer and not worry about your sickly beans or your thrifty, tough lettuce. Oh, it's asparagus you are showing me this year? I have never tried asparagus. Those are rather good looking strawberries, too. You say they are prolific bearers and easily grown and very sweet? That sounds goods to me. There isn't much use raising peas and lettuce and beans, anyway—they are always cheap at the market. And everybody has tomatoes. Well, I might order a few asparagus and strawberry plants. They don't come in seed, anyway. It won't hurt to make a little list and have it ready.

Asparagus and strawberries will be fine, something really worth while. Fresh strawberries every morning for breakfast, I suppose. You say they bear all summer? I think I shall have a good, big feed of them. And, while I am looking after them I can just as well take care of a few flowers. I'll just order some four o'clocks and phlox and sweet peas and nasturtiums and poppies and so on and so on.

Pike.

London Chronicle: In these days of dear fish do you eat pike? It appears to have been highly esteemed by our ancestors in the thirteenth century. Edward I, who regulated the prices of different fish, that his subjects might not be at the mercy of the venders, fixed the value of pike higher than that of salmon, and at more than ten times that of the best turbot. Pike are supposed to live longer than any other fish, in spite of their former popularity as a food. Gesner relates that in 1847 a pike was caught in Swabia with a ring attached, bearing the inscription: "I was first put into this lake by the hands of the governor of the universe, Frederick II, Oct. 5, 1230."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Caught!

Le Sueur News: The St. Peter Herald is opposed to a law permitting boxing in Minnesota fashioned after the Wisconsin law, and yet we noticed the senior editor of the Herald at Hudson Tuesday evening last, an interested spectator of the bouts in the Collins arena. Of course it is possible the Herald man prefers to spend the money in Wisconsin.

From Curler to Digger.

Hibbing Tribune: We used to be a curler but if this weather keeps up and other day we are going out in the back yard and become an agriculturalist.

Accomplished Much.

Willmar Tribune: President Wilson and his advisors have made the Democratic party one of positive action instead one of negation. No congress ever accomplished so many things of national importance in two years as did the one just ended. But for the filibuster of the Republican minority a government owned merchant marine would have been added to the Alaskan railroad, the income tax, the parcel post, the reduction of tariff, the currency bill and other meritorious measures.

Record for Usefulness.

Jordan Independent: Congress has adjourned. It broke all records for length of session. We believe also it broke all records for good, useful and honorable legislation enacted. The one blot on its record is fondness for the "pork barrel" it displayed. In this regard it was not a whit better (and no worse) than its predecessors.

Goethals Worthy of It.

Princeton Union: Col. Goethals has been made a major general in recognition of his services in building the Panama canal. The promotion was certainly merited, even if it was earned in a work that is in no way akin to war.

Chance for Patriotism.

Slayton Herald: One of the best ways just now in which one can show his patriotism is in supporting the government in its delicate mission of preventing war and holding the balance even between the belligerent powers. There are times in the history of every nation when party differences should be dropped. It is such a time in our town so far as international affairs are concerned.

Anything for Votes.

Brainerd Tribune: If the editor of the Park Rapids Enterprise really expects his readers to believe that Clapp and Lindbergh want to return to the Republican party because of the "purifying effect" of the election two years ago, he must entertain great respect for the average reader's intelligence—and their gullibility. Both Clapp and Lindbergh are always Republicans at election time, whatever they may be between elections, simply because the Republicans have the votes. They would doubtless file as Democrats just as readily if that party was prepared to "furnish the goods." It is a matter of votes—and the Bull Moosers didn't have 'em.

Tribute to Wilson.

Fairmont Sentinel: It can be fairly said that our president has worked industriously, patiently and conscientiously; that his accomplishments are many and great; his blunders few and inconsequential; and that at the beginning of the second half of his term of office he enjoys in a high degree the respect and confidence of his countrymen.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Once as I toiled along the world's rough road,
I longed to lift each fellow pilgrim's load.
I yearned to smooth all obstacles away,
And make the journey one glad holiday.
Now that so much of life's long path is trod,
I better know the purposes of God.
As I come nearer to the final goal,
I grasp the meaning of the Over-Soul.
This is the message as it comes to me,
Do well the task thy Maker set for thee.
Cheer the despairing—ease his load a bit,
Or teach him how he best may carry it;
But do not lift it wholly, lest at length
Thy too great kindness rob him of his strength.
He wrongs his brother who performs his part,
Wake thou the sleeping Angel in each heart;
Inspire the doubting soul to search and find,
Then go thy way, nor wait for those behind.
Who tries may follow, and the goal attain;
Perpetual effort is the price of gain.
The gods made room upon the heights sublime,
Only for those who have the will to climb.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Men talk much of giving their spirits to God; they talk somewhat of giving their souls; and they think that they can satisfy God and man by saying that they present their spirits, which no man can lay hold of, and their souls, which are only observable in their outward acts; but they refuse to give their bodies, for the most part, because this would cost them something palpable; this would involve what even men call "self-sacrifice."—H. W. Webb-Peploe.

Theologians at the Front.

London Chronicle: Great satisfaction is expressed in German newspapers that so many pastors and students of theology are voluntarily serving at the front. Of the 168 pastors who have been called to arms in the kingdom of Wurtemburg, ninety are serving at the front, and of 170 divinity students at the Wurtemburg university of Tuebingen 160 have donned the kaiser's coat.

It appears that in the German army of the Argonne there is an entire company composed of theologians. From all German universities with theological faculties the theologians are fully represented in proportion to their numbers. Very few of them care to serve as officers or non-coms., and are said to prefer serving in the ranks, where their influence among the ordinary soldiers is stated to be very great.

It is computed that 40,000 school masters are serving, or nearly one-fifth of the entire number in the empire.

Musical Note.

Judge: "Here's a fellow," said the Answers to Correspondents editor, "who wants to know what musical instrument produces foot notes."

"Tell him a shoe horn," suggested the sporting editor.

Where the Cheese Was.

Kansas City Times: "I am so sorry, Mr. Portly," apologized the hostess to her unexpected but influential guest at dinner, "but I have no cheese in the house."

"Pray do not mention it, Mrs. Phipps," smiled the genial old boy. "I am sure—"

His little compliment was interrupted by the appearance of the small son of his hostess at his side, bearing a piece of cheese upon a plate.

"Well, now, that is very kind of you, little man," he said, as the child stood there, delightedly watching him swallow the tit-bit. "You knew more than mother that time. Where did you find the cheese?"

The youngster intently watched the last morsel disappear before he answered.

"I found it in the rat trap," he proudly asserted.

Be a Jitney.

Life: Why not be a jitney? A jitney, as all the world will soon know, is a bus that does not require a track to run upon, is independent, and, because of its reckless manner of getting immediate transportation results, is hurting the business of regular franchised roads with real bond issues and a seat in the legislature.

Then why not be a jitney? Read what you please, go where you please, eat what you please, do what you please, regardless of time or circumstances, social surveys, efficiency experts, regulating committees, pros and antis, health cures and don't worry clubs. It's a new idea.

SAMUEL BOWLES.

No man has been more closely identified with the advancement of American newspapers in the last third of a century than has Samuel Bowles, editor and publisher of the Springfield, Mass., Republican. In the death of Mr Bowles yesterday the press of America loses one of the men most worthy to be called a leader.

It was not as an ordinary new venture Mr. Bowles assumed the control of the Republican in 1878. He took over the paper at the death of Samuel Bowles, his father, who in turn had received it from Samuel Bowles, his father, who still earlier had taken it over on the death of his father, also named Samuel Bowles. Each succeeding generation helped in the development of the publication, which began its existence as a weekly in 1824 and became a daily in 1844. But with the increasing facilities both for securing news and for publication, the Samuel Bowles who has just ended his life's work was able to advance the Republican to a point beyond the wildest dreams of the earlier bearers of his name. He was recognized as progressive, not only by his fellow directors of the Associated Press but throughout the newspaper world.

There has been one thing, however, that was put into the Republican by its founder, and that has remained there ever since, and that is the element that makes any newspaper worth while—unswerving allegiance to the interests of the public which is served, and unyielding fidelity to the best and highest principles of humanity, society and the state. In politics the Republican has been held to an independent position, the welfare of all being constantly placed above all other considerations. It has held true to this principle through all conditions, and has won a position of honor, respect and influence such as has been attained by few other publications.

This has been the work of Samuel Bowles, than whom American or any other newspaperdom never has seen a more earnest, advanced and honorable director. His death is a loss to the entire country, but his example will be an inspiration to all the thousands who knew his work, and his personality has left an indelible impression of high character on all with whom he came into contact during his life.

Almost time to swat the fly.

THE LIST NOT COMPLETE.

Constantly recurring reports from Europe indicate that the list of nations to be involved in the great war is not yet complete. Italy may yet join the belligerents, whether Greece takes such action or not.

There seemed reason to hope, after the long time that Italy kept out of the struggle, that she would maintain peace to the end. Certainly that is the wish of some of her leading men, and the experience she has had in recent wars would seem to have encouraged the idea of peace rather than that of conflict.

But there are ugly rumors afloat in Italy; the kind that stir a people to anger and might even lead them to demand that war begin against another nation or group of nations. The latest report is that Germany, or at least German interests, have been arming the tribesmen in Tripoli and stirring up a spirit of revolt against Italian rule. This is something that is bound to inflame the popular imagination and may lead to serious consequences.

Of course there may be nothing to the charge, but it could at least be given color by arguing that Italy might be kept from joining the allies if she were given enough trouble in Tripoli, and that this would be to the interests of Germany. On the other hand, it might easily be urged that since the weapons discovered in Tripoli were of French manufacture, the agitation there might readily have been the work of agents of the allies, who would also take care to let it be understood that they were working in behalf of Germany. So it may even work out to a standoff so far as that particular matter is concerned.

More serious developments are reasonably to be expected from the statement in the Giornale d'Italia—a statement regarded in Rome as of a semi-official nature—that Italy must seek means of over-sea territorial expansion, especially on the Mediterranean. There is nothing to indicate what course this would take, but an easy inference is that it would involve the seizure of North African territory now controlled by one or another of the warring powers.

Those who watch the affairs of nations will be inclined to think that Italy is only grooming herself for entrance into the big war.

The Slingsby case promises to be to the English lawyers much the same as the Thaw case is to those on this side.

BACK TO THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Reno has gone back to the good old days, and it is to be hoped that the people there are happy and contented. That they will be prosperous seems to be a foregone conclusion in their own minds at least, and there can be no question of the fact that their city will get a deal more advertising than it has been getting in the last few months.

As a matter of fact it is all Nevada that has gone back—and you can add the phrase "to the good old days" or not, just as you choose. The passage of the bill re-establishing the old divorce laws that made that state a Mecca for the matrimonially disgruntled affects the whole commonwealth.

It is recorded that when the bill passed, and again when the governor signed it, there was rejoicing throughout Nevada, and especially in Reno. Which fact throws rather an interesting light on both the city and the state. Other states and other cities have looked down on those two as being a disgrace to the nation. Even Eva Tanguay at her best could hardly have given a more insolent tone to the phrase "I don't care" than has now been given by these political bodies.

Maybe Nevada likes that kind of notoriety. If she does, and if it is necessary that somebody have it, let us all rejoice with Nevada that it falls to her. But there are other states and other cities that have rather higher ambitions, and where the people prefer development and advancement to non-development and retrogression.

Will it peeve the Turks any if the shells of the enemy do damage to the mosques?

WHAT IS THE GOOD OF IT?

Lincoln Beachey, known the country over as one of the most daredevil aviators in the world, has at last gone the way of others of the same propensities. Oddly enough, Beachey did not die as others have—by being crushed to death in falling—but by drowning after having survived a drop of some three thousand feet. Perhaps this was as he would have had it.

But Beachey's death revives a question that has been asked again and again in the last few years: What is the good of an aviator's taking the tremendous risks involved in the feats of the spiral glide, flying upside down, doing the perpendicular drop the stunt that led directly to the death of Beachey) and other spectacular acts?

There are some tricks of flying that have a demonstrable value. For instance there is the one of shutting off the engine and volplaning to the earth. Beachey himself proved the advantage of being able to do this when, at a height of eleven thousand feet in one of his flights, his gasoline gave out. Other aviators have been compelled by one cause or another to do the same thing, and it would seem wise for an aviator to be prepared to depend on his planes for safety in case of accident to his engine.

But these other freakish doings seem to the layman to be nothing except a flirtation with death, to no advantage whatever either to the cause of aviation or to the good of the race. It may be, as one military authority says, that the spirit that led Beachey and others to make these attempts is invaluable when it comes to developing military aviators; but it seems more or less foolish to allow that spirit to dominate the activities of men whose ability and resourcefulness should make them of almost inestimable worth to the country for military or other purposes.

Beachey's death unquestionably takes from American aviation one of the greatest of its votaries. He has been a favorite with the crowds that have watched aerial contests, and besides he was one of those who first grew up with the art of flying. He helped develop it, and his name will go down in history among those of the men who did much to popularize aerial travel and to establish it as a practical proposition.

The Jitney's best chance to make a killing would be by collecting a nickel from every person who stares after it.

Bread Making in Spain

By U. S. Consul Wilbur T. Gracey, Seville.

The bread used in Spanish households is somewhat similar to the French bread seen in the United States, but of a closer texture and harder surface. There are several bread-making establishments in Seville still making bread in the same primitive way that has been followed for hundreds of years in Spain and, so far as I have been able to discover, only one establishment that uses modern machinery.

The bread that is considered the finest is produced at Alcala, about fifteen miles from Seville, where several thousand persons are engaged in the industry. So famous has this village become that it is known throughout Spain as "Alcala of the bread-makers." The bakeries are usually located in buildings that once were private homes, and in many—in fact, in most—of them the family and employes reside still.

The wheat most sought by the Alcala bakers is that produced in Estremadurn (provinces of Caceras and Badajoz), in the Seville consular district, and at present there is a shortage of wheat on the market and a call for foreign supplies. Heretofore Russian wheat has been seen on this market, but little has been imported from the United States. The grain is ground into flour between millstones turned by a donkey. A series of revolving sieves, approximately 10 feet long by 1 foot in diameter, sift the flour into bins, whence it is carried to the mixers; these are large earthenware open tubs set in cement.

Spadefuls of dough are transferred to a wooden rolling machine having steel rollers that knead it out and roll it into thin wafers, the dough being returned again and again to the rollers until it is the proper consistency. It is then carried to another room, where women form it by hand into loaves of four shapes—a long narrow shape, a round high loaf, a square flat one and a double loaf that bears some resemblance to a German pretzel. Each loaf is carefully stamped with the trademark of the town of Alcala and is then carried to ovens built of bricks, tiles and cement. When completely cooked the bread is stored in double panniers, lined with canvas, ready for packing on muleback the following morning.

An early train leaves Alcala daily for Seville and before daylight long lines of pannier-laden mules begin to arrive from all directions. At the station the panniers are removed and placed in freight cars, the donkeys being driven into similar cars, and mules, drivers and bread are all transported by train to Seville. Here, amid scrambling, hallooing and shrill cries, the animals are unloaded, panniers adjusted and the bread-sellers go forth into the streets of Seville, calling their wares and boasting of the fineness of Alcala bread. They return at midday, pack their empty panniers into the cars, drive in the mules, light their cigarettes and enter the third-class carriages, to be taken back to their home town, ready for the following day's trade. A charge of 18 cents is made by the railway company for the round trip of donkey, man and bread.

Minnesota Leads.

New York Post: To the Minnesota legislature there have just been submitted statistics about co-operation in the Northwest. Minnesota leads all her neighbors. Her farmers "are more thoroughly organized than is generally realized." She has no less than 675 co-operative creameries and 270 elevators, doing a combined yearly business of nearly $47,000,000. There are 754 co-operative telephone and fire insurance companies, 115 stock-shipping associations, even 34 cheese factories and 120 stores. The last are of especial significance. After many years of failure the farmers have finally learned to make such enterprises pay. The figures would look small beside those for Germany, which has the largest gross number of farm co-operative associations, or Denmark, with the largest per capita number. But they are encouraging as to the future, especially as Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Michigan can each boast of nearly as many co-operative creameries and insurance companies—the more obvious undertakings. Our own state and the Federal agencies have been as far behind Europe in promoting the farmers' economic development as they have generally been ahead in the technical promotion of plant and animal breeding, soil testing and the destruction of pests.

Good Roads.

If it were vain to build a college
For the youth to gather knowledge
If the roadways leading to it
Were a mess of ruts and mire,
And if swamps and dank morasses
Barred the pathways and the passes
Then a church were dead to service
Though it bore the tallest spire.
Light beneath a bushel hidden
By the Master was forbidden,
For a buried gleam is darkness
And a friend in trouble sore
Has no kindly spirit near him
In his hour of care to cheer him
Howsoe'er you wish to do it
If you cannot reach his door.

It were vain to build a nation
If from station unto station
Track of steel and wire of copper
Did not hold the common touch;
If a people could not neighbor
In their hours of ease and labor
All the splendor of their ages
Then would not amount to much.
Vain were all man's great inventions,
And all buildings but pretentions
If their usefulness and beauty
Were confined unto the few;
Here's life's secret to unravel,
'Tis upon the ease of travel
That is based the final value
Of whatever mortals do.

You on your way, I on my way
Must construct a better highway
For the feet of those who follow
Who are journeying behind;
If we leave life's road no better
Than we found it, we are debtor
To our children and their children,
We have selfish been and blind,
Stripped of tinsel and of gilding
Life's road that we are building,
And we're failing in our duty,
If we only understood,
When we find a grim and sad road,
And we leave it still a bad road,
Full of ruts and dangerous places,
When we could have made it good.
—Edgar A. Guest in the Detroit Free Press.

Bought and Paid For.

Washington Star: "What is your reason for believing in the nebular hypothesis?" asked the man who is always seeking information.

"I don't know that I exactly believe in it," replied the scientist. "But after a man has gone to the trouble of finding out what it is it seems a shame to contradict it."

First-Hand Knowledge.

Stating the Case "Agin" the Jitney

From the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

As a factor in transportation of passengers the jitney bus is coming for permanent stay. At present it is looked upon as an experiment by many of the public, with relief by the straphangers and with dread by the traction companies.

In that feeling of dread, thinly veiled with smiles of indifference, the certainty of the jitney bus is admitted by traction magnates. Legislatures, particularly that of California, have enacted laws designed—on the face of the papers—in the interest of the public, but, in fact, in the interest of the dominating traction companies. The commissioners of Oklahoma City attempted to put the jitney bus out of existence before it concluded its first trip. They decreed that the jitney bus shall not operate on any street "longitudinally" if a traction car uses the same street. Licenses are within the discretion of the commissioners and the owner is required to insure the safety of his passengers.

The Texas legislature has enacted that the jitney bus operator must take out a license in the sum of $50, that he must be responsible for any accident to any passenger and must give bond to the mayor of the city in the sum of $5,000 to "make good" the accident.

The council of Denver requires each jitney bus to have a franchise from the city and the county under penalty of from $100 to $300, or imprisonment not exceeding ninety days, or both, with each trip constituting a separate offense. There are other instances—and the query arises why are the regulations, especially as to accidents, so severe against the jitney bus and so lenient when the traction companies are considered?

The answer is given in the following from the Municipal Journal of Feb. 18, 1915:

"If but five jitney cars are allowed to operate unlicensed and unregulated, they can rob us of all our earnings and eventually force us into bankruptcy," is what Charles H. Bosler of Dayton, Ohio, president of the Tulsa Street Railway company, told the city commissioners in support of a proposed ordinance which would place a heavy tax and stringent regulations on "jitneys." The Tulsa Street Railway company had an investment of $500,000, according to Bosler, at Port Arthur, Tex., where the same company owns the street railway system. Jitney cars have reduced street car revenue almost to nothing. Bosler said in Tulsa they have also cut heavily into the revenue since their advent. At Enid jitney cars are making themselves a menace to the street railway, also owned by the Boston interests.

There is no city wherein the citizenship wants to reduce the earnings of the traction companies to nothing. There is no desire to force them into bankruptcy. There is, however, a desire on the part of the citizenship for good and for adequate service—a seat for a nickel and not a nickel for the privilege of straphanging, the long continued rule of action by traction companies in all cities, with long term irrevocable franchies, contempt for the public comfort and sneers at public demands.

The severity of the legislation directed against the jitney bus, an enterprise altogether lawful and enterprising, is not in the interest of the public, but in the interest of the traction companies. The fact is made plain by the terms of the legislation and scarcely needed the frank admission of President Bosler to emphasize the intent and meaning of legislators and commissioners.

* * * * * * * * *

Of the three elements involved—the traction companies, the jitney bus and the citizenship—is consideration to be paid to traction companies only? Is straphanging to continue simply because the traction companies make money by it? Is the jitney bus to be put out of business because it competes with the traction companies?

Legislatures

Lee Shippey in the Higginsville, Mo., Jeffersonian: The more we see of legislatures the more we like the idea of abolishing them. The state of Missouri should be run as a business institution, and what business institution could survive if run by a board of directors selected as our legislatures are?

The state legislature has more than two hundred members, approximately two-thirds of whom are in the house and the rest in the senate. If every member of the house should vote for a measure and the senate refused to pass it the measure could not become a law. Therefore, the smaller house can set at naught the work of the larger house. Silly, isn't it? Since the senators and representatives represent the same people, wouldn't we save a lot of money and get a lot more efficient service and get it a lot more promptly if we had only one house instead of two? We pay both you know. And what one of us would be such a fool as to hire two sets of men to run his private business, each set with power to deadlock and nullify every act of the other set?

Homer Hoch in the Marion, Kan., Record: Why is it that so many members of the legislature seem to feel called upon, just because they are members, to defend the manifest weaknesses of the present legislative system?

Can any unprejudiced, intelligent observer visit the legislature and not be impressed with the inefficiency of the system?

The individual members are not to blame—there is no occasion for them to take as personal thrusts the criticisms of the system. Among the members are many men of considerably more than average intelligence. Some are men of marked ability. With very few, if any exceptions, the members are honest men, intending to render faithful service.

But it's the system. Very few of the members have had legislative experience and many are not fitted for that sort of work. And the session is nearly over before they have become familiar with the procedure. And then there are entirely too many of them. Twenty-five men could deliberate together—125 makes a crowd that smothers itself.

Force of Habit.

Everybody's Magazine: Here is a story by Baron Douse, the celebrated Irish judge:

"I was down in Cork last month, holding assizes. On the first day, when the jury came in, the officer of the court said:

"'Gentlemen av the jury, ye'll take your accustomed places, if ye plaze.'

"And may I never laugh," said the baron, "if they didn't all walk into the prisoners' dock!"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—When William H. McKinley, the Champaign, Ill., multi-millionaire, retired from congress two years ago, he set to work at once on a little project that had been in his mind for many weeks—that was, to return to congress. And he determined to set about the thing in a slightly different way than had ever been done before. In his unsuccessful campaign of 1912 McKinley had tried a number of innovations, which included band concerts for the voters by the famous United States Marine band of Washington. But that didn't work. Much as they liked McKinley's band music, a great many of the voters strayed from him on election day. It was plain enough to McKinley that he must throw more originality into his next campaign.

Soon after he ceased to be a congressman McKinley went to Europe. The trip was made partly for pleasure, but mostly by reason of McKinley's earnest desire to return to congress. It may be a trifle unusual to approach a seat in congress via Europe, but McKinley felt that it was the only way.

For years McKinley ransacked Europe and part of Asia for people and scenes suitable for his purposes, having photographs made as he went along.

When he returned to his district he had a collection of pictures and information with which he could have gone to any lyceum bureau and obtained employment as travel lecturer at good wages. But McKinley wished to be a lecturer only as a preliminary to being a congressman. He had slides made from his photographs of people and things in the various places he had visited, and each one of these slides served as a text for a tariff argument. One had only to look at the picture and listen to what McKinley had to say concerning same and be convinced that McKinley's tariff views were exactly right.

Long before any other candidate thought of getting ready for the congressional campaign, McKinley was giving his illustrated lecture in school houses and town halls throughout his district. If there was a single little red doghouse-shaped school building in the district where McKinley did not exhibit his pictures at least once, it was because he did not learn of his existence.

And each school child went home to talk about McKinley and his lantern slides and to be an unconscious cog in his campaign organization.

The other candidates, of course, had no chance. What voter is going to traipse up to a political meeting to hear a mere speech when he can go just as readily to an illustrated lecture?

Official stenographers in the house of representatives have a keen hatred, it is believed, for Albert Johnson, member from the state of Washington. The reason is this: There is an Indian reservation or two in Johnson's district and he keeps talking about the tribes that dwell there, mentioning them by name. The tribes are known as the Quin-i-aults and the Quin-i-utes. Various schools of thought advance different theories as to how these names should be spelled. The stenographers frankly do not know which spelling is correct. They only know that Johnson brings the names into his remarks much oftener than they regard as necessary.

The Seed Catalogue

Indianapolis News: So, here you are again, you disturber of dreams and domestic peace, you builder of false hopes and blower of soap bubbles, you delightful, fickle confidant, you seed catalogue. Yes, here you are with your same gay roses and overfed tomatoes, your rogues' gallery of peas and beans and corn and morning glories and columbines. It is like your assurance to come back with the same old stories of your magic seeds—little you know or care of last year's failures. You are content and proud because you are full of pretty pictures and elaborate promises.

If a picture of the eighteen lima beans and the scanty mess of peas which I really raised could be inserted in your pages, it might take you down a peg or two. If all the flowers that did not grow and all the weeds that did grow could be made into a book it would be big enough to make you look very small in comparison. Yes, I believed every word you said the first year. The second year I made allowances. This is the third year, and I have no confidence in you. That does not bother you, however. You display your charms undisturbed and know that yours are irresistible. Of course, I will have to take a look at you, just to see how very shameless you are, but you need not think that I am going to order anything.

I am going to fish or play golf this summer and not worry about your sickly beans or your thrifty, tough lettuce. Oh, it's asparagus you are showing me this year? I have never tried asparagus. Those are rather good looking strawberries, too. You say they are prolific bearers and easily grown and very sweet? That sounds goods to me. There isn't much use raising peas and lettuce and beans, anyway—they are always cheap at the market. And everybody has tomatoes. Well, I might order a few asparagus and strawberry plants. They don't come in seed, anyway. It won't hurt to make a little list and have it ready.

Asparagus and strawberries will be fine, something really worth while. Fresh strawberries every morning for breakfast, I suppose. You say they bear all summer? I think I shall have a good, big feed of them. And, while I am looking after them I can just as well take care of a few flowers. I'll just order some four o'clocks and phlox and sweet peas and nasturtiums and poppies and so on and so on.

Pike.

London Chronicle: In these days of dear fish do you eat pike? It appears to have been highly esteemed by our ancestors in the thirteenth century. Edward I, who regulated the prices of different fish, that his subjects might not be at the mercy of the venders, fixed the value of pike higher than that of salmon, and at more than ten times that of the best turbot. Pike are supposed to live longer than any other fish, in spite of their former popularity as a food. Gesner relates that in 1847 a pike was caught in Swabia with a ring attached, bearing the inscription: "I was first put into this lake by the hands of the governor of the universe, Frederick II, Oct. 5, 1230."

Breaking It Gently.

Clerk—"Well, sir, after the ceremony she will be my wife."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Caught!

Le Sueur News: The St. Peter Herald is opposed to a law permitting boxing in Minnesota fashioned after the Wisconsin law, and yet we noticed the senior editor of the Herald at Hudson Tuesday evening last, an interested spectator of the bouts in the Collins arena. Of course it is possible the Herald man prefers to spend the money in Wisconsin.

From Curler to Digger.

Hibbing Tribune: We used to be a curler but if this weather keeps up and other day we are going out in the back yard and become an agriculturalist.

Accomplished Much.

Willmar Tribune: President Wilson and his advisors have made the Democratic party one of positive action instead one of negation. No congress ever accomplished so many things of national importance in two years as did the one just ended. But for the filibuster of the Republican minority a government owned merchant marine would have been added to the Alaskan railroad, the income tax, the parcel post, the reduction of tariff, the currency bill and other meritorious measures.

Record for Usefulness.

Jordan Independent: Congress has adjourned. It broke all records for length of session. We believe also it broke all records for good, useful and honorable legislation enacted. The one blot on its record is fondness for the "pork barrel" it displayed. In this regard it was not a whit better (and no worse) than its predecessors.

Goethals Worthy of It.

Princeton Union: Col. Goethals has been made a major general in recognition of his services in building the Panama canal. The promotion was certainly merited, even if it was earned in a work that is in no way akin to war.

Chance for Patriotism.

Slayton Herald: One of the best ways just now in which one can show his patriotism is in supporting the government in its delicate mission of preventing war and holding the balance even between the belligerent powers. There are times in the history of every nation when party differences should be dropped. It is such a time in our town so far as international affairs are concerned.

Anything for Votes.

Brainerd Tribune: If the editor of the Park Rapids Enterprise really expects his readers to believe that Clapp and Lindbergh want to return to the Republican party because of the "purifying effect" of the election two years ago, he must entertain great respect for the average reader's intelligence—and their gullibility. Both Clapp and Lindbergh are always Republicans at election time, whatever they may be between elections, simply because the Republicans have the votes. They would doubtless file as Democrats just as readily if that party was prepared to "furnish the goods." It is a matter of votes—and the Bull Moosers didn't have 'em.

Tribute to Wilson.

Fairmont Sentinel: It can be fairly said that our president has worked industriously, patiently and conscientiously; that his accomplishments are many and great; his blunders few and inconsequential; and that at the beginning of the second half of his term of office he enjoys in a high degree the respect and confidence of his countrymen.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Once as I toiled along the world's rough road,
I longed to lift each fellow pilgrim's load.
I yearned to smooth all obstacles away,
And make the journey one glad holiday.
Now that so much of life's long path is trod,
I better know the purposes of God.
As I come nearer to the final goal,
I grasp the meaning of the Over-Soul.
This is the message as it comes to me,
Do well the task thy Maker set for thee.
Cheer the despairing—ease his load a bit,
Or teach him how he best may carry it;
But do not lift it wholly, lest at length
Thy too great kindness rob him of his strength.
He wrongs his brother who performs his part,
Wake thou the sleeping Angel in each heart;
Inspire the doubting soul to search and find,
Then go thy way, nor wait for those behind.
Who tries may follow, and the goal attain;
Perpetual effort is the price of gain.
The gods made room upon the heights sublime,
Only for those who have the will to climb.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Men talk much of giving their spirits to God; they talk somewhat of giving their souls; and they think that they can satisfy God and man by saying that they present their spirits, which no man can lay hold of, and their souls, which are only observable in their outward acts; but they refuse to give their bodies, for the most part, because this would cost them something palpable; this would involve what even men call "self-sacrifice."—H. W. Webb-Peploe.

Theologians at the Front.

London Chronicle: Great satisfaction is expressed in German newspapers that so many pastors and students of theology are voluntarily serving at the front. Of the 168 pastors who have been called to arms in the kingdom of Wurtemburg, ninety are serving at the front, and of 170 divinity students at the Wurtemburg university of Tuebingen 150 have donned the kaiser's coat.

It appears that in the German army of the Argonne there is an entire company composed of theologians. From all German universities with theological faculties the theologians are fully represented in proportion to their numbers. Very few of them care to serve as officers or non-coms., and are said to prefer serving in the ranks, where their influence among the ordinary soldiers is stated to be very great.

It is computed that 40,000 school masters are serving, or nearly one-fifth of the entire number in the empire.

Musical Note.

Judge: "Here's a fellow," said the Answers to Correspondents editor, "who wants to know what musical instrument produces foot notes."

"Tell him a shoe horn," suggested the sporting editor.

Where the Cheese Was.

Kansas City Times: "I am so sorry, Mr. Portly," apologized the hostess to her unexpected but influential guest at dinner, "but I have no cheese in the house."

"Pray do not mention it, Mrs. Phipps," smiled the genial old boy. "I am sure—"

His little compliment was interrupted by the appearance of the small son of his hostess at his side, bearing a piece of cheese upon a plate.

"Well, now, that is very kind of you, little man," he said, as the child stood there, delightedly watching him swallow the tit-bit. "You knew more than mother that time. Where did you find the cheese?"

The youngster intently watched the last morsel disappear before he answered.

"I found it in the rat trap," he proudly asserted.

Be a Jitney.

Life: Why not be a jitney? A jitney, as all the world will soon know, is a bus that does not require a track to run upon, is independent, and, because of its reckless manner of getting immediate transportation results, is hurting the business of regular franchised roads with real bond issues and a seat in the legislature.

Then why not be a jitney? Read what you please, go where you please, eat what you please, do what you please, regardless of time or circumstances, social surveys, efficiency experts, regulating committees, pros and antis, health cures and don't worry clubs. It's a new idea.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

APPRECIATES THE OPEN COURT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Must congratulate you on your policy of giving the ordinary mortal a hearing before the public as you are doing in your Open Court. Also, the news item which you published some time ago containing the statement of seven woodsmen concerning the sanitary conditions of lumber comps gives further evidence that you are ready and willing at all times to present the facts of a case, let the favor be where it will, and do not follow the example of a great majority of papers in printing them only as they favor influential persons or corporations. With best wishes for your success, I am,

JAMES WOOD.

Duluth, March 12.

THE ORIGIN OF A POEM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

On the 9th inst. a poem familiar to me from early childhood was published in this column, entitled "Go Feel What I Have Felt," Anonymous.

I think I can tell you the name of the author. It was in a little book called "The Autobiography of a Drunkard's Daughter, or The Life of Hannah Hawkins."

The Cyclopaedia of Temperance and Prohibition, published in 1891, says: "John Henry Willis Hawkins—born in Baltimore, Md., in 1799; died in 1858; a confirmed drunkard; he was reformed in 1840 through the efforts of his little daughter and became the chief apostle of the Washingtonian Movement.

"The 'Washingtonians' originated in the conversion into a temperance society, in April, 1840, of a Baltimore drinking club consisting of six men who took a pledge not to drink any spirits or malt liquors, wine or cider, and called their organization 'The Washingtonian Temperance Society.'

"Mr. Hawkins was reformed two months later, joined the society and soon became its most powerful advocate. By the end of the year the society contained about 700 members, all reformed drunkards.

"By the end of 1841 at least 100,000 pledges had been taken, and more than one-third were confirmed drunkards.

"A quarter of a million would be a low estimate of the number of habitual drinkers of intoxicants reclaimed, temporarily at least, through the instrumentality of the Washingtonion agitation. The Sons of Temperance was an offspring of the Washingtonian crusade, organized in 1842 by sixteen persons in New York city. Mr. Hawkins, until his death, lectured on temperance, visiting every state in the Union except California." With thanks for space,

MRS. CHARLES E. HOLT.

SECOND CHOICE VOTES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Kindly advise if a voter has the right to vote first and second choice for same man.

For example, in the coming election, there are two offices open and several candidates.

For instance, I vote in the first choice column for Farrell and in the first choice column for Silberstein. As I have the right to vote on two men, then I switch and vote in second choice column for Silberstein on my Farrell second choice right and on my second choice right on the Silberstein vote I vote for Farrell, thus making a first choice and a second choice vote for both candidates, or two votes for each man. Kindly explain. Yours truly,

C. E. L.

Duluth, March 12.

You cannot vote more than one choice for each man. Your second choice will not count if you do.—The Editor.

ACCEPTING CHECKS.

To The Editor of The Herald:

Is there no law against a merchant or any other business man accepting a check from a boy or man without first finding out if said person has any money in said bank or works for firm he is representing?

Often it would take them only a few minutes to find out by phone.

Wouldn't it be a good thing to make it an offense for them as well?

It would do away with so much of this nuisance and also make better boys in this world, and many less broken hearted mothers and fathers. Respectfully,

MRS. SMITH.

Virginia, Minn., March 17.

There is no law except the law of good business policy.—The Editor.

RIGHT TO VOTE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am a new one to appear in the Open Court, and feel rather bashful, but would like you to answer this.

If A was born in a foreign country, and came to this country at the age of 4 years, but his father gets his own citizenship papers before A is 21, has A the right to vote without papers?

A says he has. But B says he has not, so I will look to you for the right answer. MRS. L. E. Y.

Iron Mountain, Mich., March 11.

He has the right to vote when he comes of age, and complies with the election laws.—The Editor.

AMBER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please tell me through the Open Court, what is amber, (used in pipe stems.) Thanking you,

FRED W. ROWBOTTOM.

Cook, Minn., March 12.

Amber is a fossil resin which arises from the exudation of coniferous trees. The principal source has been along the shores of the Baltic sea. Much of the so-called amber used in commerce is artificial, being made from copal, camphor and turpentine.—The Editor.

Most Old People Are Constipated

The wear of years impairs the action of the bowels. With advancing age people are disposed to restricted activity and exercise, which is responsible for the constipated conditions of most old folks. The digestive organs are more sensitive to the demands made upon them and rebel more quickly.

A mild, effective remedy for constipation, and one that is especially suited to the needs of elderly people, women and children, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

More Tricks of the Trade

If strict honesty were as much a part of the patent medicine and cure-all business as it is a part of the shoe business or the grocery business, the American people would be spared a lot of misery. Because there is no doubt that a lot of imaginary "liver trouble," "kidney trouble" and the like is caused by the intentionally misleading description of symptoms in patent medicine circulars and advertisements.

One old trick is this. The "kidney cure" fellow suggests that if any sediment appears in a bottle of urine which has stood for some hours you've got kidney trouble and you should take Dr. Killem's Natural Herbs while there is yet time. As a matter of fact any normal urine will show more or less sediment on standing for some time.

Manufactured "Kidney Trouble."

Another kidney pill contains a dye, methylene blue, which stains the urine greenish or blue. This gives the shark a chance to make you imagine the blue stain signifies "poisonous matter" the worthless pills are driving out of your poor, run-down, well frightened system. A famous fake consists of an appliance you wear on your feet, along with some pills containing methylene blue—to help the "drawing out of poisons," you understand! Methylene blue has its value for diagnostic tests, but as a remedy thus abused it should be sufficient evidence to put the crooks who sell it in limbo.

The scores of alleged kidney cures, stomach bitters, catarrh cures and tonics which are nothing else than disguised alcoholic beverages—something like 300 of them have already been declared salable only by one holding a license from the commissioner of internal revenue—well, enough of that trick. Too many purchasers of such "medicine" like the bracers.

The untrustworthiness of patent medicine advertising is being more and more recognized by legitimate business men, and in time, we hope, there will come a way to control this abuse of public confidence and common decency.

Questions and Answers.

Young, Yet Skeptical: I am 19 years old. I have blackheads and flesh worms about the nose and chin which at times develop into red and watery pimples, accompanied by chronic oily condition of the skin. Am skeptical of a cure. Will you advise me? (Jane.)

REPLY.

It isn't right to become a skeptic until you are growing old—it's a sign of approaching senility, the skepticism is. A stamped addressed envelope will bring you some suggestions you have not yet tried.

* * *

Palpitation, a Symptom: Will you tell me what will cure palpitation of the heart?

REPLY.

First tell us whether your palpitation is a symptom of indigestion, anemia, high blood pressure, exophthalmic goiter, tobaccoism, nervous disease or heart trouble. This is an evasive way of saying: Go and be examined.

Writer's Cramp: I always have cramp when I write—that is why I am using the typewriter. Am a church organist. It doesn't affect my playing. No pain. But as soon as I take up my pen the fingers grasp it in a death grip and I seem powerless to guide it. A business college professor tells me relief can be had by learning the shoulder movement in penmanship. What is your opinion?

REPLY.

We corroborate the professor's statement. Do it. Reading your neat, brief letter, we are almost constrained to wish all our correspondents might suffer with your ailment.

Hating Niggertoes: I am a girl 16 years of age. My hands and arms are very skinny. If I hate niggertoes (nuts) will that put flesh on me? Will you please suggest something to make me take on weight.

REPLY.

Hate tends to make one thin and scrawny. Love makes one plump. Ignore the nuts if you like, and send stamped addressed envelope for a special letter of advice.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. Old Folks at Home.

Way down upon de Swanee ribber,
Far, far away;
Dere's wha my heart is turning ebber,
Dere's wha de old folks stay.
All up and down de whole creation
Sadly I roam,
Still longing for de old plantation
And for de old folks at home.

Chorus.

All de world am sad and dreary,
Ebrywhere I roam;
Oh, darkies, how my heart grows weary,
Far from de old folks at home!

All round de little farm I wander'd,
When I was young;
Den many happy days I squander'd,
Many de songs I sung.
When I was playing wid my brudder,
Happy was I;
Oh, take me to my kind old mudder,
Dere let me live and die!

One little hut among de bushes,
One dat I love,
Still sadly to my mem'ry rushes,
No matter where I rove.
When will I see de bees a-humming
All round de comb?
When will I hear de banjo tumming,
Down in my good old home?

Things You Leave Undone.

It isn't the thing you do, dear;
It's the things you leave undone,
Which gives you a bit of heartache
At the setting of the sun.
The tender word forgotten,
The letter you did not write,
The flower you might have sent, dear,
Are your haunting ghosts, tonight.

The stone you might have lifted
Out of a brother's way,
The bit of heartsome counsel
You were hurried too much to say;
The loving touch of the hand, dear,
The gentle and winsome tone,
That you had no time or thought for,
With troubles enough of your own.

The little acts of kindness,
So easily out of mind;
Those chances to be angels,
Which every one may find—
They come in night and silence,
Each chill, reproachful wraith—
When hope is faint and flagging,
And blight has dropped on faith.

For life is all too short, dear, and sorrow is all too great;
So suffer our great compassion; that tarries until too late;
It is not the thing you do, dear,
It's the thing you leave undone,
Which gives you the bit of heartache
At the setting of the sun.

"The Drunkard's Dream."

"Why Edward, do you look healthy now?
Your clothes are neat and clean.
I never see you drunk about;
Oh, tell me where you've been.

"Your wife and children are all well;
You once did treat them strange.
Oh, you are kinder to them now—
How came this happy change?"

"It was a dream—a warning voice—
Which heaven sent to me,
To snatch me from the drunkard's curse,
Grim want and misery.

"My wages were all spent in drink;
Oh, what a wretched view!
I almost broke my Mary's heart,
And starved my children too.

"What was my home or wife to me?
I heeded not her cry;
Her winsome smile has welcomed me
When tears bedimmed her eye.

"My children, too, have oft awoke,
'O father, dear,' they've said;
'Poor mother has been weeping so
Because we've had no bread.'

"My Mary's form did waste away;
I saw her sunken eye.
On straw my babes in sickness laid,
I heard their wailing cry.

"I laughed and sang in drunken joy
While Mary's tears did stream;
Then like a beast I fell asleep,
And had this warning dream.

"I thought once more I'd staggered home;
There seemed a solemn gloom;
I missed my wife—where can she be?
And strangers in the room.

"I heard them say: 'Poor thing! she's dead;
She lived a wretched life.
If grief and sorrow broke her heart,
Who would be a drunkard's wife?'

"I saw my children weeping 'round,
I scarcely drew my breath.
They called and kissed her lifeless form,
Forever still in death.

"'O father! come and wake her up!
The people say she's dead.
Oh, make her smile and speak once more;
We'll never cry for bread.'

"'She is not dead,' I faintly cried,
And rushed to where she lay;
And madly kissed her once warm lips,
Forever clad as clay.

"'O Mary! speak one word to me!
No more I'll cause you pain;
No more I'll break your loving heart,
Nor e'er get drunk again.

"'Dear Mary, speak; 'tis Dermott's call.
'Why, so I do!' she cried.
I woke, and true, my Mary dear,
Was kneeling by my side.

"I pressed her to my throbbing heart,
While with joy our tears did stream.
And ever since I've heaven blessed
For sending such a dream."

"Don't Forget the Old Folks."

Nay, don't forget the old folks, boys—
they've not forgotten you;
Tho years have passed since you were home, the old hearts still are true;
And not an evening passes by they haven't the desire
To see your faces once again and hear your footsteps nigher.

You're young and buoyant, and for you Hope beckons with her hands,
And life spreads out a waveless sea that laps but tropic strands;
The world is all before your face, but let your memories turn,
To where fond hearts still cherish you and loving bosoms yearn.

No matter what your duties are nor what your place in life,
There's never been a time they'd not assume your load of strife;
And shrunken shoulders, trembling hands, and forms racked by disease,
Would bravely dare the grave to bring to you the pearl of peace.

So don't forget the old folks, boys—
they've not forgotten you;
Tho years have passed since you were home, the old hearts still are true;
And write them now and then to bring the light into their eyes,
And make the world glow once more and bluer gleam the skies.

WILL T. HALE.

The Little Old Log Cabin in the Lane.

I am getting old and feeble now,
I cannot work no more;
I have laid the rusty-bladed hoe to rest;
Old massa and old missus, they
Are sleeping side by side,
And their spirits now are roaming with the blest.
Things have changed all about the place,
The darkies all am gone,
And I cannot hear them singing in the cane;
And the only friend that's left me
Is that little boy of mine,
In that little old log cabin in the lane.

There was a happy time to me,
Not many years ago,
When the darkies used to gather' round the door.
They used to sing and dance at night,
And play the old banjo,
But alas! they cannot do it any more.
The hinges are all rusty, now,
The door is tumbling down,
And the roof lets in the sunshine and the rain;
Oh, the only friend that's left me
Is that little boy of mine,
In the little old log cabin in the lane.

Oh, daddy! Don't you be so sad
And melancholy, now;
For you there's many happy days in store.
Altho' you're old and feeble,
Your boy is young and strong,
And will love and cherish you forevermore;
I'll try and do the best I can,
And make you happy now,
I'll comfort and protect you from all pain;
And the angels they will bless us
In our happy little home,
In our little old log cabin in the lane.

Oh, child! I am contented, but
The day must quickly come
When I'll have to leave this earth forevermore;
The angels they will take me from
My humble little cot,
And waft me to that bright, celestial shore.
But don't despair; let come what may,
You will be happy yet,
If from sorrow and bad feeling you refrain;
For the angels sure will bless us
In our happy little home,
In that little old log cabin in the lane.

HOW TO WARD OFF PNEUMONIA

To ward off pneumonia, so easily contracted at this time of the year, the health department has issued a list of "don'ts" by which Duluthians may avoid the disease. The list follows:

"Don't work or sleep in ill-ventilated rooms. Foul air claims many victims.

"Don't wear too light clothing.

"Don't get your feet wet. Change damp stockings immediately.

"Don't indulge in over-eating. Pneumonia is ushered in on an over-loaded stomach and intestines.

"Don't indulge in alcoholic drinks if you expect to dodge pneumonia.

"Don't fail to get plenty of fresh air.

"Don't fail to protect your ankles carefully.

"Don't neglect a cold. A cold frequently sets the stage for pneumonia.

"Don't neglect the simple rules of sanitation, ventilation and health. Pneumonia results automatically from the violation of these rules."

WILL CO-OPERATE IN MEETING EXPENSE

Financial assistance to the proposed all-year playground and recreational system being outlined by T. S. Settle, field secretary for the Playground Association of America, will be sought from both the city and the board of education.

In an address to be delivered this evening in Memorial hall before the social workers of Duluth, Mr. Settle will explain the tentative all-year program as he has it outlined at the present time. In addition he proposes to discuss the budget plan, which he includes in the system.

"The plan which I will present," said Mr. Settle yesterday, "calls for eighteen playgrounds. This will give convenient playground facilities to every man, woman and child in Duluth. The utilization of both school and park property is included in the tentative plans for summer playgrounds. This, with the co-operation with the skating rink system now in operation and the social center work, will give a year-round recreational system.

"The maintenance of the system proposed will call for an annual budget of $12,500, to be carried jointly by the city and the board of education. What proportionate amount will be carried by each is not yet determined, but will be fixed at a later meeting of our committee with the board of education."

Anyone interested in playground work is invited to attend the meeting this evening at Memorial hall.

DULUTH TWIN PORTS ELECTRIC LINES SUPERIOR

Don't walk toward the middle of the street holding an open umbrella so as to obstruct your view. It is better to face the snow, sleet or rain without protection of an umbrella than to risk stepping in front of a moving street car or automobile—the automobile may be able to dodge you, but remember that a "street car can't dodge," and the very storm that makes an umbrella necessary makes it more difficult to stop the car quickly. FAMOUS AVIATOR BEACHEY KILLED AT SAN FRANCISCO

Wings of Aeroplane Collapse and He Falls Into the Bay.

Strapped to Seat, Unable to Release Himself, He Is Drowned.

LINCOLN BEACHEY.

San Francisco, Cal., March 15.—Lincoln Beachey, the aviator, was killed while making an exhibition flight at the Panama-Pacific exposition yesterday. At an altitude of about 3,000 feet Beachey began a sharp descent. The wings of his aeroplane collapsed and the machine plunged into San Francisco bay.

Beachey's spectacular career came to its end in the presence of thousands of horror-stricken spectators, visitors at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Beachey was completing his second flight of the day when the accident occurred. Having previously electrified the crowd with a series of aerial somersaults, the airman sought to add an additional thrill by making one of the most sensational perpendicular drops which usually featured his flights.

Due to Monoplane.

The fatal fall is attributed to the fact that, for the first time, Beachey attempted his sensational aerial accomplishments in a monoplane.

An exceptionally large crowd had been attracted to the fair grounds when they found he would undertake the same breath-taking stunts in the machine with one set of planes instead of the biplane.

On the first flight all went well, and the aviator's familiar tricks were indulged in with the exception of the perpendicular drop. This Beachey had saved for the climax. It proved too much of a strain for the frame of the monoplane.

The machine was at an altitude of about 7,000 feet when Beachey shut off his power. For several hundred feet it dropped head on for the earth, and then the aviator grasped his control levers to adjust the planes for the graceful descent which had characterized his previous flights.

Planes Crumble.

When the machine checked its perpendicular drop and straightened out in midair, the strain on the single tier of supporting planes proved too great. They crumbled like a collapsed umbrella, and the wrecked monoplane, whirling over and over like a wounded bird, plunged downward into San Francisco bay, narrowly missing a vessel at the government pier.

A few splintered fragments of the plane showed the thousands who rushed to the water front, where the unfortunate aviator's body lay, strapped in his seat, 40 feet beneath the surface of the bay, and it was brought to the surface shortly after 5 o'clock.

Beachey was still alive when he struck the water and had sustained no major injuries as a result of the fall except a broken leg, in the opinion of Dr. David E. Stafford, who examined the body at the morgue.

Was Drowned.

The face, said Dr. Stafford, was discolored from choking and strangling, indicating death was due to drowning.

Cuts on the aviator's hands were taken to indicate that he had made efforts to release himself from the mesh of twisted wires and rods in which he was entangled.

When the machine fell, Beachey was protected by the engine propellers and hood of the monoplane, which struck the water first. It was pointed out that if Beachey could have disengaged himself, he probably would have managed to keep afloat until rescued.

Lincoln Beachey was regarded as the most skillful and daring of American aviators. He earned this reputation long before the French flyers, headed by Pegoud, began to glide through the air upside down. Beachey was in retirement when these feats were heralded and was drawn back into the game by his desire to exceed the remarkable flying of the Frenchman.

With an aeroplane of small wing surface, he flew upside down, made spirals while head downward and looped the loop.

First Flight in 1905.

Beachey was born in San Francisco, in September, 1887, and made his first flight in 1905 at Oakland, Cal., piloting a dirigible balloon. In 1906 he circled the capitol at Washington. He soared over New York in July, 1907. His motor failed and the wind whirled the dirigible across the river wrecking it.

His first heavier-than-air machine, a monoplane, was wrecked at St. Paul in 1910. He made a successful flight in Los Angeles, but then wrecked another flyer.

May 5, 1911, he was the first man to circle the capitol in Washington in an aeroplane. He then startled the world by flying over Niagara falls. Later he won the first inter-city aeroplane race in America, flying from New York to Philadelphia.

He was the most prominent figure in the 1911 Chicago aviation meet, spiraling at sharp angles.

Early in 1913 Beachey announced that he had made his last flight, asserting that he felt partly responsible for the deaths of nine aviators, who had tried to emulate him. When the deeds of the daring Frenchman were chronicled, however, he returned to the flying game. In October, 1913, at Hammondsport, N. Y., his machine swept several spectators from a roof, killing one.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. Frederick D. Rogers, of Chicago, Ill., says: I have found Fletcher's Castoria very useful in the treatment of children's complaints.

Dr. William C. Bloomer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: In my practice I am glad to recommend your Castoria, knowing it is perfectly harmless and always satisfactory.

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

AUTO RACES AEROPLANE

Webster Makes Three Flights and Gives Spectators Some Good Entertainment.

Races between Harry Webster in his bi-plane and Duluth autoists attracted thousands of race fans to the lake front yesterday afternoon. This form of sport, which is new in Duluth, proved to be exciting and interesting and delighted the big crowds.

Webster made three flights yesterday afternoon over the lake and business parts of the city. In one flight he soared 1,200 feet over Superior street and dropped a bomb, which exploded 150 feet below his bi-plane.

In the race he defeated Ray Buchanan's National car once and lost one race. In the next flight he soared higher, and took in a bird's-eye view of the city from the Central high school eastward and then back to his starting point.

In the auto ice race four events were staged. In the first, four cars competed. Three autos entered each of the other contests. Buchanan made more than seventy miles an hour. In one of the events, which Buchanan won, Dr. J. D. Park's Locomobile, which in 1913 won the national trophy of the A. A. A., worth $5,000, in the Minneapolis to Glacier park tour, finished second. Alex Cosgrove drove the car, which has traveled 135,000 miles. Cliff Oppel entered his Napier, and Norman Smith's Overland was driven by Willis.

Drivers declare that the ice was in perfect condition for the race yesterday.

CANNOT DISCUSS PEACE AT PRESENT

Germany Too Busy Trying to Win War, Says Chancellor.

Berlin, via London, March 15.—A declaration that Germany cannot yet discuss in detail the questions that must be solved at the consummation of peace was made by Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg in replying to a letter from a friend who wrote regarding the discussion of peace terms at the present time.

"At a time when the struggle still is progressing toward the object of war, the defeat of our enemy, and while Germans in the field and at home are occupied with a single purpose, to win, we cannot discuss in detail the questions which must be solved at and after the conclusion of peace," wrote the imperial chancellor.

"May the day soon come when the fetters shall be struck off from a free conflict of opinions. For that will be, at the same time, the day on which the bloody conflict ends.

"For the present, however, let us prepare in the spirit in which our folk will have to work together in creating conditions of future life. Of course, the strife of parties will be resumed, but, as all classes rightly have learned in the hour of need now, internal conflicts also must be governed by a mutual respect which includes all classes from prince to workman."

CONFIDENCE NEEDED.

Would Bring About Re-Employment of 2,000,000 Idle, Says Vail.

New York, March 15.—There are 2,000,000 persons unemployed in the United States whose yearly earnings should at least be $1,250,000,000, says Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, in the annual report of the company issued today. These unemployed are now living at the expense of their savings, their friends or the public, he says, and what is needed to bring about their re-employment and the return of prosperity is a restoration of conditions which would inspire confidence in the securities of public service and manufacturing enterprise to enable them to obtain capital for extension and improvement.

ATTENDANCE RECORD MADE

Go-to-Church Campaign Proves Unqualified Success, Say Pastors.

Practically Every Church Reports Increases—New Mark Set.

Half of the residents of Duluth went to church yesterday.

More persons attended the various houses of worship yesterday than on any previous day in the city's history, according to returns from Go-to-Church Sunday, as compiled by members of the campaign committee.

Last year, Duluth's first Go-to-Church Sunday brought a record attendance at the many churches, but this year the 1914 figures were surpassed by a good margin. Estimates show that more than 40,000 attended.

"It was an ordinary, every day, church service throughout the city, and the newcomers did not see an unusual ceremony, or hear special music, nor were they attracted by any unusual decorations," said Dr. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

"For that reason, more than for almost any other, we are glad that it was such a success. The committee worked hard and as far as I have learned, it would seem that the normal attendance was swelled considerably at every church in the city. We had 400 more persons than usual at the morning service, and 200 or 300 more in the evening."

Dr. Hoffman's church probably set a record, as it estimated that one person in every twenty in Duluth heard him talk, either at the morning or evening sermon. There were 1,800 at the morning service and 639 at the Sabbath school, in addition to the various bible classes.

"Down town churches of course showed the largest gain," said W. B. Patton, chairman of the Inter-Church Council committee on publicity for the campaign, this morning. "Every church in the city gained some, however, the advance ranging from 15 to 75 per cent above normal, and we are thoroughly satisfied with the results of our ten-days' campaign.

"Scandinavian and English churches derived the most benefit, judging from the returns, although many churches where other languages are spoken showed large gains," he declared.

Reports on Attendance.

Mr. Patton estimated the increase at the Central Baptist church at 50 per cent.

Trinity cathedral had a larger attendance than normal, the house being filled, according to Rev. Thomas McLean, vicar. "A feature of the attendance was the large percentage of men," he said.

Other estimates, as given by the pastors of the various churches, this morning, were:

St. Paul's Episcopal church, 30 per cent increase.

Sacred Heart Cathedral, 10 per cent increase.

Endion M. E. church, 20 per cent increase.

First Presbyterian church, 698 in the morning and 763 in the evening. This was an increase over last year, and about 25 per cent above normal.

Glen Avon Presbyterian, 20 per cent above normal, slightly less than last year.

Pilgrim Congregational, gain of 40 per cent, above last year.

First Baptist, about 75 per cent more than normal, and about the same as last year.

All of the Catholic churches reported good gains.

TOWNSHIP ELECTIONS.

Will Be Held All Over North Dakota on Tuesday.

Fargo, N. D., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The elections will be held in North Dakota tomorrow in every organized township. There is no political significance to the contests. Each township selects three supervisors, a clerk, treasurer, assessor and road overseers. In some townships the contests are bitter and the rivalry for the positions as supervisors is strong. The villages and towns hold their elections later, except a few under special laws.

Brainerd Men's Funeral.

Brainerd, Minn., March 15.—The funeral of Napoleon B. Chase, a native of Maine, who came to Gull river thirty-six years ago and moved into this city six years ago, a veteran of the Civil war and prominent Mason, who died Saturday, was held this afternoon under Masonic auspices. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Charles D. Hazen. During the early days of Northern Minnesota, Mr. Chase was connected with government survey work.

New Postmasters.

Washington, March 15.—President Wilson has made the following recess appointments of postmasters: Otto N. Raths, St. Paul, Minn.; Joseph D. Kowalkowski, St. Cloud, Minn.; Leo J. Evans, Marinette, Wis

Rusco maintain a residence on a North Dakota homestead under the Federal laws while he was an inmate of a penitentiary in Montana is what H. J. Young wants to know and for the purpose of solving the mystery and other things he has filed a contest.

The land in question formerly was a part of the Massecure & Simpson range and in 1908 it was filed on by Joe Memel, who later relinquished to a man named Cameron. The latter failed to maintain his residence and Rusco made a filing about a year ago. A short time afterwards he went to Montana and was arrested and sent to the state prison on a charge of horse stealing. Young thinks the enforced absence of Rusco in Montana invalidated his homestead rights and started the contest.

HEARING ON PERSONAL INJURY CASE BILLS.

The judiciary committee of the house will hold a public hearing tomorrow evening on the bills prepared by the Minnesota State Bar association with a view of raising the ethical standard of the profession, and it is expected that several Duluth attorneys will be present to urge the passage of the bills.

The object of these bills is to prohibit the importation into this state of personal injury and other tort cases; to limit the compensation of attorneys and others in these cases; to prevent the solicitation of damage suits arising from torts; to regulate the conduct of attorneys at law, and to regulate settlements in personal injury cases.

BEAUTIFUL PIANOS

go for freight money this week. American leading manufacturers' sample pianos and player pianos must be sold this week in order to get my money back for the freight, and what do I care for the balance. I cannot represent all the piano manuafcturers in the country no matter how good their instruments are. Come in this week before I return them and pay me the freight money and pay the balance to the manuwacturers in cash or monthly payments. What do I care; time is up after this week. A safe investment to buy from the manufacturers who have many millions of dollars capital back of their guarantee. Our store is the real piano market place this week. No use to give out any prices now because bargains are so great that you will not believe unless you see them. Be sure and call this week, or write if you cannot call. MRS. SHOGRAN DIES.

Was Prominent Evangelistic Worker Before Her Marriage.

Funeral services for Amanda Shogran, age 52, wife of Charles Shogran, inspector of the board of poor commissioners, who died at St. Luke's hospital Sunday morning, will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. from the family residence and 2:30 p. m. from the Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. The family home is at 517 West Seventh street.

Before her marriage, almost twenty-five years ago, Mrs. Shogran was known throughout the United States among Swedish Baptists as an evangelistic worker. She gave up this work after her marriage in 1890.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, a son, and two sisters, both of whom live in Chicago. The daughters are: Mrs. W. L. Ashworth of Winnipeg; Violet and Ebba of Duluth. Rudolph Shogran, the son, made his home in Duluth also.

A Simple Way to Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

SUBURBS ARE WET ENOUGH

No More Saloons for New Duluth or Gary This Year.

Council Will Order Improvement of East Sixth Street.

No additional saloons will be allowed at New Duluth or Gary during this year, according to a resolution to be presented by Commissioner Hieken at the regular meeting of the city commission this afternoon.

Last year, about this time, the council passed a resolution to the effect that no saloon licenses would be granted for New Duluth or Gary during 1914 and the action this afternoon will be a repetition of last year. There are now three saloons in that end of the city.

In addition, the commissioners will order the improvement of Sixth street, from Fifteenth to Eighteenth avenues east, at a cost of $15,586.34, advance the reading of several ordinances, award small contracts and take under advisement the proposed opening of a street at Morningside park, petitions for which have been presetted to Commissioner Murchison.

A petition for the improvement of East Sixth street, making it a twenty-four-foot roadway, was recently presented to Commissioner Murchison and the work will be one of the first ordered this spring. An 80 per cent advance assessment will be levied.

The contract for constructing six-inch water and four-inch gas mains in Dodge street, from Forty-seventh to Forty-ninth avenue east, will be awarded to Norquist & Berg on their lowest bid of $1,482.80.

The claim of the Schlitz Brewing company for the payment of the cost of raising its building at 351-3 South First avenue east, because the city raised the grade there last year, will be taken up this afternoon and submitted to the city attorney. The brewing company asks that the city take the matter up with Baldwin, Baldwin & Holmes, its attorneys. They claim that the total cost of raising the structure would be about $3,994.

The contract for furnishing the city with 400 square yards of sandstone blocks will be awarded to the Kettle River company of Minneapolis on its bid of $1.65 a yard, f. o. b. Duluth.

PACKERS OBJECT TO FREIGHT INCREASE

Witness Says It Would Discriminate Against That Industry.

Chicago, March 15.—Allegations that the forty-one Western railroads' proposed increase in freight rates would discriminate against the packing house industry and would penalize certain shipping centers, were made by Luther M. Walter, counsel for the packers, at the rate hearing today before Interstate Commerce Commissioner W. M. Daniels.

On fresh meats and packing house products the railroads are asking for an increase in rates amounting generally to 3½ cents a hundred pounds. After F. A. Leland of St. Louis, chairman of the Southwestern tariff committee, had testified the rate was justified because of special facilities given the packers, such as refrigeration, fast service and heavy cars, Mr. Walter asked the witness to produce the record of certain conferences at which the amount of the proposed increases were determined.

Counsel for the railroads objected to producing such records unless the packers showed their purpose.

However, Commissioner Daniels held that the records should be produced. The railroads took under advisement whether they would present the records voluntarily or whether they would require an order of the commission.

SUPERIOR MAY VOTE ON LICENSE

Petition Out to Submit Wet or Dry Question on April 6.

"A Saloonless Superior" is the slogan that prohibition advocates and members of the inter-church council of the city have taken up. It is proposed to place before the voters of the city at the spring election on April 6, the matter of voting on license. A petition containing 473 names of voters will be necessary to place the question before the city, and this number will be secured easily, say leaders of the movement.

The petitions were started Saturday and have already a large number of signers. The final date for having the petition filed has not been set, and District Attorney Archie McKay was unable to say just what would be the last day on which it might be filed prior to election. The campaign for a "dry" town will be carried from now on with a rush.

Attorney Is Robbed.

Attorney F. J. Christopher of Superior was "strongarmed" by two thugs Saturday evening as he was on his way home from the business district of the city. He was walking on the north side of Twelfth street between John and Hughitt avenue when one of the men leaped at him and struck him with a club. He was robbed of $10. He was unable to give any accurate description of the men.

Railroad Men Meet.

For the purpose of discussing plans for closer co-operation in railroad work, one of the largest gatherings of railroad men in years at the Head of the Lakes was held yesterday afternoon at Tower hall. About 100 men, representing the Order of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Trainmen were in attendance.

Several high officials of the orders were present, among them W. G. Lee, president of the Trainmen, and Thomas McGrath, the only railroad man in the Minnesota legislature. Following the business a smoker and reception was held in honor of the visitors at the Hotel Superior.

REPORTS ON RECREATION

Outline of Duluth Playground System in Mayor's Hands.

Will Be Passed on By Members of General Committee.

Mayor Prince, chairman of the executive committee in charge of establishing an all-year playground and recreation system for Duluth, this morning received the program as outlined by T. S. Settle of New York, field secretary for the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

The outline of Mr. Settle makes a number of recommendations, including a program for the year and a budget of $12,665 to handle this work for one year, beginning June 15 next. This program will be acted on this evening by the members of the playground committee at a meeting to be held in Memorial hall, courthouse.

The public recreation system, according to the report, would conduct and supervise playgrounds, public baths, swimming pools, social centers, extension gardens, municipal golf links, band concerts and other municipal music, pageants and entertainments. The system would be financed by the city board of education, while the administration would lie jointly with the public welfare department and a committee from the school board. The executive work would be in charge of a supervisor, with male and one female assistant, these three to work throughout each year. Additional supervisors will have to be provided for each of the playgrounds and social centers to be selected.

List of Activities.

Here are the activities of the all-year system, as outlined by Mr. Settle:

1. Operation of playgrounds from June 15 to Sept. 1 with adequate supervision at Lester park, Portman square, Lakeside; Chester park, Franklin school yard, Webster school neighborhood, Radisson school neighborhood, Washington school yard, Emerson school park playground, Adams school neighborhood, Madison school neighborhood, Lincoln park, Harrison park, Merritt school park, Fifty-second avenue west and Traverse street, Stowe school (Gary and New Duluth), Lowell school neighborhood and Fairmont park (bathing beach).

2. Operation of above playgrounds Sept. 1 to Nov. 1 after 4 p. m.

3. Operation of above playgrounds May 15 to June 15 after 4 p. m.

4. Operation of social and recreation centers at Bryant, Irving, Lakeside, Whittier, New Stowe, and Lowell schools, and such other schools in which there is a demand for such work; also co-operating with churches and other organizations to make their social and recreation center work more effective.

5. Operation of band concerts largely as was done last summer, although, however, in the different parks and playgrounds.

6. Operation of skating rinks largely as was done this winter with more of them. Department of recreation arranging for contests, etc.

7. Operation by supervisor of recreation of a normal training class for playground supervisors and others wishing to take such a course, in the Armory and the Armory to be used also as a social and recreation center.

WILL THWART LABOR MOVE

Prosperity After War Will Dull Men's Minds, Says Darrow.

Labor Thinks Only When Hungry—Wilson Brave, Honest Man.

No great labor movement in America need be expected for years to come according to Clarence Darrow, famous Chicago attorney, who was at the Spalding hotel today en route for Two Harbors. The loss of men on the battlefields of Europe will so reduce the number of laboring men that better wages will follow in the United States and labor conditions generally will be improved, he said.

Mr. Darrow became famous through his defense of the McNamara brothers in the dynamiters' cases, and has lectured on labor topics extensively.

Great Prosperity Ahead.

"The labor situation at present is simply a result of business conditions, which have been depressed for some time. The country was never in such a good condition for material advancement as it will be when the war ends, and business will boom as never before. Better labor conditions will follow, and better labor conditions will mean the laborer will not think. The only time labor thinks is when it is hungry. It's with labor just as it was with the Kansas farmers. When there were grasshoppers and cyclones the farmers thought; now all they do is farm. That's why they're all hide-bound Republicans.

"Conditions are not bad considering what the country has gone through. The war has unsettled things just as it did in the early stages of the Civil war. Business picked up very quickly then, and it will do the same again, only in a greater degree. America can produce and make everything she needs, and besides this a good deal can be secured from Europe.

High Praise for Wilson.

"President Wilson is a brave and honest man, who has done wonderfully well in a difficult position. He has helped put through good laws that will eventually settle many of the business problems that the country has been struggling with for years. The tariff ternating, however, in the different had to be revised, the banking system had to be reorganized, and many other problems had to be met that naturally caused a lull in business for a time. Things are now ready to go ahead with new life.

"The European war," continued Mr. Darrow, "will promote democracy the world over. I am not surprised that the Socialists of Europe fell in with the war movement. In fact, I should have been surprised if they had not. War was the paramount issue, and took possession of the minds of everybody. After the common people of Europe catch their breath they will begin to ask the why of all this bloodshed, and a great movement for democracy and a struggle against the crowned heads will be the result.

No World Peace Expected.

"Personally I do not look upon war as many do. No great thing was ever accomplished without war. It takes a great catastrophe to arouse people to think. The only way the common people ever fight is with guns. I do not agree with the advocates of universal peace. People will hate and love and envy as long as they are human, and when they are no longer human, they will die. Hate usually gets the upper hand, and then war is the result."

Mr. Darrow will speak in Two Harbors tonight on "Personal Liberty," and he will treat the subject of temperance. Two Harbors is in the midst of a temperance campaign, and Mr. Darrow's address will undoubtedly be a strong factor in the fight, which is to culminate in the election tomorrow. In speaking of temperance Mr. Darrow said:

Believes in Personal Liberty.

"I believe in personal liberty; I do not believe anybody has the right to say whether I shall drink a glass of beer or not. While I believe in being temperate, I believe the individual must use his own will in governing his actions."

Mr. Darrow left on the afternoon train for Two Harbors after meeting many acquaintances in Duluth. The distinguished visitor said he always liked Duluth, and remembered it from an early date, having read Proctor Knott's speech, which made a very clear impression on his mind. He said the city had had a wonderful growth and was in position for great progress.

"The ore beds around Duluth will always insure prosperity for Duluth. The people as a whole in any part of the world will never make proper business advancement as long as the great resources of the country are controlled by a few. All these great natural resources should be broken up and owned by many different companies, if the people as a whole are to reap their share of the harvest. Until then labor will not be given its proper reward. It would take a great catastrophe to accomplish this result."

Mr. Darrow will be in Duluth again tomorrow for some time while on his return to Chicago.

EXAMINED AS TO APPETITE

Defendant in Malicious Prosecution Case Charged With "Sneaking Grub."

Court Reminds Jury Sauer Kraut and Spareribs Are Not German.

Sauer kraut and spare ribs furnished a fruitful subject for a wordy wrangle in district court this morning when Attorney N. B. Arnold had S. J. Frey on the witness stand for cross-examination. Frey had testified in his own behalf as defendant in a suit brought by C. J. Petruschke and his wife, Mary Petruschke, to recover $15,050 damages for the alleged malicious prosecution of several civil actions at the time when the Petruschkes were tenants of the Grand hotel, Fifty-third avenue west and Ramsey street. Mr. Frey was agent for the owner, Mrs. M. Kameier, who is also a defendant. She is Mr. Frey's sister.

Mr. Arnold showed the witness a large fork which had been marked as an exhibit in the case and asked him if he had not "sneaked" into the Petruschke kitchen and helped himself to a pot of sauer kraut and spare ribs with the fork in question and whether he had not been caught in the act by Mrs. Petruschke. Mr. Frey denied that any such occurrence had taken place.

Mr. Arnold then confronted the witness with a butcher knife. It had a blade sixteen inches long. After having it properly marked as an exhibit, he handed it to Mr. Frey and asked him if he had seen it before. Mr. Frey confessed his lack of recognition. To refresh his recollection Mr. Arnold asked the witness if the knife was not the same one Mrs. Petruschke had caught him eating eggs from when she came upon him in the kitchen one day. Mr. Frey emphatically denied any such occurrence.

Hectoring Is Stopped.

Mr. Frey, according to the evidence in the case, had been taking meals at the hotel up to the time he had the Petruschkes ejected from the hotel premises on unlawful detainer proceedings. Attorney Arnold cross-examined the witness with considerable detail with reference to the sauer kraut and spare ribs episode and the knife-eating incident. After the jury had listened to the gruelling affair for about ten minutes, Attorney James A. Wharton called a halt and suggested that opposing counsel get down to something more germane to the case.

Judge Fesler at this point instructed the jury that the issue which it was trying was not one concerning sauer kraut and spare ribs, and that the question for them to keep in mind was whether the civil actions prosecuted against the Petruschkes by Mr. Frey was malicious or not.

Hans B. Haroldson, former attorney for Mr. Frey, who appeared for him in the several actions brought against the Petruschkes, took the stand this morning and testified concerning his connection with the case. He testified that he advised Mr. Frey that he had a good and legal cause of action in each case, and that he proceeded in good faith in prosecuting each case.

ATTEMPT TO KILL ENTIRE FAMILY

Two Children Found Dead and Others Seriously Beaten.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 15.—With two dead and four others badly beaten, the police believe an effort was made to wipe out the entire family of William Baldridge last night. Two children, Thomas, 10, and Celesta, 8, were found dead in bed by a neighbor today and further search revealed Baldridge's wife and three younger children in a serious condition in another room of the house, as a result of being beaten.

Two bloody flat irons, found in the house, indicated how the murder had been done. The mother and three children were taken to a hospital where little hope was held for their recovery. The police have no definite clew.

Baldridge is said to be in the employ of a telephone company and is working outside the city. Neighbors say he is in the habit of being away from home for long periods, and has not been seen about the house for some time.

CAN'T FIND DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears after one or two applications of Danderine rubbed well into the scalp with the finger tips. Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store and save your hair. After a few applications you can't find a particle of dandruff or any falling hair, and the scalp will never itch.

EXPLOSIVE HID IN A BARREL

Supposed Supply of Butter Blows Up Mexican Gunboat.

Twenty Men Standing Near Innocent-Looking Barrel Killed.

New York, March 15.—An eye-witness story of the destruction of the Mexican gunboat Progreso in the harbor at Progreso, Mex., Feb. 28, was brought to New York today by Capt. W. J. Ryan and nine members of the crew of the Ward line tug Auxilliar, which had been doing lighterage work in Mexican ports for several years. According to Capt Ryan the Progreso was blown by what her officers supposed was a barrel of butter, just brought aboard.

"We were lying at anchor, half a mile from the gunboat, at the time," Capt. Ryan said. "We were looking at the gunboat at the time of the explosion. As soon as we heard the report and saw that the Progreso was in distress we headed for her and took off some of her crew. Meanwhile the Progreso's officers tried to steer her into the shallows. They didn't make much headway, however, for she sank soon after the explosion.

Twenty Men Killed.

"Twenty men who were standing forward around the supposed barrel of butter were killed by the explosion and at least that many more were injured. The explosion tore a big hole in the gunboat's bottom.

The Morro Castle, a Ward liner, was in port and, after taking aboard the survivors, weighed anchor at once and started for Vera Cruz. The Yazepas—Yucatan troops in control of the port—commandeered my tug and, after putting aboard fifteen or twenty men, armed with rifles, set out in pursuit of the Morro Castle. When they caught up with her they called upon her to stop, but she disregarded the order and kept on her way. The tug then returned to port." The Morro Castle flies the American flag.

Captain Warned

Capt. Ryan said the commander of the Progreso had been warned that feeling in Yucatan was high against the Carranza government which he represented. When the Progreso entered the harbor, Capt. Ryan said, she was ordered by the Yucatan troops to leave. Instead her captain asked permission to take on supplies. This was given with the result that the gunboat was blown up by an infernal machine hidden in the supplies.

The report that Yucatan had asserted its independence of all present governments in Mexico was confirmed by Capt. Ryan. He said that Yucatan had now 40,000 under arms to maintain her independence. Some of the alleged plans of the Yucatan government, he said, were unfolded to him by a party of forty, including several influential residents of Yucatan, transported March 2 from Progreso to Havana by the Auxillar.

To Request Recognition.

"I was told by some of the party," Capt. Ryan said, "that a movement was afoot in Yucatan to request the United States to recognize Yucatan's independence. Another plan was to establish a protectorate over Yucatan, something similar to that exercised over Porto Rico, if this could be done without depriving the state of its sovereignty."

When the Auxilliar reached Havana, Capt. Ryan said, the Carranza consul, there called for the ship's papers and lowered the Mexican flag which flew over the vessel. Although Capt. Ryan and the crew were not ordered to leave the vessel, they thought it best to do so.

"As matters now stand," Capt. Ryan said, "the Auxilliar is a boat without a flag or country. She is at present lying at anchor in Havana harbor."

Capt. Ryan and the nine sailors were passengers aboard the Ward line Espesanza, which reached here today from Havana.

GEN. CARRANZA RAISES BLOCKADE OF PROGRESO

pouring into the White House and the state department pointed out that unless sisal was obtained through Progeso the harvesting of this year's grain crop by the usual methods would be embarrassed and would have to be done almost entirely by hand.

The Spanish ambassador, Juan Riano, advised the state department today that his government had accepted in principle and apology which Carranza has offered for having expelled the Spanish minister from Mexico recently on the ground that he was concealing in his legation Juan Caso, a Spaniard, whom Carranza accused of working in the interests of Gen. Villa. As Carranza suggested to the Spanish government that it would be better for Spain to send another minister, it was said that would be done.

Possibility of interference with American commerce at Progreso, Mex., as the result of the closing by General Carranza of that port to foreign trade together with reports of a condition of anarchy at Manzanillo, a port on the Pacific side of Mexico, was causing some anxiety here today. On the other hand, officials were encouraged over reports of an improvement of conditions in Mexico City.

President's Reply.

President Wilson's reply to General Carranza's note of March 8 which was in response to the urgent representations of the United States for better treatment of foreigners in Mexico was as follows:

"I thank you for your message of the 8th of March for the reassurance it conveys and for your kind personal words. I beg that you will understand that if our messages occasionally are couched in terms of strong emphasis, it is only because they contain some matters which touch the very safety of Mexico itself and the whole process of its future history.

Act as Friends.

"We seek always to act as friends of the Mexican people and as their friends it is our duty to speak very plainly about the grave danger which threatens them from without, whatever happens within their borders, which is calculated to arouse the hostile sentiment of the whole world.

"Nothing will stir that sentiment more promptly or more hotly or create greater danger for Mexico than any (even temporary) disregard for lives, the safety or the rights of citizens of other countries resident within its territory or any apparent contempt for the rights and safety of those who represent religion.

Attempt to Justify.

"Any attempt to justify or explain these things will not eradicate this sentiment or lessen the danger that will arise from them.

"To warn you concerning such matters is an act of friendship, not of hostility, and we cannot make the meaning too earnest. To speak less plainly or with less earnestness would be to conceal from you a terrible risk which no lover of Mexico should care to run."

AUSTRO-GERMAN FORCES MAKING DETERMINED EFFORT TO RAISE SIEGE OF PRZEMYSL

sive attitude, for they are making desperate counter-attacks on the Austrians with the greatest success, according to official announcements from Petrograd. The region of the principal Russian offensive is near Lupkow pass. Here the Russians claim heavy captures in prisoners and guns. On the other hand Vienna reports the failure of Russian counter-attacks and the taking of many Russian prisoners as a result of bitter night fighting in the Carpathians.

Last night's Paris official announcement said the British success at Neuve Chappelle was more substantial than had been reported; that the French were making themselves secure in new trenches in the Champagne country, and that the serial bombardment of Westende had been effective.

French Statement.

Paris, March 15, via London, 3:35 p. m.—The communication from the war office this afternoon is as follows:

"The Belgian army continued to progress in the bend of the Yser and south of Dixmude. The British troops were very violently attacked yesterday evening at St. Eloi, south of Ypres, and were at first pushed back slightly, but they counter-attacked and regained part of the ground lost. The fighting continues. In the region of Neuve Chapelle, there is no change.

"In the Argonne, the enemy attempted late yesterday afternoon a third and a very violent counter-attack to retake trenches won by us between Four de Paris and Bollanti. As was the case with previous attacks this assault was repulsed.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 15, by wireless to Sayville—The German war office today gave out a report on the progress of the fighting which reads as follows:

"The baths at Westende were shelled yesterday without effect by two gunboats of the enemy.

"The German attack on the heights south of Ypres occupied by British troops is making good progress.

"Partial attacks by French troops north of Le Mesnil, in the Champagne district, have been repulsed. The enemy sustained heavy losses. In the Vosges the fighting continues at several places.

"The number of Russian prisoners from engagements to the north of the Augustowo forest has been increased to 5,400. Strong Russian attacks to the north and to the northeast of Przasnysz resulted in failure, and the enemy's losses were heavy. South of the Vistula there has been no change."

alarm that has greatly strengthened the opposition outside the legislature. Some of the salaries are absurdly low, and while that might help the bill with many members of the house, it has stiffened the opposition from holders of official positions who find themselves threatened with a sharp cut in pay.

Though the opposition is working more or less under cover, it is very real. However, some of those who dislike certain features of the bill are doing no work against it. Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, for instance, believes that it would be a great mistake to take away from his office the work of collecting inheritance taxes and putting it under the tax commission; but nobody has accused him of lobbying against the bill on that account.

But the state board of health insists upon being an independent principality, and bitterly resents being swallowed up as a mere bureau in a state department. And the board of health has friends who are working vigorously, either to restore the board's independence or to kill the bill that threatens that independence.

The railroad and warehouse commission doesn't want to see the vast machinery of the grain inspection service taken away from it; and it has much support in this. On the whole everybody concerned seems pretty well satisfied with the working of this service where it is; and though there seems no reason to believe that it would work less efficiently if it were transplanted bodily to some other nook in the structure of state government, still the "let well enough alone" sentiment operates to support the railroad and warehouse commission in its objection to this feature of the bill. Probably an amendment will be offered to restore the grain inspection service to the railroad and warehouse commission's domain.

Resents Being Wiped Out.

The state board of control, feeling that it is a pretty valuable institution and that it is doing very good work indeed, resents being wiped out, and doesn't care much who knows it.

In the legislature, the greatest stumbling block the bill has to encounter is the fact that relatively few members are familiar with its provisions, and that a considerable proportion of its members are reluctant to a make a revolution when they do not know just what the details of that revolution are and what the results will be.

That, of course, is the fault of the members themselves. The bill had been available for study since long before the session began.

Chairman Lewis C. Spooner of the efficiency and economy committee of the house, who was also a member of the Craig efficiency and economy commission but confessedly took little part in its work, has led the fight for the bill in the house, and will lead the fight for it on the floor.

Mr. Spooner believes that he has votes enough to pass the bill through the house. That is an important fact that nobody can safely ignore. Mr. Spooner is a power in the house. He is not popular there, but he has great personal force, and then as chairman of the appropriations committee he wields the mightiest club there is in existence. Perhaps he has not been using that club; but the very fact that he dominates the committee on appropriations, whether or not he deliberately uses that position to help him in his fight to pass the bill, is a matter of large consequence. The member with an appropriation bill before that committee, with his mind anywhere near evenly balanced on the efficiency and economy bill, is pretty likely to resolve whatever doubts he may have in favor of the bill when he knows that the chairman of the appropriations committee wants that bill passed Sentiment in the Senate.

If the bill passes the house it still must run the gantlet of the senate. Sentiment there has not taken definite shape at all. The bill has not yet become as issue there, so it is impossible to forecast its fate in the senate. But in Chairman F. A. Duxbury of the senate committee on civil administration and in Senator Frank E. Putnam and John D. Sullivan, members of the commission that drafted the bill, it has powerful friends—friends as powerful as you could pick in that body.

Not that these senators are abjectly committed to the bill in every detail—and certainly not that they are committed to the acceptance of whatever changes in it the house in its wisdom may choose to make. One detail that will encounter strong opposition in the senate is the low rate of pay proposed by the house committee for officials to whom are given responsibilities of the highest importance, not the least of which would be that if inaugurating and setting in motion a complete new mechanism of state administration.

The Gordon Committee.

Though there is no questioning the good faith of the proposals of the Sam Y. Gordon committee looking toward consolidation of various departments instead of the creation of a new system of government—remodeling the old rather than building anew, as it were—these proposals unquestionably constitute a backfire against the efficiency and economy bill.

The theory of the Gordon resolution was that something ought to be arranged for, in case the efficiency and economy bill failed of passage, to prevent the session going into the record as a failure.

In the form the results of this resolution have taken, however, the movement is much more substantial than that. Around these bills there has taken shape a sentiment, fostered by the opponents of the efficiency and economy bill, that the old system of government, though weak in many spots, is not hopelessly bad; and that it will be better to strengthen these weaknesses rather than try the experiment of a revolutionary change in the whole structure of state administration.

Even if this sentiment is largely an excuse, rather than a reason, for opposing the efficiency bill, there is no doubt that some of those who hold it do so in complete good faith.

The Gordon committee bills are a special order for Friday afternoon, by which time the efficiency bill will be out of the way in the house—either defeated or, as now seems more likely, passed and handed on to the senate with the compliments of the house.

House Badly Involved.

Though the senate, as usual, is well abreast of its work, the house is almost hopelessly involved, and it seems to get more hopelessly involved every day.

Saturday there were 193 bills on general orders in the house, and today there are nearly 300. With special orders filling the week, there is small chance that much will be done with general orders, not to speak of the calendar, on which there are about thirty bills ready for final action.

With the committees working to put out more bills, by the end of the week there may be the largest list of general orders in the history of the house—and the greatest chance in the history of the house that any considerable proportion of these bills will be acted upon before the end of the session.

Indeed, the chances are that only by the use of the special order privilege will many measures of importance be acted upon; and the house Saturday made it more difficult to get the special order privilege by requiring that a special order may be made hereafter only by a two-thirds vote.

Many of those who voted for this rule did so because they realized that the special orders are cutting into the routine business of the house; and there can be no possible doubt that they are right. On the other hand, many voted against because they realize that only as special orders can many measures of moment reach final action in the house.

However, it is likely that even with the two-thirds rule, it will be possible to get special orders for most measures of state-wide interest, especially as it grows clearer that this is about the only way the house can get rid of its larger measures.

State-Wide Prohibition.

One issue that went largely into the making of this rule is state-wide prohibition. The friends of state-wide prohibition fought the rule bitterly, and its opponents supported it as vigorously. It will hardly be possible to get state-wide prohibition considered in both branches of the legislature now without either a special order or a suspension of the rules, and either of these moves now requires eighty-seven votes instead of sixty-six.

Apparently, though, there are few mourners if this move results in preventing prohibition from coming to a vote, even though the fact is that if it does come to a vote, it is likely to pass.

The temperance forces in the legislature, outside the out-and-out prohibitionists, are well content to let county option end the issue for this session. Having secured that, the aim of the vast majority of the temperance advocates of this state for the past ten years, they feel that it should be given a trial before the state goes on to the next step—state-wide prohibition.

However, many will feel this way probably will feel that they must vote for prohibition if it comes to a vote, for fear their attitude would be misunderstood. Added to this element are the straight prohibitionists; those who vote for any temperance measure whatever its character; those who, having voted against county option, will have to vote for prohibition to square themselves at home; and those Minneapolis anti-optionists who, now that county option is a law, fear that under it Minneapolis will go dry while St. Paul stays wet, and therefore want state-wide prohibition so the Twins will be on the same basis as to humidity. These elements combined make a force so formidable that the liberal element will use the two-thirds rule to prevent prohibition being advanced out of the regular order, and doubtless they will have votes enough to achieve that purpose.

Not Necessarily a Calamity.

Most of those who contemplate the congestion in the house seem to view it as a calamity that so many bills are doomed to failure thereby.

It isn't, necessarily, a calamity.

Much more dangerous is the prospect that the house, appalled by its situation, will begin shooting these bills through at a speed so rapid that real consideration of any of them is an impossibility.

While presumably all of these bills are important to somebody, and possibly some of them are important to everybody, there are comparatively few of them that the state cannot survive without making into laws.

The legislature did not come here to pass a vast volume of new laws, but to consider carefully a few measures like efficiency and economy, county option and the like. All of these big measures are pretty certain to be decided; and while some of the authors will mourn if their bills died from neglect, and while there even may be some real loss to the state in their failure, still the state doubtless will survive just the same.

Cause of the Congestion.

What has caused this congestion in the house? Who is to blame?

First, nobody in particular is to blame. Certainly the speaker and his organization are not to blame, for there never has been a moment when they could be charged with impeding legislation, even the legislation to which they are bitterly opposed.

Second, there is no mystery whatever about what has caused the congestion in the house. The house is too big; it gets in its own way.

There are too many members, too many orators, too many committees, and the committees are too large.

By increasing the house from 120 to 130, the difficulty of doing business has apparently been increased not by one-twelfth, but about 100 per cent. The large proportion of new members is also a handicap, because it means more reputations to make more bills to be introduced, more speeches to be made.

But perhaps, next to the unwieldiness of the house, the chief trouble is that there are too many committees and the committees are too large. Day after day it happens that many members have from three to half a dozen committee meetings to attend at the same time; and as they cannot be in six places at the same time, the important committees get the attendance and the rest adjourn for lack of a quorum.

Every reapportionment has been attended by a compromise that increased the membership of both bodies. Every speakership fight has involved the speaker in obligations that made it impossible to reduce the number of committees. So it gets worse and worse, and doubtless will keep on getting worse and worse until there is a constitutional limitation on the number of members of both branches, and possibly a constitutional limitation on the number of bills that can be introduced.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

burden of taxation will be greatly increased thereby.

4. Because it has been made plain that provision has been made in St. Louis county, by the way of county buildings and institutions, that are ample for the next quarter century to come, and that an enormous waste would be created by the division.

New Burden of Taxation.

5. Because the farming communities of St. Louis county, wherever they are situated, would be handicapped in their work of redeeming a wilderness by the new burden of taxation that would come through the creation of a new county, with two sets of county buildings and officers and institutions to be paid for and supported.

6. Because, even though St. Louis county looms large on the map, it has been made plain that the greater part of it is still unsettled, and that the work of settlement and development can be done better by one strong county than by two, with one of them burdened by overhead charges and the other by extravagance that development work would be crowded out.

7. Because the railroad systems of St. Louis county reach toward Duluth like the fingers toward the hand, making it easier to reach the county seat there than it would be to reach any point in the range country.

8. Because with the range district court at Virginia, handling all classes of civil and criminal business, with the range deputy sheriffs and deputy clerks of court, with the regular trips of the judge of probate, and with agencies for the collection of taxes in every community, there is almost no occasion for any citizen to go to the courthouse at Duluth, so that there is utterly no hardship in having the county seat remain there.

No Popular Demand.

9. Because there is no evidence of any popular demand in the range country for division.

10. Because there are ample evidences that those who pay taxes, be they large or small, are opposed to division.

11. Because it seems to the legislature to be unfair to let a mere majority of 40 per cent of the people of St. Louis county walk off with 80 per cent of the taxable property, without giving the remaining 60 per cent of the population who are left to bear the burdens created on the basis of the whole county a word to say about it.

12. Because utterly no showing has been made that the system of county division now provided by law, which has served for many years and has made county division possible wherever county division was needed, is not entirely adequate to meet every need of the state.

13. Because no fairminded member of the legislature would vote to impose upon St. Louis county an unfair system of division which he would not be willing to have the legislature apply to his own county.

14. Because with modern methods of communication and transportation, the tendency is toward larger counties instead of smaller, thus reducing overhead charges and diverting a larger proportion of taxes from the mere cost of maintaining governmental machinery to such constructive work as roads, bridges, etc. In other words, instead of multiplying public expense and governmental machinery by dividing counties, expense and mechanism should be reduced by consolidating counties.

15. Because, for these and other reasons, a majority of the members of both branches of the legislature are against the pending bill for the division of St. Louis county by a system of division that gives a minority absolute power over a majority, and that has never been adopted in this or any other state in the Union.

Limitation on Tax Levies.

Much interest has been manifested by the legislature in the bills introduced in both branches putting a limitation of $25 per capita on the annual tax levies of all villages and cities of the third and fourth classes.

This measure has been introduced in the house by Representative John M. Harrison and in the senate by Senators Carl L. Wallace and E. J. Westlake, all of Minneapolis; and it is understood that they have offered the bill at the request of and for the protection of Minneapolis men who are interested in property on the Mesaba range.

The thing that interested most members of the legislature chiefly was the discovery that there are communities in the state that spend more than $25 per capita annually.

An official statement showing the per capita expenses of every community in the state of more than 900 population, with the figures reached by applying the 1914 tax levies to the 1910 population, explains this surprise.

The table shows 154 communities, and in seventy-nine of these the per capita expense is lower than $5 and in fifty-nine it is lower than $10. It is above $10 per capita in only sixteen communities, and of these eleven are on the Mesaba range. It is higher than the proposed limitation of $25 in only eight communities in the state, and of these all but one are on the Mesaba range. The exception is International Falls, in Koochiching county, where the per capita expense based on the 1910 census is $33.17. However, there has been an increase in population there in the last five years, and it is believed that when the figures of the 1915 state census are used, International Falls will drop under the proposed limit.

Hibbing Heads the List.

Following are the sixteen communities where the per capita expense is more than $10 a year:

Minneapolis	$12.52
Coleraine	21.66
Nashwauk	14.38
International Falls	33.17
St. Paul	11.20
Aurora, St. Louis county	10.38
Biwabik, St. Louis county	13.82
Buhl, St. Louis county	64.82
Chisholm, St. Louis county	41.58
Eveleth, St. Louis county	11.01
Ely, St. Louis county	16.63
Gilbert, St. Louis county	37.15
Hibbing, St. Louis county	44.36
Mountain Iron, St. Louis county	85.38
Virginia, St. Louis county	56.19

Hibbing's figure is the highest in the list. If Duluth's expenditures were at Hibbing's rate it would cost $6,828,000 a year to run the city. It would cost Minneapolis $25,605,000 a year at that rate; and if the state spent the same amount per capita it would cost $170,700,000 a year to run the state government.

Manifestly, the bill has been introduced for the purpose of curbing public expenditures in some of the range towns; and it is expected that the governing officers of these towns will be down to put in a vigorous protest against its passage.

The house committee on grain and warehouse Saturday afternoon voted to recommend for indefinite postponement the A. F. Teigen bill prohibiting trades in grain futures, and to recommend for passage the bill by Magnus Johnson giving farmers who deal through commission men on exchanges a first lien on the exchange memberships of their agents.

Reformatory for Women.

The bill creating a separate reformatory for women came into the house this morning, with Representatives Grimmer, Sanborn, Spooner, Swenson, Steen, Dwyer, Girling, Syverson and Marschalk as its authors. It appropriates $30,000 for the purchase of a site, to be selected by a committee composed of two senators and three representatives.

Representative Sam Y. Gordon, one of the leaders of the fight against the efficiency and economy bill, sent to the desk to be read a long letter from Former State Auditor S. G. Iverson, strongly criticising and condemning the bill and indorsing the present system of state administration with a few changes. He asserted that the present bill would not increase efficiency, but would increase expenses. He took issue with Governor Hammond that the Federal system would be a model, and quoted from Ex-President Taft's article in the Saturday Evening Post criticising the Federal system for lack of efficiency and economy. He declared that by abolishing the boards of which the governor is a member the bill would remove the governor from active personal participation in the fixing of state policies. The proposed system is too elaborate and complicated, he said, for the state's needs, and would centralize political power in the hands of the governor. The letter was ordered printed in the Journal.

Representative Nimocks introduced a resolution proposing that the house meet at 9 hereafter, but it was put over to tomorrow by a notice of debate.

The new resolution by Representatives Malmberg, Greene and Lydiard, providing for an investigation of the affairs of the state treasurer, came in this morning and was put over to tomorrow by a notice of debate.

A lien on motor vehicles for repairs, supplies and storage charges is created in a new bill by Representative Condon of Minneapolis.

Representative Condon also introduced a bill putting all motion picture houses under the direction of the state fire marshal, who is to license them and see that proper fire protection is provided.

Representative Peterson of Coleraine offered a bill providing salaries of $100 a year for the officials of villages having more than 5,000 people or greater assessed valuation than $2,000,000.

Ten Minutes to Leave Ship.

Falmouth, via London, March 15.—The Auguste Conceil was sunk by the German submarine U-29. Her crew arrived here yesterday on the Danish steamer Excellence Fleske.

Members of the crew say that the commander of the German submarine gave them ten minutes in which to leave their ship, after which she was destroyed with bombs. The German commander told them he left Cuxhaven six days ago, and was about to return. He said that the U-29 would be replaced by another submarine.

Torpedoed Without Warning.

Liverpool, via London, March 15.—The crew of the British steamer Florazan, which was torpedoed at the mouth of the Bristol channel March 11, arrived here yesterday. The men say that their cargo of cotton had been discharged at Havre, and the steamer was crossing the channel to England. No submarines had been seen.

Thursday night, while the men of the crew were playing cards, a terrific explosion occurred. Two boats had been made ready for launching and were lowered and the captain and all the crew, except one man, who is supposed to have been drowned in the stoke hole, got in them. It was at first thought that the Florazan would turn turtle, but the vessel righted herself. The ship's boats were picked up by a trawler an hour after the explosion. The Florazan was then on fire, according to the men, and it was believed there was no hope of saving her.

BRITISH ORDER, CUTTING OFF ALL SUPPLIES FOR GERMAN EMPIRE, GIVEN TO PUBLIC

No Vessel to German Port.

"First, no merchant vessel which sailed from her port of departure after March 1, 1915, shall be allowed to proceed on her voyage to any German port. Unless this vessel received a pass enabling her to proceed to some neutral or allied port to be named in the pass, the goods on board any such vessel must be discharged in a British port and placed in custody of the marshall of the prize court. Goods so discharged, if not contraband of war, shall, if not requisitioned for the use of his majesty, be restored by order of the court, and upon such terms as the court may in the circumstances deem just to the person entitled thereto.

"Second, no merchant vessel which sailed from any German port after March 1, 1915, shall be allowed to proceed on her voyage with any goods on board laden at such port. All goods laden at such ports must be discharged in a British or allied port. Goods so discharged in a British port shall be placed in the custody of the marshal of the prize court, and if not requisitioned for the use of his majesty, shall be detained or sold under the direction of the prize court.

Proceeds to Court.

"The proceeds of the goods so sold shall be paid into the court and dealt with in such a manner as the court may in the circumstances deem to be just provided that no proceeds of the sale of such goods shall be paid out of the court until the conclusion of peace, except on the application of a proper officer of the crown, unless it be shown that the goods had become neutral property before the issuance of this order, and provided also that nothing herein shall prevent the release of neutral property laden at such enemy port on the application of the proper officer of the crown.

"Third, every merchant vessel which sailed from her port of departure after March 1, 1915, on her way to a port other than a German port, and carrying goods with an enemy destination, or which are enemy property, may be required to discharge in a British or allied port. Grand Forks, N. D., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Taxpayers of McHenry county are seeking to prevent the board of drainage commissioners of McHenry and Bottineau counties, acting jointly, from making payment to the contractor that is handling the big drainage operations along the Mouse river.

Judge C. M. Cooley of Grand Forks has been called to preside, and the case will come before him for argument within a few days.

The contractor has already been engaged in the work about eighteen months, and has a large portion of the contract completed.

HALT WORK AT ASYLUM

Injunction Holds Up Operations at Jamestown, N. D., Concern.

Proceedings Echo of Legislative Probe of Board of Control.

Jamestown, N. E., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case involving the right of the state board of control to contract for the construction of a $150,000 ward building at the asylum for the insane here will be tested in the courts on April 15.

In the meantime, no more work is being done on the asylum building, operations being held up under an injunction. As a result, the asylum officials have been delayed very materially in the matter of relieving the congested condition that exists at the asylum. It had been expected that the ward building would be ready for occupancy at the present time, but the injunctional proceedings upset such plans.

The suit against the board of control is backed by John Knauf, O. J. Seller and C. S. Buck of Jamestown, and it is an echo of the recent legislative investigation that was conducted in connection with the board of control's operations.

UNIFORM POTATO URGED.

Advise Barron, Wis., Tuber Growers to Cultivate Same Variety.

Barron, Wis., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A potato grocers' association has been formed here with twenty-eight members. The object of the organization is to encourage the culture of straight varieties, because they are in better demand and bring better prices than mixed stock. The Green Mountain potato was chosen as a community potato as they yield well, and do not rot as soon as most other varieties. Potato growers all over Barron county are organizing, which will make a vast difference in the value of the crop in the future. Of the local association William Bartlett was elected president and L. S. Cheney secretary and treasurer.

William Johnson, an expert from the horticultural department, gave the tobacco growers of this vicinity an instructive lecture and demonstration on the control of disease of tobacco. Lantern slides showed the effect of different diseases on the plants at various stages.

SQUATTER ENJOINED.

Must Not Occupy Onamia Shore Line Till Case Is Decided.

Onamia, Minn., March 15.—A district judge has issued an order restraining John Huffman from living on the shore of Lake Onamia until the squatter cases are tried on their merits. The action is brought by Hans Petrin, for twenty-two years a resident of Mille Lacs county and a property holder on the lake shore. A recession of the water opened several hundred acres of "made" land, upon which squatters went last summer. There are five cases pending.

The plaintiff claims possession and title to the water line; the squatter from the old line to the new water line. The order bars the squatter from the contested tract except for surveying purposes until the case is tried.

Permission has been granted to attorneys to sell stacked hay, cut by the squatters, and turn the money over to the clerk of court.

BURIED IN MICHIGAN.

Body of Late Retired University Professor Taken to That State.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 15.—Following services from the home here Saturday afternoon, the body of Prof. Arthur E. Haynes, retired, of the University of Minnesota, known to alumni and students as "Daddy," who died Friday, was taken to Hillsdale, Mich., for burial. Prof. Haynes had been with the university twenty-two years. He originated the idea of erecting on the university campus the monument to the university soldiers who perished in the Philippines.

Arthur Edwin Haynes was born in Van Buren, Onondaga county, N. Y., May 23, 1849. He was graduated from Hillside college, Michigan, and, after special study in Michigan, Harvard and Cornell universities, taught for fifteen years in Hillsdale. Then he taught for three years in the Michigan school of mines.

Coming to Minnesota in 1893, he was assistant professor of mathematics for three years, professor of mathematics in the college of engineering for the next five years, and professor of engineering mathematics from 1901 to 1911, when he retired with the title of professor emeritus.

His wife and two sons, Stanley H. and Manley H., are left. The late mayor, James C. Haynes, was a cousin.

HANCOCK HONORS SCOTT

Large Number Pay Tribute to Long-Time Mayor.

Hancock, Mich., March 15.—The funeral of the late ex-mayor, J. A. Scott Friday afternoon was one of the largest and most impressive ever seen in Hancock, and the large turnout of fraternal societies, firemen, city officials, and friends to pay their last respects to one who had done so much in building up the city evidenced the appreciation in which his services to Hancock were held. The cortege escorted the remains to the end of the old cemetery, the Grand Army men and the firing squad from the Naval Reserves taking sleighs to the cemetery, where a salute was fired over the grave. At the house an eloquent address was given by Rev. U. G. Rich, pastor of the Congregational church. The hearse was drawn by two of the old fire horses, that have been in the service of the city for twenty years.

ASHLAND ANXIOUS OVER COUPLE NOW IN PERSIA

Gifford who are doing missionary work at Tabriz, Persia, because of news regarding the massacres, devastation and deaths from privation as told by Dr. A. D. RANSOM COUNTY FACES COUNTY SEAT SQUABBLE

Sheldon, N. D., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because Lisbon is so inconveniently located and so difficult for a majority of the taxpayers of Ransom county, it is proposed to initiate a movement to secure a removal of the county seat from Lisbon to this point. The matter, it is thought, could more easily be brought about now that there is a new law which requires only 60 per cent of the total vote to change the county seat location.

The chief trouble in Ransom county would be the rivalry between Sheldon and Enderlin. If Enderlin would agree to support Sheldon it would be an easy matter to transfer the county seat because the bulk of the vote is on the east side of the county.

WADENA WOMAN BURIED.

Mrs. W. E. Verity, Victim of Cancer, Is Laid at Rest.

Wadena, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Isabelle Verity, wife of W. E. Verity, died at midnight Saturday of cancer after terrible suffering, which she bore with heroic fortitude. Everything known to medical science, including radium, had been employed in a vain effort to stay the ravages of the disease. An estimable woman, she had endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact. The funeral was conducted from St. Helen's Episcopal church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment was made in the Wadena cemetery. Her maiden name was Isabelle Wells and she was born Dec. 19, 1868 at Wellington, Ohio, and married to W. E. Verity at Troy, N. Y., Nov. 22, 1904.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong."—Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Not Well Enough to Work.

In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages. Whether in house, office, factory, shop, store or kitchen, woman should remember that there is one tried and true remedy for the ills to which all women are prone, and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It promotes that vigor which makes work easy. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

CALUMET SALOONMEN ALL GO TO CHURCH

Invited By Minister Who Urges Them to Aid Christianity.

Calumet, Mich., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The saloon men of Calumet were last night preached to, not "at" or "about" by Rev. George W. Broome, at the First Baptist church.

Rev. Mr. Broome's announcement a few days ago that he would invite to his church, Sunday night all the saloon keepers and bartenders of the community because they have been neglected as a class of men to be considered rather than saved, created quite a sensation. Nothing so radical had been before attempted by a Copper country churchman. The service was a success and struck a popular chord.

Like Biblical Publicans.

In his sermon Rev. Mr. Broome declared the saloonists and liquor men of today occupy the same position as regards the church as did the publicans and others of despised professions in the day of Christ, but that instead of seeking to uplift the saloon keeper the church today sits in judgment and condemns him as did the Pharisees of old. Rev. Mr. Broome did not attack the evils of the liquor traffic at all, but pointed out that the liquor man is capable of as high ideals in his line as any other business man and that he can be of as much real value to his community. He declared the saloon man can do as much for Christianity as did Matthew, the publican, after Matthew was called by Christ. Rev. Mr. Broome was formerly an evangelist of La Salle, Ill., and later a slum mission worker in Chicago's First ward.

Lisbon Hotel Needs Manager.

Lisbon, N. D., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The leading local hotel is again without a manager. It is owned by a Fargo company and in December Elmer Bradford, who had conducted the place for a few years, suddenly left. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lorraine of Chicago succeeded Bradford and were thought to be succeeding finely when they left hurriedly. The owners of the building will soon have a new manager.

Thirteen Towns Death.

Fosston, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ludvig Hendricksen, a native of Arnedahl, Norway, age 31, who came to Minnesota with his parents when a boy and was one of the pioneers of the Thirteen Towns section, was buried last Friday at one of the largest funerals seen here in years. A wife and five children survive.

Stolen Sweet Is Expensive.

Janesville, Wis., March 15.—It cost Peter Carmier his job as a railroad brakeman and $77 additional for a stick of candy. Carmier was caught by a St. Paul road detective in a boxcar which he had entered, and was taken into custody before he had a chance to take anything else. Carmier pleaded guilty to petty larceny and received the heavy fine.

International Falls—R. F. C. Iltis, vice president of the city council, has filed for the office of mayor and announces that his slogan will be "Economy and Better Conduct of Municipal Affairs."

Wahkon—Two carloads of emigrant goods arrived last Thursday, one from Ipswich, S. D., for Charles Fraley, who has purchased the Wilkes place, and one for Herman Ehlert, who shipped from Abercrombie, N. D., and will occupy his farm in the Penz neighborhood.

Brainerd—Henry Trainer of Deerwood, age 73, for thirty years a resident of that town, died at a local hospital and the funeral was held Friday. Mr. Trainer was a well known truck gardener. He leaves two daughters and three sons, all residents of Minneapolis.

Crookston—Crookston will in the future have a postoffice inspector with headquarters here. W. Fleming, formerly of Mitchell and Rapid City, S. D., has arrived and will be followed in a couple of weeks by his wife and daughter.

Red Lake Falls—On Feb. 24 the city waterworks system was inspected by a representative of the state board of health. The report of his inspection and test states that the water is so free from bacteria as to show "absence of contamination in the distribution system," and that the water is "suitable for public consumption."

Fertile—The Polk County Option league will hold a two days' session on Monday and Tuesday, March 22 and 23.

SUDDEN END OF SEASON

Warm Weather Will Prevent Trophy Events Being Completed.

Skips May Draw Lots for Prizes—No More Hockey.

With three events unfinished, the curling season is likely to come to a sudden close.

The ice at the big rink is covered with water, and it would take a very husky curler to heave a rock from one end of the ice to the other. Efforts are being made to save the ice by draining off some of the water, but unless decidedly cold weather comes at once, the season for both curling and skating is over. That means that no more hockey games will be played here, although until Saturday hopes were still maintained of games with the Winnipeg Monarchs or the Toronto Victorias. There is also little chance of the city league games being played.

In two of the unfinished curling events, only one game remains to be played. In the Universal event, E. A. Forsyth gave Billy Dinham an artistic trimming Saturday night, and goes into the finals against R. J. McLeod. McLeod is also in the finals of the Manley-McLennan event, against Dinham.

It is not likely that either of these games will be played, and the skips may draw lots for the trophies.

The "Blaze o' Glory" event is the only event unfinished. It has not yet reached the eights, and there is little chance of it being made this season.

The match between the Scots and the "Heathen" scheduled for Saturday had to be abandoned.

With this game, the Sox have won six out of eight games.

New Orleans, La., March 15.—The New Orleans Southern association club defeated the Detroit Americans here yesterday, 12 to 11, in a ten-inning game.

DULUTH BOAT CLUB MEMBERS!

Candidates are needed for Junior crews, weight 100 to 190 lbs. Report to Coach Ten Eyck at Y. M. C. A. between 4:30 and 6:30 p. m.

TEN EYCK IS AFTER BEEF

Senior Oarsmen Go in for Sculling—Sweep Men Needed.

One hundred men weighing between 160 and 190 are wanted by Coach "Jimmie" Ten Eyck in order to round out winning crews for the Duluth Boat club this season and club members began a campaign today to get them for him. He also wants some lighter men.

Additional material for the junior and bantam crews is necessary, and upon the men who work for places on these crews will depend the future of rowing here. There is a big hole left in the senior eight, with the withdrawal of Horak, the Moore brothers and Rheinberger, but last year's junior crew men are in line for place, as well as some of the best of the bantam.

"The future of rowing in Duluth depends upon the quality of material we secure this year," said Coach Ten Eyck yesterday. "We have some wonderful material for the junior crews at present—but we need more big men."

Between eighty and ninety men have reported at practice during the last ten days, but this list is going to be swelled considerably, as boat club members have pledged themselves to bring in a new candidate apiece. A trip to the Pacific coast, as well as a trip east, is among the inducements offered, in addition to an enviable standing in American athletics.

Ten Eyck plans to use many of his senior men for scullers and for this reason is eager to develop a junior eight fast enough to enter the senior events.

NEW PITCHERS FOR DOOKS ARE BOOKED

O'Brien Annexes Three Slab Artists for Spring Try-Outs.

Manager Darby O'Brien of the Duluth Dooks has annexed three new pitchers who will be given an opportunity to demonstrate their ability at the spring tryout. Dick Bush of Brainerd, a brother of Leslie or "Bullet Joe" Bush of the Athletics, and Ernest Forsell, a Duluth lad, who was given a tryout last season by the Washington Americans, were signed by Owner Harry Blume Saturday.

Boley, Winnipeg south paw, will also be signed up, according to Owner Blume. Boley has a reputation of being one of the classiest left-handed twirlers in the league and will be a valuable acquisition for the Dooks. It is possible that Smith, Appleton pitcher, and Bachant, Winnipeg catcher, may be booked up before the season starts.

The present Dook squad numbers seventeen men.

CHIVINGTON EXPECTS NO DISRUPTION.

Chicago, March 15.—Thomas Chivington, president of the American Baseball association, was not alarmed last night over the possibility of disruption of the association, in spite of a statement by George Tebeau, owner of the Kansas City club, that he would sooner form another circuit than accept a short playing schedule framed by Timme of Milwaukee and Cantillon of Minneapolis.

"There is every probability that Tebeau and the others will reach an amicable settlement of the schedule question in plenty of time for the season's opening," he said.

Mr. Chivington intimated the longer schedule favored by Tebeau would meet the approval of other club owners.

MORE DISTANCE FOR AUTO CONTESTS

Indianapolis Would Have Thousand Mile Test De Luxe.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 15.—A 1,000-mile race for $100,000 is the latest project to undergo the consideration of the Indianapolis motor speedway management.

A. C. Newby, a director of the speedway, is father of the plan, it being Newby's idea to stage a contest so far ahead of anything that has ever been held that there will be no comparison. It is to be the biggest thing in racing history.

Newby plans to make the race strictly invitational, limiting entry exclusively to makes of cars having won previous 500-mile contests. Four such makes are eligible to date, Marmon, National, Peugeot and Delage, with possibly a fifth after the next 500-mile race has been run. Entering, say five machines each, this would make a field of twenty-five cars, the cream of the racing world, with the pick of drivers. A qualifying speed of 90 miles per horsepower for 20 laps of the speedway is to be necessary, and the race is to start at 6 a. m. Drivers are to take tricks during the contest of 250 miles each, two drivers to a car. If the race goes through, it will easily be the greatest ever run, say racing experts informed of the plan.

STOREY AND CLARK WIN CUP TROPHIES

Trapshooting Stars Vie for Honors at Northwestern Club Range.

Fred Gilbert trophy cups were won by Tom Storey of the Central Gun club and Dr. F. F. Clark of the Northwestern Gun club at shoots held Saturday and Sunday at the Northwestern club range. Out of a possible 100, Storey scored 77 and Dr. Clark 80.

Trapshooting clubs throughout the country are holding "Gilbert trophy shoots" this week. Five hundred of them will shoot for a silver cup bearing a Gilbert bag-relief, and about 200 more clubs will shoot for other appropriate trophies.

Fred Gilbert has been known for the last twenty years as "The Wizard of Spirit Lake (Iowa)" and he has traveled all over the country in the interests of trapshooting. His average for the last eighteen years has been 94 per cent, a record which has never been equaled. On Wednesday, Gilbert will shoot in a match at Wilmington, Del., where a big banquet will be held in his honor.

Yesterday at the Northwestern Gun club range, Harry Stair and G. H. Clark, professionals, made marks of 83 and 79, respectively. Other scores were as follows: Otto, 62; Budmann, 57; Alex, 55; Drinskl, 48; Dryer, 40; Moerke, 61; Pastoret, 45; Krause, 45; Peterson, 62; Anderson, 46; Bush, 39; Bates, 40; Storey, 69; Hugo, 75; Munson, 48; Kempinski, 71.

PINS BEGIN FALLING IN THE FOURTH NORTHERN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Commissioner Hicken Rolls First Ball and Gives Welcoming Address.

More Than 300 Smashers of Maple Expected to Attend.

Good Scores Made—St. Paul Players Go Into the Lead.

The Northern Bowling association tournament, which began at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, is well under way now, and a good many scores have been piled up and are being chalked.

The tournament is taking place at the Grand alleys in the Oak Hall building, and they have been attractively decorated with pennants and bunting. Already many bowlers are here from all parts of the northern part of this state and from Wisconsin. More will arrive each day, until, it is expected, by the end of the week there will have participated or will be in the midst of the contests over 300 smashers of the maple. Each session of the tournament is attended by capacity "houses," the side-lines being packed.

Hicken Opens Tourney.

The tournament opened at 8 o'clock, with W. A. Hicken, commissioner of public safety and acting mayor in the absence of Mr. Prince. Commissioner Hicken made a short address in which he welcomed the bowlers to the city, and spoke of the superior quality of the sport, tending as it does to good health and needed exercise among business men, and being devoid of any vicious features. Mr. Hicken rolled the first ball down the alleys, made a strike, and thus began the fourth annual tournament of the association. Following Mr. Hicken, each of the officers of the association rolled a ball down the alleys. The association officers are as follows:

President, Fred Stiegler; vice president, Paul J. Schultz; treasurer, C. R. Berini; secretary, Nick Jenson.

One of the officers of the International Bowling association was present at the opening and will be here for a good part of the tournament. He is Walter A. Ryberg, who is one of the best known patrons of the sport in the country. He is well known here, for he "makes" this territory regularly.

Good Scores Are Made.

Some good scores have been made, the best ones so far being made during Sunday's games—chiefly in the sessions of the afternoon and evening. The Great Northern team of St. Paul leads in the 5-men event with a score of 2,784, and a close second is the Buss Creamery team of Ironwood, Mich., with a total of 2,781.

In the singles, Henry Martin, Sr., of the American team of St. Paul—one of the oldest bowlers in the Twin Cities, having been rolling the balls for a quarter of a century—rolled into first place with a score of 642. Wilke and Reimer of the Centrals of Minneapolis went into first place in the doubles, making a score of 1,245, Reimer getting the wood for 644 while Wilke got 601. Wilke, by the way, is Gus Wilke, a former catcher for the Duluth baseball club.

Blumenthal of the Great Northern team of St. Paul got the wood for a total of 1,842 pins, an average of 205 for all events.

Harry Muggley, the crack St. Paul bowler, went into second place in the singles with a score of 636, and "Jimmy" Garland, another crack, from Minneapolis, scored 606 in the same event.

Bowling scores made on Sunday during the all-day occupancy of the alleys, were as follows:

There is also little chance of the city league games being played.

In two of the unfinished curling events, only one game remains to be played. In the Universal event, E. A. Forsyth gave Billy Dinham an artistic tribunking Saturday night, and goes into the finals against R. J. McLeod. McLeod is also in the finals of the Manley-McLennan event, against Dinham.

It is not likely that either of these games will be played, and the skips may draw lots for the trophies.

The "Blaze o' Glory" event is the only event unfinished. It has not yet reached the eights, and there is little chance of it being made this season.

The match between the Scots and the "Heathen" scheduled for Saturday had to be abandoned.

DULUTH BOAT CLUB MEMBERS!

Candidates are needed for Junior crews, weight 160 to 190 lbs. Report to Coach Ten Eyck at Y. M. C. A. between 4:30 and 6:30 p. m.

TEN EYCK IS AFTER BEEF

Senior Oarsmen Go in for Sculling—Sweep Men Needed.

One hundred men weighing between 160 and 190 are wanted by Coach "Jimmie" Ten Eyck in order to round out winning crews for the Duluth Boat club this season and club members began a campaign today to get them for him. He also wants some lighter men.

Additional material for the junior and bantam crews is necessary, and upon the men who work for places on these crews will depend the future of rowing here. There is a big hole left in the senior eight, with the withdrawal of Horak, the Moore brothers and Rheinberger, but last year's junior crew men are in line for place, as well as some of the best of the bantam.

"The future of rowing in Duluth depends upon the quality of material we secure this year," said Coach Ten Eyck yesterday. "We have some wonderful material for the junior crews at present—but we need more big men."

Between eighty and ninety men have reported at practice during the last ten days, but this list is going to be swelled considerably, as boat club members have pledged themselves to bring in a new candidate apiece. A trip to the Pacific coast, as well as a trip east, is among the inducements offered, in addition to an enviable standing in American athletics.

Ten Eyck plans to use many of his senior men for sculling and for this reason is eager to develop a junior eight fast enough to enter the senior events.

NEW PITCHERS FOR DOOKS ARE BOOKED

O'Brien Annexes Three Slab Artists for Spring Try-Outs.

Manager Darby O'Brien of the Duluth Dooks has annexed three new pitchers who will be given an opportunity to demonstrate their ability at the spring tryout. Dick Bush of Brainerd, a brother of Leslie or "Bullet Joe" Bush of the Athletics, and Ernest Forsell, a Duluth lad, who was given a tryout last season by the Washington Americans, were signed by Owner Harry Blume Saturday.

Boley, Winnipeg south paw, will also be signed up, according to Owner Blume. Boley has a reputation of being one of the classiest left-handed twirlers in the league and will be a valuable acquisition for the Dooks. It is possible that Smith, Appleton pitcher, and Bachant, Winnipeg catcher, may be hooked up before the season starts.

The present Dook squad numbers seventeen men.

CHIVINGTON EXPECTS NO DISRUPTION.

Chicago, March 15.—Thomas Chivington, president of the American Baseball association, was not alarmed last night over the possibility of disruption of the association, in spite of a statement by George Tebeau, owner of the Kansas City club, that he would sooner form another circuit than accept a short playing schedule framed by Timme of Milwaukee and Cantillon of Minneapolis.

"There is every probability that Tebeau and the others will reach an amicable settlement of the schedule question in plenty of time for the season's opening," he said.

Mr. Chivington intimated the longer schedule favored by Tebeau would meet the approval of other club owners.

MORE DISTANCE FOR AUTO CONTESTS

Indianapolis Would Have Thousand Mile Test De Luxe.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 15.—A 1,000-mile race for $100,000 is the latest project to undergo the consideration of the Indianapolis motor speedway management.

A. C. Newby, a director of the speedway, is father of the plan, it being Newby's idea to stage a contest so far ahead of anything that has ever been held that there will be no comparison. It is to be the biggest thing in racing history.

Newby plans to make the race strictly invitational, limiting entry exclusively to makes of cars having won previous 500-mile contests. Four such makes are eligible to date, Marmon, National, Peugeot and Delage, with possibly a fifth after the next 500-mile race has been run. Entering, say five machines each, this would make a field of twenty-five cars, the cream of the racing world, with the pick of drivers. A qualifying speed of 90 miles per horsepower for 20 laps of the speedway is to be necessary, and the race is to start at 6 a. m. Drivers are to take tricks during the contest of 250 miles each, two drivers to a car. If the race goes through, it will easily be the greatest ever run, say racing experts informed of the plan.

STOREY AND CLARK WIN CUP TROPHIES

Trapshooting Stars Vie for Honors at Northwestern Club Range.

Fred Gilbert trophy cups were won by Tom Storey of the Central Gun club and Dr. F. F. Clark of the Northwestern Gun club at shoots held Saturday and Sunday at the Northwestern club range. Out of a possible 100, Storey scored 77 and Dr. Clark 80.

Trapshooting clubs throughout the country are holding "Gilbert trophy shoots" this week. Five hundred of them will shoot for a silver cup bearing a Gilbert bag-relief, and about 200 more clubs will shoot for other appropriate trophies.

Fred Gilbert has been known for the last twenty years as "The Wizard of Spirit Lake (Iowa)" and he has traveled all over the country in the interests of trapshooting. His average for the last eighteen years has been 94 per cent, a record which has never been equaled. On Wednesday, Gilbert will shoot in a match at Wilmington, Del., where a big banquet will be held in his honor.

Yesterday at the Northwestern Gun club range, Harry Stair and G. H. Clark, professionals, made marks of 83 and 79, respectively. Other scores were as follows: Otto, 62; Budmann, 61; Alex, 52; Dwinski, 48; Dryer, 40; 57; Alex, 52; Dwinski, 48; Dryer, 40; Moerke, 61; Pastoret, 45; Krause, 45; Peterson, 62; Anderson, 46; Bush, 39; Bates, 46; Storey, 69; Hugo, 75; Munson, 48; Kempinski, 71.

PINS BEGIN FALLING IN THE FOURTH NORTHERN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Commissioner Hicken Rolls First Ball and Gives Welcoming Address.

More Than 300 Smashers of Maple Expected to Attend.

Good Scores Made—St. Paul Players Go Into the Lead.

The Northern Bowling association tournament, which began at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, is well under way now, and a good many scores have been piled up and are being chalked.

The tournament is taking place at the Grand alleys in the Oak Hall building, and they have been attractively decorated with pennants and bunting. Already many bowlers are here from all parts of the northern part of this state and from Wisconsin. More will arrive each day, until, it is expected, by the end of the week there will have participated or will be in the midst of the contests over 300 smashers of the maple. Each session of the tournament is attended by capacity "houses," the side-lines being packed.

Hicken Opens Tourney.

The tournament opened at 8 o'clock, with W. A. Hicken, commissioner of public safety and acting mayor in the absence of Mr. Prince. Commissioner Hicken made a short address in which he welcomed the bowlers to the city, and spoke of the superior quality of the sport, tending as it does to good health and needed exercise among business men, and being devoid of any vicious features. Mr. Hicken rolled the first ball down the alleys, made a strike, and thus began the fourth annual tournament of the association. Following Mr. Hicken, each of the officers of the association rolled a ball down the alleys. The association officers are as follows:

President, Fred Stiegler; vice president, Paul J. Schultz; treasurer, C. R. Berini; secretary, Jack Jepson.

One of the officers of the International Bowling association was present at the opening and will be here for a good part of the tournament. He is Walter A. Ryberg, who is one of the best known patrons of the sport in the country. He is well known here, for he "makes" this territory regularly.

Good Scores Are Made.

Some good scores have been made, the best ones so far being made during Sunday's games—chiefly in the sessions of the afternoon and evening. The Great Northern team of St. Paul leads in the 5-men event with a score of 2,784, and a close second is the Buss Creamery team of Ironwood, Mich., with a total of 2,781.

In the singles, Henry Martin, Sr., of the American team of St. Paul—one of the oldest bowlers in the Twin Cities, having been rolling the balls for a quarter of a century—rolled into first place with a score of 642. Wilke and Reimer of the Centrals of Minneapolis went into first place in the doubles, making a score of 1,245, Reimer getting the wood for 644 while Wilke got 601. Wilke, by the way, is Gus Wilke, a former catcher for the Duluth baseball club.

Blumenthal of the Great Northern team of St. Paul got the wood for a total of 1,842 pins, an average of 205 for all events.

Harry Muggley, the crack St. Paul bowler, went into second place in the singles with a score of 636, and "Jimmy" Garlund, another crack, from Minneapolis, scored 606 in the same event.

Bowling scores made on Sunday during the all-day occupancy of the alleys, were as follows:

EGG STORM PELTS TEAM

"Rowdies" in Superior Take Revenge for Loss of Game.

Duluth Central Players Mobbed as They Start Home.

Members of the Duluth Central high school basket ball squad returned home from Superior Saturday evening, not only flushed with a 23-to-14 victory over the Superior high quintet, but also decorated and bespangled with eggs of a rather ancient variety. The decorations were administered, following the game, by "fans" who were disappointed over the result of the game.

Playing on their own floor and considering the fact that they had made a marked improvement since they sustained a defeat at the hands of Duluth earlier in the season, the Superior admirers were fondly looking forward to a healthy victory and thus to "sweet" revenge. Their hopes were completely shattered, however, for it was clearly evident that the Duluth team "had it on" their opponents at all times. In the second half substitutes were used, Shaw going in at forward and Farah at guard. Had the locals needed more scores, they could probably have got them without encountering much more opposition.

The game was interesting from all standpoints in spite of the fact that the Red and White warriors were never in very great danger. The contest was fast and marked by good playing on both sides. In the first half the two teams played almost even, the score at the conclusion standing 9 to 7 in favor of Duluth.

Try to Catch Up.

In the second period both teams came back expressing much determination. The purple and white men made a valiant attempt to catch the Duluthians and then draw ahead. Their hopes soon diminished when as the end drew near the Glyerites became rather familiar with the baskets and stopped their opponents' rushes with ease. The "flatlanders" thought that they were too well acquainted with their own basket and made shots repeatedly from long distances. The Duluth players exhibited more head work, advancing the ball until they were under the basket and then shooting. The Duluth team was shifted considerably in the second half. Moore, not feeling well, was allowed to rest in the final period, and Solheim took his place at the point position. Scrivens was shifted to guard and Shaw went in at forward. Farah was used at guard for a while and showed up well. In this half the Duluth Central men registered 14 points, while their opponents could get but half that many, thus fixing the final count at 23 to 14.

Solheim Plays Last Game.

"Solemn Sollie" Solheim, Duluth Central's valiant and reliable captain, played a remarkable game and proved to be the star of the evening. His last high school game found him at his very best. He has led the team through an exceptionally successful season, and deserves unlimited praise for building up, together with Coach Glyer, a team that has made a fine record. Solheim has proved a hard and consistent player, a good shot and a leader that is liked by the whole team. The contest Saturday marked the exit of high school basket ball for several other members of the team. Scrivens, who played a wonderful game Saturday, will be lost by graduation. Taylor, the scrappy guard and one of the big mainstays of the team, will also conclude his high school work. "Dug" Moore, the big husky center, who experienced little difficulty in outjumping all opponents, is another graduate. With only one regular left, Coach Glyer will, therefore, have to build up almost a new team.

Pelted With Eggs.

One of the features of the game, or rather the aftermath of the contest, was the royal reception encountered by the Duluth team and some of the supporters when they left the gymnasium on their way to the car line. Being blocked by a crowd of "rough necks," who were "sore" about their defeat, the Duluth representatives were pelted with eggs and anything else that the mob could find. By some good head work most of the minority managed to throw the attacking army off the "scent," and thus they got to car line, several blocks away, quite alive, but smeared with eggs and mud. Several others were unable to escape the mob and aside from being scrambled in real eggs they were rather ruthlessly mauled about in the street. Many of those that braved the storm worried least about the eggs. Rocks, cedar blocks, boards and mud flew and it was considered remarkable that less damage than was reported, was done.

No blame is laid on the Superior team, or most of the student body. The majority of the mob was a bunch of "toughs" that wanted to pick on a defenseless group which they outnumbered 10 to 1. The matter has not died down yet and some explanations will be demanded by local authorities.

Lineup and Score.

The lineup and score statistics of the game follow:

Duluth—		Superior—

AMATEUR HOCKEY MAY BE FINISHED THIS WEEK

The Duluth Amateur Hockey association officials hope that they will be able to put on a couple of double-headers in the way of contests and clean up the season's schedule this week.

There still remain to be played the following games: Two Harbors vs. Northern, Bagleys vs. Central high school and Big Duluth vs. Universal. If the Northerns defeat their opponents they will be matched with the winner of the Big Duluth-Universal game, and that will decide the championship.

BI-STATE LEAGUE.

Chicago, March 15.—Officials of the newly formed Bi-state Baseball league met here today to complete plans of organization and name a schedule committee.

The cities which will place clubs in the league, according to President Persons, are Aurora, Rockford, Streator and Ottawa, Ill., and Racine and Janesville, Wis. Elgin will not attempt to join the league this season because of the failure to raise sufficient funds.

GOPHER STOCK POPULAR

Moorhead, Minn., March 15.—H. C. Schroeder, well known breeder of blooded cattle at his 570-acre farm five miles east of here who has won prizes at fairs all over the country has eighty head of Holsteins and so widely known has the herd become that people in far-away Japan write with a view of purchasing one or more head.

Recently Mr. Schroeder received a letter from a prominent Japanese breeder giving a standing offer for a bull calf at any time within three years from the prize cow known as Bess Pietertje Ormsby Mercedes, world record junior, 7 years old, which holds the record of having produced 114 1-10 pounds of milk and 5 4-14 pounds of butter in twenty-four hours. As he has orders so far behind for these calves Mr. Schroeder replied that the best he could do was to offer the Japanese a 2-year-old bull for $7,000.

The Schroeder herd made a remarkable showing at the fairs last season, taking, in addition the official world's records with Holsteins in the production of milk and butterfat, done under the supervision of the Minnesota university.

Maxwell

"The Wonder Car"

You will have only yourself to blame if you are "talked into" buying an "unsuitable" or a "theoretical" Car.

The two commonest mistakes made in buying an automobile are—First, Buying a car not suited to your needs.—Second, Buying a car that has not passed the theory stage.

The first mistake—buying an "unsuitable" car—is perhaps made even less often than the second. But for your own sake study your needs sensibly, just as you study your household needs, and buy a car you can afford to enjoy—a car you will have pride in, and yet one that will not be a "ghost of reproach" to your good sense.

The second mistake—buying a "theoretical" car—is perhaps the sadder mistake of the two—because when you have made this mistake, you have on your hands some engineer's or designer's untried theory, instead of a tried, known, successful car. And you have paid a price that, put in the right car, would never have been a reproach—but would have bought an automobile of real pride and joy.

It is because we see these two mistakes being constantly made—because we see sensible people being constantly talked into these "automobile fiascos" that we boast so much about the record of the car we sell—The Maxwell.

38,000 happy satisfied Maxwell owners are driving 38,000 handsome streamline Maxwell Cars to-day—at an up-keep cost that any man of any standing can afford, and at an original cost that is simply a practical investment.

200 Maxwell Cars Every Day

Twelve hundred a week, five thousand a month. That is the actual output of "The Wonder Car" right now and constantly increasing.

Not bare promises that cannot be kept, but actual deliveries to Maxwell Dealers.

Stop! Think a moment. There must be something back of a production so great. There must be the hearty approval and confidence of the public in the car they buy and the car must merit it all.

26 Maxwell cars every hour of the business day. Yes, that is just what the public are buying, and when you order a Maxwell, you get one the day you want it.

Back of each Maxwell stands one of the greatest and most efficient organizations in the industry, and one strong enough financially to insure you against the purchase of an "orphan car" and to give you actual deliveries of a wonderful car on the day you want it.

The Maxwell Company's Guarantee of Service to Maxwell Owners

No other automobile is backed by a more reliable service than that guaranteed every Maxwell owner. More than 2,000 Maxwell dealers—in every part of this country—are always ready to give expert advice, to make adjustments, and to supply new parts at reasonable prices.

This splendid Maxwell dealer service organization is perfected and completed by the chain of Maxwell owned and Maxwell operated Service Branches. Sixteen great Maxwell Service Stations are so located throughout the country that a Maxwell dealer can supply any part for an owner within a few hours if not in his stock. Maxwell Service is one of the great advantages enjoyed by Maxwell owners.

Order a Maxwell from us now, and when you want it delivered, we will give you your car—not an excuse on delivery day

WINDING UP HOT CONTEST

Two Harbors "Drys" and "Wets" Campaigning Up to Eve of Election.

Socialists and Independents Are Also Hurling Accusations Around.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The liveliest campaign in this city's history is winding up today with prospects of considerable being done up to the last minute, both by the "drys" and "wets" in the local option fight and the Independents and Socialists, who are striving for the city offices. The polls open at 6 a. m. tomorrow and close at 9 p. m.

Clarence Darrow, the noted Chicago lawyer, arrived this afternoon and will speak tonight at a big pro-license meeting. The "drys" had a parade this afternoon and this evening expect to have another with many women in line. The Socialists and the Independents are hurling accusations back and forth, the Socialists, among things, claiming that if the Independents win, the city coal business will be dropped and the city electric supply business dropped. These charges the Independents deny.

Campaign Circular.

A campaign circular issued by the Socialists reads:

"The opponents (Independent ticket) are frank. They openly concede that if they are elected they will abolish the city coal business, which has been in existence here for some years and which has saved the people of the city money."

As a matter of fact, James H. Lunz, Independent candidate for mayor, has recently come out with a written statement in which he states that he is in favor of the city continuing in the coal business. The Independent candidates for aldermen have expressed their sentiments as being in harmony with Mr. Lunz.

POSTS TO WEAR GREEN TILL AFTER MARCH 17

Eveleth White Way Posts Will Then Be Painted Pure White.

Eveleth, Minn., March 15.—((Special to The Herald.)—The white way posts are to be repainted in a short time if the recommendation of the newly formed city improvement club is followed, but the green paint now on the posts will not be covered up until after March 17. S. H. Owens, who, as commissioner of water, light and sewers, has charge of the posts, suggested that they be painted a pure white and asked advice of the club on the matter. J. C. Poole, who presided at the meeting of the club Saturday, suggested that the posts be left until after St. Patrick's day, and in the meantime suggestions will be received from those of artistic taste as to what color will harmonize best.

Requests of Council.

George Perham, secretary pro tem of the club, was instructed to take up with the city council the providing of receptacles for waste paper, the the passage of an ordinance to prohibit driving wagons on the sidewalks and unloading wood on the streets. The club will also ask the council to take steps to prevent cattle running at large in the city on the ground that lawns can not be properly kept up and gardens cannot be properly kept up with cows running at large.

CHISHOLM'S PAPER SELLS AT DISCOUNT

People Desire Another Chance to Vote on Issuing Bonds.

Chisholm, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The issuance of bonds for $250,000 is strongly urged by business men who are having difficulty with village warrants, the paper not being easily negotiable.

Much of the paper is being peddled in other range towns and in some cases, discounts of from 5 to 10 per cent have been charged for the accommodation.

This is causing no little adverse comment and it is being urged that the new council give the people another chance to vote on the advisability or otherwise of bonding. The last bond proposal was turned down by the people, the reason given them, being that the sum, $500,000 was too large.

LEWIS' SUCCESSOR.

Question of Selecting Secretary of Hibbing Club Is Up.

Hibbing, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council and the directors of the Commercial club this week will decide upon a successor to J. L. Lewis, secretary of the Commercial club, who resigns, April 1, to go with the state insurance department.

Several applications have been made to Mayor V L. Power and others for the position and it is expected that those who will choose the officer will have well qualified and capable men to choose from.

It is not known whether the suggestion of John A. Redfern that a business man should be chosen, will be adopted. Mayor Power and President of the Commercial club, Robert Stratton, both favor the suggestion and it is probable that it will be acted upon. In case it is, the secretary will have a paid assistant.

J. L. Lewis has been one of the most active secretaries the club has had since its inception, and his departure will be regretted, as he has always worked in the interest of the village.

TWO HARBORS FIVE GOES TO BEMIDJI.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Two Harbors city basket ball team left last night for Bemidji, where they will meet the team of that city in three games. The following will be the locals' lineup in the Bemidji games: John Woodard, center; Ted Sullivan, forward; Harry Freeman, center; McCurdy, guard; Fillatrault, guard; Johnson sub forward and guard.

EXPECT CHANGES IN CHISHOLM OFFICES.

Chisholm, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The French club Saturday evening discussed the recent election appointees to fill the places of village employes expected to be removed from offices through the change in officers. The selections have not been made public, but it is generally understood that a general, all 'round change will be made in every branch of village patronage.

Virginia, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Civil engineers in the employ of the Oliver Iron Mining company today began surveying the Ordean mine preparatory to beginning stripping operations on what will prove to be another local open pit mine.

It is expected the removal of the overburden will start very soon and add materially to the local payroll. When the overburden is removed it is expected this property will ship late this season.

Innumerable catarrh sufferers have cured themselves by purifying their blood with S. S. S. Catarrh often invades the entire system before it chokes the nasal passages. It becomes so chronic and extensive that the stomach, liver, kidneys, bronchial tubes and most of the glands are involved without such serious conditions being realized. Catarrh may be the result of some serious blood trouble of former years, and this is only one of the many peculiar effects of impure blood. Now S. S. S., in its influence upon the mucous surfaces, causes those catarrhal secretions to be changed or converted into a substance easily, quickly, and naturally expelled from the body. It so changes this mucus that it is not the ropy, clogging stuff that plugs the nose, chokes the throat, causes severe bowel trouble, upsets the stomach and contaminates the food just entering the blood. It is often difficult to convince catarrh sufferers that chronic cough, chest pains, gagging, fetid breath and other symptoms are only the local evidence of deep seated trouble. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today and try it. You will get good results, real benefit and soon be aware of a gradual cleaning up and a check to the progress and dangers of catarrh. Avoid substitutes. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 61 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. They conduct a medical department for free advice that is worth while consulting.

TO DISCUSS FUTURE.

Meeting of Canadian Farm Syndicate in Virginia on Tuesday.

Virginia, Minn., March 15.—W. Heagle of Saskatoon, Sask., who has been managing a farm of eight sections for the Canadian Farming syndicate, which has headquarters in this city, is here to attend a meeting of the syndicate Tuesday.

Thus far the venture has not been as successful as it might be if operated on a larger scale, and at the meeting tomorrow this matter will be brought up.

Mr. Heagle, manager for the past two years of the large farm, was several years ago a resident of Virginia.

STRENGTH

Without Overloading the Stomach.

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not over-load the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start a man gets each day as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand.

He can't be alert with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast, requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

A Calif. business man found a food combination for producing energy. He writes:

"For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments.

"Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I had about decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts.

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet.

"I find that Grape-Nuts, with a little sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, makes a delicious morning meal, which invigorates me for the day's business."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

AUTHORITY IS QUESTIONED

Editor of New York Times Objects to Queries By Committee.

Says Tendency Is to Put American Press Under Duress.

Washington, March 15.—Vigorous protest against the "tendency of governmental investigations to place the newspapers of the country under a sort of duress," was made today by Charles R. Miller, editor-in-chief of the New York Times, before the senate ship lobby investigating committee.

Chairman Walsh had questioned Mr. Miller at length as to editorials and news stories in his paper bearing on the ship bill, trust prosecutions and railway mail pay. At the conclusion of his examination Mr. Miller questioned the authority of the committee to inquire as to many of the matters discussed and said: "I can see no ethical, moral or legal right in this committee to ask me many of the questions you have put to me. It seems to me it would be right for you to inquire whether I know of any improper activities in connection with the ship purchase bill. I have told you I know of none. There, it seems to me, the matter should have ended.

Known as Reptile Press.

"The tendency of continued inquiries along the lines of this investigation, it seems to me, would be to reduce the press of the United States to the condition of the press of some of the capitals of Central Europe, where it is known as the reptile press; where it crawls on its belly to the foreign office and the government officials every day to gets its orders. This continued investigation, I believe, is a kind of infringement of the liberty of the press. It puts the newspapers of the country under a kind of duress. I could not let this occasion pass without entering my protest against it."

After Senator Walsh had questioned Mr. Miller as to several editorials in the Times and the information on which they were based, he compared an article as published in the Times with articles in other New York papers.

The article disclosed that there were no sailings from New York to England scheduled for a week. The Times article, while it appeared on the first page, Senator Walsh pointed out, was shorter than those of the other papers.

"This article would impress the public with the fact that there were no shipping facilities, would it not?" he asked.

Fact That There Was a War.

"It would impress the public with the fact that there was a war," replied Mr. Miller. "There may be many mechanical or other reasons for the position of that item, besides a narrow and crooked sea. There can be no possible implication that the Times wanted to minimize its importance."

Senator Walsh asked why the Times had not printed an account of the testimony of H. A. S. Franklin of the international mercantile marine before the committee. Mr. Miller said he knew nothing of the matter.

"I must protest," he continued, "against any attempt to indicate or insinuate that there has been any effort to suppress or prevent the news appearing in the Times to accord with our opposition to the shipping bill. The nature of your questions indicates that you have a suspicion that we pervert the physical appearance of the Times to accord with the policy expressed in its editorial columns.

We Want Foundation.

"Nothing could be more erroneous or more utterly without foundation. We endeavor to make the news columns reflect the news of the day as it occurs. The editorial columns go their way and the news columns go theirs."

Mr. Miller told the committee the Times editorials on the shipping bill were based upon information drawn from the general public discussion of the measure and that the Times opposed the proposal because of its lifelong opposition to the principle of government ownership."

An editorial criticizing the postoffice department as an instance of government ownership led to a discussion of the railway mail pay situation. Mr. Miller expressed the belief that the railroads were not fully paid for carrying parcel post matter. Senator Sutherland questioned the revelancy of the whole discussion.

"I think it is relevant," said Senator Walsh. "Because the same interests that are behind the International Mercantile Marine are behind the principal railroads of the country."

Kenosha, Wis., March 15.—Andrew F. Stahl has declined to be postmaster of Kenosha. The appointment was tendered to him through Joseph E. Davis.

Mr. Stahl is sheriff of Kenosha county and a member of the Wisconsin state central Democratic committee.

Thief River Operetta.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grade pupils of the local schools presented the operetta, "In a Flower Garden," at the auditorium Saturday night. Over eighty children took part in the production, which was given under the direction of Miss Evelyn Grindeland. RHEUMATISM A MYSTERY

Some diseases give immunity from another attack, but rheumatism works just the other way.

Every attack of rheumatism invites another. Worse than that, it reduces the body's power so that each attack is worse than the one before.

If any disease needs curing early it is rheumatism but there is almost no disease which physicians find more difficult to treat successfully. When a medicine does help rheumatism nobody knows how or why it does it.

All authorities agree that the blood becomes thin with alarming rapidity as rheumatism develops. Maintaining the quality of the blood therefore is a reasonable way of preventing and combating rheumatism. That it works out in fact is shown by the beneficial results in the treatment of rheumatism, acute, muscular and articular, with the blood tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

That hundreds who take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their rheumatism get well is a fact beyond dispute. That the rheumatism does not return as long as the blood is kept rich and red is equally true.

Write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free pamphlet "Building Up the Blood" and kindly mention this paper. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

C. E. Evens and W. L. Bernard May Not Make Race.

Friends of Hicken and Murchison Fear Splitting Vote.

Friends of Commissioner's Hicken and Murchison, fearing that the candidacy of William L. Bernard and Chris E. Evens may hurt the incumbents in their endeavor to continue in office, held a meeting this noon and considered the proposed withdrawal of both Mr. Bernard and Mr. Evens.

The meeting was held in the office of L. U. Young, who recently filed the petition for Mr. Evens, the latter having been in California. Mr. Bernard was present and after a long discussion, he declared that he would withhold the filing of his acceptance until Mr. Evens returns from California either tomorrow or Wednesday. The latter is now on his way to Duluth and could not be reached by wire this morning.

If Mr. Evens agrees to drop out of the campaign, Mr. Bernard said he would also withdraw and friends of Commissioners Hicken and Murchison are now awaiting the arrival of Mr. Evens. If he refuses to drop out, both he and Mr. Bernard will continue.

Another meeting will be held tomorrow morning, when the campaign managers for Commissioners Hicken and Murchison, the executive committees and ward captains will be announced.

All the candidates in the campaign have filed acceptances, with the exception of Mr. Evens, Mr. Bernard and Bernard Silberstein. Candidates have until midnight Wednesday in which to file.

PHONE REPORT OPTIMISTIC

Head of Bell System Reports Great Progress for Last Year.

Regulation Is Commended; Humanitarian Work Is Feature.

A strong current of optimism underlies the annual report for the Bell Telephone system, which was released by President Theodore N. Vail today. Mr. Vail says that the Bell system has suffered with other lines of business because of the general depression, but says that basic conditions are excellent. Large sums, however, have been spent in improvements and the progress along humanitarian lines has been marked.

"Never were the basic conditions of the country better than now for a restoration and continuance of normal conditions," says Mr. Vail. "The correction is simple and is pointed out by numerous precedents of the past and by well established economic laws. The extension and improvement of our transportation facilities is necessary to meet the increasing demands of the country both as a 'going' and a 'growing' concern. A billion dollars a year are needed and there must be a restoration of confidence which will enable the companies to procure at least a part of this necessary capital. That would mean employment and the circle of industrial conditions. For employment means ability to purchase. Ability to purchase means consumption. Consumption means production. and production for which there is a demand means prosperity.

An Epochal Year.

"The opening of the transcontinental telephone line, bringing San Francisco within commercial talking distance of the principal cities on the Atlantic seaboard, gives particular interest to the engineering features of the year's report.

"Few can appreciate the years of indefatigable labor on the part of our entire staff and the immense sums of money which this achievement has cost and fewer still can foresee the countless ways in which it will, from now on, make for the benefit of all the service rendered to the public everywhere. In the Bell system standardization does not mean standing still but means increasing effort, continually improving and upbuilding. The plant is like a living organism always growing larger and being renewed bit by bit as it grows. Under the intelligent direction of the engineering staff, plant of all kinds costing more than $425,000,000 was added to the Bell system in five years, and plant to the value of more than $175,000,000 was taken out and removed from service. Each year large sums are spent in scientific engineering experimentation and development work which saves millions to the associated companies and their subscribers.

"One of the year's developments was an underground cable which in its diameter of 2¾ inches carries 2,400 telephone wires.

"From a legal standpoint the Bell system is in an excellent condition, there being no suit pending against the American Telephone & Telegraph company or any of the associated companies, charging any violation of any state or Federal anti-trust law."

Not Profit-Sharing.

"Welfare work, pension and sick benefit plans are reported to have demonstrated their practical value. During the year benefits were paid in 29,915 cases of disability or death, and at the end of the year 211 former employes were being carried on the pension rolls. The total amount expended for all classes of benefits was $1,338,261, most of it among the lower salaried employes to whom the loss of wages, even for a short period, would have been a hardship. The recent offer of stock at a low price on installments was intended as an encouragement to saving, and over 30,000 employes availed themselves of this offer.

"This has been termed by some 'profit-sharing,' says Mr. Vail. "It should not be. It is an investment by which the employe becomes also a proprietor, and he occupies the dual relation of proprietor and employe, which if it can be worked out to its fullest possibilities will be ideal.

"In this connection it is shown that for each employe there is an average investment in plant of $5,338, which gives a gross revenue per employe of $1,408, of which $656 is distributed in wages, $79 in taxes, $375 for supplies and expenses, $271 as charges for capital, and $65 reserved for contingencies.

Control and Regulation.

"As far as Mr. Vail can forecast the future, regulation and control by commissions or business courts have become a permanent feature of economic laws. He points out that these processes could not be perfect from the start, but are being improved.

"It is for the public to combine, to encourage, support and sustain all these courts and commissions and the judges and members of commissions, and above all to abandon condemnation of all conclusions when they differ from selfish desires or opinions based on one-sided and insufficient information. It is for the public to realize that any particular gain, if at the expense of other interests, is no permanent gain at all, that all business or public prosperity is based upon each party to any transaction getting some benefit from it.

"And above all, if there are to be courts of commerce or commissions, then the settlement of all matters which have been referred to such courts by the legislature should be left to them."

SEAMEN TO BE EXAMINED

Examination for identification certificates for able seamen will be given at Duluth and other lake ports. The examinations will be conducted by officers and inspectors on board the coast guard cutter.

These examinations are the result of the regulations of the new seamen's bill, which requires the fingerprint method of identification of able seamen.

Each seaman will carry a card bearing his signature and an imprint of his right index finger, a record of which will also be kept on the government books for identification.

WAR REVIEW BY KITCHENER

War Secretary Talks on Situation Before House of Commons.

Shortage in Supply of Material Is Causing Considerable Anxiety.

London, March 15.—Secretary of War Earl Kitchener gave a brief review of the war situation in the house of lords this evening.

He said only trench fighting had been possible for many weeks past, but that this had not affected the morale of the British troops. Recent occurrences in the fight around Neuve Chappelle and Epinette showed how successfully the British troops have been able to take the offensive.

The minister of war referred to the gallantry shown by the soldiers of India and he spoke eulogistically of the French army, which, he said, had made important progress at various points along the line, especially in Champagne where the soldiers of the republic had given evidence of marked tenacity.

The situation in the Dardanelles was well in hand the speaker declared, but he was unable to say more than has appeared in the press.

Hard to Get Labor.

Progress in the work of equipping Britain's new armies had been seriously hampered by failure to get sufficient labor and the necessary factory facilities.

He said:

"The supply of war material is now and for the next month or two will be a very serious consideration. It is causing me serious anxiety. It is absolutely essential that the output of ammunition be increased."

Continuing along this subject Earl Kitchener urged firms in certain lines to place their spare labor and machinery at the disposal of the government. He said he considered that men engaged in the supplying of munitions were serving their country as much as the men in the field, and that no medal would be issued to workers on munitions of war on the successful termination of hostilities.

Health of Troops Good.

The health of the British troops was remarkably good, was another declaration made by the war secretary, and a striking testimony to the value of innoculation.

Speaking of the Russian campaign, Earl Kitchener remarked that the Germans attacks were either well held or had been driven back.

In conclusion the speaker said the government was considering arrangements by which armament firms should come under government control and their employes reap some of the benefits which the war had automatically brought to their employers.

"NIGHT OF THE CANDLES."

Wide World Magazine: "Annually, on the night of Nov. 2 (All Souls' night in the Roman Catholic calendar), a solemn and very picturesque religious ceremony takes place in the cemeteries of the various Indian villages under Catholic care throughout Southern California. It is called "La Noche de las Velas," or the "The Night of Candles," and prayers for the dead are offered up, accompanied by the placing and lighting of candles on the graves by surviving relatives and friends. After all the candles have been lighted, the mourners leave the cemetery and allow them to burn out unwatched. The sight of the hundreds of twinkling points of light shining through the darkness is very curious.

BIG BULGE IN MARKET WITH EXPORTERS BUYING

Wheat Strong Through Day on Renewed Call From Foreigners.

Flaxseed Sells at Fresh High Figures on Crop—Crushers Buying.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 15.—The market was strong at the close on continued buying.

May wheat closed 3⅝c up, July 3⅛c up and September 1⅞c up. May durum closed 1½c up and July 1½c up.

Oats closed ¼c up at 57¾c for on the track; rye 5c up at $1.17@1.18, and barley unchanged at from 67c to 78c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed 1¼@1⅜c up at 66½c, and July 1¼c up at 66⅝c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.47 and calls at $1.54¾.

Longs in the wheat market had it all their own way today, sharp advances being recorded as a result of higher Liverpool cables and reported good export inquiry at the seaboard.

It was noted that a Duluth export house was a heavy buyer of the May future throughout the day. That was attributed to the fact that the market here was relatively the cheapest of the Northwest exchanges. A considerable volume of trading was reported to have been put through.

Some export trade in cash wheat was advised at Minneapolis, and seaboard operators were reputed to have picked up a substantial tonnage under cover. The strength in oats was a factor in sustaining wheat quotations. The market in that cereal bulged as a result of heavy buying for export by France where supplies are said to be short.

The opinion that the opening of the Dardanelles will not have such a bearish effect on the grain markets as at first thought, is gaining among traders. It is said that there is only a small tonnage of wheat in elevators at Russian Black sea ports, and the shortage of rolling stock on the Russian railroads is thought to make it certain that the movement could not be heavy at the outset. Expectations that it will be some weeks yet before Russian shipments can be hoped for and the limited supplies being carried in England and France is forcing dealers there to again enter the American markets for grain to meet immediate requirements.

Clearances of wheat and flour today were close to the million-bu mark. Primary receipts compared closely with last year being 771,000 bu against 758,000 bu.

May wheat opened up ½c up at $1.50, and gained 2c more up to the noon-hour. July opened 1½c up at $1.46 and advanced ¾c more.

May durum opened ⅞c up at $1.53⅞ and gained ⅝c more.

Big Bulge in Flax.

Flaxseed continued its advance, with crushers scrambling for supplies from the outset. The light elevator stocks available, and expectations that seed-ing of flax will show an normous increase this spring, has brought about a bullish situation in that market. Advances of 5@5½c were recorded in the day.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1⅛c up, and at London ⅞c up.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.02, and closed 5c up at $2.07. July opened 1½c up at $2.05, and closed 5½c up at $2.09 bid. September opened ¼c up at $2.02½, and closed 4¾c up at $2.09 nominal.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 5c up at $1.87, and July 6⅝c up at $1.89¾.

MARKET GOSSIP.

H. J. Labrec has returned from Minot, where he attended the recent convention of the North Dakota Grain Dealers' association. Grain men out there, he said, appeared to be all optimistic regarding the general outlook, in view of the large amount of fall plowing that had been done. He noticed that the snow has largely disappeared from the fields over North Dakota, but that there is still a good covering in sections of Minnesota.

Stores of flaxseed in Duluth and Minneapolis elevators as on March 13 were 870,000 bu against 1,911,000 bu last year. At Duluth there were 700,000 bu against 1,741,000 bu a year ago, and at Minneapolis, 110,000 bu compared with 171,000 bu last year.

Supplies of wheat in Duluth and Minneapolis elevators as on March 13 were 23,217,000 bu against 34,152,000 bu last year. At Duluth there were 11,069,000 bu against 14,624,000 bu last year, and at Minneapolis, 12,148,000 bu against 19,528,000 bu a year ago.

Minneapolis cash market was strong, with a keen demand for the top grades, and a good demand for all grades. One northern blue stem sold at 5½c@6c over May to arrive, choice at 6c over velvet chaff selling in wide range, heavy wheat at 5c@5½c over May and ordinary at 3c@4c over. Flour sales light. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.51½ to 1.55, and No. 2 northern at from $1.49 to $1.52½. Wheat stocks at that point decreased 440,000 bu in the last four days.

C. E. Lewis & Co. wired from Minneapolis: "Broomhall's continual reference to decreasing supplies in foreign countries makes us believe foreigners are buying as sparingly as possible, hoping for an early opening of the Dardanelles and that their supplies have not reached a point where it is becoming imperative for them to again make purchases in this country. The papers have continual reference to food riots in Greece and Italy, all of which, in our opinion, means a big demand for the Russian crop as soon as it moves. It does not appear the bugaboo to the trade that it did a few weeks ago. New York says foreigners are making purchases of July and September and this does not indicate an early termination of the war. We think there will be five buyers for every bu of Russian wheat available when the Straits are finally opened."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Steady American cables on Saturday caused some steadiness but supplies are lighter with continued nervousness and spot demand improved. Winters sold at 3d advance on stocks decreasing. Plates are 4½d higher, but the general inquiry is still moderate. Australian offers are very firm with weather there unfavorable and Argentine stocks at the ports increasing, and the damp quality is interfering with shipments. Corn was easy with Plate arrivals being pressed for sale. Stocks here are increasing. Weekly stocks wheat are 1,976,000 bu. Corn 1,411,000 bu.

In Italy—Wheat 7,500,000 bu foreign wheat has recently been unloaded and twelve steamers are awaiting their turn to unload while twelve are being unloaded, and eighteen vessels are expected within a fortnight, three of which are consigned to Switzerland. This accounts for some laxity of recent purchases as congestion is pronounced.

French—Reserves of oats from the old crop are light as consumption has been heavy. Native supplies are understood to be about exhausted. The size of the new crop depends upon the weather which has been unfavorable and then again much of the area will never be planted. Prospects point to continued large importation to fill immediate needs. Much disappointment is noted relative to the shortness in Argentine supplies and free takings from America are noted.

Russia—Weather continues favorable. Prices in the interior have advanced notwithstanding increased arrivals.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Decrease of Stocks in Liverpool Has Bullish Effect on Wheat.

Chicago, March 15.—Higher prices at Liverpool, where there was a large decrease in stocks, had a bullish effect today on the wheat market here. The outlook for a decided falling off in the domestic visible supply total counted also against the bears. Offers were scarce here until the price in some cases had moved up 2 5-8 above Saturday's finish. The opening, which ranged from ¼ to 5-8c higher, was followed by a continuous advance until orders to purchase were filled, but then a material reaction took place.

Increased strength developed later owing to disclosure of export sales of cash wheat here, and because of the suspension of telegraph service between Italy and Austria. The close was nervous, 2⅛c to 3¼c above Saturday night.

Smallness of receipts helped to lift the corn market. In addition, one of the largest houses in the trade was a conspicuous buyer of futures. After starting a shade off to ⅛c up, prices scored gains all around.

Rainy weather that promised continued smallness of arrivals brought about a further hardening of prices. The close was steady at 1⅞c to 1¾c@1⅝c net advance.

Lively commission house demand for oats was in evidence. Put traders who were short hurried to cover.

Large export clearances tended to steady provisions. On the other hand, there was considerable selling in small lots by miscellaneous holders.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Rumors of Early Decision in the Steel Corporation Suit.

Leading Stocks Steady and Irregularity in the Specialties.

New York, March 15.—Shares of the various automobile companies were again to the fore in today's early market operations. Gains in those issues ranged from material fractions to almost 3 points, while the more seasoned stocks were less prominent, some of the leaders showing no change from last week's close. Later, however, the list, as a whole, rose moderately on light trading. The only notable exception was Texas company, which fell back 1½. Americans were irregular in London.

Improvement in the foreign situation and rumors of an early decision in the suit of the government against the United States Steel corporation were used to stimulate the market during the early trading today. The spurt was not well maintained, however, profit-taking in the motors and other specialties soon giving the entire list a setback. Reading was heaviest of the leaders, with underlying firmness in Steel and Union Pacific, but trading was devoid of any significance by reason of its professional character and dullness. Future sales of bonds were again extensive, especially Central Pacific firsts and Southern Pacific refunding 4s.

Manipulation shifted to metal stocks in the afternoon with activity in Tennessee and Inspiration coppers, American Smelting and Bethlehem steel. The better known issues were almost wholly neglected, though displaying a firm undertone.

Steadiness in leading stocks and irregularity in the specialties constituted the main features of today's dull market.

Bonds were relatively more active than stocks in the late dealings. Transactions in the usual leaders were few and far between. The closing was firm.

SUMMER RESORTS.

PLAN THAT VACATION
TRIP NOW.

And spend it on your own camp site at Ne-na-mik-ka-ta, Lake Vermillion. Ne-na-mik-ka-ta (Chippewa for easy portage) is on Pine island. It is located in one of the most desirable spots at Lake Vermilion.

Several people from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities have already purchased camp sites, and will build this spring. These camp sites offer a good investment, as lots on our Daisy island tract have increased 50 per cent in value in less than a year.

Duluth people should take advantage of this proposition. They should know about the park, the docks, the beaches, and the people who have purchased. Write or call for full particulars. Names of Duluth purchasers given upon request. Call us up, either phone 516, for appointment with our salesman.

INVESTIGATION OF THE BUSINESS AFFAIRS OF THE STATE UNIVERSITY

House Decides in Favor of Inquiry By Regular Committee.

Marked Distrust of the University Shown By Rural Members.

Bill to Regulate the Granting of Street Car Franchises.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house shortly after noon today voted, 68 to 57, to have its investigation of the business affairs of the state university handled by the regular committee on public accounts and expenditures, instead of by a special committee, after a wrangle taking up the entire forenoon and during which at times the house was a bedlam.

Representative Malmberg called up and moved the adoption of the resolution introduced by himself and Representatives Greene and Lydiard, calling for a special committee.

Representative Christianson of Dawson offered an amendment providing that the work should be done by the public accounts committee, which is already engaged in it.

Hot Debate.

The debate over this amendment was hot and prolonged. It was charged that the friends of the university, after having been allowed to draft this resolution so as to eliminate the strictures contained in the original resolution offered a couple of weeks ago, had refused to consent to its passage unless they could be satisfied with the membership of the committee. Rural members disclosed marked distrust of the university and some charged political activity against its faculty.

Representative McGrath, as an alumnus and friend of the university, thought all charges should be disproved by a thorough investigation and he believed that a special committee could do it better, as the reg-

CREW OF THE DACIA BACK IN NEW YORK

Tell of Seizure of Cotton Steamer By a French Cruiser.

New York, March 16.—How the steamer Dacia was seized while flying the American flag, with a cargo of cotton aboard from Galveston for Bremen by way of Rotterdam, was described today by her thirty-two officers and sailors, sent home by orders of the French government on the steamer Rochambeau, which docked today after spending the night at Quarantine.

"There isn't very much to tell," said one of the officers, "except that the Frenchman which seized us was the cruiser Europe, and that we had passed three warships without being molested before the Europe bore down on us. The first of the other ships was passed forty-eight hours before we were captured.

"It surprised us a little when we were stopped by the Europe. The cruiser hailed us at 8 o'clock on the night of Feb. 27, turned her searchlight on us and kept it there. Presently she sent aboard a prize crew, an officer and seven men. They treated the Dacia's officers and sailors courteously and took us into Brest which was about forty miles away."

Most of the party said they did not know why they were sent back, by whom or who paid their fares. They were under orders, they said, not to talk till after they had reported today to E. N. Breitung, who bought the Dacia, the German steamer, and changed her to American registry.

Want Investment Returned.

New York, March 16.—It was stated last night that the minority owners of the Dacia, E. Novello & Co., have brought suit in the supreme court against Edward N. Breitung, banker and mining man, who has a 60 per cent interest, for the return of their 40 per cent investment.

ITALY WILL SOON ANNOUNCE POLICY CONCERNING WAR

To Decide Whether It Will Adhere to Neutrality or Intervene.

No Further Results From Bombardment of the Dardanelles.

Dispatches from Italy make it appear that that nation is approaching a decision whether it shall adhere to its policy of armed neutrality or intervene in the war. Following the reports of partial suppression by Italy of the mails to Austria and the conference of Emperor Francis Joseph with his minister of war concerning the defense of the Italian frontier comes a dispatch from a Rome newspaper to the effect that the Italian fleet is being concentrated at Tarento. This is the point in Italy nearest the Dardanelles.

So far as has been reported officially the bombardment of the Dardanelles has produced no further important results. Unofficial reports from Athens say that on Sunday the attacking warships silenced several Turkish field batteries which had been posted above Kum Kale at the entrance to the Dardanelles.

ASSAULT ON OSSOWETZ.

A Russian official statement says the German assault on Ossowetz is producing only insignificant results. In their effort to capture this important fortress, where they have centered their attempt to break through the Russian fortified line in Northern Poland, the Germans have moved up their heavy artillery, but the Russian statement says the advantage thus far rests with the defenders. It is also said that the German advance toward Przasnysz

U. S. WILL DEMAND INDEMNITY FOR SHIP

Formal Representation to Soon Be Made to Germany in Frye Case.

Washington, March 16.—The United States will make its formal representations to Germany on the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye by the cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich as soon as certain necessary facts regarding the destination of the Frye's cargo of wheat are obtained.

President Wilson said today that the informal conference between state department officials and Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, had served to pave the way for formal representations, which will include a demand for indemnity, cargo and ship.

HAS BILL AFFECTING SUBURBAN RAILWAYS

SENATOR CHARLES N. ORR
Of St. Paul, Who Has Introduced Bill Allowing Suburban Railways to Use Urban Car Tracks.

SITUATION IS COMPLICATED

Vote in House Not Indication of Efficiency Bill's Strength.

Gordon Bills Now Have Right-of-Way for Consideration.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday's developments in "efficiency and economy" have created a pretty situation.

The failure of the friends of the bill to have the special order on the efficiency bill continued to Thursday, by a vote of 81 to 7, doesn't mean that the friends of the bill are in anything like that slender proportion in the house.

Neither does the victory of the enemies of the bill in putting the special order over to Monday by a vote of 81 to 7 mean that they are in anything like that proportion in the house.

Still, the postponement doesn't do the bill any good, even though many of those who voted with the prevailing side did so under a misapprehension.

The fact that it is reported on creditable authority that the advocates of the bill are inclined to consent to very radical amendments in order to disarm the opposition does not, of course, indicate a very great sense of security on their part. Yet these concessions are only reported, not authenticated; and it may not be so.

It is understood, however, that those who are opposing the bill have proposed certain amendments, most of which were touched upon in these reports yesterday, and that the friends of the bill are considering them seriously. They are as follows:

Amendments Proposed.

That the railroad and warehouse

EXPRESS COMPANIES PLEAD FOR A REHEARING ON RATES

Claim Deficit of $2,760,804 in Ten Months' Operation.

Offer an Examination of All Books for Verification.

Washington, March 16.—Representatives of the American, Adams, Southern and Wells-Fargo Express companies asked leave of the interstate commerce commission today to file a petition for rehearing of the express rate case. It declared that the low rates in force, prescribed by the commission, have been "disastrous."

Commissioner Clark announced that the petition would be received and that the commission would consider the application for rehearing.

The petition set forth that first ten months operation under the new rates had brought the four companies a deficit of $2,760,804. It offered opportunity for examination of books of the companies, "for the purpose of verifying the above figures and any other particulars as may have a bearing upon this application."

A specific request was made for a hearing and a modification of the commission's general order, "by increasing the terminal allowance from 20 to 25 cents per shipment and reducing the weight allowance from 25 to 20 cents per 100 pounds and for such other and further modifications of such order as may be deemed proper."

The companies estimate that the advance in the rate basis asked would increase their gross revenues approximately three and one-half per cent. It would not alter the fundamental rate plan, but would afford an increase in revenue.

JUDGE ORDERS HARRY THAW BACK TO ASYLUM; WRIT STAYS EXECUTION

Motion to Return Prisoner to New Hampshire Is Denied.

Writ of Habeas Corpus Is Served on Warden of Tombs.

Thaw Will Be Produced in Court Again on Friday.

New York, March 16.—Harry K. Thaw will not be sent back to New Hampshire by the state of New York as his counsel demanded but must be returned to Matteawan asylum "unless legal papers calling for his detention in New York county are served upon the warden of Tombs prison." Such was Supreme Court Justice Page's decision today in disposing of the formal motion to have Thaw returned to New England.

In the meantime counsel for Thaw, as if in anticipation of just such a decision had obtained from Supreme Court Justice Bijur a writ of habeas corpus which will keep Thaw in Tombs prison till next Friday, when he must be produced in court.

Attendants Balked.

It was a close call for Thaw as plans had been considered by the state for returning him at once to his long-time residence in the hospital for the criminal insane. Asylum attendants were in the court-room ready to rush him there by automobile the moment the motion for a return to New Hampshire was denied. But the writ of habeas corpus which had been served half an hour before on Warden Hanley of Tombs, prevented this.

Sheriff Griffenhagen, of New York county had heard whisperings of a plot to abduct Thaw during the brief interval when he should be out of Warden Hanley's custody in going to and from the prison to the court room across the Bridge of Sighs. Accordingly the sheriff armed twenty deputies with revolvers and scattered

SEEK STATEMENT FROM SURVIVORS

Police Looking for Clew to Murderers of Balding Family.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 16.—Efforts to get a statement from one of the survivors of the family of William C. Balding, three of whom, including Mrs. Balding, who died last night, were murdered in their beds and three others beaten into insensibility on Sunday night, will be made by the police and prosecuting attorney today. At the hospital Clifford Balding, 12; Irene Balding, 3, and Walter, 1 year old, were still unconscious this morning.

The attempt was made last night to get a statement from Clifford when he showed signs of returning consciousness, but it proved unsuccessful.

The police had one man today whom they suspected might know something about the tragedy, but they were not confident of an immediate solution of the mystery.

MIGHTIEST FIGHTING MACHINE IN WORLD, SUPERDREADNAUGHT PENNSYLVANIA, IS LAUNCHED

NEW DREADNAUGHT PENNSYLVANIA

WORLD'S GREATEST BATTLESHIP AS SHE APPEARED JUST BEFORE LEAVING THE WAYS.

PENNSYLVANIA GIRL CHRISTENED WARSHIP

ELIZABETH LUDOFF KOLB.

IN CHARGE OF LAUNCHING OF SUPERDREADNAUGHT

REAR-ADMIRAL BEATTY.

OVER 10,000 WITNESS THE GREAT EVENT

Prayer That She Might Be Messenger of Peace, Not of War.

Commander of German Cruiser Interested Spectator at the Affair.

Quizzed By Guest, Doughty Captain Says Preser War Had to Be.

Newport News, Va., March 16.—The new dreadnaught Pennsylvania was successfully launched here this morning shortly after 10 o'clock.

The largest engine of naval warfare in the world slid down the ways while a prayer was uttered that she might be a messenger of peace rather than a weapon of destruction.

Christened by Miss Elizabeth Kolb of Germantown, Pa., as Secretary Daniels gave the signal, the monster hull slid into the James river and the swell tossed the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich less than a hundred yards away.

Commander Thierichens, commander of the sea raider, sat in full uniform with the official party on the platform and mingled with American naval officers throughout the ceremony.

Quaker Talks to Captain.

A gray haired woman approached the German commander as he stood under the towering bow of the Pennsylvania and grasped his hand. She was Mrs. M. P. Thomas of Beacon, N. Y., a member of the Society of Friends.

"Commander," she said, "I belong to a society which believes that all persons should love others as much as themselves. Do you in Germany love us as much as you love yourselves?"

The captain smiled but did not answer, as Mrs. Thomas continued: "Don't you believe that we will soon have peace? Isn't it time you men stopped killing each other?"

War Had to Be.

"Madam," replied the German commander, "we all believe in peace, but this war had to be. It was a necessary war for the peace of the world. After this war there will be a long peace. But at the end of the long peace there will come another war."

At that juncture Rear Admiral Beatty, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, beckoned to the German commander and closed the interview.

At exactly 10:11 o'clock the German naval officer joined 10,000 Americans cheering the new American dreadnaught on her slide into the water, after Episcopal Bishop Berry of Pennsylvania had read a prayer for the welfare of the president and people of the United States, the army and navy and the peace of the world. In the launching stand beside the sponsor who successfully broke a bottle of wine against the Pennsylvania's bow, were Governor Brumbaugh and staff.

PEACE HATH ITS HORRORS NO LESS THAN WAR.

BRITISH WARSHIPS SILENCE FIELD GUNS.

Paris, March 16.—Several batteries of Turkish field artillery posted above Kumkale at the entrance to the Dardanelles were discovered and silenced by British warships after a bombardment Sunday, says a special dispatch from Athens.

FATHERS OF SIX ARE RELIEVED OF SERVICE.

New York, March 16.—Six French soldiers who enlisted with the Canadian contingent and went to Europe last fall returned home on the steamship Rochambeau today. All were discharged from further service because each is the father of six children. This exempts them from further service after they have served for seven months.

SHABBILY CLAD PRIEST HAS KING'S RANSOM IN JEWELS

Gems of Great Value Brought From Mexico By Fugitive.

Now Under Guard at the Custom House in New York.

New York, March 16.—A King's ransom in jewels, blazoned in the royal eagles of Spain at the time of Charles V., the most powerful monarch of the sixteenth century, lies under guard at the customs house here awaiting appraisal.

The gems, set in gold on white and purple robes and mounted on two golden crowns, were brought into New York by a Catholic priest, clad in shabby clothes, who fled from Mexico City a month ago, made his way to Vera Cruz and sailed aboard the steamer Montevideo. The Montevideo reached New York March 6 with this priest and six other fugitive priests who had been banished from Mexico by Gen. Obregon, Carranza's lieutenant at Mexico City.

From the depths of a battered suitcase, the gems and robes were tumbled out upon the dock for inspection by the customs authorities. They so dazzled the inspectors, that they were hastily put back into the suitcase. Under guard, they were taken to a safe deposit vault, where they were locked up and special watchman detailed to guard them. Rough estimates placed their value at from $300,000 to $500,000.

In Cathedral for Centuries.

This rich prize, it is said, lay in the cathedral of Mexico City—presumably

BRITISH ORDER IS DISPLEASING

President Declines to Say More on Action of Great Britain.

United States Not Yet Officially Advised of Its Terms.

Washington, March 16.—President Wilson declined to discuss the British order in council, shutting off trading with Germany, with callers today because he had not had opportunity to go over the official text. The United States has as yet been only informally advised of its terms, but he indicated broadly that the unofficial outline of its contents was very displeasing to the United States government.

Callers asked the president if there was precedent in law or history for Great Britain's action. The president began to reply and then, evidently reconsidering, said he would defer any expression until officially advised of the order and until after conference with state department officials.

Discussion among other officials,

RAILROADS SAY PENDING LAWS WILL COST THEM $25,710,000 IN FIRST YEAR

Call Attention to Fifteen Bills Aimed at Their Treasuries.

Only One to Which They Do Not Offer Objections.

Heavy Annual Maintenance Charges Would Also Be Required.

Legislation now pending at St. Paul will cost the railroads of the state $25,710,000 during the next year if it all becomes law, according to figures prepared by the officers of one of the roads running into Duluth.

Fourteen bills aimed at the treasuries of the railroads are pending, and one has already been passed. Railroad officers have secured copies of all these bills, which are listed in the accompanying table, and have estimated what it would cost the railroads of the state to comply with their provisions during the first year they are in effect. In most instances the expenditures would be annual ones.

Briefly the attitude of the railroads on the fifteen bills follows:

One—Requiring all repair tracks to be housed. Repair tracks are used for minor repairs only, and are constantly being changed. There are permanent shops for any important repairs, and the money spent for covering repair tracks would be simply thrown away. In Duluth alone about 74,000 square feet of space would have to be covered. When it is too stormy for the men to work outside they are not laid off, but employed at other work.

Two—Requiring wages to be paid semi-monthly. This bill has already been passed.

Three—Requiring all stock cars to be disinfected. The railroads have no very serious objections to this bill, or would not object if the danger of foot and mouth disease continues.

Coopering Cars.

Four—Requiring grain cars to be coopered. The interstate commerce commission has disapproved this bill, or a similar one, as it was pointed out that it left a big loophole for rebating and favoritism. A favored customer could be allowed a big sum for coopering cars whether the work was done or not.

Five—Requiring day of rest for all employes. This would necessitate the closing of all stations for one day a week. The state railroad commission would not permit this, and the result would be that the railroads would be compelled to employ men to relieve every station agent and operator. The duties of the station agents and operators in the smaller towns are not strenuous, it is claimed, and the bill is held up as an example of an attempt to merely compel the roads to employ more labor.

Six—Requiring payment of wages within twenty-four hours after discharge or resignation of employe. This bill, it is claimed, would work a useless hardship. Frequently the pay checks have to be forwarded from a point 100 or 200 miles away. It requires at least forty-eight hours for the pay checks to go through the usual routine, for a railroad is not like any other business establishment where the employe can be told to go to the office and get his money.

Half-Mile Trains.

Seven—Half-mile train limit. The half-mile train limit bill is in lieu of the full crew bill which has been turned down in many states. It would render useless, it is claimed, the millions spent by the railroads in reducing grades and increasing the power of their engines in order to cheapen transportation costs.

Eight—Requiring grain to be weighed on railroad track scales. This is looked on as useless and simply a movement to add to the expenditures of the roads. Grain is now weighed under the supervision of the state weighmaster, and the freight charges and returns to farmers are based on these reports. The railroads claim if any fault is to be found with the weights, it is up to the state itself to correct it.

Nine—Requiring license fees of railroads. The local officials know little about this bill.

Ten—Requiring eight-hour day for all employes. This bill calls for ten hours' pay for an eight-hour day, the railroad men claim.

Eleven—Prohibiting loose leaf account books. The railroad officers don't know the reason for this bill, but say there is no question as to the annoyance and expense it will cause.

Twelve—Reduction in minimum passenger fares. This, the railroad officials say, is another attempt to cut revenues while increasing expenses.

Thirteen—Requiring special signs at public crossings. It is pointed out that it is to the railroads' own interests to make crossings as safe as possible, in order to avoid personal injury suits, and it is claimed that the present signs are adequate.

Fourteen—Requiring surgical outfits in each end of every passenger coach. Every train is now equipped with these emergency outfits, and it is claimed that this is ample.

Fifteen—Establishing Minneapolis municipal depot. Minneapolis has recently been provided with a new union station and it is claimed that this bill is entirely uncalled for.

FIRST SPRING POET GETS IN HIS WORK

Gives the Editor His Verses and Neatly Dodges Mucilage Bottle—But Official Spring Nearly Here.

Oh, I love the glorious springtime,
When the snow is falling fast,
When the sun is fairly roasting,
And bitter blows the blast.
It's nice then in the evenings
Through the sagebrush sweet to rove,
With your best girl listening eager
To your tales of ardent love.

There is no longer any doubt that spring is here, for the first spring poet has arrived. The net result of his visit is the printing of the first verse of his effusion—or, perhaps, "eruption" would be better—and the slowly diminishing rage of the "miscellaneous" editor.

The poet didn't look the part, for his hair was short and getting thin on top, and he wore a malicious expression. He tossed the manuscript blithely at the "misc." editor and mumbled something about "sentiment appropriate to the season. The "misc." editor glanced at the first verse and, with a remark about "the punishment fit the crime," reached for the nearest missile, which was his mucilage bottle, and hurled it. But the poet was already on his way and the "misc." "misced" his mark. The poet, however, developed sprinting qualities which were admired by those he passed.

The mucilage bottle smashed to atoms and the contents scattered surprisingly. The bottle was the editor's pride and its destruction only increased his wrath. Since the incident happened the rest of the staff have found it wise to studiously avoid him.

Not only was the poet's muse a trifle too frivolous, but got on the job too soon, for the first official day of spring does not come until next Sunday. With the current brand of weather it is felt that there is no sense in pushing the issue.

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the vernal equinox will be here and what may happen in the way of weather is problematical. The equinoxial period is always regarded with apprehension by the laity but the weather sharps claim that there is nothing to this talk about storms being caused by it. Still they arrive with great regularity at that time—both spring and fall.

CLOQUET DISCUSSING POTATO WAREHOUSE.

Cloquet, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club held its monthly business meeting last evening at the city hall. There being no regular program of business, the members talked of several matters relative to the city's welfare, the most important being a city potato warehouse. The secretary was instructed to communicate with a Minneapolis firm, pursuant to establishing a joint warehouse here.

WILL EMPTY ELEVATORS

Shippers Now Look for Early Rush of Grain Shipping.

Slack Times May Follow, But Many Charters Are Being Made.

"By June 1, there will not be enough wheat left at the Head of the Lakes elevators to fill one of them," said a shipper this morning. "That also will be largely true of other grains."

"Why? Look at the market—and then ask why!"

The remark of the shipper quoted voices the opinion of practically every person connected with the grain trade in Duluth. That the opening of navigation will see an exodus of grain-laden vessels from this point and others rushing up here to take on loads, there is no longer a doubt. Charters for a large amount of grain have been made—just how much is not given out at present, but it is claimed to be certain that the agregate amount is well up in the millions of bushels.

The Union Towing company is fitting out its tugs at present and hopes that by next week these lively little craft will be engaged in breaking up ice in the harbor. Just as soon as tugs can be used to move the vessels in the harbor, grain loading will begin. A number of the vessels in the Duluth harbor have been chartered to take grain down the lakes as soon as navigation opens, and as soon as they can be moved under the spouts of the elevators they will take on their cargoes in preparation for the earliest possible start.

Grain Rush Early.

Boats are being chartered at 1¼c to 1½c, and there are plenty of offerings of cargoes. Most shippers are anxious to get their grain east as soon after May 1 as possible, and a rush is threatened. There does not seem to be much demand for vessels for anything else, and it is feared that with the grain rush over, there will be slack times among vessel men unless ore demand picks up.

An early opening of navigation is now looked for. Generally the vessel men expect to be able to start by April 15, while the more optimistic say that the opening will be before that. But the ice at the Sault is pretty solid yet.

What seems to be an acceptable arrangement to protect the ships of the Great Lakes carrying grain to Buffalo was perfected at a meeting of representatives of the warehouses, Lake Carriers' association, Lake Lines association and the Dominion Marine association at Buffalo, N. Y., a few days ago.

Grain shippers did not attend the meeting, but the prospects are they will agree to the arrangements as the bill of lading under which grain was shipped last year will not be disturbed or altered.

Form Clearing Association.

The Buffalo warehouses offered to incorporate the Grain Shippers' Clearance association, to consist of vessel men, shippers and warehouse men, which for a tare of one-quarter of a bushel to each thousand of cargo agrees to be responsible for all shortages and to take all overages. The vessels also will be required to pay 24 cents a thousand bushels for tallying.

The average of shortage at Buffalo over a period of years has been a quarter of a bushel to the thousand bushels of cargo. It is on this basis that the warehouse men are willing to assume the risk. How the settlement will be made where ships unload at several houses will be handled through the association and will not concern the ships.

The offer of the warehouse men of Buffalo will be submitted to vessel owners and grain shippers for approval in the near future and if ratified will become operative at once.

The plan to care for overages and shortages through an association of elevators is similar to that employed on the ocean. At one of the hearings held between grain shippers and boat owners the ocean plan was outlined. The shippers, however, make up the association that operates on the seas. It was remarked at the time that the ocean association had been known to declare a dividend, but seldom to call for an assessment.

FIRST TO FILE EXPENSE LIST

W. H. Smallwood Only Candidate to Comply With Law as Yet.

Capt. W. H. Smallwood, candidate for municipal judge, is the only candidate in the present campaign who has filed with the city clerk his expenses up to last Saturday, as is required by the state election laws.

According to the statutes, each candidate for office must file on the second Saturday after the first disbursement was made, either by himself or his campaign committee, a complete list of the expenses, together with the donations to his campaign fund, the contributors and pledges made in his behalf.

Capt. Smallwood filed his statement this morning with City Clerk Palmer, who, fearing that the other candidates had forgotten about this formality, immediately sent letters out to all others, informing them of the election laws in this respect. It is expected that all the candidates will file their statements this coming Saturday and that their last statements will be filed on April 3, the Saturday preceding the election.

The statement filed this morning by Capt. Smallwood shows that his expenses from Feb. 26 to March 13 were $43.15, of which amount he spent $8 for postage, $5 for filing fees, $24.40 for printing, advertising and the manufacture of plates. Other incidentals bring the total to $43.15.

According to the state laws, the statement filed by each candidate must show the exact expenses incurred, all moneys received and pledged and by whom, and in addition a summary of previous statements with each succeeding report. The state also decides what disbursements are legal and permissible, including rent for headquarters and halls, stationery and postage, newspaper advertising, wages for clerical help and speakers, traveling expenses and the preparation of poll lists.

HIGH-POWER BOAT FOR COAST GUARD

Big Launch Will Arrive in Duluth By April 15.

F. B. Spelman, chairman of the harbor and river committee of the Duluth Commercial club, has received a letter from Congressman Miller to the effect that the high-power launch promised by the life-saving department to the coast guard at Duluth will reach here not later than April 15. Capt. M. A. McLennan of the coast guard has also been notified.

The launch, which was demanded because of the increasing necessity of a craft that will stand heavy seas better than either of the two launches now at the station, and at the same time make speed, was built by the department this winter. It will be 35 feet long, 6 feet beam and have an engine of 45-horse power. The speed of the launch will be eighteen miles an hour.

The coast guard here now has two smaller launches for harbor work.

EASTERN STAR SCHOOL.

Cloquet Will Entertain Members of Order March 26 and 27.

Cloquet, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local chapter of Eastern Star is preparing for the school of instruction to be held here March 26 and 27. Mrs. H. M. Dixon, the local worthy matron, has all the committees appointed to carry on the work of the school, and expects a large delegation. Delegates will arrive from Duluth, Two Harbors, Virginia and other range towns, and will be entertained at the homes of the local lodge members. WIRE CUTTER IS A NUISANCE

Telephone and Light Wires Cut By Malicious Unknown.

The wholesale cutting of telephone and electric wires of business houses in West Duluth is causing worry to the business men and home owners, and the police are making a close investigation. Last night the telephone wires of the Northern Hardware company, Spencer pharmacy and John A. Forsman were cut, in each case the cutting being done just outside of the building.

During the last week the telephone wires of Wieland & Wade's hardware store, W. H. Richter's undertaking establishment, the Duluth hospital, Headquarters grocery, Reliance pharmacy and other places are reported to have been cut. The telephones of the Zenith Telephone company are said to have suffered the most, although two or three belonging to the Duluth Telephone company have also been cut.

Some of the electric wires have also been snipped. In a flat building at 5509 Grand avenue the wires were cut in four places. The cutting of these wires, say the police, indicates that some one familiar with the places has done the work. They say they are at a loss to understand why the cutting is being done unless it is the work of some one who has a grudge against the companies.

ARRESTED FOR STEALING FROM RAILROAD CARS.

Henry Hildebrand, 20, was arrested last night by Special Officer Hendrum of the Northern Pacific while throwing merchandise from box cars of a freight train that was pulling out of the city. Two companions who were with Hildebrand got away from the officer.

Two boxes of canned goods were thrown off by the youth while the train was in motion between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth avenue west, it is alleged. These boxes of goods are being held at the West Duluth police station as evidence against Hildebrand.

Special officers of the railroad say that petty thieves have been annoying the company all winter. Several box cars have been entered, the seals broken and merchandise taken from them.

Hildebrand will be arraigned in police court this afternoon.

FAILS TO PAY HIS WIFE'S ALIMONY

West Duluthian Cited to Answer Charge of Contempt of Court.

Clifford J. Treado of West Duluth, who was divorced by his wife, Pauline Treado, a few days ago, was yesterday cited by Judge Fesler to appear in district court Saturday and show cause why he should not be punished for failing to respect an order of the court directing him to pay his wife alimony.

According to an affidavit filed yesterday afternoon by R. M. Funck, Mrs. Treado's attorney, the husband notified him by telephone that he would rather go to jail than pay the alimony and that he was not afraid of any court in the county.

Treado was ordered by the court to pay his wife $5 a week alimony and $35 attorneys' fees. It is now claimed that he is $50 in arrears.

THEATER ORDERED CLOSED BY POLICE

"Grand Opening" Interrupted Because Proprietor Had No License.

Attracted by posters which promised that "One dollar bills" would be distributed to "lucky winners" of admission tickets, hundreds of men, women and children last night crowded for admission at the "grand opening" of the Colonial theater, 230 North Central avenue. The "grand opening" lasted only long enough to allow one performance to be given.

Police interference in the shape of orders from Lieut. Charles E. Wilcox took place just then. The lieutenant was informed that the theater had no license, and ordered Sergeant W. H. Andree to investigate, and he found such to be the case. He immediately ordered the place closed.

The theater was packed to the doors and another large crowd was waiting on the outside to be allowed a chance at the "easy money" when the closing order came. Manager Guy R. Hallock, it was found, had failed to pay the required license fee to operate the place.

Would-be-patrons lingered in the vicinity for some time after the closing order, believing that probably a mistake had taken place, and Manager Hallock observed in helplessness and dismay the departure of the crowd.

SCHEDULE MORNING GAME.

Curlers Weary of Waiting for Ice in the Evening.

The action of the weather has been a little disappointing to members of the Western Curling club. While there has been a slight frost at night and members have been waiting around the club rooms until late in the evening in the hope of holding some of the games, none has been played for nearly a week.

Frank H. Wade, president of the club, announced this morning that they will no longer wait around the club rooms in the evening. Instead the games will be played during the morning hours if the players will turn out. For tomorrow morning a game has been scheduled between the F. H. Wade rink and the E. J. Zauft rink. The game will be in the semi-finals of the Bagley event.

The success of bringing out the curlers to this game will depend on future morning games at the rink. The game is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

WILL GIVE BONDS FOR FED TEAM

Kansas City Officials Will Guarantee Meeting of Contract Requirements.

Chicago, March 16.—Kansas City Federal league club officials are ready to post bonds to insure fulfilling their part of the franchise contract with the Federal league if Judge Baldwin requires that assurance, said Clarence Eldridge, associate counsel for the Kansas City club, today. A decision is expected tomorrow from Judge Baldwin in the injunction suit brought by the Kansas City club to prevent the transfer of its franchise to Newark, N. J.

Attorney Eldridge declared today that if the court wished to have this assurance before the issuance of a formal injunction, his employers would be ready to post any bond required by the court.

The reference to the posting of bonds was taken by many to indicate that court intervention keeping the club in Kansas City hinges on the financial ability of the backers of the Kansas City club to meet the contract requirements.

"There will be no appeal if Kansas City wins," said James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league.

Mr. Gilmore declined to discuss what would become of the Newark franchise in the event of a decision in favor of Kansas City.

Counsel for the Federal league and the Kansas City club were directed to present the court today with copies of the various contracts involved and with other documents relative to the case.

Valparaiso, Chile, March 16.—Nineteen members of the crew of the German cruiser Dresden, sunk off Juan Fernandez island on Sunday by British warships, are missing. NEW LODGE WILL UNITE ALL SCANDINAVIAN RACES

Swedish, Danish and Norwegian residents of Duluth formed a local branch lodge of the Scandinavian Brotherhood of America at a meeting held in Axa hall last night. The meeting was well attended and those present well represented the Scandinavians of the city. Officers were elected as follows:

N. P. Turnbladh, president; C. R. Magney, vice president; Helmer Johnson, recording secretary; G. L. Wedan, financial secretary; H. H. Borgen, treasurer; W. R. Scheldrup, chaplain; J. W. Carlson, inner guard; H. F. Apland, outer guard; Seth Edman, conductor; P. O. Munkebly, acting past president; Dr. K. E. Bergquist, E. A. Dahl and H. Wannebo, trustees.

N. C. Wagner, organizer for the brotherhood, presided. In a short address he stated that there were two branches of the brotherhood, one on the Atlantic coast and the other on the Pacific coast and that an effort was now being made to unite the two and to organize lodges throughout the Middle West.

Clarence R. Magner spoke of the great possibilities for mutual assistance and benefit in an association organized for such lofty purposes as the Scandinavian brotherhood.

N. P. Turnbladh remarked that he believed in the universal brotherhood of man, but, while admitting, this theory of the idealist to be somewhat of a dream, he thought it perfectly proper to begin at home by obliterating the country lines which rulers and politicians have caused to divide the Scandinavian people.

N. P. TURNBLADH.

The purpose of the association will be educational, benevolent and social

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

YOUTH AND OLD AGE.

Boy of 18 and Man of 86 Sleep Together on Cement Floor.

CURLED up close together to keep warm, a boy of 18, and a world-worn old man of 86, slept in each others' arms on the cement basement floor at police headquarters last night.

They had been strangers until a few minutes before they went to sleep, but the old man, when he saw the boy, tried to make the "bed" an easy one for him.

It was one of the busiest nights of the year in the lodgers' room, there being 134 men who applied for a free "shake down" of newspapers on the stone floor. Sunday night there were 136 men, the most reported on one night since the winter of 1914.

Despite reports of improvement in general business conditions, the list of men out of work has increased daily for nearly a week, mounting from thirty-five or forty early in February to the present figure. Most of these are men from outside attracted here by reports of Duluth's charity to the "down and outer," according to police.

BOY HUSBAND ARRESTED

"Haven't Been Able to Make Go of It," He Says.

After a married life of less than a year and a half, marked by two or three weeks of happiness and countless ones of unhappiness, Frank P. Moylan, age 20, was brought into municipal court this morning, charged with non-support.

"We just haven't been able to make a go of it, I guess," declared Moylan, according to the police. His wife, who is even younger than her boy husband is, has not lived with him for some time, he said.

The case will be heard March 17.

HAD TOO MUCH MONEY.

Prisoner Suspected of Drugging and Robbing His Benefactor.

"Didn't know that there was that much money in the world," said Eugene C. Ferguson, age 37, when the police asked him to explain how he happened to have $63.40 in his possession. He was arrested for drunkenness, and the charge was changed to grand larceny.

Soon after Ferguson had been placed in the tolls by Patrolman Grinager, A. A. Palmer, an old man with whom Ferguson had been seen, came to headquarters with a story of being drugged and robbed of $80, all he had in the world.

He said Ferguson had been broke, and that he (Palmer) had offered to "buy" as he felt sorry for his erstwhile friend. After the drink Palmer dozed off to sleep, he said, and when he woke up some time later the money and the friend were gone.

Ferguson waived examination before Judge F. H. Cutting in the municipal court and was bound over to the grand jury.

AXEL WAS "SPLORING."

Boy, Age 3, Blocks Wheels of Justice Half an Hour.

With Police Sergeant Albert Weber's pet chair for a rocking horse, Capt. A. G. Fiskett's desk for a table, and Lieut. N. U. G. Terry for a playmate, Axel Hextrom, jr., age 3, disrupted the course of justice for a time this morning.

Axel went "sploring" just as soon as his mother had washed his face and put on his jacket and overshoes, about 7 o'clock. He wanted to find another little boy or girl, to "pay wiv," and he wandered down the hill from his home at 811 Lake avenue north, until he reached Superior street.

Here a burly officer found him, wandering along and pecking into the store windows. Axel didn't know which way to go to get back to his "mamma," and so the officer took him to headquarters.

Lieut. Terry fenced off a portion of the room, made a temporary nursery of it, and Axel, Jr., soon was hard at play. His mother telephoned frantically an hour or so later, and the tot, still smiling, was given a ride home.

HAS HUSBAND ARRESTED

Wife Says She Has Born His Cruelty Long Enough.

Fifteen years of married life, during which she says her husband never provided for her or her nine children properly, and often beat her, have been enough for Esther Lund, complainant in a case charging Hans Lund, age 40, with assault.

"Ever since we've been married he has been a worthless husband," she said. "He drank whenever he could get something to drink, left home whenever there wasn't enough to eat, and beat me whenever he felt like it. I have been living on food given us by the county or by friends, for some time," she said.

Lund was sentenced to 30 days at the workfarm.

SOLD GROCERIES ON GO-TO-CHURCH SUNDAY

It is bad enough to violate the Sabbath, according to Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting, but when a man violates Go-To-Church Sunday by staying home and selling groceries, he is going too far. Ray Clifford, 232 West Second street, paid a fine in the city court yesterday afternoon for selling edibles on Go-To-Church Sunday. He was arrested by Court Officer Youngberg.

Two Fined; One Released.

When Grace Vance, age 24, colored domestic, arrested in a disorderly rooming house raid at 216 South First avenue east, Friday night, was arraigned in municipal court yesterday afternoon the case was dismissed for lack of evidence. Two other women, arrested with her, have paid heavy fines.

Broke Game Laws.

Ed Nordin, his brother, Oscar, and Herman Olson, farmers living near Virginia, were arraigned in municipal court this morning, charged with violation of the game laws. They were arrested Friday and brought to Duluth by Deputy Game Wardens Archie Boyd and Tabor of Virginia.

Oscar Nordin finally admitted shipping a set of moose horns to his former home in Iowa, and paid a $50 fine, while the cases against the other two were dismissed.

VERDICT IS SET ASIDE

No Dense Darkness in Duluth at 6:30 p. m. on March 9.

Court Takes Judicial Notice of Fact and Reprimands Witness.

Although Tony Klaryk, cripple, hoodwinked a jury into believing that dense darkness prevented him from seeing an engine which overtook him about 6:30 o'clock on the evening of March 9, 1914, his testimony did not fool the court. Klaryk only convinced the court that he was trying to deceive the jury. The jury gave him $1,800 against the Northern Pacific Railway company on Dec. 17, last, but Judge Cant, before whom the case was tried, today set aside the verdict and ordered judgment in favor of the railway company.

In the opinion of the court, as expressed in its memorandum, the case was clearly without merit and rested solely upon testimony which was palpably false. Judge Cant took judicial knowledge of the matter of light and darkness on March evenings, and held that Klaryk, the plaintiff, deliberately tried to deceive the court and jury into believing something which was not true.

Klaryk sued the railway company for $15,325. On March 9, he was walking along a pathway which extends from the east side of the Garfield avenue viaduct when he was run down by a locomotive. He lost his right leg in the accident. The jury, after hearing the evidence, found in his favor and assessed damages against the railroad company.

Calls Plaintiff to Task.

The court calls the plaintiff to task for attempting to deceive with his testimony in the following language, which is a part of the memorandum which is attached to the order setting aside the verdict:

"The very important point in this case was the degree of light or darkness at the time the injuries were sustained. The time was probably not later than 6:20 p. m. on March 9, on a clear day and evening. It was certainly not later than 6:30 p. m. of that day.

"Knowing the importance of such evidence, and with an offensive disregard for the truth, the plaintiff sought to have the court and jury believe that there was dense darkness at that time. Given a clear bright day, and the particular time in the evening thereof, the degree of light or darkness is a matter of common knowledge and the court may take judicial knowledge thereof and may resort to means to make that knowledge accurate.

"Accordingly on 6:20 o'clock on the evening of March 8, 1915, which was a day and evening in every way corresponding to the day and evening on which the injuries in question were sustained, the court, accompanied by counsel for the plaintiff and counsel for the defendant, both consenting thereto, visited the locus in quo, and for about twenty-five minutes thereafter observed conditions thereabout.

"The conclusion is irresistible that the plaintiff in giving his evidence must have wilfully intended to deceive. Taking his own statement as to the time—and his general untrustworthiness makes it quite certain that he states the time to have been ten minutes later than it really was—he had no possible excuse for not seeing an approaching engine at a distance of many hundred feet, if he had looked. Some things are certainties, and this is one of them. The trouble, and the only trouble, was that he did not look.

"The case, as it seems on a careful review, is clearly without merit. Its only hope rested upon testimony which was palpably false. There is no doubt as to the duty of the court in any such case. The matter should be closed and judgment ordered for the defendant."

Andrew Nelson appeared in the case as Klaryk's attorney and the railway company was represented by Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell. It is not known whether the case will be appealed or not.

The New Home Treatment For Ugly, Hairy Growths

(Boudoir Secrets)

Here is a simple, yet very effective method for removing hair and fuzz from the face, neck and arms: Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. Leave this on for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attends this treatment, but results will be certain if you are sure to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

ELEVEN-MAN JURY DECIDES ACTION

Mrs. Jessie Anderson Will Get $1,022 From the Royal League.

Mrs. Jessie Isadora Anderson, in district court yesterday afternoon, was awarded a verdict for $1,022.50 from the Royal League, a fraternal and insurance order. Mrs. Anderson sued to recover on a $1,000 insurance policy held by her step-father, Robert Whidden, at the time of his death on Oct. 16, 1914. Mrs. Anderson was named as beneficiary in the policy, but the company refused payment on the ground that she had not complied with the terms of the policy, which provided that the beneficiary must be a dependent. Mrs. Anderson introduced evidence to show that her father had partly contributed to her support. The verdict included the face value of the policy and interest. The award was made by a jury of eleven men, W. E. Remington, one of the jurors on the panel, being excused yesterday before the case went to the jury. Attorneys stipulated that the case might proceed with eleven men.

THE BEST KIDNEY REMEDY

I always carry a large stock of Swamp-Root and it has a steady demand for kidney, liver and bladder troubles. Very frequently my customers give personal testimony as to the medicinal value of Swamp-Root, and it is a common occurrence for me to sell to people who buy the remedy on the recommendation of others who have used it. Have sold Swamp-Root since it was first put on the market, and will continue to sell it until a better kidney, liver and bladder remedy is found.

MINNESOTA LED IN IMMIGRATION

During February Secured Most Carloads of Immigrants' Goods.

St. Paul, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Figures furnished by the Minnesota Transfer company show that Minnesota led all other Northwestern states in the number of carloads of immigrants' goods coming into this section in February. During that month 594 cars of immigrant movables were handled by that company, of which 387 cars were left in Minnesota. North Dakota came next with 81, and Wisconsin 51. Montana received 33, and the balance were distributed among Western states. Canada received only six cars.

During February, 1914, Minnesota received only 94 cars, so that the February gain for 1915 is 293 cars, or four times as many cars for February, 1915, as the corresponding month in 1914.

U. S. PIPE COMPANY WILL GET CONTRACT

Council Will Turn Down Bid of Hammond-Byrd Corporation.

At the regular meeting of the commission next Monday the United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry company will be awarded the contract for furnishing the city with cast iron pipe on its estimate of $28,377.50, although the Hammond-Byrd Iron company of Alabama made the lowest bid of $23,073.50.

In a communication to the council, Manager D. A. Reed of the water and light department explained that the Hammond-Byrd company ships its material from Birmingham, Ala., and there has been much delay in the past and that a large quantity of pipe has been condemned with each shipment. He recommends that the contract be given the United States company on its next lowest bid.

The United States company, Mr. Reed stated in his communication, makes prompt deliveries and loads the pipe on wagons, saving the department 66 cents a ton, thus offsetting the lower bid of the Hammond-Byrd company

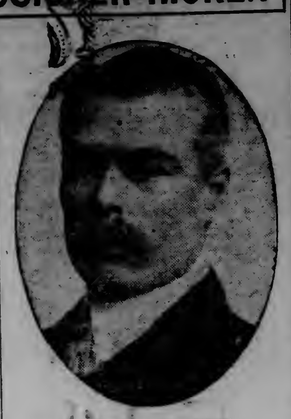
JOHN H. NORTON OPENS FIRE ON COMMISSIONER HICKEN



JOHN H. NORTON.

Calling Commissioner Hicken a "czar," John H. Norton, candidate for municipal judge, opened fire on the head of the public safety division in an address before a large audience of laboring men in a hall at 934 Garfield avenue last evening. Short talks were also made at the meeting by Bernard Silberstein and J. A. Farrell, candidates for commissioner.

"I have practiced in many courts, but my dealings with Commissioner Hicken brought me for the first time in contact with a court in which accused persons are denied a hearing," declared Mr. Norton.

"When I had a client who was accused of improper conduct of a saloon, I tried to see the commissioner. I could not get him on the telephone, so I went to his residence in Lakeside. What satisfaction did I get? My client had not been in court. He had not been convicted of anything. 'Your client has no chance,' I was told.

"E. L. Weitzel was accused of conducting the Metropole hotel improperly. What was done? Before he had any hearing or a chance to answer the affidavit of a self-confessed demimonde, his place was closed. Just as well ask any judge to impose sentence in any court because the state has evidence of guilt.

"A woman wished to open the Brunswick hotel. There is a saloon below the place. Fred Hartlage had been conducting it strictly in accordance with law and had his all invested there. It did not suit Mr. Hicken to see the place open. The woman bought 'too much furniture.' So Mr. Hartlage, a law-abiding man, was threatened. Hicken said he would move Hartlage out if the woman was allowed to establish herself in the hotel. And this in an American community, living under the Declaration of Independence and a Constitution supposed to guarantee life, liberty and pursuit of happiness."

Mr. Farrell and Mr. Silberstein spoke briefly, saying that if elected they would try to run the city's affairs on business principles and give everyone a square deal in law enforcement.

NO ORDINANCE INTRODUCED

Steady Stream of New Acts Has First Let-Up for Year.

Western Suburbs to Get No More Saloons; Protest on Dance Hall.

For the first time within a year and the third time since the present commission took office two years ago, no new ordinances were introduced at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon. Several resolutions were passed granting contracts and licenses and also putting a ban on additional saloons at New Duluth and Gary during 1915.

It is customary for City Clerk Palmer to have at least three or four ordinances up for reading, while the commissioners usually introduce from three to six at every regular meeting. However, when the city clerk had finished reading the communications and Mayor Prince asked for ordinances, the former replied that there was not one on file.

"Strange," said Mayor Prince.

"First time in a year," added City Clerk Palmer.

Further investigation on the part of city hall officials showed that this is the third time since the commissioners took office two years ago when no ordinances were on file.

No New Suburb Saloons.

The commission passed the resolution introduced by Commissioner Hicken putting a ban on additional saloons for New Duluth and Gary during 1915. About a year ago a similar resolution was passed, and the head of the public safety division is eager to continue with the same program this year. There are now three saloons in the two suburbs.

The contract for constructing water and gas mains in Dodge street, from Forty-seventh to Forty-ninth avenues west, was awarded to Norquist & Berg on their lowest bid of $1,482.80. The Kettle River company of Minneapolis was awarded the contract for furnishing the city with 400 square yards of sandstone blocks on its bid of $1.65 a yard f. o. b. Duluth.

Duluth electrical workers appeared before the commissioners and asked for the adoption of an electrical code to regulate inside wiring. John Day, Axel Lindgren and C. V. Burgess spoke in behalf of the proposed ordinance and they agreed to take the matter up with City Attorney Clapp who will prepare the measure.

The Duluth-Edison company was ordered to discontinue the five incandescent lights at the skating rink at Duluth Heights and to install lights at Sixty-fourth avenue west and Lexington street and at Gwatonna street and Minneapolis avenue

Appeals from the assessments on the East Fifth street sewer, filed by John A. Sinclair and A. McC. Washburn, were referred to the city attorney.

The claims of the Schlitz Brewing company for the payment of the cost of raising its building at 351-53 South First avenue east, because the city recently raised the grade of the thoroughfare, was also referred to City Attorney Clapp for consideration. The company asks for $3,994, the estimated cost of raising the structure and constructing new walks.

Protest on Dance Hall.

The petition signed by sixty-five West end residents protesting against the opening of a dance hall in Lincoln park was referred to Commissioner Hicken. The head of the public safety division said that he will not grant a license in face of this general objection on the part of the residents in that section of the city.

Joseph Boznu was granted a license to conduct an auction sale at 217 West Superior street. A license to conduct a poolhall at 101 East Superior street was granted to L. E. Strum while saloon licenses were granted to M. Danculovich, 520 West Michigan street, and Peter Deloyla, 204½ Central avenue.

ALMOST CRAZY WITH ITCHING AND BURNING

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 26, 1915:—"My face and body were a solid mass of little sores which itched and burned me so badly that I almost went crazy. They started in the form of little pimples which opened and formed sores. I could not sleep at night and at work if I became overheated it would itch something terrible. I used all kinds of soaps, salves and prescriptions that did me no good. I had this skin trouble for a year or more before I used Resinol. As soon as I started using Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap the itching and burning stopped at once, and in five weeks my face and body were as clear and soft as could be. I used only two jars of Resinol Ointment and three cakes of Resinol Soap. "A friend of mine had a bad case of skin trouble. I told him to use Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and in four weeks he was all well and one could not tell he ever had a pimple or sore on his face." (Signed) August E. Mills, 2306 Elliot Ave. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For trial free, write to Dept. 16-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

In order to share in this fund all companies of the National Guard are required to maintain the standards of the regular army as to uniforms and equipment.

BARRED FROM MAYORALTY.

Wisconsin Traction Officials Cannot Head Municipal Government.

Madison, Wis., March 16.—That the president and stockholders of a street car company cannot hold the position of mayor of a city is the effect of an opinion rendered by Attorney General Owen rendered to Harry F. Kelly, city attorney of Manitowoc. The decision points out that the franchise of the traction company is a contract with the city in which the city is interested.

Fined $10 Per Fish.

Ortonville, Minn., March 16.—Oscar Briggs, state game warden of this district, arrested D. W. Eames, a wealthy farmer, and C. ITALIAN NAVY IS MOBILIZING

Large Part of Fleet Concentrating at Taranto, Near Dardanelles.

Emperor Francis Joseph Has Conference With Archduke Frederick.

Geneva, via Paris, March 16.—A dispatch to the Tribune from its Rome correspondent says that a large part of the Italian navy is being concentrated at Taranto at the southeastern extremity of the country and the point nearest the Dardanelles. The same paper prints dispatches from Vienna which state that Emperor Francis Joseph on Saturday received Archduke Frederick, who insisted on behalf of the general staff in the Carpathians that Archduke Eugene should be ordered to abandon the campaign against Serbia and also withdraw useless forces on the Roumanian frontier in order to reinforce the exhausted troops in the mountain. The archduke is reported to have cited as an example of the conditions in the Carpathian troops, from the Dukla and Lupkow districts, numbering 20,000, who have been fighting incessantly for six weeks, sleeping with their rifles in their hands.

The interview of the emperor with the archduke is reported to have taken place in the presence of Minister of War Krobatin and Gen. Hotzendorf. The monarch, it is said, decided to summon Archduke Eugene for a consultation before deciding the questions presented to him.

The Tribune's Dedeagatch correspondent telegraphs that Talaal Bey, the Turkish minister of war, is having great difficulty in persuading the sultan to transfer the capital from Constantinople to Konieh, in Asia Minor. A special train is said to be in readiness constantly to transport the government funds and archives to Konieh if Adrianople is evacuated. Turkish troops are reported to be concentrated at Constantinople and along the Dardanelles.

for centuries—till it slipped through Carranza's fingers in the flight from Mexico of the priest who brought it to America. The name of this priest was withheld. It was learned, however, that the priest had said he hastily packed the jewels and robes in his suitcase when Gen. Obregon called for a church tax of $500,000, locking up many Catholic priests in Mexico City until the tax was raised.

An archbishop's robe of purple is the chief article of value. The robe is of silk and apparently of great antiquity. Wrought in diamonds and emeralds, rubies and pearls, on the front of the robe so that it covers the wearer's breast, is the ancient Spanish coat of arms, consisting of double eagles back to back, wings raised, necks backs and beaks open. The entire design is done in gold, in which the gems are mounted, and the robe is very heavy.

Truth in Story.

From the double eagle design, the customs officials believe there is truth in the priest's story that the robes were sent to Mexico in the sixteenth century. Spain in that period was at the height of her power and her ruler, Don Carlos I, was known as Charles V of the Holy Roman empire.

Next in value to the archbishop's robe are two gold crowns, mounted with diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires. Some of these gems, it is said, are as large as hazel nuts. There are spaces left on the tops of these crowns for other jewels andn the uncut gems to fill the vacant spaces dangle from the crowns secured by silken cords.

Several small other clerical robes, in purple and white, silk, some of them spangled with gems, complete the lot.

The priest who carried them from Mexico to New York declared them, it is said, at $600,000. Experts are trying to appraise them for the customs authorities.

Under the law providing for the admission of antiquities free of duty, it is possible, it was said at the customs house, that the robes and gems would be admitted without charge.

them throughout the crowd that packed the court room. Many more armed deputies were sprinkled among the crowds in the corridors.

Taking no Chances.

"I am taking no chances," the sheriff said, "I am well heeled for an abduction."

Thaw entered the court room smiling and confident. He glanced over the crowd for a familiar face, apparently seeking his mother, his sister and his half-brother, Josiah Thaw, but they were not present.

When the decision was announced Thaw's smile changed to a frown. Plainly he was disappointed. He turned quickly to John B. Stanchfield of his counsel, spoke a few words in an undertone and took his seat. A moment later, two of the sheriff's deputies led him away to the Tombs.

Good Faith of State.

Justice Page took occasion to comment, in his decision, on the good faith displayed by the state of New York towards New Hampshire by placing Thaw on trial on the conspiracy charge. There had been no evidence, the court held, to warrant the charge that Thaw had been brought back simply to be sent again to Matteawan. Nor had there been adduced any adequate reason why Thaw should be sent back to New Hampshire after his trial and acquittal.

Thaw was to go back to Matteawan, Justice Page decided, upon the old commitment of Judge Dowling.

Next Step Friday.

The next step in the litigation to keep Thaw out of Matteawan will be taken Friday before Justice Bijur upon return of the writ of habeas corpus. It is expected an effort will be made then to have the question as to Thaw's sanity decided by a jury. Failing to obtain Thaw's release, there is a strong probability that the case will be thrown into the Federal courts again and will eventually find its way to the United States supreme court, Mr. Stanchfield asserted.

"The motion to have Mr. Thaw returned to New Hampshire, and its denial are without precedent in law," he said.

"In a case of this kind, where a man's sanity and constitutional rights are involved, it seems to me that the matter should be settled by the United States supreme court."

It was understood that an appeal probably would be entered from Justice Page's decision and that this appeal would be carried through the state courts to the highest tribunal and afterwards, if necessary, taken into the Federal courts and finally before the supreme court.

ITALY WILL SOON ANNOUNCE POLICY CONCERNING WAR

is being held in check and that attempts to relieve Przemysl, in Galicia, have been ineffectual. It is admitted that in the Carpathians the Russians are making little progress and have suffered very heavy losses.

The impression was gained in Washington today that the United States probably would protest to Great Britain and her allies against their plan to stop trade with Germany as outlined in the British order-in-council yesterday. President Wilson indicated informally that the measures contemplated were displeasing to the United States.

GERMAN REVERSES.

The claim is made by the French war office that the Germans have suffered reverses in two sections of the western front. The British army is said to have recaptured St. Eloi and to have carried new German positions near the village. In Champagne progress for the French at two points is reported. The German official statement announces the winning of St. Eloi but makes no mention of its subsequent recapture by the British. The French attacks in Champagne, it is said, broke down.

Only brief mention of the eastern campaign is made in the Berlin report. It is said that Russian attacks near Przasnysz were defeated everywhere and that the Germans took 2,000 prisoners.

Additional Prussian casualties lists bring up the total of killed, wounded and missing since the war began to 1,050,029. This does not include casualties in the German states other than Prussia.

The British cruiser Orama, which took part in the battle of Juan Fernandes island on Sunday, in which the German cruiser Dresden was sunk, arrived at Valparaiso, Chile, and it was learned that nineteen members of the Dresden's crew were missing. The survivors, some wounded, were aboard the Orama.

Attack on Osowetz.

London, March 16.—The only military activity along the East Prussian front appears to be the resumption of the German bombardment of Osowetz. At this point the attacking batteries have been brought closer to the fortress, the reason being, according to official reports from Petrograd, the ineffectiveness of shell fire at a longer range. The Russian reports maintain that the attacks on the fort have been successfully countered.

Petrograd claims that the Russians are holding their antagonists on almost the entire Przasnysz front, where the Germans are keeping up a violent artillery fire.

Attack and Counter-Attack.

In the Carpathians and in Galicia it is the usual story of attack and counter-attack, with Vienna claiming a slow advance after sanguinary assaults on mountain tops held by the Russians, while the Russians on the other hand maintain that they are more than holding their own in these regions. Weather conditions in the Carpathians, where the snow is deep, make the movement of troops difficult, the men on skis being the only forces able to operate freely. The Russians are bombarding Przemysl with heavy batteries, while the Austrians still are hammering away in their efforts to relieve the fortress.

On the western front the German attack on St. Eloi evidently was made to counteract the effect of the British success at Neuve Chapelle. Berlin contents itself with claiming that progress has been made in this region, while Paris contends that the British have rewon most of their lost trenches there.

Order Commended.

With the exception of a few newspapers which are inclined to the belief that a formal blockade would be a better method of accomplishing the desired result, virtually the whole British press commends the order-in-council setting forth the British retaliation measures against the submarine blockade of Germany. Many editorial writers express uneasiness as to the effect this order will have on neutrals and they advance a plea for forbearance on account of the extraordinary conditions which caused the promulgation of this retaliatory announcement.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 16, by wireless to Sayville.—The German war office today gave out a report on the progress of the fighting, which is dated March 16 and which reads as follows:

"The English position on the height near St. Eloi, south of Ypres, has been taken by the Germans. Fighting for the possession of this location has been going on since the day before yesterday.

"In the Champagne district several partial attacks delivered by French troops broke down in the face of German fire. The French losses were heavy. To the north of Beausejour German troops took possession of several French trenches. An engagement began yesterday in the Argonne continues today. Also in the Vosges there are several places where the fighting still is going on.

"On the Orzyc to the northeast of Przasnysz, Russian attacks everywhere have been repulsed. There was an especially violent engagement for possession of Jednorozek. Two thousand Russians were taken prisoner.

"South of the Vistula there is nothing to report."

French Statement.

Paris, March 16, via London, 3:45 p. m.—The events of yesterday on the Franco-Belgian front are described in a statement from the war office this afternoon as follows:

"The Belgian army has consolidated its gains of the past few days. The British army, after having retaken St. Eloi, has also recaptured trenches to the southwest of the village and compelled the enemy to evacuate trenches to the southeast of the same point, which have been completely demolished by the act.

"In Champagne fresh progress has been made to the northeast of Souain. In the forest of Le Pretre, we have recaptured from the Germans the remainder of the trenches won by them yesterday morning; or to be more precise, the site of these trenches for defensive works has been completely shattered by mine explosions.

"On the southern slope of Great Reich Ackerkopf, an attack by the enemy yesterday morning carried a trench. We have retaken it and made some prisoners."

commission shall remain as it is and retain control of the grain inspection service.

That the board of control shall retain its existence, powers and duties.

That the board of health shall become a separate department covering the present board of health, the advisory commission for tuberculosis sanatoriums and similar activities.

That—and these less likely than the others—the public examiner and the superintendent of banks shall remain independent officials, as they are at present.

The Sam Y. Gordon bills, products of the committee appointed pursuant to Mr. Gordon's resolution, have now the right of way before the house. This is another result of yesterday's postponement of the efficiency bill. These bills consolidate a number of departments, provide for a budget system, and put in place of a horde of inspectors, game wardens, forest rangers, etc., a body of general inspectors, about seventy-five in all, each to cover in his field the functions of all the many varieties of inspectors, etc., now employed by the state.

The purpose of the Gordon resolution, as expressed, was to provide some measure of economy and improvement if the efficiency bill failed.

As it stands, the result of this resolution and the committee appointed under it is a rival to the efficiency plan. And the newborn rival has the first chance at the favor of the house.

If the house adopts the Gordon bills will that work against the adoption of the efficiency bill? Maybe. Maybe not. But probably.

Anyway, the Gordon bills are a special order for Friday afternoon, and their friends—who are also generally speaking the enemies of the efficiency bill—will push them at that time. The friends of the efficiency bill may try to get them put over until the efficiency bill is decided. If they do, and succeed, that will be a pretty good sign that the efficiency bill will pass.

Forestry Service Probe.

Every since the session opened—ever since election indeed—there have been in circulation charges that the forestry service did something it shouldn't in pushing the forestry amendment, Amendment No. 9, the only proposed constitutional amendment adopted last November.

To bring these charges to a head, so that they can be proved or disproved, Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia today introduced in the senate the following resolution:

"Whereas, the Minnesota state forest service has been criticized and censured in the state senate because of alleged activities and expenditures of certain moneys in the campaign for the passage of an amendment to the state Constitution, commonly known as Amendment No. 9, and

"Whereas, the senate finance committee has been subjected to criticism and censure because of the published reports that the committee had decided to cut the appropriation for the state forest service to $40,000 instead of $75,000, the present appropriation, and

"Whereas, the people of the state are entitled to know the full facts in the case: now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That a committee consisting of five members of the senate be appointed by the lieutenant governor, to fully investigate all charges, allegations and facts concerning the activity of the state forest service in the campaign for the passage of the amendment, commonly known as No. 9, and report back to the senate within two weeks from the date hereof;

"That such committee is given full power and authority to subpoena witnesses, to compel the production of all books, letters and papers or other documents that may in any way throw any light upon the expenditure of money by the state forest service in connection with the campaign for said amendment."

North-Konzen Bill Advanced.

Representative William J. North of Duluth developed the qualities of an orator yesterday afternoon when he made an eloquent plea for his bill for public school education of deaf children, in the authorship of which he is joined by Representative P. H. Konzen of Hallock, and succeeded in having the measure advanced from away down on general orders to the calendar, where it will be considered within a day or two.

Mr. North asked those who were fathers, and who had the instincts of fatherhood, to join in this move to "save from the tomb of silence" children who, for the lack of proper provision for them are denied their right of participation in the affairs of men.

He pointed out that under the present laws there is utterly no provision for deaf children below the age of 10, and that for lack of such provision many of them are not taught to speak in the years when, their vocal organs being plastic, they can best be taught. The school for the deaf at Faribault does not receive children until they are 10 years old.

Under the North-Konzen bill the state superintendent may grant permission to any public school to maintain schools for the instruction of deaf children between the ages of 4 and 10. State aid amounting to $100 per pupil, to come out of the state school fund, is provided for.

Provision is also made for similar schools, though they are to be kept separate, for blind children, children with defective speech and children who are mentally subnormal. The attendance of at least five children is required to establish any such school.

More County Division Hearings.

The house committee on towns and counties heard some more county division arguments yesterday afternoon, but this time they have no bearing on St. Louis county. A large delegation from Polk county and a delegation from Perham, Otter Tail county, appeared in behalf of the Boyd bill granting these counties the system of county division made easy proposed by the Power-McMahon county division organization for St. Louis county.

At the request of the house delegation from Otter Tail county, all of whom are opposed to the bill, the committee decided to hold a hearing Friday evening, when the opposition will have a chance to state its case.

The delegations present yesterday afternoon in behalf of the Boyd bill included the following:

From McIntosh, Polk county—C. L. Conger, C. M. Berg, Charles Martin and J. T. Lindley.

From Crookston—N. S. Davies and F. A. Grady.

From East Grand Forks—James Gorman.

From Erskine—C. Finsand.

From Perham—Former Senator M. J. Daly, Amos Marckel and Alex Nelson.

The Perham people have already had a hearing and most of the time yesterday afternoon was taken up by the Polk county people.

The eastern section of Polk county, comprising eighteen townships, wants to cut loose from the part of the county dominated by Crookston and East Grand Forks. It has made several attempts, and in 1902 it succeeded so far as to create the county of Columbia, which existed for five months before the supreme court ruled it out of existence. During that time it performed all the business of a county, including that of issuing licenses to marry, and the supreme court, in ruling the county out of being, held its acts legal. It is said, however, that there are now no public records of any of the acts of the county of Columbia, not even of the marriages it authorized. These records are the private property of Mr. Conger.

The reazon this section of Polk county wants to take advantage of some easy system of county division is that three of its towns, McIntosh, Fosston and Erskine, want to be the county seat, and they fear this would complicate an election under the present county division law.

ular committee is trying to cover the whole state field.

Drawing Two Salaries.

Representative Greene said that the payroll of the university last year was $1,200,000 and that a number of professors are drawing two salaries from the state.

There was more turmoil when it came to the roll call, Representative Devold asking that he and his fellow Socialist, Woodfill, be excused from voting and in a speech charging the university with enmity to organized labor. The house excused them from voting, after a wrangle over parliamentary points.

The resolution was amended by Sam Y. Gordon to require the committee to report a detailed salary list of the university. The report must be made within twenty days.

Street Railway Franchises.

REGULATIONS FOR PASSPORTS STRICT.

London, March 16.—The stringent regulations governing the securing of passports by persons desiring to travel from England to France promulgated yesterday, have been followed today by the announcement of other regulations governing travel to Holland. The authorities hope the new regulations will lessen the danger from spies.

No traveler may go to Holland now without giving the home office three days' notice and full information concerning his plans. Truth of all such statements must be vouched for by two responsible British citizens.

CONDITIONS IN MEXICO BETTER

Representations By United States Have Proved Effective.

Washington, March 16.—Official assurances that Gen. Carranza had abandoned his blockade of Progreso were received today from American Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz and from Gen. Carranza's minister of foreign affairs.

Conditions in Mexico generally are regarded by President Wilson as much less in a ferment than they were a few days ago. He told callers today that the American representations had been effective and that he felt that there now was more security for foreigners.

The president said he had no doubt that those guilty of killing John B. McManus, the American, would be punished. With punishment of the offenders and payment of indemnity to the family, the incident probably will be closed.

Thin Men and Women

Here's a Safe Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs. of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fatmaking elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Boyce drug store and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution: While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder.

Woman's Realm

"A little spray of shamrocks has brought before my eye
The fairest sea-girt island that rests beneath God's sky;
I see its fields and valleys, its slopes of emerald sheen,
Fair types of Erin's banner, the sunburst on the green.
I see the forms of loved ones, to heart and memory dear,
And land, and friends and fireside are framed within a tear."
S. M. R.

Shamrocks will be worn tomorrow by those whose memories go back to the little Emerald Isle, by those several generations removed and by those who have no valid reason for wearing the Irish emblem except that others do it. The sight of so many little trefoils on March 17 is enough to make a black thorn stick that has been seasoned for years send out green sprouts just to show its patriotism.

And why shouldn't shamrocks be worn by many persons since Ireland educated the western world? Even prior to the year 450 when St. Patrick, whose feast is celebrated tomorrow, founded one of the first colleges of the world at Armagh, Coluba founded at Iona a flourishing and well-attended college where the Picts and the Scots were educated.

In the same century Irish teachers went into France, Switzerland, Germany, Spain and Italy. In each of these countries it is recorded that the Irish at court were the wonder of the nobility in the extraordinary breadth of their learning.

March 17 offers the opportunity for the greeting of "The top o' the morning to you," and for the sons and daughters of Ireland to follow the advice of Thomas Moore:

"Let Erin remember the days of old,
Ere her faithless sons betrayed her,
When Malachi wore the collar of gold
That he won from the proud invader;
When her kings with their standard of green unfurled
Led the Red Branch knights to danger;
Ere the emerald gem of the western world
Was set in the crown of a stranger."

FINNISH COMPOSER'S WORKS ARE FEATURED BY MATINEE MUSICALE

MRS. O. J. LARSON.

MISS CLARA STOCKER.

Yesterday afternoon's program of the Matinee Musicale, arranged by Miss Clara Stocker, featured the compositions of Jan Sibelius, the Finnish composer, and introduced a vocal octet, the only one given by the club this year.

The program was opened by entr'acte and "Mellsande's Death" from Sibelius' "Pelleas and Melisande" with Miss Faith Helen Rogers at the piano and Miss Madeline Miller at the organ. These selections were given earlier in the season and were repeated by request. They brought out admirably the characteristics of the composer who is recognized all over the world as one of the greatest living composers.

Two Sibelius songs, "Kevalaulu" and "War es ein Traum?" were given by Mrs. O. J. Larson with great sympathy. Mrs. Larson also gave "Geisha" by Mabetoja and "Spring" by Mac Fadyen. "Kevalaulu" and the Mabetoja number were sung in the Finnish language.

Piano Numbers.

Miss Rogers gave as piano numbers two examples of the modern school, a toccata and "Serenade of the Doll" from "The Children's Corner" by Debussy, followed by a Chopin barcarolle. It was hard to tell which was enjoyed the most.

Mrs. Homer Ander gave a group of songs, Cadman's "Call Me No More," Rummel's "Across the Hills" and Woodman's "Birthday." All were given in a finished style.

Bruno Huhn's "Song of the Sirens," to Milton's words, was given by Miss Myrtle Hobbs and Miss Thelma Larson, first sopranos; Mrs. John Batson and Mrs. J. M. Donohue, second sopranos; Miss Alta Hallock and Miss Ida Roth, first altos, and Miss Myrtle Harding and Mrs. C. W. Peters, second altos. Isabel Pearson Fuller was at the organ and Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten, who trained the octet most successfully, was at the piano.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morton Dworshak was the accompanist for Mrs. Larson and Mrs. Anderson.

Will Play in Theater.

Before the program Mrs. George S. Richards, president of the Matinee Musicale, announced that Mrs. J. N. McKindley and Miss Faith Helen Rogers will begin a two weeks' engagement playing the pipe organ at the Rex theater next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. They will play only in the afternoons. This undertaking follows out the policy of the Matinee Musicale that aims not only to provide music for its members and to bring artists to the city, but to increase the interest in music in Duluth. Miss Rogers will play Monday and Tuesday, Mrs. McKindley, Wednesday and Thursday. They will alternate in this way until their engagement is completed.

The study class will meet next Monday morning at 11 o'clock instead of at the usual afternoon hour. This change was made on account of the Ossip Gabrilowitsch program that is to be given that evening. At the study class, under the direction of Miss Faith Helen Rogers, numbers of the Gabrilowitsch program will be taken up, including compositions of Beethoven, Schumann, Chopin, Moczkowski and the pianist himself.

SPRING SHOE STYLES

Washington Star: War and peace find expression in the colors of the new footwear. Military colors in red, blue, gray and various tan shades are seen in high and in low shoes. Shoes are also decorated with braids in gold and various colors, or with buttons in red, blue, brass or silver gray. Styles typifying peace are made of white leather or of black and white leather. Colored laces are in many shades, including white, sand, Palm Beach, almond, fawn, putty, tete de negre brown, dreadnaught, etc. They come in round, tubular and flat form.

Quite a saving may be made by eliminating high shoes and wearing gaiters with walking slippers or ties instead. They should be made to order if possible in order to secure a sligh cut reaching half way to the knee. They may be made of the dress material and strapped on with patent leather shoes no matter what the original top may be. Shoes with light-colored tops and light gaiters may seem impractical on account of soiling easily, but they can be cleaned satisfactorily by brushing with gasoline.

Strap effects are everywhere worn in low shoes. The straps run all the way from a single one across the instep to a group in the same position, making almost the shape of a strapped tie. Straps in broken lines, in one piece where they button, but parting an inch back of this and half passing upward and half downward on the quarter of the shoe, are a novelty and a becoming one. Straps which come in bias lines from the lower portion of the sides to meet under a rosette or buckle on the instep are seen in dressy leathers or kid, in such colors as sand, putty and light gray and black. Then there is the strap which has nothing to do with the fastening, but which forms a grille across the instep, while the closing is made with little tiny extension straps at the side, lower down on the shoe.

One or two pairs of slippers will equip one for evening. Very smart are slippers of satin unadorned. There is not a vestige of buckle or bow, just a plain vamp. Then there is a slipper which is merely a small pump with a single rhinestone where the buckle is usually placed. This is for a small foot only, as it is sure to attract attention. Velvet slippers are used in a bright tint to contrast with the color of the frock, the stockings being in some pale neutral shade, such as tan, gray or cream colored silk.

NEW BILL POPULAR.

Show at New Grand Has Many Bright Features.

The bill at the New Grand, which opened yesterday for a three-day engagement, was unusually good and decidedly popular. The many comedy features kept the large audiences in good humor, and the more serious acts were thoroughly enjoyed.

The popular comedienne, Marie de Long, in her Scandinavian character stunts spread a contagion of laughter through the whole audience. She is known as the "baseball bug." She presented her original characterizations of the "1915 girl," the "office boy" and the "Swedish slavey," all of which were well received.

Archer and Carr offered a classy song and dance act.

Edna and Billy St. Allen presented a novelty tight-wire act, and did some clever as well as hazardous stunts.

The Four Musical Kings played many kinds of instruments featured with some catchy songs. The song "Tomfoolery" was a riot, being of the kind that strikes a popular chord. The pictures offered good variety and subject matter and were above the standard set last week. "In Spite of All," a three-reel feature film taken from Mrs. Fiske's great success of the same name, was presented by an all-star cast and was one of the best seen at the Grand in a long time. Several good comedy films round out the bill.

Life's Shop Window.

Last night was Royal League night at the Lyceum. Members of the lodge had arranged for a benefit performance, and all receipts over the guaranteed sum went to the lodge, which netted a good sum as a result of the activities of the members in disposing of tickets.

The Baldwin players are presenting this week "Life's Shop Window." The play is taken from a novel which has been popular in recent years. The drama tells of a young woman who nearly ended the real prize she had chosen from Life's Show Window for a worthless but gaudy toy. The first scene is laid in England, on a farm, where the heroine had been employed as a maid, following the impoverishment of her family. Her young husband sails for America, and the later scenes are laid on a Western farm where the young man has established himself. He is so occupied with the management of his ranch that he neglects his young wife, and she is overcome with the loneliness of her life in a strange country. She plans to run away with a young Englishman who is camping near the farm, but is prevented at the last moment and is brought to see her mistake. The play was well received by crowded houses Sunday and last evening. It will continue until Saturday night with a matinee Wednesday and Saturday.

The Kreutzer Sonata.

Theda Bara, the famous Parisian emotional actress from the Theater Antoine, Paris, the Boulevard's playhouse of thrills, who created much comment throughout the country for her performance of the Vampire, in "A Fool There Was," a William Fox production, repeats her gripping characterization of that role in her rendition of Celia in the William Fox picturization of Tolstoi's "The Kreutzer Sonata." This picture version of the Russian dramatist's most vital work is directed by Herbert Brenon, and released by the Fox Film corporation, successor to the Box Office Attraction company.

Celia Friendlander, the beautiful and ruthlessly passionate girl, who, without scruple, breaks the heart of the faithful Miriam, so that she may possess herself of Miriam's husband, Gregor, the brilliant violinist, is one of the strongest screen parts ever written and in many ways the most startling and remarkable. It is being seen at the Rex.

Will Book Big Feature.

I. S. Mistachkin, manager of the Zelda theater has left for Minneapolis, to witness the six-act production "Damon and Pythias" released under the Universal brand. Mr. Mistachkin has signed up with the local order Knights of Pythias, to present this stupendous production in the Zelda theater for three days April 18, 19 and 20. The advance sale of tickets has opened with a rush according to some of the members on the entertainment committee.

MRS. ANGLE TAKES STAND IN TRIAL

Gives Her Version of How Waldo Ballou Met Death.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 16.—Mrs. Helen M. Angle, charged with manslaughter, took the witness stand today and gave her version of how Waldo R. Ballou received fatal injuries outside her apartments in the Rippowam building in Stamford.

Questions put by Mrs. Angle's counsel indicated that the defense seeks to prove that Ballou, moving about in the dark hallway outside Mrs. Angle's rooms, pitched down the stairs.

Mrs Angle said she was married in 1898 to Frank Angle, but secured a divorce on grounds of desertion several years later. She met Ballou in 1911, about a year and a half after the death of his wife.

"Did he appear to think very much of you?"

"Very much. He asked me several times to marry him. I told him I did not wish to as he was very old. I also reminded him that he had grown children."

TEACH EVERY CHILD TO SWIM, HIS AIM

Every girl and boy in Duluth will be taught how to swim at the Fairmont park bathing beach.

Park Manager Henry Cleveland said this morning that he will make a special effort after the bathing beach is opened this summer to teach the girls and boys how to swim. There will be no excuse for any child in the city being unable to handle himself in the water, he said.

"Of course, we don't expect to make Annette Kellermans out of all the children, but we do plan to make them able to take care of themselves in water. And that's the principal thing, after all," he said.

Mr. Cleveland expects to start work on the beach next month and to have the beach open to the public about the middle of July.

RETURN TO THE "JUNGLES"

Camp Fires Again Smoking on Old Dock at Seventh Avenue—Scramble for Choice Sleeping Quarters.

It's early for outing parties and excursions to summer resorts but the call of the "jungles" has been heard in Duluth. The unemployed have already found their summer home and can laugh at hard times.

The old dock jutting out into the bay at the foot of Seventh avenue west, is now the headquarters of at least fifty men. Early in the morning the smoke may be seen ascending from many campfires and groups of men may be seen busily engaged boiling coffee, roasting "wieners" and frying bacon. Some may be seen smoking and gazing off across the lake, while others read the newspapers, shave, and air their clothing. Sun baths are very popular, but baths in the bay are a little premature. It is expected, however, that as soon as the ice disappears morning plunges will be indulged in. No discussion as to the proper form of bathing costumes will worry these lovers of the great outdoors; nature has provided the only costume deemed necessary.

Nights Too Cool.

The nights are too cool for sleep outdoors, and early in the evening there is a lively contest for coveted corners in box cars, old buildings and other places of shelter. The elevated sidewalk on Michigan street offers a shelter that is highly prized, and at night it is not uncommon to see a row of shoes and ankles sticking out from beneath the walk.

The woodsmen are beginning to come in freely now, and employment men say that the waiting period for work will last for some time. Those who have saved their money and had steady employment during the winter will not have difficulty in securing hotel accommodations but the less fortunate will find the "jungles" a convenient camping ground.

Last year the "jungles" became famous in Duluth and the place was raided by the police several times. After each raid a company of new men and some of the more daring spirits of the old gang would appear and repopulate the place.

Work is expected to be more plentiful this spring and next summer and the authorities do not look to see the "jungles" so popular.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

"Company Manners" An Absurdity.

You hear a lot of talk nowadays about the way girls are spoiled in their upbringing, but it seems to me that the boys in more families are humored and pampered out of all reason and that their futures are not very well assured, as far as happiness is concerned. Mothers have always borne reputations for indulging their sons, even to the point of exempting them from assisting in household duties.

The father is supposed to have a leaning toward the girls of the family, but seldom are the sons neglected by either of the parents. When both are bent on making life easy for the sons, the girls might just as well fold their hands, say nothing and be extremely thankful for everything they get. The girl who has several brothers, and perhaps a sister, does not fare as badly as perhaps the girls with one brother, the idol of his parents.

Most brothers, who are the only sons, grow up to be a credit to their families and no one is prouder of them than their sisters. Still many of them do acquire habits, through the indulgence of both parents, and good natured sisters, that make it hard for the home folks and is sure to occasion trouble for the women whom they marry. Such sons are unruly and selfish in their home life and when out in the world have to assume what they call "company manners."

Though it is of the most trivial order, it could be prevented if those who bring them up, especially mother, would try to correct the faults in her son that she has seen in her husband and laid at the door of her husband's mother's indulgence. Under these circumstances you would think that she might keep the future wife of her son in mind while training him in the way he should go and acting at home as he would when out in the world.

There are a number of brothers who seem to have the idea that almost any kind of treatment will do for their sisters. I do not mean that they abuse or neglect them in really vital matters, but they have one set of manners for their sisters and another for the girls whom they honor with their attentions. I know that some sisters draw this sort of thing upon their heads because they in turn are not courteous to their brothers, or even treat them with consideration.

Most of the fault in all these cases lies with the home training, or lack of it. There should be no such thing as "company manners." A young man should be taught to be as considerate of his father, mother and sisters as of anyone else, if not more so. If he is not taught these things in his home he will lack them in company outside and it may be at a time when he most desires to create a good impression.

DURING LUNCH HOUR.

Just as a reminder, let us call your attention again to the meetings being held this week at the Lyceum theater, during the noon lunch hour. They are being conducted by Dr. John W. Hoffman of the First M. E. church, but they are not Methodist meetings. They are not revival services.

It may be hard to make you understand just what these meetings are, if you have not attended one of them. There is music—both vocal and instrumental—and then Dr. Hoffman makes a twenty-minute talk. And if you have heard Dr. Hoffman you know that it is an interesting talk.

Go to these meetings, or as many of them as you can during the week. The address does not begin until half past twelve, and it stops by ten minutes to one. So you will have half an hour to eat your lunch, and then can attend the meeting. It will do you good to go.

Even if you don't get more than a single idea to think over occasionally afterward, you will be the better for going. And whether you get any new ideas or not, the few minutes spent in the meeting will be worth while for the influence they will leave with you for the rest of the day.

Exactly where each tooth-point goes;
The butterfly upon the road
Preaches contentment to that toad."

A PLAN FOR PEACE IN MEXICO.

Not many Americans are very thoroughly posted as to Yucatan, Mexico. Even the encyclopedias don't give any intimate knowledge of the state, except to tell us that its area is some eighteen or nineteen thousand square miles; that its foreign trade amounts normally to something like thirty million dollars, and that it has very considerable natural resources and a system of railroads. Its population in 1912 was 347,781.

But indications at present are that we are to hear a good deal more of Yucatan in the next few months than we have in the past. The fact is that out of that state has come a suggestion that appears full of possibilities for all Mexico.

Briefly stated, Yucatan announces that she has established a sound government of her own; that she is satisfied with it; that she doesn't care a hang about territorial expansion, or about the carryings on of the rest of Mexico; all she wants is the privilege of going about her business in her own way and peaceably, and she asks Uncle Sam to recognize her as an independent state.

It looks like rather a large proposition at first blush, but after all why not? Throughout this Mexican struggle we have seen one state and another under the control of individual leaders or organized factions. In order to keep their control, these leaders or factions have given the people of the individual states privileges heretofore unknown in Mexico. In one state the privileges have had to do with land holdings; in another with mining operations, and in others with political or similar rights. And wherever such control has been established and such privileges granted, there has been peace until the arrival of some invading force that was seeking to unify the whole country under an unwelcome central government.

Under such conditions there seems to be much of reason in the idea that not only Yucatan but other states should be given recognition, as fast as they can organize themselves, leaving the warring elements to fight it out in the outlying territory or to seize and hold whatever divisions they might, but with the clear understanding that any effort to conquer states already organized would meet with serious opposition in those states themselves.

Developing such a plan as that, Mexico would eventually be split up into a greater or less number of independent states, just as other similar areas have been in the past; and it would be only a matter of development and time before these separate states, each with a clearer comprehension of the powers and privileges of government than it has ever had before, would voluntarily unite under one central federated authority.

Of course there will be objection to the effect that business interests of one kind or another would suffer. But would they suffer any more than they do under present conditions? The interests that have been trying to force American intervention in Mexico ought to know by now that they cannot accomplish that. Would they not, then, be glad to have separate state governments formed, with which they could deal in the operation of their mines or other interests? It seems as if they should much prefer that to the continuation of anarchy in that country.

Yucatan may yet be famous as the proposer of a scheme that would bring peace to Mexico.

Differences in nationalities are always cropping out in the most unthought of places. For instance, if "Tipperary" had been written on this side the Atlantic it would have been in rag time.

THE TRADE COMMISSION.

Today sees the inauguration of a work that promises great things for the commercial interests of the country—that of the Federal trade commission. It comes into existence as something absolutely new in this government, and it faces a field of operation that is all untried.

But that it has an important work before it nobody can question. It has been given wide powers, so that its investigations may be extended beyond the boundaries of our own country, and data obtained on the commercial and manufacturing affairs of other nations. And it has been given authority to inquire into many details of American concerns.

These are sweeping powers, but to accomplish what it is intended to accomplish it was necessary that the commission should have sweeping powers. It is hoped that this body may find means to give to the commercial interests of the country the benefits they have heretofore sought through means detrimental to other interests, and may at the same time preserve to these other interests the benefits they have so nearly lost under the former system.

The present age has been called the age of great combinations. It is the purpose to make this Federal trade commission the means of controlling this spirit of great combination, and so directing it as to unify the welfare of all the interests, big and little, and preserve to the people and to the nation those rights and powers which they have been in danger of losing under the old system of non-regulation.

Today this commission enters upon its existence. It does so with the good wishes of every man who has at heart the greatest good to the American nation and the American people.

Yucatan seems to be quite a place, by gum!

THE RECREATION REPORT.

Nobody who has had any dealings with boys and girls from the ages of eight to eighteen can fail to be interested in the report for Duluth outlined by T. S. Settle, field secretary for the Playgronud and Recreation Association of America. Mr. Settle has been studying the situation and possibilities in Duluth, and is preparing a definite plan which he believes this city could adopt to great advantage.

As outlined, the plan involves the establishment of eighteen public playgrounds, to be supervised and operated by a staff of trained supervisors. These playgrounds would be designed to guide the activities of the youngsters in their time out of school and during non-employment, and also to give the older people opportunities for social and recreational enjoyment.

The new work would not interfere in any way with the present system of social center development. It would rather supplement that system, and as Mr. Settle has laid out the plans, the recreation supervisors would be ready at any time to work with the social center leaders in still further development of that work.

Mr. Settle figures that it would cost the city between twelve and thirteen thousand dollars to inaugurate the system and operate it for a year. After that first year there would be less expense, because that sum includes the cost of apparatus and the laying out of grounds. At the same time this outlay would give the city and its people constant and valuable use of property worth something like a million dollars, but which as things go today is lying practically idle most of the time. It would make the city parks not only beautiful, but practical, and it would mean the development of healthy, clean-minded young people in some localities where such development is at present unlikely, to say the least.

Mr. Settle has not quite completed his work here. Another and fuller report is to be made to the city officials. But his preliminary report is enough to insure interest in what he may have to say later. The work he proposes is directly in line with that undertaken by several big private corporations in different parts of the country, and is a work for social and individual betterment. It should at least get thorough attention here, and should be adopted if there is any possible way of doing so.

It wouldn't be amiss, besides making Goethals a major general, to give him some such title as "Made-your Canal."

"Getting Together"

By Savoyard.

Washington, March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—There used to be a story in the precincts of high finance of Wall Street of how Jay Gould, with the help of Daniel Drew, robbed the public, and of how the former set about to rob his confederate conspirator. Gould held most of the capital stock of the Northwestern and on his advice Drew sold immense blocks of that security "short." When it came time to "cover" the stock went up leaps and bounds. A clerk in Drew's office reported to the old man, "Northwestern is rising, Mr. Drew," to which the old fellow answered, as he saw his millions disappearing, "I thought she had already riz."

We have it given out in this town that an association composed of enormous standpatters, such as the Hon. Gallinger, and implacable Progressives, like Dan Hanna, have headed an organization the mission of which is "to unite" all the discordant elements of the ex-G. O. P. The concern is to open headquarters in this town with that avowed object for excuse.

I thought they had already fused. Why all this elaborate machinery, all this expense, all this "throwing about of brains" to accomplish something that is already consummated?

To "get together," Aldrichism ought to concede something and the crowd represented by La Follette, Clapp, Cummins and that layout must surrender much. Honesty in politics means that Tom, Dick and Harry think alike. In Republican politics all of 'em must be advocates of Aldrichism should they fuse. If they have "got together" Aldrich is the high priest. He is the foremost statesman the party has produced in two score years. Penrose, Gallinger, Alden Smith, Fairbanks, Mann, Burton, Whitman, Lodge, Barnes, Cannon, Foraker, Root—these and others—all swear by Aldrich. Are they going to recant what they have been preaching all their political lives? Are they going to make concessions to a lot of fellows they regard as rebels? I doubt it.

Then to get together, Cummins, Bristow, Clapp, Beveridge and men of that ilk must abjectly surrender. The distance between Taft and Roosevelt as disclosed by the campaign of 1912 is infinitely greater than that between McKinley and Bryan in 1896. We know that Aldrichism never budges. Will Cummins & Co. go into the Aldrich camp? That is all the trouble this "fusion" movement has to surmount.

The only way for honest men to get together in a political way is for them to think together. Taking their former views of politics as basis there never was a more discordant set than the delegates to the convention of 1860 that nominated Abraham Lincoln for president. The tariff plank was writ by a free trade Democrat and it made no assault on the then "free trade tariff," as Blaine calls it in his book. It nominated for president an old Whig, who insisted that the word "white" be writ in the elective franchise clause of every state Constitution, and for vice president an old Democrat of the Jackson-Jefferson school.

Mr. Lincoln, when he came to make up his cabinet of seven, chose four Democrats—Chase, Cameron, Blair and Welles—against three Whigs—Seward, Bates and Smith. The administration was agreed on no economic question, but they thought together on the tremendous paramounts—the preservation of the Union and the exclusion of slavery from any states carved out of the territories.

That was all right; it was natural and it was inevitable. Mr. Lincoln fused all these discordant elements, and it was to his patience and wisdom that is due the preservation of the Union. No other man could have done it. Seward would have refused to coerce the South, trusting to the sober second thought of that section to return to the Union. Chase, had he been president, would have declared for abolition at the start, and that would have made a Southern sympathizer of every Democrat at the North. Lincoln knew what he was about, and he was the only man—North or South—who did know. When his job was finished and his efforts crowned with success he died. Had he lived four years longer his memory would be execrated by tens of thousands of his own party who now hold him patriot and sage above Washington himself.

But that is excursion. What great paramount is now at hand to bring together Penrose and La Follette, gentlemen who had a serious row as to the precincts each haunted when their public duties did not require their presence in the United States senate? Edmund Burke spoke of certain parties in the same trundle-bed, though I refrain from quoting literally, as it is not precisely printable in this polite age. How are you going to bed together Victor Murdock and Old Joe Cannon?

They may "get together" on election day. I do not believe it, but it is in the timber that in the event they do get together, and God should put his frown on our beloved country, they will elect the next president, the Sixty-fifth congress and regain power in the United States senate—this for our sins.

What would happen then? They would fly all to flinders, for a fusion of Standpatter and Progressive would be a thing that heaven would register in anger and disgust and hell chuckle over in delight and triumph.

As she slips she slides along.

Blasting With Water.

Saturday Evening Post: Water cartridges in place of dynamite cartridges, to blast out rock, have been developed so that they are now coming into use for mine or surface work where an ordinary explosive has disadvantages, such as fire or danger to people nearby. Holes are drilled in the rock, as though for dynamite blasting, and the water cartridge shoved in like sticks of that explosive. The cartridges are steel cylinders with knobs along the side, so constructed that when water is pumped into the steel cylinder by a hand pump the side knobs will be pushed out until they split the rock. This is only a new application of the old principle of the hydrostatic press.

"Hell Hole of America"

From the Washington Post.

Hundreds of Americans, innocent sightseers mostly, who have gone to the garish little Mexican town of Tia Juana, just across the international line from San Diego, Cal., the past few weeks, call it, with reason, "the hell-hole of the continent."

They have gone back to the California city wiser and sadder individuals.

Some beat the blackjack's brand upon their heads. Many have known the sickening blackness of knockout drops. They have been robbed of whatever gold and valuables they carried either at the point of a gun in some foul rendezvous of crooks or by the manipulations of surething gamblers, aided by women harpies.

Anything goes in Tia Juana, the wicked! It is the city of loot.

Professional gamblers, thugs, confidence men and bunco steerers from all parts of the United States have made it their stamping ground for the purpose of fleecing San Diego fair visitors during 1915.

Almost without exception these outlaws are American renegades, not Mexicans. They openly flaunt their crimes in the face of United States officers, standing impotently at the invisible border, powerless to help the victims as they are powerless to punish the outlaws.

Roulette, faro, poker, slot machines, the shell game, fake bull fights, and the wiles of painted women—these are some of the means the allied underworld forces of Tia Juana employ in fleecing unsuspecting American men and women who come here, across the line, "to see Mexico."

Recently a Los Angeles physician reported that he had been stripped of all his money and valuables by the "bull ring" ruse, engineered by a quartet of crooks. Two men, posing as fellow tourists, lured him to the old arena where two confederates held up the three at the point of revolvers. The highwaymen then split the loot four ways.

Tia Juana's American renegades maintain shrewd cappers at some of the San Diego hotels, who contrive to meet "live ones" in quest of "a little spice," and steer them down here to the tender mercies of the hawks. Other bunko steerers work on the "rubber neck" wagons plying from San Diego, posing as tourists before the intended victims.

Some of the smoothest of these cappers are women—of the type calculated to strike up acquaintanceship with men who want to go back home and brag about having had a romance with a charming senorita.

The "senoritas," with carmine lips and eyes dusked to taste, are not Mexicans or girls of Castile. They are widely known, many of them, to the police of Chicago, New York, New Orleans of San Francisco. And the "romance" they strike up with the innocents abroad would hardly bear telling about back home, even if the victims were so inclined after having been robbed and perhaps beaten up in some vile hole whence they were lured by pretty bait in petticoats.

Some of these women work among their own sex among the tourists, coaxing them into the gambling joints of this Mexican Monte Carlo with a "tip" that there is easy money to be made at roulette—"and how exciting to tell your friends of your adventures in Mexico!"

It is this hanker of men and women away from their accustomed environment for spicy adventure, as well as the appeal to the gambling lust, that the harpies of Tia Juana have converted to their own surething profit. And it is just this greed for easy money "by luck" on the part of prospective victims which makes Tia Juana continue to flourish as "the wickedest place on the continent," as it is the gullibility of seekers after clandestine romance which accounts for the "senorita's" part in the fleecing.

War Decalogue

Kansas City Star: If the mere shock of the war's coming and its immediate drain on every fiber of the German nation were not sufficient to impose a new mind and way of life, the people might find the rule of conduct in the following injunctions. The Paris Journal des Debats translates them from the Munich Neueste Nachrichten, and makes no comment further than that their author, Dr. Karl Wolff, has obviously drawn his inspiration from the decalogue. One notes particularly that the Germans are to treat the war as a sacred event and to be sure of victory. In that time there shall be rejoicing for all the nation, and for all real good will as well as for "the stranger within the gates." Taking the councils in their order:

This, oh, my people, is the war that has wrenched you away from pleasure and ease, but also from languor, doubt and satiety.

Thou shalt have no other thought than this war; for its consequences of disaster, if we are vanquished, shall make themselves felt to the third and fourth generations. But it will bear blest fruit unto the tenth generation if we know how to conquer and found the world anew as a German product.

Thou shalt not take in vain the terrible name of war, neither in gross pleasantry nor in foolish derision, nor in any way unworthily by word or picture.

Be mindful of peace in thy heart's depths and know that the assurance of its coming sanctifies thee in thy present service. For the future is like a festal day for thy people, a source of zeal and of joy for thee and thine, for all those who honestly bear good will with them, and also for the stranger within the gates.

Honor thy father and thy mother in defending the soil of the Fatherland in which their bones repose.

Thou shalt kill in order to sustain the life that shall rise from destruction.

Thou shalt let naught be taken away of that which belongs to thy people.

Thou shalt respect the German woman, because she makes her sacrifice in silence and bears her sorrow without complaint.

Thou shalt not suffer false witness to be borne against thy people.

Thou shalt nevermore covet the manners and customs of thy neighbors, neither their language, nor their clothes, nor any other thing that is made solely for the foreigner. But the German soul shall continue to spread over the world, mighty in its culture, full of understanding and gathering into the treasure store of the Fatherland all that all the nations hold as most precious.

Reward for Return."

"Lost," says an ad in the Frankfort Index, "a pocketbook containing a loaf of bread, a quarter's worth of beefsteak and a few dollars in change."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Story books tell us that places of fame and eminence are attained only after hardship. According to the story book idea, the man who reaches the position of chief justice of the United States supreme court, for example, should first have a mighty tough, hungry time of it. He should have slaved for his keep while gaining his legal education, eating the husks from low-priced boarding houses and sleeping on bare floors. And he should have waited for many months in a cheerless office before enticing in his first client. Moreover, the fee from his first client should have been not to exceed $2.50.

None of these story book elements, however, coincides with the facts in the case of Chief Justice White.

The moment White was ready to practice law, down in his native Louisiana, a case came and dropped right into his lap, like a gift from the gods, and netted him a snug little fee of something like $5,000.

Scarcely was the paint dry on the sign "Edward Douglas White, Attorney at Law," when the head of a bank in White's town came to him with a highly attractive proposition.

It seemed that the bank was about to foreclose certain mortgages involving a total of a great many thousands of dollars. The legal details involved were comparatively easy, but the scale of attorney fees allowed by law was rather high.

"In the absence of any agreement," explained the banker to White, "the attorney fees in this matter might amount to more than $10,000. We think that would be excessive for the service rendered. The law makes no objection, however, to an attorney agreeing beforehand to accept less money than that."

And he made White an offer of $5,000 or thereabout to perform the work required.

Naturally White was pleased at the idea of $5,000 for an initial fee. But the thing seemed too good to be true. It seemed to him that there must be some trick or catchword to the proposition. So he asked the man how it happened that he, an unknown lawyer, was picked from out of a clear sky to receive a fee that would have appealed to all the older lawyers in town—lawyers of influence who could do favors for the bank.

"I'll tell you why," replied the banker. "Years ago, when I was a messenger at the bank that I now head, your father was a director of the institution. I got an ambition to be promoted to a place as teller. Your father helped me to get it. From there I afterward rose to a cashiership, and on up. It was my hope that I might some day repay your father for his kindness, but I never found the opportunity. The best that I have been able to do, you see, was to try to do a favor for your father's son."

Frank B. Willis, governor of Ohio, can eat almost any article of food with a great deal of relish. And he is not only a hearty eater, but a careful shopper when seeking food. He has an especial prejudice in favor of table d'hote meals, and likes to try new places in search of table d'hote bargains. There is something about sitting down to a meal with the totaf cost thoroughly understood beforehand and then freely helping one's self to anything on the card. That, Willis finds, is a great aid to digestion.

From the Wine-Press.

Around a shining table sat
Five men in black tail-coats;
And what their sin was none could say
For each was honest, after his way,
(Tho' there are sheep, and armament firms,
With all that this "connotes").

One was the friend of a merchant prince,
One was the foe of a priest,
One had a brother whose heart was set
On a gold star and an epaulette,
And—where the rotten carcass lies,
The vultures flock to feast.

But—each was honest after his way,
Lukewarm in faith and old;
And blood to them was only a word,
And the point of a phrase their only sword,
And the cost of war they reckoned it
In little disks of gold.

They were gleanly groomed. They were not to be bought.
And their cigars were good.
But they had pulled so many strings
In the tinseled puppet-show of kings
That when they talked of war, they thought
Of sawdust, not of blood;

Not of the crimson tempest
Where the shattered city falls;
They thought, behind their varnished doors,
Of diplomats, ambassadors,
Budgets and loans and boundary lines,
Coercions and recalls;

Forces and Balances of Power;
Shadows and dreams of dust;
And how to set their bond aside
And prove they lied not when they lied,
And which was weak and which was strong,
But—never which was just.

Yet they were honest, honest men.
Justice could take no wrong.
The blind arbitrament of steel,
The mailed hand, the armored heel,
Could only prove that Justice reigned
And that her hands were strong.

For THEY were strong. So might is right,
And reason wins the day.
And, if at the touch of a silver bell
They plunged three nations into hell,
The blood of peasants is not red
A hundred miles away.

But if one touch on a silver bell
Should loose beyond control,
A blind, immeasurable flood
Of lust and hate and tears and blood,
Unknown immeasurable powers
That swept to an unseen goal,

Beyond their guidance for one hour,
Beyond their utmost ken,
No huddled madman, crowned with straw,
Could so transgress his own last law • • •
So a secretary struck the bell
For these five honest men.

Retailed Glory.

Strand: "Mother wants a penn'orth of glory divine."

"We don't keep that," said the chemist.

"Oh, yes, you do," the little maid retorted. "We've got it here before. Mother puts it down the drain in the back yard."

Then the chemist knew that the "glory divine" was another way of saying chloride of lime.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

When Slang Is Not Slang.

Wabasha Herald: An exchange declares that Governor Hammond is addicted to the use of slang. The expression laid to his door is, "Believe me." Well, that expression is an old one and was even used by the famous "Tom Moore," who wrote the beautiful lines of the song entitled, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms." Now if that is slang, make the most of it.

Naming It Properly.

Elk River Star-News: Congress has adjourned after nearly two years of almost continuous session. President Wilson did not get all he wanted from congress, but he came so near it that it might well be called the Wilson congress, not to its discredit, either.

A Long Way to Get the Merry.

St. Paul Review: The perturbations of Minneapolis over the vote of the city to go dry as against that of St. Paul to go wet are worse than the conscience that makes cowards of us all.

Who Will Enforce It?

Litchfield Independent: Representative Bowers has introduced a bill in the Minnesota house prohibiting the giving or receiving of tips. The tip nuisance is one that should be abated, if possible, but whether or not it can be accomplished by legislation is a question.

Indifferent.

Tower News: County division is receiving some attention in these parts this week. Another sentiment has sprung up and some opposition appeared. Tower has never boiled over in favor of division. The matter has been discussed impassionately from every standpoint, and it is doubtful that if left to a Tower vote that the county would be divided. However, we shall live through it whichever way it goes.

Good Will With President.

Winona Independent: The good will of all the people of the United States is with President Wilson in the midst of the serious difficulties that beset the path of the administration because of the warring nations across the Atlantic, difficulties that have confronted no other president in such volume or variety. The nation is glad today that it is represented in the White House by one whose vision is so keen and so broad.

Where the Trouble Lies.

Le Sueur News: It is not the people who are criticizing President Wilson and trying to force this country into a war for or against Germany. It is the money power and the jingoists. The latter dance and sing when the former pull the strings. Let Mr. Wilson alone. He will maintain peace. If war was declared tomorrow not a millionaire or a jingoist would be found in the ranks. It would be the solid citizens who are the foundation of the government, who would be forced to face the bullets. We can sympathize with warring Europe, pray for peace over there and be sure to maintain it here.

Watching With Wonder.

Brainerd Dispatch: Senator Moses E. Clapp squints again at progressivism and indicates clearly that his candidacy for re-election to the United States senate will be based on a desire to hold onto the Republican Progressives, and the Progressives, according to a Washington telegram, which says the indications are taken from a letter addressed to the chairman of the executive committee of the Progressive party. One sometimes wonders if all the things are true that have been said and printed about "Our Moses" in a political way during the past few years. He has been well used at the hands of his Minnesota Republican friends and they are watching some of his movements with something akin to wonder.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

When I cry unto Thee, then shall mine enemies turn back.—Psalm lvi.

But it must be a real "cry." It must not be an idle recitation which sheds no blood. It must be a cry like the cry of the drowning, a cry which cleaves the air like a bullet. Said a man to me some while ago: "Assault the heavens with cries for me!" That is the cry which takes the kingdom by storm.

When such a cry rends the heavens "my enemies turn back." A secret and irresistible artillery begins to play upon them, and their strength falls. Yes, believing prayer calls these invisible allies into the field. "The mountains are full of horses and chariots of fire round about!" And the enemy flies!

"This I know." The psalmist is building upon experience. The miracle has happened a hundred times. Many a morning has he seen the enemy vainglorious tramping the field and he has cried unto the lord and before nightfall there has been a perfect rout. Blessed is the man who has had such heartening dealings with the Lord that he can now face a hostile host in unclouded faith and assurance.—J. H. Jowett.

"Sunlight and shade; rich gold that dulls to gray;
The fairest summer morn, radiant with light,
Succeeded by the gloomiest winter night—
So runs the tale of life from day to day.
And no man knows when, ranked in close array,
The thick black clouds will hide the sun from sight,
And darken all that has been glad and bright,
And make life for a while a shadowed way.
'Mid sun and shadow, happiness and woe,
The years roll on, each bringing its due share
Of pure, unruffled joy and stormy care;
And yet, if men will only have it so,
The dark days will be short, and every one
Will have his long fair summer day of sun."

Editorial Amenities.

Nashville Tennesseean's Opinion of the Editor of the Nashville Banner: As we have specifically stated in a previous issue, we do not take the same view of Stahlman's senility as he does. It is true he is a mouthing, creeping knave, but he is this by nature and not from age; he is attempting to hide behind his years of dishonor and assail without the fear of molestation, but he must hold himself as amenable to the exacting rules of society as if he were the same Stahlman who in the past has had his face slapped and who, like a cowardly cur that he is, has been kicked from public places.

Don't "Bottle the Whys"

Youth's Companion: One father who has had some success in training his children to think and act for themselves well and wisely, declares that the secret lies in answering all their questions fully, frankly and sympathetically. He tells the child everything he knows on each question that is asked, and if his knowledge is not adequate, spares no pains to make it so. The method is not always convenient for the teacher, but it results in a surprisingly large fund of information for the pupil, an ever-growing desire for more, a habit of going straight to his father for enlightenment, and a sense of responsibility for his own conduct.

Aside from the inconvenience, the reason why parents so commonly object to this way of dealing with the questioning habit is the fear that the child will never permit them to make any exceptions, but experience has proved that the fear is groundless. Instead of making himself disagreeable, the child usually acquiesces. He is willing for once to remain ignorant; for having learned that his father and his mother are sympathetic and reasonable, he concludes that in this case it is not possible for them to explain, and so is content to obey without knowing why.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

TREASURERS' BONDS.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Please answer through the Open Court column the following: Is a township treasurer required to furnish bonds and if so in what amount?
A. M.
Eveleth, Minn., March 16.

Under the state law a township treasurer must furnish a bond which must be filed with the register of deeds before he can qualify for office. The amount of the bond is not fixed by statute. It is fixed by each town board.—The Editor.

DRY COUNTIES.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Will you please let me know through the Open Court how many counties are dry in Michigan, and name the same; also if the change from wet to dry has made things better or worse for the people.
C. E. J.
Crystal Falls, Mich., March 12.

The Editor has no up-to-date statistics on this subject. Perhaps one of the readers can oblige C. E. J.—The Editor.

WHOLESALE PRICES.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Please publish in the Open Court wholesale prices to dealers, by the hundredweight, on the following staples: flour, sugar and salt pork, f. o. b. Duluth. Thanking you in advance, I am respectfully,
W. L. B.
Beltrami county, Minn., March 14.

Duluth wholesale houses on March 16 quoted flour at $7.50 a barrel. The barrel contains 196 pounds. Sugar was quoted at $6.31 a hundredweight, and salt pork, dry, sold at 12½ cents a pound, or $22 a barrel, which amounts to about 11 cents a pound.—The Editor.

EGGS AND BREAD.

To the Editor of The Herald:
In your paper of March 9 I see where two men were arrested for selling bread. No doubt these men bought their material here in town. Why should they not have the privilege of selling it again? Would a person with say 25 to 100 chickens have to pay a license to sell the eggs? I know of several who sell eggs and take them around to sell. If a person must have a license to sell bread why not charge those people that sell eggs that we eat with the bread? It looks just as fair to sell bread as it would to sell eggs without a license.
A READER OF YOUR PAPER.
Duluth, March 13.

The arrests were made in Superior, and the question raised is one for the Superior police.—The Editor.

Tell Mother I'll Be There.

When I was but a little child
How well I recollect,
How I would grieve my mother
With my folly and neglect;
But now that she has gone to heaven
I miss her tender care.
Oh, angels, tell my mother
I'll be there.

Chorus.
Tell mother I'll be there,
In answer to her prayer,
Its message from you angels to her there;
Tell mother I'll be there
And joys with her to share,
Just tell my darling mother I'll be there.

One day a message came to me,
It bade me quickly come,
If I would see my mother
Ere the Savior called her home.
I promised her before she died
For heaven to prepare;
Oh, angels, tell my mother
I'll be there.

MILWAUKEE MAY LOSE HOME FOR SOLDIERS.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 16.—Capt. Fred D. Close, New York, chairman of the National Soldiers' home board, in an interview here intimated that the Milwaukee branch may be abolished at no distant day, because of the idea of consolidation necessitated by the rapid depletion in the ranks of the inmates. He said that while the Milwaukee institution was ideally located, the presence of numerous saloons in close proximity would militate against the institution, unless the legislature passes a law providing for their removal.

MAY DOUBLE UP ON IMPROVEMENTS

Sixth Street and Sixteenth Avenue May Both Be Improved.

The appearance of property owners along Sixteenth avenue east, between Sixth and Eighth streets, at the meeting of the city commission yesterday afternoon, caused Commissioner Murchison to table the resolution ordering the improvement of Sixth street, between Fifteenth and Eighth avenues east.

Just as the commissioners were about to open their meeting, a delegation of the owners appeared with a petition asking for the improvement of Sixteenth avenue, between Sixth and Eighth streets, at the same time that Sixth street was improved. They did not know that Commissioner Murchison had a resolution prepared ordering Sixth street improved, but after their petition was read, the head of the public works division decided to postpone action and obtain estimates on both jobs at the same time.

If the figures are satisfactory, Commissioner Murchison told the property owners, he will prepare a new resolution ordering both Sixth street and Sixteenth avenue improved at the same time.

The improvement of Sixth street, it is estimated, will cost about $15,000.

NORWAY WANTS MORE U. S. TRADE

Noted Scandinavian Editor to Visit Head of Lakes March 19.

Studying American business methods in order to promulgate a closer commercial alliance between the United States and Norway, two of the largest nations in the world not entangled in the trouble abroad, H. O. Oppedal, editor-in-chief of Verdens Gang, Christiania, will visit the Head of the Lakes March 19. The Verdens Gang is one of Norway's leading newspapers.

In order to take advantage of the present international political situation, Mr. Oppedal has been traveling in the United States for several months, conferring with officers of civic and commercial orders throughout the country. A number of years ago he was for a time editor of Norden, a Norwegian-American paper published in Chicago.

He will address members of the Duluth and Superior orders of the Sons of Norway at the Forester hall, March 19. The talk will be given under the auspices of Duluth Lodge No. 131, S. of N. He will also address members of the Commercial club during his short stay.

From Duluth he will go west to the Pacific coast, stopping at various cities en route, with San Francisco as his destination. He will return to Norway early in May.

JURY TRIAL DENIED.

Court Will Hear Case Against Eureka Ore Company.

In the district court yesterday afternoon Judge Cant signed an order denying a motion of Herman J. Nathanson's attorneys for a jury trial of the action instituted by him against the Eureka Ore company and Walter Markham, B. F. Smith, Henry Johnson, Harry Osterberg and Henry Siegel to compel an accounting and to recover an alleged interest in the Madrid mine. Nathanson alleges that he was defrauded out of his rights by the defendants. He asked that certain questions be submitted to a jury, but the court held that the issues were for trial by the court without a jury.

PROVIDENCE SPRING RECALLED

Old Veteran Tells About the Spring That Broke Out in the Stockade at Andersonville Fifty Years Ago.

On April 9 next it will be just fifty years since Grant told the rebels to take their horses and go to work, which was really much harder for them to face than their surrender at Appomattox. And it is now fifty years since the Providence spring broke out in the stockade of Andersonville, Aug. 9, 1864. Memory carries my thoughts back to that very day as I lay there in the stockade, sick and not expected to live and so weak that I could not stand upon my feet, and could not eat the coarse rations that were served to the prisoners.

Father Hamilton came into the stockade that day and prayed for a comrade not ten feet from where I was. I heard the words of this prayer—every word that was said by this good and Godly man. Two hours afterward this comrade died and was carried out and laid at the dead line close to the stockade gate. I thought to myself "this will soon be my fate, but a few days and it may be a few hours will be my turn," for I had given up all hope that I would live to get out of the prison pen. I had fallen asleep when I was awakened by a comrade, sergeant of my detachment of ninety. Each consisted of ninety men prisoners. "Comrade," the sergeant said, "take a drink of this," and as I sat up he placed a canteen to my lips and the ice cold water as I drank seemed to give me a new lease of life. I said "Sergeant, wherever did you get that water?" "Why," he said, "a spring has broken out, gives a four-inch stream of the finest and coolest water, and our boys call it Providence spring."

From that very day I got better and stronger and was able to walk to take my place in the line of which in no part of the day was there less than a thousand of my comrades waiting their turn for to get a drink of that most precious spring water. This spring saved a great many of the prisoners' lives, and but for it the death rate would have been much higher than it was. There died in that month 2,993, an average of 96 per day. In the prison pen at that time were 32,193 prisoners. This is most hard to believe at this late day. The water from the creek that ran through the stockade was bad; in fact most filthy and unfit for either washing or drinking, and to use it was poison. This wonderful spring, my diary shows, broke out on Aug. 9, 1864, and all who were in Andersonville prison will remember that it was a rainy time. In fact it rained nearly every day in that month up till the ninth and on that very day the downfall was fearful, so much that the stockade was broken down in several places and no less than five acres of the low ground was under water.

That part of the creek where the stockade was gave way and went floating down with the stream, and a few of the prisoners, seeing this way of escape, made a rush for their liberty in the hope of making their escape. Wirz, the commander of Andersonville, shouted "Fire, fire, guards, don't you see the prisoners escaping?" They refused, for not a gun was fired by that rebel guard on that day. That night bloodhounds were put upon the track of the few that made their escape, and most of them retaken and brought back into the stockade. In this most dreadful prison pen, with all its horrors, I remained a prisoner for nine long months. When first brought to Andersonville, there were some 5,000 of us, mostly from Richmond. We were drawn up in line and counted off into companies of ninety men called a mess or detachment. There were three sergeants told off to preserve order and to deal out the scanty rations.

"After we had been counted off, Capt. Wirz came along and walked along the line of companies slowly and, looking each prisoner in the face, said: "A great many of you are foreigners. You came down here to fight us, expecting and have been promised by your government 160 acres of land, but let me tell you all that the most land you will ever get is six feet by two." Of those 5,000 brave Union boys that entered the gates of Andersonville that day over 2,000 died, starved to death. If this number of men should die at the rate of 96 per day at the present time in any city of the United States of twice the population of Andersonville, so great a mortality would be regarded as appalling and this whole country would rise up in the horror of an epidemic which could carry off close on to a hundred men every day for ninety days, and on a piece of ground no larger than thirty-five acres. These were the conditions at Andersonville during the summer of 1864.

WANT BREAKWATER AT TWO ISLANDS

Petition Out to Get Shelter Harbor on North Shore.

In the hope that a breakwater and a lighthouse will be established at Two Islands, which is on the north shore of Lake Superior, about half way between Two Harbors and Grand Marais, a number of petitions are being circulated in Duluth and in various towns and settlements along the north shore, which, when they are properly signed up, will be forwarded to Congressman Clarence B. Miller, who will be asked to push the project with the proper authorities at Washington.

While the harbor that would be formed by the construction of this breakwater would be primarily for the benefit of steamers and other craft that trade along the north shore, it is pointed out that in case of heavy sea, and larger vessels found themselves in distress, the harbor would make good shelter for them.

Capt. Ed Smith, master of the steamer America, and who probably knows the north shore better than anybody in this part of the country, or fully as well, for the reason that he started to sail it, as one man recently put it, "as soon as he was old enough to toddle," has started the agitation and much interest is being shown. The petition recites the following after the preamble:

"Your petitioners further show that the distance between Grand Marais and Two Harbors is approximately eighty miles and that there is no place on said shore between the points named where a boat or vessel can seek safety or shelter from the storms; that the shore is bold and rocky; that there are no bays or indentations of sufficient size to serve as a protection or shelter in case of storm; that this stretch of water is navigated by boats engaged in carrying passengers and freight from the opening of navigation in the spring until about the middle of January when operations cease on account of ice, and for nine or ten months of the year this harbor would be useful, and there is no place on the chain of lakes where the protection is more needed than here."

HENRICKSEN GUILTY.

Admits Buying the Oasis Saloon With Worthless Check.

Before Judge Cant in district court yesterday afternoon, Anthony Henricksen pleaded guilty to two indictments charging him with the crime of issuing checks on a bank where he had no funds. Henricksen will be brought before the court for sentence later. The prisoner admitted that he drew a check in favor of Gust Carlson for the purchase price of the Oasis saloon. On the following day he made a check for $11.58 payable to Frerker Bros. & Co. for the purchase of a supply of liquors. At the bank both checks were refused. Henricksen's arrest immediately followed.

PRINZ EITEL LISTED AS REGULAR WARSHIP.

Washington, March 16.—Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, formally notified the United States government yesterday that the converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich was a warship officially listed in the imperial navy.

This notification was deemed necessary to remove all doubts as to the status of the vessel now at Newport News. Some American officials had suggested that the Prinz Eitel, being a converted cruiser, did not appear on the official lists of the German navy, and under the laws of the United States, its officers and crew might be tried for piracy on the high seas for destroying the American ship Frye.

FORD CONCERN SETTLES.

Pays Families of Men Killed in Fargo Building.

Fargo, N. D., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ford Motor company has settled for the killing of two men in the construction of its new office building and warehouse here, when supports gave way and the concrete on the second floor fell, burying two laborers. Two others were injured. One of the dead men was a widower with two children. The other had a wife and three children. Each family was given $5,000 and each child was given a $60 per month allowance until he reaches the age of 21. The settlement was the voluntary offer made by the company and the relatives of the two families advised its acceptance. No attorneys were employed in the negotiations. It is understood that the company has also made a liberal settlement with the men who were injured.

ALWORTH BUILDING

ORGANIZE FOR MURCHISON

Leading Citizens Take Charge of Campaign of Works Commissioner.

Three Candidates for City Council Open Headquarters.

Z. D. Scott of the Scott-Graff Lumber company will direct the campaign for Commissioner Murchison, candidate to succeed himself as head of the division of public works, while R. B. Knox has been chosen chairman of the executive committee of prominent citizens, who have joined in the movement to re-elect the incumbent.

Commissioner Murchison will not have much to do with the campaign, as he will be too busy with his duties as the head of the department of the public works. The entire fight in his behalf will be handled by his friends, it was said this morning.

It was announced this morning that campaign headquarters will be opened tomorrow morning at 301 Alworth building and that Mr. Scott and the committee will begin work at once.

The campaign committee, proper, will be composed of Mr. Scott, chairman; Philip M. Hanft, secretary, and W. S. McCormick, treasurer. The personnel of the executive committee, of which Mr. Knox will be chairman, has not been completed and will not be announced until tomorrow.

Three Have Headquarters.

Three of the candidates for commissioner have selected their chairmen and have opened headquarters. The others are: J. A. Farrell, who has appointed M. J. Murray as his chairman, with headquarters in the Manhattan building; and Bernard Silberstein, who selected F. C. Elston as his manager, with offices in the Phoenix block.

R. E. McFarlane will announce his chairman on Thursday and J. L. Norman is planning to handle his campaign himself. Both W. L. Bernard and C. E. Evens have not finally decided whether they will run or not, so that committees have not been appointed nor headquarters selected.

Mr. Silberstein filed his acceptance with City Clerk Palmer this morning, officially entering the campaign. Nothing further has developed regarding the candidacy of C. E. Evens and W. L. Bernard, both of whom have been asked to drop out of the race by supporters of Commissioners Hicken and Murchison. They are the only two candidates, whose acceptances have not been filed.

Before leaving for St. Paul last night Mr. Bernard, who is a member of the lower house in the state legislature, left his certificate of acceptance with friends, with instructions that it be filed only when Mr. Evens files. In case the latter agrees to drop out of the race, Mr. Bernard will also withdraw.

Mr. Evens left San Francisco on Sunday according to a letter received this morning by his family, and he is expected home tomorrow. On his arrival here the proposed withdrawal will be taken up with him and in case he refuses to drop out, he will have until midnight in which to file his acceptance.

Should Mr. Evens fail to reach Duluth before tomorrow night, the acceptances of both Mr. Evens and Mr. Bernard will be filed and the proposition that they withdraw will be taken up later, it was announced this morning.

EVOLUTION IS NOT ALL

Gospel Needed, Says Dr. J. W. Hoffman in Noon Talk at Lyceum.

Respectably Selfish, Generously Wicked and Morally Lazy People.

Ministers do not throw aside the work of progressives in religion, in their plea for the gospel, according to Rev. Dr. John W. Hoffman of the First M. E. church, in the second of a series of noon-day services at the Lyceum theater today. His topic was "The New Life."

"We do protest," said Dr. Hoffman, "against an illegitimate inference from this scientific concept in which the contention is made that human nature has in it all that is sufficient for the tasks and aims of life."

Dr. Hoffman's address attracted a large audience from the department stores and office buildings, as on Monday, and from present indications these noon-day services will be more popular this year than before. Rev. M. P. Burns gave a prayer following the address and W. H. Hancock gave a selected solo.

The Address.

Dr. Hoffman's address, in part, follows:

"The gospel is a message of revolution. The changes it brings about are radical, thorough going and far-reaching. It introduces into society a force neither physical nor mental, but primarily moral and spiritual. It unsettles foundations long established and supplants social habits centuries old. Its methods are neither coercive nor natural, but voluntary and supernatural. It shatters age-long institutions and customs, not with the anarchistic bomb, but with the dynamic of new truths. It is the mightiest factor in the world's life and is today unrivaled as the greatest civilizing power at work among men. No wonder these primitive people saw in Paul and Silas radical revolutionaries who by their message and life were creating new customs, new habits and a new society.

Most Original Impulse.

"These vast moral and social changes were brought about by the gospel of Christ. It is the most original and creative impulse ever imparted to this old race of ours. Once it was deemed indispensable to man in his climb to God. There are those who remind us this is no longer a progressive view. We are being told that man unfolds, develops, as does the tree, the plant, the flower. He evolves a personality from good to better, and better to best.

Evolution Magical Word.

"Evolution is the magical word in our age. It is really a great and valid one. It is descriptive of continuity of process in the world of nature. Far be it from me to throw aside the work of experts in a plea for the gospel. We do not. Rather do we protest against an illegitimate inference from this scientific concept in which the contention is made that human nature has in it all that is sufficient for the tasks and aims of life. We are informed that we do not need God; there is no place for such a revolutionary action as the new birth; man is equal to his highest and holiest ambitions. In a list of notables of over 500 in number, Jesus Christ is not included, yet the very civilization which made possible the achievements of the more eminent of this man's hall of fame is chiefly indebted to this same Christ.

Gospel Is Barred.

"We know not how widely this peculiar view has extended nor how seriously it is determining the vital attitude of men. Of one thing only are we certain. Many are living in precisely this fashion. The gospel has no real place in their thought and emotion. Their plans and purposes have no definite content of Christ. The passionate plea of Isaiah and the splendid eloquence of Paul neither inspires nor directs them to God. Their homes have no altar of prayer and their families no sanctuary. Grateful recognition rises not from table to God and Sabbath holds no suggestion of moral culture and spiritual good. Today rude profanity broke from the lips of one and selfishness in another reared itself against a fellow man, ignoring the moral imperatives of Jesus, indifferent to the matchless spiritual appeal of the Christ these are diverted from the highest aim of life and their broadest usefulness in society.

Man Needs God.

"Practical experience with life, the newspaper reports of a day, the court records of a session, the failure of moral and social legislation, the annals of history all reenforce the necessity of the new birth as the basis and beginning of the new life. Man needs God. Reverence, holiness, righteousness, like unto Christ, comes not from one's ancestors, neither does it arise spontaneously out of one's environment. While immortality is inherent in the soul, eternal life comes only as we fellowship with Christ.

Three Classes of People.

"Three classes of people, at least, are discernible in every community. We have the cultivated and respectably selfish, who have as little idea of the Christian swing of philanthropy as a Hottentot has of the Greek classics. They repudiate the responsibilities of citizenship with the same ease that they ignore their duties to God. The Cross of Calvary is as meaningless to them as is the tonal sob of Beethoven. They hear not the wail of the broken in heart and see not the crushed lives under the juggernaut wheels of a remorseless greed which crowds the weak to the earth. Then we have the generously wicked. Gay, giddy, thoughtless, open-handed they move through life without serious purpose and lacking utterly the power of self-direction. Victims of every fleeting passion they indulge drinks or drugs, dollars or debaucheries. For these life is frivolous, foolish and fastidious all in one. They may go to either extreme of silliness or of slovenly badness. We must not forget, however, another class—the morally lazy and shiftless. They possess no energy that lifts the soul in prayer or the hand in service. Ability they have but no mighty ideal directs or stimulates it into action. They select the easy way rather than the right one. The goal nearest them is most attractive rather than the one most excellent. They adopt in the social life the methods yielding the quickest return rather than the one of most permanent value to man.

Selfish Must Change.

"Momentous changes must take place in these if the respectably selfish is to become generously wise, the generously wicked is to become prudently good and the morally lazy is to become the mighty servants of humanity and God. A new and radical experience of the regenerating power of Christ must be theirs. The new life must have the Christian basis before it can develop the graces and habits, and enthusiasms of Christian conduct. The conscience must be cleansed, the emotions organized around ideals infinite as God, the will invigorated so as to enthrone the great executive of the universe.

"This then is our plea: No man can obtain his widest usefulness, his noblest development, his holiest joy apart from God. Incentives as mighty as omnipotence must undergird the will—they come not from one's father or mother. No matter how rich and abundant the latent resources of one's nature, they need the touch of God ere they will reach their most righteous uses. Fullness of life, interests that are vital and eternal, the divinest consummation of character and conduct and the victorious conquest of time and eternity all hinges on one's attitude to Jesus Christ. Receive Him and new life is ours, new service is ours, new characteristics are ours and a glorious destiny is ours."

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy.

SUPERIOR "DRY" CAMPAIGN MEN CONFIDENT

Committee of Fifty Will Circulate Petition for Signatures.

R. E. Kenyon, chairman of the committee in charge of the "dry" campaign in Superior, is confident that the necessary signatures of 473 residents of Superior, will be secured before the end of this week. A committee of fifty men, each of whom expects to gotten signatures, is circulating the petition to have the question of making Superior "dry" placed before the voters.

A strong campaign to oppose local option will be made by the liquor element, according to Maurice McGinnis, president of the Superior Retail Liquor Dealers' association. The question of taxes as well as that of leaving 150 vacant business blocks in the city, will be made the principal campaign material by the "wet" advocates.

THREE HURT IN COLLISION.

Auto and Street Car Collide; Two Victims Unknown.

A new demonstrating automobile was badly smashed, and Jesse G. Moran, 319½ Fourth avenue west, Duluth, the driver, was injured about the head, and two young women who were with him in the car, were slightly injured in a crash with a South Superior street car near Twenty-first street and Tower avenue, last night.

Moran was driving north on the street, and according to a witness, driving another car shortly behind him, was straddling the car tracks. In nearing the approaching car he started to turn out of the tracks, but was too late. Moran and the two women were taken to St. Mary's hospital. The women both left the hospital early this morning without giving their names. Moran will be able to leave the institution this evening.

Noughton Trial Continues.

The trial of James Noughton, charged with alleged falsifying of election returns last November, was continued in the district court yesterday. A motion on the part of the defense to have the jury dismissed because of prejudice from reading printed reports, was denied by Judge Smith.

During the day it was brought out that the state had employed private detectives to be present in the court room to obtain evidence of alleged threats that were said to have been made to witnesses for the state. These detectives were hired by Prosecutor Hartley. Proof to show that Noughton was a supporter of Archibald McKay for re-election as district attorney and had also been a supporter of Sheriff Commiskey was brought out by witnesses for the defense. It is expected that the case will not be ready to go to the jury before tomorrow afternoon.

ESTIMATE OF PAVING COST

It will cost exactly $22,890.78 to pave Woodland avenue from Fourth street to Kent road with a one-course concrete pavement, according to the final figures completed this morning in the office of City Assessor Scott.

The city assessor will now prepare an advance assessment roll, covering 80 per cent of the cost, which will be paid by the property owners before the pavement is completed.

Out of the $22,890.78, the city will pay $7,478.35 for street intersections, and $980 will go towards the cost of constructing storm sewers.

Commissioner Murchison expects to start work on the pavement as soon as warm weather sets in this spring.

WHEN YOU WASH YOUR HAIR DON'T USE SOAP

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

WANTS $10,200 FOR LOSS OF EYE

Railroad Employe Says Company Physician Was Negligent.

William A. McGonagle, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company, was a witness this morning in Judge Ensign's division of the district court at the trial of a personal injury action brought against the company by Andrew Laitala for $10,200 damages. The action is one in which the plaintiff claims that he lost the sight of his right eye through the alleged malpractice of Dr. Eiseman, a company physician.

Mr. McGonagle was called to the stand as an officer of the company for cross examination under the statute. He testified with reference to the arrangement which the company had with its physicians and the practice of holding out a small amount of pay from every employe to cover hospital and medical insurance.

Laitala was working on a section crew near Chisholm, July 21, 1914, when a foreign substance got into his eye. He was taken to Dr. Kirke's hospital, where he alleges that Dr. Eiseman, a company physician, attended him, and for several days prescribed an eye lotion. Later Dr. Kirke examined the eye and pronounced the sight of the optic destroyed, it is claimed.

Theodore Hollister is appearing for the plaintiff and Howard T. Abbott of Abbott, MacPherran, Lewis & Gilbert are representing the company.

TWO VERDICTS BY ONE JURY

Find McCall Not Previously in Jeopardy on Trial Charge.

For the first time in several years, two verdicts will be returned by the same jury in the same criminal case when jurors now engaged with the trial of Bert McCall, charged with the crime of receiving stolen property, reach a determination.

This morning, a special verdict was returned by the jury on the question of whether or not the offense for which he had been tried was one for which he had been placed in jeopardy before when he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve a work farm term for the crime of receiving property.

The jury found that McCall's plea of former jeopardy was untrue and returned a finding in the state's favor which permitted the prosecution to proceed with the trial on the merits of the case.

The indictment on which he is being tried alleges that he disposed of a watch that had been stolen March 15, 1914, from the D. A. Miller jewelry store to Philip Caster. The May, 1914, grand jury indicted him for the burglary of the place, but when he was brought to trial the jury disagreed and a mistrial was entered. Jewelry worth $1,000 had been stolen.

Later McCall admitted that he had received stolen property worth about $50. He returned the property and pleaded guilty to receiving certain stolen articles. For this he was sent to the work farm. After his release, it came to the attention of the police that he attempted to sell another watch which had been stolen from the store and which had not previously been accounted for. He was arrested and indicted by the March grand-jury on a new charge of grand larceny in the second degree.

Leonard McHugh, who appeared as his attorney, today made the point that McCall was being placed in jeopardy twice for the same offense. Judge Cant submitted the question to the jury and the verdict was in favor of the state. McCall's defense will be insanity.

Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, is appearing for the state.

For Freckled, Rough or Spotty Complexions

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often an appearing in early spring, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness are best treated by a simple solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.—Advertisement

FIGURED IN ALASKA ROW

Judge Noyes Who Died in Baraboo Central Figure in Arctic Trouble.

Former Member of Grand Forks Bar, Saw Judicial Service in North.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 16.—The Baraboo, Wis., dispatches telling of the death there of Arthur J. Noyes, formerly of this city recalls, to older residents the famous legal fights over mining claims at Nome, Alaska, as Judge Noyes as he afterward became known, served as Federal judge during those troublesome time which have been portrayed in Rex Beach's "The Spoilers." Judge Noyes was 61.

In 1881, after practicing law for a time in Baraboo, he came to Grand Forks, and became a member of the law firm of Morgan & Noyes. He remained here until 1887, when he went to Minneapolis and associated himself with Judge John F. McGhee. He afterward was a member of the law firms of Harrison & Noyes and Noyes & Prendergast.

Judge Noyes went to Alaska after his appointment to the bench in 1900. He served through a period of general interest in the settlement and development of Alaska and rivalry of opposing corporate interests for control of natural resources.

Returning to Minneapolis, Judge Noyes practiced law alone until he removed to Baraboo.

Born in Baraboo.

Baraboo was his native town. He attended the Baraboo public schools and high school, finished the academic course at the University of Wisconsin in 1878, and the law course in 1878. Thereafter for two years he was identified with Nathan Pereles & Sons of Milwaukee, one of the oldest law firms in Wisconsin.

He was twice married. In Dublin, Ireland, in 1884, he married Emily Kingsley Fox, who died in 1886, and in 1893, he married Nancy Rowley Hawthorne of Minneapolis, who survives.

Slope County, N. D., Farmers Offer to Help Build Right-of-Way.

Amidon, N. D., March 16.—(Special to the Herald.)—Since Amidon became county seat of Slope county, the citizens have been anxious to secure modern improvements. Arrangements were completed for outside telephone connections, and the residents started a campaign to secure an extension of the Milwaukee railroad from New England. Committees have interviewed the officials of the road and received little encouragement as far as securing the road this year. The Milwaukee made up its budget last year for this, prior to the designation of Amidon as the county seat, or even the creation of Slope county.

The residents of Slope county are so anxious to secure the road that further inducements will be offered the Milwaukee in the right-of-way and other privileges. The farmers will even guarantee to do some of the grade work.

FINDS CONDITIONS GOOD.

Emigration Inspector for Italian Government Inspects Copper Country.

Calumet, Mich., March 16.—Claims of the labor agitators, made before and during the strike and since that time in regard to labor and living conditions of the working people of the Copper Country do not jibe very well with the opinion of Dr. G. E. de Palma Castiglione, royal inspector of emigration for the Italian government, who is conducting a thorough investigation of conditions in this community as regards his countrymen. Dr. Castiglione has been in the Copper Country a few days and has already gone over a great deal of the work he came here to do. He is highly pleased, he states, with what he has learned of conditions here and he did not depend upon mining company officials or superintendents or anyone who might be tempted to prejudice him in any way for his information. He made a personal investigation, under orders from his government.

Dr. Castiglione says that conditions here, as contrasted with conditions elsewhere in this country and others, are exceptional, he finds. His partial social survey in this community has pleased him greatly. He has completed similar surveys in the coal mining districts of Pennsylvania and Illinois and in Chicago.

TWIN CITY MEN STILL LEAD IN THE BOWLING TOURNEY

Two Duluth Teams in First Ten of Five-Men Event.

Local Doubles and Singles Men Have Bad Luck Break.

The Great Northern five-men team of St. Paul, Wilke and Reimer of Minneapolis, two-men team, and Henry Martin, Sr., of St. Paul, in the singles, still lead the van in the tournament of the Northern Bowling association now taking place in the Grand alleys. Of course, with the better part of a week ahead of the players, all is not over in the way of chance for the others to forge to the front and cop the laurels, but it is admitted that the teams and men mentioned as leaders are among the strongest that have appeared so far.

Last night the contestants did not find things breaking very well for them. Firestone, one of the strongest bowlers in Duluth, did not make good. He was away off form. The highest score of last night was made, however, by a Duluth man, Noriga of the Duluth-Edison team.

Tonight four of the strongest five-men teams in Duluth will play, several of them recently making good showings at the I. B. A. tournament in Minneapolis. The four teams mentioned are the Elcoras, the Red Men No. 17, the Park Hills and the Sharkcrafts. Drawn for the 10 p. m. doubles tonight are Firestone and Otterson, two Duluth cracks, who are expected to make a good showing.

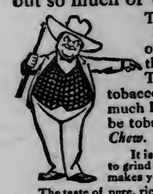
THE PROSPECTOR IS EAGER TO DO THE GOOD JUDGE A FAVOR TOO.
MY, BUT IT HAS GROWN COLD SINCE WE STARTED.
TAKE MY COAT, JUDGE. YOU ARE WELCOME TO IT. YOU PUT ME WISE TO THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

ONE good turn deserves another, and it is no small service to have put a man next to a good thing like the Real Tobacco Chew.

But chewers are a big hearted lot—glad to pass the good word along.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.



Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

HIGH SCHOOL GYM CLASS TEAM WHICH HAS MADE GREAT RECORD

From a practically unknown aggregation of young players in December and January to Northwestern intermediate champions in March is the record of the Central high school "gym" class basket ball team.

They have defeated every team that they have met this season. Considering the teams that have met the gym boys, this is a remarkable record. Their schedule has been a very hard one and yet their slate has not yet been marred by a defeat. In practically every contest they have been outweighed, often times by as many as 20 or 30 pounds to the man. The average weight of the team is 132 pounds and in this class they are invincible. They are soon to close their season's schedule, but are willing to take on a few more teams weighing up to 145 pounds average.

The team has played a long schedule. Among some twenty straight victories, wins over the following aggregations stand out especially prominent: Proctor Y. M. C. A., Denfeld high school, Emeralds, Spaa club, Superior high school, Conemaugh club, Central Business college, Superior Y. M. E. A. Probably the closest contest was with the huskey Superior Y. M. E. A. quint. A win over this crack team was not generally expected as they were considered far out of the gym team's class. This game was won by a 27-to-22 score.

The six players who have made up the team are all somewhat inexperienced but they play together remarkably well. About all of them are "dead" shots and exceptionally fast on their feet. Pedrizetti and "Babe" Mason at the forward positions are a wonderful pair. They are hard workers and excellent all-round players. "Lanky" Gogins at center is the captain and has proven a thorough and reliable leader besides being a great player. Shaw, Rosenberg and Christofferson, who take care of the guard posts, are brilliant players and have worked their job down to a "system." Much credit is due Manager Garon for the success of the team.

DECREE PROMISED FOR WEDNESDAY

Battle Between Federal League and K. C. Club Is Ended.

Chicago, March 16.—After listening to final arguments yesterday by attorneys for both sides of the fight between the Federal league and the Kansas City club over the transfer of the latter's franchise to Newark, N. J., Judge Jesse A. Baldwin in the circuit court announced that he would take the case under advisement until Wednesday morning when he would render a decision.

"Our contention is that the franchise of the Kansas City club was not legally forfeited at the meeting of the board of managers in New York city, Oct. 23, 1914," said John M. Zane, the attorney representing the Kansas City club, in his argument, asking that the temporary injunction issued Feb. 25, restraining the Federal league from transferring the Kansas City club franchise, be made permanent.

"This meeting was illegal because it was not held in January as the articles of the league provide," continued Mr. Zane. "Secondly, it was illegal because Mr. Madison, president of the Kansas City club, was not allowed to take part in the meeting of the board of managers, although he was recorded as present."

The league schedule committee met, but kept secret as to its deliberations. Another meeting will be held Wednesday, it was said, and the schedule adopted will depend upon the court decision.

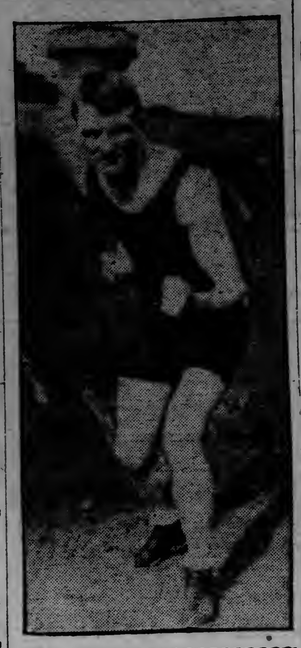
MANAGER OF THE CHICAGO NATIONALS

BRESNAHAN.

MUCH BEATEN CHAMPION FREDDY WELSH IN TWO FIGHTING POSES



STATE QUINTS WILL COMPETE

High Schools Will Fight for Title Last Three Days of Week.

Duluth Central Will Not Play; Favoritism to Virginia Charged.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week the state high school basket ball championship tournament will be held at Northfield, Minn., under the auspices of Carlton college. One team is selected by elimination from each congressional district and represents its respective section at the tournament. Practically all of the teams that will go to Northfield have been chosen by officials, two from each district.

Virginia Is Selected.

The championship of the Eighth district, of which the local Central high school team is a member, has been given to Virginia high school. This claim the Central backers have questioned. Although the Virginia team has already defeated the locals on the range floor, the Duluth men believe that they could not repeat the feat on the local floor. The range gymnasium was small, and the baskets were so constructed that it was extremely difficult for any one not well acquainted with them to locate the loops, they claim. The locals say the range men refused to come down and play a return game.

No Satisfaction Gained.

Coach Glyer of Duluth Central protested to the officials and a game for a neutral floor was offered Duluth. The contest was to be played probably at Chisholm, only a short distance from Virginia, and the officials, coming from Virginia and Chisholm, were considered questionable by Coach Glyer. On the whole the offer for a game on a neutral floor was so one-sided, favoring Virginia, that local officials gave it up.

Cathedral high, although possessed of an excellent team, cannot be represented at the tournament because of its being a parochial institution. The Catholics could undoubtedly make a great showing at the tournament.

Virginia Would Not Play.

Virginia has refused to play a return game, but the Eighth district officials have given the range men the right to go to the Carlton tournament. The local Central team has therefore concluded its season. At the beginning of the year material was sadly wanting, but Coach Glyer built up a winning team nevertheless. Four of the regulars graduate this spring, leaving only one man about whom to build up next year's aggregation. Aside from a few bruises and egg-stained clothes, the persons who braved the storm at Superior Saturday night returned to school yesterday morning alive and whole.

Eames Wins First Game.

Chicago, March 16.—Fred Eames of Denver defeated Jess Lean of Chicago by a score of 50 to 45 in seventy-nine innings in the first game of yesterday's play in the world's championship three-cushion billiards tournament. The high run of each was four.

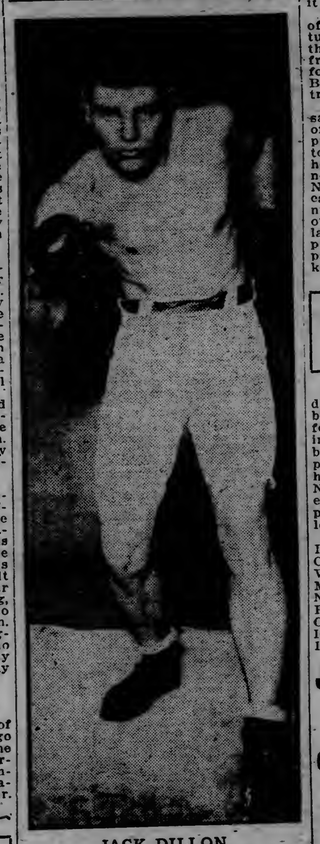
INTERNATIONAL FALLS BALL TEAM IS READY.

Believing in the old axiom that "the early bird catches the worm," no particular worm stated—the International Falls baseball team has organized and is starting to arrange for a schedule for the coming season.

L. S. Wiley, secretary of the International Falls Baseball association, writes The Herald that "we have a good, strong outfit and all communications will be gladly received."

The Herald would like to hear from more ambitious teams that have been organized early. Aside from the desire to promote sport, it makes spring feel that much nearer.

GUNBOAT AND DILLON TO SWAP WALLOPS



JACK DILLON.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gunboat Smith, who claims to be the king of the white hopes, tonight will exchange courtesies and wallops with Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis star, who is not so bad a white hope himself. Each is confident of at least outpointing the other and each has a sort of sneaking hope that he will be able to apply the fistic anaesthetic.

Smith wound up his training on Sunday with a jaunt on the road and when he returned to his quarters he announced that he felt perfectly fit for the struggle. Dillon also ended on Sunday his preparatory work but did a little boxing in one of the Chicago gymnasiums yesterday in order to give the fans of the Windy City a chance to see just what good condition he is in. From the present looks of things, a monster crowd will be at the Auditorium when the two famous gladiators square away for action. Two special trains running direct from Indianapolis will carry the Indiana admirers of Dillon. This is the most important contest Dillon has engaged in for two years and the outcome will be closely followed by Jack's many friends in the Hoosier state.

Billy Miske the St. Paul star, who meets Gus Christie in the semi-wind-up of the card, arrived in Milwaukee Sunday morning. Miske realizes he has a tough battle on his hands but he is confident of the outcome.

BAT MATCHED WITH WELSH

Former Lightweight Champion to Meet Holder in Forty-Five Rounds.

Nelson Scorns Freddie's "Feather Duster" Punch; Matched for Havana.

New York, March 16.—Wouldn't it obfuscate you if, two months hence, you were to see placarded about town posters bearing the following inscription:

Engagement Extraordinary!
BATTLING NELSON,
Two-time Lightweight Champion of the World.

Stranger things have transpired, and this is the era of unexpected occurrences.

Battling Nelson, ex-champion, and Freddie Welsh, incumbent champion, are to meet in a 45-round battle in a Havana ring the last week in April or the first week in May.

There you have it in concise form. The rest is left to the imagination.

Capt. Cushman A. Rice, Cuban rancher and millionaire sportsman and clubman is authority for the announcement.

Capt. Rice will shortly assume the presidency of the National Sporting Club of Havana and is to become the real power in the boxing game in Cuba. He has been tendered the commissionership to supervise the sport on the island and will accept President Menocal's proffer if he is permitted to name his aids. He is authority for the statement that the Welsh-Nelson battle, as outlined, is officially on, for he declares he has seen a copy of Welsh's agreement to take on Nelson in a championship match over the 45-round trail.

Further credence is given the match by the fact that Nelson is already in Havana, becoming acclimated. The Dane realizes this is his second chance of a lifetime, and he does not propose to see it flitter by without making a thrust at it. Nelson's first chance was when he relieved Joe Gans of the lightweight championship.

Welsh is strangely silent about the matter, not uttering one word of rebuttal. Freddie evidently is doing a little calculating on his own hook. He is probably figuring how many rounds of left jabbing it is going to take to close Bat Nelson's eyes and how many more rounds will be required to put a "crusher" of his own on this Battling person.

Both agree on two points, however. They unanimously declare it is going to be a great fight while it lasts and that the receipts are going to be rather abnormal, or enough to compensate them for their afternoon's labor, for it is to be a matinee fight.

Nelson has been a devout follower of Welsh's battles since the Briton returned to this neutral country with the world's championship dangling from his belt. And Freddie's performances have not impressed the Battler, nor driven the fear of a trouncing into his calloused heart.

Before leaving for Havana Nelson said something about not being afraid of Welsh and his "feather duster" punch. It is because Welsh does not tote a 64½-mule-power wallop that he fails to cause Nelson any uneasiness about the forthcoming affair. Nelson has it all calculated that he can wear Welsh down in a certain number of rounds and then devote another certain number of rounds to land the "crusher," as he himself expressed it. A "crusher" in Nelson's parlance means a finishing blow—a knockout.

ILLINI INVINCIBLE AS BASKET SHOOTERS

In the contests this year among Middle Western colleges for the basket ball championship of the Western Conference Illinois seems to have been invincible even more so than its football team was last fall. The championship race is over and the Illini have a clean record. Minnesota and Northwestern are tied for fourth place, each having played on the "fifty-fifty" plan. The standing of the teams follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Illinois	12	0	1.000
Chicago	9	3	.750
Wisconsin	8	4	.667
Minnesota	6	6	.500
Northwestern	6	6	.500
Purdue	4	8	.333
Ohio	3	9	.260
Iowa	2	6	.260
Indiana	1	9	.100

J. KILBANE VS. KID WILLIAMS

Champions of Two Divisions Will Box Six Rounds at Philadelphia.

The life of a fistic champion is bubbling over with such things as financial worries. Take the case of John Patrick Kilbane, world's featherweight champion, for instance. John will box six rounds tonight with the world's bantam champion, Kid Williams, at Philadelphia.

John has been offered the paltry sum of $5,500 for exhibiting his fistic prowess for six rounds.

It must be hard to exert oneself for eighteen minutes for such a trifling amount. Just think that John will have the disagreeable knowledge at the start of each round that he is destined to receive only $916.67 for his labors during the approaching three minutes.

Or, perhaps, he may be so mathematically inclined that for each second that the bout is on he will receive $5.09.

Every time he feints he can declare to himself, "Well, there's another five bones on my bank roll." Or every time he jabs he can console himself with that knowledge. Even if he receives a jolt he may assert, "Well, inasmuch as that brings me $5 I guess it doesn't hurt so much."

BASKET BALL TEAMS IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Standing of Commercial teams:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Northerns	5	2	.714
Kelleys	5	2	.714
Fenton-Dubys	4	3	.571
Lakes	3	5	.375
Big Duluths	1	6	.143

A "royal" conclusion to an exceptionally successful season is promised for the Commercial Basket Ball league tonight when the Northern Hardware quintet meets the Kelley Hardware five to decide the league championship. Up to last Tuesday the Northerns had been leading, but a heartbreaking 23 to 22 defeat sustained at the hands of the Fenton-Dubys, forced the erstwhile leaders back to a tie with Harvey Smith's crack Kelley aggregation. Incidentally the league schedule has allowed for these two teams meeting tonight. Interest in the league race has been very high all year and it is expected that a big crowd will turn out to witness the deciding contest tonight. The added attraction will be the scheduled game between the Fenton-Dubys and the Big Duluths. There will be no changes in the positions of the three lower teams, whatever the outcome of tonight's game. The Fenton-Dubys have third place cinched and the Lakes and Big Duluths will finish in the order named.

The lineup for the big game will be:

Northerns—		Kelleys—
Boerner (capt.)	f	Foryziak
Smith	f	Biegle
Russelman	f	Frost
A. Nelson	g	Dworshak
Grant	g	Beck
W. Nelson	g	Friedman, Megson

CURLING NEARS END; RINKS STILL PLAY

Six Sheets in Fair Shape and Five Games Are Drawn.

This week will see the end of scheduled curling and probably all of it at the Duluth Curling club's rink. Six sheets of ice are still in shape for the stanes, but good curling is over. The ice is heavy but not wet, and games are won by main strength and weight. The big effort is to get the stanes into the house, and most rinks are playing with the rocks reversed.

Only one game was played last night, Ron Smith defeating Frank Fregeau 9 to 5. The draw for tonight in the Blaze o' Glory event follows:

Magie vs. R. Smith.
Ketchum vs. Myron.
Reichert vs. A. Hoene.
Matzke vs. Buchanan.
Furni vs. McGilvray.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Milkman and the Baby II

THE chief reason why the health department should give to the public through the press the monthly report of the bacterial content of milk sold to the public, is his majesty, the baby. It is fair and right that the public should have this knowledge, and nothing but an unfair favoritism for business keeps the report from the people.

Supposing all the dairies supplying milk to the community are under the control of the health department, and that all the cows are tuberculin tested, it is still vitally important to the consumer to know how high the bacterial count of the milk runs, month by month. For this reason: that when the count suddenly mounts upward beyond a reasonable 50,000 or 100,000 germs per cubic centimeter of milk, then the milk should be either boiled or pasteurized before it is fed to the baby. This precaution will save the baby a lot of unnecessary illness from digestive disturbances and intestinal troubles.

How Clean Is Your Baby's Food?

Often enough the bacterial count of a given sample of raw milk will compare quite favorably with the best of certified milk (which contains not more than 10,000 germs per centimeter), and shows that the milkman or dairyman is as strict as may be in handling and marketing the milk. Then, perhaps in the next month, especially in hot weather, the count will mount away sky high—200,000 to 500,000 bacteria—and still the milk is not necessarily unwholesome, though the mere numbers of bacteria show that it had better be sterilized or pasteurized for a while.

The health department sometimes hesitates about publishing the monthly report of the bacteriologist, fearing that some milkmen may suffer undeserved injury from public opinion. This is a sad position for a health department to take. The plan of publication has worked satisfactorily and to the babies' good in many cities; it should be followed in all cities. So long as the milk producers and distributors know that the report is not to be published there is little incentive to strive after a low count—a clean, wholesome, carefully handled milk.

Questions and Answers.

The Art of Quitting the Pipe: Could you suggest a cure for the smoking habit? I would be very grateful if you will, because I have tried several times to quit and never succeeded.

REPLY.

Chew gum. Become a vegetarian, or at least cut down meat to a minimum. Meat eating increases the craving for tobacco. Rinse mouth and gargle each morning with a solution of silver nitrate (2 grains in each ounce of distilled water, to be kept in amber bottle away from light). Eat lots of fruit—apples, especially—and gorge on sugar and candy and sweets of all kinds for dessert.

* * *

The Cause of Appendicitis: It is claimed that enameled cooking utensils are responsible for appendicitis, through the chipping off and contamination of the food with minute particles of enamel. Is this right?

REPLY.

Possibly in very rare instances this might be a contributing factor. The direct cause of appendicitis is bacterial infection with the colon bacillus, the pneumococcus, certain staphylococci and streptococci which produce pus. The colon bacillus is normally present in the bowel. The pneumococcus is the common cause of pneumonia, also a frequent cause of head "cold," sore throat, tonsilitis, etc.—and we believe appendicitis is most frequently a secondary result of infection of the throat. However, that is only our personal view and we can't prove it. No one knows precisely what causes appendicitis.

Thyroid Enlargement: What is enlarged thyroid in a person's neck? Can it be cured without operation?

REPLY.

1. Swelling or inflammation or tumor of the thyroid gland. 2. Most cases respond to medical treatment, but some require operation. It depends on the character of the enlargement.

ROSS INTERVIEW IS RESENTED

Port Arthur Board Denies Statements of Duluth Visitor.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The attention of the Port Arthur board of trade has been drawn to an interview alleged to have been given your paper by Mark Ross who is described as "a theatrical man" of Port Arthur which appeared in your issue of March 9.

Mark Ross is not a Port Arthur citizen, and never was. We cannot allow such reflections on the welfare of our city, as have apparently been cast by Mark Ross when visiting in Duluth, to pass unnoticed.

Ross is reported as having said that there are 550 vacant houses in Port Arthur. This is absolutely false. If our population has decreased it is largely through a great many having volunteered for active service in the gigantic European war that is now being waged. Many of these men are now in the trenches fighting for their king and country while others are in Winnipeg training for the second contingent, and many more are being mobilized at the present time here for the third contingent. There are scores of others anxious to go, should there be another call.

To prove the fallacy of the remark that there are 550 houses vacant here, the commissioner of utilities for Port Arthur is authority for the statement that between Aug. 1, 1914, and Feb. 28, 1915, 274 new telephones have been installed. We have at the present time about 3,000 telephones in active use, which we consider a good showing, when it is borne in mind that the telephone is a luxury.

We do not know to what the man Ross refers when he speaks of a business block in Port Arthur failing for lack of ability to carry on the loan. This statement is entirely without foundation. There is no block in this city that has failed for lack of funds.

We have it on the best authority that for reliable legitimate business, all the money we want can be obtained in Port Arthur, and a loan of more than "a few dollars" is by no means difficult to obtain, provided the borrower be reputable and his requirements and security sound.

Our drydock in Port Arthur is turning out shells for the British war office and employing a large number of men in doing so. In many centers of Canada the war has given such a fillip to trade and commerce that many of the factories in Canada are working overtime.

We trust that you will give this letter the same prominence and publicity in your paper as you gave to the Ross interview. Yours truly

H. S. H. GOODIER,
Secretary.

Port Arthur, Ont., March 13.

DRESDEN SUNK IN SHORT TIME

German Cruiser Surrenders After Seven Minutes' Attack By British.

Magazine Explodes Shortly After and Vessel Goes to Bottom.

London, March 16.—The sinking of the German cruiser Dresden was announced by the admiralty last night in the following statement:

On the 14th of March at 9 a. m., H. M. S. Glasgow, Capt. John Luce, R. N.; H. M. auxiliary cruiser Orama, Capt. John R. Segrave, R. N., and H. M. S. Kent, Capt. John D. Allen, C. B., R. N., caught the Dresden near Juan Fernandez island.

An action ensued and after seven minutes fighting the Dresden hauled down her colors and displayed the white flag. She was much damaged and set on fire, and after she had been burning for some time, her magazine exploded and she sank.

The crew were saved, fifteen badly wounded. Germans are being landed at Valparaiso.

There were no British casualties and no damage to the ships.

Escaped in December.

The Dresden was a member of the German squadron which was defeated by the British squadron off the Falkland islands in December. She was the only one of five German warships to escape. The Dresden was said to have fled westward, but there had been no definite reports as to her whereabouts since that time. She was reported unofficially to have been seen in the Straits of Magellan, and later to be in hiding in one of the bays on the Chilean coast.

The Dresden was a sister ship of the famous Emden, which was sunk off Cocos island in the Indian ocean by the Australian cruiser Sydney after an adventurous career. The sinking of the Dresden leaves at large on the high seas, so far as is known, only the cruiser Karlsruhe, last reported as operating in the West Indies, and the auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, which is still raiding commerce in the South Atlantic.

Assigned to West Indies.

At the outbreak of the war the Dresden was assigned to the West Indies station and, just prior to the beginning of hostilities, she took Victoriano Huerta, who had resigned as provisional president of Mexico, from Puerto, Mex., to Jamaica.

Little was heard of her until the battle off the Falkland islands. Late in August she sank the British steamer Hyades, off the coast of Brazil.

The Dresden, a vessel of 3,600 tons, was no match for the battle cruisers in the fleet of Vice Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee in the battle off the Falkland islands, and after the destruction of the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Leipzig and Nurnberg, she steamed away and escaped her pursuers in the darkness.

Since that time both British and Japanese warships have searched persistently the waters of the South Pacific and South Atlantic but for more than three months the German cruiser eluded pursuit.

Armament Light.

The Dresden's armament was comparatively light. She carried ten 4.1-inch guns, eight 5-pounders, four machine guns and two torpedo tubes. She was 396 feet long. Her complement was 321 men.

Juan Fernandez island, near which the Dresden was finally run down, is a Chilean dependency in the Pacific ocean, about 400 miles off the mainland. The Chilean government protested to Germany in December against alleged violation of neutrality by German warships in Chilean waters and three destroyers were sent by Chile to the Juan Fernandez islands.

The solitary residence on Juan Fernandez island for four years of a Scotchman named Alexander Selkirk is supposed to have formed the basis of De Foe's tale, "Robinson Crusoe."

The Dresden visited New York at the time of the Hudson Fulton celebration.

Wages Increased.

Wilmington, Del., March 16.—Notices have been posted at the Du Pont Powder company plants throughout the country announcing that April 1 each payroll employe will receive an advance of 20 per cent in wages.

GERMANY INTENDS TO CONTINUE WAR

Will Fight Until She Obtains the Guarantees She Desires.

London, March 16.—A Reuter dispatch from Berlin by way of Amsterdam quotes the German minister of the interior and Vice Chancellor Delbruck as declaring in a speech in the upper chamber Germany's intention to continue the war until she obtained the guarantees she desired.

"If we were satisfied merely with repelling the enemy," said the vice chancellor, "we should soon have peace. But we cannot rest satisfied with that alone; we shall not sheathe the sword until we obtain guarantees that our enemies will not attack us again. Discussion of these guarantees at the present moment would not further German interests."

Herr Delbrueck spoke after the upper chamber had adopted the budget without discussion. This, he said, was unprecedented, adding:

"It shows that all partisan elements now are united by a firm determination to win the war, which has been forced upon us.

"Our enemies have been repeatedly defeated by our unconquerable troops" continued the vice chancellor, "and they now are going to try to starve us, waging war against our women and children instead of our armies and fleets."

After reference to the great industrial, agricultural and economic resources of Germany, he said, "we are organized from top to bottom and bound together by a fixed purpose. Those who are compelled to remain at home also will do their best to contribute to the victory.

"France wants the provinces she lost in '71, Russia wants to make a province of Prussia; England wants to destroy German commerce and sea power. But what our enemies have accomplished—the loss of the greater part of our colonies—is without decisive influence on the war.

"On the other hand, Belgium, a great industrial section of France, and a part of Russian Poland are in our possession. There are no enemies on German soil; all their efforts to crush Germany have been frustrated."

At the conclusion of Herr Delbrueck's speech the Prussian diet adjourned to May 27.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT ON FACE

Got Worse and Worse. Disfigured for Time Being. Caused Itching. Scratched and Irritated. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Face Free from Eczema.

127 Emily St., Saginaw, Mich.—"Several months ago my face broke out with eczema. It got worse and worse; it was a sight, all red and bleeding. The eczema disfigured me for the time being. It caused much itching and of course I scratched my face and irritated it.

"I took a treatment but it did not seem to help any. I used several kinds of salves and soaps and they did no good.

My face began to get worse. My brother said to go to the drug store and get a cake of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment which I did. I then washed my face with Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment and kept this treatment up for some time. After using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and the Cuticura Ointment my face was free from the eczema." (Signed) Ray L. O'Brien, June 18, '14.

JAMES MADISON

Fourth Pres. of U. S. Born 1751, died 1836. Member of Virginia Legislation. Member First Congress 1789. Secretary of State under Jefferson. Two terms as President.

Father of Constitution Exemplar of Temperance

James Madison, the well beloved fourth President of the United States, as Father of the Constitution, gave to every American the birthright of Personal Liberty. He believed that liberty develops the strength and independence of character that makes men resolute, temperate, respectors of the rights of others.

Madison himself was an exemplar of righteousness and temperance. He ate and drank always wholesome food and barley malt in moderation and was rewarded thereby with health and a hale old age, dying at 87. In the first Congress, 1789, in the exigency of raising revenue to pay for the war and the cost of government, Madison moved to fix a duty on malt liquors at 8 cents expressing the opinion that this rate "would be such encouragement as to induce the manufacture (of such mild malt beverages) to take deep roots in every state of the Union."

Note:—Roger Bevery described the manner of manufacturing beer in Virginia, Madison's native state, as follows: "The richer sort generally brewed their small beer from malt which they had from England. The poorer sort with Indian corn malted by drying in a stove." Arnold's "Origin and History of Beer and Brewing."

LEGISLATION ON "JITNEYS"

Council Studies Bill Introduced in State Senate By Minneapolis Men.

Legislation affecting "jitney" busses now that there is a line operating in Duluth, is being considered by members of the city commission.

Recently State Senators Wallace and Westlake of Minneapolis introduced a bill in the upper house regulating "jitney" bus lines in cities of the first class in Minnesota. As no lines were then operating in Duluth, although the bill affects this city, the commissioners did not take the proposed law under consideration. However, now that the "jitneys" are here, the commissioners are taking more than a passing interest in the Wallace-Westlake bill.

At the meeting of the city council yesterday afternoon City Attorney Clapp announced that he has a copy of the bill in his possession and in his opinion the law would be beneficial to Duluth, now that the "jitneys" are operating here. The commissioners decided not to recommend the bill, but will welcome it, should the legislature make it a law.

The "jitney" bus bill provides for the issuing of licenses to automobile owners planning to operate bus lines, the filing of surety bonds amounting to at least $25,000, so that passengers and pedestrians can be indemnified against damages, and the laying out of routes by city councils that these lines must follow. All the machines will also have to pay the regular wheelage tax and secure state licenses for automobiles.

WINS $25 PRIZE FOR GUERNSEY COW ESSAY

Clarence Thompson of Hinckley, Minn., has won the contest for the prize offered by the Guernsey Breeders' association of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin for the best article of not to exceed 200 words telling why the Guernsey is the breed best adapted to farmers and dairymen of Northern Wisconsin, Northern Minnesota and Northern Michigan.

The judges were Prof. T. L. Haecker, George C. Cooper and J. B. McLeran. "More than 100 good articles were submitted," declared George C. Stone, secretary of the association, "and after going through them many times the judges eliminated all but twenty-five. Several articles were disqualified because of too great length and others because received after the date of the close of the contest, Feb. 10."

Mr. Thompson, who submitted the prize-winning essay, was mailed a check for $25 this week. His article was as follows:

"The dairy cow is, and must necessarily be, the main dependence of the farmer in Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, and the general adaptability of the Guernsey breed to the existing conditions, seems to justify its placing as the best breed for this section.

"The Guernsey is a special purpose breed, having been bred and fed for centuries along lines of economical butterfat production, and such a cow is needed to develop the resources of this natural dairy section, where the principal dairy product is butter, and it may be further stated that the Guernsey at present holds the world's record for a year's butterfat production.

"The Guernsey possesses two great perfections, the dairy temperament and type that goes with high production, and as a breeder, is very propotent of these qualities.

"The breed matures early, is of good size, docile disposition, and has the constitution that is required to withstand the climatic conditions of this region, but probably the greatest recommendation of the Guernsey as a dairy cow for Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, is the ability to produce butterfat at the greatest net profit."

TURKS CLAIM EIGHT WARSHIPS DAMAGED.

"The hospital ship Canada has left for Malta with numerous injured."

LARGE VOTE IS CERTAIN

Big Majority of Voters Go to Two Harbors Polls Early in Day.

Both Sides Making Claims as to Whether City Will Vote License.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two Harbors today is voting on local option for the second time in its history and the question whether this city shall have licensed saloons is being decided by the voters. That interest is keen is shown by the fact that up to shortly after noon about 900 votes had been cast in the several voting precincts. The registered vote is 1,016 and as this being a fourth-class city, voters can swear in their votes the total vote promises to exceed the registration as many votes are being sworn in. Both sides are making claims as to the outcome. The "drys" say they will win while the "wets" are equally positive but it will not, of course, be known until the polls close at 9 p. m. and the vote is counted which side won. It is safe to predict that there will not be a large margin either way. The contest between the Socialists and the Independents for the city jobs is dwarfed by the larger license fight and it is possible there will be some surprises in store for the various candidates.

Darrow on Personal Liberty.

Clarence Darrow, the Chicago lawyer, addressed an enthusiastic meeting of license advocates at the Star theater last night and in his usual well-rounded sentences pointed out how, in his opinion, to close the saloons would be an invasion of the personal rights and liberties of the people. He also said several favorable things for Socialism.

John Sorenberger, the Lumberjack "sky pilot," delivered a stirring address at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium in favor of closing the saloons and had a large audience cheering most of the time he rapped the saloon evil as he saw it. The monster parade of school children at 4 p. m. was one of the stirring sights of the afternoon. Headed by the Marine band, each youngster carrying a United States flag, the spectacle was an inspiring one. Later in the evening the "drys" had another parade with nearly 1,000 men and women in line.

"STRONG-ARMED" AND ROBBED BY THREE MEN

Man Claims He Was Held Up Near Coleraine By Three Mikes.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—Among the cases to be considered by the grand jury now probing Itasca county criminal matters will be the charge of highway robbery against Mike Schmidt, Mike Dearent and Mike Selzonski, who are alleged to have held up and robbed Theo. Vokovich near Coleraine a few days ago.

The complaining witness says he was walking to Coleraine from Grand Rapids and when in the mining town three men he recognized as the accused "strongarmed" him and took all he had—$15. He went on to Coleraine and made complaint. The three were arrested and Judge Cooper of Coleraine held them to the grand jury.

The team will leave Wednesday morning on the 7:30 train on the Missabe. Play in the tournament will begin Thursday. It is probable that Coach Lynch of the St. Cloud Normal school will referee.

TO TRY GUERNSEYS.

Cass Lake Indian Mission Farm Buys Grand Rapids Stock.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Central Experiment station shipped five high grade Guernsey heifers, coming 2 years old, a full blood Guernsey bull calf, a number of Yorkshire hogs and White Leghorn chickens to the Indian Mission school at Cass Lake, where they will be used on the farm maintained by that institution.

The Mission farm has in the past been keeping Holstein cattle, but they were not satisfactory and they decided the change to the Guernsey. The full blood bull calf is from one of five pure bred cows which were placed on the farm by Mr. McGuire shortly before he left. While these cows are pure bred, they were never registered, and hence, while the bull calf has some of the best Guernsey blood in this section of the state, being from one of the state farm registered sires and from a high producing cow, he cannot be registered.

DISTRICT COURT TERM ON AT GRAND RAPIDS

Broken-Legged Man Drawn on Grand Jury, Could Not Serve.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A broken-legged man was among those drawn on the grand jury that was ordered to report in district court today before Judge McClennehan, but obviously he did not show up and another was substituted for him. Several others drawn had various excuses and at noon Judge McClennehan adjourned court until 2 p. m. instructing the sheriff to take an open venire and bring needed grand jurors into court then to complete the panel.

The grand jury will be sworn in late this afternoon and placed at work on fifteen or twenty cases, all of a minor nature. It is not expected the grand jury will be in session longer than the end of the week.

Petit Jury Case Wednesday.

The petit jurors were excused until tomorrow morning when the first jury case will be called for trial. Meanwhile today the court is hearing applications for citizenship papers, of which there are about forty motions of various sorts and calling the calendar. There are seventy-three civil cases on the calendar but it is not expected all will be called for trial. There are also nine criminal cases left over from the last term. On the whole the court session promises to be a busy one lasting about a month.

GO INTO DETAILS ABOUT AUTOMOBILES

Hibbing Suit for Auto Repairs Drifts Into Mechanical Subjects.

Hibbing, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorneys today went into the technicalities of motor car construction in the case of the Range Motor Service company, which in district court is suing W. E. Lyman for repairs and supplies. The object is believed to be to show that unnecessary repairs and overcharges were made.

Several automobile mechanicians were called to the witness stand. The case is assuming unusually long-winded proportions, and the indications are that it will be fought until the middle of the week. No other case has been continued to the Virginia term, so the present term may be longer than expected.

STOP RECRUITING SOON.

Government Agent at Virginia Notified Enough Men Are Secured.

Virginia, Minn., March 16.—Corporal Vincent McKoskey, U. S. A., who is conducting a recruiting station here for short time, has received notice that after March 19 every recruiting station in the United States, with the exception of the general district headquarters at New York, Chicago, Minneapolis and San Francisco, will be closed indefinitely, as the army is up to the standard number and no more men are wanted.

Corporal McKoskey has not accepted a man during the first few days of his stay in Virginia, though he has examined quite a large number, but none of the applicants were able to pass the physical examination required for entrance into the army. He hopes, however, to secure several recruits before he leaves here on March 19.

THREE JAIL-BREAKERS ARE STILL AT LARGE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sheriff's office has not been able to capture Murphy, the alleged forger and two others accused of minor offenses, who escaped from the county jail here last week. It is said that Murphy has a propensity for check-giving and it is expected he will again be taken on that charge. He had been out of jail a short time after doing time for impersonating an officer at Deer River, when he was arrested on the forgery charge at Coleraine and his case would have come before the present grand jury.

This is a mere formality as the ordinance was voted on by the people and carried.

STATE AUDITOR TO LAND PURCHASERS

Tells Prospective Itasca County Buyers He Is New Settlers' Friend.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the state land sale here Monday, State Auditor J. A. O. Preus addressed prospective buyers before the sale took place. Mr. Preus stated that he wished the people to feel that they have an advocate in him, to whom they can refer their grievances and their troubles regarding land matters, and that it is the desire of his administration of that office to conduct the land business of the state to the best interests of those most affected—the settlers living near the state lands. While no radical departures will be taken in bettering the conditions surrounding the sale and disposal of state lands, Mr. Preus stated that as conditions warrant it, such changes as will be beneficial will be made.

Some Proposed Changes.

Among the latter, he proposes to publish, if proper arrangements can be made, lists of the lands to be offered for sale at each sale. He also plans on giving better access to the field notes of the appraisers of state lands by filing a copy of the same in the county auditor's office in the respective counties. These notes, heretofore, had been on file only in the state auditor's office.

About 3,800 acres of land were sold. One piece, a forty lying adjacent to Deer River, brought $65 per acre, John O'Connell of Deer River being the purchaser. Several pieces went at from $20 to $30 per acre.

Buyers were present from all parts of the county, and from Superior, Duluth and the Twin Cities.

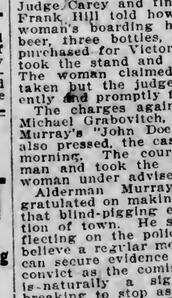
CLOUDY



Thanks be, the weather man missed his guess. He said "cloudy" for today; but if anybody can name a place where more perfect weather prevails he is entitled to the crust of the cake. Sunday and yesterday were cloudy and gloomy, but when one comes to think of it, two cloudy days out of eleven is not so bad. A touch of gloom probably puts an edge on appreciation of brightness.

A year ago today was cold. The sun rose this morning at 6:19 and will set this afternoon at 6:14, giving eleven hours and fifty-five minutes of sunlight. Thursday will be the first of the twelve-hour days.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat colder weather prevails in the Lake region, Ohio and Mississippi valleys, Tennessee, from South Dakota southward to Texas and over Alberta, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Nevada. The temperature has risen over Saskatchewan, Montana, Wyoming and Northwestern North Dakota. Light frosts occurred at Shreveport, La., Fort Smith, Ark., and Spokane, Wash. During the last twenty-four hours light snow or rain fell over the Southwestern Lake region, Ohio and Mississippi valleys, Tennessee, Alabama, Eastern Montana, Wyoming, Southern Saskatchewan and Northwestern Oregon."

ALDERMAN MURRAY'S WORK BEARS FRUIT

One of Alleged Virginia Blind Piggers Is Convicted.

Virginia, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman Murray's crusade against North side blind-pigs bore fruit in municipal court late yesterday when Mary Rukovina, arrested on a warrant issued at the behest of the alderman, was adjudged guilty by Judge Carey and fined $50 and costs. Frank Hill told how he entered the woman's boarding house and bought beer, three bottles, one of which he purchased for Victor Lakso, who also took the stand and corroborated Hill. The woman claimed they were mistaken but the judges thought differently and promptly fined her.

The charges against Mr. and Mrs. Michael Grabovitch, also arrested on Murray's "John Doe" warrants, were also pressed, the case concluding this morning. The court discharged the man and took the case against the woman under advisement.

Alderman Murray is being congratulated on making good his charge that blind-pigging exists in that section of town. He says he is not reflecting on the police as he does not believe a regular member of the force can secure evidence strong enough to convict as the coming of the officers is naturally a signal for all law breaking to stop as long as they are in sight. It is possible that other arrests may be made.

None of Equal Armament.

Five battleships of the British navy yet to be launched will have less tonnage than the Pennsylvania, the ships of the Royal Sovereign class being of 24,500 tons displacement, and none will equal the Pennsylvania in armament. Each is designed to carry eight 15-inch guns.

Details of four other British battleships, already authorized, are not known here officially.

Five ships of the Japanese navy, estimated for in 1914 and known as the Fuso class, will not equal the Pennsylvania in tonnage with their displacement of 30,000 tons, but will carry the same main battery of twelve 14-inch rifles. They will exceed the Pennsylvania in speed, estimates calling for 22 knots against 21 knots for the Pennsylvania.

The 1914 estimates for the German navy call for three ships of the Kaiser Friedrich III class, with a displacement of 29,000 tons and carrying eight 15-inch rifles.

The British ships of the Queen Elizabeth class greatly exceed those of any other navy in speed, requirements calling for 25 knots an hour, while the Royal Sovereign class will make at least 23.5 knots.

Details Are Guarded.

Since the outbreak of the war details as to foreign naval programs have been jealously guarded, and it is probable that Great Britain, Germany and France have laid down many vessels of which no report has been made. So far as is known, however, no vessels have been planned which will exceed in size the three American ships of the California class, work on which has barely started. These will have a displacement of 32,000 tons each and armament equal to that of the Pennsylvania.

The cruising radius of the Pennsylvania will be considerably increased by the fact that she will be equipped for oil fuel exclusively and will have a capacity of 2,322 tons of fuel oil. The Queen Elizabeth has a capacity of 4,000 tons of oil because of her high speed requirements.

From her enormous main battery the Pennsylvania will be able to hurl, with the pressure of a single firing lever, 7½ tons of steel on either broadside. In addition she will carry a secondary battery of 22 5-inch rifles for defense against torpedo boats. She will be fitted also with four submerged 21-inch torpedo tubes and her ship's company will be composed of 65 officers, 863 bluejackets and 74 marines. The ship measures 608 feet over all and 97 feet beam and her mean draft is 28 feet, 10 inches, almost the limit in size for the Panama canal and present navy drydocks. There are only few docks in the world which can receive her and she could not enter many busy harbors except under most favorable conditions of tide and wind.

Exceeds $13,000,000.

When completed the Pennsylvania will have cost the government more than $13,000,000. She will be ready for commission, under contract, by Feb. 28, 1916.

The enormous size of the new ship and the startling rapidity with which battleship construction had developed, even before the great war, is indicated by comparison of the Pennsylvania with the British battleship Dreadnaught, first of the all big-gun ships in any navy. The dreadnaught was estimated for in 1907. She was designed to displace 17,900 tons, but actually is considerably larger. In the main battery are ten 12-inch guns with a broadside fire of six guns and her trial speed was 21.2 knots.

The Pennsylvania will be equipped with turbine engines as in the Oklahoma, the Queen Elizabeth and all of the newest English, German and Japanese battle craft. The Nevada will be operated by reciprocating engines while the California, of the 32,000 class will be driven by electricity. One of the other two American battleships of the California class will have turbine engines and the other reciprocating in line with the navy department's policy of not entirely abandoning the reciprocating type until a thoroughly satisfactory marine turbine is found. If the experiment on the California with electric drive, current to be generated by steam turbines running at high speed, is successful, the engine problem may be solved. It already has proved satisfactory in a navy collier, and the experiment with the California only needs to determine whether it is equally efficient in high power plants.

MIGHTIEST FIGHTING MACHINE IN WORLD

of Pennsylvania; Secretary Daniels and staff. A luncheon followed at Old Point comfort.

In the din of shrieking whistles from scores of vessels as the Pennsylvania floated out into the river the bonnie lassie of the Eitel Friedrich joined her welcome.

Mightiest in World.

When the new superdreadnaught Pennsylvania slipped from the ways into the historic waters of Hampton Roads here today, she took her place in the lead of the navies of the world as the mightiest fighting machine afloat.

In size and gun power the Pennsylvania is greater even than the Queen Elizabeth of the British navy, which led the recent terrific assault of the allies on the forts of the Dardanelles. While the British monster carries larger guns, her main battery is only two-thirds the size of that of the Pennsylvania in number, and the American battleship is 3,000 tons greater in size.

The main battery of the Pennsylvania will consist of twelve 14-inch 45-caliber rifles, set in four turrets, three guns to a turret, the plan of big gun arrangement adopted in the sister ships which preceded her, the Nevada and Oklahoma. Her tonnage measurement is 31,400 against 27,500 for the Nevada and Oklahoma and the Queen Elizabeth. The latter, however, carries eight 15-inch rifles, 45-caliber, set two in a turret, while the Nevada and Oklahoma have ten 14-inch rifles each, in two 3-gun and two 2-gun turrets. In all these ships, including the Pennsylvania, the turrets are all on the center line to concentrate their fire on either broadside.

however, was taken to indicate that a protest would be made to Great Britain and her allies.

Cotton Shipments Would Suffer.

Cotton shipments from the South would suffer particularly by the new order. Although Great Britain has promised to pay for shipments of cotton taken into her ports en route to Germany, the fact that these cargoes will be sold at market and at no contract price has aroused the cotton growers, who through their representatives in congress, are preparing to insist on a strong declaration from the Washington government on the subject.

With the president devoting his entire time now to foreign affairs, an exhaustive study of the new situation will be made. One general protest from the United States embodying its position on the general principles involved may be based on the previous diplomatic exchanges on the subject and in some official quarters today, it was thought that might take the form of firm insistence on a compliance with principles of international law, more vigorous than any of the notes heretofore sent by the United States.

New Complications.

Officials at the state department who have studied the British order say it raises new and embarrassing complications for neutral commerce to which they never before have been subjected in maritime war.

That the next note would require some positive terms was declared by diplomatists who pointed out that the United States in previous notes had taken a strong position that commerce between the United States and other neutrals was the normal relation of states at peace with the world with which there should be a minimum of interference. The interference with trade between the United States and the neutrals which the order suggests is giving officials here most concern, for as they read the British order, commerce to those countries which have not placed export embargoes on contraband articles practically will be held up. The United States contends there is no warrant for such interruption unless legal proof exists at the time of the detention of each cargo proving beyond a doubt that the goods are in reality destined to a belligerent.

Burden of Proof.

The burden of proof, the United States contends, should be on the belligerent, whereas Great Britain has transferred it to the neutral shipper.

Officials were much interested to know whether the terms of the British order would be enforced against Austria and Turkey, because Germany's allies were not mentioned in it.

The official text of the British order arrived during the day. Officials said it did not differ from the London dispatches. State department officials began a study of its terms. Scores of inquiries from shippers have been unanswered pending receipt of the official order.

The British order was taken up at length at the cabinet meeting, where it seemed to be agreed that a vigorous protest would be made as soon as the president can go over the question in detail with the state department officials.

Omega Oil for Sore Throat and Cold in Chest

First rub the chest or throat with Omega Oil; then soak a piece of flannel with the Oil and put it around the neck or throat, and cover with a piece of dry flannel. This simple treatment usually gives relief. Trial bottle 10c.

IS YOUR DAUGHTER PALE?

Does she inherit a delicate organization from you? The anemia of young girls may be inherited or it may be caused by bad air, lack of proper food, insufficient out-of-door exercise, hasty and irregular eating and not enough rest and sleep.

It comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to mental or bodily exertion, irritability and a feeling of fatigue. Later comes palpitation of the heart and headache. In a majority of cases constipation is present. Often the patient craves unusual things to eat, such as starch or chalk. There may be no loss of flesh but the complexion takes on a greenish-yellow pallor.

There is no need to worry in a case of this kind. The treatment is easy and simple. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, non-alcoholic and free from any harmful drug, are just the tonic to remedy this condition. Improvement begins with the first dose. As the blood is made rich and red the peculiar pallor leaves the face, strength and activity gradually return and if the treatment is continued until the last symptom disappears the danger of relapse is slight.

A booklet, "Building Up the Blood" which tells all about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

FORMER CROOKSTON BAND LEADER DIES.

Crookston, Minn., March 16.—Arthur Wasshausen, formerly leader of the Citizens' band of Crookston, died in Minneapolis Saturday night, age 53, and the body was brought here this morning for burial. A widow and daughter survive.

Mr. Wasshausen originally came to Crookston about six years ago from Chicago and became director of the Citizens' band, which place he continued to hold very successfully through four seasons. He resigned and in October, 1913, removed to Minneapolis, where he has since resided for the purpose of securing treatment by a specialist.

On June 3, last, Mr. Wasshausen suffered a stroke of paralysis and from that date his decline in health, though gradual, has been certain.

Mr. Wasshausen was a member of the Masonic, Elks and Sons of Herman and of the Presbyterian church of this city.

THINKS U. S. SHOULD INTERVENE IN MEXICO.

Paris, March 16.—That "anarchy in Mexico and the crimes committed there make intervention by the United States almost inevitable," is a statement credited to Premier Dato of Spain in a dispatch to the Petit Journal from its Madrid correspondent.

The premier is reported to have said that the Spanish government had decided not to maintain diplomatic relations with Mexico until the situation there again is normal and will decline the invitation of Gen. Carranza to send a representative to act as successor to Minister Caro, who was expelled from Mexico.

DEATH WAS AN ACCIDENT

Judge Cant Refuses to Grant New Trial in Suit for $7,500.

Great Northern Held Not Responsible for Capozzi's Death.

Sustaining a jury in its finding that no responsibility attached to the Great Northern Railway company for the death of Alfonso Capozzi, a section hand, who was killed while at work in the railroad yards between Minneapolis and St. Paul on May 21, 1914, Judge Cant today filed an order denying a motion for a new trial urged by A. Castigliano, Italian consul, as legal representative of the dead man.

The administrator sued the company for $7,500 damages, but when the case came to trial last January, a verdict for the defendant company was returned. Henry F. Greene, attorney for the plaintiff, asked for a new trial. The court in its memorandum holds that Capozzi was to blame for his own injuries and that the company cannot be held liable. D. S. Holmes of Baldwin, Baldwin & Holmes, appeared on behalf of the defendant company.

In his memorandum, Judge Cant says:

"In this case, the jury in effect was instructed that if there was no duty to give warning of the approaching trains on the part of those in charge thereof, there could be no recovery on the ground alone that the train in question was running at a high rate of speed. That is, if the train men performed their full duty in every respect, there could be no recovery here merely because the train was running fast.

"Speaking generally, it is very difficult to sustain a recovery in any case where the injured person in broad daylight voluntary steps upon a railway track and is struck by a passing train. This conclusion would usually be referred to the rule of contributory negligence, which in this case is not a complete bar to a recovery. But, laying aside the contributory negligence rule, and having in mind that the deceased was a section man or member of a repair crew; that he had for a considerable period of time worked in the near vicinity of where he was killed, and that he must have known all the conditions there present; that there was a great number of trains passing daily, on an average one to about every eleven minutes, that the train in question was running at the usual rate of speed; that the crew of men was not working on the track along which the train was running which struck the deceased; there is presented such a combination of lack of negligence on the part of the defendant and assumption of risks on the part of the deceased, that a recovery, in my opinion, cannot be justified.

"We are concerned with a distressing incident for which, no one, unless possibly the deceased himself, was to blame."

Is Now a Cathedral.
The bill providing for the establishment of an Episcopal cathedral in the state, introduced by Senator C. E. Adams for the benefit of Trinity cathedral, passed the house yesterday. As it had previously passed the senate, all that now remains to make it a law is the signature of the governor. Heretofore Trinity has been a pro-cathedral, but under the new law a holding company may be formed for the property and a cathedral established. Rt. Rev. James D. Morrison is bishop of Duluth and Rev. Thomas W. MacLean is vicar of the cathedral.

Peter Coyle, recruiting officer for the United States navy at Duluth, has just posted in front of The Herald office a large picture received from Washington which shows the new 14-inch shells now being used in the U. S. navy. The shells weigh 1,600 pounds, are charged with 400 pounds of governor and cost $900 each. The new superdreadnaught Pennsylvania, which was launched today by the naval department, carries a battery of twelve of these big guns.

READY FOR STYLE SHOW

Big Annual Display of Spring Fashions Will Open Monday.

Bombs Signal Uncurtaining of Windows—Four Gala Days.

The fourth week in March, beginning next Monday at 5 p. m., will be the most important week of the season to Duluth shoppers and merchants. On the four days beginning Monday the annual spring style show will take place and, like the coming of green grass and birds, will usher in the new spring fashions with all their gay colors and brightness.

The merchants of Duluth have been working hard and long in preparation for this event, and coming just before Easter, when new wearing apparel is in order, is expected to bring Duluth shoppers out en masse.

To usher in this event a display of fireworks has been arranged and the air will be filled with daylight bombs exploded on fourteen different street corners, from Second avenue east to Twenty-third avenue west. "Artillerymen" in charge of these bomb-throwing engines will have their watches timed to a second so that all the guns will be fired simultaneously.

What Bombs Produce.

The first shower of bombs will herald the opening of the great show. The second discharge will shoot up an immense American flag which will unfold and float over the city. This flag is said to be so large that it may be seen from Superior. Other spectacular fireworks are arranged for, and some are being kept secret.

If shoppers notice before the show that the display windows of the stores are closed, they should not be surprised. This is to give the window trimmers a chance to turn the shop fronts into fairylands of beauty. When the bombs are shot at exactly 7 o'clock the curtains will be drawn, and from one end of the city to the other the windows will display the latest creations of American and Parisian designers and all the spring styles will be ready for the inspection of the shopper. No such displays have ever before been arranged for in Duluth, and striking designs for 1915 from black and white to all the wonderfully colored models of spring and summer will present a vista of surpassing beauty.

Exhibits in Evening.

At 7 o'clock in the evening on the opening day the stores will be thrown open with all their brilliant array of spring goods, and smiling clerks and floorwalkers will greet Duluthians. They will not say, "What will you buy?" but instead, "Let me show you the new styles." In other words the cash registers will not be operating, shoppers will simply inspect the stocks and get ideas for spring purchases. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to both selling and exhibiting.

Merchants today said that no movement ever launched in Duluth has been worked out with such hearty co-operation and such careful painstaking attention to detail as the Style Show exhibition. The general committee has been meeting regularly at the Commercial club to talk over features and arrange for big exhibits. It has been arranged so that Duluth shoppers may see, right at home, any of the spring and summer models that are shown in Chicago and Eastern cities. The American fashion designers have shown originality and skill this year far beyond the dreams of merchants, and the Parisian exporters have been able to send over more merchandise than was expected during the early stages of the war. The Duluth show has been splendidly advertised in this city, and on the ranges, and hundreds of out-of-town shoppers are expected to look over the stocks in Duluth stores.

The general committee that has worked out the details of the show, represents every section of the city and the personnel is such that no section has been slighted. The committee follows: George A. Gray, general chairman; Miss Elizabeth Olcott, Miss Frances E. Earhart, Mrs. C. S. Mitchell, W. N. Hart, A. B. Stewert, William Billstein, A. Ahlen, Matt Koneczny, John Thygeson, A. C. Pearsons, Felix Seligman, C. H. Mackintosh, H. F. Williamson, John J. Moe, Edward A. Silberstein, Alfred P. Hanchett, R. D. Handy and J. E. Hopkins.

YIELDS ONE MORE PLUM

Higgins Land Company Loses Another Suit for Services.

Jokesters at the annual bar banquet last year sang "The Boys Who Work for the Higgins Are the Boys Who Get the Cush" at the expense of Spencer & Marshall, local attorneys, who recovered a $103,000 verdict from the Higgins Land company for services.

Within the last year, the Higgins Land company has had several suits for services on its hands. Those which have been tried have resulted more or less disastrously for the company. Others have been settled out of court.

Today in district court William J. ered $103,300 and a verdict for $5,000 for his services as cruiser and mining expert between 1908 and 1912. He sued for $50,000.

Last fall Spencer & Marshall recovered $103,300 and a $50,000 suit for services brought by Frank A. Barber was settled out of court.

The verdict in the Wallace case was reached at 1:20 this morning.

OBITUARY

Capt. Henry King, who recently retired as managing editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, died at the home of his daughter at St. Louis, Mo., March 15.

Walter Crane, the artist, writer and lecturer, is dead in London.

NON-SUPPORT CASE NOT SUSTAINED

Wearing a dainty blue hat evidently not older than the prescribed fourteen days that fashion lasts, Mrs. Harry Schapery appeared in municipal court this morning as complainant in a case in which her husband was charged with non-support. Schapery, who is a baker, lives at 2914 West Third street.

He testified that although he had lost practically everything he had in two fires recently, he had given his spouse $58 in a little less than the last three weeks.

Mrs. Schapery did not deny receiving the money, and the case was dismissed. Attorney G. A. E. Finlayson appeared for the defendant.

ASK MORE PARK AND LESS PAVING

Residents along Woodland avenue are advocating the closing of Twentieth avenue east where it passes the small triangular park owned by the city at this point. A movement is also on foot to have a drinking fountain for horses installed at Twentieth and Woodland.

It is claimed that the city should condemn the street at this point and extend the park to the sidewalk on Twentieth avenue. In this way it will not be necessary to pave that small strip of land and will give the city more park ground.

The matter will be taken up with the city officials before paving work is started on Woodland avenue, one of the residents said this morning.

STREET CAR SEEMED TO PURSUE HIM

Getting his automobile bumped by a street car almost developed into a habit with W. S. Rider, real estate agent, who today appears in district court as plaintiff in two causes of action against the Duluth Street Railway company to recover damages. The liability of the company in the two accidents will be passed upon by one jury, which was selected this morning in Judge Bert Fesler's division of court.

On Sept. 22, about 8 p. m., the car was bumped by a street car on the interstate bridge and damaged. For this he asks $465 for repairs and loss of time. On Oct. 25, Rider collided with a motorcyclist at the intersection of Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street. He stopped his car to pick up the motorcycle driver and while in the act of so doing a street car came along, he claims, and again bumped into it. For this he wants $270 damages.

C. C. Teare is attorney for the plaintiff and Thomas S. Wood is appearing for the traction company.

FIELD DAY FOR CANDIDATES

With Attorney John Norton, candidate for municipal judge, appearing before his competitor, Judge William L. Windom, and Attorney M. E. Louisell, also candidate for the bench, in municipal court on a minor action, city officials were given an opportunity of watching three of the four candidates in action this morning.

Considerable good-natured raillery was exchanged between the three candidates, while attorneys and court attaches used the title "judge" indiscriminately.

Attorney Norton is appearing in a civil action wherein Herman F. Sharp is suing William Johns et al, for moneys alleged to be due him.

NERVOUS DAY IN MARKET

Wheat Advances on Foreign News, But Turns Easy at Close.

Flaxseed Sells Up to New High Figures, But Closes Weak.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 16.—The market turned weak at the close on efforts by operators to even up trades on possible intervention by Italy in the war.

May wheat closed ¾c off and July ¼c off, and September ¼c off. May durum closed 1½c up and July 1c up.

Oats closed unchanged at 57¾c for on the track; rye 1c up at $1.18@1.19, and barley unchanged at from 67@78c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½@⅝c off at 65⅞@66c bid, and July ⅝c off at 66c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.46¼, and calls at $1.53.

Wheat was strong again today in line with higher Liverpool cables and export inquiry reported at the seaboard. After showing a burst of strength at the start, the market eased off slightly at Duluth, as it was regarded as relatively too close up to the Winnipeg range, and the attention of exporters was therefore directed to the latter quarters.

While local operators had export bids in hand, they were below a working basis and no transactions were recorded. A strong cash demand for No. 1 northern was again noted, but the situation was draggy in the lower grades. As No. 1 northern is a scarce article here, practically all the available grain of that grade in the elevators having been contracted for, a block in trading has been interposed. In the meantime the milling trade is quiet, as in the uncertain state of the market and prospects of another sharp drop in the event of the Dardanelles being forced by the allies, jobbers are buying only to cover immediate requirements. That condition has led to a curtailment in outputs by all the milling companies. Local elevator men are said to be holding the Nos. 2 and 3 northern wheat now in their houses firmly, however, as they are sanguine of a brisk demand for it later on when the trade is brought to a realization of the short supplies remaining in the country to meet the requirements between now and the incoming of the new crop.

Durum was again relatively stronger than spring wheat as a result of steady buying by operators to cover export contracts. The American and the world's visible supply statements, each showing substantial decreases in the week, were about as expected and did not exert much influence upon the market.

May opened ¼c up at $1.53, advanced 1c more, and then eased off to $1.53⅝ at the noon hour. July opened ⅜c up at $1.18¾ and declined ⅜c later.

Trading in May durum was fairly active. It opened ½c up at $1.55 and advanced 1¾c more. July opened 1c up at $1.53 and held there.

Sharp Bulge in Flax.

It was another strenuous day for traders in flaxseed. As a result of urgent buying by crushers at the opening to gather together supplies to cover outstanding oil contracts, the market was advanced 7c in sharp jumps to the highest figures recorded in three years. Reports of heavy damage to the Argentine crop through the prolonged rains, realization of the small stocks remaining available, and prospects of an enormously reduced acreage in the seed in this season, have brought about a extremely bullish conditions in the market. Later, quotations eased off substantially on the absorption of realizing sales. Final prices in the day showed advances of 2¾@3c.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.07, and closed 3c up at $2.10 asked. July opened unchanged at $2.09, and closed 2½c up at $2.11½ asked. September opened unchanged at $2.07 and closed 8¾c up at $2.09¾ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¾c up at $1.88⅝ asked and July 1⅜c up at $1.91½ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

There was a strong cash demand for No. 1 northern wheat on Duluth board but sale of the lower grades was still slow. Cash No. 1 northern sold at 3c over May, durum at the May price and flaxseed at 1c under May.

Duluth operators estimate that there is 5,500,000 bu spring wheat sold here for export at the opening of navigation, 900,000 bu to Eastern mills, 1,000,000 bu to local mills, making 7,400,000 bu out of total stocks of 10,317,000 bu. Taking the estimated stocks, visible and invisible, in the three Northwestern states, there is 67,000,000 bu. Last year Minneapolis mills ground 40,000,000 bu from March 1 to Sept. 1, and outside mills 22,000,000 bu. On this basis there is estimated to be only 5,000,000 bu excess. This does not allow for spring seed requirements, which may be about 22,000,000 bu.

A New York to C. E. Lewis & Co. said: "It is understood about half million bu new crop wheat for July shipment was sold to foreigners late Saturday or yesterday morning. The trade had been puzzled as to whether the foreign buying of new crop deliveries was speculative or actual cash business. This morning's demand for wheat appeared quiet; exporters bought scattered lots at Chicago. There seems to be fair bids for oats."

The Minneapolis cash market was firm with very good demand. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 5½@6c over May and velvet chaff at 3@5½c over May. Flour sale was reported moderate. One of the big mills, however, was a fair buyer in the pit. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.53½ to $1.56½ and No. 2 northern at from $1.50½ to $1.54.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Diminishing of European Stocks Advance Wheat, Followed By Reaction.

Chicago, March 16.—Diminishing of stocks in Europe tended today to lift the wheat market here. The trans-Atlantic visible supply total was reported as showing a decrease of 344,000 bushels as against an increase of 10,424,000 bushels a week ago and an increase of 1,400,000 bushels a year ago. There were also advices that Portugal had purchased 1,500,000 bushels in Argentina and that 1,000,000 bushels was being taken out of Gulf for export. After opening ⅜c to 1⅜c higher, prices reacted to a moderate extent.

Heavy sales to realize profits led afterward to a number of setbacks. The close was weak, at ⅝c to 1c net decline.

Corn suffered from lack of support. The buying was only scattered. Better weather counted against the bulls. Opening prices which varied from ¼@½ off to ¼c advance, was followed by a sag all around.

Slowness of shipping call from the East kept the market depressed. The close, though, was steady, at ¾c to ⅞c under last night.

Export demand gave relative steadiness to oats as compared with corn. Commission houses, though, were generally on the selling side with prices slightly under last night's level.

Lower quotations for hogs weakened provisions. The chief pressure was on ribs.

Heavy Selling of Reading Causes Prices to Take Slump.

Weakness Extends to the Specialties and Closing Is Heavy.

New York, March 16.—Specialties were again more prominent than the active or seasoned issues at the outset of today's market operations. The minor coppers, Alaska Gold, Central Leather and Motor shares made general gains, while leaders were slightly lower or unchanged. Later Bethlehem Steel and Texas company were added to the list of higher prices the former advancing two points. Reading's uncertain course reflected current gossip connected with its future dividend prospects. Some very substantial recessions were recorded by Americans in London, notably Canadian Pacific, Reading and Union Pacific.

Reading became acutely weak toward noon today, declining 2 points to 142⅜ on steady selling, much of which was ascribed to out-of-town sources. The balance of the list was sympathetically affected, Canadian Pacific yielding 1⅝, with substantial declines in United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper. Bethlehem Steel, however, held much of its rise. Specialties fell back easily and the activities of the short interest became more pronounced.

Bonds were lower, several large blocks of the New York Central debenture 6s selling at lowest prices.

Active selling ceased in the early afternoon, after which the market became apathetic, with no appreciable price recoveries. Weakness extended to the group of specialties, denoting decreasing professional support.

Heavy selling of Reading, based on reports of a reduction of the dividend, provoked some unsettlement of prices of today's market.

Special stocks were further affected by moderate liquidation and standard shares made but slight recovery from their low levels. The closing was heavy.

ROADHOUSE BILL TO COME BEFORE SENATE IN ITS ORIGINAL FORM

Would Prohibit Licenses Outside Incorporated Cities and Villages.

Bill to Regulate Public Utility Rates on General Orders.

Committee Favors Bill Repealing Civil Service Systems in Cities.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Sageng "roadhouse bill," prohibiting county boards from issuing liquor licenses outside incorporated cities or villages, will come before the senate in its original form, the senate this morning having adopted a minority report striking out the amendment put on by the temperance committee allowing such licenses to be granted when the county attorney, and sheriff join the county board in considering them. The majority report was rejected, 41 to 22. The bill passed both houses two years ago, but was lost between the two at the end.

Public Utility Rates.

The W. A. Campbell bill giving communities power to regulate public utility rates, amended so as to apply only to Minneapolis, came out of committee this morning and was placed on general orders by a vote of 40 to 22. It was referred to the Minneapolis delegation, however, retaining its place on general orders.

The senate committee on general legislation this morning introduced a new blue sky bill as a committee bill. It is the result of discussion of the several pending bills on this subject, and puts the regulation of stock sales under a commission consisting of the superintendent of banks, the state treasurer and the attorney general.

CHAMPAIGN, ILL., HAS $500,000 FIRE LOSS

Several Large Buildings in Business Section Badly Damaged.

Champaign, Ill., March 17.—Fire which for a time threatened the entire business district of Champaign was brought under control today after property estimated at $500,000 had been destroyed.

The Morrissey building, occupied by the Lewis store, was burned to the ground with a loss estimated at $200,000. The interior of the Price block across the street was swept by the flames. The Odd Fellows' temple, a large structure, just south of the Morrissey building, was saved after a hard fight.

High winds carried blazing wreckage reds away from the fire and kept the firemen busy protecting nearby buildings. The local firemen were aided by men and apparatus from nearby cities.

Western Railroads Ask for Two Cents Per Hundred Pounds Increase.

Chicago, March 17.—Advances in freight rates on hay, 2 cents a hundred pounds on shipments from Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska to Chicago were urged before Interstate Commerce Commissioner W. M. Daniels today in the hearing of the forty-one Western railroads for increases of rates.

F. P. Eyman, assistant freight traffic manager of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, testified that hay was one of the commodities in the hauling of which the railroads were losing money. Mr. Eyman said that of the total annual increase of $10,000,000, which the railroads are seeking, $176,000 would be provided by the proposed increase on hay.

Proposed Rates Approved.

"The proposed rates," said Mr. Eyman, "are no higher than the rates approved by the commission for Minnesota, Wisconsin and South Dakota. A comparison also shows that the proposed charges from Western territory to Chicago are no higher, but are practically the same as rates for similar distances from Chicago eastward, although the density of traffic east of Chicago is much greater. Thus from Watertown, S. D., to Chicago, 593 miles, the proposed rate is 25 cents a hundred, while from Sandusky, Mich., to Albany, N. Y., 599 miles, where the traffic is denser, the present rate is 27.8 cents.

"A small proportion of the car capacity is used for hay as compared with other commodities. Hay occupies only 39 per cent of the car capacity, while for all other products of agriculture the proportion is 59 per cent."

C. C. P. Rauch, assistant general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific road, gave similar testimony.

REPUBLICAN PARTISANSHIP

Chief Cause of Peril to Prospects of Efficiency Bill.

Chances of Passing the House Are Not Very Favorable.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the efficiency and economy bill has done nothing else, it has created the grandest little mix-up the house has witnessed in some time.

Technically, the bill is an administration measure. At least, the principal sponsor for the bill in the house, Representative Spooner, was and is a Flowers man, and the organization of the economy and efficiency committee was a part of the politics that led to the result in the speakership contest. Moreover, the opponent of Speaker Flowers, Representative Sam Y. Gordon, is the leader of the opposition to the bill, and his lieutenant is Charles H. Warner of Aitkin, manager of the Gordon speakership campaign.

Yet Representative Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minneota, one of the strongest Gordon supporters—and, by all odds, one of the strongest, most striking, and most admirable figures in the house—is next to Mr. Spooner, the leading advocate of the efficiency bill, and may prove to be its most effective champion.

Also, many of the Flowers leaders are absolutely against the efficiency bill and will do what they can to beat it.

If the truth is to be told, the efficiency bill today is in a bad way.

Outcome Doubtful.

Its chance of passing the house, while by no means lost, is certainly

SWEEPER BLOWN UP IN DARDANELLES

Several Lives Lost When British Steamer Strikes Mine.

Paris, March 17.—A British mine sweeper was blown up in the Dardanelles yesterday with the loss of several lives when a mine exploded as it was being removed from the straits, says a special dispatch from Athens.

Unimportant Operations.

Constantinople, via Berlin and wireless to London, March 17.—Only unimportant operations have been undertaken by the allied fleet operating against the Dardanelles for the past few days. The activity of the warships has been limited to demonstrations. Two new attempts by cruisers and destroyers to approach the outer fortifications and clear the channel of mines are reported to have been futile because of the effective fire from the defenders.

The civilian population of Constantinople appears quite calm and almost indifferent to the efforts which are being made to force a passage of the Dardanelles.

President Wears Shamrock.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson appeared at the executive offices today wearing a sprig of shamrock and a green necktie. The shamrock was presented to him by Miss Sue Marion of Jersey City, N. J.

Painters Strike Ends.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 17.—The strike of 1,400 union painters was ended here today and the men resumed work after reaching an agreement with the Master Painters' association. The agreement calls for an increase in wages and changes in working conditions. The question of barring non-union glaziers from union jobs was withdrawn by the union men.

REAL TESTS OF STRENGTH ARE AT HAND

Outcome of Present Engagements Expected to Reveal Much.

Holding of Neuve Chapelle Will Determine German Strength.

British Confident of Keeping Ground Already Gained.

London, March 17.—Neuve Chapelle and St. Eloi in the west and Przasnysz and Przemysl in the east are the pivots of the battle areas in which struggles that may mark important milestones in the war are now being fought.

The outcome of the fight for Neuve Chapelle, from which the British have driven the Germans with a loss of nearly 20,000 men, should prove, in the opinion of British observers, whether the Germans can mass men and retrieve ground lost by them with the same battering tactics they displayed last year. On the other hand if the British can hold the position gained by them it will go far toward attesting what may be expected when the allies begin their spring advance.

The outcome of the battle of Przasnysz will demonstrate whether Field Marshal von Hindenburg again has failed and virtually nullified all his costly efforts to reach Warsaw.

Dash to Relieve Fortress.

To the south the Austrians are attempting what they have tried many times before, a dash to relieve the fortress of Przemysl. According to the dispatches from Petrograd, this latest

ITALIAN TROOPS DISPERSE REBELS

Expedition Sent Out From Bengazi Kills Over 100 Insurgents.

Rome, via Paris, March 17.—An Italian punitive expedition sent out from Bengazi under Col. Paiola dispersed a strong force of rebels near Gebadia after a hard fight. The insurgents lost 100 men killed and many wounded, while the Italian losses are placed at 40 killed and 45 wounded.

The expedition from Bengazi, capital of one of the administrative districts of Tripoli, was sent out in connection with another from Cyrenaica to put down a rebellion of natives which is reported to have reached considerable proportions.

TO MAINTAIN A MONOPOLY

Charge Against Penn Railroad in Connection With Lake Traffic.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 17.—In a complaint filed with the interstate commerce commission today the Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company alleges discrimination on the part of the Pennsylvania railroad in the matter of division of rates and handling of freight at terminals in favor of the Anchor line owned by that rail carrier.

"The Pennsylvania railroad is endeavoring to maintain a monopoly of its traffic on the Great Lakes, contrary to public policy and the intent of the law," the complaint alleges. "It attempts to suppress the advantage to the public that would accrue from a free use of movement maintained by water routes on the Great Lakes.

"The Anchor line of steamers consists of several boats carrying both passengers and freight. If is the only line that is permitted to carry freight in connection with the Pennsylvania railroad upon through rates from Eastern points to points west of and on Lake Superior. This action on the part of the Pennsylvania railroad is contrary to public policy and injurious to the interests of shippers who are entitled to have as many available routes open to them as possible."

GERMAN SUBMARINES SINK TWO MORE SHIPS OFF THE BRITISH ISLES

English Survivors Atlanta and Fingal the Unfortunate Ones.

Official Announcement Is Made By the British Admiralty.

Entire Crew of Atlanta Saved; Six of the Fingal Lost.

AVIATOR DROPS BOMB ON THE DECK OF BRITISH STEAMSHIP; ONE KILLED.

South Shields, Eng., March 17, via London, 2:55 p. m.—The British steamship Blonde, arriving here today, reports that she was attacked in the North sea by a German aeroplane, which dropped one bomb on the deck of the vessel. One member of the crew was killed.

London, March 17.—Official announcement was made today that the British steamers Atlanta and Fingal had been torpedoed. The text of the communication follows:

"The British steamer Atlanta, 519 tons, owned by Messrs. J. and P. Hutchison of Glasgow, was torpedoed by a German submarine off Inishturk on the west coast of County Galway, Ireland, about noon of March 14. The crew was landed on Inishturk island.

"The British steamer Fingal of 1,562 tons (661 net tons) owned by the London-Edinburgh Shipping company of Leith, Scotland, was torpedoed and sunk at 10:50 a. m., March 15, off the Northumberland coast. Twenty-one members of her crew were landed at North Shields, but six lives are reported to have been lost, including the chief mate and the stewardess."

Fingal Survivors Landed.

North Shields, Eng., March 7.—The survivors of the Fingal were landed here today. They declare the casualties on board were due to the fact that the vessel went down before the starboard boat could be freed. The Fingal, as she sank, dragged this boat under with her, leaving the occupants, including the captain, struggling in the water. The port boat picked up the captain and several others, but six men lost their lives.

The Fingal was proceeding in a northerly direction with fine weather when she was struck by a German torpedo. She at once began to settle and went down quickly.

IN COMMAND OF THE U. S. SQUADRON AT VERA CRUZ

ADMIRAL W. B. CAPERTON.

ASK REFUGE ON CRUISER

Foreign Residents at Progreso Alarmed at Conditions There.

Carranza Gives Assurance of Protection to Life and Property.

Washington, March 17.—Foreigners at Progreso, alarmed at disorders in the vicinity, have asked for refuge on the American cruiser Des Moines. Gen. Carranza, however, after conferences with American naval and diplomatic officers at Vera Cruz, has promised full protection for them.

Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz reported today that Gen. Carranza had agreed to co-operate in providing transportation for Americans and other foreigners wishing to leave Mexico City and to facilitate the transportation of Red Cross supplies to the Mexican capital.

The situation at Progreso was summarized in this statement by the state department:

Situation at Progreso.

Advices from Vera Cruz dated March 16 state that much alarm exists at Progreso on account of the severe defeat of the insurgent forces. Foreigners there have made a request for asylum on the United States warship. In company with the chief of staff of the American admiral at Vera Cruz the representative of the department of state called at the foreign office in regard to the situation at Progreso. Assurances were given that Gen. Carranza would issue immediate orders to his chief in command to give full protection to foreign life and property."

Other official dispatches were thus summarized:

"The department is in receipt of a dispatch dated March 16 from Eagle Pass, stating that Gen. Hernandez, in response to requests for protection,

OPENING OF THE SPRING CAMPAIGN

Never Before Such Continuous Activity Along the Entire Line.

Russians and Austrians Have Spectacular Battle in Carpathians.

Engagements Spread All Along From the Niemen to the Dniester.

Petrograd, March 17, via London—Active encounters of considerable strategic importance along the 600-mile front constitute, in the opinion of military authorities here, the beginning of spring campaign. These engagements are spread along the line from the river Niemen in the north through Russian Poland and eastward through Galicia to the river Dniester. Never before in the history of war in the eastern theater has there been such continuous activity along the whole line.

Spectacular Battle.

In the Carpathians the Russians appear to have been successful in turning the Austrian right flank south of Stanislau, in a spectacular battle. Half buried in snow which in places was over the heads of the combatants, the Russians rushed the Austrian fortifications near the village of Tarnowice. Abandoning the customary military formations, they scrambled as best they could through the drifts, sometimes strung out in Indian file, sometimes almost losing touch with each other. They succeeded however, in reaching the fortifications in sufficiently good order to take the Austrians by surprise, and posses themselves of the stronghold in a short time, capturing a large number of prisoners and guns.

General Flanking.

This movement was followed by a general flanking operation which drove the Austrians from the Dniester. The Russians now hope to expel their opponents from East Galicia.

An encounter of equal strategic importance occurred between the Uzsok pass and Turka, in Galicia, to the north of the pass, in which the Russians captured trenches and seized railroad communications.

Supplemented by Infantry.

In the north between Grodno and Selny, Russian cavalry which has been operating in this district for several days has been supplemented by several infantry divisions. Along the river Orzyc, which has been one of the principal routes of the German advance from East Prussia the invasion appears to have been checked effectively by the Russian capture of the important and heavily fortified German position at Yednorozec.

The bombardment of Ossowetz still continues. Heavy artillery fire along the Bzura indicates a reawakening of German activity on the Warsaw front.

GERMAN STEAMER SLIPS OUT OF PORT

Macedonia, Interned at Las Palmas, Gets Machinery and Escapes.

London, March 17.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Las Palmas, Canary Islands, dated Monday, says:

"The interned German liner Macedonia disappeared from this port during the night. The Macedonia was towed here by a Spanish cruiser last November from Palma and was moored in the inner harbor, where the authorities removed parts of her machinery.

"It is presumed that the confiscated parts were duplicated, thus enabling the vessel to slip out of the harbor. The Macedonia carred a wireless and has a cargo supposed to be composed of war stores."

HOW THE WORLD LOOKS TO AN IRISHMAN ON MARCH 17.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Along the 600-mile eastern front great activity prevails, and Petrograd believes that the opening of the spring campaign is at hand. At no previous time since the war began has there been such continuous fighting over the whole front. The official German communication shows that in the extreme north the Russians are again on the Prussian border. The report mentions a Russian attack on Laugsargen, which is German soil. An official dispatch from Petrograd says the fall of Przemysl, the Galician city, which has been holding out since early in the war against the Russian attackers, is expected within a few days.

French and German accounts of the fighting in the west are at complete variance. Each official statement announces successes in Champagne and near the Belgian border. Regarding the battle which has been in progress for the spur of a hill on the Lorette heights, both the French and Germans make direct claims of having won.

Negotiations between the British and Turkish authorities concerning the port of Smyrna are said in London to have failed.

A British steamer which reached North Shields reports that it was attacked by a German aeroplane in the North sea. A bomb fell on deck, killing one man.

Germany has scored again in her submarine warfare on British shipping. The British admiralty announced today that the steamers Atlanta and Fingal had been torpedoed. The crew of the Atlanta was saved but six lives are reported to have been lost on the Fingal.

The lack of news concerning the attack on the Dardanelles is explained in a dispatch from Constantinople which says that only unimportant operations have been attempted by the allied fleet during the last few days. Two attempts of cruisers to approach the outer fortifications, in connection with mine sweeping operations, are said to have been frustrated by the fire from shore.

Increasing activity is indicated along the western end of the Franco-Belgian battle line. A message from a correspondent of a Paris newspaper who is at the front says that Nieuport has been bombarded by the Germans and Westende by the allies. The Belgians are reported to have made some headway against the Germans, capturing positions in two localities. The British army is still on the offensive, although its advance apparently has been checked by the Germans.

NAVAL RESERVIST CROSS-EXAMINED

Richard P. Stegler Again on Stand in Passport Case.

New York, March 17.—Richard P. Stegler, German naval reservist, again took the stand today as a government witness in the trial of Richard Madden and Gustave Cook, charged with aiding Stegler to procure a false American passport. He was submitted to further cross-examination by Charles F. Oberwager, attorney for the defendants, who resumed his attack upon Stegler's character.

After denying all implications framed in the attorney's questions, the witness was excused and Frederick G. Behle took the stand.

Behle said he was Stegler's former roommate in Hoboken. He corroborated Stegler's testimony that Stegler had met Cook in Behle's room there and that he (Behle) had stepped outside while the other two were discussing the matter of getting the papers necessary to procure Stegler a passport. Behle also testified he heard Cook and Stegler talking about getting the passport in a Hoboken cafe.

Edourd D. Harrington, manager of a steamship company, testified that Stegler had turned over to him for safe keeping the false passport, the birth certificate alleged to have been procured by Madden for Stegler, three letters introducing Stegler to persons abroad and two letters and telegrams addressed to Stegler. Harrington said he turned the papers over to the editor of a New York evening paper and subsequently to an editor of a morning paper.

Asked why he had not brought them to the United States district attorney he said he thought the newspaper editors could handle the matter better than he could. He denied that he had demanded money for the use of the papers.

DULUTH BATTALION MAKES HIGH SCORE

Inspecting Officer Finds Local Companies in Fine Shape.

Company C, Minnesota National Guard, will be inspected tonight at the Armory by Capt. Edgar A. Fry, Twenty-first United States infantry, Vancouver barracks. Capt. Fry has inspected Company A and Company E, as well as the Third Regiment band and headquarters.

In each case high scores have been made. Company C, commanded by Capt. Walter Flodin, is expected to make a strong showing, according to members of the guard. With the inspection of Company C, Capt. Fry finishes his work in Duluth.

He will inspect Company M at Hibbing on Thursday and Company F at Eveleth on Friday.

LEVY ROLLS COMPLETE.

City Assessor Finishes Assessments for Third Street Paving.

City Assessor Scott this morning completed the assessment rolls for the paving of First street, from Twentieth to Thirtieth avenues west, and he will present these to the council at its regular meeting next Monday afternoon.

The city engineer has estimated the cost of the pavement at $60,202.62, out of which, the assessor states, $7,574.25 will be paid by the city for street intersections and storm sewers, leaving a balance of $52,628.37 for the property owners.

An 80-per-cent advance assessment to be levied shortly on the owners will amount to $42,102.49, with a tax of $263.14 on every 50-foot lot benefited by the improvement.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

CHECK WAS WORTHLESS.

Prisoner Said He Got It for Old Gambling Debt.

GAMBLING debts, when paid with worthless checks, often lead to trouble, as Donald Mackenzie, aged 28, a bartender, discovered yesterday afternoon. He was arrested on a warrant sworn to by Chief of Police Troyer, charging him with forgery in the second degree. He will be given a hearing March 2.

Mackenzie is said to have forged a $15 check on the Western State bank of Duluth, signing the name H. A. Brewer. The check was cashed by John Patchkowski, a bartender at John Wold's saloon, 413 East Fourth street.

When arrested, Mackenzie told the police that Brewer was not the H. A. Brewer who was his brother-in-law, but a man by the same name who was a gambler, living in Superior. He said he had received the check in payment of an old debt.

Police claim that Mackenzie has been implicated in several cases involving worthless checks, before.

SHAMROCK ASKEW.

Prisoner Celebrated St. Patrick's Day Not Wisely, But Too Well.

Wearing a large shamrock, John Rattie, aged 35, has celebrated St. Patrick's day with a vengeance since 12 o'clock last night.

He was arrested about midnight, just as St. Patrick's day was starting, by Patrolman Le Beau, who thought Rattie was becoming too familiar with the flowing bowl. He was released on $10 bail, to appear in municipal court this morning.

When he appeared in court, the shamrock was slightly askew, and it was evident that John had been seeking solace in his cups again. His bail was raised to $20, and he will be brought before Judge F. H. Cutting this afternoon, when "the mists have cleared away."

SERVED TROUT TO WARDENS.

And the Meat Cost Mine Host Larson Just $27.50.

Brook trout are certainly fine, but be sure your guest isn't a game warden before you offer to serve him with any kind of trout, because you'll come to grief. George Larson, proprietor of the Astoria hotel chop house, 100 East Superior street, had some choice trout on hand yesterday and he served some to Deputy Game Wardens Boyd and Tabor, who were in Duluth for the day.

Mine Host Larson was taken before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting and fined $27.50, which he paid.

"It was a darn shame," said Deputy Boyd, ruefully; "that was once I wished I wasn't a game warden."

ALLOUEZ WOULD SECEDE

As a result of the agitation for making Superior "dry" Allouez has started another campaign for secession. This is the third of such campaigns started by the suburb in the last two years, the other two having been based on alleged inattention on the part of the city proper to provide sufficient public improvements to compensate the residents for the taxes paid. Oscar Ely, one of the leaders of the movement, will leave next Tuesday for Madison to take up the question of the suburb's legal standing in the movement.

Registration Light.

Registration day in Superior brought out only fifty new voters yesterday. It was necessary for only those whose names were not on the city books to file their names. In one of the precincts only three voters registered during the day. The campaign is expected to begin in earnest next week. The principal fight will center on the election of supervisors for the various wards.

GETS YEAR FOR ARSON.

Roy Hackley Admits Two Attempts to Burn His Home.

Roy Hackley, 413 Tower avenue, gave himself up yesterday afternoon to the police and confessed to having attempted to set fire to his home last Saturday afternoon. He told of having made two attempts, both of which failed. The latter attempt would have been successful but for the quick discovery made by a merchant who occupies the first floor of the building. He waived examination in police court and was brought before Judge Smith of the superior court, who sentenced Hackley to two years in the state penitentiary.

FIRST LAND SALE IS HELD

State Auditor Will Supply Information About Land in Future.

More Than 1,000 Acres Disposed of at Good Prices.

Slightly more than 1,000 acres of school and other state lands were sold at public auction this morning at the first of the 1915 state land sales which was conducted this morning at the courthouse by State Auditor J. A. O. Preus and his assistant, Theodore Nelson, manager of the state land department of the state auditor's office.

Before the sale opened, Mr. Preus addressed the prospective buyers, stating that he wanted the people who were looking for state land to feel that they could come to him for suggestions and information and that he was just as interested in settling and developing Northern Minnesota as they were. He declared that he had been elected by the people to work for them and that he wanted them to refer their grievances and troubles regarding land matters to him whenever anything of that nature arose.

The state auditor also declared that he and his assistants were working out a plan whereby prospective purchasers of state land would be furnished with valuable information as to the various descriptions offered for sale. Mr. Preus stated that he planned to have county auditors in each county where state land sales are conducted, furnished with copies of the notes of appraisers who make the appraisal of state lands.

Will Describe Land.

The state auditor called attention to the fact that the present lists of school lands which are furnished and which have been furnished to prospective purchasers for several seasons past contain only the legal descriptions of the property offered for sale. Under a plan which is now being worked out, it is proposed to have the lists contain a brief description of the various forties listed, as to the character of the land and soil and timber on each individual description.

The speaker also declared that he proposed to work out a plan whereby people desiring to purchase tracts of state land which had not been appraised and listed might, by making application to the state auditor's office, have the land appraised and listed for sale at the next sale following the appraisal. Mr. Preus stated that it would require some time to work out the changes, but that they would be put into operation as soon as possible.

Thirty-one descriptions were sold this morning which covered 1,077.57 acres and netted the state $9,294.89, of which 15 per cent was paid in. The balance of the purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from the date of the sale. The rate of interest on the unpaid balance is 4 per cent, payable in advance on June 1 of each year, providing that the principal remains unpaid for ten years. However, if the principal is paid within ten years from the date of the sale, the rate of interest will be computed at 5 per cent per annum.

Islands in Demand.

Two islands in Pelican lake brought fancy prices at the sale this morning. Edward Krause bid in for $65 an acre a tract comprising 2.75 acres described as lot 6, section 36, 66-20, an island in Pelican lake, and William Orr paid $150 for another island comprising 1.75 acres and described as lot 7 in the same section. Lot 8, consisting of 7.25 acres, was sold to Charles Langbridge for $42 an acre. This is also Pelican lake property. The Langbridge purchase fronts on the lake. All of the lake property was appraised at $20 and $25 an acre.

Sales will be conducted monthly by the state auditor's office throughout St. Louis, Koochiching, Beltrami, Cass, Roseau, Itasca and Aitkin counties. The dates for the sales in St. Louis county are as follows: April 21, May 19, June 16, July 21, Aug. 18, Sept. 15, Oct. 20 and Nov. 17.

REPORTED DEATH OF TURK IS UNFOUNDED.

London, March 17.—A Berlin dispatch to Reuter's agency by way of Amsterdam says the German embassy at Constantinople declared that the report of the strangling of Prince Mehemmed Burhan-Eddin, son of Former Sultan Abdul Hamid, is unfounded. The prince, on the contrary, the dispatch says, is in good health.

The report of Prince Burhan-Eddin's death was contained in a Sofia dispatch received by way of Paris and declared that the prince had been killed by political enemies.

JURY IN DEADLOCK.

Noughton Case Holds Jurors Twenty Hours With No Decision.

The jury in the case trying Joseph Noughton on a charge of alleged falsification of election returns had been out for twenty hours at 2 o'clock this afternoon and has failed to come to an agreement. The jury came into the courtroom at noon today asking for further instructions, and members of the jury were instructed not to give out any intimation as to how they stood.

The case was given to the jury at 6 o'clock last night after hearing arguments of the attorneys all the afternoon. One of the features of the afternoon session was the introducing of estimates on the election made by Noughton and Denham the evening of the election. These gave Commiskey 215, Halberg 111 after the alleged discounting had taken place, while the actual count turned in by the election board was: Commiskey, 225; Halberg, 109. This was introduced to show that if Noughton had made any changes, the figures had not been changed.

HEARING ON DEMURRAGE

Refrigerating Car Service Charges Before Interstate Commission.

Duluth Traffic Commission Favors Compromise Rule Agreed on.

A hearing in the matter of demurrage charges on refrigerating cars will be held by an examiner of the interstate commerce commission next Monday morning in the Federal building, Chicago, according to notification received here today by the traffic committee of the Commercial club and by the officers of the Duluth Produce Exchange. A representative of the traffic committee will attend and it is likely that the produce exchange will also be represented.

The hearing will be on the matter of what constitutes reasonable charges. Heretofore—and at present, because of the suspension of proposed increased charges—a demurrage charge of $1 per car per day, after the free forty-eight hours allowed, has been charged. Some time ago the American Railway league, acting for the roads of the country, promulgated a new rule, which prescribed that a demurrage charge of $3 per car per day for the first two days after the two free days, and $4 per car per day for each succeeding day would be levied.

Shippers of the country as a whole objected to this increase on the grounds that it is unreasonable, and, for a time, until a hearing could be had, the interstate commerce commission suspended the new rule.

Compromise Reached.

In the meantime the American Railway association and the National Industrial Traffic league have held a conference and a compromise rule was agreed on. This compromise rule was to the effect that a charge for retention of all refrigerating or other fully insulated cars held for loading or unloading, would be $1 per car per day for the first seventy-two hours after the free forty-eight, for each succeeding day for three days would be $3 per car per day, and for each succeeding day thereafter would be $5 per car per day.

The Duluth traffic commission is in favor of the compromise rule, but opposed to the suspended rule as being unreasonable. Produce exchanges as a whole are opposed to any increase, claiming that the present charge is enough and reasonable for both cities.

The reason for the roads demanding an increase in the demurrage charges on refrigerating cars is that, they claim, shippers have formed a habit of holding such cars, really using them as storage room until they find it convenient to unload them, $1 per day per car being more economical to pay than to provide more storage room of their own. This practice, it is alleged, has kept too many of these cars out of service in shipping, and has frequently accounted, in large part, for a car shortage where perishable goods are awaiting shipment.

VESSEL SHIFTING WILL BEGIN FRIDAY

Tugs Minnesota and Wisconsin Will Work on Steamer Corrigan.

The Union Towing company expects to start two tugs at work on Friday morning on ice-breaking and moving of steamers. The tugs Minnesota and Wisconsin will be the first to go into commission and will be used to take the steamer James Corrigan out of the Peavey slip and put her under the spouts of the Capitol elevator where she will load wheat.

Just what steamer will be the next to be moved has not yet been determined, but it is expected that, beginning Friday, the season of loading and shifting of vessels in the harbor will go along at ever increasing liveliness.

TAKE TIME BY THE FORELOCK

Council Advertises for Surety Bonds for Commissioners to Be Elected.

Two $25,000 surety bonds for the two commissioners to be selected by Duluth voters on April 6 will be ordered by the city council at a special meeting to be held this afternoon. In addition, bonds for other city officials will be ordered, and the New Duluth and Gary payrolls will be formally passed on and the money ordered paid the workmen.

According to the city charter, the mayor and each commissioner must, on taking oath of office, furnish a $25,000 bond for the faithful performance of duties. These bonds are paid for by the city, and at the meeting this afternoon Mayor Prince will introduce an ordinance authorizing the appropriation of $800 from the general fund to pay the premiums on these bonds and those for other city employes, as follows:

Two commissioners, $25,000 each for four years; city engineer, $10,000 for four years, and clerk of the municipal court, $3,000 for four years.

Tomorrow the city clerk will advertise for bids for these surety bonds, the lowest bidder to receive the contract. Bids submitted will be opened on the morning of March 29, he said.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or Catarrhal Deafness, cut out this formula, and hand it to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Recent experiments have proved conclusively that Catarrhal Deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint and seldom, if ever, effect a permanent cure. This being so, much time and money has been spent of late by a noted specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic that would quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated, and which has aroused the belief that deafness will soon be extinct, is given below in understandable form, so that anyone can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it ½ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly 90 per cent of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh; therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person, who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. —Advertisement.

SERVICE THE BEST ASSET

Dr. Hoffman Scores Miser and Lauds Man Who Lives for Others.

Christian Merchant Is Set Up as an Ideal in Business.

The life of Christlike service was urged as the most important asset to the business man and a miserly attitude toward humanity as his greatest liability by Dr. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, at the noon-day service at the Lyceum theater today. His topic was "Assets and Liabilities." Rev. V. S. Villars led in prayer.

The musical program began as usual at 12:10. The Endion choir sang.

Dr. Hoffman spoke as follows:

"The time is not far distant, declares one, when every one possessing private property will be required to answer these two plain questions: 'How much have you withdrawn from the common store and what service did you give in return for it?' That society has a perfect right to a candid answer will be conceded by all who have had a vision of the social meaning of wealth and life. In every business enterprise, trade or calling, whether big or little, society is a partner by virtue of its guarantees, its privileges, its co-operation. Every dollar earned by the individual represents therefore not only expenditure of vital energy on his part but some measure of social responsibility as well. Fiction and current literature, magazine and platform remind the millionaire and the capitalist of his accountability for what he has and how he has acquired it.

Social Obligation.

"The query with us is why should we confine this matter of social obligation to those possessing many or few dollars? It should not be so. It is a truth that applies equally to all. The young man fresh from his academic honors, the mechanic just beginning his career as a craftsman, the young clerk back of the counter, each must meet this twofold test of life. Every personality represents not only so much capitalized mental power, physical force, technical training and skill, but he is also the eternal embodiment of so much creative energy. In him God has put imagination, memory, reason, emotion, and will. He has capacity for clear thought, deep emotion, construction of ideals. From the infinite has come life-powers of incomparable value and talents of immeasurable worth. By every persuasion of logic and experience God and society call us to account for the mental, the moral, the material wealth we have capitalized and the service we are rendering in return for it.

Responsibility to God.

"Our responsibility to God as well as to the community is therefore determined by what one has—his ability, his acquirements, his skill. The power to think well, to feel, to choose, to act renders it possible for us to do and to be one of four men in life and conduct.

"We can become the mere spectator whose interest in the vaster issues of our personal and communal life is one of curiosity. Such an one observes the battle from afar, but unsheathes not his sword in behalf of justice and generosity. He sits quite comfortably watching the combatants in the arena of social, political and religious issues, but he lends not a hand. He may be keen in reflection, in profound observations, but he is the mere gazer, who contributes nothing of value and helpfulness to the distressing problems of experience.

Silas Marner Real Character.

"One may act the miser, seeking to corner the treasures of art, of literature, of ore, timber and grain. The sound of gold has sweeter music to him than the laughter of happy children and contentment of well-paid toilers. Silas Marner is not only a creation of fiction. He is in real life, graduating from high schools, technical colleges, universities and the industrial centers of our nation. The past with its great wealth, the present with its splendid opportunities, the resources of school, of business, of community, of home are all converted into a great grab game from which this mental or moral or materialistic miser takes and keeps all that is possible for his narrow life to hold.

"One may become the prodigal whom the wealth and treasures and affections of life and home ruins and wrecks. Forces of mind, of body, of soul are wasted in degrading conduct. The inheritance of thrifty ancestors, the assets of the community, the earnings of skill, the social values of our age are all squandered in reckless and unseemly ways. The protection of state, the privileges of citizenship, the guarantees of freedom are converted into brutal and inhuman license.

Service Needed.

"Certainly no sane man can commend the spectator; there are too many practical needs in life. We cannot approve the miser, there are too many desolate lives; we cannot regard with favor the prodigal, the treasures of skill, of devotion, of affection, of toil are too precious to be wasted. There is but one attitude which satisfies the mind, the soul, the body, and that is the attitude of the Christian merchant. He toils to increase the mental, the moral, the material goods of life not only for his own benefit but for the welfare of all. Service as well as self-gratification and development commands the enthusiastic obedience of his every faculty. Whether his talents be many or few, his endowments be large or small, they are dedicated to the benediction of the whole of life. He recognizes that Carlyle can no more do the thinking for the race than Mozart can do the composing, or Carnegie make the wealth for all. His personal funds may be meager, but they are consecrated to social enthusiasms of the highest order, to civic ideals of the noblest character, to religious aims of the broadest humanity. Ability, physical vigor, technical skill, commercial opportunity are all devoted to the enthronement of every worthy motive and aim. This man has seen Christ, has heard Him teach, has recognized in Him the only right attitude to life and follows after Him.

Judged By One's Talents.

"Responsibility to God and to society is determined by what one has of mental power, physical vigor, training of hand and eye. Some there are who remind us that the church creates responsibility. They tell us that those who belong to church should not profane God's holy name, for it is an enormous sin in them. They must not indulge in intoxicants, for the liquor traffic is the most anti-social business tolerated by the community. They must not desecrate the Sabbath, for it is the foundation of juster living; but above all, they must not exhibit selfishness in any form, for it is grossly unbecoming in one who has bowed at the altar of Jesus Christ. Strange into what foolish fallacies men of practical intelligence fall!

Position of the Church.

"The church no more creates responsibility than does Jesus Christ. Profanity, desecration of the Sabbath, repudiation of duties of citizenship, indulgence in liquor, these sins are just as heinous in the man out of the church as in it. The obligation to be generous, to be useful, to be holy, to be righteous is derived in no sense from the church. It arises out of the fact that we are created in the image of God; in short, responsibility is inherent, not imposed. Christ, the church, the Scriptures offer themselves not as additional obligations, but as the divine method of aiding us in the realization of all that we should be and do. Aloof from Christ and the church, you escape not condemnation; rather do you deprive thought, emotion, will of the fairest ideal that ever went before man and bankrupt the noblest prospects ever portrayed by the divine artist. Dedicate all to God and you will be a benediction to humanity and profitable to the Father of us all."

NEW JITNEY LINE STARTS

Originator of Service Here Has Rival With Two Cars.

Hillside District Will Be the Next to Be Served.

Duluth has apparently caught the "jitney" bus fever, and "jitney" lines are assured for the immediate future at least.

Amandus W. Youngkvist, a tailor, living at 1825 West Superior street, has joined the "jitney" movement, and began operating two cars this morning in opposition to the lines started Sunday by James O. Renning, a former D., M. & N. engineer.

"There are not enough cars in service yet," said Mr. Renning, "to make the project a success, because people don't want to wait too long and they often take a street car because they're afraid the 'bus will be overcrowded when it returns, going in their direction.

"I'm now planning to put on at least two more cars, and I wish others would start up and operate several cars, because if there are enough in use, it will be easier to get things going as we want them."

Mr. Renning stated that he intended to run two cars along Fourth street, Twenty-fifth avenue east to Fifth avenue west, along Second street within the same boundaries, and along Grand avenue to Thirtieth avenue west from the business section of the city. A "jitney" running up the hill would be a success, we believe, and it is our plan to start one soon," he continued. "People living on the hillside would appreciate a chance to ride home in an auto at night, I think."

Mr. Youngkvist had nothing to say regarding the prospects in the "jitney" bus business, but said that he was planning on starting more cars, if the returns from the two he now is operating warrant it.

In the meantime the Fords with the black and white signs: "Jitney bus line, fare 5 cents," are scurrying up and down Superior street, dodging around their new enemies, the street cars.

St. Patrick's day "in the morning" was not a great success, according to the drivers, but the previous day the busses did a good business.

Starting at 7 a. m., and continuing until 11 p. m., the bus lines now operating run from Third avenue west to Twenty-fourth avenue west and from Fifth avenue west to Twenty-fourth avenue east. They make the trip at twenty-minute intervals.

Chris E. Evens and William L. Bernard, former aldermen, are both officially in the campaign for the commission.

Yesterday afternoon City Clerk Palmer received the acceptance of Mr. Evens from Los Angeles, Cal., and this morning friends of Mr. Bernard, who had been holding his acceptance, pending the action of the former, filed the state representative's acceptance.

On Monday friends of Commissioners Hicken and Murchison started a movement to have both Mr. Evens and Mr. Bernard withdraw from the campaign, as it is believed that they will cut in on the votes of the incumbents. State Representative Bernard agreed to drop his name, providing Mr. Evens did likewise. He then signed an acceptance and left it here with friends, as he was compelled to attend the legislature in St. Paul, instructing his friends to file it only after Mr. Evens had filed.

Yesterday afternoon a letter was received from Mr. Evens, stating that he is in the campaign and that he will not arrive in Duluth until the first part of next week, as he is now visiting the fair in San Francisco. As a result both acceptances were filed and the two men are officially in the campaign.

Friends of Commissioners Hicken and Murchison say that they will wait on Mr. Evens after his arrival here and endeavor to get him to withdraw from the race. Candidates have until five days before the election on April 6 to cancel their names from the ballot, according to the city clerk.

With the filing of the two acceptances, all of the candidates nominated by petition are now officially in the race.

KEEPS GREEN MEMORY OF IRISH COMRADES

In memory of the twenty-nine Irishmen in his company during the Civil war, Capt. Henry W. Cleveland, park manager, this morning distributed small green flags to all the employes in the city hall. It is an annual custom with the war veteran.

Capt. Cleveland headed Company C, Ninth New York cavalry and during the most strenuous battles, he said this morning, those Irish boys proved the greatest of fighters.

"Many of them were killed during the war, and the others have all died in the intervening half century," he added.

"Those Irish boys were a credit to old Erin," said Capt. Cleveland with moist eyes, as he recounted several severe encounters in which they took part during the latter years of the war.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.
Inserted by James A. Farrell in behalf of himself, candidate for Commissioner. Amount to be paid, $13.44.

FARRELL'S RECORD IS CLEAR

James A. (Bert) Farrell was born in Duluth and has lived in the city all of his thirty-eight years. He was connected with the office of the city engineer for twenty years, and is now practicing his profession of civil engineer as a member of the firm of Alexander & Farrell. He has watched the development of the street and sewer systems of the city and is familiar with all of the public work done in the last two decades. He knows the needs of Duluth and particularly those with which the Division of Public Works must deal.

Mr. Farrell was a candidate for Commissioner two years ago and received a plurality of the vote. However, a technical provision of the city charter, sustained by a three to two decision of the supreme court invalidated a sufficient number of votes to defeat him. During that campaign his record as a man and as a public servant in the office of the city engineer was searchingly examined, and found to be such as to entitle him to the confidence of the voters of Duluth.

MR. FARRELL COMES BEFORE THE VOTERS AGAIN AS A CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER. HE ASKS HIS FRIENDS TO SUPPORT AND WORK FOR HIM; HE ASKS THOSE WHO DO NOT KNOW HIM PERSONALLY TO INVESTIGATE HIS RECORD AND GIVE HIM THEIR VOTES IF THEY BELIEVE THAT HE WILL HONESTLY AND CONSCIENTIOUSLY SERVE THEM.

FARMERS' CLUBS WILL BOOST COUNTY LANDS

Pennington County Organizations to Join in Advertising Scheme.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers of Pennington county have adopted a novel plan to advertise unoccupied land in this section. There are fourteen farmers' clubs in this county and it is through these organizations that the farmers expect to succeed in locating many settlers here this year.

The secretary of each club is to secure descriptions of at least twenty-five unoccupied quarter sections in the vicinity of the farmers belonging to the different clubs. These descriptions will be taken to the various schools in the county where a number of typewritten copies of each will be made by the students in the commercial departments. These typewritten descriptions will be sent to twenty-five different farmers' clubs in the southern part of the state.

First-Hand Information.

In this manner, farmers in the southern part of the state who are thinking of locating elsewhere, will receive first-hand descriptions of available land in Pennington county and inasmuch as the descriptions of the land and invitations to locate here will come from the farmers themselves many will undoubtedly become interested.

This effort on the part of the farmers will in no way interfere with the business of the local real estate men, as the pieces of land that will be described by the farmers will be parcels that have never before been listed or placed on the market. The object of the farmers is to help in getting the county more thickly settled, thus making the farm life more pleasant and enjoyable. The farmers want to see every quarter section in the county occupied and if their efforts will count for anything they intend to bring about this condition.

W. H. COLE LEFT BIG ESTATE

Property Is Valued in Will at More Than $250,000.

Leaves $100,000 and Real Estate to His Widow.

William H. Cole, Duluth mining man, whose death occurred March 8, last, at Pasadena, Cal., left an estate valued at upwards of $250,000, according to a petition filed today in probate court by D. B. McDonald, who asks to be appointed executor in accordance with the terms of a will which the petitioner seeks to have admitted to probate. Mr. McDonald was associated with the late Mr. Cole in a number of mining enterprises and owned a controlling interest in the Cole & McDonald Exploration company.

The petition recites that Mr. Cole left personal property consisting of stock, notes and bonds estimated to be worth upwards of $210,000 and real estate valued at upwards of $3,500.

The will which is offered for probate was drawn by Mr. Cole on Oct. 17, 1913. It makes liberal provisions for Mrs. Emile M. Cole, widow, who was the decedent's second wife, his first wife having died a number of years ago. In lieu of her statutory rights, the instrument provides that she be given possession of all of the furniture, fixtures, books, pictures, silver plate, jewelry and personal trinkets in the Cole residence at Twenty-third avenue east and First street, and in addition the Cole summer home at Pike lake, near this city, and a winter home at Tarpon Springs, Fla.

Note for $100,000.

The will also bequeaths to her a promissory note for $100,000, together with the collateral securing it. The widow signed a statement annexed to the will in which she consented to its provisions and by so doing waived her statutory rights as a wife.

It is also provided that the trustees shall pay to three brothers, John J. Cole, Thomas F. Cole and Oscar F. Cole, the latter of Marquette, Mich., and to a sister, Mrs. Anna E. D'SELLEY CHANGES PLEA TO GUILTY

In district court before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon Peter d'Selley changed his plea of not guilty to guilty when arraigned on a charge of receiving stolen property, and was sentenced by Judge Cant to thirty days at the county jail with the alternative of a $25 fine. D'Selley will pay the fine.

The prisoner was accused of having received wheat which had been stolen from a Northern Pacific box car Dec. 11, 1914. He was indicted by the January grand jury for the stealing of the wheat but was acquitted. Under the direction of the court he was ordered held to the March grand jury which indicted him on a charge of receiving stolen property.

SETTLEMENT NOT FEASIBLE

Germans Forbid Emigration of Belgians, Says Brand Whitlock.

Minister Writes Commercial Club About Madame Artois' Plan.

The Belgian settlement plan for St. Louis county is not feasible at the present time, according to Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium. In a letter written to the Duluth Commercial club complying with a request for information, Mr. Whitlock declares that the German government does not allow Belgians to leave their native country. He states, however, that there are Belgians who would probably be glad to come to the United States if they could. He says that Madame Artois, who was in Duluth promoting the project, is not known to the legation in Belgium.

Madame Artois was in Duluth some time ago raising funds to launch her scheme, and 500 acres of land was offered to the proposed settlers by the Boston & Duluth Farm Land company, and many of the most prominent business men of the city were enthusiastic over the project. The last heard of Madame Artois in Duluth was that she was in the Twin Cities raising money. Mr. Whitlock's letter follows:

"American legation,
"Brussels.

"I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of Dec. 28, in regard to a plan you propose for furnishing homes in America for Belgian farmers.

"While there are undoubtedly a number of people who would be glad to accept the offer you make, I fear that it is not feasible at this time as the German military authorities positively refuse permission to Belgian subjects to leave the country.

"The legation has no knowledge of Madame Phillippine Artois, concerning whom you make inquiry in your letter.

"BRAND WHITLOCK."

CROSBY IS AGAINST SYVERSON'S MEASURE

Cuyuna Range City Appoints Committee to Fight Annexation Bill.

Crosby, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Edward Syverson of the Sixth district has recently introduced a bill in the house which provides that any town or village of third class can annex any platted addition of any other adjoining town by a vote of a percentage of the people in that addition. The bill has already been reported out by the house committee and placed on special order.

The commercial club deeming it a dangerous piece of legislation held a special meeting Tuesday and appointed committees to co-operate with other towns similarly situated and see what can be done toward defeating the bill.

The school was established at the penitentiary early in the year by Warden Talcott at the request of several inmates who were desirous of taking up some studies.

REGENTS WILL ORGANIZE

First Meeting of New North Dakota Board in April.

Bismarck, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The newly-created board of regents of the educational institutions of the state will meet here in April to organize. It is expected that L. F. Crawford of Sentinel Butte will be elected president, as he has had the longest tenure of service under Governor Hanna's appointments.

The board will plan to commence its survey of the several institutions immediately. This survey will be conducted under the direction of a competent educator, who probably will be chosen by the board prior to July 1, when the board takes complete control.

Rather an interesting feature of the board of regents bill, as it is enrolled and as signed by the governor, is a mistake which makes present trustees of educational institutions eligible for appointment, although the original copy of the bill provided that they should be intelligible.

MAKES APPEAL FOR TRUE AMERICANISM

Silberstein Flays Hicken Policy of "Conviction Without Trial."

Addressing about 150 voters at the Polish hall last evening, Bernard Silberstein, candidate for commissioner, made an eloquent appeal in behalf of true Americanism, the square deal and the preservation of liberty.

The speaker especially emphasized what he termed "the Hicken policy of prejudgment, which convicts a man without giving him a hearing" as unfair and un-American. He promised a good, clean business administration, if elected, and declared that a policy of economy would be followed out during the tenure of his office.

F. C. Elston, campaign manager for Mr. Silberstein, presided at the meeting, and short talks were given by several men present before the candidate was called on for an address. All the speakers lauded Mr. Silberstein in the highest terms, giving his long business record here as evidence of his qualifications to serve as commissioner.

A straw ballot taken during the evening gave Mr. Silberstein nearly a unanimous vote.

"Why 'DAME Fashion?'"

"Why," asks the Woman Who Wants to Know, "do they say 'DAME Fashion,' when every style of dress for the past few years seems to have been designed for little slim young girls?"

Perhaps the answer has just come, for surely the styles of today are quaint, old-fashioned and matronly enough to suit even the most conservative.

No more tight narrow skirts for stumbling, tired feet. No more knee-line waists for grotesque stout figures. No more voluminous drapery, only beautiful on the slight girlish figure.

Simplicity seems to be the keynote of the present-day mode, and there are many who will appreciate the change.

The advertising columns of The Herald contain daily items of interest in regard to the ever-varying fashions. They carry as much news of this character as the news columns.

NO GROUND FOR ACTION

Attorney General Decides in Favor of the Associated Press.

Says It Is Not Unlawful Monopoly—Law Not Violated.

Washington, March 17.—Attorney General Gregory has written a letter addressed to James M. Dick, counsel for the Sun association, disposing of the complaint against the Associated Press for alleged violation of the Federal anti-trust act made by the New York Sun Printing and Publishing association.

The attorney general's letters, dated March 12, makes known that there is no ground for action by the Federal authorities against the Associated Press under the anti-trust law.

The attorney general's letter is the result of a petition filed Feb. 3, 1914, by the Sun Printing & Publishing association, asking the attorney general to make an investigation and then to institute proceedings against the Associated Press.

The chief point of interest in the attorney general's letter is his statement as to the right of a group of newspapers to form an association under given conditions, as follows:

Right to Form Association.

"Assuming that the kind of service in which the Associated Press is engaged is interstate commerce (A question not free from doubt) I am nevertheless of the opinion that it is no action of violation of the anti-trust law for a group of newspapers to form an association to collect and distribute news for their own benefit and to that end agree to furnish the news collected by them to each other, or to the association; provided that no attempt is made to prevent the members from purchasing or otherwise obtaining news from rival agencies. If that is true, the corollary must be true, namely, that newspapers desiring to form and maintain an organization may determine who shall be, and who shall not be their associates.

"This, of course, is not to say that an association might not develop into an unlawful monopoly. The facts adduced, however, in my opinion, do not show that this has happened in the case of the Associated Press."

Clean Bill of Health.

Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, referring to the letter, said last night:

"The clean bill of health given the Associated Press by the attorney general after his study of the complaint of the New York Sun, is of course highly gratifying to the membership of the organization.

"It is the more gratifying because it was the result of a long, careful and searching scrutiny by the department of justice of the object and form of the organization, its scope and methods.

"It is convincing proof of the utter lack of foundation of such attacks as that of the Sun that such an investigation found nothing in the methods and practices of the organization properly subject to the attacks made by the Sun, and nothing in its bylaws at all objectionable save one section (a provision similar to which had been upheld many years ago by the highest court of New York), that has been a dead letter and never operative in any sense since its adoption at the time the present organization was formed in 1900.

"To those of us who have had the responsibility of the conduct of the Associated Press, this opinion of Attorney General Gregory is the more pleasing because he has accepted the Sun's contention (though with some doubt) that a full responsibility attached to the organization under the anti-trust laws and has therefore based his scrutiny and his exoneration upon the Sun's own contention.

"Those charged with the management of the Associated Press have endeavored to govern its conduct with a full appreciation of the undoubted fact that its course should be, not only legally but ethically, influenced by the highest standards, and in this we have felt we were succeeding—so far as it is humanly possible to succeed.

"It is not the custom of the Associated Press to either shriek for or shrink from investigation of any of its activities—if fair, we are content."

BEMIDJI BOND ISSUE.

Bemidji, Minn., March 17.—Recommending that a special election be held for the purpose of approving a bond issue of not to exceed $60,000, the report of the committee which was appointed to investigate the conditions of Bemidji's finances was submitted to the city council.

The report stated that this amount would retire all of the outstanding warrants against the city and would create a cash basis for the city to work upon. The plan suggested was to sell the bonds to the state of Minnesota and to retire the first $4,000 on July 1, 1920, and to retire a like sum at regular intervals until the entire amount loaned on the bonds will have been paid. The money would be borrowed at 4 per cent interest.

A petition signed by a large number of property owners was submitted to the council requesting that the vote on a bond issue be submitted to the citizens by special election.

WEST END CHURCHES TO ENTER FIGHT

Scandinavian Pastors Plan Campaign for Hicken and Murchison.

Three Mass Meetings Are Arranged and Clubs Will Be Formed.

Three mass meetings were arranged and plans formulated for an active campaign in the spring election through the men's organization of the various churches at a meeting of the Scandinavian ministers of the West end, held yesterday afternoon at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. The first of these mass meetings will be held next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

Resolutions, which will be conveyed to every church club, women's organization and temperance association in the city, were adopted, asking cooperation of these forces in the election of advocates of law enforcement and the organization of Hicken-Murchison clubs throughout the city. These candidates, the ministers declared, were running on this platform and their election, they said, was necessary for the moral welfare of the city.

At the mass meeting next Sunday three of the ministers will be speakers. Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, will speak in English; Rev. J. M. Nervig, pastor of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, will speak in Norwegian, and Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission church, will speak in Swedish. Rev. C. W. R. Wermine of the Swedish M. E. church will sing.

The second meeting will be held at 3 o'clock on Sunday, March 28, at the First Norwegian Danish Methodist church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, and the final meeting will probably be held the following Wednesday evening at the Swedish Mission, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The speakers at these meetings have not been decided on.

The pastors present at the meeting yesterday were Rev. Mr. Hanson, Rev. Mr. Wermine, Rev. Swaney Nelson, Rev. H. O. Ofstie, Rev. C. W. Eckstrom, Rev. Mr. Daniels and Rev. E. Wulfsburg.

Farmers Around Carrington Already Preparing to Put in Crops.

Carrington, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dragging the fields for the 1915 wheat crop has been in progress in this locality for several days and if the present excellent weather continues a short time longer wheat seeding will be in progress. There is no snow in this locality as is the case in the Red River valley and other sections of the state.

Moisture Before Freeze-up.

There has been comparatively little snow during the winter but there was a great deal of moisture last fall before the freeze-up and the conditions are regarded as quite favorable. Seeding will be completed more rapidly this spring than in many other years because of the great amount of plowing done last fall and the prepared condition of the farmers in this respect.

RECEIVER FOR BUTTE-DULUTH

Action Said to Be Friendly One to Protect Bondholders.

Company Has Never Placed Any Stock on the Market.

Butte, Mont., March 17.—Charles M. Everett took charge today as receiver of the affairs of the Butte-Duluth Copper company under appointment of the United States district court. The Provident Security company of Duluth in a petition filed with the court alleged the mining company was unable to meet interest payments on outstanding bonds and other obligations. The company, according to reports, has debts amounting to $250,000.

It is understood in local mining circles that the above proceedings in connection with the Butte-Duluth Copper company, are of a friendly nature, and that they were taken with a view to protecting the bondholders, who are said to be largely personal friends of Capt. A. B. Wolvin, the president of the company.

The company has no outsanding stock issue, never having placed any on the market.

An option on the company's property at Butte is understood to have been taken a short time ago by a syndicate of Eastern capitalists. An option given previously to the Anaconda Copper Mining company was not exercised owing to a disagreement as to the figure to be paid. It is said that the Anaconda company's engineers' report regarding the nature of the Butte-Duluth holdings was satisfactory.

In the last Copper Hand Book, the directors of the Butte-Duluth company are given as follows: Capt. A. B. Wolvin, president; C. M. Everson, Alfred C. Kremer, L. P. Sanders, J. Bruce Kremer, and W. M. Tuoliy. W. L. Credon was consulting engineer, and C. Lorimer Colburn, manager.

The first balloon ascent took place in 1783.

SAYS PROSECUTION WAS MALICIOUS

Hotel Proprietor and Agent Must Pay for Ejecting Tenants.

If a verdict returned in Judge Fesler's division of the district court yesterday afternoon stands, J. J. Frey and his sister, M. Kamerer, will be obliged to pay Charles J. and Mary Petruschke $3,750 because they instituted suit against the Petruschkes to recover rent owing on the Grand hotel property and took legal steps to have them ejected from the premises.

Mrs. M. Kamerer is the owner of the Grand hotel property at Fifty-third avenue west and Ramsey street and her brother, J. J. Frey, is her agent. The Petrunschkes, who were tenants of the premises, were put out about a year ago under ejectment proceedings. The owner sued for rent, but the Petruschkes counterclaimed for repairs made and when the case came to trial, it was decided in favor of the Petruschkes.

After the Petruschkes had been put out of the hotel they instructed their attorney, N. B. Arnold, to institute suit against the owner of the premises and her agent, Mr. Frey, for $13,050 damages for the alleged malicious prosecution of the civil actions.

The jury found that the defendants had acted maliciously in bringing and prosecuting the actions.

TO DISCUSS CHARTER.

Civic Problems Will Be Thrashed Over By Improvement Club.

The Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club will hold its regular meeting this evening at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street. R. Murchison, commissioner of public works, will be one of the speakers, and it is also expected that a representative from the Woodland club will attend to explain the proposed amendment to the city charter.

A report of the committee in charge of the proposed sewer for Coates street will give the club its report. It is proposed to have this sewer built for a distance of about 300 feet in the street which will connect with the main trunk sewer in Jenswold street and from there into a septic tank near Thirty-seventh avenue and Oneota street.

WIRE-CUTTERS NOT LOCATED.

Grudge Against Phone Company Believed to Be Motive.

The police have as yet been unable to find any trace of the culprits who have during the past week been cutting telephone and electric wires in this end of the city. No reports of wire cutting were received at the West Duluth police station this morning.

The police believe that the cutting has been done by somebody who had a grudge against the Zenith Telephone company. In the majority of instances of wire-cutting the wires of this company were cut. The other wires, the police believe, were cut by mistake.

GRAND REOPENING IS POSTPONED

Theater Has Had "Grand Opening" and "Grand Closing."

West Duluthians have seen a "grand opening" and a "grand closing" at the new Colonial theater, 230 North Central avenue, but they still are waiting for the "grand reopening."

When Manager Guy R. Hallock started to stage his "grand opening" Monday evening, Police Lieut. Charles E. Wilcox appeared on the scene and closed the place, as Hallock had failed to secure a license.

No further attempt has been made to secure a license, or open the place, according to police, and in the meantime the "grand reopening" is indefinitely postponed.

ICE FOR CURLERS.

Final Matches in Two Trophy Events Are Scheduled.

This evening Zauft and McDonald will play in the finals of this event. The finals of the Universal event will also be played tonight.

CLUB WILL HEAR TALKS ON AMENDMENTS.

Held to Grand Jury.

Henry Hildebrand, 20, who was arrested Monday night for burglarizing box cars, was arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon. Following a hearing, Judge Lanners ordered him bound over to the grand jury. Hildebrand is charged with having broken into a box car of a moving freight and thrown off two cases of canned goods. The cases were thrown from the train while it was between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth avenues west.

Fire in Residence.

ANOTHER SECRET ABOUT "US GIRLS" AT CITY HALL.

Not a word to anyone. This is another secret about the city hall girls.

They're going to give another spread at the city hall after working hours this evening and no one is supposed to know anything about it—except the girls.

Only one man will attend the spread with all the girls, there being thirteen of them and they so want to avoid any hoodoo.

The party will begin at 5:30 o'clock and decorations will be in orange and green in honor of St. Patrick's day. After the spread the girls are going to a motion picture show.

Is the man going, too? Maybe that's why they asked him to the spread.

TWO ONE-ACT PLAYS PRESENTED WITH PROFESSIONAL FINISH BY DRAMA LEAGUE

CAST OF "HOW HE LIED TO HER HUSBAND."
Left to Right—Leo Schmied, Mrs. John A. Sinclair, John A. Sinclair.

"The Dear Departed" and "How He Lied to Her Husband," given at the Little theater last evening, were fully up to the excellent standard of the Drama league productions. In fact both were given with real professional finish and attention to detail that gave evidence of the most painstaking rehearsal. Both plays were in charge of Mrs. John A. Sinclair, and the members of one cast were coached by Joseph de Stephani of the Baldwin Players.

The stage setting for "The Dear Departed," by Stanley Houghton, that gives a glimpse into middle class life, was faithful to homely details, even to the red table cloth, the mustard pot of generous size, garish blue vases, and brilliantly colored hen-on-the-nest egg dish.

Equally faithful to details was the costuming. The mourning of Mrs. Wilbur Joyce and the near mourning of Miss Lucille Bradley, daughters of "the dear departed," the sedate white frock with black sash of Miss Patsy Watson, the granddaughter, the sedate black clothes of Edward Chapin, Jr., and A. Graeme Darling, the sons-in-law, not forgetting the sad-looking black string tie of Mr. Chapin, and the uncompromising and pugnacious airs of the twists of hair of the two sisters, played no little parts in making the play a success.

Just when the daughters and the sons-in-law are quarreling over the disposal of the property of Abel Merryweather, played by John A. Sinclair, the supposedly "dear departed" enters the living room to the shock and discomfort of his relatives and puts an end to the discussion of the disposal of his gold watch and chest of drawers.

The old father, who explains he was just lying down because he had a headache, tells how he intends leaving all his property to the one with whom he is making his home at the time of his death. He puts a stop to the quarreling for the privilege of having him by announcing that his wedding to the owner of the public house will take place next Monday.

The Second Play.

Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband" was played by Mrs. John A. Sinclair as "she," Leo Schmied as "he" and John A. Sinclair as "her husband." The raptures indulged in by the youthful poet, Mr. Schmied, his sudden changes from the most terrible dejection to the heights of bliss, back to despondency with equal quickness, were excellent, as were his cringings at the mention of the prosaic word "Bumbus" in connection with poetry and his pantomime with the flowers and gloves of the fair Aurora.

Mrs. Sinclair as "she," the greatly-admired wife of a prosaic but devoted and proud husband, brought out well the distress of the married woman to whom verses have been written by an infatuated young poet and who has a meddlesome sister-in-law not above stealing to show to "Teddy," the prosaic husband whose name does not begin to match his size.

The crisp touches of Shaw in the speeches of Mrs. Sinclair were thoroughly enjoyed as "Henry, how dare you swear in my presence? One would think you were my husband," and the matter-of-fact sallies that are directed at Henry when he shows no ability, no definite ideas even, to get her out of the trouble caused by the poems.

The size and brusqueness of Mr. Sinclair were enough to frighten even more courageous persons that a love-sick poet and a trembling wife. The Little theater stage is considered small but it is large enough for a spirited race around the table and for both men to fall full length before the foot lights when the husband resents the poet's assertion that his lines were written to Aurora, the goddess of the dawn and not to Aurora, otherwise known as Mrs. Bumpus.

And then comes the peaceful Shaw ending in which Mr. Sinclair who insists upon a de luxe edition of the poems and asks what would be a suitable title, with the suggestion from Mr. Schmied, "I think I should call them 'How He Lied to Her Husband.'"

HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE MEETS

Members Hear Lecture on Mouth Hygiene—Inspection of Dentists' Offices Urged By Speaker.

In line with the work of the Housewives' league for sanitation, was the talk given at the meeting yesterday afternoon by Dr. Richard E. Nixon, who advocated the inspection of dentists' offices. Yesterday's program was arranged by the Housewives' league more than three months ago, and had no connection with the efforts of other organizations to establish dental clinics.

Dr. Nixon expressed the belief that a dentist should not only know his own work thoroughly but also should be able to detect diseases that are evidenced by conditions of the oral cavity.

"Mouth hygiene is futile unless we keep our instruments sterilized and all conditions in our dental offices sanitary," he said. "The careless dentist may spread disease, and do a great deal of damage. The mouth should be the port of protection. There are many diseases that enter by the mouth and nose. No broad-minded physician or dentist would object to inspection by a competent person, since the plan would be a real benefit to the public."

Mrs. J. T. Watson, president of the Housewives' league, reported on the success of the penny lunches at the Irving school. It was decided to continue serving the lunches at least until the Easter vacation.

Mrs. J. U. Sebenius, the secretary, read a letter from A. J. Kull, city sealer of Ashland, Wis., in regard to a lecture on weights and measures. It was decided to bring Mr. Kull to Duluth to lecture in April, if the executive board considers it advisable after finding out whether the Woman's Council of Superior will co-operate in the undertaking.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Proper Age for Marriage.

It is hardly to be expected that a child who becomes a wife at the age of 14 will find as she grows to woman's estate that her choice, or rather the step that she has taken or has been advised to take, has been the right one. There may have been boy and girl affairs of this nature, well guided by older people interested in having them turn out satisfactorily, that have stood the test of time, but the usual result is not particularly happy, though it may never come to open rupture between them.

There are two very simple reasons why the marriage of a girl ranging anywhere from 14 to 18 is undesirable. First, the extreme youth of the wife, and second, the fact that the husband is too often years older than the child-woman whom he has made his bride.

Nowadays we look upon a 14-year-old girl as a mere child, short-skirted and long-stockinged. She is ignorant of most of the laws of life, and not fitted by environment, education or physical or mental development for the duties of a wife or mother. Occasionally one does see a girl of 14 who has the physical attributes of a woman of nearly twice her years, but even such a girl should be kept girlish and her tendencies to old thinking and actions diverted into channels that accord with her years.

Women who have been turned from children into wives without the intervening period of girlhood are to be pitied. They have lost some of life's most golden moments. They say that women re-live their lives in and with their children. I know women who have slaved that their daughters might enjoy the girlhood they missed. I know that there have been other girls who lost much out of some of the most innocent, carefree days just because their mothers had no conception of what they should be, no sympathy with their high spirits and butterfly actions, and therefore intolerant.

In our grandmothers' day the custom of marrying the daughters of a family while they were what we consider children was not so unusual as to cause comment. These little mothers raised large families of sons and daughters, often lived to be a good old age themselves and seemed happy enough in their existence of arduous toil. Few of them, however, were anxious that their children should follow their example.

Marriage at 20, 22, or 24, is highly desirable in these days when people are inclined to postpone it until maturer years. If one waits too long they become over-critical and set in their ideas of matrimony. Still these unions are less likely to end in the divorce court, while those of a mere child are bound to be unhappy if not disastrous.

IS COUSIN OF BOSTONIAN WHO WILL WED DULUTH GIRL

MISS ELEONORA SEARS.

One of the best known sportswomen in the country is Miss Eleanora Sears, a cousin of Francis P. Sears, whose wedding to Miss Marie Merrill of Duluth will take place next week.

Miss Sears, who may come to Duluth for the wedding, is an expert tennis and golf player, and a most enthusiastic horsewoman. She is shown here in a striking riding habit, beside her favorite horse.

Miss Merrill is also an expert tennis player, ranking with the three or four leading women players of the city, and she may be able to give her cousin-to-be a close contest with the raquets.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Life's Shop Window."
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
REX—William H. Crane in "David Harum," photoplay.

The Art of "Doubling."

An example of the wide diversity of roles a stock company actress may be called upon to play, is shown this week at the Lyceum.

The Baldwin Players are appearing this week in "Life's Shop Window." The first scene of the play is laid in England, and in this scene Miss Margaret Lotus appears as the daughter of an English farmer. The later scenes are laid on a western ranch, and Miss Lotus appears in them as "Starlight," an Indian maiden. The two roles are about as widely different as any two parts that could be chosen, but Miss Lotus handles them both capably. It is seldom that the members of the Baldwin Players are called upon to "double" in any but very minor parts, but no stock company actor hesitates at any feat of "doubling" that is physically possible. They feel that such training is invaluable to them, and fits them to step into almost any part at short notice.

"Life's Shop Window" will continue for the remainder of the week with the usual Saturday matinee, and Sunday the Baldwin company will open in a production of James Hallock Reid's "The Confession," which had a long and prosperous run at the Bijou theater in New York.

Grand Bill Changes.

The last opportunity to hear Mazie de Long, headlining the popular bill now at the New Grand will be today. This young woman has established an enviable reputation during her short stay with her inimitable character portrayals.

Archer and Carr offer a refined singing act full of wit and melody.

Edna and Billy St. Allen, premier artists on the tight-wire, perform many dangerous and thrilling feats while poised on a steel thread at a dangerous height.

The Four Musical Kings are musicians, singers and comedians of ability. Excellent playing on string instruments, harmonious singing and plenty of comedy make the act a big hit.

The three-reel photoplay, "In Spite of All," adapted from Mrs. Fiske's great play of the same name, tells a story teeming with heart interest.

A comedy, "Father's New Maid"; an educational subject, "The Pitcher Plant," and a drama, "The Man Who Knew," completes the bill.

On Thursday the bill will be changed and the new bill will include plenty of novelty and variety offering. Maddison and Nase, harmony singers; Arthur Van and Gladys Pearce in a comedy skit, "Get a License"; the Four Charles, European transformation novelty, and Lawrence Johnson, king of voice throwers.

The Hearst-Selig News will, as usual, project interesting events from all over the world. One of the Helen Holmes railroad stories, "The Open Drawbridge"; a two-reel Selig special, "The Lady of the Cyclamen," and a comedy, "Rastus Knew It Wasn't" are other photoplays on the bill.

"David Harum" at Rex.

Good productions and good actors are the usual showings at the Rex. Wednesday and Thursday will add to the long list of well known actors and plays, W. H. Crane in his well known production, "David Harum."

"David Harum" is a great character study, worked out with little bits of human business that appeal to all Americans, especially those who have been fortunate enough to live in a small town. There are several points about which those who want to quibble and go to the theater with the "dare you to please me" attitude might insist are at variance with the book. But take it all in all it is a great story and full of human touches that delight and convince.

The New High Collar.

Philadelphia Telegraph: What is the new high collar? It is a dozen different things. In some instances it looks as if it were left over from the previous reign of high collars. Sometimes it takes on totally new lines. So far, fortunately, there is much white about it and it is usually guiltless of boning.

There is a collar of pique or of white, heavy, corded silk, with flaring points under the ear, and this, too, is finished with a band of black at the bottom.

Some lingerie frocks are worn over guimpes with long, tight sleeves and high collars. The guimpes, too, are made of lingerie—of organdy and Valenciennes insertion sometimes.

Then there is the net collar. This has many forms. Sometimes it is a doubled piece of net, frilled and finished with a band of velvet ribbon over the shirring. Sometimes it is high, shaped up in points at the side and back, and embroidered.

Haley's planked Jumbo whitefish—none better.

THE WEARIN' OF THE GREEN.

St. Patrick's Day probably gets the most peculiar observance in this country of any in the calendar. There are days—such as Christmas, Thanksgiving, New Year's and the Fourth of July—which are celebrated by all in much the same way. There are days which different churches or different religions regard as deserving special observance, but which are ignored by all but the members of that sect. But St. Patrick's Day seems to get attention, at least, from practically everybody, irrespective of creed or calling.

For years there was considerable resentment against this custom. It was felt by many devout church members that their religion was being made fun of by irreverent wearers of the green, and that there was too much tendency to caricature persons and things that many hold sacred. And there can be no denial that bad taste entered into some of the things said and done by the thoughtless.

But whatever others may say or do or think, their words or actions or thoughts need make no difference to the really sincere wearer of the green. To him it may be a symbol of country or of faith, a reminder that will stir the pulse, perhaps, or give an impulse to inspiring thoughts. And he would do well to see, or try to see, in the observance of this day by others a recognition, more or less frank, of the great service rendered humanity by the Irish priest whose efforts did so much to save the Christian religion to the world.

And they will not be far wrong in accepting the acts of their fellows as such a recognition, for while there may be some who do it thoughtlessly and largely because others are doing it, there are thousands who willingly give recognition to St. Patrick and his work by the wearin' of the green.

Twelve thousand registration? Wow! Some campaign, friends; some campaign.

IT'S TIME TO LET UP.

It's time to let up on the railroads.

For the last dozen years the popular sport of legislatures has been to stir up the railroads. The companies have not had time to breathe between prods, so frequent and so persistent have been the attacks on them in one phase or another. They have fought back as well as they could, but year by year they have been forced to add to their operating expenses, increase the pay of their employes and reduce the remuneration they got for their services to the public.

The last few months, with the interruptions to commerce and transportation incident to the European war, have hit the railroads as they have hit most other lines of business. And yet there is a disposition in many quarters to continue the old, harrying tactics, apparently on the principle that anything done to the railroads is a deed for the betterment of humanity in general.

The Minnesota legislature has been the scene of a peculiarly violent outbreak of railroad baiting. Bill after bill has been introduced to restrict or otherwise interfere with the carriers, until finally the total cost to the Minnesota railways in the next year (provided all these bills became law) would amount to something more than twenty-five million dollars.

Some of these bills sound reasonable when considered by themselves. Some of them would mean no particular burden to the carriers, as for instance the one requiring disinfection of stock cars. The semi-monthly pay bill has already been passed and is beyond discussion.

But there are other bills the very drafting of which showed either lack of information or thoughtlessness on the part of those who framed and proposed them. These should be killed outright, or at least allowed to smother in some pigeonhole.

Of course the railroads are in part to blame for the legislative habit of assailing them. In the earlier days they took every possible advantage of communities and individuals where these were powerless to "come back." Those practices led to the time when the people were ready to cheer—and vote—for anybody who would attack the railroads, and apparently there are those who fail to realize that those happy days are past and that today it takes more than an assault on the carriers to prove a man a statesman.

But the railroads have learned many lessons, and ought to be given at least reasonable time to prove this fact to the people. And even if that were not so it is both unjust and mighty poor policy to hammer them with needless or foolish legislation at such a time as this.

It is time to let up on the railroads, and the Minnesota legislators will do well to recognize this, and do justice both to the carriers and themselves and the state they represent.

It frequently happens that the man who didn't bother to register is the loudest denouncer of political conditions.

KEEP THEM COMING.

Minnesota got more immigrants during the month of February than all the other Northwestern states together, according to figures compiled by the Minnesota Transfer company at St. Paul. Through the hands of this company practically if not quite all the heavy freight traffic of the Northwest is passed, and the records for the month show that of 594 carloads of immigrant moveables, there were 387 that went to Minnesota points—more than half the total number.

The fact is not only interesting, but of the greatest importance to the state. Minnesota has big areas of rich soil that is only waiting the application of human intelligence and effort to produce richly the things most necessary to human existence. In other words, what Minnesota wants and needs is settlers, and this report on the immigrant movement proves that the settlers are coming.

It is up to Minnesota to keep them coming. It isn't enough to rest on what we have already done. Those now here will help to advertise the state by their letters to their former homes, but this, while it helps, is not enough to keep the movement alive and vigorous.

A good proportion of the state's growth in the last few years has been due to the work of the immigration bureau and other agencies. Those agencies are to be congratulated on what they have done, but we must not let them stop now. We must keep the immigrants coming, and the way to do that is to give the immigration authorities all the help we can, and at the same time aid and encourage the newcomers by legislative action.

This Minnesota Transfer report should be called to the attention of every member of the legislature, that he may get a bettter understanding of the advantages of the work now being done, and of the necessity for still further efforts.

Carranza seems to have made a capital mistake when he established his seat of government at Vera Cruz. It's too close to the navy.

FUN AND EDUCATION.

It is one of the principles of modern teaching that fun and education are not hopelessly and eternally separated as by a great gulf. The old idea was that the two could never be combined. But that was in the days when children were expected to be men and women before they got through with their childish games and ideas. Today it is different—as you will quickly realize if you spend a day in any up-to-date school.

Maybe you don't realize the difference the new theory makes. In that case you have an awakening coming next week, with the opening of the Style Show. That is going to be really educational in its effect, and at the same time it is going to be a lot of fun.

Five o'clock Monday afternoon will be the time when the big splurge begins. The windows in the downtown district will be draped before that time, but at 5 o'clock, at a signal given by bombs, the drapes will be pulled away and the windows will blaze with color.

Then the evening—that will be the most fun of all. At 7 o'clock the stores will be opened and everybody in town will be invited to come in and look around. You will see your neighbors and your neighbors' neighbors there. You will see people from all ends of town and from half way between. You will see old folks and young folks and tall folks and short folks, and they will all be saying (or thinking) "Oh" and "Ah" and "Gee!" and all the other expressions of admiration known to Duluth conversation.

Buy? Not a cent's worth! There'll be nothing for sale. You'll just be expected to look and look and look and look and look—and keep it up till you get tired of it. All the stores will be open and all doing no business except to show you the latest and best things in the lines they carry.

Instructive? You know it. Not only to Mrs. and Miss Everybody, but to Master Everybody and Mr. Everybody and all the rest of the family. It will be one great time. Don't miss it.

Remember, Monday evening. Be there.

A Catholic Editor on "Catholic" Politicians

Under the title of "Jack, Who Is Good to the Poor," there appears in the Extension Magazine, which is published by the Catholic Church Extension society, a page and a half editorial on "Catholic" politicians and the Catholic church. After quoting what three clergymen had to say about church-going politicians, the editorial says:

This country is cursed with some politicians with Catholic names, Catholic ancestors, and, as far as they can maintain them, Catholic affiliations, who are far worse than those referred to by the three clergymen. The situation is just the reverse of the situation they pictured for they were talking of good men with false consciences when they stepped into politics, men who would be most indignant were they called thieves, though thieves they are. Bigger problems are embodied in the politicians who make their nominal religion a stepping stone to the favor of their friends, but whose whole lives are a disgrace to religion, and who are themselves weights around the neck of any religion they patronize. Such of these politicians as belong nominally to us are seen now and then at mass or services, but the "now and then" is usually Christmas, Easter, funerals and weddings, when they know that a crowd will see and note their attendance. They show up strong at bazars and socials. Their donations to religion consist largely of the purchase of tickets from the Marys, the Marthas, Agneses and Birdies of the congregation. The Marys, the Marthas, the Agneses and the Birdies, you see, have fathers and brothers with votes, and ultimately the story of the generosity gets around to the pastor. They are always most anxious to appear to know a great many priests; and, when their company so justifies it, take care to refer to them by their first names. They are entranced with joy if they can do a service for the bishop of the diocese. But all the time their knowledge of the inside of the tribunal of penance is limited to a memory of boyhood; and, of course, as to the communion rails, they have admired them occasionally from the distance of the front pew, more frequently from the rear of the church.

There is not a soul in all the precincts, or wards, or cities, or as far as the influence of such men goes, who does not know that their private lives are as rotten as a lobster twenty-four hours dead, and just as full of poison. There is not the slightest doubt in the minds of the people who vote for them as to their outrageous hypocrisy; but it is all passed over when the time to vote comes with the remark that "Jack is a good fellow. Look what he does for the poor."

Now, what does "Jack" do for the poor? "Jack" is like a certain Mexican general I heard of, who hands out his pesos liberally to every poor woman who asks help from him—but takes care that he gives nothing but pesos; while all the time he has good solid gold dollars deposited to his credit in the banks of El Paso, San Antonio, New York and Paris. The hero worship that used to be given to Dick Turpin by the people of England, and to the famous "Brennan on the Moor" by the people of Ireland, because "what they stole from the rich they gave to the widow in distress"—part of it—is being constantly reproduced in the United States for the benefit of Turpins and Brennans who put their prototypes in the "piker" class.

The political hypocrite waxes rich, powerful and influential on the votes of fools who treat their political obligations with about as much respect as they do their old clothes—giving them away because they do not seem to need them and the other fellow does, while making no inquiry at all as to whether the recipient is worthy or not.

It goes without saying that this condition of affairs is bad for the country. Even those who are guilty of voting for these men will admit that, but they excuse themselves on the ground that the country is large and that one scoundrel more or less in office makes no difference. The trouble is that the scoundrels in office are multiplying, and when we put them there we are playing fast and loose with our liberties and with our money. It costs something to pay for the new brass fixtures and nude pictures in "Jack's" numberless saloons. "Jack" believes that the city, the state or the nation, owes him a living; but he is not satisfied with a living. "Jack" must have a palace for himself and a safety deposit vault stuffed with gilt-edged securities. The voter complains of the tendency of taxes to soar. He wonders why the new pavement in front of his house breaks up at the end of two years. He cannot understand why his daughters, who work downtown, have to hang on straps going and coming. He vaguely longs for a subway and sees no reason why it cannot be dug. He votes for it, but never gets it. The reason is that he also votes for "Jack," and "Jack," you know, "is a good fellow, who is kind to the poor"—and kinder to "Jack."

The Catholic voter, and we refer particularly to him, is usually a good man. He goes to mass on Sunday. He gives his children a religious education. He approaches the sacrament regularly. He is clean, honest, industrious, with a family that is just as clean, as honest and as industrious as himself. He loves the church. If you said a word against it he would come nearer to breaking a commandment and your head at the same time than he could possibly come under any other circumstances. He reads the Catholic papers. He contributes to Catholic charities. The church for him is the pillar and the ground of truth. All right! But somehow he does not see that "Jack" is doing his level best to undermine the ground and pull the foundations from under the pillar. He does not realize that "Jack" is the biggest problem the church has to face in this country. He cannot believe that in the minds of a good many well meaning and honest Protestants somehow "Jack" represents the Catholic church and is given more consideration than the pope. More than this, to the minds of a great number of these same Protestants "Jack" is looked upon as a political emissary of his holiness. He cannot possibly see that the great obstacle to the conversion of many good and true men to the Catholic church is not entirely their lack of sincerity, but "Jack." "Jack's" the trouble; "Jack's" the enemy; "Jack" is doing more harm to God and religion than seven legions of devils.

Will voters resent this editorial, and will "Jack" resent it? Not particularly. You see, "Jack" has had his eyes so closed to his own condition by his numerous friends, who have told him often about his being "a good fellow and kind to the poor," that he has really come to believe it. He will not think that we mean to refer to him at all. It is to "Bill, who is good to his folks," the politician in the next ward, that reference surely is made. The voters will not resent it, even though they vote for "Jack," because they do not think this picture is a picture of good, kind "Jack" at all. The fact is that most people will rather commend the editorial—and miss the point, which point is surely personal; for into the life of all of us "Jack" has come in some form, and it is about time, if we have not noticed him, that we take this editorial and use it as a magnifying glass to find "Jack."

Seek the Child's Motive

Mother's Magazine: Often great injustice is done to a child by failing to find out the motive which has governed an action. Many times, a child, not being able to discriminate, does a wrong act from an right motive, and this should make a difference in the mother's estimate of the action.

The first thing is to say calmly and patiently: "Why did you do this?" and then to explain that though the impulse may have been generous, it led to bad results.

A little story that I once heard lingers in my memory, and illustrates this. A small girl of 4 had been told not to touch the water cooler. She came running to her mother one morning with her apron all wet. With a touch of impatience, the mother exclaimed:

"Agnes, Agnes, you have been to the water cooler again. I shall be obliged to punish you this time."

"No, mudder," the wee girl was trembling, "you'll 'scuse me this time, 'cause sister cried for a drink, and nobody was there to give it but me."

Sister was the 2-year-old baby. The mother recognized the motive for transgression, and accepted it.

"Well," she said, "as it was for sister's sake I will excuse you this time. But you must not turn the faucet again. Remember now."

The child ran off smiling. But there was a sequel not quite so happy. So far, the mother had been kind and judicious, but on going to the cooler, she found that the water had been left turned on and was running over the floor. It had to be mopped up speedily, and the mother in her vexation, scolded the child.

"You're such a bother! Why can't you learn to let things alone?"

A very grieved and surprised face met her eyes as she looked up.

"Why, mudder," Agnes said, "you said you'd 'scuse me. I don't call this 'scusing me!"

The child's sense of justice was outraged. The pardon which had been given her because of her good motive seemed to be recalled.

Now, in this case, the mother should have kept her temper in the midst of the vexation. Later, she should have talked quietly with the little girl, explaining to her why it was best always to obey mother's rules, even when disobedience seemed to be the real thing. A kiss heals the slightly wounded spirit, and a loving caress shows appreciation of the little warm heart. The child also learns a lesson of not relying too readily on her own impulses, and learns that there are always reasons why mother knows best.

It is possible to push a good suggestion too far. A mother needs to cultivate a keen insight into her child's mind. Children, even when quite young, are very quick to catch at causes and results. When inquiring for motives, the mother must guard against a motive invented to serve the occasion or the offense.

The Fool's Prayer.

The royal feast was done; the king
Sought some new sport to banish care,
And to his jester cried: "Sir Fool,
Kneel now, and make for us a prayer!"

The jester doffed his cap and bells,
And stood the mocking court before;
They could not see the bitter smile
Behind the painted grin he wore.

He bowed his head, and bent his knee
Upon the monarch's silken stool;
His pleading voice arose: "O, Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!

"No pity, Lord, could change the heart
From red with wrong to white as wool;
The rod must heal the sin; but, Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!

"'Tis not by guilt the onward sweep
Of truth and right, O Lord, we stay;
'Tis by our follies that so long
We hold the earth from heaven away.

"These clumsy feet, still in the mire,
Go crushing blossoms without end;
These hard, well-meaning hands we thrust
Among the heart strings of a friend.

"The ill-timed truth we might have kept—
Who knows how sharp it pierced and stung!
The word we had not sense to say—
Who knows how grandly it had rung!

"Our faults no tenderness should ask,
The chastening stripes must cleanse them all;
But our blunders—oh, in shame
Before the eyes of heaven we fall.

"Earth bears no balsam for mistakes;
Men crown the knave, and scourge the tool
That did his will; but thou, O Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!"

The room was hushed; in silence rose
The king, and sought his gardens cool,
And walked apart, and murmured low:
"Be merciful to me, a fool!"

Neighborhood Spirit.

Margaret Woodward, in the Countryside Magazine and Suburban Life: In order to cultivate the true neighborhood spirit, to impart a certain esprit de corps, requires much careful consideration. Indeed, when we pause to reflect, this is a big subject, this living smoothly and justly with our neighbors. It sometimes means that the whole conduct of life must be changed, as well as our standards—both civic and social.

Occasionally one meets people who seem to have mastered this art of getting on with their fellows. Their mere presence checks strife, their words bring hope and courage, their example is an inspiration. They have acquired that rare habit of putting themselves in another's place, of getting the viewpoint of another which so often cuts the Gordian knot of perplexity and greatly simplifies matters for all parties.

A knowledge of how to get on with our neighbors is one of the great problems which must be solved individually before any lasting social betterment can be accomplished.

Unfriendly Tricks.

Detroit Free Press: "I thought you were a friend of his."

"I used to be."

"And now?"

"I had to give him up in self-defense."

"Why?"

"To every life insurance and book agent that asked him if he had any friends who might be interested in their propositions he insisted on giving my name."

Health Note.

Baltimore American: "I see Mrs. Petty wheeling her baby out in a perambulator."

"Yes. Out for a little son and heir."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Newton D. Baker, mayor of Cleveland and intimate friend of President Wilson, is one of the most facile speakers in the country. Choice language trickles from his mouth without any seeming effort, and Woodrow Wilson himself has little if any more hand-picked a vocabulary. At the White House one day Baker and the president were exchanging speaking experiences and Baker told about this little adventure. He was to speak one night at a meeting in behalf of the late Tom L. Johnson, and the circumstances were such that he was limited to ten minutes. The things he desired to say would have taken an hour, and it was disconcerting to have only ten minutes, but by talking rapidly Baker undertook to get everything crammed in. Then he went and took a seat in the audience, with the satisfaction of having delivered his message, of having come and conquered.

As he sat there a number of pictures of candidates and others were projected on a screen. Among them was his own.

"Who's that?" Baker heard a girl behind him ask another girl.

"Oh, don't you remember?" he heard the other girl reply. "That's that poor little fellow who talked so fast."

Secretary Bryan fell into the habit last summer of going picnicking on Sunday afternoons out to the home of Senator Blair Lee in Maryland. He and Mrs. Bryan comprised the entire picnic party on each occasion, and they had permission from Senator Lee to sit under one of his most attractive trees and eat their lunch. Now you can imagine how inhospitable it would seem to have a secretary of state eating under a tree out in your pasture, with a whole tableful of food in the dining room. But Bryan insisted that he must not be invited to the house. The object of each visit, he explained to the senator, would be to eat under a tree where he could listen to the twitter of birds and the hum of insects. Moreover, he desired a place where he could sit on the grass and work out some new Chautauqua addresses, reading each paragraph as he wrote it to Mrs. Bryan for criticism.

Senator Lee insisted, however, on one concession: Mr. Bryan must let him send out a large pitcher of milk for his field guests to drink under the big tree.

One afternoon a neighbor, who didn't know about the arrangements, said to one of Senator Lee's colored employes:

"There's somebody picnicking under one of the trees over yonder. Do you allow that?"

Said the colored man: "Aw, it ain't nobody; only just Bryan."

Congressman Samuel Winslow, the 300-pound member from Worcester, Mass., takes not a little pride in the fact that he is gifted with a rare intuition which enables him to tell the hour of the day or night without looking at his watch. Walk up to him without warning and inquire the time and instantly he will tell you just by guesswork. Usually he hits it almost to the dot. If he is more than a minute off he shows deep mortification.

Representative George M. Young of North Dakota ran for congress a few years ago against Asle J. Gronna, now senator from that state. One night he spoke in Gronna's town and few people went to hear him, for they were all in favor of Gronna. The local paper had this to say of the meeting:

"George M. Young, candidate for congress, spoke here last night. About a dozen persons were present. They resolved themselves into a jury and found George guilty."

"No, you don't have half the trouble in starting a car you did a month ago. The warmer the air the easier the gasoline forms into vapor."

"Willgrow Seed company: Please send me your assorted garden seed package. And add an extra supply of those Ponderosa tomato seeds."

"Bobby, you run upstairs in the storage closet and get papa's golf bag for him, like a nice little boy, so I may be getting my clubs ready."

"I wish to look at some fishing rods and some good tackle, if you please."

"James, you might tell the garage man to remove the closed body Saturday. A little sunshine isn't going to hurt us."

"Johnny, you go along that fence and shut up those holes so that the neighbors' chickens cannot get in and scratch mother's garden all out."

"Tom, you'll just have to stretch a rope across our lawn so that the milkmen and mail man can't run across like they did last year. We won't have a bit of grass if you don't."

"Now, Roy, you will just have to learn that you can't be out on the corner playing marbles when mother needs you at home."

"The city will soon be hiring some mules to take care of the increased work due to the warm weather."

"The park board has received many applications from amateur baseball teams that wish to play on the board's free park diamonds."

Makes the Late-Comers Wait.

Cincinnati Times-Star: Granville Barker, who has come over from England to show America what true dramatic art really is, has established one custom at Wallack's theater which promises to start ructions. Patrons arriving even the least little bit late for performances of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" are compelled to stand in the outer lobby until the first part of the performance, lasting nearly three-quarters of an hour, is finished. They can't even get into the theater. Many of them ask for their money back, surrender their tickets and go home. Mr. Barker says he doesn't care if they do. "My only interest," he says, "is that those who come on time shall see a perfect performance, free from disturbance."

First Non-Partisan State Legislature

Suggestions and Comments From the State Press.

Other Things Needed.

Baudette Region: Now that it is a law, it is hoped that some of the districts will send men to the legislature who have views on other questions besides county option.

Old Way Unsatisfactory.

Benson Monitor: A number of measures attacking the Dunn road law have been introduced in the legislature. One bill introduced in the house seeks to restore the working out of road taxes in labor by making 75 per cent of such taxes payable in labor. The original Dunn law abolished this feature. It would be a great mistake to re-establish it. We cannot expect to have good roads, nor did we have them, as long as the labor can be secured only when it is most convenient for the farmers to furnish it. The only way to get good roads is by contract. Last year under the Dunn road law more good roads were built in the state than had been in twenty years under the old law.

Some Funny Measures.

Buffalo Journal: And still the legislature is grinding away at the cost of $1,000 an hour to the state. The solons have done some good work and some of them are using every available minute, but, oh, for the hours spent in considering petty, foolish and selfish measures. It would be funny were it not so ridiculous to watch the pet measures some of them introduce.

As Bad as That?

St. Peter Herald: Those thirteen newspaper men are still in the Minnesota legislature. It is the only thing we know to their discredit.

Unfavorable to Socialists.

Long Prairie Leader (Lee's paper): One of the astonishing revelations of the present legislative session is the course which the Socialist members are taking. When the session opened, the two Socialist members "acting on instructions from their headquarters committee" refused to recognize the non-partisan spirit of the legislative election law. Then, although the issue on speaker was clean-cut on the greatest moral and economic issue of the day, both men played directly into the hands of the liquor element by refusing to vote. They fully understood what their action would result in. When the county option bill was up for passage in the house one of them voted with the saloon element and the other sat in his seat and refused to vote at all. These are among the first Socialists to sit in the law-making body of the state. If they are a sample of the kind of men the Socialists are trying to get into public life, may the good Lord deliver us from Socialism.

A Foolish Proposition.

Preston Times: Every [illegible] while some member of the legislature jumps into the limelight by introducing some freak bill. One of these is Representative Lydiard of Minneapolis, who comes to the front with a fool proposition to compel every man to vote, under penalty of a $1,000 fine or a year in jail. As if we did not already have enough laws that remain a mere dead letter on our statute books! If Mr. Lydiard would gain notoriety let him go and jump into the Mississippi. It is desirable that all men should vote, but there can be no compulsion.

No Substitute Offered.

Stillwater Gazette: No doubt the vote in Minnesota's senate to repeal the Elwell road law comes as a surprise to most people, as it has been hardly sufficient time to fully determine whether it is a success or a failure. In Dakota county, where it was tried out, it is highly commended by the board of county commissioners. Just what substitute will be supplied, if it is repealed by the house, has not developed.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

If you were busy being kind,
Before you knew it you would find
You'd soon forget to think 't was true
That some one was unkind to you.

If you were busy being glad,
And cheering people who are sad,
Although your heart might ache a bit,
You'd soon forget to notice it.

If you were busy being good,
And doing the very best you could,
You'd not have time to blame some man
Who's doing just the best he can.

If you were busy being true,
To what you know you ought to do,
You'd be so busy you'd forget
The blunders of the folks you've met.

If you were busy being right,
You'd find yourself too busy, quite,
To criticize your neighbor long
Because he's busy doing wrong.

I've learned as days have passed me,
Fretting never lifts the load;
And that worry, much or little,
Never smoothes an irksome road;
For you know that somehow, always
Doors are opened, ways are made;
When we work and live in patience,
Lifting up the cross that's laid.

Hudson Taylor was asked whether he was always conscious of abiding in Christ. He replied:

"Last night when I was sleeping in your house I was not conscious of the fact, but I was abiding there, nevertheless. We should never be conscious of not abiding."

Then he was asked whether he prayed over every letter that he wrote. And he said:

"If I did, I should never finish my correspondence. But early in the morning I commit myself and my correspondence to Christ and trust Him to guide my pen."

Did not Hudson Taylor teach the same big lesson in both of his answers—a lesson that many of us have not yet learned.—C. E. World.

Zeppelin Raids and Suffrage.

Rebecca West in the New Republic: We have always been denied the vote because we do not take part in war; but now that the war arrives we find that this exemption applies only to the privileges of self defense and that we enjoy to the full the right to be killed. We would have been rejected with jeers if we had tried to enlist in Kitchener's army, but, indeed, it would be much more satisfactory to come to an end after a fair fight in the trenches than to sit there, helpless as sheep in a slaughter house, while the protecting sex, safely out of reach, pours down death from the clouds.

Couldn't Show Off.

Harper's Magazine: With but three minutes to catch his train, the traveling salesman inquired of the street car conductor, "Can't you go faster than this?"

"Yes," the bell-ringer replied, "but I have to stay with my car."

Lenten Thoughts.

The Outlook: It was a clear and definite issue that was fought out in the forty days in the wilderness; it has been fought out every day since; it is the one fundamental issue in history. It is often concealed by other and more obvious issues; there are those who deny that there is any such issue; what is called civilization seems at times to have disproved its existence until civilization suddenly gives way and men find themselves standing on the edges of appalling abysses, and realize that under the fairest landscape there sleep today, as there slept a thousand years ago, the forces that rend and wreck in thirty seconds the work of thirty centuries.

Time and wealth and beauty and the growth of order have changed the form of the age-old and unending battle which all men must fight to keep their souls alive. It is a beautiful world; it is crowded with absorbing interests; it is a better world than it used to be because more men and women are fighting the battle for their souls; in the future it will help them through wiser laws and more wholesome conditions to make the fight. But to the end of the world every man and woman must fight for the soul.

Cause for Caution.

Washington Star: "I don't think your speech was as full of ginger as some of your former efforts."

"Maybe it wasn't," replied Senator Sorghum. "The way a man has to stick to a topic in these filibustering days makes him inclined to dispense with ginger and look for glue."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

To the Editor of The Herald:

On March 11 Frank La Casse, 34 Brook street, Duluth, told of an egg laid by his hen weighing 6 ounces and measuring 8½ inches the long way around by 7½ inches the short and claiming the "big egg."

As a matter of fact one of my brood laid an egg last April which was not only a perfectly formed double egg (having a good sized, fully formed egg inside the outer shell) which weighed 7 oz. and measured 9¾ inches around the long way and 7½ inches the short. I have the shell in my possession now.

ROAD GRADES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been taking a birdseye view of some of the road grading, which has been done in this city of late. In my estimation grades could have been established a great deal better than they are. I will give you an illustration of one of the roads known as Kenwood road which was graded according to an engineer's survey. I have taken this matter up with a number of citizens who are well informed on grades and grading and they have informed me that if the old survey had been followed out this road would have been comparatively one continual light grade for two miles or better, where at the present time it is down and up hill. This road could have been the most accessible one leading out of the central part of the city over the hill, connecting the Howard and Gnesen and Rice Lake road leading to the range which is a state highway, and many other roads north. I do not understand why this should have occurred. Another point I do not understand why more attention is not paid to the putting of county roads in first-class condition inside the city limits, taking out sharp curves, knolls and sink holes and the work done systematically. Beyond the city limits the county has good roads for miles which are a pleasure to ride over. What would a railroad be with a first-class main line and a bum terminal? I am writing this because it is monotonous to hear the farmers, even lady farmers, whom I have had occasion to ride with when going over the new graded road. This is their conversation: "Why didn't the city take down that hill and fill that place? I pretty nearly had a smashup with an automobile going home the other day, going around a narrow road and curve near the Calvary cemetery."

I noticed a letter published in one of our daily papers in 1914 relating to curves on public roads and the danger of allowing them to exist, written by a superintendent of one of our railroads leading into this city. No effort seems to have been made to make any changes on these roads which I have mentioned. I notice there are laws governing railroads and other big and small businesses in regards to public safety and one hundred and one other things. Some are O. K. and some are unreasonable, whether you have the money or not, but you have to arrange for this by using economy in other parts of your business. Perhaps the small man has to deprive himself of the comforts of life on purpose to exist under the measures meted out to him. This all brings about worry, downfall or depression. Who suffers and pays for this? Why the public. Yours truly,

T. A. HOLDER.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"Old Folks at Home" from Verona M. Holden of West Duluth.

"Is it Anybody's business?" from J. B. Carlson of Duluth.

Requests have been received for the following:

"I'm Smiling at the Moon that Smiles at You, My Dear" from Miss Lindegrene of Park Falls, Minn.

Is It Anybody's Business.

Is it anybody's business,
If a gentleman should choose,
To wait upon a lady
If the lady don't refuse,
Or, to speak a little plainer,
That my meaning all may know,
Is it anybody's business,
If a lady has a beau?

Is it anybody's business,
Where the gentleman does call,
Or when he leaves the lady,
Or if he leaves at all,
Or is it necessary,
That the curtain should be drawn,
To save from further trouble
To outside lookers on?

Is it anybody's business,
But the lady's, if her beau
Rides out with other ladies,
And doesn't let her know.
Is it anybody's business,
But the gentleman's, if she Should accept another escort
Where he doesn't chance to be?

If a person on the sidewalk,
Whether great or whether small,
Is it anybody's business,
Where that person means to call?
Or if you see a person
As he is calling anywhere,
Is it any of your business
What his business may be there?

The substance of my query,
Simply stated, would be this,
Is it anybody's business,
What another's business is?
If it is, or if it isn't,
I would really like to know,
For I am certain if it isn't,
There are some who make it so.

REPUBLICAN PARTISANSHIP

not so good as it was a week ago, and it would not be at all surprising if it fails of ratification in that body. Still, in a large degree this impression is a psychological reaction from the apparent defeat of the friends of the bill in their attempt to bring it up for action tomorrow, and while predictions now run more strongly toward defeat than to victory, he is a hazardous prophet indeed who ventures his reputation for prevision and sagacity on the statement that the house is going to defeat the bill.

Three things, at least, are contributing peril to the prospects of the bill:

Republican partisanship.

The absence of public pressure for its passage.

Antipathies that have developed in the house membership during the session.

And the greatest of these is Republican partisanship.

There has been, in the last two weeks, a remarkable and inescapable stiffening of party lines against the bill.

Nearly all of the public officials whose positions are to be altered by the bill are Republicans; and most of them are working, more or less under cover, to defeat the bill.

Unquestionably the bill would increase the power of the governor over state affairs. Its authors so arranged it advisedly, because the governor is the one figure in the state government on which the people can put their fingers—the one official directly responsible to them in whose nomination and election all the people take an interest.

To adopt the system proposed in the efficiency bill is to substitute an organized and responsible system for an orderless mass of independent authorities, most of them not even responsible to the power that appointed them.

Where Partisanship Comes In.

But the present governor is a Democrat.

Most of the lawmakers—though elected as non-partisans—are Republicans.

And the party wheel horses are working this line of argument to the limit.

There has been talk that if the bill is put over to the 1917 session there is a chance that the governor then will be a Republican. There have been intimations that if the bill were to be amended so it would not be effective until 1917, much of the opposition to it would vanish.

This sort of talk is evidence enough of the existence of a powerful partisan factor in the situation.

Governor Hammond, after carefully studying the bill, is for it. He recommended it in his inaugural message. He urged its passage in a recent special message. He is for it in complete good faith because he believes it will work for the welfare of the state. Yet there is a type of partisan who can see in all this nothing but confirmation of his belief that party considerations—Republican party considerations—dictate that the bill shall be defeated.

This type of partisan is unable to see the possibility that thereby he may be creating an issue between the Democratic governor and the Republican—though non-partisan—legislature that may work to the advantage of the former when it gets before the people.

Pardee Answers Iverson.

Secretary John Stone Pardee of the efficiency and economy commission yesterday afternoon issued the following comment on the Iverson letter and the Gordon program:

"At last someone has been found with courage to come out in the open and oppose the plan presented by the efficiency commission. On behalf of the commission, which has courted criticism, I wish to thank Mr. Iverson.

"He believes the commission went too far. It should have confined itself to such a program as is outlined by the Gordon committee bills. With all due respect to Mr. Iverson—for whom I have great respect—there was no need for thirty men to devote their time to such a task. The matter contained in these bills was familiar to the last legislature. With perhaps one exception, these bills could have been drafted overnight almost any time. Unless there was a demand for further study the commission need never have been called together.

"What are these bills? There are five making changes in the departments—giving custody of the capitol to the board of control; putting hotel inspection in the dairy and food department; oil inspection ditto; switching the fire marshal to the insurance department, putting the governor directly in charge of the game and fish commission. These bills have recognized merit. If the legislature is going at these problems piecemeal, it will have little difficulty in agreeing to these.

"Another bill proposes to make the governor sort of a clerk to the appropriations committee to get up a phantom budget. This bill would help. It would give the legislature information better digested than any it gets now. In the absence of a single administration it is the best bill to be had.

"The last proposes to establish a state constabulary which will give all the beauties of the present boiler inspector system and magnify the excellence of the oil inspection system as it has been practiced. Each district inspector will report to eight bureaus—five if the foregoing bills are adopted. In the district where I live I can imagine an inspector testing scales in Two Harbors in the morning, putting out a forest fire over beyond Ely in the afternoon, spotting a pot hunter on the outskirts of Grand Marais after sundown and getting home to Duluth in time to look over the Jean Duluth dairy herd before bedtime.

Civil Service Protection.

"If I were a reformer I should deprecate the provisions of that bill which destroys the civil service protection now given by law to the factory inspectors and dairy and food inspectors. In the light of Mr. Houk's testimony that civil service protection has doubled the efficiency of his inspection force, it does not appear that this bill is in that respect an improvement.

"But that is a detail. Mr. Iverson's fundamental criticism of the civil administration bill is that it covers too much ground. It proposes one administration instead of a multitude of independent little governments.

"Not counting some nebulous boards and a few excrescences, we have about forty state governments. Mr. Iverson does not see—and that is the sad part of it—that the co-ordination of these separate branches would increase efficiency or promote economy. The Gordon bills would reduce the number of them by five and Mr. Iverson is satisfied with that. They affect about 3 per cent of the state's business and Mr. Iverson is satisfied with that.

"They leave forty or fifty independent governments still without any direct supervision and Mr. Iverson is satisfied with that.

"They propose that the governor shall submit a program for the departments over which he has no control, and Mr. Iverson is satisfied with that.

"They leave outside the purview of the state auditor nearly one-half the state's current expense, and Mr. Iverson is satisfied with that.

"They require an employe of the governor to do the auditing which the auditor cannot do because he is transacting—well, pretty near the other half of the state's business, and Mr. Iverson is satisfied with that.

"If the ground can be covered by a quick dash over 3 per cent of the field, if the state can get results by giving unified direction to 3 per cent of its activities, if progress is to be gained by abolishing what civil service provisions are now found in the law, if a budget can be constructed by substituting for a guess of a legislative committee the guess of a governor who is equally a stranger to the daily business of the departments—then Mr. Iverson does well to be satisfied with the bills submitted by the Gordon committee.

"He is more easily satisfied than the members themselves of the committee, who announced that these were makeshifts, to cover as much ground as could be covered by improvised measures in case anything happened to the civil administration bill."

Both Sides Presented.

Both sides of the liquor question were presented to the senate committee on temperance yesterday afternoon when C. A. Windle, employed by Twin City hotel and business men, and W. G. Calderwood, defeated Prohibition nominee for governor, spoke to the committee. The bill was laid over for consideration by the committee at the call of Chairman Ganrud.

Mr. Windle, editor of Brann's Iconoclast, spoke for nearly an hour to prove that "prohibition is contrary to the rule of reason, un-Christianlike, an insult to human intelligence and an attack on personal liberty." Quoting from the books of early church theologians, Mr. Windle attempted to prove that many of them had favored the temperate use of liquor and had denounced those of their followers who had been "water drinkers" or prohibitionists.

He compared France, Germany, United States and England with their successes in all lines of human endeavor to by their partnerships in the liquor trade with Turkey which, he declared, was a prohibition country, but which, he said, had never produced a man or thing that had made the world better in any way.

Mr. Calderwood answered his arguments and declared that many of them were fallacious when not based on wrong premises. Many hotel owners and men interested in allied businesses were present at the hearing. The committee was considering Senator P. A. Gandrud's bill providing for a constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of liquor.

Opposed By Hotel Men.

Hotel owners and managers of the Twin Cities also spoke against the bill.

"Do you men want all the big cafes of the Twin Cities to close and the vast crowds of convention visitors the Twin Cities get each year to be kept out?" Sinon Kruse of the Radisson hotel, Minneapolis, asked the committee.

"Prohibition will mean the closing of these cafes. They can't exist with prohibition enforced.

"No convention will come to the Twin Cities if they are 'dry.' Convention delegates all over the country are writing to us right now to find out whether Minneapolis and St. Paul will be dry before they come here. They say they will not come if the towns are dry. If the hotels of a town are prosperous, the business houses will be so too. Prohibition will mean the enforced idleness of hundreds of hotel employes."

The Elwell Law.

The bill repealing the Elwell road law came up for consideration at a public hearing yesterday afternoon before the house committee on roads and bridges. The bill is a special order in the house for tomorrow.

Senator Charles E. Adams of Duluth, Miss Annie E. Shelland of International Falls and others spoke for the Elwell law, and it was opposed by Senators A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota and F. A. Duxbury of Caledonia, who led the fight for the repeal bill when it passed the senate.

The house spent yesterday afternoon vigorously debating eight claims for election contest expenses presented by house members whose seats were attacked, and after a wrangle of two hours, allowed them all. The first claim up, that of Representative Baker, was cut $50, and was allowed by a vote of 63 to 59. After the rest had all been allowed at the full amounts, Mr. Baker was given the $50 that had been taken away from him. The fight against allowing the claims was led by Representative Theodore Christianson of Dawson.

In the midst of the debate Representative Knud Wefald of Hawley said that at the rate the house was going, it would cost more to debate it than it would to pay the claims, and he believed there would be an actual saving in allowing the bills without further debate.

Frog Bill Killed.

The lowly frog has no friends on the senate committee of general legislation. That committee yesterday voted to indefinitely postpone the bill which Representative P. H. Frye introduced in the house and had passed, protecting the animal from extinction, as the representatives told the committee. The bill provided that frogs might be killed or caught and offered for sale only for the purposes of bait.

The same committee also killed the bill by Representative C. L. Stevens, passed by the house, providing for a constitutional amendment abolishing the census. Representative Leavitt Corning's bill providing that newspapers should be required to allow candidates, attacked in their columns, the right to answer through their columns within forty-eight hours after the attack had been printed was also indefinitely postponed. The bill passed the house and was the subject of long debates there arising out of the representative's campaign fight in St. Paul.

Senator W. A. Campbell's bill placing the hotel inspection department under the state dairy and food commission was indefinitely postponed. A bill providing that the oil inspection fees might be reduced after the expenses of the department had been paid was recommended for passage.

So much time was taken up in the house by the debates on the university investigation and the contest expense claims—which took up virtually the entire day—that the sixteen appropriation bills that had been made a special order for yesterday afternoon were put over to Saturday.

* * *

The senate yesterday killed the Frye bill requiring the employment of county agricultural agents to be submitted to a vote of the people. The bill had passed the house without opposition.

The Two Reliable Blood Tonics

WHETHER the anemic individual takes Blaud pills (which must be freshly made up in small lots to be effective), or sweetened iron oxide (citrosuccker), or the old tincture of iron (which, being acid, must be taken well diluted through a tube), there are two blood tonics which we can certify are just a wee bit better, cheaper and pleasanter than any others. They are our favorite prescription—fresh air and sunlight.

Why does the anemic individual feel weak, "run down" and tired? Why does she faint easily? Why does she get out of breath so quickly when she exerts herself in any way? Why does her heart go pit-a-pat on slight provocation? Why is she "so nervous?"

You Can't Buy It Anywhere.

The reason for all these symptoms of anemia is that the blood does not carry enough oxygen to the cells of the body, nor enough nutriment. Oxygen hunger would explain every one of the symptoms mentioned. Well, what is the simplest and easiest way to make the blood do better work? Take our favorite prescription—fresh air and sunlight.

Fresh air necessarily means cold air. Warm air will not do—warm air can't be very fresh, anyway. Cold air is stimulating to the appetite, it improves the circulation, it gives a larger proportion of oxygen in each inhalation, being condensed.

Sunlight is without a peer among the remedies for anemia. The average case of anemia shows a gain of 10 per cent in hemoglobin or iron coloring matter in the first three days of exposure to sunlight, even when only a limited area of skin is exposed, as, for instance, the feet, legs and knees. Sunlight is the most powerful known stimulant to the blood-making glands. No matter where you live there is some sunlight which you can have free of charge. Every minute you spend bathing in sunlight is bound to do you good, and it will do good when iron and other medicines disappoint.

Questions and Answers.

Sweaty Feet and Bad Odor: What is good for sweaty feet which have a bad odor?

REPLY.

Woolen, light weight, knitted underclothes and woolen stockings. Clean stockings every day. Wash feet each day, dry, then apply a solution of salicylic acid (one ounce) in alcohol (one pint) and allow to dry on. Or, if odor is very annoying, apply a solution of formaldehyde—a teaspoonful of the standard commercial liquid sold in stores, in four ounces of water. If possible have two pairs of shoes, so you can wear them alternately.

* * *

Snoring to Beat the Band: Can you inform me what makes me snore so loudly? My wife says I make more noise than a brass band.

REPLY.

Snoring is caused by relaxation of the soft palate in sleep, the membrane dividing the air current and flapping in the wind, so to speak. You snore because your mouth hangs open. The mouth hangs open because the nasal passage is not clear enough. The lining of the nose is spongy—it becomes overfilled with blood in sleep. Moral: See your doctor or a nose and throat specialist, and have the spongy turbinates toned up.

* * *

Let the Baby Alone: What would you advise in the case of a perfectly healthy infant 12 months old who makes no effort to use his feet. Is it harmful to put him on his feet? Should one try to teach him to walk?

REPLY.

Let the baby alone. He doesn't need didactic lessons. He will learn by instinct and observation. If he is perfectly healthy you needn't worry. He'll walk when he gets ready.

Fireman Sprains Ankle When He Jumps From Roof.

Damage estimated at $600 was caused by a blaze at the home of Jacob Chimelaiz, 2323 West Fifth street, shortly before 8 o'clock last night. Stanley Brandt, fireman in Hook and Ladder Company No. 2, sprained his left ankle when he jumped about eight feet, from the roof of the house to the roof of a kitchen lean-to.

The property, valued at $2,000, is owned by Chimelaiz. The blaze started upstairs, in rooms occupied by Bert Peterson. The loss was half on the building and half on contents, being fully covered by insurance.

It becomes effective in sixty days.

Here's Your Pound of Coffee, Madam!

Here's Your 100 Grains of Caffeine, Doctor!

Same Drug—Different Form

More and more, it is becoming common knowledge that an ordinary cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, an irritating drug.

Because of this drug, coffee drinking frequently races the heart, interferes with digestion, upsets the nerves, and leaves one weakened and depressed. As a drug, caffeine has medicinal value, but only when administered by a competent physician.

If constant use of coffee, with its drug content, agrees with you, why—keep right on—no one should object.

But—thousands of people have rid themselves of coffee troubles, and experienced wonderful improvement in health by changing to

SEVERAL MAY HAVE DROWNED

Bridge Caretaker Says Ice in Harbor Is No Longer Safe.

Somebody Is Rescued From Water Every Few Hours.

Several persons attemping to cross on the ice to Superior have been drowned during the last few nights, in the belief of S. H. Dennis, caretaker at the Interstate bridge, who rescued a man yesterday afternoon and one this morning from a watery grave.

"There have been half a dozen persons who have narrowly escaped drowning in the last few days," he said this morning, "and there is no question in my mind but that some must have been drowned.

"The ice at this point is in very bad shape, and a crossing is out of the question, and will be from now on. The channel current has broken up the formation so that traffic on the ice for this year is a thing of the past.

"Every few hours the watchman has to answer to cries for help, and pull somebody out of the water."

Police made a hurry trip to the Alger-Smith Lumber company's West Duluth mill shortly after 7 o'clock this morning, when informed that a man was drowning. Jailer Louis Johnson found that a pedestrian had tried to cross to Superior on the ice and had fallen in up to his neck. Sawmill employes secured a long rope, threw it over the man's head and managed to pull him out.

Although badly chilled, he resumed his trip to Superior—this time in a wagon, and by land. He refused to give his name.

Secretary Bryan spent an hour with President Wilson today discussing the Mexican question, particularly in connection with the treatment of priests and nuns. Bishop Currier of Mantanzas, Cuba; Cardinal Gibbons and other Catholic leaders have been in frequent communication with the president and the secretary to get protection for the clergy in Mexico and the administration is making every effort to see that their rights are respected.

effort which was a northward advance from the Carpathians, has definitely fallen short, the Austrians having been checked in the center of their chief offensive movement at Smolnik, to the south of Lutowiska. In the meantime the Russians are drawing closer their lines around the Przemysl fortress.

London has received no confirmation of the report that the British cruiser Amethyst has penetrated the narrows of the Dardanelles as far as Nagara, and unless the destruction of the fort has been more rapid than officially has been reported, such a feat is regarded as unlikely. Nagara is the northern limit of the narrows, to reach which a ship would have to run the gantlet of the forts on both shores at ranges varying from 900 to 2,000 yards.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 17, by wireless to Sayville—The German war office today gave out an official report on the progress of the war dated March 17 and reading as follows:

"The contest for the possession of an eminence on the southern slope of the Lorette heights to the northwest of Arras, has been decided in favor of the Germans.

"In the Champagne district, specifically to the west of Perthes and to the north of Le Mesnil, the French yesterday delivered several unsuccessful attacks. North of Le Mesnil the attacks were renewed with stronger forces and the engagements still continue.

"In the Argonne the fighting has not yet come to an end. French forces have been driven back from the slope to the southwest of Vauquois, occupied by them. Two French attacks in the Le Pretre forest, northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, resulted in failure. In the Vosges there has been nothing more than artillery duels.

"The Russian advances against Tauroggen, in Kovno province, Russia, northeast of Tilsit and Laugszargen, in East Prussia, just across the border from Tauroggen have been repulsed.

"Russian attempts to break through the German lines between the Skwa and the Orzye rivers, north of Warsaw, also have been repulsed.

"There is no change in the situation south of the Vistula."

French Statement.

Paris, March 17, via London, 4.43 p. m.—The following official account of yesterday's events at the front was given out this afternoon by the French war department:

"On the Yser the Belgian army has made fresh progress and has repelled German counter-attacks.

"On the British front there has been fairly violent artillery firing.

"To the north of Arras the enemy unsuccessfully attempted late in the afternoon to deliver another counter-attack on the trenches on the spur of the hill of Notre Dame de Lorette.

"Solssons and Reims again were bombarded, two shells striking the Reims cathedral.

"In the Champagne, north of Le Mesnil and east of Hill 196, we have taken possession along a front of some 500 metres of an important eminence held by the enemy.

"In the Argonne several German counter-attacks between Rolane and Four De Paris have been repulsed.

"There has been an artillery duel in the Woevre.

"One of our aviators dropped bombs on the barracks of Colmar (capital of upper Alsace.)"

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

CROOKS NEARLY GET RHINELANDER MAN

Edward Cameron Arrested on Arrival of Steamer From Havana.

New York, March 17.—Charged with attempted larceny of $10,000 from Otto A. Hilligeman, said to be a rich land owner of Rhinelander, Wis., through pretending to bet on horse races, Edward Cameron was arrested here last night shortly after the arrival of the steamship Saratoga from Havana. The arrest was due to Hilligeman's daughter in Havana, who became suspicious and cabled her brother in Chicago, who, by wire, engaged detectives here to meet the Saratoga.

Hilligeman told the police that he came here on the same steamer with Cameron and two of the latter's friends, whom he and his daughter had met in Havana, to get a draft for $10,000 which was to be used to collect money which they had won from a pool room. They had bet on pool room credit, he said, after Hillgeman had already lost $10,000 in a supposed syndicate bet, and the additional $10,000 was represented as necessary to show the pool room men at headquarters in this country that the bettors would pay in case they lost. Cameron was arrested as he claimed his baggage. The other two disappeared.

DON'T BE FUSSY ABOUT EATING

Your Stomach Will Digest Any Kind of Food When Given the Proper Assistance.

We are prone to fall into the error of singling out some article of food and soundly berating the fiend who first invented the dish. The habit grows with some people till almost all food is put on the blacklist. This is all wrong. What is required is a little assistance with those agencies upon which scientific students for many years have set their seal of approval because they have become absolute facts. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for all stomach disorders are recognized; they have a fine record; they are rated reliable, dependable and worthy of confidence just as the president of a big bank puts his O.K. on a depositor's check. And so you can eat what you want, whatever you like, knowing well that should indigestion, sour risings, gas formations, fermentations or any other stomach distress arise, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in a few moments will put you right.

Coated tongue, bad breadth, heartburn, belching, flatulency, bloat—all the symptoms of digestive troubles disappear quickly when these tablets are used. They are not a cure for anything but dyspepsia and kindred complaints. But they have brought relief to more sufferers from digestive diseases than all the patent medicines and doctor's prescriptions put together.

The stomach does the heaviest work of any of the bodily organs, yet it's the one we treat with the least regard. We eat too much of the wrong kind of food at any time. The patient stomach stands such treatment as long as it can and then it rebels. You get notice of the rebellion in the shape of the gases and pains caused by undigested, fermenting food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold and recommended by all druggists at 50c a box.

TO MAP OUT WORK FOR COMMISSION

President Wilson Will Hold Conference With Federal Trade Board.

Washington, March 17.—First work of the new Federal trade commission will be mapped out tonight at a conference between its members and President Wilson. The president plans to talk with the commission on his conception of its duties.

Probably the first act of the commission will be a call upon corporations failing under its jurisdiction for information upon which classification of interstate concerns will be made. Following that, rules and regulations for the guidance of the corporations will be promulgated and public hearings, at which business men may present their views, may be decided upon. An advisory committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States, appointed to co-operate with the commission, probably will participate in such discussion.

Austrian Soldiers Say Garrison Is Existing on Famine Rations.

London, March 17.—The Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company says that the capture of the Austrian fortress at Przemysl is considered in the Russian capital as a matter of a few days only.

Austrian soldiers captured by the Russians during unsuccessful sorties say the garrison is existing on famine rations, and that the hospitals are crowded.

MRS. HELEN ANGLE STILL ON STAND

Cross-Examination Into the Death of Waldo Ballou Continued.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 17.—The cross-examination of Mrs. Helen M. Angle, who is on trial for manslaughter, charged with responsibility for the death of Waldo R. Ballou in Stamford, was continued when the trial was resumed today.

State's Attorney Cummings pressed the defendant to tell how long she waited after hearing the noise of Ballou's fall in the hall before investigating the cause, but she could not tell. When she found Ballou on the landing of the stairs she said her first impulse was to get him into the fresh air.

The state's attorney sought to have the witness fix the time of Ballou's fall downstairs but she could not do so definitely. She declared it was after 10:45, which Patrick Rabbitt said was about the time he heard a noise, but before 11 o'clock. When she placed Ballou outside the street entrance she did not think of looking to see if any one was in sight.

How to Destroy Catarrh Germs and End Catarrh Forever

A Specialist's Advice.

Catarrh is a germ disease and the only way to cure it so it will stay cured and never come back is to kill and drive out of your system the catarrhal germs which have found lodgement there. When the germs go the catarrh will stop. The trouble with most treatments, like sprays, salves, creams, greasy balms, lotions, etc., is that they give only temporary relief by opening up for a while the clogged head, throat and nostrils. In a little time the Catarrh comes back as bad as ever.

People who suffer continually from catarrh should drop such temporary makeshifts and get something that really gets at the root of the disease and stamps it out. There is nothing better for such cases than breathing into your nose and lungs the pleasant, soothing, healing, germ-destroying air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) made from purest oil of Eucalyptus and combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germ-destroying ingredients. Hyomei penetrates and heals the inflamed swollen membranes of your nose and throat, stops discharges, clears the passages and completely overcomes the disease by destroying its cause. For catarrh germs cannot live in your body after Hyomei reaches them. Boyce Drug store and many other good druggists in Duluth and vicinity have long sold Hyomei on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back and find this generous policy pays. Most druggists are now giving a pocket inhaler made from hard rubber with every complete treatment sold. This makes a very simple, easy and convenient as well as a thoroughly reliable means of treating by the best known method this dangerous and often disgusting disease.

LEAPS FROM HIS WINDOW

Delirious Hospital Patient, Clad Only in Night Gown, Escapes.

Exposure and Shock Hasten Death Which Was Expected.

Clad in a nightgown, with a bed sheet wrapped around his body, Paul C. Rusch, age 33, jumped from a second story window at St. Mary's hospital Monday night shortly before 6 o'clock and walked nearly a block before found by nurses. He was delirious at the time of his escape, and died a few minutes after he was returned to his room. Hospital authorities did not report the case until late yesterday.

Mr. Rusch had been a patient but a day, and was not expected to live, as he was suffering from a case of pneumonia, as well as from other complications. It is believed that the shock of the jump and the exposure undoubtedly hastened his death.

He had lived in Duluth for several years, and made his home with his father, William Rusch, at 514 East Seventh street.

When Mr. Rusch was taken to the institution Sunday, he was found to be subject to delirious attacks, and Dr. S. M. Stocker, his physician, assigned a special nurse to the case. Shortly before Mr. Rusch's escape the nurse left her patient for a minute, going into the hall to call someone to relieve her while she went to dinner.

The minute was enough, and when she returned Mr. Rusch was missing. Although injured by the fall, he crawled up the hill towards Fourth street for a considerable distance before nurses caught him.

Funeral services will be held from the family residence Thursday at 2 p. m., with interment at Forest Hill cemetery.

LITTLE FORK MAY RETAIN SALOONS

Reported Attorney General Will Rule Favorably on Matter.

St. Paul, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is currently reported about the statehouse today that an opinion to be announced at the office of the attorney general within the week will have the effect of retaining the saloons in Littlefork, Koochiching county, although the town of Jamieson in which the village is situated voted "dry" at the last election.

According to the tentative opinion given at the close of a hearing yesterday the fact that the village voted "wet" at the same election at which the town voted "dry", renders non-effective the dry regulation adopted by the town so far as the village within it is concerned. The argument for the saloon men was made by Former Judge Marshall A. Spooner of Bemidji before three assistants in the office of the state's attorney.

CITY SETTLES FOR $50.

Attorney Recommends Paying Damages to Charles Eurle.

Because the city water tank at New Duluth abutts on his property, Charles Eurle was yesterday awarded 50 in damages at the recommendation of the city attorney's office.

The proximity o fthe tank to Mr. Eurle's property was at one time the cause of a damage suit instituted by him, but the action was dropped shortly after and negotiations were started by the city for a settlement.

In a letter to the council two weeks ago Manager D. A. Reed of the water and light department recommended that a settlement be made with Mr. Eurle.

DULUTH POPULATION GAINS 15 PER CENT

Directory Official Says City Will Have 91,435 People in April.

Duluth's population has grown more than 15 per cent in five years according to C. J. Bonner, superintendent of the Duluth Directory company. The population has grown from 78,466 to 91,435, basing the count on the method used by the United States census bureau.

That the increase of population has been largely in the outlying districts of the city is shown by the reports of the company. This indicates that the growth of the city is permanent in nature. Transients also are on the increase since Jan. 1, 1915. In 1914 the floating population decreased.

On April 15, 1915, the estimated population of the state of Minnesota will be 2,239,919, which is an increase of 164,211 over the number shown in the census of 1910, which shows that the population of the state, during the last five years has increased at the rate of 7.9 per cent.

The figures given show the population of Duluth has increased about double the percentage of increase shown by the state.

MUST OBEY STATE LAWS

Otherwise Eveleth Saloon Keepers Will Not Have Licenses Renewed.

Three Saloon Keepers Are Having Trouble in Getting Privileges Renewed.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Any saloon keeper who does not live up to the state laws need not look to me for a renewal of his license, as I will recommend no license where I find there have been continuous violations," declared Mayor Saari at the council meeting last night, after recommending that three licenses be refused.

Frank Steblay, Dominick Jerome and J. J. Thibaut were the dealers whose licenses were recommended withheld. In each case the mayor had read a copy of a letter written in January, in which he warned the dealer that violations of the closing laws had been reported, and that continued violations would mean arrest and revoking of his license and a failure to get a renewal. In each case, he stated, the warning had been disregarded.

On the licenses of Steblay and Jerome, Councilman Owens moved that they be refused, and received no second. They were laid on the table for two weeks to give each of the councilmen time to make an investigation. The objection to a renewal of Thibaut's license is that he runs a restaurant in the rear, and it is not possible for the police to know whether or not he is closed on Sunday. The state laws and ordinances will be looked up, and it is possible that he will be given the choice of closing the restaurant or failing to get a license.

Stebaly's license expired March 15, Thibault's expired March 17 and Jerome's expires April 4. The council will consider their applications again at the April 6 meeting and their places will have to close at the expiration of the old licenses.

Can't Buy Virginia Gas.

A resolution was passed granting Kennedy & Lynch the gas franchise which was voted on by the people. Mr. Lynch agreed to an amendment which would prohibit the purchase of gas from Virginia as it has been charged was intended but it was found that the ordinance could not be amended, having been voted on by the people and passed. Mr. Lynch promised to write the council a letter pledging the franchise holders not to purchase gas.

August Paciotti of Eveleth was awarded the contract to relay service pipes from the water main to the curbs on Jones, Pierce and Monroe street between Grant avenue and Adams avenue. The bids received for the work were as follows: August Paciotti, Eveleth, $1,471.75; Lawrence-McCann, Eveleth, $1,563.75; Eveleth Construction company, $1,601.50; William Burke, Eveleth, $1,784.25; Pastoret Construction company, Duluth, $1,734.

For the construction of basements under two residences at St. Mary's lake used by employes at the pump station and enlarging the houses, the bid of Z. Rasovich and Paul Wiegel was accepted. The following bids were received: Rasovich & Wiegel, $1,187.80; John Erickson, $1,230; M. P. Finucan, $1,378; Endlund & Jackson, $1,425; John Intehar, $1,500.

Two wagons were purchased from the Austin-Western company for $230 and three dump wagons from the Russell Grader company for $334.25.

No flusher and sprinkler was purchased. The bids were laid over again for consideration at an adjourned meeting Saturday.

To Build Storm Sewers.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the laying of storm sewers on Pierce, Cleveland and Garfield streets as provided for in the budget. Councilman Wilson objected to advertising at this time, as he stated he was not familiar with the streets along which the sewers are to be laid. Other members claimed that the work was thoroughly gone over when the budget was made and were in favor of getting the work started at once while men are in need of the work. Mayor Saari qualified his vote by stating that advertising for bids is not equivalent to letting the contract and that if there is anything wrong with the proposed system the contracts need not be let. The bids will be opened April 6.

The commissioner of public health was instructed to retain a veterinarian to make a tuberculin test of all cows in the city. This action was taken on the recommendation of Dr. Bulkley, health commissioner.

Councilman Mesberg recommended that a warehouse be built in the rear of the city hall. His plea is that supplies could then be purchased more advantageously in quantities and that they could be checked out from a card system in the clerk's office.

An offer of $230 from William Haenke for logs cut by the city at St. Mary's lake park was accepted. The logs were cut a year ago and have been piled at the lake.

John Ward appeared before the council for the Eagles and asked that the city decorate for the Eagles convention in June. The matter was laid over for the time, but it is probable that the council will grant the request.

Eveleth Tennis Courts.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A battery of tennis courts are to be laid out at the high school for the use of the public next summer. The courts will be located back of the new manual training building and work will be started on them as soon as the frost is out of the ground. John Ward, superintendent of playgrounds, will have charge of the grounds and will see to having them laid out.

OPEN-AIR SCHOOL ROOM IN EVELETH

Will Be in Portable Building Located Back of High School.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An open-air schoolroom is to be opened as a part of the Eveleth school system, according to Supt. B. O. Breening. The open-air room will be in a portable building, which will be located at the back of the high school. All pupils thought to be in need of the treatment for lung affection will be assigned to the room, which will be under the direction of Miss Anna Plapp of the normal department.

About twenty-five pupils have already been listed for transferring to the room as soon as arrangements are complete. Whether pupils will remain in the room or go there only for study periods has not been decided. The room will have its windows wide open, but covered with muslin to prevent a draft. It will be heated to overcome the cold, and the pupils will be warmly clothed. If necessary, blankets will be furnished by the school.

GAS FOR EVELETH BY COMING FALL

That Is Assurance of Contractor Who Secured Franchise.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to Thomas Lynch of Lynch & Kennedy, who secured a gas franchise from this city, the service will be furnished by next autumn.

Mr. Lynch states that work will be started just as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Plans and specifications for the building and plant are now being prepared and a site is also being looked up. The plant will be located between Eveleth and Gilbert, just where Mr. Lynch is unable to state at this time. The plant must be within reach of a railroad so coal and oil can be delivered direct from the cars and it must also be on ground not underlaid with ore.

A good-sized brick structure will be required for the machinery and the tank will be built separate from the building, as at Virginia. Whether the plan will be installed by day labor or by contract is not known. Mr. Lynch states that it will depend on labor conditions in the spring. In any event local labor will be employed as far as possible.

Chisholm Grants Franchise.

The council at Chisholm has granted Mr. Lynch and N. B. Shank of Biwabik a gas franchise identical with the one granted Lynch & Kennedy in Eveleth. Chisholm will be supplied from a different plant than Eveleth, but the Eveleth plant will be constructed with a capacity to supply the villages on this end of the range if they give franchises.

The general offices of the gas company are to be located here.

VIRGINIA IS DOING MUCH PUBLIC WORK

Payroll of First Fifteen Days in March Is Over $3,000.

Virginia, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—That this city starts the spring with a liberal amount of public work is shown by the payroll for the first fifteen days of the month allowed by the city council last night. The report laid before the council and acted on showed that the payroll for the city street employes for the first fifteen days in March amounted to $3,025 and an additional $365.50 for the incinerator plant, making a total of $3,390.50 paid out by the city for street department workers.

Sewer Extension Work.

The principal work done was on the new extension of the sewer from the six foot sewer to the north alley of Chestnut street, the work on the Sand Lake road, work on the streets and alleys and other sewer extensions.

All of the work was done under the directions of City Engineer Edward F. Johnson and under the supervision of Street Commissioner Christ Christopherson. The payroll was made out yesterday by City Timekeeper D. Hayes.

The question of retaining Miss Mollie Burns as visiting nurse in the face of the recommendation of Health Officer Crowe and Michelson that her services at $50 per month be dispensed with was debated and wound up by a committee consisting of Aldermen Murray, McGhee and Walsh being named on a committee to report later. A motion made by Alderman McGhee to dispense with Miss Burns' services failed, 5 to 4. The acknowledgment by the old Virginia water and light company of the receipt of the city's check for $364 caused gratification as it meant the final payment on the plant which the city took over. The company will now wind up its affairs. It was incorporated in 1882 about the same time the city was.

LOST BUT ONE GAME.

Aurora High School Quint Has Made Record This Year.

Aurora, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora high school basket ball team will not play this week, as they have been unable to schedule a game for Friday. Last Friday they won at Chisholm in a fast game in the fine gymnasium in the new Chisholm high school, when they made 29 points to Chisholm's 7. Next week they will go to Two Harbors and the following Friday they will finish the season by playing the Gilbert team here. The Aurora boys have won every game on their schedule this year except the one at Gilbert, where they were defeated by a narrow margin in an unfavorable gymnasium.

HIBBING MILITIA WILL BE INSPECTED.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. E. C. Junker of Company M, National Guard, is getting ready for the inspection of the company before Capt. E. A. Fry of the Vancouver barracks, Thursday. According to Capt. Junker everything is in a good shape and it is expected that Capt. Fry will be satisfied with the work of the company.

Baby of Future is Considered

Much thought has been given in late years to the subject of maternity. In the cities there are maternity hospitals equipped with modern methods. But most women prefer their own homes and in the towns and villages must prefer them. And since this is true we know from the great many splendid letters written on the subject that our "Mother's Friend" is a great help to expectant mothers. They write of the wonderful relief, how it seemed to allow the muscles to expand without undue strain and what a splendid influence it was on the nervous system. Such helps as "Mother's Friend" and the broader knowledge of them should have a helpful influence upon babies of the future.

In a little book for such women these points are more thoroughly brought out and a copy will be mailed to anyone who will send us their name and address.

"Mother's Friend" is sold in all drug stores and highly recommended for its timely usefulness, its safeness and the real help it affords. Ask for it at the store and write us for the book. Bradfield Regulator Co., 311 Lamar Bldg. Atlanta, Ga.

TWO HARBORS WILL BE DRY

Licenses Voted Out By Majority of 364 in Tuesday's Election.

Mayor William Towl Is Re-elected; Socialists Retain City Council.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sweeping every ward in the city by a large majority, the "drys" were victorious in the city election here yesterday, and for the next two years at least Two Harbors will have no saloons.

The vote was 283 for saloons and 647 against. In the Third and Fourth wards the "drys" won out by nearly a four-to-one vote. It was generally conceded before the election that the "drys" would win, but even the most radical temperance people never dreamed that the vote would be so one-sided.

Deep interest in the saloon question was very apparent last night, as every polling place in the city and several public places where the returns were being received were crowded at all times up until the wet and dry votes were counted. With the exception of the First ward, these votes were counted first.

Mayor Towl Re-Elected.

Mayor William Towl, Socialist, was re-elected by a large majority over the Independent candidate, James H. Lunz. During the past two years Mr. Towl has given general satisfaction in executing the office of mayor of the city, and it was noticed that many Independent voters split their ticket and voted for Mr. Towl. It was also noticed throughout the city that many of the Socialists split their votes. Many of the ballots were straight Socialist except for city treasurer and municipal judge, and in these cases they would vote for Fowler and Woodward rather than for their own party candidates. This feature was especially noticeable in the downtown wards.

The election yesterday did not change matters much. The Socialists are again in charge of the city, having elected a mayor and five out of seven aldermen. They lost one alderman this election. During the past two years they had six out of seven aldermen. The following aldermen were re-elected: Ernest G. Strand, Swan J. Nelson, Andrew Anderson, Socialists; Robert J. Tubman, Independent.

The Independent ticket elected a city treasurer, municipal judge, two aldermen and a city assessor.

The vote by precincts follows:

VIRGINIAN WRITES FROM BATTLEFIELD

Geoffrey Rouper Tells How It Is to Live in Trenches.

Virginia, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—War in all its horrors and some of its sidelights is partially set forth in a letter received here today from a former Virginia boy, Goeffrey Rouper, now fighting in Northern France in the Princess Patricia regiment from Canada in which he enlisted at the outbreak of the European conflict.

He says that he is getting used to the terrible experiences but that war is not all it is cracked up to be. The letter was freely bluepencilled by the censor but for all it gives a fairly interesting story of life in the trenches near La Bassee, France. Mr. Rouper used to work for the Bailey Lumber company here and is well known in the city.

EVELETHIANS TO ATTEND MILL CITY GATHERING.

Cloquet, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.) — Next Friday night the Cloquet Alumni basket ball team will meet the fast Hibbing Alumni team in the Lincoln high school gymnasium. Some time ago the Cloquet five went up to Hibbing and came out on the short end of a 31 to 17 score and now they seek revenge. Those playing for Cloquet will be, Erickson, Keller, G. Campbell, E. Campbell, Patterson, O'Brien and Johnson.

ATTORNEYS SUMMING UP HIBBING CASE

Action Involving Auto Repairs and Gasoline Nearing End.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today attorneys are arguing the case of the Range Motor Service company, which in district court is attempting to collect $497.40 for automobile supplies and repairs to the car of W. E. Lyman.

Attorney Power said the gasoline item alone is a gross overcharge. He declared that amount charged would run the car 5,000 miles. The charges include two months' time during which, he said, Lyman could have run the car ten hours daily and yet not have burned the amount charged in the bill. He also tried to show it was unnecessary to wash parts in gasoline to clean them, and that the other repairs were unnecessary and the prices fixed exorbitant. He tried also to point out a duplication of charges. Attorney D. T. Collins addressed the jury this afternoon for the defense. The case will be submitted to the jury late today.

UP TO NEW COUNCIL.

Newly Elected Hibbing Body to Pass on Engineers' Survey.

Hibbing, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Not until the new council takes hold in April will any action be taken on the report of Burns & McDonnell, consulting engineers of Kansas City, Mo., on the valuation and survey of the power plant, according to a statement made yesterday by a member of the council.

At the meeting of the water and light board yesterday afternoon the report was discussed, but nothing done. John Curran, chairman of the board, will retire at the end of this month and the new council will make an appointment for that place at its first meeting in April.

Yesterday afternoon members of the water and light board went over the payroll for the month.

MISSABE OFFICIALS VISIT MESABA RANGE.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following officials of the D., M. & N. Railway company visited Eveleth on a range tour of inspection yesterday morning: Supt. J. W. Kreitter, General Agent C. W. Kieswetter, Superintendent of Motive Power and Machinery E. M. Sedden, Train Master C. D. Gilbert, Chief Train Dispatcher J. A. Dennis, Assistant Chief Train Dispatcher Hankins, Traveling Engineer Frank Burke, Dock Agent Trevlranus and Car Service Agent F. M. Klock.

EVELETH SCHOOLS TEACHING PLUMBING.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An instructor has been engaged to take charge of the plumbing class in the Eveleth high school and an effort is being made by Supt. Greening to make the trade school of more importance in the school. There has been a class in plumbing at the school all this year, but no special instructor has been employed. Earl Anderson, manual training instructor, has had charge of the class, along with his other work. H. Kieffer, who took his position Wednesday, is a practical plumber.

GARDENING CONTEST.

Eveleth City Improvement Club Will Offer Prizes to Competitors.

Eveleth, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A gardening contest is to be inaugurated here this year. Such a contest was held some years ago. The contest will be along the same lines as those conducted in other cities, and prizes will be offered for the best gardens and other means will be taken to promote gardening and the improvement of lawns and property.

The purpose will be to improve the appearance of property and the city as a whole.

The contest will be under the direction of a committee from the new City Improvement club. Steps are being taken to raise money for the prizes. The first premium will probably be $20 in cash with several substantial second prizes and a large number of smaller cash prizes. Merchandise prizes will also be offered.

The contest will be scored by points.

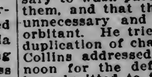
FAIR



The weather man was right as to today, for it is "partly" cloudy, but not enough to destroy the excellence of the weather, and much the same condition prevails today, as did yesterday. And, besides that, there is the prediction for fair weather for tomorrow, with mild temperatures. However, shippers are warned to protect 36-hour shipments of perishable products to the Dakotas, Minnesota points and Wisconsin.

A year ago today was cloudy. The sun rose this morning at 6:17 and will set this evening at 6:16, giving eleven hours and fifty-nine minutes of sunlight. The twelve-hour day will start tomorrow.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has risen over Pacific states, the plateau region, and from Manitoba southward to Kansas, and has fallen over nearly all the other districts. Killing frost occurred last night at Shreveport, La. Light rain or snow fell during Tuesday over Iowa, Southern North Carolina, Tennessee, Southern Missouri and Colorado."

DRESDEN WAS SUNK WHILE AT ANCHOR

Germans Assert Fire of British Damaged Other Ships in Port.

Valparaiso, March 17.—The German officers of the Dresden, who have arrived here, declare that they were attacked while at anchor in Cumberland bay, on the north side of the island of Juan Fernandez. They assert that other ships lying in port were damaged by the fire from the British ships, and that shells exploding on shore killed a woman and a child.

The Ministro Zenten, a Chilean cruiser, has been sent to bring the crew of the Dresden here from Juan Fernandez and to inquire into the sinking of the warship.

According to the account given here, the Dresden was obliged to take refuge at Juan Fernandez island because of damaged machinery and lack of coal. She was anchored about a quarter of a mile off shore Sunday morning, when the British cruiser Kent entered one side and the Glasgow and Orama on the other side of Cumberland bay.

The British warships opened fire at a distance of a little more than 3,000 yards. The Dresden was not prepared for a fight in neutral waters and did not reply immediately. She replied feebly within a few minutes.

The Dresden hoisted a parliamentary flag; then lowered boats and sent a protest against being attacked in neutral waters to which the British commander replied, according to the German statement, that he had orders to sink the vessel wherever she was found, and let the diplomats arrange the matter later and that he would do so unless the Germans themselves sank her.

As a consequence, the German commander sent the crew ashore, and blew up the Dresden. The casualties numbered three dead and fifteen wounded.

NEURALGIC PAINS

These may be felt in any nerve of the body but are most frequent in the nerves of the head. Neuralgia may be caused by a decayed tooth, eye-strain or a diseased ear but the most common cause is general debility accompanied by anemia, or thin blood.

For this reason women who work too hard or dance too much and who do not get sufficient rest, sleep and fresh air, are the most frequent sufferers from neuralgia and sciatica, which is neuralgia of the sciatic nerve.

Nutrition for the nerves is the correct treatment for neuralgia and the only way to nourish the nerves is through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply to the blood just the elements it needs to increase its capacity to carry nourishment to starved nerves. They have proved helpful in so many cases of neuralgia and sciatica that any sufferer from these troubles is fully justified in giving these pills a trial. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no harmful or habit-forming drugs and may be taken for any length of time with perfect safety.

The pamphlet "Diseases of the Nervous System," is free to you if you mention this paper. Address: The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

BOMBARD NIEUPORT WITH HOWITZERS

Thirty Shells Fall on Town, Demolishing Many Buildings.

Paris, March 17.—"The enemy is again furiously bombarding Nieuport, this time with 16-inch howitzers," says an undated message from the Petit Parisien's war correspondent, who adds:

"Thirty shells have fallen in the town, making enormous holes and demolishing several buildings, but no one was hurt.

"Belgian troops, profiting by a slight recession of the waters in the district they occupy, carried two German advanced positions. The first was on the Kloosterhoek farm near Stuvekenkerke, while the second was a line of trenches on the road from Pervyse to Schoorbakke.

"Warships and monitors of the allies vigorously bombarded Westende. The Germans replied feebly, but none of their shells took effect. Torpedo boat destroyers protect the bombarding ships, shelling a German submarine which attempted to approach. The fire against the shore positions was directed by aeroplanes."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

POPULAR IN NORTH DAKOTA

Consolidated School Idea Rapidly Growing in Favor in That State.

There Are Now 315 Where Two Years Ago There Were Only 110.

Fargo, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the consolidated schools are extremely popular in North Dakota is amply demonstrated in their rapid growth, the high regard in which they are held and the liberal appropriation for them by the recent retrenchment legislature. North Dakota has outstripped many of the older states of far greater population and now proudly boasts of 315 of them. Of this number, 205 are village and town consolidateds, and 110 are open rural consolidateds. Two years ago the total number was only 110, and the 201 increase since that time indicates the avidity with which the people of the state are adopting the system.

Much of the enthusiasm for the consolidateds is due to the great work of N. C. Macdonald, state superintendent of rural and consolidated schools. He has worked in and out of season on this idea and his enthusiasm is so contagious that the public engerly makes the change from the old one-room school idea.

Money to Aid Schools.

The last legislature appropriated $50,000 for rural school work, of which $40,000 goes to the consolidateds and $10,000 to the one-room schools. A larger appropriation was sought, but in view of the imperative necessity for restricted appropriations, the amount given the consolidateds is regarded as fairly liberal and indicative of the warm sentiment with which they are regarded by the members of the legislature.

There are many localities in which they are not feasible because of the sparsely settled communities in which the one-room rurals will continue to do the work, but in the other localities where there are a sufficient number of the small schools that can get together the plan has proven a great success.

STATE AID NEARLY LOST.

Error in North Dakota High School Act Does Not Vitiate Measure.

Bismarck, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through an error by the enrolling force, state aid for high schools for the coming two years was nearly knocked out. The bill, as enrolled and approved by the presiding officers of the two houses, makes provision for aid for first-year high schools—or common schools which handle nine years of work.

This feature was eliminated by the senate after the house had approved of it, and in the long fight that was waged on the bill, the senate's amendment was finally accepted and the bill adopted without provision for the first-year high schools.

In enrolling, this feature was retained, and it was not discovered till Governor Hanna began proof reading the measures. Its veto by the governor, because of the error, would have endangered the whole aid proposition, and he therefore determined to approve the bill. In the session laws, a footnote will be added to show the act's exact status.

BURY MERCURY VICTIM.

Fargo Young Man Who Took Tablets By Mistake Laid to Rest.

Fargo, N. D., March 17.—Following services at St. Mary's cathedral this morning the body of Chester E. Cline, age 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cline of this city, who died in a Jamestown hospital following the taking of bi-chloride of mercury tablets by mistake, was buried in the Moorhead cemetery. The young man died Sunday despite all efforts of science to fight off the effects of the poison. Sunday some slight improvement was noted and the doctors gave a chance for his recovery but the rally did not last.

He was born in Fargo. He attended the city schools and had two years at St. Thomas college, St. Paul. For several years he had been on the road, traveling for the Pioneer Life Insurance company, and recently for an accident insurance company.

Besides his father and mother, he is survived by a brother, Leo J. Cline, a sister, Mrs. Pier Clements, and two younger sisters, Dorothy and Levetta. All of the family are in Fargo.

JUDGE CHARLES J. FISK.

Bismarck, N. D., March 17.—A report is current that Chief Justice Charles J. Fisk of the North Dakota supreme court will soon resign to be appointed to a vacancy on the Federal circuit court of appeals. The report also says that Secretary of State W. J. Bryan is backing the North Dakota judge for the high honor.

Rumor is already busy with the name of who will be appointed in case Judge Fisk resigns. The most prominent candidates are Judge C. A. Pollock of the third and J. M. Hanley of the twelfth.

MILACA SCHOOL BURNS.

Structure Valued at $75,000 Is Destroyed By Fire.

Milaca, Minn., March 17.—Milaca's high school building burned early Monday night. The fire started in a paper chute running from the top of the building to the basement. The firemen were at the scene early, but the draft afforded by the chute gave the flames an impetus which could not be checked. The loss is estimated at $75,000 with an insurance of $40,000. The building had three stories and a basement and the main part was erected twelve years ago. A wing was added five years ago. Members of the board have arranged for the use of halls and churches for classes the remainder of the school year.

For six years past Mr. Caley has served as local field missionary in Minnesota, where he did such splendid work for the American Sunday School union that they offered him this promotion.

TAKING OUT PAPERS.

European War Increases Applications for Citizenship in North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota is adding rapidly to its list of new United States citizens as one of the results of the present European struggle. The additions are not coming from new settlers, but because there is a rush of foreign-born residents of the state of many nationalities to swear allegiance to Uncle Sam. It is all the more noticeable because some of the applicants have lived in the state for ten to twenty years and never indicated any desire to become citizens until within the last few months. It is estimated there will be more new citizens made in 1915 than in any three former years.

DIVER AT CLOQUET.

Is Fixing Water Pipe Leak Under the Cloquet River.

Cloquet, Minn., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Curious crowds of people have thronged the banks of the St. Louis river the past three days watching the work of a professional diver employed by the city to fix the leak in the water main leading to the Island. The leak occurred last week and since that time the people living on the island have been forced to carry the water from the nearest place possible.

PUTS BOUNTY ON CROWS.

North Dakota Law, Effective July 1, Wages War on Birds.

Fargo, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crows are to be under the ban in North Dakota after July 1. The sportsmen of the state insist they are the worst enemy of the prairie chickens, in that they rob nests and also kill and eat the very young prairie chickens. It is also asserted they rob the nests and eat the young of song and insectiverous birds. The farmers have for years claimed they are extremely damaging to young corn fields. The gravest charge, however, is that they assist in spreading hog cholera, as they frequent different pastures and different feed lots and at times feast on the bodies of the dead hogs.

There is to be a bounty on the crows after July 1 and the war of extermination will begin. For years there has been a law permitting the county commissioners to levy a special bounty tax on gophers and prairie dogs. At the recent legislative session Senator Thoreson secured an amendment to that measure to include the crows and it will be in the power of the commissioners to provide for a bounty on the pests.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live.

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefitted by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

KELLEYS WIN THE PENNANT

Take Deciding Basket Ball Game From the Northern Team.

Fenton-Dubys Tied With Northerns for Second Place.

Final standing of Commercial league basket ball teams:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Kelleys	6	2	.750
Northerns	5	3	.625
Fenton-Dubys	5	3	.625
Lakes	3	5	.375
Big Duluths	1	7	.125

The Commercial league basket ball season was brought to a close last evening when the Kelley hardware aggregation defeated the Northern hardware quint for the league championship, by the score of 18 to 14. The Fenton-Duby team experienced little difficulty in winning from the Big Duluths in a scheduled game, by the score of 38 to 18.

The main affray of the evening, a contest to decide to which team the pennant should go, was the best played and most exciting contest which has marked the schedule this year.

Up to last Tuesday the Northern team had been leading. On that evening the Fenton-Duby aggregation lowered the erstwhile leaders to a tie with the Kelleys in a great game by the score of 23 to 22. Fortunately the schedule had already arranged for a meeting of the Kelleys and Northerns last evening. Both teams had been practicing hard in preparation for the big game and they were both determined to "do or die."

Defensive Game.

Both sides were extremely careful in the first half. More attention was paid to guarding, and the forwards were given very little opportunity to shoot. The Kelleys gained a slight advantage in this period, leading at the conclusion by a 4-to-2 score.

The game started with a rush in the second half. Whirlwind plays were executed in rapid succession and more shooting was attempted. The best basket ball that has been seen in the league this season was exhibited, and a large crowd was kept at a high pitch throughout the contest. The Northerns soon closed up on the speedy Kelleys. From then on until the conclusion the score alternated between the two teams, but one team could stay ahead only a short time before the other one caught them. Some brilliant playing was pulled off on both sides. About one minute before the call of time the score stood knotted, 14 all. Then the Kelleys opened up with a burst of speed, and with two sensational baskets from exceedingly difficult angles —one by Dworshak and the other by Friedman—Smith's pets established a safe lead which the Northerns, though playing desperately, could not overcome in the remaining few seconds. The victorious Kelleys counted 14 points to the Northerns' 12 in the final period, thus fixing the deciding score at 18 to 14.

Good Team Work.

One of the big features of the contest was the all-round good playing of the winning Kelleys. The whole team played evenly and with a machine-like motion, showing the result of the diligent practice which they had previously put in. Biegle counted four field goals, and Foryzlak played in his usual wonderful form. Dworshak was a sensation and helped materially in the scoring. Friedman was in the game at all times and counted a timely basket toward the end. The great exhibition put up by Beck surprised even his most ardent admirers. He covered a lot of ground and would have taken care of more if he had had it to cover. Although the other members of the Kelley team escaped, Beck was caught and carried about on the shoulders of an admiring throng. "Bill" Nelson and "Doc" Boerner put up great exhibitions for the valiant Northerns, with the rest of the team not far behind.

By their victory over the Big Duluths, the Fenton-Dubys pushed up to a tie with the Northerns for second place. This contest was interesting in the first half, the score standing 10 to 6, but in the final period the "Twins" floated away from their opponents, making 28 points to the Clothiers' 12, with a final score of 38 to 18. The sensational work of Burnett featured this game, but his mates were close on his heels. Cole and Kerns put up good exhibitions for the losers.

The lineups and summaries of the two games follows:

DULUTH MEN ARE ADVANCED

Head-of-Lakes Teams Hold Alleys in Northern Bowling Tournament.

Several Changes in Fives and Doubles—Singles Standings Untouched.

Five new teams crowded themselves into the list of ten leaders in the five-men event of the Northern Bowling association's tournament now in progress at the Grand alleys, when the session of last night took place, and consequently five who had been in the list were crowded out. The scores made by two Duluth teams in the doubles put them in the lead-list in that event, necessitating the crowding down of two other teams. There are no changes in the list of leaders in the singles.

In the five-men event, the Marquettes of Minneapolis went into third place and the Elcoras of Duluth went into fourth, crowding the West Sides of St. Paul down to fifth place from fourth; the Sharkcrafts of Duluth took sixth place, Wa-ke-ma-wup, Redmen of Duluth took ninth, and Park Hotels of Duluth, jumped from oblivion into tenth place. Those crowded out from the previous list of leaders are: Blatz Winners, Ironwood, Mich.; Columbia Clothing company, Duluth; Ironwood Pharmacy, Ironwood; Lumberjacks, Ashland; and Coleraine of Coleraine.

In the two-men event, McDonald and Stauss of Duluth jumped from nowhere to second place, and Tyson and Ptacek of Duluth went into seventh place, eliminating Klaes and Klaes of Eau Claire and Erne and Lavocot of St. Paul from the list.

B. Weinold and W. Matthes of Chicago, forged to the top in the two-men events with a score of 1,233. Taylor and H. McMutty of Chicago took second place with 1,183 and A. Lutz and J. Lippert of Chicago third with 1,174. The highest previous score of the tournament was 1,170, held by Meyer and Peters of Chicago.

O. B. FORGETS CRIMES OF FORMER YEARS

American League Was Outlaw Once—Losses of Three Years' War.

"Organized baseball lifts up its eyes in devout horror at the 'crime' of jumping to the 'outlaw' Federal league," says an Eastern writer. "Yet it would be remembered that the American league was once an 'outlaw' too."

A statistician has computed that of the twenty-two biggest stars who "jumped" the National in the earlier baseball war eleven became either managers or umpires in organized baseball. Here they are:

John McGraw, Giants; Bob Wallace, Browns; Nap Lajoie, Cleveland; Bill Bernhart, Memphis (Southern league); Doc White, Vernon (Pacific Coast league); Jim Collins, Red Sox; Bill Donovan, Yankees; Fielder Jones, White Sox and St. Louis Federals; Clark Griffith, Cincinnati and New York Americans and Washington; Jim Callahan, White Sox. Bill Dinneen turned umpire.

The appended table will show the number of players lost by the different National league clubs by desertion during the three years' war:

Club.	1901.	1902.	1903.	Tl.
Philadelphia	6	10	1	17
New York	9	6	3	18
Boston	8	1	2	11
Brooklyn	8	7	8	23
Chicago	6	6	0	12
Pittsburg	3	1	3	7
Cincinnati	7	1	1	9
St. Louis	8	8	0	16
Totals	55	40	18	113

As will be seen, Brooklyn was the heaviest loser, twenty-three players deserting its team.

NO-HIT DAVIS HAS STRENGTH RECORD

Lets Stallings Know Spring Training Lack Is No Handicap.

Cambridge, Mass., March 17.—The lure of the spring training camps was the inspiration for George A. (No-Hit) Davis, Harvard's new strong man, when he bettered his strength record a few days ago.

He wanted to let Manager George T. Stallings of the Boston Braves know that he is still a live athlete in spite of the fact that he is absorbing information from textbooks on law while the other members of the world's championship team are preparing for the coming season.

A month ago Davis set up a score of 1,437 points at the Hemenway gymnasium here and won the title of the university's strong man away from "Tack" Hardwick, who had previously had the honor with a total of 1,257 points.

During the week Davis felt particularly strong and went to the gymnasium once again to take the test, this time rolling up a total of 1,593 points, which will probably stand for some time.

Davis will stick to his law work at Harvard until June, when the final examinations are over, and then he will join Stallings and the Braves to pitch. He will get his practice during the spring months at Soldiers' field, and by the time school work ends he will be in fine condition.

Davis pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Philadelphia National team last year and was the only pitcher in the old league to accomplish the feat during the season.

YALE CAPTAIN IS OUT OF EIGHT

Denegre Will Resign Because of Organic Weakness; Doctors' Advice.

New Haven, Conn., March 17.—Because physicians have advised him that it would be unwise to continue his work, owing to an organic weakness, Thomas Bayne Denegre of New Orleans will shortly resign as captain of the Yale university crew. He has rowed on the varsity for two years and was at No. 3 this season.

Last year he did not come up to the standard required by Coach Nickalls, and he voluntarily remained out of the eight that defeated Harvard. He was re-elected captain.

New Billiard Mark.

Chicago, March 17.—William Huey of Chicago yesterday made a high run of 13, setting a new mark for the world's championship three-cushion billiards tournament in the first game of the day's play, defeating Jess Lean of Chicago by a score of 50 to 31 in 58 innings. Lean's high run was 5. Previous to Huey's record high run yesterday the high mark was 12 made by John Daly, four days ago.

Of the Columbias.

DULUTH GETS GOOD CATCHER

Harry Brummell, Who Supplied Here Two Years Ago, Signed Up.

Harry Blume, owner of the Duluth baseball club, has closed a deal whereby Harry Brummell, well known in this league, will head the catching department of the Duluth team, and in him, Mr. Blume declares, he believes the Duluth fans will find a crackerjack.

"I noticed the statement, published today, that Brummell is a good catcher but a poor hitter," said Mr. Blume this morning. "That is entirely wrong. Brummell is a good hitter. As a catcher he will prove one of the best in the league and he has a good throwing arm."

Brummell caught for Virginia for a while two years ago, but as that team had an extra man and Duluth needed somebody, Brummell played with the locals for quite a stretch of the season. He made good here and was popular with the fans and with his team mates. Brummell is not a has-been by many years and it is believed that he has a great future before him. He was with Kansas City last year in the American association, but wanted to get away from the hot weather belt. The North suits him and that is how Mr. Blume managed to land him.

Owner Blume did not express much optimism as to his attempt to send Collins to Grand Hauts in trade for a catcher and outfielder, as the monetary consideration is rather stiffer than he cares to sanction.

WOULD FEED PLAYERS ON CABBAGE, ETC.

Miss Esther Lang, vegetarian expert and artist model, has a plan whereby the Indianapolis team will become pennant winners in the American association this year. Miss Lang has written Manager Birmingham and applied for the position of trainer of the Indians. If she gets the job she says she will put the players on a vegetable diet.

"If Mr. Birmingham will allow me to diet the players I know that the team will play better ball. Every vegetable has a certain effect on the human body, and the right combination will cause the ball players to show marked improvement."

Miss Lang has also written Owner Comiskey of the White Sox, Connie Mack and John McGraw.

She has, so far, overlooked Darby O'Brien of the Duluth White Sox.

CHIEF "JEWELRY" COLLECTOR IN DULUTH

"BILLY" DINHAM.

NINE GAMES TO BE PLAYED

Dinham Adds Manley-McLennan Trophy to His Collection.

Blaze O' Glory and Universal Events Alone Remain Unfinished.

Nine more games and the 1914-15 curling season will come to a close, after one of the most successful years in the history of the sport here.

By winning the Manley-McLennan event from R. J. McLeod last night, Will Dinham established himself as the champion curler at the Head of the Lakes and also as the biggest prize winner of the Duluth Curling club during the season. He entered the finals of three events, winning out in two, making the best record of any curler.

Two weeks ago Dinham defeated Bradley, 13 to 8, in the finals of The Herald event and early last week Bradley turned the tables by winning out in the finals of the Bagley event. The score was 12 to 10 and it was one of the hardest fought games at the club during this year. And last night Dinham won his second trophy, and incidentally the championship of the Head of the Lakes by defeating McLeod by the score of 14 to 5.

Two Events Left.

But two events remain to be completed, before the season will come to a close. Tonight E. A. Forsyth and R. J. McLeod will meet in the finals of the Universal event, while the last games in the Blaze o' Glory will also be played this evening. Naughton, Magie and Hoene are in the semi-finals of the Blaze o'Glory, while Myron and Ketchum are in the eights. It is planned to have two or three games played this afternoon, so that the finals will be played off tonight.

Six events were played this year, besides the participation of the club members in the Northwestern, State, City and Head of the Lakes bonspiels. Dinham is the victor in The Herald and Manley events; Bradley in the Bagley; Leslie Coson in the Columbia, and the finals of the Universal and Blaze o' Glory have yet to be played. In the Columbia Consolation event, Dizzel won out, defeating R. B. Knox, 12 to 9.

The Northwestern Curling association bonspiel was the biggest event of the year, over 200 curlers having participated in the week's play.

Clough Gates of Superior won out in the Head of the Lakes bonspiel played on Lincoln's birthday, defeating Hall of Duluth. In the state bonspiel for the Merriam trophy played on Washington's birthday the Donald rink of West Duluth made the hit of the curling season by defeating the veteran, George Labatt of Minneapolis.

The scores last night follow:

"Blaze o' Glory."

Bert Magie, 9; Ron Smith, 8.
James Myron, 15; P. Helmick, 11.
H. C. Matzke, 11; M. Buchanan, 10.
A. Hoene, 12; S. L. Reichert, 0 (forfeit.)

Manley-McLennan.

Will Dinham, 14; R. J. McLeod, 5.

FAMOUS RIDER FOR "Y" CIRCUS

Buffalo Bill's Broncho Buster Will Be the Attraction.

Jingling Brothers Promise Many Big Feature Acts.

Physical Director Olson of the Y. M. C. A., has a stunt up his sleeve for the famous "Jingling Brothers'" circus, coming to the "Y" April 12 and 13, that will put the annual event in the semi-"profesh" class. He is not quite ready to announce the details, but the fact is that the man who was Buffalo Bill's broncho buster for five years is in Duluth, and is cooking up a bowl of amusement soup that will open up a 'steen-course circus feast never equaled in the Zenith City. Some of the stunts being planned are calculated to send thrills up and down the spectator's spinal cord more quickly than an electric battery.

Mr. Olson has many other turns arranged for, the caliber and class of which have put the "Jingling Brothers" into a stellar position in the circus universe. The "big tent" will be pitched in the "gym," and there the dare-devils of the tight wire will pirouette, the barkers will bark, the clowns will caper and josh, and the band will play ragtime. There will be no slow music because the "Jingling Brothers" have promised to jingle more jingerly than ever before. Laurence Duby and Harold Thomas have charge of the comedy. A corking good musical program, including selections by the calliope, will be rendered.

STILL MORE BEEF WANTED

Ten Eyck Has Many 160-Pounders, But Continues Search.

Big Men With Nerve and Stamina Needed for Crews.

As was said before—and several times—Jim Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat club crews, wants more heavy men, weighing between 160 and 190—men with brawn, brains and stamina.

A number have responded to the call, but the coach demands still more material.

"The men who have enrolled themselves," said Mr. Ten Eyck today, "look to me like good material, but it is no small job to get eight crack men out of a hundred. So many requirements enter into the making of a good oarsman. One fit to maintain the record made by the Duluth crews must possess not only muscle and brains, but rowing instinct, the stamina to fight against odds, if necessary, and first of all, the determination and the nerve to go through the somewhat gruelling shaping-up grind."

The men who have enrolled themselves for junior material, and their weights follow: L. Arons, 162; W. S. Blystone, 156; A. Brende, 156; H. V. Burnett, 155; J. L. Campbell, 169; O. Elstad, 157; T. Emmons, 167; W. A. Flink, 168; W. Grant, 161; J. Harney, 165; F. H. Johnson, 154; H. Kiley, 160; F. W. Lonegren, 151; C. C. Moore, 162; G. McGraw, 161; R. Osman, 160; W. F. Paleen, 162; J. A. Porter, 170; A. E. Palson, 170; W. Shearer, 150; E. B. Scriven, 152; W. Swanson, 150; E. Sperry, 160, and C. W. Olson, 163.

In addition there are a number of men weighing around 142, and quite a number whom the coach expects to train down for the bantam crews. The crews that are giving him chief worry are the junior eight and the senior four. As to the latter Mr. Ten Eyck said this morning:

"At Philadelphia last year, the chief contender against our seniors was the University barge crew of Philadelphia, four men who are ex-collegiate oarsmen, and who have rowed together for four years. I learned while east this winter that they are after Duluth. It is the crew of this city that they are determined to beat and every preparation is being made with that object in view. While I was in New York, at the Ward company's boat building works, I noticed a fine new four-oared shell and was told that it was for the University barge crew, which they were having built to beat Duluth. So we must look out for that department."

Mr. Ten Eyck expects to be able to start the senior men at work in work boat singles in the bay perhaps this week or next. There is a fairly clear space from the bay side of the canal up to the tug office and a little beyond, and with the tugs getting busy

DILLON SHADES GUNBOAT SMITH

Indianapolis Heavyweight Out-Fights Alleged King of White Hopes.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—Jack Dillon, Indianapolis heavyweight, shaded "Gunboat" Smith of New York in a ten-round no-decision boxing bout here last night, according to a majority of sporting writers at the ringside.

Dillon was too fast for Smith on the infighting, using rights and lefts to the body with good advantage. Smith depended almost entirely upon his left, trying hard, wide swings to the head, which seldom found their mark. The fight was marred by considerable clinching. Referee Stout being kept busy separating the men.

Dillon had a distinct shade in the bout, clearly winning six rounds, two going even, and two to Smith.

Smith attempted to come back toward the end of the fight and earned a shade in the eighth and ninth, his only rounds. The first and fifth rounds were even, Dillon having the better of all other periods.

The last round was the fastest of the fight, Dillon having the advantage of the period, and fight.

When the men weighed in, Smith tipped the beam at 183¾ pounds with his clothes on, while Dillon registered 171 stripped, showing the New Yorker to have an advantage in poundage of about seven pounds. Smith had the longer reach and was considerably the taller.

Will Continue Racing.

HONORS FOR ST. PATRICK

Churches, Cafes and Celts Celebrate Birthday of Ireland's Saint.

Shamrocks Are Popular; Scots Claim Saint as Native Son.

Erin go braugh!

Shure, and it's the seventeenth of March, a day dear to the hearts of every true son of Erin's Isle.

Bad 'cess to the 'Mick' who forgets his bit of green today, because St. Patrick's day is the one day of the 365 on which a true Irishman should remember his mother country and her patron saint.

Green carnations, shamrocks, and bits of emerald-colored ribbon were very much in evidence in Duluth, and storekeepers reported that the good old saint's memory was being revered more than usual this year, judging from the large amount of decorations purchased by citizens of the Zenith City.

Recalling the half fabulous, half historical character, who had few parallels as a Christian apostle, Catholic churches held special services this morning in St. Patrick's memory. Cafes also will join in the commemoration tonight, special musical programs having been arranged.

Legends represent St. Patrick as having been born at Kilpatrick, near Dumbarton, in Scotland, about the year 387 A. D. It is related that when a lad of 16 he was sold as a slave and taken to Ireland by Irish pirates. He later is supposed to have converted the island to Christianity.

According to accounts said to be more or less authentic, Patrick passed his first six months in Ireland in servitude under a Druid priest in the county of Antrim. He finally escaped, walked 200 miles to the west coast, boarded a ship for Scotland and returned to his native land, Scotland. His stay was short, however, for three months later he was again taken captive.

Traveled in Europe.

A second escape from Irish servitude followed within a short time. On this occasion, it is said, that he went to Europe and traveled for many years over the continent, associating himself with the recognized leaders of the Christmian movement. It is believed that in the year 410 A. D. he was ordained as a priest by the bishop of Auxerre. It is reported that the bishop took him to England and later sent him to Rome, where Pope Celestine I. gave him the name of St. Patrick and sent him to convert Ireland. This was about 432 A. D.

Patrick's grandfather, it is said, was a Pagan priest. His father was a Christian deacon and his mother also a Christian. Yet it was not until he had grown to manhood that he gave himself over to the Christian faith.

Palladius, who preceded Patrick in the work of converting Ireland, had failed. But being more familiar with the language and customs of the Irish people than was Palladius, Patrick met with success in converting to Christianity the pagan Irish.

Many popular ideas with regard to St. Patrick are said to be mere creations of fancy and without any historical foundation. Few people who have not read the history of St. Patrick know anything of the miracles and conversions accredited to him. His character is pictured as displaying love, faith, sweetness, humility and self-sacrifice.

Was Author Also.

St. Patrick was not only a priest, missionary and apostle. He has also been given a place among the contemporary writers of his day. While historians disagree as to some of the writings which have been attributed to him, it is admitted that he is the author of "Confession," "Breastplate" and "Letters to Coroticus."

GREATEST OF THE BIG FAIRS

San Francisco Has Outdone Chicago, Buffalo and St. Louis.

Duluthian Says Many Destitute Have Been Attracted to Coast.

Chicago's world's fair in 1893, the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo in 1901 and the centennial celebration at St. Louis in 1904 cannot be compared with the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, according to S. George Stevens, well known Duluth attorney, who, with Mrs. Stevens, has just returned from the Pacific coast.

Mr. Stevens was one of the executives at the St. Louis fair, and has been connected with displays or models at all of the large expositions in this country in recent years. He was in charge of the Oliver Iron Mining company's exhibit at San Francisco, which was installed as a part of the U. S. Steel corporation's exhibit, the largest single exhibit ever made.

"With the combination of California's semi-tropical vegetation, and the peculiar style of architecture in the buildings, designers have obtained a novel effect that probably never will be equaled," he declared. "The coloring is wonderful, the climate making possible results that never could have been obtained at any previous fairs or expositions in this country.

"It is well worth a man's time and money particularly now that all the exhibits are in place. There was some disappointment at first, as many of the large exhibits had not been installed when the doors were opened."

"Go to San Diego first," is Mr. Stevens' advice to Duluthians who intend making a trip to the exposition. "The San Diego fair is a beautiful show, but of course it is smaller, and suffers in contrast with San Francisco's wonderful display."

The Best Exhibits.

Heads of the fair management, in choosing the best exhibit on their grounds, have picked a model of the Alpena mine at Virginia, Minn., and a model of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern steel ore dock No. 5 as the two best models and one of the best, if not the very best, individual exhibit.

Credit for these models belongs to Mr. Stevens, who originated and designed them. Their success is due in a large portion, they say, from the way in which lights have been toned, giving the proper atmospheric effect. This has not been attempted before at fairs, say experts.

"When everything is said," went on Mr. Stevens, "Mrs. Stevens and I were mighty glad to get back to Duluth and we realize more now than ever before the advantages Duluth has over other cities.

"California's climate is wonderful, and there are many fine cities, but they have their disadvantages, and I want to stay right in Duluth after this.

"One of the most disagreeable features of a trip west," he said, "is the large number of persons out of work. The problem of caring for the destitute, attracted from all over the United States by the fair, is a serious one.

"They have started a subscription fund to feed the penniless, using 'A Dollar a House' as their motto, and make a house-to-house canvass, asking every resident for at least a dollar as his share.

"One must walk rapidly when on the main streets, for the minute they loiter, a man or a woman is sure to approach them, asking for money to buy food.

"It is a common sight to see tramps walking along the beach, digging for clams or scraping mussels from the rocks and subsisting on them."

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens toured California for several weeks in an automobile, starting from Santa Barbara, after his work at the fair was finished.

MOTHER LEAVES BABY ON CAR

Conductor Plays Nurse, Infant Left at Store, Parent Found.

Leaving of parcels, suitcases and other forms of baggage on street cars is common these days, but yesterday afternoon the uncommon happened when a crew on a Woodland car was called on to take care of a 2-year-old child, which had been forgotten by its mother while on a shopping trip.

The child was not noticed until Conductor Hans Oehlenschlager heard a cry as the car came to a stop at Eighth avenue west. The cry also startled Martin Nelson, the motorman.

"What will we do with it?" was the query asked by both in the same breath. "The mother will stop the car and get it at Second avenue west when we go east again," said one of the men.

Keeping a watchful eye for a distracted mother at Third, Second, First and Lake avenues as the car made its return trip was to no avail. Nobody appeared to claim the child. Then the conductor got busy thinking who it's owner might be, and finally remembered that the mother got on at Winona street.

Being a "jollier" for a child whose tears cruise down its cheeks in torrents, is no soft snap according to the conductor. The motorman, during one of the heaviest "squalls," stopped the car and after a search through his pockets found candy which, he gave the baby. This appeased it for a while.

On reaching Winona street, the baby was left in the care of a storekeeper at that corner, who said the child belonged to Mrs. J. J. Mullen, 146 West Winona street. Mrs. Mullen met the car at Forest Hill as it was on its return trip down town and inquired about the child, saying she had forgotten it when she got off. The mother was nearly distracted, but said she believed the car crew would be wise enough to carry it back to the end of the line and probably leave it there.

PEACE PRAYER BY POPE BENEDICT

To Be Offered in Catholic Churches on Passion Sunday.

New York, March 17.—The text of the Peace prayer which Pope Benedict XV has directed shall be offered in Catholic churches on Passion Sunday, March 21, has been received and is being distributed throughout the country. It follows:

"Dismayed by the horrors of a war which is bringing ruin to peoples and nations, we turn, O Jesus, to Thy most loving Heart as to our last hope. O God of Mercy, with tears we invoke Thee to end this fearful scourge; O King of Peace, we humbly implore the peace for which we long. From Thy Sacred Heart Thou didst shed forth over the world divine Charity, so that discord might end and love alone might reign among men. During Thy life on earth Thy Heart beat with tender compassion for the sorrows of men; in this hour, made terrible with burning hate, with bloodshed and with slaughter, once more may Thy Divine Heart be moved to pity. Pity the countless mothers in anguish for the fate of their sons; pity the numberless families now bereaved of their fathers; pity Europe over which broods such havoc and disaster. Do Thou inspire rulers and peoples with counsels of meekness, do Thou heal the discords that tear nations asunder; Thou who didst shed Thy Precious Blood that they might live as brothers, bring men together once more in loving harmony. And as once before to the cry to the Apostle Peter: Save us, Lord, we perish, Thou didst answer with words of mercy, and didst still the raging waves, so now deign to hear our trustful prayer, and give back to the world peace and tranquillity.

"And do Thou, O most Holy Virgin, as in other times of sore distress, be now our help, our protection and our safeguard. Amen."

The prayer was composed by His Holiness. It is accompanied by a decree from Cardinal Gasparri, secretary of state for the Vatican, prescribing in detail the form of services for Passion Sunday.

UNKNOWN POET OPENED FLOOD GATES

Poems of Spring Come Pouring in When Example Is Set.

That unknown poet who dropped the spring poem on the editor's desk yesterday morning and then ran away, missing the mucilage bottle, started something that his soul will surely pay for in the next world. He has awakened the inspiration of Duluth's writers, and this morning a flood of mail came in, and with it there breathed the zephyrs of spring, the babbling of the brooks and chirping of the birds.

In other words, that author has started other poets, and alas and alack!

Here is what a young man—it must be a young man who wrote this—sent in:

"Babble on, sweet babbling brook,
While I find a quiet nook
Where I'll take my lady fair—
The one that has sweet golden hair.

"And while you babble swiftly by,
I'll tell her how my love won't die;
And maybe she'll then be mine
In dear, sweet, blooming spring time."

Here is another one:

"Oh, spring! Oh, spring! Oh, beautiful spring!
You bring sweet joy and bliss;
For I take my girl in the woods
And then I steal a kiss."

INVADES PRINTING OFFICE.

Unwelcome Visitor of Taylor, N. D., Reporter Puts Up Lively Fight.

Taylor, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was some excitement in the office of The Taylor Reporter. The editor went down town a few minutes, leaving the door unlocked and a light burning. On his return he found a man underneath one of the composing stones. The latter declined to come out and the lone printer went for reinforcements. Securing four other men, he endeavored to dislodge the unwelcome visitor, but the accuracy with which the stranger threw plate bases and old cuts put the entire bunch to flight. Finally more recruits were secured and the man was overpowered after the office was almost wrecked. The stranger acted like a maniac. At one time he claimed his name was Ed Stone and his home was in Wisconsin.

HERALDS DULUTH AS OCEAN PORT WHEN LARGER CANALS OPEN

An article in the Technical World Magazine for the current month declares that by the coming summer Duluth will become an ocean port, shipping grain direct to trans-Atlantic ports by way of the new Welland and Erie canals. The article is entitled "The Bread Basket of the World" and its author is Frank G. Moorhead. While it is believed that the date mentioned for the inauguration of a deep waterway to the sea from Duluth is decidedly premature, there is no question in the minds of local business men that the opening of the Welland and Erie canals, now being increased in depth and capacity, will result in just what is prophesied in the article in question. However the opening of the larger Welland canal is several years away, work on it having been begun only last year; and the opening of the new Erie canal will not take place for some time, and at any rate lake steamers will be unable to navigate it. When the Welland is completed, measures must be taken to make navigation possible through the St. Lawrence river.

The facts given in Mr. Moorhead's contribution to the magazine are of interest to the business world, and accompanied by route diagrams and pictures, the article, it is believed, will unquestionably be of much value to this port. The article, in part, follows:

Advantage in Freight.

"The great advantage to be derived by the wheat growers of the Northwest when Duluth and Superior become ocean ports is shown by the immense saving already made to them by even a partial water shipment to the seaboard. The rail grain rate from Superior to New York is 13.8 cents a bushel as compared with 5.75 cents a bushel by lake and rail via Buffalo, a clear saving of 8.05 cents a bushel. By shipping by lake and rail through Duluth the Northwest saved $9,272,578.46 on last year's crop assuming its destination to be New York."

"When this country is on an export basis grain prices to the farmer are made on a basis of Liverpool delivery minus freight charges, and New York being the point of export, farm prices are made by reference to freight cost via New York whether shipments are actually delivered there or not. In this particular it is to be noted that the lake route not only saved the $9,272,578.46 actual difference in freight, but also gave farmers in the Northwest 8 cents a bushel more for their entire crop than they would have received if the price had been determined by using all-rail freights in figuring freight cost of delivery to Liverpool.

Benefit Will Increase.

"The completion of the Erie and Welland canals will make the benefit to the grain growers of the Northwest still greater. The Welland canal is being remodeled by the Canadian government to a depth of twenty-five feet and when this is accomplished Duluth and Superior will be ocean ports through which grain can be exported without breaking bulk in the movement to Liverpool. The Erie canal is being enlarged by the state of New York at a cost of $128,000,000, so as to permit the passage of boats of 3,000 ton burden instead of the 250-ton boats to which it was formerly restricted. From Duluth and Superior over Lake Superior, Lake Huron, Lake Erie and either the Welland canal, Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river to the ocean or the Erie canal to the navigable Hudson and thence to New York and the ocean, the grain will be shipped the entire distance by water, in unbroken bulk, to the world's greatest grain center, if desired. The saving in freight charges and the better prices made inevitable by such shipment mean a still greater prosperity for the people who dwell in what has come to be known as 'the world's bread basket.'"

BEMIDJI LAND SALE ATTRACTING ATTENTION.

Bemidji, Minn., March 17.—That interest in the salo of delinquent ditch interest government land in Beltrami county, which is to be held at the court house on May 10, will equal that of last year is indicated in the hundreds of letters received by James L. George, county auditor, asking for information.

As last year, Auditor George will have charge of the sale and to assist in providing information for those interested he has issued a letter which explains the sale.

Cured His RUPTURE
I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 178A Marcellus Avenue, Manasquam, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

CANDIDATES NOT YET QUESTIONED.

No questions have been sent to any of the candidates for commissioner, said W. L. Smithles, president of the Interchurch council, this morning.

The Interchurch council will meet next Friday evening at the First Methodist church to discuss the principal issues in the campaign. In answer to a rumor that the answers to questions sent out to all the candidates would be read at this meeting, Mr. Smithles declared that the report was untrue. He was unable to say whether these questions would be sent, although he is inclined to doubt any such plan at this time.

CASE MAY BE COMPROMISED

Court Withholds Decision in Federal-K. C. Team Suit.

Chicago, March 17.—Decision in the injunction suit of the Kansas City club to restrain the Federal league from transferring the team to Newark, N. J., was postponed today by Judge Baldwin until next Tuesday.

The announcement was made by the judge when attorneys and many interested in the proceedings went to the courtroom to hear an expected decision of the case.

The announcement of the postponement of the decision was made after a conference of the attorneys who have appeared in the litigation. No statement of the reasons for the continuance was given.

The delay was regarded by many who have followed the case as indicating that an agreement might be reached which would make a formal injunction unnecessary. The Kansas City club officials have asserted that they stand ready to give bonds for the fulfillment of their contract with the league. Among those in the courtroom it was suggested that the delay might give time to perfect arrangements by which the Federal League club would remain in Kansas City.

A temporary injunction already restrains the Federal league from transferring the Kansas City franchise, and the present action is on a motion to make that injunction permanent.

TRANSFERS TEAM TO FARGOANS

Burmeister and Cantillion Representative Will Close Transaction Thursday.

Fargo, N. D., March 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Burmeister, representing the Northern league, and E. N. Dickinson, representing Mike Cantillion, will be here tomorrow to transfer the ownership of the Fargo team in the Northern league to local people.

The city will be represented in the league this year alone and not in combination, with Moorhead as was the case last season. Col. "Bob" Unglaub will be retained as manager and some of last year's players will be in the line up.

The games will be played at the state fair grounds. By removing the judge's stand the diamond can be laid out immediately in front of the grandstand. The location is easily accessible and more convenient than the Moorhead grounds were last season.

CONFIDENCE IN PRESIDENT'S ACTS

Wisconsin Senate Reverses Itself and Passes Resolution.

Madison, Wis., March 17.—Reversing its attitude of two weeks ago when it rejected the Bray joint resolution expressing the Wisconsin legislature's sympathy with a confidence in President Wilson's neutrality efforts, the senate today adopted a similar resolution offered by Senator Bichler, Democrat, the vote being 29 to 3, only Senators Ackley, Everett and Perry dissenting. The Democratic caucus approved this resolution.

The senate today unanimously adopted the resolution introduced Monday night by Senator Skogmo memorializing the president to call a conference of the neutral nations to endeavor to effect a peaceful settlement in Europe. It was at once transmitted to the assembly. The measure created no discussion in the upper house.

When Senator Timothy Burke, the Green Bay solon, entered the senate chamber he found his desk transformed into a county of old Ireland. Looming high were Irish flags, emblems and flowers all surrounded by the Stars and Stripes.

Senator Jennings' bill, declaring a half holiday on election days in Milwaukee was reported for indefinite postponement by the state affairs committee.

The same recommendation was made for Senator Bray's joint resolution inviting Prof. E. A. Gilmore to appear before the conservation committee to give advice on water power legislation.

A bill amending the famous eugenics law making it applicable for both male and female and including within the communicable diseases under the ban, pulmonary tuberculosis, was introduced in the assembly by Helm.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simply remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

STORY NOT CONSISTENT

Court Refuses to Accept Plea of Guilty From Youths.

William Singsheim, 20, and Floyd Hurley, 18, might have saved themselves considerable grief this morning if they had "stuck" to a story which was consistent with their plea of guilty when they were arraigned before Judge Cant in district court for sentence.

Both of the young men pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny, but when the court inquired into the circumstances they related a story, which, if true, would not only be inconsistent with their plea of guilty but would exonerate them.

The court grew impatient when Singsheim and Hurley failed to reconcile their plea with their story and ordered both of the prisoners sent back to jail to await trial, refusing to accept their plea of guilty to petit larceny. They were indicted for grand larceny in the second degree but the county attorney's office consented to a plea to a lesser offense being entered.

About 2 o'clock on the morning of Feb. 12, the two boys were arrested by an officer who found in their possession four sacks of corn which, it later developed, had been stolen from the Nelson & Peterson feed store at the West end. The boys claimed that they bought the feed from a man whom they met on the street while returning from a bobbing party and paid him $2 for it. He directed them to the store yard where they found the feed and carried it away. They also claimed that they intended feeding it to rabbits which they owned.

When the court asked the young men if they knew they were taking property which was not rightfully theirs and which had been stolen, both denied that they had any guilty knowledge of the theft.

To this, Judge Cant expressed dissatisfaction and informed the young men that the court's time could not be taken up with nonsensical proceedings, that he did not care to receive a plea of guilty from one in one breath and a protestation of innocence in the next breath. He directed the sheriff to take the young men back to jail and informed the attorneys that the plea of guilty would not be received.

A. G. McKnight appeared as attorney for the two defendants and Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, appeared for the state.

WILL NOT WAIT FOR SUN TO CLEAN STREETS

Commissioner Murchison is going to beat Old Sol out of a job.

This morning the commissioner ordered about fifty men to clear the remaining ice and snow on the principal downtown streets and large carts were kept busy throughout the day hauling the winter's collection away.

"There's no use waiting for the sun to melt that ice," said Commissioner Murchison, "and I guess we had better beat Old Sol to the job."

GUILTY IS THE VERDICT

McCall Is Convicted; Jury Refuses to Accept Insanity Plea.

Herbert S. McCall, indicted under the name of Bert McCall, was convicted of the crime of receiving stolen property by a jury which reported in Judge Cant's division of the district court this morning after having been out for twenty minutes.

McCall was accused of having in his possession certain jewelry which had been stolen from the D. A. Miller store March 15, 1914.

His defense was insanity but the jury, passing on this point, found the plea untrue. He will be brought before the court later for sentence.

FACTORY OWNERS MEET CHANCELLOR

Discuss Decision of Government to Assume Control of Plants.

London, March 17.—Factory owners, labor leaders and representatives of the engineering, ship-building, coal mining, transport and other industries had a meeting in London today with David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer; a member of the committee on imperial defense, naval and military officers of high rank and other government officials, to discuss the problems arising from the decision of the government to assume control of factories in England and thus to increase the production of war material.

The conference was unique in history, at the same time being one of the most important meetings held since the beginning of the war. The first step decided upon was the appointment of a committee of seven, composed of labor officials and representatives of all the industries concerned to act in an advisory capacity to the government. The selection of a man to head this great organization was tentatively discussed, as was the remuneration the workmen should receive under the new arrangement. Mr. Lloyd-George delivered a brief address, and the labor delegates promised the government their whole support.

MORE FREIGHT BEING MOVED

Logging Operations Are Checked But General Traffic Maintained.

Influx of Settlers to the Northwest Is Looked For.

Improvement in the volume of freight traffic being moved so far this month is reported by Duluth railroad officials.

Though the incoming of warm weather this early has been an unfavorable development for the carriers, through checking operations in the woods weeks earlier than it would otherwise have come about, general traffic has been well maintained. A feature has been the heavy incoming movement of grain for the season to the local elevators, and shipments of durum and other cereals all-rail to the seaboard for export.

"Coal business and general freight for distribution over the West is running at about the same rate as a year ago with us," said J. I. Thomas, general agent of the Northern Pacific. "Merchants in our territory seem to have been ordering goods along pretty freely, and, according to our agents, they are feeling hopeful regarding the prospects for the year, but, of course, it is a far away cry to the next harvest. The fact, though, that considerably more ground has been plowed and is ready for seeding and the probability that farmers will realize good prices for their crops next fall is regarded as having a great bearing upon the situation."

Settlers Are Coming.

The inauguration of the movement of settlers to the Northwest was reported by a Soo Line official. A number of cars of settlers' effects, en route to Devils Lake, N. D., passed through here yesterday. There were sixteen in the party and they comprised four families. It is expected by the Soo Line management that the influx of settlers at points in its territory will assume large proportions during the spring and early summer months, as a result of the colonization movement inaugurated some time ago and which is to be pushed in a systematic way during the year.

Freight traffic to and from Duluth to points on the Soo's new branches from the Head of the Lakes is said to have picked up remarkably and to give a good promise for the season. That is averred to be especially the case with the Brooten branch through the development of the good agricultural areas along it. Good progress is also being made at points on the road's Plummer and Cuyuna range branches.

Standard Remedy For Many Homes

Indigestion and constipation are two conditions closely related and the cause of much physical suffering.

The tendency to indulge one's appetite is general, so that most people suffer at some time or another from rebellion of the overtaxed organs of digestion and elimination.

A simple, pleasantly effective remedy that will quickly relieve the congestion of poisonous waste and restore regularity, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a mild, pleasant laxative-tonic and digestant, absolutely free from opiates or narcotic drugs and has been the standard household remedy in countless homes for many years. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

MAKE YOUR OWN HAIR STAIN

This Home Made Mixture Darkens Gray Hair and Makes It Soft and Glossy.

To a half pint of water add:

Bay Rum	1 oz.
Barbo Compound	a small box
Glycerine	¼ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

MARKET HAS A REACTION

Wheat Sells Off, With Liquidation on Bearish Foreign News.

Flaxseed Slumps Heavily With Profit-Taking on Yesterday's Advance.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 17.—The market was weak up to the close. May wheat closed 3½c off; July 3@3¼c off, and September ¾c off. May durum closed 1½c off, and July 1½c off.

Oats closed ¼c off at 57½c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.18@1.19, and barley unchanged at 67@78c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½@⅝c off at 65½c bid, and July ⅝c off at 65¾c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.43 and calls at $1.49¾.

Wheat took a sharp downward swing after the opening of the market today, declines of 3¼c being recorded during the first three hours trading.

The break was attributed to a batch of bearish news coming out and lower Liverpool cables. Fears were entertained that the incoming of Italy into the war on the side of the allies, as forecasted, would lead to weakness in the grain situation all around, and further progress was reported by the fleet engaged in forcing the passage of the Dardanelles. Advices from Argentina were such as to encourage predictions that shipments from that country would be largely increased in the near future as a result of more ships being available and expected further reductions in freight rates. After its extended advance, during which quotations had marched up to within 2c of their previous high points, it was thought in well-informed quarters that the market had been largely overbought, and that a reaction was due. Considerable liquidation was reported on all the markets. Advices were to the effect that exporters did not come in to any extent on the slump today, though some business was said to have been put through at the seaboard.

A feauture in grain trading was the heavy demand for oats for export shipment. A Duluth elevator company announced today that 1,000,000 bu of oats had been sold for export shipment at the opening of navigation, and the receipts of substantial inquiries from the belligerents was also advised by other operators.

Receipts of grain at this point continue liberal, while inspections today amounting to 159 cars against 31 last year. Elevator stocks of wheat here now amount to 11,474,000 bu, an increase of 406,000 bu in the last three days.

May wheat opened ½c off at $1.52, sold off to $1.49¼ and stood at $1.49¾ at the noon hour. July opened ⅝c off at $1.46¾ and sold off 2c more.

Trading in durum was quiet and its market also eased off materially. The May future opened 1c off at $1.55 and declined ½c more.

Reaction in Flaxseed.

Flaxseed sustained a severe reaction after its rapid advance yesterday. A wave of realizing sales and liquidation was met at the opening, in which a prominent export house participated, and prices were carried down 7½c below their closing figures of yesterday. The break was prompted at the outset by better advices from Argentina, and predictions that shipments from there would be arranged for shortly. Declines of 6½@6¾c were recorded in the day.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.10, and closed 6¾c off at $2.03¼ bid. July and closed 6¾c off at $2.10, and closed opened 1½c off at $2.10, and closed 6½c off at $2.05 asked. September opened ¾c off at $2.09, and closed 6c off at $2.03¾ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 5½c off at $1.83½ asked and July 6c off at $1.85½ asked.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A lot of 1,000,000 bu of oats has been sold for export shipment by the Globe Elevator company. It will go forward to Buffalo at the opening of navigation. The company is in receipt of other foreign inquiries, which it is unable to fill, as the free supplies in its houses will be exhausted with the filling of this order.

Price Current says: "The breaking up of winter has not developed any serious damage to the winter wheat. The recent rains have been helpful and all over the area soil conditions are unusually favorable for early spring growth. There are a few scattered reports of the plant not wintering well, but these are less than in other good years. Given average rainfall and ordinary weather, the winter wheat crop should turn out fine. It is too early to look for hessian fly reports; these will undoubtedly come later in April and early in May. If the weather favors the emergence of the spring brood. There were a great many complaints of this insect last fall, as the result of early seeding in order to get in a big acreage, and there are likely to be some areas of infestation, but with the big acreage the effect as a whole will be slight."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market at the immediate opening was steady with firmer Plate offers, but it later eased off on better political news. Plate offers became easier after firmness early and both winters and Plates sold at 3d decline from yesterday. Easier American cables, more favorable reports of the progress of the allied fleet in the Dardanelles and expectations of larger Plate shipments this week served to temper sentiment and the market was quiet, but inclined lower. Corn was steadier. Easy American cables were offset by less pressure of Plate offers and talk of lighter Argentine shipments this week.

"From latest figures compiled it shows that stocks of wheat and flour in all positions in the United Kingdom amount to 12,618,000 bu, compared with 10,192,000 bu last year at the same time."

Minneapolis cash market was firm. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 5½c to 6c over May; some to arrive at 6½c over and velvet chaff at 3c to 5½c over May. Flour trade was dull. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.51 to $1.54 and No. 2 northern at from $1.48 to $1.51½. Stocks of wheat in the elevators there showed a decrease of 900,000 bu in the four days.

C. E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis: "The trade is afraid Italy is going to enter the war on the side of the allies. Foreign reports state that the tension between Italy and Austria is very great. Italy has a well equipped army and large navy and, if such further pressure is brought against Austria and Germany, it is argued the war will come to a speedier termination. It has been rumored all winter that Italy would take such a course, but up to the present time it has managed to remain neutral. It is well to reduce your lines and look on for a few days and await further developments."

Paine Commission company had the following from Logan & Boyan at Chicago: "Reaction in wheat prices yesterday were only natural after the recent good advance. Such action always creates a more or less bearish feeling in the local trade and this may be encouraged a little by easier La Plata offers and further progress by the fleet in the Dardanelles. So long as stocks in this country are decreasing in American quarters and Europe is coming after all the wheat offered, think the reactions will be only temporary. Firm and higher cable are likely to encourage support in corn on any further dip, while the country is not selling. Export situation is the chief feature for the oats trade."

Foreign crop summary:

Italy—Congestion at all ports continues pronounced and boats arriving are being held awaiting dock space.

Austria—All land formerly planted to sugar beets is now being used for grain and this amounts to about half million acres. The government is assisting in planting.

Russia—There is very little anticipation among merchants here that the Dardanelles will be opened soon.

At Liverpool—Oats prices hold firm. Plate arrivals are liberal and these are causing some recession in prices there from the extreme high points.

CHICAGO MARKET.

General Commission House Selling Carries Wheat Prices Down.

Chicago, March 17.—Rather general commission house selling today carried the wheat market down grade. The chief impetus came from lower quotations at Liverpool, where reports were current that the fleet attacking the defenses of the Dardanelles was again making progress. There were also predictions of larger shipments to Europe from Argentina. After opening 1⅞c lower to ¼c advance prices sagged all around.

Glowing advices regarding the outlook for the domestic crop, especially in Illinois, led afterward to an additional downturn. The close was unsettled at ⅝ to 3½c under last night. Corn traders watched wheat and were governed by the action of that cereal. Business, however, was light. The start, which varied from ¼c to ¼@⅝c down, was followed by a slight rally and then a further decline.

Subsequently, mild weather resulted in more decided lack of support. The close was nervous, ⅝c to ⅞c net lower.

Weakness of other grain had a depressing effect on oats. A leading elevator concern was prominent in the selling.

Large receipts of hogs throughout the West brought about an easier market for provisions. Speculators appeared to be cautious, though, about pressing the bear side.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Market Narrow and Hesitation Shown in the Final Dealings.

Reading Advances on Announcement of the Regular Dividend.

New York, March 17.—Indecision was the keynote of today's early stock market, the principal issues showing little change from yesterday's reactionary tendency. Reading, whose directors meet today for dividend action, recorded an initial decline of ⅜ from yesterday's close, but soon recovered. United States Steel and some of the motor stocks were lower, while Bethlehem Steel rose to 58½, achieving a new high record. Trading was small with a narrow range. London forwarded the usual number of declines in the international list.

After irregularity in Canadian Pacific and some of the specialties the stock market improved toward midday. Reading rose a full point above its low quotation and the leaders displayed a little more animation, but trading as a whole was in decreasing volume. Arrival of another consignment of gold from Canada and indications of additional improvement from other sources were among the incidents of the early session. Naval news from abroad seemed to excite little interest. Bonds were irregular, Northern Pacific 4s advancing despite further heavy sales. Chicago and Eastern Illinois 6s added four points to their recent five-point decline.

Declaration of the regular Lehigh Valley dividend imparted further firmness to prices in the early afternoon. Trading in a large number of the specialties, however, particularly Beet Sugar and Mexican Petroleum.

Today's stock market was dull and narrow with some hesitation in the final dealings.

Announcement of the regular Reading dividend caused a further advance in that stock to the best price of the day, after which it receded again. The general list shaded later on profit-taking. The closing was easy.

New York Cotton.

New York, March 17.—Cotton: Futures closed steady: March, 8.65; May, 8.93; July, 9.23; October, 9.54; December, 9.73.

Report of Shannon for year ending Dec. 31, shows net earnings of $95,648, with a production of 9,003,169 pounds of copper.

At St. Louis, lead closed strong at 4.12½ cents, and spelter unsettled at 5.00 cents.

Dow, Jones says: "Further advance of 15s in London electrolytic quotation to £72 5s was apparently reflected in new York, where quotations of 15c to 15½c were current, although the large agencies still refuse to make a price. Little demand is reported in domestic market."

Unfurl Erin's Flag for Her Day Dawn is Nigh

This at least is the sincere wish and prayer of the exiled children of her land, as well as the millions of her race throughout the world.

Has fallen for Ireland dear, a Shamrock would arise,
They would weave a garland green across the ocean blue,
All the way between their loving hearts and you.

ABOLITION OF SECOND CHOICE IN THE PRIMARY ELECTION IS PROPOSED

Bill Introduced in the House By Representative Bjornson.

Railroad Men Argue in Favor of Higher Passenger Rates.

Senator Westlake Has Humorous Bill to Regulate the Farmers.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Amendments to the election law abolishing the second choice feature of the primary election system and providing a more practical system of handling contests on state officers are made in a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minneota, chairman of the house committee on elections. Senator N. J. Holmberg of Renville will introduce the same bill in the senate.

While the second choice provision of the state-wide primary law enacted at the special session of 1912 is theoretically a good thing, in practice it has not worked out as it was expected, comparatively few of the voters having availed themselves of the privilege. On this ground, and on the further ground that it is confusing to the voters, its repeal is now proposed.

Expense Too Heavy.

The difficulty and expense of contesting a state office are almost prohibitive under the present system. It is necessary to count the ballots in every county separately, and the expense and difficulty of this are so great that there have been few contests. In the last election Henry Rines, the defeated candidate for state auditor, contested the nomination of State Auditor Preus, and both candidates were put to great annoyance and expense without affecting the result.

Under the plan proposed in the new bill, recounting of the ballots would all be done at one time, and at the

ALL OF THE EVELYN'S CREW WERE SAVED.

New York, March 18.—Five members of the crew of the American steamer Evelyn, sunk Feb. 19 by a mine in the North sea, while on her way from this port to Bremen with cotton, reached New York today aboard the steamer Matanzas from Bremerhaven.

According to the survivors all the Evelyn's crew were rescued. It had been variously reported heretofore that one, eight and thirteen men were lost. The five men who reached here today said the vessel struck a mine at 4 o'clock in the morning and remained afloat for seven hours thereafter. The crew took to the boats. One boat was rescued by a German patrol boat, as reported, and survivors aboard the others, they said, were picked up and landed in Holland.

MAY CARRY 16-INCH GUNS

Heaviest Weapons Afloat Considered for New Battleships.

Washington, March 18.—The two battleships provided for in the current naval bill may be armed with 16-inch rifles, the heaviest naval guns ever designated.

While tentative plans for the new ships contemplate vessels similar in general design to the 32,000-ton giants of the California class now building, details of armament and engine equipment are being given unusual attention by navy designers and the results obtained from the 15-inch main batteries of the newest British and German battleships are being closely watched.

Already the new 16-inch navy gun has been subjected to tests at the Indian Head proving ground and while details of its construction and performance are closely guarded, it is known that the gigantic weapon has given proof of its efficiency which de-

GORDON BILLS POSTPONED TO WEDNESDAY

Amendment Made and Bill Goes Back to the Senate.

Gordon Moves to Give Efficiency Bill Right of Way.

House Passes the Bill to Repeal the Elwell Road Law.

St. Paul, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the gallant fight made by the members from Northern Minnesota, the house of representatives this afternoon passed the senate bill replacing the Elwell road law. The house vote was 79 to 42. An amendment by Representative Warner was adopted, stipulating that petitions already granted and contracts pending shall not be affected by the repeal. After the senate has concurred in this amendment, which it is expected to do without much opposition, the measure will go to Governor-Hammond for executive disposal.

The St. Louis county delegation, with one exception, voted against the repeal measure, John Gill of Virginia being the only yea vote from that county.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Offering it as an evidence of their good faith, the friends of the seven Gordon bills consolidating state departments this morning had the special order on these bills, which had been set for tomorrow afternoon, postponed to Wednesday at 11, thus giving the efficiency bill the right-of-way.

The motion to postpone was made by Representative Sam Y. Gordon, author of the resolution pursuant to which these bills were drafted, and seconded by Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin. In seconding the motion Mr. Warner said these bills have been put before the house in absolute good faith. "They are not here," he said, "to embarrass any other measure, but to promote economy in state government."

This action is in accord with the spirit of the Gordon resolution, which was that these measures should be prepared for consideration in case the efficiency bill falls of adoption by the legislature.

Representative Knecland asked if the bills could not be continued until Friday, as it was doubtful if the house could finish with the efficiency bill, which is a special order for Monday afternoon, by that time.

"In that case," said Mr. Gordon, "these bills can be continued again." Mr. Gordon's motion prevailed with only a few scattering noes.

OPERATIONS AGAINST DARDANELLES FORTS NOW IN FOURTH PHASE

Consists of Sweeping Mines From Channel to Chanak Kalessi.

Fifth Phase Will Be Direct Bombardment of Chanak.

Prudence Governing Efforts of Admirals of Combined Fleet.

London, March 18.—The Dardanelles operations are now in the fourth phase, according to the calculations of the allied admirals. The first phase was the demolition of the batteries at the entrance to the straits. The second was the clearance of the mines in the first reach as far as Cape Kephez. The third was the bombardment of Chanak Kalessi by the battleship Queen Elizabeth through a high angle fire over the Gallipoli peninsula, while another British ship inside the straits observed the effect of the shots and notified the Queen Elizabeth by wireless under the protection of a French ship which circled about firing on the Turkish batteries.

"The fourth phase, now begun, is the sweeping of the mines to Chanak Kalessi, which is situated at the most formidable point of the Dardanelles. The fifth phase will be the direct bombardment of Chanak. After that the remaining forts are not formidable and the way to Constantinople will soon be clear.

BRIDGE DYNAMITER APPEARS IN COURT

Werner Horne Arraigned Before Commissioner Under Indictment.

Bangor, Maine, March 18.—The claims of Werner Horn that his attempt to destroy the international railway bridge at Vanceboro was an act of war, figured in proceedings before United States Commissioner Charles H. Reid, here today, in connection with indictments returned against him in the Federal court at Boston charging illegal interstate transportation of explosives from New York to Vanceboro.

Counsel for the prisoner, Former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell of Boston, announced that he would raise the issue of the court's jurisdiction on the ground that as a lieutenant in the Seventh Prussian regiment of the German army, Horn was a government agent and that the alleged transportation of explosives was a portion of an act of war with which the state department rather than the court should deal.

It was expected that if the commissioner found sufficient cause for holding Horn he would order him committed to await a warrant for his removal to Massachusetts.

Horn's counsel intimated that an adverse decision might be followed by further proceedings to prevent the prisoner's removal from the state.

LITTLE VILLAGE THICKLY STREWN WITH THE DEAD

Neuve Chapelle Converted Into Shambles By Bombardment.

German Forces, Though Outnumbered, Put Up Heroic Fight.

British Find Dummy in Front of Trenches Which Explodes.

London, March 18.—The village of Neuve Chapelle, converted into a shambles by the bombardment of the British, now is a heap of ruins thickly strewn with bodies, according to the description of the British operations in that region, written by an "eye witness" and given out today by the press bureau.

Although the Germans were inferior to their antagonists, both in numbers and in artillery, the eye witness declares, they offered heroic resistance, using machine guns effectively.

At the end of March 10 the bodies of 2,000 German soldiers had been found in the section south of the village. In front of one British station east of the village, the statement asserts, 500 more were counted which did not include the large number buried in the ruins of the village.

COMMANDER RECEIVES THREATENING LETTERS

CAPT. THIERICHENS.

Newport News, Va., March 18.—As a result of threatening letters said to have been received by Capt. Thierichens of the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, precautionary measures were taken last night to guard against any attempt to damage the ship. The pier to which the Prinz Eitel is moored was fenced in and extra guards were put on patrol. One letter is said to have demanded that Capt. Thierichens leave port immediately or his vessel would be blown up.

FALLS FROM TRAIN ON WAY TO HER HOME

Wife of Frank D. Hicks, Formerly of Duluth, Dead at Waukesha.

Relatives Charge She Was Murdered for Her Jewels.

Waukesha, Wis., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Mrs. Frank D. Hicks of Milwaukee, who was returning from Duluth where she was visiting relatives, was murdered and was not a suicide, is the charge of her relatives, following the finding of her body in Love creek, four miles west of here today. She had leaped or been thrown off a fast sleeping car train from Duluth.

That she was too large a woman to have climbed out through the toilet room window, which was found broken, is their claim, and her jewelry valued at $1,000, is missing. She had been on a visit to Mrs. Henry Hanley, a sister, at 4109 West Third street, Duluth, and to her husband's mother, Mrs. Thomas Hicks, also of Duluth.

Husband Believes It Suicide.

Her husband says that she had a quarrel there, which drove her home, and he does not hold to the murder theory. But the other relatives insist she was killed for her gems. He was at the train to meet her when the train arrived, and was horrified when the porter handed him her hat and wraps, saying: "Here; all that's left of your wife."

The railroad people insist it was suicide, and say she went to the wash room about 6 o'clock, broke a fixture off the wall, broke the window and jumped out when the train was running a mile a minute. Her body was found several hours later by a train which was following, and was in three feet of water, frightfully mangled. The railroad people think she struck the bridge girders over the creek when climbing out of the window.

Mrs. Hanley, who resides at 4109 West Third street, had not heard of her sister's death until the sad news was broken to her by The Herald.

She stated that her sister who resides at 419 Twenty-eighth street, Milwaukee, had been here for a brief visit with her and left for home yesterday.

"She was not in the best of health," said Mrs. Hanley, "but was able to ride to the station in the street car. I did not go to the station with her but bade her good-by at the car line yesterday. She had been to the bank and secured some money for the return trip. How much she had, I do not know. She also had considerable jewelry and I do not believe that the estimate of $1,000 would be excessive."

EMPEROR WILLIAM AND CHIEF STAFF AT FRONT FOR COUNCIL OF WAR

Arrive With Others at German Headquarters Near City of Lille.

Outer Forts at Przemysl Said to Have Fallen Before Russians.

Allies Do Not Think Germans Will Send More Troops West.

London, March 18.—The Evening News prints a dispatch from Copenhagen to the effect that Emperor William and Gen. von Falkenhayn, chief of the German general staff, arrived today at the German army headquarters near Lille. Their visit, the news states, is for the purpose of participating in a council of war.

The dispatch adds that Emperor William and Gen. Von Falkenhayn already have had conferences with Frederick William, the German prince, and Rupprecht, crown prince of Bavaria.

There has been a certain amount of mystery of recent months concerning the whereabouts of the German crown prince, Frederick William. He has been reported both dead and wounded, and as living in seclusion on orders of the emperor, his father, after a dispute with his majesty. News dispatches from Germany have lately mentioned him only at rare intervals.

The direct reference to the crown prince in the foregoing dispatch shows him as again participating personally in the conduct of the war.

Outer Forts Fall.

London, March 18.—The outer forts at Przemysl, toward which a part of the Austrian army has been struggling in an effort to bring about the relief of the besieged garrison, have at last fallen before the Russians, according to unofficial reports reaching London.

Although information is lacking, British newspapers this morning apparently are eager to regard the report as not improbable. They refer to the fact that news dispatches received from Petrograd yesterday said the surrender of this stronghold was but a matter of a few days.

True or untrue, this is about the only over-night news from the eastern front, although there has been much speculation concerning the engagement reported on the northern frontier of East Prussia and referred to in wireless messages from Berlin as "weak Russian attacks on Tauroggen and Langszargen." Langszargen is just within the borders of East Prussia, not far from the important German fortress of Tilsit, and the presence of Russian troops at this point may mean a new invasion of German territory.

Not Making Much Progress.

Nowhere in the eastern arena of the fighting, according to the opinions of British observers, do the Austro-German forces appear to be making progress except between Stanislau and Koiomea, to the north of Bukowina, where they are pushing forward in an attempt to turn the Russian left flank.

British military experts think that the position of the German armies in the east precludes the transfer at this time of any troops to the western arena, and that the German plan of dealing Russia a crushing blow before attempting the much-discussed spring advance in the west has failed. Five

OFFICIALS COLLECT DATA FOR PROTEST

Note to Soon Be Sent Germany—British Blockade Considered.

Washington, March 18.—Whether to acquiesce in or protest against the action of Great Britain and her allies in declaring a blockade against Germany was the question which confronted the American government today after the publication of the complete series of notes between the United States and the European belligerents regarding the safety of neutral shipping. Officials were today collecting data for what is expected to be a vigorous protest against the form of the proposed blockade against Germany. President Wilson already has indicated that protest would be made.

TURKS REPAIR FORTS WHILE ALLIES REST

Damage Done to Smyrna Fortifications Is Being Fixed.

Paris, March 18, 3 a. m.—The correspondent at Athens of the Havas agency, in a dispatch dated March 17, says the naval operations of the allies at Smyrna, Asiatic Turkey, have been temporarily suspended and the Turks are profiting by this respite to repair the damage to their batteries and forts. They are pursuing the same course also at the Dardanelles and on either shore of the Sea of Marmora.

There are about 180,000 Turkish troops west of Constantinople, according to the latest information reaching Athens, the correspondent continues. Forty thousand men are on the Gallipoli peninsula; 30,000 are in European Turkey and the rest are on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles.

It is reported here that the Turks are placing guns on the principal heights surrounding Constantinople, on both the European and the Asiatic sides of the Bosphorus.

To Exchange Women.

Nish, Serbia, via London, March 18.—After prolonged negotiations through the medium of the Spanish legation at Bucharest the governments of Serbia and Austria have agreed to exchange interned women irrespective of their age, and men under 18 years and over 50.

CANNON, NOT WORDS, PLEAD CAUSE OF FRANCE---BRIAND

Paris, March 18.—Aristide Briand, former premier of France and now minister of justice and vice president of the cabinet, explained today to the correspondent of The Associated Press why he and other cabinet members had consistently declined to grant interviews concerning the position of France in the present war.

"We rely upon the justice of our cause," the minister said, "which we think is amply proven by material facts not susceptible of misconception. France consequently does not care to lower herself by engaging in any sort of propaganda. We have passed the hour of words; it is cannon that plead for us now the cause of right, fidelity to engagements and resistance to aggressions. As for our friends abroad, they are in a position to understand the facts. If they do not take account of what is going on, so much the more unfortunate for them.

Tried to Maintain Peace.

"The material facts are, first France made every possible effort to maintain peace; this has been demonstrated by the diplomatic documents already made public. Second, France was not first to take measures for mobilization and she even withdrew her covering troops for a distance of ten kilometers (six miles) from her own frontier to avoid any irreparable incidents. In this she took the risk of imprudence. At the same time she affirmed her attachment to peace and her desire to preserve it. Third, Germans, not Frenchmen, invaded Belgium, and there again is a positive fact sufficiently eloquent, a fact which offers a solid foundation upon which the judgment of neutral countries may be built."

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The renewal of heavy fighting on both the western and eastern fronts during the last fortnight apparently is being followed by another lull. Today's official reports speak of no important engagement. The German statement shows that the Russians have succeeded in penetrating the northern end of East Prussia. The Russians are accused of burning and pillaging villages. The German government announces its intention of retaliating by destroying three Russian villages for every German village burned.

Although fighting is still under way in Belgium, Champagne and the Argonne, the French and German statements indicate that the activity yesterday was limited principally to the artillery.

A London newspaper publishes a Copenhagen dispatch stating that Emperor William has arrived at the German army headquarters near Lille for a council of war with the kings of Saxony and Wurtemburg and others. The emperor is said to have conferred already with the German crown prince. This is the first word for a long period concerning the crown prince, whose whereabouts has been unknown in this country.

Unofficial reports indicate that the relations between Italy and Austria are becoming more unsettled. A Paris dispatch says that Germans at resorts in the Italian Riviera have been notified to leave the country at once. The status of the negotiations between the Italian government and Prince von Buelow on behalf of Austria and Germany, is now in doubt, the assertion having been made that Emperor Francis Joseph has virtually broken them off.

The operations of the allied fleet against the Dardanelles are being carried on slowly and carefully, and a French officer is quoted as saying that at least another month will be devoted to the effort to silence the Turkish fortifications. The attack on Smyrna is explained as designed to prevent the troops there from proceeding to the Dardanelles, as well as to cut the communications of the Turkish army which was sent against Egypt.

An official British account of the recent fighting at Neuve Chapelle gives an idea of the ferocity of the attack. The town was laid in ruins. No estimate is given of British losses, but it is said that in two sections near the town 2,500 bodies of German soldiers were counted. The British observer praises the heroic resistance of the outnumbered Germans.

A Vienna dispatch concerning Przemysl is in disagreement with a Petrograd message of yesterday to the effect that the Galician fortress would fall within a few days. It is said that the Russian attacks are made only at rare intervals and that the Austrian defenders have little to do.

IT ALL DEPENDS ON THE POINT OF VIEW.

The Coverly

(By the House of Kuppenheimer)

FROM Bar Harbor to the Golden Gate—this season, Fashion will approve the Covert Top Coat. The COVERLY, as here illustrated, is a single-breasted, form-fitting, button-through coat, with patch pockets. Then there is the still more popular Roland, a 40-inch coat, with much the same front, but a half box back.

These are but two of eight distinguished models by the House of Kuppenheimer; a Covert series worthy of this "Greatest Overcoat House in America."

Single and double-breasted, form-fitting or loose back, in wonderful shades of Golden Brown, Heather and Wood Brown, Tan, Olive, Drab, Khaki, Sand, Gray, Oxford, Stone and the very new mixtures in Greens and Browns—nature tints of the gorse and bracken.

For all 'round satisfaction, no better material was ever made than a sterling Covert cloth, but like everything fine, it is imitated and cheapened beyond recognition.

The ordinary Covert coat of commerce is no more the rich Kuppenheimer Top Coat than a piece of pink glass is a pigeon-blood ruby.

ECONOMY AND CLEAN CITY

Hicken and Murchison Outline Platforms in First Addresses.

Former Claims He Has Reduced Expenses While Motorizing Department.

Declaring that there is no personal animus in the present campaign and that he is seeking re-election because he has performed his duty while in office during the last two years and succeded in reducing the expenses of all his departments, Commissioner Hicken, head of the public safety division, made the opening address of his campaign before the men of the First Swedish Lutheran church at a regular meeting of the Men's club, last evening.

Commissioner Murchison also addressed the voters on the work of his department, showing that he also had reduced expenses during the last two years and cut down the $100,000 debt left by the old board of public works.

The church was crowded with voters to hear the two speakers make their opening speeches and the reception accorded them was a hearty one. Dr. C. O. Swan, pastor of the church, presided at the meeting.

The feature of Commissioner Hicken's address was the announcement he made regarding the reduction of the fire department's expenses from $150,000 a year to $139,000 a year, while at the same time a number of motor units were added to the equipment. All this was done, he declared, without bonding the city one penny, while in the Twin Cities, the councils have been compelled to go into debt in order to motorize their departments.

Murchison Speaks First.

Commissioner Murchison was the first speaker and outlined the work of the department of public works during the last two years as compared with the old department in the previous ten years. At the close of his address he spoke in behalf of good clean government and praised Commissioner Hicken for the latter's efforts in enforcing the laws of the city.

Commissioner Hicken's address follows in part:

"I have no personal ambition in this campaign and am working solely for the best interests of the city.

"During the last two years I have directed all my efforts towards making Duluth a clean, law-abiding city. And to a certain extent I think that I have succeeded, because the people of Duluth wanted a good-governed city. In making this campaign for re-election I plan no personal gain for myself, but hope to have these policies continued.

No Apologies to Make.

"There was no sentiment about the campaign of two years ago, nor is there any now. I do not ask you to vote for me, so that I may continue in office for four more years, but solely that I may continue in my efforts to make Duluth a good, clean city. Whatever I have done while in office was for the best, and though I have offended many, I have no apologies to make. There was no law enforcement when I took office and I simply did my duty as the head of the division of public safety. If I had failed the voters were entitled to remove me from office at any time.

Cuts Expenses.

"When I took office two years ago next month the annual levy for the fire department was $150,000. This year the levy is $139,000, showing a reduction of $11,000 in two years, instead of an increase, as has been claimed by my opponents. In spite of this reduction the fire department has become the best motorized of any in this state, and without a single issuance of bonds to defray the cost. Of the three large cities in Minnesota, Duluth is the only one that has motorized its fire department without bonding itself, as Minneapolis and St. Paul have been compelled to do. Duluth has not gone into debt for one penny in buying motorized equipment, which now has reached a total of fifteen units, while, in addition, the expenses of the entire department have decreased $11,000.

"I went into office with more liberal tendencies than I have now. But my experience as a servant of Duluth has removed the scales from my eyes. It has brought home to me the great truths of the universe. Your old council did not represent the people, but strived consistently for the worst interests of the city.

"Good, clean government is at stake in this campaign, and you voters alone have the power to preserve it. You have made your laws to this end and you must elect men to enforce these laws. Let us unite and preserve clean government for Duluth."

BELGIANS TO ERECT A MONUMENT TO AMERICA

Brussels, Belgium, March 18, via London.—Prominent Belgians connected with the national committee formed for the purpose of looking after Belgian interests during the war, have initiated a movement to erect a monument to America, in token of gratitude for the assistance given by the United States in feeding the war sufferers in this country. An organization has been formed and a site has been chosen for the monument. It will be erected at the corner of Avenue Louise and Boulevarde Waterloo, the most conspicuous spot in Brussels. The design of the monument will be decided later.

GREAT KIDNEY MEDICINE AGAIN PROVES RELIABLE

I believe the remarkable cure I derived from Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is worthy of special mention.

I was troubled with pains in my back, weak kidneys. There was a time before using Swamp-Root that I was in misery all the time sitting or standing. I was told by a friend that Swamp-Root would help me and I purchased a dollar bottle and it relieved me wonderfully. It was certainly remarkable. Its relief made me a new man and gave me much comfort. I took another bottle of the 50 cent size which cured me.

I drive every day over the roughest section of Kentucky and have no trouble whatever with my kidneys. I have gained 15 pounds in weight since I took Swamp-Root. Am 31 years of age and enjoy the best of health and I am not afraid to recommend Swamp-Root to anyone.

Very respectfully yours,

VERDICT RETURNED FOR MISSABE ROAD

Company Not Responsible for Skill of Its Physicians, Says Court.

Under the court's direction, a jury this morning in Judge Ensign's division of the district court, returned a verdict for the defendant in the personal injury action brought by Andrew Laitala against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company to recover $10,200 for the loss of an eye. Laitala claimed that he lost the sight of the eye through the negligence of one of the company's physicians, Dr. Eisenman, at the Dr. Kirke hospital at Chisholm.

Laitala was working on a section crew near Chisholm July 21, 1914, when a foreign substance landed in his eye. He was taken to Dr. Kirke's hospital for treatment. While there he was informed that he had lost the sight of his optic.

Judge Ensign, in granting a motion urged by the defendant for a directed verdict, held that the company was not responsible for alleged malpractice on the part of a physician in its service such as contended in the case.

Howard T. Abbott appeared for the railway company and Theodore Hollister represented the plaintiff.

REORGANIZATION PLAN APPROVED

Committee of Iowa Legislature in Favor of Reform Government.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 18.—Part of the plan of reorganization of the state government, which was recommended by the retrenchment and reform committee of the thirty-fifth general assembly has received the unanimous approval of a similar committee in the present legislature. One of the bills which will make this plan operative was filed in the senate and house today.

The committee provides for grouping all the state departments into three divisions with superintendents in charge; creation of a governor's advisory board, to which all the powers and duties of the present executive council are transferred and the executive council itself abolished; creation of an official budget, and the transfer to the superintendent of public safety of all the present duties relating to the registration of motor vehicles.

The first measure offered, if passed, will centralize all power in the governor. He will appoint the heads of the three departments and with them will form the board to transact all the business which now comes before the executive council.

MAYOR'S HOME IS WRECKED BY BOMB

Chief Executive of Guttenburg, N. J., Attacked By Enemies.

New York, March 18.—The home of Mayor Daniel Herrmann of Guttenburg, N. J., a suburb, was wrecked early today by the explosion of a bomb. No one was injured.

Mayor Herrmann discharged the Guttenburg police force of eight men sixteen months ago on the ground they had no work to do and that the town was so orderly no police were needed. The police took the matter to the courts, where it is now pending. When the bomb exploded this morning the police were holding their annual ball.

PASSPORT CASE IN JURY'S HANDS

Taking of Evidence Completed in Madden-Cook Trial.

New York, March 18.—The case of Richard Madden and Gustave Cook, on trial charged with aiding Richard P. Stegler, a German naval reservist, to obtain a false American passport, was submitted to the jury for a verdict shortly before noon today.

Roger B. Wood, assistant district attorney, in summing up the government's case, dwelt on the danger liable to American citizens traveling abroad if their passports were thrown under suspicion. He begged the jury not to consider the statements made by counsel for the defendants, in summing up their case yesterday, that Stegler, the government's chief witness, was a traitor and a coward.

"That is not the issue," said Mr. Wood. "But even if Stegler is a traitor and a coward, what can you say of these two men, Madden and Cook, who sold their birthrights for a few paltry dollars? The government of the United States has been assailed."

Judge Cushman, in charging the jurors, said they should take note that Stegler was an accomplice in the alleged conspiracy, but that his testimony could be considered, if corroborated by other evidence.

SHOULD INCREASE LIVESTOCK RATES

Attorney for Burlington Railroad Tells Commissioner Why.

Chicago, March 18.—The reasons why the Western railroads wish to increase their freight rates on livestock, amounting generally to a maximum of 2½ cents a hundred pounds and grading down from that to a fraction of a cent were given by Conrad Spens, assistant freight traffic manager of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad in testifying today at the interstate commerce commission's hearing of the Western railroads' petition for higher rates.

After testifying that livestock did not contribute a proper proportion to railroad revenue, based on the cost of transportation, Mr. Spens summed up the following declarations in behalf of the railroads:

That the livestock industry in the United States was practically at a standstill, and therefore the railroads could not expect increased revenue through increased business. He said this was borne out by figures furnished by the department of agriculture.

FIRE AND WATER TO DESTROY RUSSIANS

German Strategy Used to Disadvantage of Enemy in East Prussia.

London, March 18.—How the Germans employed both fire and water to destroy the Russians in the campaign in the Mazurian lake district of East Prussia, is related in a communication received by the Westminster Gazette from Gothenburg.

"German strategy county not only on water and mire, but even fire," the correspondent at Gothenburg declares. "Their engineers have for many years been equipped with a peculiar kind of auger for excavating the trunks of soft trees such as the Mazurian firs. When the Russian army first advanced into East Prussia, German engineers hastily excavated numbers of trees. When Russian troops reached the Mazurian district, German engineers at once opened the canal locks, drowning the invading troops like flies. Some Russians reached the forests, but of course they had no idea that many trees had been charged with gasoline. It was an easy task for the German artillery to set a match to this bonfire and burn up the Russian regiments they had entrapped."

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

"STAR—A Good Thing To Pass Along"

Men Who Chew Are Men Who DO

WHO helped make New York one of the world's greatest ports and STAR the world's biggest selling brand of Chewing Tobacco?

Why, those jolly "sea dogs who sail the wet seas round," who have an opportunity to compare STAR with tobacco in every corner of the seven seas, and who still prefer STAR.

Perhaps STAR'S "bigness" (not in weight alone but in every way) appeals to men who love the "bigness" of the sea.

For STAR is big. Tightly compressed in its thin wrapper is three-quarters of an inch of the mellowest of extra long leaf—so thick that it won't dry out like a thin plug.

STAR isn't a 14 or 15 ounce "pound" either. Each plug is 16 full chewable ounces—a "ship shape" plug made clean and kept so. STAR is so popular that it never stays long on the dealer's shelf.

16 oz. Plugs

10c. Cuts

Perhaps you can realize what a big brand STAR really is by this: Last year's output of STAR plugs, placed end to end, would stretch from Liverpool, in England, to Kansas City and more than 317 miles beyond.

WOULD DIVIDE MERRITT DISTRICT

Part of Pupils May Be Sent to the Oneota School.

Congestion at the Merritt school will be relieved by a division of the district according to a report given by a committee, which recently interviewed the members of the school board, at the meeting of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club last night. The adjustment of the district will place a number of the children now attending the Merritt school, in the Oneota school, and next year with the opening of the Lincoln junior high school, a greater number will again be removed from the district.

Members of the club were given a talk on the proposed charter amendment that provides for lowering the limit for paying of assessments from $25 to $15. The talk was given by C. E. Roe of the Woodland club. No action was taken by the local club although expressions favorable to the amendment were made by club members.

Club members decided to ask the water and light department to establish a pay station in the vicinity of Thirty-ninth avenue west for the convenience of patrons. It was pointed out that this section was considerable distance from any place where water and light bills might be paid. The matter will be taken up with the department by a committee from the club.

PUNCTURED TIRE DELAYS JITNEY

Only Two Passengers Per Trip Pay Expenses, Says Driver.

Delays are occasional with the jitney busses as was found out by seven passengers, who crowded one of the cars from the West end yesterday afternoon. As the car arrived at Eighth avenue west the tire was punctured, and while the driver spent fifteen minutes putting the tire back into running order, the crowd stood around and waited.

"The car can make forty-eight round trips between Twentieth avenue west and Third avenue west during the day," said the driver. "This means ninety-six single trips, and carrying an average of two passengers each way we will take in $9.60. Wages of $4 per day for the chauffeur, gasoline costing $1.25, and lubricating oils amounting to 10 cents, leaves $4.25 to cover wear and tear and interest on the investment. There is no doubt that the venture will pay."

CHICAGO MAN TO AID PROHIBITION

F. Werenskjold Will Speak for Good Templars in Duluth.

Fritjof Werenskjold of Chicago, who is in Duluth under the auspices of the Minnesota grand lodge of the I. O. G. T., will speak this evening at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The address will be given in the interest of the prohibition movement.

Last night Mr. Werenskjold spoke at the Bethany Norwegian Danish M. E. church of West Duluth. He predicted a victory for the dry forces within a short time. He gave some interesting figures on the liquor traffic, tending to show that a city or town without saloons flourished better than those where saloons were allowed.

Mr. Werenskjold will speak tomorrow night at the Odd Fellows hall in West Duluth and at Rowley's hall uptown, on Saturday evening. On Sunday he will speak at Proctor.

"THE IRISH AGENT."

Young Men's Sodality Members Present Their Annual Play.

Amateur actors of the Young Men's Sodality of St. Clement's Catholic church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, scored a decided hit last night in the production of their annual St. Patrick's day play before an audience that packed the large hall. "The Irish Agent," a four-act comedy was presented.

Members of the cast showed exceptional merit in presenting their parts. Sylvester Hanses as "Con O'Neil" and James Wade as "Tighe Murphy" were very clever. The other members of the cast were: Miss Alice Kennedy, Charles Kramer, Miss Mae Monoghan, Miss Mae Nolan, A. Nolan, Howard Riley, Russell Farley and Frank Evans, each of whom showed exceptional merit in their parts. The play was presented under the direction of Rev. Raymond Basil and Miss Mary Shesgren.

The principal address of the evening was given by F. L. Burns of Virginia, who spoke on "St. Patrick and Robert Emmett." He compared the work of the two men, stating that the former had introduced Christianity in Ireland, while the latter was the greatest leader Ireland had ever had. Rev. Augustine Brockmeyer introduced Mr. Burns to the audience.

TALKS TO H. S. SALESMAN CLASS

Charles McDonnell Gives Advice on Advertising Phase of Business.

The class in salesmanship at the Central high school conducted by F. B. Carey was addressed yesterday afternoon by Charles McDonnell of The Herald advertising force. Mr. McDonnell spoke on the advertising phase of business, pointing out the value of advertising, but also warned against carelessness in preparing copy and in not giving thought to the presentation of goods to be advertised.

"The public," said Mr. McDonnell, "must have its attention drawn and held by an advertisement in order that the ad. will pay returns. Therefore, one must exercise as much care in approaching the public through an advertisement as in approaching a customer in person. The true salesman has his case well thought over and knows, before he approaches his customer, how to present it in concise and convincing form. Too many people, in writing advertisements, think that anything that goes into print will do the work. These are the advertising failures. In such cases, the ad. writers, not the newspapers, are to blame for lack of returns. You must write as well as talk convincingly or your selling campaign through ads. will fall flat."

ANOTHER HEN GETS LARGE EGG HABIT.

This morning another hen entered the gigantic egg-laying contest and her owner says that, at that, she is "a little hen." The latest entrant is of pure White Rock breed and the rest just hen. She belongs to P. J. Barry of 223 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, and has, of late, acquired the habit of producing enormous eggs. Within a few days this hen has laid five eggs, each measuring 7½ inches the long way around, and this morning she staggered her owner by producing an egg measuring 8⅝ inches around.

The first big egg reported was by Frank La Casse, 334 Brook street, who told of an egg, laid by one of his hens, weighing 6 ounces and measuring 8½ inches the long way and 7⅛ inches the short way.

Yesterday C. B. Juul, 5004 Jay street, reported that one of his hens, last April, laid an egg weighing 7 ounces and measuring 9½ by 7½ inches, the egg having a double shell.

The egg contest is reaching the point where one man has been led to comment that H. S. Newell and other fishermen need to look to their laurels or the poultry yard will shade the piscatorial pastime.

MARQUETTE'S PLANT REPORTS NET SURPLUS

Marquette, Mich., March 18.—The net surplus returned by the city's power plant for January and February showed an appreciable increase over the earnings during the same months last year, although the income was less. A statement prepared by City Auditor Anderson shows that the surplus for 1915 amounts to $5,370.88, as compared with $4,772.48 during the first two months of 1914. The item of current charged to consumers dropped off noticeably. The department now has $24,921.60 cash on hand, or $13,404.62 more than a year ago.

Little Falls Votes "Wet."

Little Falls, Minn., March 18.—The "wets" won by a majority of 225 at Tuesday's election. They had 74 majority in the First ward, 33 in the Second, 27 in the Third and 91 in the Fourth. The officers elected are: Mayor, G. M. A. Fortier; city clerk, Victor Schallern; assessor, Frank Elenbecker; municipal judge, F. W. Lyon; treasurer, John Vertin.

WILSON'S STRENGTH PROVED, SAYS CLAPP

If Times Improve, President Cannot Be Beaten for Re-Election.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 18.—The Journal publishes the following interview which its Washington correspondent, James Gray, had with Senator Moses E. Clapp:

"What," I asked, "will be your attitude toward the campaign next year? Will you be a candidate for re-election to the senate?"

The senator replied, with a smile: "After I had been attorney general of Minnesota, I began to enjoy a periodical boom for governor. Some of these booms seemed to have tremendous force, but they all occurred in the off years, when there was no election, and so I came to the belief that if one is going to have anything to do with politics it is better to run in the year when the election takes place."

Won't Talk Politics in 1915.

"Does this mean that you will run in 1916?"

"It means that I am not discussing politics in the year 1915."

"Another question, senator: 'Are you a Republican?'"

"I am not discussing politics this year. If I live and you want it if you will come around in the campaign of 1916, I will be glad to discuss politics with you."

"Well, you have observed the trend of politics in the capitol, and you have had exceptional opportunities for observing it out in the country. What, in your opinion, is the relative strength of parties?"

"The forces that will determine the next presidential election," the senator replied, "are yet to be developed.

President's Strength Proved.

"The fact that the Democratic party was able last year, in the face of the widespread business depression, to gain three senators and hold a working majority of the house, under conditions that would ordinarily have simply taken the party off the map, shows the wonderful strength of Mr. Wilson. If we keep out of war, or war is forced upon us in such a way that the president cannot be blamed for it, and the times improve, he cannot be defeated for re-election. But if times are bad, he will easily be defeated.

"The next presidential election will be determined by things yet to happen, and it is a sad commentary that a great republic, designed to secure for mankind the blessings of liberty, is so dependent in its political policies upon the question of a full or empty stomach."

BALLOTS NOT YET SENT TO PRINTER

Candidates May Withdraw Up to April 1, Says City Clerk.

Any candidate in the present municipal campaign may withdraw at any time up to five days before the election on April 6, said City Clerk Palmer this morning. Provision is made for this in the charter, he said.

The report that the official ballot has been sent to the printers is untrue, Mr. Palmer said, as it will not be sent until April 2. Up to April 1, however, a candidate may withdraw, regardless of whether he has accepted the nomination or not and his name will not appear on the official ballot on election day.

Sample ballots were ordered by Mr. Palmer this morning and may be secured at his office after Friday.

INJURED BADLY BY CORN CULTIVATOR

A Michigan farmer was so badly injured while cultivating that he had 33 running sores. He states that he tried many remedies and doctors with no success and that finally he used Allen's Ulcerine Salve which cured up all the sores completely. (Name and address on application).

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take.

CONFIDENCE ON THE RISE

Expansion in All Lines Is Reported By Duluth Jobbers.

Confidence is rising in Duluth wholesale and manufacturing circles. Business booked by jobbers so far this month is said to be satisfactory all around, and in some lines increases in aggregate sales over last year are being shown.

Stress is laid upon the point that stocks being carried by merchants the country over are estimated to be the smallest in years, making it certain that any picking up in retail trade must immediately lead to marked expansion in orders placed with jobbing establishments.

Grocery Prices Firm.

Business in groceries is about normal, according to the Barthe-Martin company of this city, and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior. Quotations are being firmly held through the list.

Sugars are steady, with New York jobbers quoting canes at 6.40 cents and the beet product at 6.30 cents. It is thought by some of the leading interests that the sugar market will bear close watching during the next thirty days. New Cuban raws are expected to come forward in quantities shortly, and good bidding in various positions is reported for them by refiners. Forecasts now are that Great Britain, France, Norway, Sweden and Italy will be on the market here strongly for sugars, and if that buying materializes, sharp advances in quotations are predicted. It was demand from England that precipitated the record bulge in sugar prices last summer. Stocks purchased then are said to be becoming exhausted.

Coffees are firmer after their long period of weakness, quotations in them showing an advance of 1 cent a pound during the last sixty days.

Jap teas are strong, with many dealers running short of supplies in some grades in which only partial deliveries were made at the height of last season.

Flour has been on the upward trend of late, and jobbers are now quoting around $8 a barrel. On account of its erratic market, buying is being kept down to an immediate requirements basis.

The list in dried fruits and vegetables is strong in consequence of increased domestic demand in conjunction with some export inquiry. The movement in canned fruits and vegetables continues slow, and stocks in most items are comparatively heavy.

Hardware Trade Good.

A substantial increase over last year in the volume of orders booked in hardware staples and specialties was advised by the Kelley-Howe-Thomson company, and the Marshall-Wells Hardware company.

The market is strong in all iron and steel products, though no special price changes are reported. An increase of $2 a ton in the spread between galvanized and black wire is advised. That is due to the continued strong markets in spelter and zinc.

Drygoods Quite Active.

Satisfaction was expressed by F. A. Patrick & Co. over the fall orders now being taken in woolens, flannels, hosiery, etc. Current business is also good. Reports coming to hand from salesmen are said to be generally optimistic.

Record Paper Orders.

That building operations in Duluth district are likely to be on an extended scale this spring is foreshadowed in the orders being placed for building and roofing papers and other materials. Bookings aggregating between 35 and 40 cars of roofing papers for March shipment were advised by the Peyton Paper company. This compares with 22 cars for that delivery last year. The business was booked from over Northern Minnesota, Northern Michigan, Northern Wisconsin and North Dakota. General stationery trade was also said to be bulking up satisfactorily.

Shoe Company Branches Out.

Travelers of the Northern Shoe company are now at the warehouse for their fall shoe samples, and are due to be out on the road again next week. Business landed in felts and rubbers is said to have bulked up well. In the way of specialties, the company is making a hit with its hockey shoe. Orders have been taken for it from many of the leading sporting goods dealers in the northern fringe of states. Contracts were closed this week with New York and Boston dealers.

Furniture Inquiry Improves.

Marked improvement in furniture inquiry was noted by the De Witt-Seitz company. For the first time in several weeks, mixed car orders were obtained for shipment to Montana and Northern Wisconsin points. Mail orders were said to be above the average, and operations have been increased in the company's mattress factory.

EAGER TO SAVE GAME

Carlos Avery, New Executive Agent of Game Commission, Visits Duluth.

Seeks Co-operation and Explains Bills Now Before Legislature.

Carlos Avery, the new executive agent of the state game and fish commission is in the city today, furthering acquaintance with his work in the protection of fish and game, and seeking to obtain co-operation between himself and sportsmen of this part of the state. Mr. Avery, whose home is in Hutchinson, was recently appointed to the game and fish commission by Governor Hammond to succeed Fred B. Meyers of Biwabik, and was elected executive agent by the commission, to succeed H. A. Rider. Mr. Avery was the Democratic candidate for congress in the Third district against Congressman Charles R. Davis, in the last election.

Mr. Avery said this morning that so far he had been attending more to legislative work for the benefit of the department than to anything else. The most important game bills now before the legislature are a general license bill, a game refuge measure and an anti-alien hunting bill. The general license bill is framed with a view to increasing the revenue of the department.

"In Minnesota," said Mr. Avery, "we get only $65,000 a year, while in some states they realize as much as $200,000 a year."

Refuge for Game.

The game refuge bill is an enabling act which, if it becomes a law, will permit the game and fish commission to establish, where it is believed necessary and feasible, tracts where birds and animals may take refuge and not be molested by hunters.

In this connection, Mr. Avery points out that it is a patent fact that, unless some measures for the protection of them are taken, moose and certain game birds soon will be annihilated. In fact, he declares, that point has very nearly been reached now. The extermination of deer is not far away, either, he says, but the situation as to deer is not so grave as in the case of moose and birds. These places of refuge, Mr. Avery believes, will prove effective and will go a long way toward preventing the extermination of game. The refuges would be patrolled and the birds would be protected from all enemies and allowed to raise their young unmolested.

The anti-allen bill, simply provides that hunting or fishing licenses will not be issued to people who are not citizens of the United States.

"The legislature seems very favorably disposed toward the commission," said Mr. Avery. "When I assumed office the commission's funds were exhausted, but we are hopeful of getting a sufficient sum to carry on our work as it should be carried on.

"I have no definite plans yet for reorganizing the work, but I do want to get the co-operation of the people of all parts of the state. There has been some friction here in this part of the state in the past, but I am very anxious to adjust any differences there may have been and get everybody working together in harmony to protect the game and fish of the state, and increase the supply. Every good sportsman, and in fact every good citizen, wants to see the game and fish protected."

The work is not new to Mr. Avery, as he served in the same office during Governor Johnson's administration.

Announcement.

We take pleasure in advising our patrons and the business public generally that Mr. G. H. Bate is again representing us in Duluth and adjoining territory.

THE BRADSTREET COMPANY.

RUSSIAN CANNON SHIPPED TO COAST.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 18.—A trainload of thirty cars of big guns passed through the city Tuesday over the Northern Pacific road bound for the coast, where they will be taken on board steamers and sent to Russia. They were from an Eastern concern and were all neatly boxed so that the style could not be determined. This is one of the largest shipments that has so far gone to the coast.

LOSS OF APPETITE

Most Successfully Treated by Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Loss of appetite is accompanied by loss of vitality, which is serious.

It is common in the spring because at this time the blood is impure and impoverished and fails to give the digestive organs what is absolutely necessary for the proper performance of their functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable all-the-year-round medicine, is especially useful in the spring. Get it from your druggist today. By purifying and enriching the blood and giving vitality, vigor and tone, it is wonderfully successful in the treatment of loss of appetite and the other ailments prevalent at this time. It is not simply a spring medicine—it is much more than that—but it is the best spring medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the rich red blood the digestive organs need.

APPROPRIATION FOR SUPERIOR NORMAL.

Madison, Wis., March 18.—The state assembly last evening concurred in the Baxter bill appropriating $81,500 to the state board of normal school regents to rebuild the portion of the normal school at Superior which was destroyed by fire several months ago. The bill now goes to the governor for approval.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

HIS LAST ARREST.

Owen McKenna, Poor Farm Patient, Will Be Sent Home.

OWEN M'KENNA, age 42, a persistent "repeater" at police headquarters, was arrested for the last time last night, and he probably will not serve the 60-day sentence imposed in municipal court this morning by Judge F. H. Cutting.

When Owen was asked to make a plea he said: "Judge, if you don't let me go now I never will get back home to Baltimore. I was goin' last night, but I was too late and missed the train, and now it looks as though I'm goin' to die here in Duluth."

Since last May McKenna has been a patient at the poor farm sanatorium, waging a fight against the most dreaded of all diseases. He has been holding his own, and finally had received a promise from Supt. Cook of the poor commission to send him back home.

Supt. Cook gave his promise yesterday morning, according to McKenna's story, and he was overjoyed at the prospect that he became reckless, and just "had to take one because it was St. Patrick's day, and one because I was free, and one because I was goin' back home to the folks."

Probation Officer Hicks is making an effort to have McKenna cared for and sent east. His relatives are well known in Baltimore, it is said.

HEAVED BRICK AT DANCERS.

Railroad Man Has Lost So Much Sleep He Is Growing Thin.

Angry because dancers in a hall across the alley from his bedroom window failed to stop at 12 o'clock, and because they disturbed his beauty sleep with their strident music, Albert W. Praigg, a railroad man, did some disturbing on his own hook last night. He threw a half brick through the dance hall window and it shot across the floor, frightening the girls and thoroughly disorganizing the party.

Praigg paid a fine of $17.50 in municipal court this morning for disorderly conduct.

"Well, it's about time for a show down," he declared with heat. "When a man is kept awake three nights a week until 12 o'clock or after, it's going too far. I've lost so much sleep I'm getting thin, your honor."

The dance hall is on the second floor of a building at Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

EATING FROM TINS.

Laborers on Army Rations While Cooks Are in Jail.

Somewhere in North Dakota a gang of laborers, together with two other gangs, is eating canned corn for breakfast, canned tomatoes for dinner, and canned something else for supper, while they are waiting for three cooks. The three cooks are in the city jail, and will be guests of the city for several days.

Boleslaw Lubowicki, Mike Sarik and John B. Brown all can juggle flapjacks, bake potatoes and do other culinary stunts, but they failed miserably in an attempt to catch a free ride to North Dakota yesterday. They were caught while boarding a westbound Northern Pacific train and charged with trespass. Each one will serve five days.

HATED HIMSELF.

Edward Stone Spent Day at Canal Calling Himself Names.

"Edward Stone—you're a blanked fool," said Edward Stone and he threw another pebble out across the ice.

Philosophizing on his erring ways, and his lack of common sense, Edward Stone sat all yesterday afternoon, throwing pebbles at Lake Superior from where he sat near the ship canal.

This morning, still philosophizing, he came to police headquarters and reported that he had been "touched" for his roll of $107 on Tuesday.

"What did you do all day Wednesday?" asked Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, "why didn't you report this sooner?"

"Well, I'll tell you," said Mr. Stone, who is long and lean, and who looks like a relative of Buffalo Bill—"I'll tell you. I was such a blanked fool to lose the money that I wanted to call myself a few names, and think it over, and so I went down and sat by the ship canal, and threw pebbles at the ice, and talked to myself."

Police have started an investigation of the case of the erring Diogenes, who doesn't remember where, when, now or why, as far as his $107 is concerned. Stone is from Albany, N. Y., and "wears a Stetson hat, even though he is a lumberjack."

LOSES HIS AMBITION.

Grover Dickley Doesn't Care "Whether School Keeps or Not."

Poets who sang of "hope springing eternal," etc., reckoned without Grover Dickley, age 21, who, police say, has "lost all his ambition."

Dickley was arrested yesterday and charged with vagrancy. He was arrested a few weeks ago on a similar charge. He has not worked for several weeks, according to officers of the law, and has made no attempt to work—he simply doesn't care whether school keeps or not.

His case is one of the first on record where a boy of this age is not full of plans for the future, and more than anxious to get work. Dickley has been applying at police headquarters for night's lodging and was arrested by Jailer Andrew Wanvick last night.

CROWD GREETS PLAYERS

Parochial School Program One of Unusual Worth.

A crowd that packed the auditorium of the St. James parochial school to the doors, greeted the production of "An Evening Out," a comedy of three acts, given by the young people of the St. James Catholic church last night. The presentation of the play, say those who attended, would do credit to professional players.

John Allen, in the leading role of the husband, who took a night off when his wife was away, and Miss Etta Bujold, in the role of the actress who mixed up family matters, were exceptionally good. The other players, all of whom showed excellent training, were Alex Bethune, Leo Deutsch, Clifford Bujold, Miss Emaline Brett, Miss Emma Lambert, Mrs. J. D. Spencer and Miss Bessie McKinnon.

The principal St. Patrick's day oration was given by E. J. Kenney. The program included solo numbers by Jesse Hawley, Miss Emeline Brett and Ollie Dignuss and a chorus by the girls of the St. James school.

WITH THE CURLERS.

Donald Rink Wins Universal Trophy in Morning Game.

Alex Donald's state champions demonstrated form again this morning in playing the finals of the Universal event against the Frank H. Wade rink, winning out with the last stone in the twelfth head by a score of 10 to 5. The game was the first that has been played during the morning hours, play starting at 7 o'clock.

This evening Zauft and Joe McDonald will play the finals of the Bagley event. This game was scheduled for last night, but the ice was too soft for playing. This game will probably be the last played at the Western Curling club this season.

CAN FIGHT IT OUT AT THE WORK FARM.

Hjalmer Anderson, 26, and Carl Olson, 29, were sentenced to twenty-five days at the city and county work farm by Judge H. W. Lanners this morning following pleas of guilty of charges of disorderly conduct. The two men began fighting in a saloon at 306 North Central avenue shortly after 7 o'clock last night following an argument as to who should buy the next drink. Patrolman Fred Anderson arrested the pair just after they had started the scrap. Emil Johnson, who was also arrested with the other two, was given a suspended sentence.

THREE SPEAKERS FOR THE CLUB MEETING.

J. A. P. Nell and C. E. Roe, representing the Woodland club, will speak before the members of the West Duluth Commercial club tomorrow night on the proposed amendments to the city charter. T. S. Settle of New York, playground expert, will also be present to give a short talk on the subject of playgrounds.

Talks on A. O. U. W.

Joseph A. Schumaker, past grand master workman of the A. O. U. W. of Minnesota, gave an interesting account of the recent session of the grand lodge held last month at St. Paul, at the meeting of West Duluth lodge, No. 145, at Gilley's hall last night. Mr. Schumaker told the members that the order was becoming stronger financially every year and that during the last two years rapid strides in growth had been made.

The West Duluth Silberstein-Farrell club will hold a rally this evening at Dormedy's hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. Addresses will be made by John H. Norton, Bernard Silberstein and Bert Farrell.

MAY COMPROMISE GAMES SCHEDULE

American Baseball Association Magnates Again Talking Over Differences.

Chicago, March 18.—An agreement based on a compromise seemed likely today when members of the American association met to consider again the playing schedule for 1915, it was announced by President Chivington. The details of the compromise expected were not given out by Mr. Chivington, who said he had not been informed concerning them other than that an agreement probably would be reached soon.

It was considered likely that the schedule would be drawn up to include a sufficient number of games to provide for the twenty-four Sundays which Chairman Tebeau believed necessary. The number, according to President Chivington, may be between the 154 which the other members thought enough and the 168 games Chairman Tebeau wanted to include.

ATHLETES ALL AWAY TO THE WAR

Philadelphia, March 18.—Of the 3,600 students at Cambridge university, 2,400 are serving in the British army.

This was the information conveyed today to the authorities of the University of Pennsylvania in a letter from J. H. Gray, secretary-treasurer of the Cambridge University Athletic club, declining an invitation for Cambridge athletes to participate in this year's Pennsylvania relay races.

Mr. Gray said that all the members of the athletic committee but himself are away on military duty, and added: "I wonder if you realize the position here. Out of 3,600 students, 2,400 are away on service. There is not, I am proud to say, a single running Blue left in Cambridge. They are every one of them serving the country.

"There are no sports; all our contests with Oxford are abandoned. The very running ground is in use by troops training here."

BORDER CITY CLUB.

International Falls Nine About Ready for Season's Play.

International Falls, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local ball fans are elated over the rapid consummation of plans to have a first class ball nine in this city this year. The lineup, which is practically assured, is considered a strong one. The $250 recently appropriated by the city council for the club will be an excellent asset in helping the organization to get a start. The team which will probably represent International Falls on the diamond this summer, follows: Catcher, Hargrove; pitchers, Graves, Clements, Chandler, Ursella; first base, Hanson; second base, Tufford; short stop, Nelson; third base, L. Zimmerman; outfield, La Fontaine, Weaver, Snow, "Babe" Bennett, and "Si" Bennett.

MONEY SPENT FOR WAR STAMPS WASTED.

Those candidates for commissioner and municipal judge who placed government war stamps on their nominating petitions are out $5 apiece.

J. L. Norman, candidate for commissioner, has received a communication from G. E. Fletcher, deputy commissioner of the internal revenue office at Washington, in which the latter states that no war stamps are required on the nominating petitions used in Duluth. Mr. Norman inclosed one of these petitions in a letter to the revenue department and asked if stamps are required, when they are filed with the city clerk.

Before petitions nominating the present candidates for commissioner and municipal judge were filed, the question was raised regarding the necessity of using war stamps.

Several of the candidates, refusing to take a chance, bought stamps and placed them on each of the fifty petitions.

As a result those who used the stamps are each out $5.

Says No One Need Remain Thin Now

Physician's Advice For Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. Boyce Drug Store and other leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

Plea to "Hyphenated Americans" By Governor Dunne of Illinois.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 18.—Asserting the European belligerents in trampling on the rights of neutrals had made it difficult to keep the United States from being embroiled, Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois last night pleaded with "hyphenated Americans" to aid the administration in the crisis by refraining from the public expression of whatever sympathies they may have with the nations at war. Speaking at a St. Patrick's day celebration of the Irish Fellowship club, Governor Dunne said persons of foreign birth or lineage in America should place loyalty to this nation above all else.

He spoke of the pride Irishmen felt in the part they took in the upbuilding of the United States and asserted that "at the present, more than ever in the history of this nation, should the citizen of Irish birth or lineage be careful to place his loyalty to the United States above his sympathies with any of the European countries."

"It is now the supreme duty of the statesmen in Washington to keep this country from being embroiled in the conflict in Europe," asserted Governor Dunne. "Day by day the belligerents are trampling the rights of neutrals and making it almost impossible to keep our country from entanglement. Never in recent history was there greater need of moderation, tact and diplomacy of American statesmen and of loyalty by its citizens.

"Hands off for Europe, hands up for America, should be our watchword. Separated by 3,000 miles of ocean, this favored land, under the guidance of President Wilson, will not become involved if he is not embarrassed by acts of misguided sympathy with the belligerents. Let us in this crisis place American patriotism above all other considerations and confine our energies to working for the restoration of peace."

state capitol. Provision is made that wherever a contest is instituted on the nomination or election of a state officer, or on the result of the vote on a proposed constitutional amendment, the judge before whom the contest is brought shall issue an order directing that all ballots pertaining to such contest be forthwith transmitted to the secretary of state by the county auditors. They are to be sent by express, in sealed envelopes which the bill provides they must be placed in after they are counted. The contestant is required to deposit with the secretary of state enough money to pay transportation expenses.

Similar provision is made for contests involving several counties, as where a district judgeship is at issue. The loser in the contest is to pay the expenses.

The bill also provides for the rotation on the ballot of the names of candidates for non-partisan offices.

Would Raise Passenger Rates.

Prominent railroad officials of the Northwest were to appear before the senate committee on railroads this afternoon, when Senator E. J. Westlake's bill, raising the passenger rate to 2½ cents a mile, was to be given a public hearing.

James J. Hill, L. W. Hill, Edmund Pennington and other railroad officials have asked to be heard.

Senator Westlake today issued a statement to show why he had introduced the bill and sought its passage, as follows:

"On May 1, 1907, by legislative act two cents became the maximum fare the Minnesota railroads might charge for passenger transportation. This was done in response to the then public feeling that corporations, especially railroads, were charging too much and earning more than they were properly entitled to.

"I believe neither the legislature, nor any other department of the state, had investigated the justice of popular feeling nor had intimate, or even superficial knowledge of the condition of the railroads at that time. They followed the lines of least resistance and bowed to the wave of so-called corporation reform then sweeping the middle and western states.

"The law making power of this and neighboring states greatly reduced the earning capacity of the railroads not only in their passenger, but in their freight and express traffic, and other sources of revenue, and almost in the same breath prescribed regulations increasing their expenses; between the two bringing the net profits of the transportation business perilously near the vanishing point. Since 1905 our legislature has enacted 165 laws of this nature.

Higher Rates in New England.

"In the densely populated New England and neighboring states, the railroads are allowed by law to charge a higher passenger fare per mile than in Minnesota; Massachusetts has a population of 441 inhabitants to the square mile; 1,666 inhabitants and $10,278 passenger revenue per mile of railroad; Connecticut, 245; 1,181 and $13,588; New York, 294, 1,141 and $6,159; Pennsylvania, 181, 704 and $6,372, respectively. Minnesota has but 27 inhabitants per square mile, 244 inhabitants and $2,681 passenger revenue per mile of railroad. I make these comparisons because Massachusetts permits a passenger fare of 2½ cents to 3 cents per mile, Connecticut, 2½ cents to 3 cents; New York, 2½ cents, and Pennsylvania, 2½ cents.

"The interstate commerce commission, in the case of the Eastern lines' appeal for 5 per cent increase in freight rates, held that passenger transportation was undoubtedly conducted at a loss, and suggested to the railroads that they not only increase their interstate fares to a reasonable figure, but that they also appeal to the fairness of the governing powers of the states to be permitted to increase their intrastate fares. These railroads east of Chicago did increase their interstate fares to 2½ cents per mile on Dec. 1, 1914, and are conducting an active campaign in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to secure such legislation in those states.

"The supreme court of the United States has very recently declared invalid a 2-cent-fare law in West Virginia, and in that, as well as the coal rate case in North Dakota, declared that one department of the railroad traffic must not be made to bear the losses of another, or in other words, passenger traffic by itself must produce enough revenue to sustain its share of cost and reasonable profit.

"As compared with states having less natural advantages, Minnesota is poorly provided with railroads, and a great part of our state needs more railroad mileage and the consequent increase in population to grow and prosper greatly. We have had no material increase in our railroad mileage since 1906, and largely because we have not encouraged the companies to build new lines; on the other hand, they have been harrassed, embarrassed and oppressed."

The bill equalizing freight rates between St. Paul and Minneapolis and making them a common point as far as rates are concerned was recommended for passage yesterday afternoon by the senate committee on railroads. Senator Edward Rustad is the author. Charles E. Elmquist, member of the railroad and warehouse commission, explained the provisions of the bill to the members of the committee.

Bill Regulating Farmers.

Senator E. J. Westlake of Minneapolis, the wit of the senate, yesterday introduced in that body a bill regulating farmers which is a travesty on the type of corporation regulation legislation farmers are supposed to favor. It is entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT TO PROVIDE A FARMING CODE AND FIX THE RULES GOVERNING FARMERS AND THE RIGHTS OF FARM LABORERS IN THE STATE OF MINNESOTA; and it is as follows:

Section 1. Employment in all agricultural industries is hereby declared to be injurious to health and dangerous to life and limb.

Sec. 2.—Only one price for a given commodity shall be lawful. A farmer desiring to change a price shall file a schedule thereof with the commission hereby created, which shall go into effect thirty days thereafter, unless suspended by the commission at the instance of any consumer.

Sec. 3. No prices shall be increased, however, except upon due proof, the burden whereof shall be on the farmer, that existing prices are confiscatory of his goods and gear. In its discretion the commission may refuse to permit any such increase until a valuation by its engineers and accountants shall have been taken. In such valuation, the farmer shall have no credit for past profits invested in new fields or improved structures, but shall be allowed only original cost plus borrowed money invested.

Sec. 4. "Commodity," as used herein, includes all grains, vegetables, livestock and dairy articles, except sand, gravel and manure.

Sec. 5. Every hired man shall work eight hours only per day, not including the Sabbath, and shall not recommence work unless he has completed a period of not less than eighteen hours of absolute rest and quiet. He shall not work on the Lord's day, nor on legal holidays, nor on the divorce bill's birthday.

Sec. 6. Every farmer shall hire one more hired man than his work requires.

Sec. 7. The only permissible exceptions to the two foregoing sections shall be periods of stress resulting from earthquake, volcanic eruptions or European invasion.

Automatic Couplers for Wagons.

Sec. 8. All wagons and all poles and double-trees shall be provided with automatic couplers, so that the hired man need not go between the wheels of the wagon and the heels of the horses or mules.

Sec. 9. All wagons shall further be supplied with suitable brakes, grappling irons, stirrups and platforms of standard dimensions to be fixed by the commission.

Sec. 10. All bulls when moving on the highway or in unfenced areas, shall be equipped with a bell of not less than fifty pounds weight, a steam whistle, and an electric headlight of not less than 1,500 candle power.

Sec. 11. No cow, irrespective of capacity, shall be permitted to give in excess of fifty quarts of milk per day while operating within the lines of this state.

Sec. 12. Sheds shall be built over all fields where hired men have to work in summer.

Sec. 13. Is hereby omitted for fear this act might be declared unconstitutional.

Sec. 14. All field engines and machinery shall be fenced in, and all belting shall be encased in metal housings, and all grindstones, churns, hay-cutters, bull's horns, and other moving parts shall be strongly encased in sheaths for the protection of the hired men.

Sec. 15. All sheds, barns, and other outbuildings shall, in cold weather, be adequately heated, and at all times shall be well lighted and policed.

Sec. 16. If a calf is delayed in arriving or is born dead, the farmer shall instantly provide another cow whose calf shall be born that day.

Sec. 17. The commission's inspectors shall weekly inspect all gasoline or limousine automobiles. If a cylinder is missing, the farmer must find it before he runs on the road again.

Sec. 18. The right to mortgage real estate is a franchise reserved to the state. No farmer shall make any mortgage or incur any indebtedness extending for a period of more than one month, without the written approval of the commission obtained upon petition and hearing, and upon the payment to the state treasurer of 10 cents for each $100 of such indebtedness. Indebtedness incurred without such consent shall be void, unless it be shown that said farmer was within a cattle fence district duly designated as such by a board of county commissioners.

Labor Bills Advanced.

The house spent most of yesterday afternoon wrangling over two labor bills, with a considerable proportion of the rural representatives—though not all of them—in opposition on the ground that the measures would hit the farmers.

Both bills, however, were advanced to the calendar.

One bill, by Representative L. A. Lydiard of Minneapolis, requires one day's rest in seven in all factories, workshops and mercantile establishments, with exceptions taking care of emergency cases and occupations where Sunday work is a necessity. In such cases some other day than Sunday can be chosen for the rest day. An amendment exempting mills in villages and fourth class cities was adopted before the bill, after a fight, was recommended for passage by the house in committee of the whole.

There was a longer and harder fight over the bill by Representative Tom J. McGrath of St. Paul providing that workmen shall be paid full wages for the time spent waiting for their pay after it is due.

Several of the rural representatives declared that this would work an injustice to farmers. They might hire an irresponsible farm hand, they said, and if there was a row over the amount due the farm hand might, under this bill, collect for the time spent in waiting for the dispute to be settled. In committee of the whole the bill was recommended for indefinite postponement, 49 to 40; but after the committee arose and Representative McGrath got a roll call on the bill, it was put on the calendar by a vote of 64 to 37. Representative Charles T. Murphy of Aurora supported Mr. McGrath in his fight for the bill.

Representative Robert Carmichael of St. Paul got the house in committee of the whole to advance to the calendar a bill amending a law put "on the statute books" by Ignatius Donnelly when he was a member from Dakota county. The old law, which was a special law, gave the sheriff of Dakota county $3 a week for boarding prisoners, and Mr. Carmichael's amendment raises this to $4.

Advanced to the Calendar.

Other bills advanced to the calendar by the house yesterday afternoon were as follows:

By Representative A. M. Peterson of Coleraine—Giving the county attorney of Itasca county $3,000 a year and $800 for a stenographer.

By Representative Welch—Providing that certificates of grain inspection shall show the test weight per bushel of grain inspected.

By Representative Gerlich—Extending to third-class cities the law authorizing fourth-class cities to levy a half-mill tax to provide music in public buildings or on public grounds.

By Representative Indrehus—Requiring railroads to keep depot platforms lighted half an hour before and after train time.

By Representative Wilkins—Providing that the state may pay the state road aid to counties that have no funds to meet their share of the road expenses required by the Dunn law.

Day of Apologies.

There was a field day for personal privilege and apologies in the house yesterday afternoon.

Representative Erickson, chairman of the house committee on banking, replied to charges made by Representative Rodenberg that his bill requiring banks to keep their savings money separate had not been fairly treated. Mr. Erickson said that the charge was false, as the committee had dealt fairly with the bill, had given the author a hearing, and then had reported the bill for indefinite postponement. He thought Mr. Rodenberg ought to apologize.

Mr. Rodenberg refused. He said he had enough German fighting blood to refrain from withdrawing his charge, and moreover that he would bring the matter before the house in a day or two and submit full proof of them all.

Representative Lydiard, who had words with Representative A. F. Teigen the other day, apologized handsomely. Mr. Teigen also apologized for his hot words.

Representative J. M. Garrison of Minneapolis said that he understood that something he had said had hurt Representative H. H. Harrison of Minneapolis, and that he meant them in jest and was sorry if they stung. H. H. Harrison said he was glad to hear this, and that he hoped the incident was closed.

Whereupon Representative Charles L. Stevens of Warren said that he thought the house ought to have St. Patrick's day at least once a week.

So the house adjourned, peace and harmony prevailing.

Speaker Flowers yesterday afternoon appointed the following committee to pick out local bills, one for each member, to be considered as a special order on the afternoon of March 31 and the evening of April 5: Representatives Papke, Gerlich, Kuntz, Mueller, Lennon, Dare, Bjornson (chairman), W. J. North of Duluth, Adams, Girling, Nimocks.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

MINNESOTA RANKS SECOND IN HEALTH

Follows Close on Washington, With Death Rate of Only 10.4.

Minnesota is the second most healthful state in the union, according to the annual report of the department of commerce on vital statistics of the nation.

A copy of the report has just been received by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the health department, and it shows that the state of Washington is the most healthful of the union, with a death rate of 8.5 to the thousand and Minnesota is next with a death rate of 10.4 to the thousand.

According to the report, communicable diseases are decreasing, while degenerative diseases show an increase in recent years. There still continues to be an excess of accidental deaths by horse-drawn vehicles and horses over deaths by automobile.

The death rate of the nation is 14.1 per thousand population, a decrease of nearly 3 per cent in the last decade. New Zealand leads the world with the lowest death rate of 8.5 per thousand.

SENIORS WILL WEAR CAPS AND GOWNS

Black Garb of Last Year to Be Used Again at High School.

Seniors who receive diplomas at the Central high school graduation exercises in June, will wear caps and gowns, despite opposition from parents, who advanced several reasons last year for the defeat of the plan.

School officials stated yesterday that the cap and gown plan, as used last June, was such a success that the custom will be repeated this year.

The black garb was called insanitary by many mothers before the plan was adopted in 1914, and there was an active campaign against the college seniors' dress. Prospective "grads" will be measured soon, as the paraphernalia is rented for the occasion.

ANOTHER REPORT THAT KARLSRUHE WAS SUNK.

London, March 18.—Reuter's Copenhagen correspondent sends a story of the sinking of the German cruiser Karlsruhe, taken from the Stifs-Tidende which asserts that it obtained the story from an authoritative source.

According to the story the crew of the Karlsruhe were having tea one evening when a sudden explosion broke the cruiser in two. One half sunk immediately carrying down part of the crew with it. The other half floated for some time, which enabled about 150 to 200 men to be rescued by an accompanying steamer. This steamer reached a German port with the survivors who were sworn to secrecy concerning the sinking of the cruiser.

CANADA STARTS ON FOURTH CONTINGENT.

Ottawa, Ont., March 18.—With the third contingent virtually all recruited, equipped and in training, orders have been issued by the militia department to start enlisting men for the fourth contingent. This is to carry out the original plan of the government as outlined by Sir Robert Borden, to keep some 50,000 men constantly under training in Canada, and to recruit and send to England constant reinforcements.

GIRLS REALLY KEEP SECRET; WHO'S THE MAN?

Who was the lone man at the party given last evening by the girls of the city hall?

This is a question that is paramount in the city administration building today.

All the men at the city hall want to know his name and all the girls will say is that "he works right here in this building."

However, they all declare they had a most delightful time at the spread and at the "movies" later on in the evening.

Oh, yes, the lone man paid for the "movies." Sure; that's why they asked him.

MEETINGS SCHEDULED

List of Campaign Rallies—McFarlane Names His Manager.

Bernard Reiterates He Will Withdraw If Evens Does.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.

Tonight.

Dormedy hall, West Duluth—Bernard Silberstein and J. A. Farrell, speakers.

Friday.

French Naturalization club—Bernard Silberstein, speaker.

Interchurch council, First M. E. church.

Sunday, 3 P. M.

Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street—All the Scandinavian ministers of the West end will speak.

Two of the latest developments in the municipal campaign are the statement received this morning from State Representative William L. Bernard over the long distance telephone that he will drop out of the race, providing Chris E. Evens withdraws, and the announcement by R. E. McFarlane that James Maghan will be his campaign manager.

At Commissioner Murchison's headquarters it was said this noon that Mr. Bernard had been reached over the long distance telephone at St. Paul during the morning and that he reiterated his original statement that he would withdraw with Mr. Evens. He denied having given out any interview to the contrary, it was said.

Mr. McFarlane announced that Mr. Maghan will direct his campaign and that the committee will meet either tonight or tomorrow and start active work in his behalf. He will not establish any headquarters, he said, but his friends will handle the campaign for him. An active speaking campaign in his behalf is planned for next week.

Four Have Managers.

Four of the candidates for commissioner have so far announced their campaign managers, while four are yet to be heard from. M. J. Murray is handling J. A. Farrell's campaign; E. C. Elston for Bernard Silberstein; Z. D. Scott for Murchison, and James Maghan for Mr. McFarlane. J. L. Norman said this morning that he will announce his committee tomorrow, while friends of Commissioner Hicken plan to conduct the campaign in his behalf and they will organize within a few days, it was said. Nothing will be done in behalf of Mr. Evens or Mr. Bernard, it was said by their friends today, until they both return to Duluth. It is still expected to have them withdraw, so that no active work will be started, at least until Mr. Evens comes home from San Francisco and decides finally whether he will make the race.

Bernard Silberstein and J. A. Farrell will speak at the Dormedy hall in West Duluth tonight, this being the only meeting scheduled for this evening.

MAYOR FAVORS TAX FOR WALK CLEANING

Thinks Proposed Dwinnell Bill Good Thing; Council to Fix Districts.

Levying of taxes for the cleaning of sidewalks, as is done now for street sprinkling, is favored by Mayor Prince, who commends the bill proposed by Senator Dwinnell of Minneapolis.

Just what provisions will be included is not known, although it is understood that it will give the councils of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth the power to levy a tax for the cleaning of sidewalks, both in the summer and winter months. The council, however, will determine in what districts of the city the tax shall be levied.

Mayor Prince declared this morning that Duluth would save money by such a bill, as many of the damage suits resulting from falls on icy walks would be eliminated. Only property owners in downtown sections would be compelled to pay a tax, he said, although under the proposed bill's provisions the council may decide where the tax may be imposed.

At present the council levies a tax for street sprinkling each year and the money is paid about this time. As Senator Dwinnell has it planned, the bill will give the city the power to clean the streets and then levy the tax against the owner.

"If such a bill were to pass," said Mayor Prince this morning, "the council then could designate on which streets the sidewalks should be cleaned and a tax, the amount to be determined by the city engineer after he had prepared estimates on the cost of such work, would be levied on the owners. There would be a revolving fund to take care of this work. I'm sure the citizens wouldn't object to the tax, as it would be quite small, and especially when they realize that the city intended to keep their walks clean all the year around."

PUTS BULLET THROUGH HEAD

Floodwood Farmer in Fit of Despondency Ends His Life.

After brooding for several days over a fancied grievance, Sauber Kannilainen, age 22, living near Floodwood, committed suicide Wednesday, shooting himself through the head with a rifle borrowed from one of his three brothers.

Kannilainen has lived near Floodwood for some time, and made his home with his mother and three brothers. He had been sullen and moody for several days, and was known to have been drinking heavily.

Early Wednesday he borrowed a rifle from his older brother, and disappeared. He was found dead shortly afterwards, not far from the house.

The body was brought to Duluth this morning and taken to the undertaking rooms of Crawford & Son. The remains will be sent to Floodwood tomorrow for burial.

POLICE WOULD AVERT DROWNINGS

Chief May Post Warnings to Pedestrians Along Bay Front.

Chief of Police C. H. Troyer will make a trip along the bay front this afternoon, inspecting points where pedestrians have been in the habit of crossing on the ice, and, if necessary, he will post warning signs at various points.

"It would not be practicable to put signs all along this waterfront, but we want to do all we can to prevent accidents," he declared this morning. "There have been more reports of near-drownings and accidents this spring than ever before, and we may find it advisable to put up signs at several points, including the Garfield avenue front."

This action on the part of the police was prompted by a report from S. H. Dennis, caretaker at the Interstate bridge, who stated yesterday that he had rescued two or three persons from drowning daily since warm weather began, and that he believed many had gone under during the nights.

"At night," stated the caretaker, "the watchman often hears cries which he is unable to locate, and which I believe come from transients who try to walk to Superior on the ice. Men are falling in daily, and it seems to be up to the public safety department to post warnings."

Property of Mrs. Hudson Goes to Children and Grandchildren.

Mrs. Martha M. Hudson, whose death occurred in this city March 10, 1915, at the age of 73 years, left property valued at $13,500, according to a petition filed in probate court today by her son, T. T. Hudson, who asks that her will be admitted to probate and that he and his sister, Matilda Lenora Hudson, also of this city, be appointed executors in accordance with the terms of the instrument.

The estate consists of real estate worth $3,800 and personal property to the value of $9,700. The heirs besides the two executors are a son, Albert L. Hudson, residing at Halfway, Or., and three grandchildren. The grandchildren are bequeathed specific legacies and the residue, according to the will, is to be divided among the two sons and one daughter in equal shares.

Home Face Peeling Becomes Popular

No complexion treatment yet discovered seems to have become so generally and so immediately popular as the mercolized wax process. Evidently the reason is that this method actually gets rid of a bad complexion, which can hardly be said of any other. To temporarily hide or bleach the defective skin with cosmetics cannot compare with the effect of literally removing the skin itself. Mercolized wax takes off the offending surface skin in flour-like particles, a little at a time, until there's none of it left. The new complexion thus produced exhibits a healthy glow and girlish beauty obtainable in no other way. This wax, which you can get at your druggist's, is applied at night in the same way you use cold cream, and washed off next morning.

Here is one thing that actually does remove wrinkles, remove them quickly, and at trifling cost: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. Use as a face bath. —Advertisement.

"BUY NOW" IS NEW SLOGAN

Style Week Will Usher in New Period of Activity.

Buying Campaign Would Solve Business Problems, Say Merchants.

"Buy now" is the slogan that Duluth merchants have adopted for Style week, which will usher in the spring and summer season of 1915. The "buy now" idea if wisely carried out would solve more business problems for Duluth in one month than a whole commission of theoretical economists could work out in a year.

Would Start Wheels Turning.

"The wheels of business will keep right on turning, going up hill and down, despite war, monkeying with economic laws, and March weather, if the axles are properly lubricated with the 'buy now' preparation," said a Duluth merchant today. "The idea is spreading over the country like wild fire and a very apparent improvement is noted already in trade channels. Magazines, newspapers, trade journals and merchants' associations are boosting the idea, and Duluth should be one of the first cities to put the idea into practice and get business in the Northwest up to its old high standard.

"'The sun's in the heavens, and all's right with the world,' according to Duluth merchants. There's money a-plenty; prospects are good; all that's needed is for folks to loosen up. In other words, they should 'keep the ball rolling.'"

There is no reason why merchants should let their help go if the people will buy. And then it follows that if the merchants keep their help on the payrolls, the employes will have money, which will be spent, and there will be prosperity. It's the hanging on to the dollars that's putting depression into business, they assert. This depression, however, is now rapidly disappearing, and better times are predicted over the Northwest for spring and summer. The "buy now" idea, if carried out, will make sales for the "drummers" and the jobbers will get their share and keep their sales staffs full. It's a kind of endless chain of benefits that will help both consumer and seller.

Merchants Optimistic.

The first day of Style week, however, will not be a sales day, but with the great displays of spring and summer goods placed before the public for inspection, merchants feel that the three following days should set new high records for their stores.

ANTI-TIPPING BILL PASSES SENATE

Madison, Wis., March 18.—A strict anti-tipping bill, applying to hotels, restaurants, barber shops, railroad trains and public places and as amended penalizing the employer of underpaid servants as well as the recipient of gratuities, passed the senate by a vote of 27 to 4. The dissenters were Senators Hansen, Perry, Stevens and Tompkins.

Senator Otto Bosshard, La Crosse, its author, declared the fear of its becoming a dead letter would never be realized so long as several thousand active traveling men were on the job.

After a warm discussion the senate referred back to the committee the Perry bill changing the official state paper from the State Journal to the Evening Wisconsin and with an amendment it will be given another hearing.

The senate passed the Fairchild bills giving the governor larger powers in the organization of the state militia, especially in the direction of making it conform with the system adopted by the regular army.

The Weissleder bills, prohibiting the collection of telephone charges in advance and authorizing the use of slugs in telephone boxes were recommended for death.

The senate adopted by a rising vote a memorial offered by Senator W. J. Bichler to the life and services of the late Judge W. H. Seaman of Sheboygan.

The La Crosse normal school won a point today when the assembly by a vote of 57 to 33 reconsidered the vote by which it refused to kill the Bradley bill repealing the $45,000 appropriation for a physical education bill, and on motion of Speaker Whittet from the floor, sent the bill to the finance committee for further consideration.

Money Due Railroads.

Washington, March 18.—Attorneys for several Eastern railroads today filed a brief in the supreme court in support of their contention that the government has illegally retained some $35,000,000 due to the railroads for transportation of mails. The brief is in a test case, to be argued orally April 5.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, and stomach ache, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. SUES CITY FOR DAMAGES.

A jury in Judge Cant's division of the district court is out this afternoon deliberating on the question of what damages, if any, Mrs. Minnie Montgomery is entitled to recover from the city for injuries which she claims to have sustained in a fall on a defective sidewalk, Sept. 16, 1914.

Mrs. Montgomery testified that she was walking on a wooden sidewalk on Maple street between Quince and Lemon streets on the afternoon of the day in question, when a cleat nailed to the walk, to prevent pedestrians from slipping, gave away and caused her to fall.

She alleges that the fall was responsible for an abscess which formed ten days later, for which she was obliged to go to a hospital for ten days. Mrs. Montgomery is suing for $1,078.65. She is represented by T. J. McKeon. William P. Harrison appeared for the city.

ELKS FAVOR DENTAL CLINIC

Woman's Council Committee Gets Generous Support From Antlered Tribe—Letter Sent to All Fraternal Organizations.

Voting to co-operate with the Duluth Woman's council in a campaign to install a free dental clinic in Central high school, members of the Elks' lodge last night raised a considerable sum for the project.

The Woman's council is selling a special tooth paste, and will use the proceeds of the sale to help start a clinic for the students, so that their teeth may be cared for properly in the schools.

Individual members of the Elks' lodge purchased a large amount of the paste, as requested by the women.

Dentists Are Ready.

"We are ready to start the clinic," declared W. E. Mentzer, president of the Duluth District Dental society, "just as soon as we are furnished with charts showing the condition of the children's teeth.

"These charts will be made in duplicate, one copy going to the parents and the other being kept for reference by the dentist. The society probably will retain some young dentist on a salary, to do the work in the schools."

Mrs. C. J. Le Sure, 1712 East First street, chairman of the dental clinic committee of the Woman's council, is enthusiastic about the plan and believes that it will be very successful.

The following is a copy of the letter sent to all fraternal organizations in Duluth:

"For several years past the school board, the dentists and the physicians of our city have been firm in their belief that a free dental clinic in connection with our public schools was absolutely essential to the welfare and health of a great proportion of the school children.

"Sharing in this belief, the Woman's council of Duluth is taking steps to establish such a clinic. The school board and the dentists of the city have promised their hearty co-operation in the work, and the former has offered a room and the services of a trained assistant free, if the women will raise the money necessary to equip such room.

"The matter of obtaining these funds has been placed by the Woman's council in the hands of a free dental clinic committee, of which Mrs. C. J. Lesure is chairman and Mrs. Carl Lonegren is treasurer.

Do Not Ask Donations.

"This committee does not wish to ask for donations. They propose a workable plan of community co-operation and support for financing this clinic, which ought to meet with the hearty approval of every man and woman in our city. This plan has been used very successfully in some of the large cities of our country, particularly in Cleveland, Ohio, where five dental clinics have been established and are being supported thereby.

"Briefly stated, the plan is as follows: The National Mouth Hygiene association manufactures a dental cream of the very highest quality and purity, which is indorsed by Dr. Wiley and by the dentists of our city. It is put up in large tubes, four tubes in a box, and sells for $1. These boxes are furnished to us by the National Mouth Hygiene association at cost, or for about 45 cents per box, so that on every box we sell we make 55 cents profit. The committee would like to have every man and woman in our city who uses dental creams buy one of these boxes, and by so doing they will not only get four tubes of the very best tooth paste manufactured, but will, at the same time, be aiding in this great work of helping to care for the mouths and teeth of the children of our community whose parents cannot well afford to incur dentists' bills.

"To enable us to get this tooth paste at the low price above stated, it is necessary that we order the same in wholesale lots and have it sent by freight. We are therefore submitting herewith a sample box of the paste and a subscription list. We would like to have each man sign his name to this list and pay a dollar, for which he will receive a little receipt slip, and when the dentifrice arrives, which will be in about two weeks' time, it will be delivered to him.

Poisoned By Bad Teeth.

"A recent examination of a number of children in our public schools revealed a most distressing state of affairs. Many children who were backward in their studies, hard to control, listless, ambitionless and anemic in appearance, were found to have bad teeth from which their stomachs and systems were being poisoned and their general health undermined.

"If we can be the means of helping some of these children to regain the health and vigor to which every child is by nature entitled, we will indeed be doing a good work.

"We ask the co-operation of every member of your organization in the support of this work. We desire to obtain this money as quickly as possible so that the clinic may be established and the room equipped.

"As a preliminary to the work, the dentists of the city plan to go into the schools in a very short time, where they will make an examination of the mouth of every child present. Duplicate charts will be made of the condition of each child's mouth, one of which charts will be sent to the parents and the other filed with the dental clinic for future reference.

"Trusting that we may receive your support and co-operation in this work, I am,

"MRS. C. J. LESURE, Chairman.
"MRS. C. E. LONEGREN, Treasurer.
"MRS. F. J. O'DONNELL, Secretary.
"MRS. C. E. SPRING.
"MRS. J. T. WATSON.
"MRS. H. J. GRANNIS.
"MRS. H. H. PHELPS.
"MRS. E. L. TWOHY.
"MRS. ARTHUR BARNES.
"Dental Clinic Committee, Woman's Council."

The following is a list of the men who have agreed to act as a board of sponsors for the dental clinic committee of the Woman's council in their work of raising the money and equipping a room for the establishment of a free dental clinic in connection with our public schools: R. E. Denfeld, F. A. Brewer, Millie Bunnell, H. H. Phelps, Edward A. Silberstein, W. A. Pond, George A. Gray, Dr. D. E. Seashore, Stephen H. Jones, William A. McGonagle, W. I. Prince, Rev. George E. Shilowey, Rabbi M. Lefkovits and J. U. Sebenius.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PROGRAM

Irish Music at Cathedral Auditorium—Rev. Patrick J. O'Mahoney Gives Address on Heroes of Ireland.

A delightful program of Irish music was given last evening in the auditorium of the Sacred Heart cathedral by the choir, assisted by soloists.

Helmer's orchestra, that played with great spirit, opened the program with a medley of Irish songs and later in the evening gave "Light Cavalry" by Suppe.

The two numbers given by the choir were "Has Sorrow Thy Young Heart Shaded?" and "The Minstrel Boy" under the direction of J. Golcz.

Mrs. J. Frederick Finkelson's violin solos, "The Last Glimpse of Erin" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" were applauded heartily and the popular violinist gave equally enjoyable encores.

"A Little Bit of Heaven," the encore given by Charles Young to Balfe's "Killarney," so delighted his audience that he was compelled to sing to them again the history of Ireland that told of the angels, "who sprinkled it with star-dust just to make the shamrocks grow."

Mrs. Ball's Numbers.

Mrs. Leo A. Ball's strong, clear soprano voice was heard to advantage in the touching old song, "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Hall" and "The Dear Little Shamrock." The old but ever new "Come Back to Erin" was the pleasing number given by J. E. Costes. Mrs. A. A. Beslaurles, who was to have given a vocal number, was unable to take part on account of illness.

Miss Theresa Lynn, the organist of the Sacred Heart choir, who arranged the program and was the accompanist of the evening, added to the enjoyment of the program by her sympathetic accompaniments.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. Patrick J. O'Mahoney of Superior, who reminded his audience that Irishmen owe everything to St. Patrick, the apostle of their island, and who pointed out the parts played by Irishmen on battlefields not only in Ireland but all over the world. "It was in defense of right against might that they drenched the land of Tara with their blood and then after they had been the victims of treachery and broken treaties they went with their swords from camp to camp to Europe in defense of right. Toward the end of the seventeenth century, exiled Irish schoolmasters came to America and imbued their pupils with ideas of founding a republic. The first shot of the revolution was fired by John Sullivan of New Hampshire and the first naval engagement of the Revolutionary war, 'the Lexington of the sea,' as Cooper calls it, was fought by an O'Brien, who had his five brothers with him. It was said that one-half the soldiers in Washington's army were Irish, one-fourth native born and the other fourth Scotch or English or a mixture of Scotch and English. Americans would feel the sad effect if the Irish people were taken out of her life."

DINNER-DANCE.

St. Patrick's Day Decorations at Kitchi Gammi Club.

At the St. Patrick's day dinner-dance at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening, that took the place of the usual Thursday dancing party, dancing and dining alternated throughout the evening in the main dining room that was decorated effectively with green. A lattice work of green and white was used on the ceiling, and flat bouquets of green and white were placed against the wall lights. The tables were arranged around the edge of the room, the center of which was left for the dancing that was enjoyed between courses. St. Patrick's day favors of flags, shamrocks, fans and cigars marked the places at the tables. Miller's orchestra gave a special program of Irish music.

Expects Busy Summer.

Walter G. Baldwin, manager of the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum, foresees a very busy tourist season for Duluth.

"The transcontinental railroad trip to the California expositions makes a very long and tedious railroad journey," said Mr. Baldwin, "and those who are wise will break it with a lake trip, especially during the summer months. The lake trip will offer a cool and refreshing break from the hot, dusty journey. For that reason Duluth should get the majority of the tourists who are headed from the East to the Pacific coast, at least one way. This city should enjoy the biggest tourist traffic it has ever seen, and the city should be crowded with visitors from June 1 to Oct. 1. For that reason we are looking forward to a busy summer with the stock company. We want to do our share toward offering the best amusement we can to these summer visitors, and we are planning some big productions for the summer months."

This week the Baldwin Players are appearing in "Life's Shop Window" and next week, beginning with the Sunday matinee, "The Confession" will be the attraction. For five days beginning March 28, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be offered, giving way the last two days of the week to a road show.

New Bill at Grand.

Comedy constitutes the major portion of the new bill opening at the New Grand this afternoon with novelty filling in.

Madison and Nace in harmony singing offer a diversion that is pleasing and entertaining and which gives them ample opportunity to display their talent as vocalists.

Arthur Van and Gladys Pearce in a one-cat comedy classic are in a class of their own. The sketch, "Get a License," contains a laugh a second due to their clever handling.

Lawrence Johnson, king of voice throwers, offers a ventriloquist act out of the usual run. He entertains in a style that is most pleasing and original.

The Four Charles in an European transformation novelty provide a half hour of legerdemain, juggling and illusions. Their act is a distinct novelty full of pleasant surprises set off by elaborate scenery and electrical trickery.

The Hearst-Selig News is brimming over with interest. The fast Lackawanna express plunges from the rails at Marion, N. J., endangering the lives of hundreds; the Boy Scouts in the annual affair at Washington, D. C., and Grace Darling, the news reporter, on a trip through the Panama canal are among the interesting events.

The photoplay feature is, "The Lady of the Cyclamen" in two reels, and is full of heart interest. One of the Helen Holmes stories of railroad life, "The Open Drawbridge"; a comedy, "Rastus Knew It Wasn't," and a western play complete the bill.

"David Harum."

William H. Crane as David gives a great bit of character work in "David Harum," playing at the Rex today. Aunt Polly is excellent and Hal Clarendon as Chet-Timmons and Harold Lockwood as the new cashier, who takes Chet's place, are all well contrasted types, forming a well-balanced cast. "David Harum" is a picture one will thoroughly enjoy

It is doubtful if many other American works of drama or fiction have achieved such a widespread and instantaneous success as did the book "David Harum" and the play.

At the Zelda.

"Money," the five-act film, opened a three-day engagement at the Zelda theater this morning. James Keane is the writer and producer. The picture is a melodrama in all senses of the word, being full of action. Capital versus labor is the theme. The lavishness and debauchery evidenced in the home of the Croesus of the business world afford a contrast to the squalor and suffering vividly depicted in the homes of the employes or the slaves of the financial power.

Flowers Under Voile.

Washington Star: A great deal has been said anent the fact that many of the new fashions look as if they had been copied from the photographs in the family album. One is more and more impressed with this thought as the season advances. Certain it is that there is a decidedly old-fashioned look about many of our clothes.

And have you seen the hats that look as if they were trimmed with wax flowers under glass? Surely you remember seeing some time, in some old-fashioned drawing room, waxed flowers under a little dome of glass? This new method of hat trimming is suggestive of the waxed flowers.

The hats so trimmed have brims that curl or bend upward a little at the edge—perhaps half an inch is the depth of the bent or curled part of the brim. A layer of colored silk voile or chiffon is stretched from the edge of the brim to the crown, and in the space so covered flowers are laid, rather flatly, around the brim. The color effects so gained are charming. For instance, a faded violet voile is stretched from the edge of the curled brim of a peacock-blue straw hat, and the flowers under the voile are in various shades of rose and yellow. The color effect resulting is really charming.

Throughout the retail district of Duluth, famous for its splendid stores, new fashions taken from every leading fashion center of the world, have arrived.

The Herald will publish a daily series of fashions showing the authoritative styles in party gowns, afternoon frocks, street suits, outing garb and motoring costumes selected from garments now on exhibition in the leading Duluth stores.

Models from these establishments will pose for The Herald camera.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Railroad Lunch Monopolies.

If it ever comes to government ownership of railroads there will be one thing which Uncle Sam will make a very decided change in at once, unless he wishes to be overburdened with complaints, and this is the small monopolies that flourish in the railroad stations of every city in the country.

In all of the large stations in the country the restaurant and lunch counter privileges are usually leased for a term of years to the highest bidder. These lunch counter monopolies exist at way stations, too, way out in the country, but they differ not at all from their city cousins, except that the food is usually poorer. The prices are fully as exorbitant.

Quite recently, with less than twenty minutes to spare, I climbed up on the stool at a lunch counter in a railroad station, prepared to do full justice to a most delicious looking piece of custard pie. But alas for appearances. The pie was flat and tasteless, the under crust soggy, and the coffee was such that I couldn't drink it. A big yellow peach finally tempted me, but it proved wilted and tasteless. With disgust, I asked for my check.

The check for 30 cents that was handed to me for what was not worth 15 cents, and not worth that under the circumstances, did not make me feel any too kindly toward that particular establishment. But really what made me rise in my wrath was to find out that at the parcel room an attendant charged me 20 cents for guarding two small grips for less than half an hour. I felt just as though my money was being stolen from me and wished for the time being that I was a man, that I might express my feelings and tell certain people a few things.

All monopolies breed criminality, and this railroad grab is a monopoly which, in principle, is the same as the large ones against which the government legislates. The only distinguishing feature is its size. Those who control the privileges of supplying the small needs of the traveling public charge exorbitant prices for poor or indifferently good things or accommodation.

Those who control these monopolies know that people must take their goods or go without, in many instances, and consequently the prices are set at the highest notch that the public will stand. They buy under protest, but this matters not to the tradesman. Such a condition is always to be found where there is a demand and no competition.

All the girls you like will be there!"

BACK OF THE WAR TALK.

"I oppose war unless I am willing to ask the government to place me in the front ranks of our army," said Vice President Marshall in a talk at Chicago yesterday, and he intimated that it would be more becoming for those who would see this country at war to join the army before they did their writing and talking on the subject.

All of which is very true, but it doesn't get to the point. The fact is that nobody wants war—except perhaps a few of the men already in the army who have fitted themselves to make war their profession.

But the men who are talking and writing about the nation's honor and "multiplying insults" from other countries and what we ought to do to Mexico and England and Germany and Japan and all the rest of them—those men don't want war. They would fight to the last drop of ink against being enrolled as soldiers to uphold the nation's honor. They would shriek curses both loud and deep on the head of anybody who tried to make them stand up and face hostile bullets—dum-dum or otherwise.

What they want is not war, but political pap. They are the outs, you will notice. They are the men who see no chance to get something extra for themselves or their friends unless the party that favors special privileges for some and equal rights for nobody is in power.

What they want is not war, but to oust Woodrow Wilson from the White House and to restore the conditions of Federal favoritism and political plunder that existed before he went into the White House. They haven't been able to find anything real to get hold of as a means to attack President Wilson, and so they are yelling about war and national honor and insults from abroad—and trying by their outcries to discredit an administration that has done more for the country as an entirety, both at home and abroad, than has been done by any other administration since that of Abraham Lincoln.

Don't be scared or excited over the war talk. We're not going to war. Back of all the shouting and the tumult of the jingoes is just one thing—politics—the kind of politics that cares not a rap for anything but the fostering of its own private pets.

A lot of people who wept with rage over our failure to attack England for searching American ships are perfectly satisfied with our peaceful policy regarding the sinking of the William P. Frye.

MEN AND THE LAWS.

Governor Whitman of New York has made a pronouncement that will bear emphasizing in every section of the country. What he said was to the effect that he depends a good deal more on good men to execute and administer the laws than he does on the wording of the statutes.

That is something we are too likely to forget. We spring up in excitement and demand this or that law, and when it is passed we either go off somewhere and forget it, or leave its enforcement to somebody who isn't at all the kind of man to whom such a task should be left.

It may be that some time this old world is going to get away from the human element in the management of public affairs, but that time, if it is to come at all, is a long way off yet. Just as a striking sample of what this element involves, take the case of South Carolina.

Everybody who reads knows what South Carolina has been through with Cole Blease as governor. Everybody who follows public affairs in other states knows that Manning was elected to succeed Blease last fall. But it is only recently that some of the characteristics of the new governor have come to the general knowledge. An incident cited is that of Mayor Grace of Charleston, S. C., who announced that among a series of reforms he proposed to enforce were the following:

The closing of "blind tigers" at midnight and on Sundays; the shutting off of illuminated signs which lead to "places of lawlessness;" the "absolute prevention" of liquor-selling to boys, "and especially" those in school uniforms, and also to men when they reach a certain stage of intoxication, and "the measurable restriction of houses of ill-fame."

That was Mayor Grace's program—and it would seem to be unique in the history of formal announcements, whatever it might be in actual practice. But it didn't hit Governor Manning's notions at all. So the governor telegraphed Mayor Grace that "this statement practically admits that violations of the laws will be allowed by the city officials," and urging the mayor "not to condone" violations of the laws. Then he handed the mayor a statement of principle that, however, much it may be at variance with notions of some public men, is true enough to get a hand-clap from everybody who is whole-heartedly interested in public affairs. Here is the sentence:

NEITHER YOU NOR I ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE LAWS ON THE STATUTE BOOKS, BUT WE ARE BOTH CHARGED WITH ENFORCING THEM. OUR DUTY IS PLAIN.

The difference is one of men, of character. It is a difference that is likely to appear in any office at any time. The only way to avoid it is for the voters to stay awake and on the job.

Governor Whitman's stand is a sound one—the laws have less to do with government than do the men who are given the authority and responsibility for the enforcement of the laws. The old quotation could well be remodeled to read, "Let me name the executives of a government and I care not who makes it laws."

Will the first baseball stories be written in war terms, or will the war news begin to be reported in the form of runs, hits and errors?

A PUBLIC DEFENDER.

Minneapolis wants a public defender and has gone to the legislature to get permission to have one. Minneapolis is on the right track.

We have reached a stage in our jurisprudence in which the public prosecutor is no longer merely a seeker of justice, but is an active partisan against the person accused, whoever he may be or whatever the charge made. No doubt this is all right. Certainly it is human nature. But the fact remains that the present system pits the power and resources of the state against those of an individual; and often the individual has little power and no resources, though as a citizen of the state he is entitled to its aid and protection, and under the principles of our own law is not to be considered to have forfeited that aid and protection until he is proved to have done so.

It is rather anomalous that the very state which the good citizen is doing his best to support should become an instrument to try to crush and dishonor him if a set of circumstances should happen to bring him before the courts on one charge or another. Yet that is exactly the position many a man has found himself in, and it is the condition that would be remedied by having a public defender as well as a public prosecutor in our courts.

But Minneapolis is not the only place where such an official is needed. The size of the city has little to do with the case. There are some smaller places where a public defender would be a most welcome addition to the legal circle. In one form or another, the legislature would do well to grant the request of Minneapolis, but to frame the law in such a manner that other communities could take the same means of seeking to insure justice in the local courts.

One of the puzzling things is that the poet should have called the young man's fancy "lidle."

IS IT THE LAST WAR?

Lord Kitchener's prophecy that with the end of winter the war activities would increase is coming true Within the last few days the world has been definitely notified of the sinking of the Dresden, and now comes the report of the blowing up of the Karlsruhe, though whether this was the act of an enemy or an accident is not made clear in the early reports. And there are the almost one-a-day sinking of merchant ships.

But the sea is not the only place where the war is becoming more intense. Both in the east and in the west the armies are increasing the frequency and intensity of their attacks. One place after another is being reported as having been "turned into a shambles," and sections of country that have heretofore only felt the passing of the war are being laid waste by shell fire.

Nor is the Dardanelles fighting, which links the battles on sea and land, finished, by any means.

Recently there seems to have been a lapsing of aerial attacks on both sides—unless the novelty of such attacks has so far worn off that the news agencies no longer report any but the extraordinary ones. It may be that the pressure of world opinion regarding the danger to noncombatants in such attacks has had something to do with the apparent lessening of them, but it is much more likely that weather or other conditions have not been right for the aeronauts and aviators.

The activities are increasing—and with them is increasing the multiplication of the horrors of war, the butchery, the waste, the desolation. Will the world never awake to the dreadfulness of it all? Will the men who are creating this havoc never sicken of it?

In its early days there were predictions that this would be the last war in the world's history. Perhaps its unparalleled losses and suffering are working to that end.

Illinois' legislature is threatening to pass a law to forbid people's swearing at it. Most legislatures would prefer to pass laws that wouldn't tempt the people to swear.

What Is the Matter With the United States?

By Herbert N. Casson, reprinted by courtesy of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

"What is the matter with the United States?"

As I have been residing in London since the beginning of the war, I have been hearing this question asked on all sides. I have never heard any satisfactory answer. No one seems to know.

Why are the American factories not running night and day? Why are the railroads not opening up new territories and getting ready for the millions of immigrants who have already made up their minds to leave Europe as soon as the war is over?

Why are there not fifty American drummers in London right now, trying to sell $200,000,000 worth of American goods in place of the goods that were bought last year from Germany and Austria?

Why have advertisers become quitters, just at the time when their advertisements were most needed and most effective in cheering on the business forces of the United States?

From the European point of view, the United States is a heaven of peace and security and prosperity. It has no troubles that it dare mention to Belgium or Austria or France or Germany or Servia or Great Britain or Russia.

Every tenth Briton has enlisted. Every tenth Frenchman is at the front. Every tenth Belgian is dead. What does the United States know of the trouble?

If I could afford it, I would charter the Mauretania and Lusitania and convey a party of 5,000 American advertisers to Europe for a trip of education. I would give them a week in London, a week in Paris, and a week in Antwerp.

I would let them look at the United States from the scene of war. I would give them a look at real trouble. I would let them see trains, ten at a time, five minutes apart, packed with the maimed and the dying.

I would let them hear, from fragmentary survivors, the incredible story of battlefields 150 miles wide, and armies that are greater than the entire population of Texas.

I would let them see graves 100 yards long and full, and Belgium, the country that was, nothing now but 12,000 square miles of wreckage.

Then, when they began to understand, to some slight extent, the magnitude and awfulness of this war, I would say to them:

"Now go back and appreciate the United States. Realize your opportunities. Don't start digging trenches when nobody is firing at you. Don't fall down when you have not been hit. Don't be blind to the most glorious chance you have ever had in your life.

"Go back and advertise. Get ready for the most tremendous business boom that any nation ever had. Build your factories bigger. Train more salesmen. Borrow more money. Go ahead, and thank God that you are alive and that your family is alive, and that you are living in a land that is at peace at a time when nearly the whole world is at war."

"We're With You, Uncle Sam!"

While all Europe is a shambles
And the whole world is at war,
And half the land the sun shines on
Is drenched in human gore,
When every nation counts the men
It knows are tried and true,
We send this message to you, Sam:
"Alaska stands with you!"

You've never treated us quite right;
You've grabbed away our coal
And reserved all our firewood,
And what we used we've stole;
You soaked us on our cable tolls,
But we don't give a damn—
Even at twenty-eight cents per word
We're with you, Uncle Sam!

We're quite unused to luxuries,
We've always played alone;
When we asked for help to build our trails
You handed us a stone;
You four-flushed us on the railroad,
But we don't give a damn—
If they monkey with the Eagle,
We're with you, Uncle Sam!

You gave us leave to make some laws,
Then tied our hands behind;
This gift to us was just the same
As pictures to the blind.
Your laws all have some joker
Made to catch some sourdough,
And it's hard to beat your game, Sam,
When it's framed up down below.
We've always been the dumping-ground
For your political misfits,
But, Sam, if you're in trouble
We're willing to cry quits.
We've never had an even break,
But we don't give a damn—
If the Lion growls, remember this:
We're with you, Uncle Sam!

We're used to meeting troubles,
And if you put us to the test
You'll find Alaska loves you, Sam,
Far better than the rest.
But, Sam, when this is over,
As the morning follows night,
Pray give us some attention
And get some matters right.
We need some decent cable rates,
We need some decent mails,
We need some decent coast lights,
We need some decent trails,
You've given these to all the rest,
But we don't give a damn—
If it's grown men you're needing,
We're with you, Uncle Sam!

Bombay's Huge Road Mirror.

New York Independent: Road mirrors are not rare in England, where they are set at dangerous turns or crossings to warn drivers of vehicles or pedestrians just around the corner. Their success was immediate and some American cities are showing an interest in the device. Bombay, however, has led the world with the largest road mirror on record as well as the first in India. It is set at the corner of Gamdevi road and Hughes road, a dangerous point, and measures 5 by 10 feet, which is seven times as large as the average English road mirror.

A Memorable Speech

By Frederick Haroyard.

Washington, March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—March 7 is an anniversary momentous in the political history of our nation. He does not precisely say so in his book, but manifestly the latest of the successors of George F. Hoar, the successors of Charles Sumner in the senate of the United States from Massachusetts, believed, and very clearly argued, that on March 7, 1850, Daniel Webster saved the country from immediate secession and successful disunion. That speech was a surrender of the anti-slavery element to Southern opinion so far as Webster represented the conservative element of New England opposed to slavery. He was the most consummate orator our country has produced, and doubtless its biggest if not its finest mind. Henry Clay was a more forceful personality, but not so great an intellect; John C. Calhoun had a more exquisite mind, but not so wide in its scope or so powerful in its aggregate.

Had secession come in 1850 there is little doubt that the South would have triumphed in the struggle. Two events postponed the day—the speech of Webster that vitalized the compromise of Clay, and the death of President Taylor, who took his initiative from William H. Seward and was hostile to the compromise. Nothing truer was ever imagined than that

"There's a divinity that shapes our ends,
Rough-hew them how we will."

Taylor was taken to heaven; Webster was taken into the cabinet. Clay died the most admired and the best-loved American of his century. Douglas became leader of his party in the senate. Franklin Pearce was chosen president and Jefferson Davis dominated his administration.

* * *

All this was but a fixing for the big war that came in 1861, and which would have come and fought to a finish though there had not been a negro slave on the Western hemisphere. Webster died in 1852. He survived Clay, who had survived Calhoun, who had survived Jackson, and all of them were survived by Benton. The North and the South were partners engaged in the government business at Washington, D. C. As was natural the South, the weaker partner, clung to the articles of copartnership and appealed to the supreme court to decide the thing, which was done, and the South gained the lawsuit as determined in the case of Dred Scott. The North, the stronger partner, said the conflict was irrepressible, and appealed to a "higher law." Then the South proceeded to withdraw from the firm. The North objected and war came.

But to get back to Webster. That "seventh of March speech" was a bid for the support of Southern Whigs for the nomination for president in 1852. There was much of the earth earthy about the "god-like Daniel," and it is erroneous to argue that he delivered that splendid effort with a view to a preservation of the Union, as Mr. Hoar seems to opine, though there is much to sustain the idea that on that day Daniel Webster did save the Union.

At the South the Whigs were more pro-slavery than the Democrats; at the North the Whigs were more anti-slavery than the Democrats. In Massachusetts there were "Cotton Whigs" and "Conscience Whigs." The former were very tolerant of slavery, and the leaders were Webster, Rufus Choate, Edward Everett, R. C. Winthrop and Benjamin R. Curtis. The "Conscience Whigs" were not quite sure that it met with the approval of heaven to get rich spinning cotton produced by slave labor. Charles Sumner and Wendell Phillips were not exactly Whigs, but certainly each of them had more conscience, such as it was, than the law ought to allow anybody to have at any time anywhere.

Benjamin R. Curtis was as profound a jurist as our country ever produced—bar none. On the supreme bench he rendered the dissenting opinion in the Dred Scott case. His last public appearance at the bar was as counsel for President Johnson in the impeachment proceeding, and there and then he expounded principles of law that turned the scale. It was a magnificent close of a great career at the bar.

Curtis, the great lawyer that he was, gave a legal opinion that Charles Sumner, George S. Boutwell, Samuel Hoar and others in New England should be indicted, tried, convicted and punished for conspiracy "to break up the Whig party of Massachusetts." If that had been done, and the proceeding made the law of the land, what would have happened to Teddy Roosevelt in 1912 when he busted the G. O. P.?

Again to go back to Webster. This man had saved the country from war in 1851 when the North was comparatively weak in men and money, and the South relatively stronger in valor and more contented in opinion. There can be little doubt that had the war come a decade earlier the movement for disunion would have prevailed even on the field of battle, and it is doubtful if there had been a battle, as certainly there would not have been had secession come in 1820 as was then threatened.

Webster was overwhelmed at his own home for the "seventh of March speech." He had not one drop of Yankee blood in his veins. He was everything other than a Puritan in impulse and conduct, and here was how he was greeted by the Yankee poet, Whittier:

"So fallen! so lost! the light withdrawn
Which once he wore!
The glory from his gray hairs gone
Forevermore!

* * * * * * *

Then pay the reverence of old days
To his dead fame.
Walk backward with averted gaze
To hide the shame.

This poet had writ a piece laudatory of Faneuil hall, "Cradle of Liberty," that was builded with money obtained by old Peter Faneuil in the African slave trade. And this hall was closed to Webster when he appeared in Boston asking a hearing to reply to the slanders of his fanatic detractors.

Swine in Old London.

London Chronicle: We hear much today of the dangers of the London streets, but we are spared some of the perils of an earlier age. The recently published "Calendar of Coroners' Rolls for the City" tells how the many swine wandering about the streets were once London's greatest nuisance. In 1322 an inquest was held on a child who was attacked in her cradle by a pig which had wandered in through the open door of her parents' shop. And a little earlier letters patent were issued to an infant who lost an ear from the same cause. The letters certified the cause of the accident, lest later on the uncharitable should say that the ear had been cut off in the pillory by the knife of the law.

Another Chance for the Exporter.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the last presidential campaign, when Sam Blythe was traveling over the country sizing up the situation, he met up with a friend who confided that he had just bet $200 on Taft.

"I'm sorry to hear that," said Blythe, "because you can't afford to lose the money. And Taft hasn't any more chance than a rabbit."

"You're sure of that?" asked the friend, nervously.

"Absolutely certain. Now the thing for you to do is to hedge. Bet $200 more against Taft and come out even."

A week later Blythe met his friend again.

"Well, I took your advice and hedged," gurgled the friend.

"Good! Bet two hundred Taft isn't elected, eh?"

"Yes, I bet $200 on Roosevelt."

As he was waiting for a train in a Southern town a while ago, Secretary Bryan was accosted by a neatly-dressed colored man who asked him if he could spare just a minute.

"What was it you wanted?" asked Bryan.

"All I wants," explained the colored man, "is simply for you to shake hands with me and then say, 'Good-by, Henry'—it won't take you but a minute, sah, and I just now made a bet with a fren' o' mine stanin' over yonnuh that I knowed you. If he sees us talkin' all friendly I wins my bet."

"I don't like to encourage you to make bets," smiled Bryan, "but I guess you do know me now. Good-by, Henry—and good luck to you."

Senator John F. Shafroth of Colorado, on a trip across the country a while ago, fell into conversation with a stranger who had just perpetrated a grim joke. The man first attracted Shafroth's attention by smiling peculiarly to himself. Then he jerked his thumb in the direction of a suitcase and remarked:

"I'll bet you can't guess what I've got in there."

And he was right. Shafroth couldn't guess it.

"I've got my uncle in there," volunteered the stranger. "He died away from home the other day and I had to go after the body. I decided to save express charges by having the body cremated. All there is left of uncle is right in that suitcase. But the joke of it is he would be fighting mad if he knew what I had done, because he was always violently prejudiced against cremation."

Representative Ashbrook of Ohio was never at any time a minister of the gospel. Yet to look at him you would declare that he is a preacher. He has a pair of little sideburns, wears a long coat, and his face suggests the clergy. Moreover, every year when the motion is made in the house of representatives to have the chaplain's prayers printed and bound as a public document, Ashbrook is almost invariably the person who arises to make the motion. There, however, the ministerial business ends. Ashbrook enjoys an occasional game of poker, and if the situation demands it, can swear as tidily as anybody else.

Congressman Joseph Taggart of Kansas has for years been opposed to the building of battleships. He was asked the other day if the present European war had not convinced him of the need of battleships.

"To the contrary," said Taggart, "it has shown me the danger of owning such contrivances. The trouble with a battleship is that it is too dangerous to the crew."

"And," asks Taggart, "just who is it that we're afraid of? Who is it that's going to come over here and harass us? Most of Europe is shooting itself to pieces and will be crippled for the next fifty years. If you've got an enemy who's lying in the hospital with all his ribs cracked and his skull mashed in, do you grow alarmed and wait around the corner for him with a shotgun?"

We Need Air

From the Moberly (Mo.) Monitor: Man, we learn, was first formed of the dust of the earth, and God breathed into his nostrils the breath of life.

There is both a reason and a result flowing from the fact that man first got inspiration through his nose. Volumes have been written on this feature of the face, but we have not room to dwell upon it and therefore wipe it from consideration.

The central thought is that the breath was the breath of life. When the corpus delicti had been made ready for life the machinery of man was not started by pouring in gasoline or whisky. Neither did the creator push down his gullet a dozen raw and an oyster slaw. He gave him not food or drink, but "stand back, gentlemen, and let him have air." Fresh air is absolutely necessary.

Heaven is only sixteen breaths and eighty-four heart beats away. We can do without water for thirty days. We can go without food for sixty days, but we must breathe in four minutes or we are gone goslings. We need wholesome food. We need pure water, but we need fresh air most of all. It fans the flame of health in the face and lights the spark of animation in the eye. Lacking fresh air, the sickly shades of sallow cheeks and broken tints of green and yellow at the corners of the mouth show that life's artist is out of madder and vermillion.

Air is free and there is no reason why we should not use it. The British embargo does not cover air nor is the war tax laid upon it. Remember, it costs you absolutely nothing and this fact alone should cause a general rush for fresh air. Many people are fitted by nature to give "a grand opening" for fresh air, but neglect it every day.

No person was ever known to take consumption when living in the open air. Many are cured of this deadly malady by fresh air. Fresh air is now coming in with early vegetables from the South and is the cheaper of the two.

Throw up the windows and let the luxury in.

The Country Newspaper Office.

From "Hempfield" by David Grayson in the American Magazine: A country newspaper office is one of the most democratic institutions in the world. The whole force, from proprietor down, works together and changes work. The editor is also compositor, and the compositor and office boy are reporters. No one poses as having any very superior knowledge, and it sometimes happens that a printer comfortably drawing his regular wages is better off for weeks at a time than the harassed proprietor.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

From Comments on Current Events.

Most Are Grateful Now.

Le Sueur News: The time will come when the people of the United States will thank President Wilson for preserving neutrality.

As It Should Be.

Slayton Herald: Those fellows that were so bitter against Governor Hammond at the last election and who feared that unless William E. Lee was elected, the affairs of state would suffer untold losses, have come to see the light and are now hurrahing for Minnesota's governor. As it should be, of course.

Good Appointments.

St. Peter Herald: Governor Hammond has appointed Albert Schaller, former state senator, to the state supreme bench. The selection was an admirable one, and the same may be said of the naming of Messrs. Michael and Daly as district judges.

Give North a Chance.

Pine River Sentinel-Blaze: Southern Minnesota state senators voted to repeal the Elwell road law, but we live in hopes that the house will give the repeal bill the deserved sleeping potion. Southern Minnesota should remember that their part of the state was developed at state expense when the railroads were given extensive land grants as inducements to build their roads. And it is no more than right that the northern part of the state should be permitted to operate under the Elwell law in getting suitable highways which are necessary to the opening of a vast empire for settlement.

A Straight Tip.

Buffalo Journal: Don't be too hard on the newspaper man when he says some things that do not make a hit with you; just thank your lucky stars for what he left unsaid.

Tackling a Big Job.

Luverne Journal: From the way the people are making their will felt in legislatures all over the land we doubt if Republicans are ready to go back to the leadership of Penrose and Barnes in national affairs, or here in Minnesota to the dominance of Ed Smith and Dar Reese. The "reorganizers," both in state and nation, have some work cut out for themselves to crush the hopes of the rank and file to make their party the vehicle of progress. However, the fight will be interesting, so let's make it a hot one.

Would Mean a Setback.

Greenbush Tribune: Petitions for repealing the Dunn good roads law are being circulated over the state. If there is one law that should not be repealed it is the Dunn road law. Already Roseau county has received much benefit from this law and should it be repealed it would mean a setback to our road work. Already a large part of State Road No. 1 is completed, and work will begin on roads leading to and connecting with this road as soon as it is completed. The object is to build good roads, and in one stretch, and not build a stretch here and there that are disconnected. We need good roads, and in order to have good roads we must have a good roads law. Therefore, we should give the Dunn law a fair trial before attempting to repeal same.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Never shall we conquer till we have learned to love.

Be sure he cannot love another much who loves not honor more. For that higher affection sustains and elevates the lower human love, casting around it a glory which mere personal feeling could never give.

Self-sacrifice, illuminated by love, is warmth and life; it is the death of Christ, the life of God, the blessedness and only proper life of a man.

When a man has learned to know the infinite love of God in Christ to him, then he discovers something which will not elude his hold, and an affection which will not grow cold, for the comparison of God's long-suffering and repeated pardon, with his own heartless ingratitude, convinces him that it is an unchangeable love.

Love excites the profoundest life of man, and each lower degree of love prepares the way for one that is higher. The love of God is the end of all, and I suppose that all must drop off, leaf by leaf, till the fruit is matured. The withering, no doubt, is often exquisitely painful; still we find that the heart cannot grow here of itself, and that it retains to the last its strong necessity of loving.—From "F. W. R."

"One family we dwell in Him,
One church, above, beneath."

No one ever gave a broader or truer definition of the church than Charles Wesley sung in those familiar lines. It would have been well if the church had never adopted a narrower one. The church is the family of God.—What the Y. M. C. A. Has Done for the Church.

Thou shalt rejoice in every good thing which the Lord thy God hath given unto thee.—Deut. xxvi, 11.

Rejoice evermore. In everything give thanks.—1 Thess. v, 16, 18.

Dayton, Ohio.

A Battle Born University.

New York Independent: The Germans are determined not to let the stress of conflict interfere with the continued development of that phase of their culture that has been the admiration of the outside world, namely their system of higher education. A new university has come into existence, during the war, at Frankfort on the Main.

The kaiser had signed its charter on Aug. 1, the same day as the declaration of war against Russia, and on its opening day sent a telegram from the field regretting that "the defense of the Fatherland" prevented his attending the inauguration in person. The greatest of German universities, Berlin, opened its doors in a time of strife second only to the present, for it dates from 1809, and Leyden, the greatest of the Dutch universities, owed its origin to the siege of that city by the Spanish in 1574.

One of the objects of the new university is the training of public officials and business men, whom the Germans very curiously seem to regard as needing education. Apparently they have never heard of our American theory that every man knows by natural instinct the art of mayoring or of salesmanship.

Only Insanitary.

Lafayette Courier: Already it is claimed that the proposed anti-free lunch law would be unconstitutional. We thought it was the lunch that was unconstitutional.

To Be Sure!

Another plan is that the states shall each adopt an enabling act under which the two cities may have one municipal government and one name, but each remain subject to the territorial jurisdiction and taxing powers of its respective state.

William Miller.

New York Herald: For several minutes the other day Magistrate Murphy was in doubt whether his ears were not playing false. Two policemen entered with a prisoner. The clerk of the court required the prisoner's name.

"William Miller," was the reply.

"What is the name of the complainant?"

"William Miller."

The court clerk, for whom the coincidence could hold nothing that would invoke other than his cold official interest, hesitated not.

"Your name?" he asked of the policeman who had made the arrest.

"William Miller." The magistrate appeared to grow uneasy. Still the clerk pursued his queries inexorably. "Alone?" he asked.

"No, this detective was with me."

Turning to the detective, the clerk asked, with just the slightest inflection, "Your name, please?"

"William Miller."

Further information developed the fact that the prisoner, William Miller, was 21 years old, that he was accused of stealing motor car tires, and that the complainant, William Miller, was an officer of a manufacturing firm.

BACK OF THE WAR TALK.

"I oppose war unless I am willing to ask the government to place me in the front ranks of our army," said Vice President Marshall in a talk at Chicago yesterday, and he intimated that it would be more becoming for those who would see this country at war to join the army before they did their writing and talking on the subject.

All of which is very true, but it doesn't get to the point. The fact is that nobody wants war—except perhaps a few of the men already in the army who have fitted themselves to make war their profession.

But the men who are talking and writing about the nation's honor and "multiplying insults" from other countries and what we ought to do to Mexico and England and Germany and Japan and all the rest of them—those men don't want war. They would fight to the last drop of ink against being enrolled as soldiers to uphold the nation's honor. They would shriek curses both loud and deep on the head of anybody who tried to make them stand up and face hostile bullets—dum-dum or otherwise.

What they want is not war, but political pap. They are the outs, you will notice. They are the men who see no chance to get something extra for themselves or their friends unless the party that favors special privileges for some and equal rights for nobody is in power.

What they want is not war, but to oust Woodrow Wilson from the White House and to restore the conditions of Federal favoritism and political plunder that existed before he went into the White House. They haven't been able to find anything real to get hold of as a means to attack President Wilson, and so they are yelling about war and national honor and insults from abroad—and trying by their outcries to discredit an administration that has done more for the country as an entirety, both at home and abroad, than has been done by any other administration since that of Abraham Lincoln.

Don't be scared or excited over the war talk. We're not going to war. Back of all the shouting and the tumult of the jingoes is just one thing—politics—the kind of politics that cares not a rap for anything but the fostering of its own private pets.

A lot of people who went with rare over our failure to attack England for searching American ships are perfectly satisfied with our peaceful policy regarding the sinking of the William P. Frye.

MEN AND THE LAWS.

Governor Whitman of New York has made a pronouncement that will bear emphasizing in every section of the country. What he said was to the effect that he depends a good deal more on good men to execute and administer the laws than he does on the wording of the statutes.

That is something we are too likely to forget. We spring up in excitement and demand this or that law, and when it is passed we either go off somewhere and forget it, or leave its enforcement to somebody who isn't at all the kind of man to whom such a task should be left.

It may be that some time this old world is going to get away from the human element in the management of public affairs, but that time, if it is to come at all, is a long way off yet. Just as a striking sample of what this element involves, take the case of South Carolina.

Everybody who reads knows what South Carolina has been through with Cole Blease as governor. Everybody who follows public affairs in other states knows that Manning was elected to succeed Blease last fall. But it is only recently that some of the characteristics of the new governor have come to the general knowledge. An incident cited is that of Mayor Grace of Charleston, S. C., who announced that among a series of reforms he proposed to enforce were the following:

The closing of "blind tigers" at midnight and on Sundays; the shutting off of illuminated signs which lead to "places of lawlessness;" the "absolute prevention" of liquor-selling to boys, "and especially" those in school uniforms, and also to men when they reach a certain stage of intoxication, and "the measurable restriction of houses of ill-fame."

That was Mayor Grace's program—and it would seem to be unique in the history of formal announcements, whatever it might be in actual practice. But it didn't hit Governor Manning's notions at all. So the governor telegraphed Mayor Grace that "this statement practically admits that violations of the laws will be allowed by the city officials," and urging the mayor "not to condone" violations of the laws. Then he handed the mayor a statement of principle that, however, much it may be at variance with notions of some public men, is true enough to get a hand-clap from everybody who is whole-heartedly interested in public affairs. Here is the sentence:

NEITHER YOU NOR I ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE LAWS ON THE STATUTE BOOKS, BUT WE ARE BOTH CHARGED WITH ENFORCING THEM. OUR DUTY IS PLAIN.

The difference is one of men, of character. It is a difference that is likely to appear in any office at any time. The only way to avoid it is for the voters to stay awake and on the job.

Governor Whitman's stand is a sound one—the laws have less to do with government than do the men who are given the authority and responsibility for the enforcement of the laws. The old quotation could well be remodeled to read, "Let me name the executives of a government and I care not who makes it laws."

Will the first baseball stories be written in war terms, or will the war news begin to be reported in the form of runs, hits and errors?

A PUBLIC DEFENDER.

Minneapolis wants a public defender and has gone to the legislature to get permission to have one. Minneapolis is on the right track.

We have reached a stage in our jurisprudence in which the public prosecutor is no longer merely a seeker of justice, but is an active partisan against the person accused, whoever he may be or whatever the charge made. No doubt this is all right. Certainly it is human nature. But the fact remains that the present system pits the power and resources of the state against those of an individual; and often the individual has little power and no resources, though as a citizen of the state he is entitled to its aid and protection, and under the principles of our own law is not to be considered to have forfeited that aid and protection until he is proved to have done so.

It is rather anomalous that the very state which the good citizen is doing his best to support should become an instrument to try to crush and dishonor him if a set of circumstances should happen to bring him before the courts on one charge or another. Yet that is exactly the position many a man has found himself in, and it is the condition that would be remedied by having a public defender as well as a public prosecutor in our courts.

But Minneapolis is not the only place where such an official is needed. The size of the city has little to do with the case. There are some smaller places where a public defender would be a most welcome addition to the legal circle. In one form or another, the legislature would do well to grant the request of Minneapolis, but to frame the law in such a manner that other communities could take the same means of seeking to insure justice in the local courts.

One of the puzzling things is that the poet should have called the young man's fancy "idle."

IS IT THE LAST WAR?

Lord Kitchener's prophecy that with the end of winter the war activities would increase is coming true. Within the last few days the world has been definitely notified of the sinking of the Dresden, and now comes the report of the blowing up of the Karlsruhe, though whether this was the act of an enemy or an accident is not made clear in the early reports. And there are the almost one-a-day sinking of merchant ships.

But the sea is not the only place where the war is becoming more intense. Both in the east and in the west the armies are increasing the frequency and intensity of their attacks. One place after another is being reported as having been "turned into a shambles," and sections of country that have heretofore only felt the passing of the war are being laid waste by shell fire.

Nor is the Dardanelles fighting, which links the battles on sea and land, finished, by any means.

Recently there seems to have been a lapsing of aerial attacks on both sides—unless the novelty of such attacks has so far worn off that the news agencies no longer report any but the extraordinary ones. It may be that the pressure of world opinion regarding the danger to noncombatants in such attacks has had something to do with the apparent lessening of them, but it is much more likely that weather or other conditions have not been right for the aeronauts and aviators.

The activities are increasing—and with them is increasing the multiplication of the horrors of war, the butchery, the waste, the desolation. Will the world never awake to the dreadfulness of it all? Will the men who are creating this havoc never sicken of it?

In its early days there were predictions that this would be the last war in the world's history. Perhaps its unparalleled losses and suffering are working to that end.

Illinois' legislature is threatening to pass a law to forbid people's swearing at it. Most legislatures would prefer to pass laws that wouldn't tempt the people to swear.

What Is the Matter With the United States?

By Herbert N. Casson, reprinted by courtesy of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

"What is the matter with the United States?"

As I have been residing in London since the beginning of the war, I have been hearing this question asked on all sides. I have never heard any satisfactory answer. No one seems to know.

Why are the American factories not running night and day? Why are the railroads not opening up new territories and getting ready for the millions of immigrants who have already made up their minds to leave Europe as soon as the war is over?

Why are there not fifty American drummers in London right now, trying to sell $200,000,000 worth of American goods in place of the goods that were bought last year from Germany and Austria?

Why have advertisers become quitters, just at the time when their advertisements were most needed and most effective in cheering on the business forces of the United States?

From the European point of view, the United States is a heaven of peace and security and prosperity. It has no troubles that it dare mention to Belgium or Austria or France or Germany or Servia or Great Britain or Russia.

Every tenth Briton has enlisted. Every tenth Frenchman is at the front. Every tenth Belgian is dead. What does the United States know of the trouble?

If I could afford it, I would charter the Mauretania and Lusitania and convey a party of 5,000 American advertisers to Europe for a trip of education. I would give them a week in London, a week in Paris, and a week in Antwerp.

I would let them look at the United States from the scene of war. I would give them a look at real trouble. I would let them see trains, ten at a time, five minutes apart, packed with the maimed and the dying.

I would let them hear, from fragmentary survivors, the incredible story of battle-fields 150 miles wide, and armies that are greater than the entire population of Texas.

I would let them see graves 100 yards long and full, and Belgium, the country that was, nothing now but 12,000 square miles of wreckage.

Then, when they began to understand, to some slight extent, the magnitude and awfulness of this war, I would say to them:

"Now go back and appreciate the United States. Realize your opportunities. Don't start digging trenches when nobody is firing at you. Don't fall down when you have not been hit. Don't be blind to the most glorious chance you have ever had in your life.

"Go back and advertise. Get ready for the most tremendous business boom that any nation ever had. Build your factories bigger. Train more salesmen. Borrow more money. Go ahead, and thank God that you are alive and that your family is alive, and that you are living in a land that is at peace at a time when nearly the whole world is at war."

"We're With You, Uncle Sam!"

While all Europe is a shambles
And the whole world is at war,
And half the land the sun shines on
Is drenched in human gore,
When every nation counts the men
It knows are tried and true,
We send this message to you, Sam:
"Alaska stands with you!"

You've never treated us quite right;
You've grabbed away our coal
And reserved all our firewood,
And what we used we've stole;
You soaked us on our cable tolls,
But we don't give a damn—
Even at twenty-eight cents per word
We're with you, Uncle Sam!

We're quite unused to luxuries,
We've always played alone;
When we asked for help to build our trails
You handed us a stone;
You four-flushed us on the railroad,
But we don't give a damn—
If they monkey with the Eagle,
We're with you, Uncle Sam!

You gave us leave to make some laws,
Then tied our hands behind;
This gift to us was just the same
As pictures to the blind.
Your laws all have some joker
Made to catch some sourdough,
And it's hard to beat your game, Sam,
When it's framed up down below.
We've always been the dumping-ground
For your political misfits,
But, Sam, if you're in trouble
We're willing to cry quits.
We've never had an even break,
But we don't give a damn—
If the Lion growls, remember this:
We're with you, Uncle Sam!

We're used to meeting troubles,
And if you put us to the test
You'll find Alaska loves you, Sam,
Far better than the rest.
But, Sam, when this is over,
As the morning follows night,
Pray give us some attention
And get some matters right.
We need some decent cable rates,
We need some decent mails,
We need some decent coast lights,
We need some decent trails,
You've given these to all the rest,
But we don't give a damn—
If it's grown men you're needing,
We're with you, Uncle Sam!

Bombay's Huge Road Mirror.

New York Independent: Road mirrors are not rare in England, where they are set at dangerous turns or crossings to warn drivers of vehicles or pedestrians just around the corner. Their success was immediate and some American cities are showing an interest in the device. Bombay, however, has led the world with the largest road mirror on record as well as the first in India. It is set at the corner of Gamdevi road and Hughes road, a dangerous point, and measures 5 by 10 feet, which is seven times as large as the average English road mirror.

A Memorable Speech

By Bovard.

Washington, March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—March 7 is an anniversary momentous in the political history of our republic. He does not precisely say so in his book, but manifestly the late George F. Hoar, the greatest of all the successors of Charles Sumner in the senate of the United States from Massachusetts, believed, and very nearly argued, that on March 7, 1850, Daniel Webster saved the country from immediate secession and successful disunion. That speech was a surrender of the anti-slavery element to Southern opinion so far as Webster represented the conservative element of New England opposed to slavery. He was the most consummate orator our country has produced, and doubtless its biggest if not its finest mind. Henry Clay was a more forceful personality, but not so great an intellect; John C. Calhoun had a more exquisite mind, but not so wide in its scope or so powerful in its aggregate.

Had secession come in 1850 there is little doubt that the South would have triumphed in the struggle. Two events postponed the day—the speech of Webster that vitalized the compromise of Clay, and the death of President Taylor, who took his initiative from William H. Seward and was hostile to the compromise. Nothing truer was ever imagined than that

"There's a divinity that shapes our ends,
Rough-hew them how we will."

Taylor was taken to heaven; Webster was taken into the cabinet. Clay died the most admired and the best-loved American of his century. Douglas became leader of his party in the senate. Franklin Pearce was chosen president and Jefferson Davis dominated his administration.

* * *

All this was but a fixing for the big war that came in 1861, and which would have come and fought to a finish though there had not been a negro slave on the Western hemisphere. Webster died in 1852. He survived Clay, who had survived Calhoun, who had survived Jackson, and all of them were survived by Benton. The North and the South were partners engaged in the government business at Washington, D. C. As was natural the South, the weaker partner, clung to the articles of copartnership and appealed to the supreme court to decide the thing, which was done, and the South gained the lawsuit as determined in the case of Dred Scott. The North, the stronger partner, said the conflict was irrepressible, and appealed to a "higher law." Then the South proceeded to withdraw from the firm. The North objected and war came.

But to get back to Webster. That "seventh of March speech" was a bid for the support of Southern Whigs for the nomination for president in 1852. There was much of the earth earthy about the "god-like Daniel," and it is erroneous to argue that he delivered that splendid effort with a view to a preservation of the Union, as Mr. Hoar seems to opine, though there is much to sustain the idea that on that day Daniel Webster did save the Union.

At the South the Whigs were more pro-slavery than the Democrats; at the North the Whigs were more anti-slavery than the Democrats. In Massachusetts there were "Cotton Whigs" and "Conscience Whigs." The former were very tolerant of slavery, and the leaders were Webster, Rufus Choate, Edward Everett, R. C. Winthrop and Benjamin R. Curtis. The "Conscience Whigs" were not quite sure that it met with the approval of heaven to get rich spinning cotton produced by slave labor. Charles Sumner and Wendell Phillips were not exactly Whigs, but certainly each of them had more conscience, such as it was, than the law ought to allow anybody to have at any time anywhere.

Benjamin R. Curtis was as profound a jurist as our country ever produced—bar none. On the supreme bench he rendered the dissenting opinion in the Dred Scott case. His last public appearance at the bar was as counsel for President Johnson in the impeachment proceeding, and there and then he expounded principles of law that turned the scale. It was a magnificent close of a great career at the bar.

Curtis, the great lawyer that he was, gave a legal opinion that Charles Sumner, George S. Boutwell, Samuel Hoar and others in New England should be indicted, tried, convicted and punished for conspiracy "to break up the Whig party of Massachusetts." If that had been done, and the proceeding made the law of the land, what would have happened to Teddy Roosevelt in 1912 when he busted the G. O. P.?

Again to go back to Webster. This man had saved the country from war in 1851 when the North was comparatively weak in men and money, and the South relatively stronger in valor and more contented in opinion. There can be little doubt that had the war come a decade earlier the movement for disunion would have prevailed even on the field of battle, and it is doubtful if there had been a battle, as certainly there would not have been had secession come in 1820 as was then threatened.

Webster was overwhelmed at his own home for the "seventh of March speech." He had not one drop of Yankee blood in his veins. He was everything other than a Puritan in impulse and conduct, and here was how he was greeted by the Yankee poet, Whittier:

"So fallen! so lost! the light withdrawn
Which once he wore!
The glory from his gray hairs gone
Forevermore!

* * * * * *

Then pay the reverence of old days
To his dead fame,
Walk backward with averted gaze
To hide the shame.

This poet had writ a piece laudatory of Faneuil hall, "Cradle of Liberty," that was builded with money obtained by old Peter Faneuil in the African slave trade. And this hall was closed to Webster when he appeared in Boston asking a hearing to reply to the slanders of his fanatic detractors.

Swine in Old London.

London Chronicle: We hear much today of the dangers of the London streets, but we are spared some of the perils of an earlier age. The recently published "Calendar of Coroners' Rolls for the City" tells how the many swine wandering about the streets were once London's greatest nuisance. In 1322 an inquest was held on a child who was attacked in her cradle by a pig which had wandered in through the open door of her parents' shop. And a little earlier letters patent were issued to an infant who lost an ear from the same cause. The letters certified the cause of the accident, lest later on the uncharitable should say that the ear had been cut off in the pillory by the knife of the law.

Another Chance for the Exporter.

New York World: If they do not bring this war to an end pretty soon, they will all be using the American flag as a regular thing.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the last presidential campaign, when Sam Blythe was traveling over the country sizing up the situation, he met up with a friend who confided that he had just bet $200 on Taft.

"I'm sorry to hear that," said Blythe, "because you can't afford to lose the money. And Taft hasn't any more chance than a rabbit."

"You're sure of that?" asked the friend, nervously.

"Absolutely certain. Now the thing for you to do is to hedge. Bet $200 more against Taft and come out even."

A week later Blythe met his friend again.

"Well, I took your advice and hedged," gurgled the friend.

"Good! Bet two hundred Taft isn't elected, eh?"

"Yes, I bet $200 on Roosevelt."

As he was waiting for a train in a Southern town a while ago, Secretary Bryan was accosted by a neatly-dressed colored man who asked him if he could spare just a minute.

"What was it you wanted?" asked Bryan.

"All I wants," explained the colored man, "is simply for you to shake hands with me and then say, 'Good-by, Henry'—It won't take you but a minute, sah, and I just now made a bet with a fren' o' mine stanin' over yonnuh that I knowed you. If he sees us talkin' all friendly I wins my bet."

"I don't like to encourage you to make bets," smiled Bryan, "but I guess you do know me now. Good-by, Henry—and good luck to you."

Senator John F. Shafroth of Colorado, on a trip across the country a while ago, fell into conversation with a stranger who had just perpetrated a grim joke. The man first attracted Shafroth's attention by smiling peculiarly to himself. Then he jerked his thumb in the direction of a suitcase and remarked:

"I'll bet you can't guess what I've got in there."

And he was right. Shafroth couldn't guess it.

"I've got my uncle in there," volunteered the stranger. "He died away from home the other day and I had to go after the body. I decided to save express charges by having the body cremated. All there is left of uncle is right in that suitcase. But the joke of it is he would be fighting mad if he knew what I had done, because he was always violently prejudiced against cremation."

Representative Ashbrook of Ohio was never at any time a minister of the gospel. Yet to look at him you would declare that he is a preacher. He has a pair of little sideburns, wears a long coat, and his face suggests the clergy. Moreover, every year when the motion is made in the house of representatives to have the chaplain's prayers printed and bound as a public document, Ashbrook is almost invariably the person who arises to make the motion. There, however, the ministerial business ends. Ashbrook enjoys an occasional game of poker, and if the situation demands it, can swear as tidily as anybody else.

Congressman Joseph Taggart of Kansas has for years been opposed to the building of battleships. He was asked the other day if the present European war had not convinced him of the need of battleships.

"To the contrary," said Taggart, "it has shown me the danger of owning such contrivances. The trouble with a battleship is that it is too dangerous to the crew."

"And," asks Taggart, "just who is it that we're afraid of? Who is it that's going to come over here and harass us? Most of Europe is shooting itself to pieces and will be crippled for the next fifty years. If you've got an enemy who's lying in the hospital with all his ribs cracked and his skull mashed in, do you grow alarmed and wait around the corner for him with a shotgun?"

We Need Air

From the Moberly (Mo.) Monitor: Man, we learn, was first formed of the dust of the earth, and God breathed into his nostrils the breath of life.

There is both a reason and a result flowing from the fact that man first got inspiration through his nose. Volumes have been written on this feature of the face, but we have not room to dwell upon it and therefore wipe it from consideration.

The central thought is that the breath was the breath of life. When the corpus delicti had been made ready for life the machinery of man was not started by pouring in gasoline or whisky. Neither did the creator push down his gullet a dozen raw and an oyster slaw. He gave him not food or drink, but "stand back, gentlemen, and let him have air." Fresh air is absolutely necessary.

Heaven is only sixteen breaths and eighty-four heart beats away. We can do without water for thirty days. We can go without food for sixty days, but we must breathe in four minutes or we are gone goslings. We need wholesome food. We need pure water, but we need fresh air most of all. It fans the flame of health in the face and lights the spark of animation in the eye. Lacking fresh air, the sickly shades of sallow cheeks and broken tints of green and yellow at the corners of the mouth show that life's artist is out of madder and vermillion.

Air is free and there is no reason why we should not use it. The British embargo does not cover air nor is the war tax laid upon it. Remember, it costs you absolutely nothing and this fact alone should cause a general rush for fresh air. Many people are fitted by nature to give "a grand opening" for fresh air, but neglect it every day.

No person was ever known to take consumption when living in the open air. Many are cured of this deadly malady by fresh air. Fresh air is now coming in with early vegetables from the South and is the cheaper of the two.

Throw up the windows and let the luxury in.

The Country Newspaper Office.

From "Hempfield" by David Grayson in the American Magazine: A country newspaper office is one of the most democratic institutions in the world. The whole force, from proprietor down, works together and changes work. The editor is also compositor, and the compositor and office boy are reporters. No one poses as having any very superior knowledge, and it sometimes happens that a printer comfortably drawing his regular wages is better off for weeks at a time than the harassed proprietor.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Most Are Grateful Now.

Le Sueur News: The time will come when the people of the United States will thank President Wilson for preserving neutrality.

As It Should Be.

Slayton Herald: Those fellows that were so bitter against Governor Hammond at the last election and who feared that unless William E. Lee was elected, the affairs of state would suffer untold losses, have come to see the light and are now hurrahing for Minnesota's governor. As it should be, of course.

Good Appointments.

St. Peter Herald: Governor Hammond has appointed Albert Schaller, former state senator, to the state supreme bench. The selection was an admirable one, and the same may be said of the naming of Messrs. Michael and Daly as district judges.

Give North a Chance.

Pine River Sentinel-Blaze: Southern Minnesota state senators voted to repeal the Elwell road law, but we live in hopes that the house will give the repeal bill the deserved sleeping potion. Southern Minnesota should remember that their part of the state was developed at state expense when the railroads were given extensive land grants as inducements to build their roads. And it is no more than right that the northern part of the state should be permitted to operate under the Elwell law in getting suitable highways which are necessary to the opening of a vast empire for settlement.

A Straight Tip.

Buffalo Journal: Don't be too hard on the newspaper man when he says some things that do not make a hit with you; just thank your lucky stars for what he left unsaid.

Tackling a Big Job.

Luverne Journal: From the way the people are making their will felt in legislatures all over the land we doubt if republicans are ready to go back to the leadership of Penrose and Barnes in national affairs, or here in Minnesota to the dominance of Ed Smith and Dar Reese. The "reorganizers," both in state and nation, have some work cut out for themselves to crush the hopes of the rank and file to make their party the vehicle of progress. However, the fight will be interesting, so let's make it a hot one.

Would Mean a Setback.

Greenbush Tribune: Petitions for repealing the Dunn good roads law are being circulated over the state. If there is one law that should not be repealed it is the Dunn road law. Already Roseau county has received much benefit from this law and should it be repealed it would mean a setback to our road work. Already a large part of State Road No. 1 is completed, and work will begin on roads leading to and connecting with this road as soon as it is completed. The object is to build good roads, and in one stretch, and not build a stretch here and there that are disconnected. We need good roads, and in order to have good roads we must have a good roads law. Therefore, we should give the Dunn law a fair trial before attempting to repeal same.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlivan, the Sunshine Man.

Never shall we conquer till we have learned to love.

Be sure he cannot love another much who loves not honor more. For that higher affection sustains and elevates the lower human love, casting around it a glory which mere personal feeling could never give.

Self-sacrifice, illuminated by love, is warmth and life; it is the death of Christ, the life of God, the blessedness and only proper life of a man.

When a man has learned to know the infinite love of God in Christ to him, then he discovers something which will not elude his hold, and an affection which will not grow cold, for the comparison of God's long-suffering and repeated pardon, with his own heartless ingratitude, convinces him that it is an unchangeable love.

Love excites the profoundest life of man, and each lower degree of love prepares the way for one that is higher. The love of God is the end of all, and I suppose that all must drop off, leaf by leaf, till the fruit is matured. The withering, no doubt, is often exquisitely painful; still we find that the heart cannot grow here of itself, and that it retains to the last its strong necessity of loving.—From "F. W. R."

"One family we dwell in Him,
One church, above, beneath."

No one ever gave a broader or truer definition of the church than Charles Wesley sung in those familiar lines. It would have been well if the church had never adopted a narrower one. The church is the family of God.—What the Y. M. C. A. Has Done for the Church.

Thou shalt rejoice in every good thing which the Lord thy God hath given unto thee.—Deut. xxvi, 11.

Rejoice evermore. In everything give thanks.—1 Thess. v, 16, 18.

A Battle Born University.

New York Independent: The Germans are determined not to let the stress of conflict interfere with the continued development of that phase of their culture that has been the admiration of the outside world, namely their system of higher education. A new university has come into existence, during the war, at Frankfort on the Main.

The kaiser had signed its charter on Aug. 1, the same day as the declaration of war against Russia, and on its opening day sent a telegram from the field regretting that "the defense of the Fatherland" prevented his attending the inauguration in person. The greatest of German universities, Berlin, opened its doors in a time of strife second only to the present, for it dates from 1809, and Leyden, the greatest of the Dutch universities, owed its origin to the siege of that city by the Spanish in 1574.

One of the objects of the new university is the training of public officials and business men, whom the Germans very curiously seem to regard as needing education. Apparently they have never heard of our American theory that every man knows by natural instinct the art of mayoring or of salesmanship.

Only Insanitary.

Lafayette Courier: Already it is claimed that the proposed anti-free lunch law would be unconstitutional. We thought it was the lunch that was unconstitutional.

To Be Sure!

Puck: Salesman—Flatirons, madam? Mrs. Youngbride—No; show me some apartment irons. We live in a suite.

William Miller.

New York Herald: For several minutes the other day Magistrate Murphy was in doubt whether his ears were not playing false. Two policemen entered with a prisoner. The clerk of the court required the prisoner's name.

"William Miller," was the reply.

"What is the name of the complainant?"

"William Miller."

The court clerk, for whom the coincidence could hold nothing that would invoke other than his cold official interest, hesitated not.

"Your name?" he asked of the policeman who had made the arrest.

"William Miller." The magistrate appeared to grow uneasy. Still the clerk pursued his queries inexorably. "Alone?" he asked.

"No, this detective was with me."

Turning to the detective, the clerk asked, with just the slightest inflection, "Your name, please?"

"William Miller."

Further information developed the fact that the prisoner, William Miller, was 21 years old, that he was accused of stealing motor car tires, and that the complainant, William Miller, was an officer of a manufacturing firm.

BETTER GET PAPERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your columns of March 15 I noticed a query from Mrs. L. E. V. of Iron Mountain, Mich., asking if a person came to the United States with his parents when a child and the child's father received his full citizenship papers before the child became of age, then has that person a right to vote?

I have also understood and believe the person has the right to vote if he has secured a copy of his father's naturalization papers.

My personal experience has been that the father's papers do not make the son a citizen of the United States, to all purposes.

In 1891 I presented myself before the United States inspectors of steam vessels for examination for a lake pilot's license of steam vessels. Before examining me as to my qualifications they inquired about my nationality. Upon being informed that I was born a British subject, but had a copy of my father's second papers with me, they refused to give me an examination until I went and took out citizen papers myself. My father became a citizen of this country before I was 10 years old by taking out his second papers.

Now, I have often wondered if they didn't put one over on me?

After acquiring a license and getting command of a steamer, my citizenship papers have often been required by the customs officials before they would enter my name on a vessel's enrollment papers.

My advice, from the experience I have stated, would be to all young men of foreign birth, who wish to enjoy unquestionably the privileges of a United States citizen, to take out naturalization papers for themselves. Yours respectfully,

JOHN P. THOMPSON.

A CRIBBAGE RUN.

VOTING SECOND CHOICES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Does the law require a voter to cast more than his first choice for any candidate to make the ballot valid—that is, is it necessary for a voter to express a second or third choice?

VOTER.

Duluth, March 17.

No; but you must signify two first choices.—The Editor.

TUNNELING THE CANAL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What is all this talk I hear about a tunnel across the canal? Are you reviving that old scheme in toto or only in part? Perhaps it is only to do away with the pendant bridge (we worked so hard to get through the engineer department opposition here) and to afford a safe and always ready means of crossing the canal for the cottagers and campers on the Point.

Twenty odd years ago, aided and abetted by the railroads and some of the progressives of that time, I tried to swing a scheme of tunneling under the canal, dredging sand out of the bay and using it to widen the point and there establish splendid freight yards, warehouses, docks, etc., a great railway terminal for Duluth freight and for transfer to boats, a comprehensive and beneficial affair, but it fell through. It was a wee bit too advanced for some of the toppers of the day. Truelsen and Bunnell were in power then and they couldn't see it. The necessary land for approaches and access to those freight yards could have been secured at that time for a song; the price today must be up pretty well.

Instead of boring under the canal, we intended using a patented tunnel of our own devising. Simply dredging out a ditch across the bottom of the canal and sinking into it one or more previously prepared steel and concrete tubes, like sections of "whalebacks," with the tops well below the bottom of the canal, out of the way of navigation, and with open approaches outside the piers. A mode of "tunneling" that has been used in several places with marked success and at infinitely less cost than the usual boring process. I understand that the New York folks are now sorry they didn't use that mode when it was offered them instead of the costly means they did resort to. If there's any real prospect of a tunnel materializing in Duluth I would strongly urge those in charge to look into this tube matter of ours. Very truly yours,

F. W. FITZPATRICK.

Washington, March 15.

Play For the Corpulent

WE have said that fat people don't know how to play and that this accounts in part for their obesity. Exceptions to the rule will please not write in to correct us. We know some fat people are ever ready to make monkeys of themselves, and we love them for their good nature, yet it is none the less true that obesity commonly tags along a little way behind indolence.

Muscular exercise for the purpose of accelerating metabolism or oxidation in the body is no less important than diet. It not only promotes destruction of the fat deposits, but also stimulates the circulation and so increases the rate of elimination of the waste products.

Beyond doubt the most effective exercise for the corpulent is walking in the open air. The fat man or fat woman who is anxious to reduce should get the habit of walking at least four miles a day, and no little thing like a change of weather ought to interfere with the treatment a single day. Without casting discredit on the pharmacopoeia, we dare say there is more health in a daily hike in all kinds of weather than you can find in any other one remedy not advertised in almanacs.

In fat persons with heart trouble the walks must be graduated according to individual conditions by the medical adviser. For weak heart, graduated walks are a standard and successful treatment.

Room gymnastics are more especially helpful for the reduction of excessive local fat deposits, as upon the hips, abdomen or back.

Massage is of value to aid in the elimination of waste material, but without voluntary exercise it will never reduce the weight to any extent.

Questions and Answers.

She Makes a Sad Mistake: My occupation is that of a ticket seller. I sit all day at a window with no chance to exercise. Whereas my usual weight is 140 I now weigh 160. I eat in restaurants, consequently have no choice as to the diet. What can I do to reduce?

REPLY.

First, exercise. Of course a lady never lies, but sometimes she prevaricates. Don't you have ten minutes in your room at bedtime? That's a fine time to exercise. Watch for some special articles on obesity, and meanwhile do your daily summersets and setting-up drill.

* * *

Don't Sacrifice a Sound Tooth: Should sound teeth be extracted when the gums are diseased?

REPLY.

Not by any means. A sound tooth is better than a gold crown.

* * *

Does It Pay to Sow Them? If all young men could know my history—and you are welcome to make it known to whomever you wish—wouldn't they hesitate about sowing their wild oats? Do you think ignorance is better than knowledge as a moral influence?

REPLY.

The above is from a human document we wish we could print in full. All purely moral considerations aside, we believe that full knowledge would of itself keep the average young man as free from this awful mistake as he expects his future wife to be. The "double standard" is an outrage.

* * *

Smothering the Baby: My baby is perfectly all right in the daytime and the early evening, but along toward midnight he has a bad head cold and can scarcely breathe. Would it be wise to keep the room warmed at night?

REPLY.

No. Keep the baby warm, but let him breathe cold air—which means fresh air. Warm rooms cause croup. We have never encountered a case of croup in a cold room. Fresh air, when cold, prevents "colds" better than any other remedy.

WILSON AMONG THE GREAT PRESIDENTS, SAYS CLARK

Bears Heavier Load Than Any President Since Lincoln.

All Good Citizens Should Uphold Him in Present Crisis.

Philadelphia, March 18.—Speaker Champ Clark, addressing the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick here last night, eulogized President Wilson as "among the great presidents whose names can be counted on the fingers of one hand."

"It is no exaggeration to say that he bears a heavier load than any president since Lincoln has borne," said the speaker.

At length Speaker Clark reviewed the work of the Democratic congress, which, he said had been accomplished with the aid and approval of Republican and Progressive votes, and predicted that any political party could not carry ten states on the repeal of the income tax. He declared the country was rapidly recovering from the depression of the European war, and to speed prosperity, urged that all Federal, state, county and municipal works be pressed.

President's Heavy Load.

"The congress has done its work," he said; "senators and representatives have returned to their homes. The president remains in Washington because of the ticklish situation in which we find ourselves by reason of the trans-Atlantic war and the Civil war. It is no exaggeration to say that he bears a heavier load than any president since Lincoln has borne. No man, no men, can relieve him of his burden. His troubles, being purely executive in character, are his and his alone. In the very nature of things, he knows more about what is going on abroad than does any other man in America, because he has better means of information.

"Every good citizen, without reference to politics or religion, should trust him and uphold him in this crisis of our country's fate. May God give him the wisdom, courage and strength to keep us out of entanglements with foreign nations and lead us in the paths of peace.

Congress Has Done Much.

"When the Democrats came into possession of the house, the senate and the president on March 4, 1913, after sixteen years of entire exclusion from power, we had a colossal task ahead of us. Looking the whole world in the face, we can truthfully and without fear of successful contradiction assert that we have courageously, wisely and patriotically accomplished the major portion of that stupendous undertaking.

"The Baltimore platform contained a multitude of promises. We have redeemed many of them. While neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, I make bold to predict that in the next two years we will redeem the remainder. Rome was not built in a day, but nevertheless Rome was built. There is a limit to the power of men to labor, mentally and physically. Two years were not enough time in which to place our extensive and patriotic program upon the statute books, though the Sixty-third congress sat more days and enacted more constructive legislation than any other that ever met. I have not even the shadow of a doubt that the historian of our times will pronounce it a great congress. We have fought a good fight. We have kept the faith. The people will indorse and reward us.

Among the Great Presidents.

"The brilliant Benjamin Disraeli, earl of Beaconsfield, declared that contemporaneous foreign opinion as to a public man is identical with the final verdict of history. Most assuredly, then, Woodrow Wilson will be rated among the great presidents, whose names can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

"For more than a half century Republicans have 'pointed with pride' and Democrats have 'viewed with alarm,'" the speaker went on. "Now the boot is on the other foot. At the present juncture Democrats 'point with pride,' and alack and alas! Republicans 'view with alarm.' They are forcordained and predestined to dwell in the cave of Aduliam.

Two Classes of Complainants.

"These complainants divide themselves into two classes: First, those who, with countenances sorrowful as that of the Knight de la Mancha, but with glee in their souls and hope in their hearts, vociferate, purely for political effect, that the country is going to 'the demnition bow-wows.' In their case the wish is father to the thought. There are not many such un-American residents in this country so favored by Almighty God. But the few malignants are unfortunately among the noisiest of mankind. The second class, suffering from the mulgrubs, is much larger, consisting of honest but timid persons forever seeing ghosts, who in fat years look forward fearfully to possible lean years, and who are greatly worried by the lamentations of the Casandras and marplots aforementioned. These two classes keep up a howl that the country is going to the dogs, and scare people out of their wits, thereby retarding progress.

Pestiferous Pessimists.

"We are proud of our record in the Sixty-third congress. Of course there are those who carp and criticise and growl. God must have made pessimists for some wise purpose, but their pestiferous existence demonstrates once more that God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform.

"Prior to the time when we had the opportunity of doing things it was constantly asserted that we could and would do nothing. Now our friends, the enemy, solemnly asservate that we are ruining the country by doing too much. Certainly some folks are hard to please."

BOYS WORTHY OF ST. PATRICK HIMSELF

Their Make-up for Class Day "Beggars All Description."

Green hose, green necktles, green-tinted collars, green waists, and green-edged handkerchiefs, worn or carried by boys at Central high school yesterday, gave visitors the impression that they had been transplanted to the greenest part of the Emerald isle and made the senior girls turn green with envy.

Members of the "fair sex" clearly were outdone, and the recent class day, when they appeared wearing their hair in pigtails, was forgotten in the excitement over the "stunt" put on by the boys as a part of their class day entertainment.

Impossibilities in dress were not impossibilities, after all, as many of the boys proved with their elaborate costumes, which fairly shrieked to the four winds, the wearer's inclinations.

"Middy" blouses, with green scarfs and short trousers, designed to show a generous expanse of green hose, were worn by several of the boys, and the girls were forced to admit that they had been surpassed.

SCRIBBLED HER WILL WITH LEAD PENCIL

Testament of Mrs. A. Forte Disposes of $7,500 Estate.

On the same night that she died, Mrs. Antonia Forte of Virginia scribbled her will on a piece of note paper with a lead pencil and asked her children to witness it. She disposed of an estate valued at $7,500, according to a petition filed yesterday afternoon in probate court, asking that the instrument be admitted to probate.

The will was drawn with little regard to legal terms and phrases, but attorneys who have inspected it declare that it expresses the dying wishes of Mrs. Forte and that it is as binding as if it had been prepared by a first-class attorney. It reads as follows:

"By Mrs. Forte, will made at 8:30 o'clock, Jan. 7, 1915. Property of Mrs. D. A. Forte, brick building on 116 Chest, and resident 118 Maple st, can be sold by Mr. D. Forte, but the money received must go to raise his family. Two lots in Mountain Iron can be sold for his own accommodation & to pay bills. (Signed) Antonia Forte. Witnesses, Dale Forte, Emma Davey. Miss Rachel Forte."

London, March 17.—A casualty list issued by the admiralty last night discloses that in the fighting in the Dardanelles Saturday night the light cruiser Amethyst, which, according to an Athens dispatch made a dash through the strait as far as Nagara, had 23 men killed and 19 men severely and 18 men slightly wounded.

The battleship Ocean had two men killed and the battleship Prince George two men wounded, while two trawlers between them had three men killed and two wounded.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAR. 21.

1. Samuel xiv, 1-13: Jonathan and His Armor-Bearer.

CONNECTION.

It was a number of years since the crowning of the brilliant and popular young king, Saul. Here is a complete contrast. It was a brilliant start—Samuel turning over the work of the judge to Saul, though he continued to be the prophet, or spokesman, of the Lord; telling the people how they had sinned in asking for a king, as if God were not king enough for them; and how they repented and took an oath of allegiance to God; promising that he would not sin against God by failing to pray for them; calling on God for a proof of His presence, which was given by a storm of rain in the dry season, an unheard-of thing. Saul disbanded the armies and devoted himself to peace. But their old enemies, the Philistines, annoyed them and were defeated. Then the Philistines gathered for a great campaign. Samuel told Saul to wait seven days. As the last hour went by and Samuel came not, Saul grew impatient and offered a sacrifice to God himself, contrary to the law of God and the express instructions of Samuel. I suppose Samuel waited over time just to give him the final test. Then the old prophet came up and told him he was doomed, that God would take away his kingship and had already chosen a suitable man as his successor. From that moment Saul was another man, and now we find him facing the enemy in a terrible plight.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Two Armies. 1-5.

"Now it fell upon a day, that Jonathan, the son of Saul, said unto the young man that bare his armor, Come and let us go over to the Philistines' garrison, that is on yonder side. But he told not his father. And Saul abode in the uttermost part of Gibeah under a pomegranate-tree, which is in Migron; and the people that were with him were about 600 men; and Ahijah, the son of Ahitub, Ichabod's brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, the priest of Jehovah in Shiloh, wearing an ephod. And the people knew not that Jonathan was gone. And between the passes, by which Jonathan sought to go over unto the Philistines' garrison, there was a rocky crag on the one side, and a rocky crag on the other side; and the name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh. The one crag rose up on the north in front of Michmash, and the other on the south in front of Geba."

1. PHILISTINES.—They were numerous, "30,000 chariots and 6,000 horsemen, and people as the sand which is on the seashore for multitude." They were well armed, in contrast with the Israelites. They had special facilities like chariots and horses. They were in the very best position, on the heights above the pass, so that if an enemy reached them he would have to climb over one precipice, go down to the pass, then climb up the other at the risk of being hurled back. They were in a state of jubilant hope.

2. ISRAEL.—They were few in numbers, only 600 soldiers left. They were poorly armed, because the Philistines had long ago forbidden them to have blacksmiths and there were only two men who had spears and swords, Saul and his son, Jonathan. They were discouraged, partly because their king was desperate, partly because they felt that God was against them, partly because Samuel's words about the kingdom had come true. They were browbeaten, dejected. Their leader, Saul, was in despair, his kingdom doomed as Samuel had told him, his men deserting, leaving him only 600 to cope with those throngs, his nature becoming more and more volcanic, vicious and moody. He was far off from the scene, under his pomegranate tree, and the only priest was the great grandson of Eli.

II.

Jonathan's Bold Deed. 6-13.

"And Jonathan said to the young man that bare his armor, Come, and let us go over unto the garrison of these uncircumcised; it may be that Jehovah will work for us; for there is no restraint to Jehovah to save by many or by few. And his armor-bearer said unto him, Do all that is in thy heart; turn thee, behold, I am with thee according to thy heart. Then said Jonathan, Behold, we will pass over unto the men and we will disclose ourselves unto them. If they say thus unto us, Tarry until we come to you; then we will stand still in our place, and will not go up unto them. But if they say thus, Come up unto us; then we will go up; for Jehovah hath delivered them into our hand; and this shall be the sign unto us. And both of them disclosed themselves unto the garrison of the Philistines; and the Philistines said, Behold, the Hebrews come forth out of the holes where they had hid themselves. And the men of the garrison answered Jonathan and his armor-bearer, and said, Come up to us, and we will show you a thing. And Jonathan said unto his armor-bearer, Come up after me; for Jehovah hath delivered them into the hand of Israel. And Jonathan climbed up upon his hands and upon his feet, and his armor-bearer after him; and they fell before Jonathan; and his armor-bearer slew them after him."

1. INSPIRATION.—Jonathan had a sudden inspiration, brilliant, wise, daring, noble. He would create a panic among the Philistines by a very bold deed that only a certain kind of man would ever think of. It took a man of confidence in God, courage, unselfishness, self-control, influence over others to think it out. But he was that kind of a man. No more admirable character is found in the Old Testament Scriptures than he. He saw the possibility of slipping up on the enemy and throwing them into a panic by a very simple plan. It was all based on the confidence that God was able to do it through two men as well as through a big army, provided God wanted to do so; on the further confidence that God would do it and do it through him, Jonathan. It was not a mad idea, but an inspiration from God.

2. SUPPORT.—He had to have some one. His armor-bearer declared he would stand by him in anything he did and urged him to go on. That meant much on his part. He had confidence in the man who had faith in God. That's the way it always goes. It meant discernment, courage and loyalty in the young man. His reinforcement meant much to Jonathan—companionship, stimulus, augmentation. They made more than merely two. Each one made the other more of a man than he would have been without him. "One shall chase a thousand and two shall put ten thousand to flight."

3. METHOD.—Jonathan had thought it out, the more so because he did trust in God. Instead of trust in God being a substitute for action, it is a stimulus to every power within us—thought, foresight, energy, courage. They would climb over the first peak, down on the other side, then up the farther peak on whose summit the enemy was. If in a bullying way the Philistines dare them to come on, saying "we will show you a thing or two," they will go. Why he adopted that method we don't know, but it must have been a part of the inspiration. That would be his way of knowing God's will. He would go on or stand still by that sign. He was entirely dependent on God, anyhow, for success.

4. SUCCESS.—They thought the Israelites were coming out of the caves in which they were hiding and coming under a new power. So they were deceived in two things, numbers and power. When they said "come on," they were probably trying to keep up courage, but they gave the right sign. Seeing the two men climbing up over the rocks, they could not see over and, therefore, thought there must be many more. In the new impulse those two men slew twenty on a very small piece of ground. That started the panic and the rest of them slew each other. It was a great victory with some tragical consequences. Read on through the chapter.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Why was Saul irrevocably set aside? Was it not a harsh treatment for his crime? Saul's act is not to be judged as an isolated deed, but as the outcome of a deep tendency in him, which meant revolt from God. It was not because of the single act, but because of that which it showed him to be, that he was set aside. The sentence is pronounced not because "thou didst spare Amalek," but because "thou didst reject the word of the Lord." Further, it is to be remembered that his own hand had cut the bond between him and God, and had disqualified himself for the office which he filled.—McLaren.

The men who have done the greatest work in the world are the men who have been backed by faithful helpers with stanch and loyal hearts. Moses was chosen to lead Israel out of Egypt, but God gave him Miriam and Aaron for armor-bearers. Joshua became the great soldier and leader of his nation, but what a splendid armor-bearer he had in Caleb. Paul shines forth from Ephesus, and Rome, and Athens, and Corinth as the great leader and evangelist, but who can ever tell how much Silas, and Barnabas, and Timothy meant to the great apostle as armor-bearers to encourage and sustain him?—Banks.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What are the material advantages of being a Christian?
2. How much is involved in disowning God?
3. Why are nations judged here and individuals hereafter?
4. Are there any new deeds of daring waiting to be done?
5. Why does God enjoy the great deeds of His people?

JUDGMENT IS INEVITABLE

It Is a Fact, Not Self-Inflicted or Temporal, Says Dr. Hoffman.

Large Audience at Noonday Meeting Hears Fourth Talk of Series.

"It has become quite the fashion to contend that judgment is immediate, temporal and self inflicted," declared Dr. J. W. Hoffman in his noon-day talk at the Lyceum theater today.

"We live, so we are told, in an automatic universe where penalty and judgment follow as cause and effect, but we cannot change the moral frame work of the universe. It is rigid and inflexible. Such is not the teaching of Jesus."

The fourth of the series of noon-day meetings being given for business men and women this week was featured by an unusually large attendance. Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission church gave a prayer, and Miss Glenn Bartholomew sang.

Dr. Hoffman, took his text from Matthew 11, 23 and 24: "And thou Capernaum, which art exalted unto heaven, shalt be brought down to hell; for if the mighty works, which have been done in thee, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day.

"But I say unto you, That it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment, than for thee."

He said, in part:

"This is not the utterance of a fanatical reformer. It is the declaration of the calmest and best balanced mind history reveals. It does not arise from hatred of the race. The attitude of Jesus is invariably kind and sympathetic. His unfailing cheerfulness and compassion have been the wonder of the centuries. He it was who gave the pathetic picture of the lost sheep and the shepherd's devotion, as well as the tragic story of the prodigal son and the father's welcome. It was this same incomparable Savior who said: 'Depart from Me, ye cursed, into the eternal fire. I was hungry and ye gave Me no meat; I was thirsty and ye gave Me no drink; naked and ye clothed Me not; sick, and in prison, and ye visited Me not.' Figurative language as this evidently as it symbolizes a very stern and awful reality in the government of God. 'If my right hand offend thee cut it off better that one member should be lost than that all should be cast into hell.' The moral framework of the universe is rigid and inflexible. We cannot change it. Love and mercy alone can save us. Judgment is a fact as inevitable as death and as inescapable.

An Automatic Universe.

"It has become quite the fashion to contend that judgment is immediate, temporal and self-inflicted. We live, so we are told, in an automatic universe, where penalty and judgment follow as cause and effect. Such is not the teaching of the Hebrew prophets, the ethnical religious leaders, the Christian apostles, and Jesus Himself. Conduct and character, good or bad, have a projectile force which carry them into eternity. The rich man of scripture suffers a real loss beyond the grave, the foolish virgins endure an irreversible disaster, and the foolish builder is totally unable to reconstruct his shattered home. Neither do the facts of practical experience sustain the automatic and temporal theory of judgment.

"It needs but the most casual observation of practical life to show that the virtuous are not necessarily prosperous and rich and the wicked are not poverty-stricken. It is well known that the first lie makes the second easier and the bit of illicit pleasure makes next indulgence more enjoyable. If sin were its own punishment, the selfish would be most wretched and unhealthy.

No Conscience Reaction.

While it is true that unclean practices bring a fearful penalty in wrecked bodies and mortgaged children, it is not true that every violation of the Divine love brings an immediate and adequate reaction of conscience. The social, the moral, the physical and political order of life refutes it at every point. The libertine dies from physical exhaustion, so does the consecrated missionary. Nature has no respect for the moral or immoral character of the cause of death. The man who toils for God suffers more anguish of spirit in twenty-four hours than the pleasure-loving, easy-going, frivolous, morally idle, godless well-to-do in a lifetime. It is Jesus Christ who weeps over Jerusalem, not Pilate or Herod. It is the Hebrew prophet who agonizes over Israel, not Ahab and Jezebel. We have seen wicked men die unconcerned and impenitent, while some of the choicest saints that ever walked God's earth went out timid and fearful lest they might be found unfitted for immortality. Some one reminds us that in his successive crimes we cannot believe Nero was exhausting the penalties for his previous deeds of injustice and cruelty and lust. We cannot. He had other ends to realize and selected methods most congenial to his debased nature. Scripture and practical experience inforce the fact sin does not exhaust itself in this life; it affects God and creates a reaction that is eternal. Judgment is to come, the moral value and spiritual worth of a man's life will be estimated not by ourselves, but by God.

Judgment to Come.

"We believe in the judgment to come not because we can solve all the problems it raises any more than science can explain the origin of motion or the ultimate nature of matter. It accords best with the religious consciousness of the race at its highest, with Scripture, and with the facts of experience.

"In our revolt against a lurid and harsh exhibition of the wrath of God in theological thinking we must not forget the fact of judgment. Any habit of thought or theory of life which displaces this teaching of the Christ is fatal to the very highest character. We need to hear Jesus reminding us with tears and love that Capernaum had its chance and missed it. A greater than Solomon taught in her streets, wrought in her homes but busy, thoughtless, selfish her people repented not. Preaching more passionate, more intelligent than that of Jonas sounded in their ears but they heeded it not. In their very midst "the creed of creeds" was revealed in deed and life yet they laughed their way through life. This is the tragedy of human life, the cause of a judgment that is irreversible, and a disaster that is eternal—men have their chance and spurn it. We live in the presence of mighty truths but obey them not. All about us are miracles of grace yet we are not saved. In China thousands have seen the Christ and have crowned Him Lord of life. Japan witnesses the transformation of the lives of a great host. Our own land echoes to the tread of the marching millions who have experienced the regenerating power of the Savior. Drunkards are becoming sober, libertines are becoming chaste, and thieves are becoming honest. The industrial taskmaster has his chance and begins to live more generously and justly.

Selfish Have Vision.

"The selfish have their vision and sympathy girdles the globe. Nineteen centuries of the sweep and power of the Son of God leave no place for doubt, for reluctance, for failure. The case is complete, the evidence is all in. The mightiest Personality of history is at work. His truth is here, His appeal is made, the opportunity is ours—it is our chance. What are we doing with it?

"Obedience or disobedience to the truth that is ours, the highest ideals we know and that are accessible—this is the basis of judgment. We are not greatly disturbed over the heathen in Central Africa, just at present, but we are mightily concerned over the heathen in Duluth who do not pray, who do not worship, who do not cultivate Christ, who do not yield obedience to God. 'He that obeyeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.' The wrath of the Almighty is heavy with tears and pathetic with love, but it is real and eternal.

"Woe unto thee, Capernaum! It is not a threat but a plea, not a club but a warning, not to frighten one but to persuade him. It is the passionate outburst of a love that agonized in Gethsemane, that climbed the steps of Calgary, that made the noblest appeal ever uttered. It is the Christ who warns and entreats."

FUNERAL OF MRS. SHOGRAN IS HELD

MRS. AMANDA SHOGRAN.

Funeral services for Mrs. Amanda Shogran were held from the family residence, 617 West Boulevard avenue, at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and at 2:30 o'clock from the First Swedish Baptist church.

Before her marriage to Charles Shogran, superintendent of the St. Louis county poor commission, Mrs. Shogran was known throughout the United States for her missionary work.

Services at the church were largely attended, many persons, unable to find room in the building, remaining outside until they were concluded. Rev. Swaney Nelson delivered a sermon in English, while Rev. C. W. Linder read selections from the Scriptures in Swedish. Rev. J. J. Daniels and Rev. C. Gustafson led in prayer.

Mrs. William T. Ashworth, a daughter, accompanied by her husband and son, all of Winnipeg, attended the services, as did Mrs. A. Hamm of Chicago, a sister, and Mrs. Leonard Shogran of Indianapolis, also a sister. Interment was at Park Hill cemetery.

Look over the advertising columns in this newspaper and you see the men with ideas.

Some of them have ceased to be small ideas, they have grown to business grants.

MARINE

MAY SETTLE SHORTAGES

Grain Clearance Company Organizes to Compromise Cargo Disputes.

The grain shortage question has been solved it is believed by the incorporation of the Grain Clearance corporation under the laws of New York. D. T. Helm of Duluth, is one of the directors; and R. M. Wolvin of Winnipeg, formerly of Duluth, is another. The capital stock amounts to $40,000 and has been oversubscribed. J. B. Rogers of Brown & Co., Buffalo, has been elected president, and Charles Williams, an elevator man of Buffalo, manager. Among the directors are J. J. Boland, George Pierce, James Stevenson of Buffalo, Capt. D. Sullivan of Chicago and Archie Thomsen of Cleveland.

Articles of incorporation permit the company to conduct the business of "inspecting, supervising and tallying the loading and unloading, elevating and handling of grain to and from ships, barges and vessels and to contract for assuming, adjusting and settling shortages and overruns in the out-turn of grain cargoes and parts of grain cargoes."

The principal offices of the company will be in Buffalo. The corporation is now offering contracts to vessel owners to assume the responsibility for shortages, over-runs and natural wastage in lake grain cargoes for a consideration of one-quarter of a bushel for each thousand bushels of cargo and 24 cents a thousand bushels of bill of lading cargo. The charge of 24 cents a thousand is for supervising the weighing and tallying of the grain at the loading and unloading ports.

No change in the bill of lading will be made, but the owners of the vessel assign their rights and claims for shortage or overage to the company, which shall settle, through the ship's agent, with the consignee for shortages or overages on the basis of cost, insurance and freight price per bushel at the discharging port.

Damaged grain does not come under the guarantee of the corporation. The ordinary lake practice must be followed in that case. Neither does the guarantee cover flaxseed cargoes or screenings.

With grain shipped from Canadian ports the charge for guaranteeing the cargo is on the basis of one-sixth bushel per thousand, loading port value, one-quarter bushel to the thousand, c. i. f. value, at port of discharge on date of discharging cargo, and 12 cents a thousand bushels for supervision. Cargoes going from American to Canadian ports are on the basis of one-quarter bushel of grain to the thousand of bill of lading cargo and 24 cents a thousand for supervision of weighing and tallying.

MILLER ASKS WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Duluth Congressman Sees Secretary Garrison Regarding Improvements.

Washington, March 18.—Secretary Garrison was asked today by Representative Miller of Minnesota, T. J. Dolan, secretary-treasurer of the International Brotherhood of Steam Shovel and Dredgemen, and a delegation from that organization, to begin dredging authorized by congress on harbors in Lake Superior, in order to put many idle men to work.

They also said there was other waiting work under the war department, for which money was available, which would relieve the unemployed if carried on. Secretary Garrison promised to give their request careful consideration.

The United States engineer's office at Duluth, which has charge of government work on all American harbors on Lake Superior, announces that the only work authorized for the coming season, aside from the work of maintenance in the Duluth-Superior harbor, is at Ontonagon, Grand Marais and Keweenaw, Mich., and that no work can be done there until soundings will have been taken. The work in prospect at these points is dredging of harbors, basins and channels, and cannot be started before May.

MORE ICE IN LAKE THAN LAST YEAR

The reports from the regular and display stations of the weather bureau and the meteorological service of Canada indicate that there has not been any important change in the past week in the ice conditions over Western Lake Superior; the fields east of Marquette appear to be more extensive, but they are not heavy. The fields off Whitefish Point have moved in and out with the winds. No change is reported in the St. Mary's river.

The ice remains twelve inches thick at the Straits of Mackinaw with some open water showing to the east of Mackinac and Bois Blanc islands. In Huron the fields continue as far south as Thunder Bay island and from there to Point aux Barques much open water is reported. St. Clair river is open to St. Clair, and Lake St. Clair ice is slowly running out. In Lake Erie the northerly winds have moved the fields to the south shore which extend from Marblehead eastward to Buffalo, with no fields reported along the north shore.

In comparison with the same period last year, it is claimed, there is more ice over Western Superior and less in all of the other lakes.

Ice conditions at Lake Superior points follow:

Duluth—Harbor ice 32 inches in thickness; the ice in both the bay and lake is honeycombing; the field extends beyond vision.

Two Harbors—Harbor ice, 15 inches in thickness; the field extends beyond vision; telephone reports from east of here as far as Grand Portage indicate no change during the week.

Port Arthur, Ont.—Harbor ice, 22 inches in thickness; the field ice in the lake extends beyond vision.

Portage canal—The canal is clear from the Lily Pond to Lake Superior; no ice fields visible in Lake Superior.

Sault Ste. Marie—Harbor ice, 22 inches in thickness and is honeycombing; open water in the channel from above the rapids to below Little Rapids Cut; at the upper end of Lime island the ice in the channel is 24 inches and at lower end 26 inches; at Sweet's Point, at the Dummy, the ice is 36 inches.

Detour—Open water to Sims dock, no fields visible in Lake Huron.

NEW SEAMEN'S LAW CONFUSES OWNERS

Efforts will shortly be made by persons interested in the working of the recently enacted seamen's law to procure from the department of commerce an interpretation of the law and an outline of the methods that will be adopted for its application.

Steamboat managers are wondering when the bill goes into effect. In section No. 14 it is specified that the manning of lifeboats and the equipping of ships shall be effective July 1. This provision includes the employment of the minimum number of certificated able seamen provided for the first year under the law. That passenger boats will have to follow this provision and be so manned and equipped after July 1, some lawyers contend.

Another question is, will freight boats be affected by this provision? The three-watch system for firemen and the provision that a man working in one department may not be employed in another are not effective, according to the same authorities, until Nov. 4. It is provided in the law that licensed officers may act in the capacity of lifeboat men and it is this provision that it is hoped will let the freight ships out until Nov. 4. Section No. 14 also includes part of section No. 13 which requires the manning of ships with certificated able seamen. Whether this includes freight ships is in doubt.

So far the department of commerce has not announced rules for examining men applying for able seamen's certificates, nor given a department ruling on what parts of the law are applicable July 1. Until the disposition of the department is known lake vessel owners will not be in position to plan for the season.

BOND FOR NEW COUNCILMEN

Commission Passes Suburb Payrolls and Orders Improvements.

Sanitary Sewers Provided for Gary and East Seventh Street.

Besides ordering bonds for the two commissioners to be elected on April 6, the city council at a special meeting yesterday afternoon passed the New Duluth and Gary payrolls, ordered gas and water mains installed in various sections of the city and the construction of sanitary sewers at Gary and East Seventh street.

Mayor Prince and Commissioners Merritt and Murchison were present at the meeting, which was called for the purpose of passing on the payrolls for the sewer work at Gary, so that the men can be paid today. In this way the laborers will not be compelled to wait until the end of the month for their wages.

The payroll passed amounts to $3,175.67 and will come out of the permanent improvement fund.

The council passed a resolution ordering the advertisement for bids on furnishing the city with two $25,000 surety bonds for the commissioners to be elected on April 6, a $10,000 bond for the city engineer and a $3,000 bond for the clerk of the municipal court. The ordinance appropriating $800 for the payment of the premium on these bonds was introduced by Mayor Prince and given its first reading.

Sanitary sewers were ordered constructed in Ninety-ninth avenue west, from Gary to Crestline court, and Seventh street from Sixteenth to Seventeenth avenue east. On motion of Commissioner Merritt the council ordered gas and water mains installed in Fifth street, from the east side of Nineteenth and a half avenue west to a point 150 feet north, and in Fifth avenue west from a point 300 feet south of Commerce street to a point 208 feet south.

sented by the allied fleet in the Dardanelles, says the Daily Mail Tenedos correspondent in describing a visit to the French Rear Admiral Guepratte's flagship.

"Some of the vessels," the correspondent adds, "are daubed with irregular white patches on their gray paint, and the big masts and funnels are an irregular mass of stripes. All this tends to make them less visible at a distance.

Prudence to Govern.

Milan, March 18, via Paris—Prudence will govern the efforts of the admirals of the allied fleet to force a passage of the Dardanelles, according to a special correspondent of the Corriere Della Sera, who gives the captain of the French hospital ship Canada as authority for the statement. At least another month, he says, will be spent in efforts to silence the Turkish fortifications, especially those guarding the narrows at Chanak Kalessi.

The operations against Smyrna, the correspondent declared, had a double object. The first is said to have been to prevent the transfer of the Thirteenth Turkish army corps which was preparing to leave for the Dardanelles, and the second to cut the communications of the army which was sent against Egypt.

figure stuck in the ground in front of the German trenches. Upon being moved the figure exploded and one of the British soldiers was injured.

Describing the shelling of Aubers by the British howitzers the eye witness says a certain tower which was a prominent feature of the landscape, was suddenly projected into the air. It dissolved in midair and came down in a cloud of dust.

Prisoners who have been all through the war declare that never have they experienced such a bombardment as that which preceded the assault upon Neuve Chapelle. One wounded Prussian officer declared indignantly, "You do not fight; you murder. My regiment never had a chance from the first. Nothing could live under such a fire." The resentment of prisoners against the British artillery has been frequently expressed.

German Discipline High.

In spite of their exhaustion, the aspect of the prisoners spoke highly of German discipline. Their persons were extraordinarily clean and most of them were fresh shaven. The were unanimously optimistic, believing they soon would finish with the Russians and that they then would crush France and Great Britain.

One officer stated that three German princes, including Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern, were serving in one of the battalions at Neuve Chapelle. This prisoner expressed the belief that all the princes had been killed.

In conclusion, the eye witness says he believes the Germans lost 18,000 men at Neuve Chapelle.

lighted navy ordnance experts. The gun was built at the American naval gun factory and has been undergoing tests for several months.

Weighs Over 100 Tons.

Some idea of the probable size of the new American gun may be gathered from the fact that each of the eight 15-inch guns of the British battleship Queen Elizabeth weighs 96 tons, while similar rifles designed in the Krupp works for German battleships laid down this year each weigh more than 82 tons. The 14-inch rifles of the battleships New York and Texas and for the five new American dreadnaughts now under construction, weigh 63.3 tons each, and it is certain that the new 16-inch weapon weighs more than 100 tons without its mounting.

Krupp engineers have designed a 16-inch gun which fires a projectile weighing 2,028 pounds, against the 1,675-pound mass of steel hurled by the 15-inch rifles adopted for the German navy and the 1,720-pound projectiles poured into Turkish fortresses of the Dardanelles by the British battleship Queen Elizabeth. None of the German or British vessels of the first line carries any weapon exactly similar to the American 14-inch gun, a jump having been made last year from the standard 12-inch rifle to the 15-inch type.

The New York, Texas, Nevada and Oklahoma each carry ten 14-inch guns, while the Pennsylvania, California, Idaho and Mississippi each will carry twelve, placed three to a turret. These weapons throw projectiles weighing 1,400 pounds as is the case with the 14-inch guns designed for the four Japanese battleships estimated for in 1914.

Life of Gun Shortened.

With the increase in size, the life of the gun is shortened by erosion, due to the heat generated by the explosion of the huge charge of powder necessary to hurl nearly a ton of metal fifteen miles that is said to be the range of the American 16-inch weapon. The rifling of the gun burns out under the blast. Drops of melted steel are visible in the bore after each shot and it is said that the life of the Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch weapons is less than 100 shots each. After that the gun is so inaccurate as to be virtually useless.

Navy gun designers have overcome that obstacle somewhat, it is said, with the new American 16-inch gun; but the life of the gun is still far below that of the 14-inch.

The Krupp works, before the outbreak of the present war, announced that a process of steel and powder manufacture had been evolved that decreased erosion; but the factory is understood to have refused to contract to supply a large number of great guns under guarantee of 250 rounds accuracy-fire life.

In placing aboard the Queen Elizabeth the 15-inch weapon designed for her class, British navy officials are understood to have depended upon a cheap process for relining, perfected by their engineers, to offset the short life of the gun. If that be true it is probable the Queen Elizabeth soon may be compelled to return to England and have new guns placed aboard, if the steady pounding at the Dardanelles forts exhausts her main battery.

Cost Would Be Great.

It has been suggested that 16-inch guns could be substituted for the 14-inch batteries of the American battleships now under construction, placing them two to a turret instead of three, and giving the ships eight guns each instead of twelve. Navy officers say, however, that the cost of such an alteration would be very great if it could be made at all. They also hold that the American 14-inch gun is the equal of the British or German 15-inch for all practical purposes.

With any target in plain view, it is said, the American gun has equal range and nearly equal penetration, the difference being more than counter-balanced by the larger number of guns carried. Thus, in action against such a ship as the Queen Elizabeth, the Pennsylvania would have twelve 14-inch guns against eight 15-inch and would have 50 per cent greater opportunity for scoring hits. For indirect fire, such as the work in which the Queen Elizabeth shared in the Dardanelles, the 15-inch gun's greater range would be important; but it is not believed it would be a factor in a purely naval battle.

During the present war, big gun naval engagements have been fought at a range of from seven to ten miles, effective distance for either 12 or 14-inch guns.

As a matter of fact, it has been pointed out that the German 8-inch guns outranced later British guns because of the higher gun elevation provided by German designers. German naval guns, as a rule, have a maximum elevation of 30 degrees against 15 degrees aboard British and American ships. That is another problem upon which American designers are concentrating attention in planning new ships.

out of six of the new German army corps are said to be engaged on and about the frontier of East Prussia, a fact which British observers think will make it difficult for Germany to meet the demands likely to be imposed on her in the west.

Just Grasping Victory.

The full import of the British victory at Neuve Chapelle is only now beginning to be grasped by the public. It has greatly cheered both troops and civilians as confirming the belief that the German line can be broken if the allies care to pay the price. Several thousand wounded men from this battlefield already have arrived in England, five trainloads having reached Brighton during the twenty-four hours ended last evening.

The press today again cautions the people that the taking of the Dardanelles is likely to be a slow affair, to accomplish which the allies must pay the price just as they have done at Neuve Chapelle.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 18, via London, 3:40 p. m.—The German war department gave out the following statement today:

"Western theater of war: A French advance against our position on the southern slope of the Lorette hills was repulsed.

"Partial French attacks in Champagne, to the north of Le Mesnil, were brought to a standstill by a counter-attack. A French attack which was begun there last night has been repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy.

"In the Argonne yesterday, the fighting abated. French aviators threw bombs on the undefended Alsatian town of Schlettstadt. Only one bomb took effect, falling on a seminary conducted by women teachers, killing two children and severely wounding ten. In reply German aviators last night dropped bombs of big size on the fortress of Calais.

"Eastern theater of war: Russian attacks on German positions between the Pissa and Orzyc rivers in Northern Poland, as well as northeast of Przasnysz, continued yesterday without success. West of the Skwa river we took 900 prisoners of war and east of the Skwa 1,000 prisoners and four machine guns.

"Hordes of the Russian imperial militia gained a cheap victory by invading the most northern corner of East Prussia, in the direction of Memel. They pillaged and burned villages and estates. As a retaliatory measure towns on Russian territory occupied by us were compelled to make payment of large sums. For every village burned down by these Russian hordes on German territory and for each estate destroyed, three villages or estates on Russian territory occupied by us will be sacrificed to the flames. All damage caused by fire in Memel will be answered by the destruction by fire of Russian government buildings at Suwalki and other provincial capitals in German hands."

French Statement.

Paris, March 18, via London, 3:50 p. m.—The war office this afternoon gave out the following statement:

"The Belgian army continued its progress on the Yser. Its artillery bombarded one of the enemy's convoys on the road from Dixmunde to Lessen.

"From the Lys to the Oise there was artillery action. The enemy bombarded in particular the spur of the hill at Notre Dame de Lorette and the villages of Carnoy and Marincourt.

"There is nothing new in the operations in the Champagne.

"In Lorraine there was an artillery duel. One of the aviators of our army bombarded the railway station at Conflans."

GORDON BILLS POSTPONED

up as a special order the Vermilya senate bill repealing the Elwell road law. Representative Larimore, at the request of Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth and others, asked that the special order be put over till March 26 to await a ruling from the supreme court on the Elwell law, but his motion was voted down, 69 to 46, being opposed by the enemies of the Elwell law.

The friends of the law had prepared four amendments which they hoped would meet the objections raised to it, and thus save it from repeal. These amendments are as follows:

Requiring a petition signed by 51 per cent of the resident land owners, liable to be assessed for an Elwell road, before proceedings can be started; requiring a four-fifths vote of the county board instead of a majority; providing that not more than 70 per cent of the state allotment to any county can be used on Elwell roads, and forbidding the state highway commission to approve any Elwell road petition unless the money to meet it will be due from the state to the county within ten years.

To Limit Tax Commission.

Representative Searls of Carlton introduced a bill prohibiting the state tax commission from making an increase in the total assessed valuation of any county without a public hearing in such county.

* * *

A new bill providing for a fourth state hospital for the insane was introduced in the house by Representatives Searls and Larson. It appropriates $25,000 to buy a site, north of the southerly boundary of Pine county and east of the easterly boundary of Douglas county, and provides that after locating the hospital the board shall prepare plans for submission to the next legislature.

* * *

All real estate dealers are required to take out county licenses and file bonds of $2,000 to protect clients, under a bill introduced by Representative Thompson.

* * *

Criminal complaints must be filed with the justice of the peace nearest the point where crimes are committed under a bill introduced by Representatives Murphy and Bessette.

To Amend County Option Law.

Representative Welch introduced a bill amending the county option law so as to allow brewers in dry counties to sell beer in five-gallon lots within such counties for private use only.

Representative C. M. Bendixen of Morgan had his amendment to the Bendixen 2-cent passenger fare law advanced to the calendar. It is drawn to meet the decision by the supreme court allowing railroads to charge 3 cents for the first mile of any trip, when the legislature intended only to allow that rate for five-mile trips.

* * *

The Moeller bill allowing regulated boxing in this state was advanced to the calendar in the house, subject to amendment.

* * *

Representative Corning this morning got through the house, under suspension of the rules, his new bill requiring political communications to newspapers to be signed. He explained that his former bill, requiring newspapers to publish answers from the candidates attacked, was killed in the senate because it is unconstitutional, so he had stricken out that provision in the new bill.

Must Adjourn April 22.

The attorney general's office has ruled that the legislature must adjourn April 22, and that March 29 is the last day for introducing bills.

* * *

A state printing plant is created by a bill introduced by Senator Pauly of Minneapolis, which also appropriates $25,000 for that purpose.

* * *

Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth introduced a bill making it a crime for a sheriff to make false entries in his books or records.

* * *

To encourage savings, Senators Dengore and Wallace introduced a bill allowing banks to receive deposits in schools, libraries and other public places.

Saloon Closing Hours.

The senate was engaged in a battle over saloon closing hours. The Swenson bill fixing the closing hour at 11 p. m. in cities of the first and second classes, 10 p. m. in third and fourth class cities, and 9 p. m. in villages, had been amended by Senator G. H. Sullivan to make the closing hour 11 in all cases as it is now, so that the bill would simply make the opening hour 6 instead of 5. Senator Lende moved to reconsider this amendment, and early this afternoon a call of the senate on this motion was in progress.

Being unable to complete its call, the senate adjourned without taking any action on the saloon closing bill, which will be brought up again tomorrow.

The senate killed the J. D. Sullivan bill approving the taking of the 1915 state census as provided by the Constitution.

COLLISION STARTS TWO INJURY SUITS

Cyclists Demand Damages From John Seigal, Auto Owner.

Chester Lathrop, with Marie Hegler on a seat behind him, was taking an evening spin on a motorcycle over the Gilbert-Virginia road one balmy October night last fall when John Seigal came along with an automobile and interrupted their pleasure. The car and the motorcycle collided, and Lathrop and his companion were thrown forcibly to the ground.

Lathrop was badly cut about the head and face and Miss Hegler's left leg was so badly cut that it required nine stitches to close the wound. The accident occurred on the evening of Oct. 23, last, at Gilbert hill, near the village of Gilbert. Siegal, it is claimed, was driving on the side of the road and running at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred.

A jury was selected in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning to try a cause of action which Miss Hegler believes she has against the owner of the car. She is suing for $1,775 damages. Lathrop has also filed suit, but his case will be tried separately. He is demanding $1,770.

Seigal, the defendant, is a Duluth resident. The plaintiff in the case before the court is a resident of Virginia. She is represented by Attorney D. D. Morgan of Virginia. R. N. Caverly of Minneapolis is attorney for Seigal.

ARMY TRANSPORTS AS FREIGHTERS

May Be Used to Bring Exports From the Philippines.

Washington, March 18.—Because of the lack of shipping facilities between the Philippine islands and the United States, army transports will be utilized for carrying goods from the islands which could not be transported in any other way.

Secretary Garrison today called President Wilson's attention to reports from Governor General Harrison on the "unfortunate condition" in the Philippines because of lack of ships for exports to the United States.

At first it was suggested that naval colliers returning from the islands be used. Secretary Daniels was advised that was not authorized by law, Secretary Garrison found, however, that there could be no objection to using returning army transports provided their freight is first made over to the island government.

GETS WIRE FROM SECRETARY BRYAN

Eau Claire Man Notified Sisal Can Be Shipped From Yucatan.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 18.—F. R. Sebenthal of this city, president of the National Federation, has received a telegram from Secretary of State Bryan confirming the Associated Press dispatches that Gen. Carranza has rescinded the order closing the port of Progoso, Mexico, through which shipments of sisal fiber are sent to this country from Jucatan and that the American twine-making industry will not be stopped as feared.

"This means," said Mr. Sebenthal "that the implement dealers have been successful in their effort to lift the embargo on sisal fiber, out of which binding twine is made. While there will be a shortage of twine at least, the fight put up by the Implement Dealers' federation has been won and farmers will be able to get what is necessary to bind this season's crop."

What Wisconsin Farmers Use.

The importance of this matter is apparent when it is known that Wisconsin farmers use about 250,000,000 pounds of twine in a year, with Kansas needing twice as much. The harvest in Texas may begin as early as May 1, and the fiber has in the meantime to go through the process of manufacture. At Yucatan there was said to be 200,000,000 tons of the sisal fiber, in warehouses, most of it owned by Americans. The embargo was put on by Gen. Carranza, apparently for strike, and was enforced by two or three dinky little Mexican gunboats as told in our Associated Press dispatches. The embargo has lasted since Feb. 12.

The Plymouth Cordage company and the International Harvester company probably make 95 per cent of the binding twine, the state prisons making only a few millions of pounds.

Newark, N. J., March 18.—Rev. Louis R. Patmont, whose home here was burned on July 2, 1912, and whose church, the Christian Baptist church, was destroyed by fire on April 10, 1913, and who was subsequently indicted for arson, was arrested here last night. Later he was released under $1,500 bail.

Some time ago Prosecutor Guild received a letter from the minister, who was then in the West, to the effect that he would return to Newark and clear himself of the charges against him.

MANY TOAST EMERALD ISLE

Irish-American Club Holds Banquet in Memory of St. Patrick.

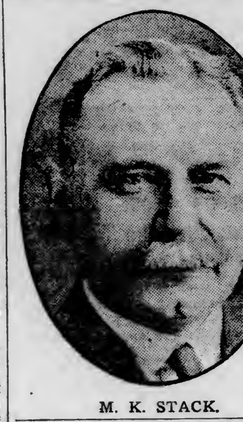
Duluth and Superior Sons of Erin Unite for Celebration.

The Emerald Isle was toasted and her cherished memories recalled and many of her present-day perplexing problems were discussed last night at Badger Inn, Superior hotel, when 500 sons of Erin's Isle gathered around the banquet board at the St. Patrick's day gathering of the Irish-American club. Almost as many Duluthians as Superiorites were present and Irish eloquence and wit and good fellowship made the occasion one long to be remembered.

Speaks for Sixteenth Time.

Attorney C. D. O'Brien of St. Paul, who has spoke sixteen successive years before the club at the St. Patrick's day feast, was present and said that he hoped to "make it seventeen" even if he had to be taken up from his grave.

Shure, and the green flags and golden harps were there, the well-loved Irish airs played by an orchestra brought closer the green fields and simple life of the Emerald Isle. The



M. K. STACK.

banqueters were greeted with an immense shamrock of electric lights, and a green flower could be seen on the coat lapel of every guest.

"Irish Turkey" Served.

The wit of the Irish was conspicuous from the start, when the waiters served "Irish turkey," a delicious concoction of corn beef and cabbage. The remainder of the menu followed in the same style and the whole dinner reminded the guests of the things "mother used to make."

Mr. O'Brien in an eloquent address discussed home rule, the present situation and the past, and the effects of the present war on Ireland and home rule. The treatment accorded Ireland under the present system of government he said could be witnessed by loyal Irish-Americans only with an aching heart.

"Now we are in the midst of war," Mr. O'Brien said. "The effect of the struggle is eagerly awaited by all Irishmen. I am thoroughly convinced and many others also are—that the result of the present war will give Ireland her most long-for chance, the arrival of home rule. It is inevitable and the situation now spurs England on to give Ireland her right."

Urges Support of Administration.

"The young men of today face the crisis visible in the United States, and with no regard to affairs abroad, it is their duty to support the administration," declared W. D. Dwyer of St. Paul, former Superior attorney. "This function tonight is an expression of one nationality toward the United States. The young men present show their patriotism, and next year I hope to have my three sons at the Irish-American banquet."

Dwyer expounded the need for "young Irishmen" to pursue the best aims in life. He laid special emphasis on the home rule struggle and corroborated C. D. O'Brien in believing that the outcome of the European war would determine largely the future of the struggle in the Emerald Isle. He declared himself as confident that home rule would win the prolonged fight, "sometime when we can celebrate in Superior."

"More Irish" Requested.

In response to a request from Toastmaster Crawford that "more Irish" be put into the program, Thomas B. Mills of Superior told a lot of Irish stories that kept the banqueters in an uproar of laughter. Thomas Joyce of Duluth, John A. Cadigan, Father Fardy and Father P. J. O'Mahoney gave short talks. Father Fardy who has been ill for several years, appeared last night for the first time since 1912. William R. Walsh was chosen president to succeed W. J. Stack. M. K. Stack of Duluth was chosen vice president; Frank Conley, secretary; John O'Rourke, treasurer.

In retiring from the presidency Mr. Stack gave way to W. P. Crawford, who presided as toastmaster for the evening.

The Musical Program.

The musical program breathed the spirit of Irish-American patriotism and romance. The famous songs of Thomas Moore, Chauncey Olcott, Pisko O'Hara, and other Irish-American song writers were sung, and if there was anything about the program that wasn't Irish, it was American.

Fortified Tires

Span the Way from Trouble

Goodyear tires have bridged the way for countless men to less trouble and tax. And those men, by their endorsement, brought our last year's output up to 1,479,883 tires.

Why do you suppose that Goodyears hold top place—you who use other tires? They have held that place for years, outselling any other.

The only reason, as you must know, is that Goodyears average best. And that's how they are bound to win you.

The Super-Tire

They are not trouble-proof. Mishaps come to them, misuse affects them, much like other tires.

But Goodyears are Fortified Tires. They protect you in five ways employed by no other maker. They combat five major troubles in unique ways, exclusive to Fortified Tires.

These five extra features cost us fortunes. One alone—our "On-Air" cure—costs us $450,000 yearly. But they save Goodyear users millions of dollars yearly. They avoid countless troubles for them.

Lower Prices

On February 1st we made another big reduction. That makes three in two years, totaling 45 per cent. We are giving you, through mammoth production, the best tire value ever known.

CLAN STEWART GIVES PROGRAM

Sing "St. Patrick Was a Scotsman" and Play Irish Airs on the Bagpipes.

Clan Stewart, Order of Scottish Clans, celebrated last night the birth anniversary of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick—a Scotsman, they claim; and those who attended declare that the clan members did it right.

A program consisting wholly of Irish music, together with an interesting paper on St. Patrick by G. A. Finlayson, was thoroughly enjoyed. One of the big hits of the evening was a vocal solo by James Downie entitled "St. Patrick Was a Scotsman" and sung to the air of "The Wearin' o' the Green." Another number that "got" the audience was the playing of Irish airs on Scots bagpipes by Robert Mowbray, official piper for the clan. It is claimed that never before have the pipes sounded so well.

A banjo and guitar trio, playing Irish airs, by Clansmen Burnett, Warren and Downie, proved very pleasing, and John Anderson's vocal solo was encored.

The clan last night announced that on April 16 the Baldwin Players will give a Scots play at the Lyceum and the clan will have the theater for that night.

Next Wednesday evening another "guid Scots nicht" will be given to clansmen and their families.

MURDER TRIAL TO ANOTHER COUNTY

Change of Venue Granted in Case Against Three North Dakotans.

Bismarck, N. D., March 18.—Judge C. W. Buttz has granted a change of venue from Benson to Tower county in the case against Betsy Jones, her husband, Elmer Jones, and her mother, Mrs. Hans Sogge, all of Benson county, charged with murder in the first degree. The motion of the attorneys for the defense, to take the case out of Benson county on the ground that it would be impossible to secure a fair and impartial trial on account of the sentiment which had developed against the three defendants, was substantiated by affidavits of well-known citizens, State's Attorney T. H. Burke did not resist.

Infanticide Is Alleged.

The defendants are charged with doing away with the babe of Betsy Jones which, the state charges, was thrown while still alive into a vault.

It is thought the defense will endeavor to prove the child died of natural causes. Separate trials have not been demanded by the defendants who, according to the present plan, will be tried jointly.

SUES INDIAN FOR $15,000.

Young Woman Starts Mill City Suit for Breach of Promise.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 18.—Viola M. Moore, 19 years old, filed suit in district court here for breach of promise, asking $15,000 damages from George P. Gordon, an Indian and graduate of Carlisle college, and former member of the Carlisle football team.

Miss Moore alleges that she was to have been married to Gordon in January, but that before that date Gordon married Miss Gazel Golbner, her friend. She says Gordon owns property in Texas valued at more than $35,000.

OFFERED P. O. INSPECTOR $1.

North Dakotan Gets Thirty Days for Trying to Influence Official.

Bismarck, N. D., March 18.—Conrad Wagner pleaded guilty in Federal court to attempting to bribe a post-office inspector by offering him $1 to secure his appointment as a country postmaster. He was sentenced to thirty days in jail. Eva Weinrich was fined $100 and Gus Weinrich $100 and thirty days in jail for issuing postoffice money orders in excess of receipts amounting to $1,000. They had been warned before the arrest for a like offense.

The following were arraigned and pleaded guilty: Bernard Heath, to mailing an obscene letter, fined $200; Oscar C. Axness, to embezzling post-office funds, thirty days in jail and a fine of $100; Mason B. Stovers, fourth class postmaster, for making a false report of cancelations, fined $150. Pleas of not guilty were entered by Paul Mohler, J. O. Hansen, Conrad Wagner, Charles Glate, and Eva Weinrich.

RALPH MAKING SURVEYS.

Three Crews Working on Ditches Near Warroad, Minn.

Warroad, Minn., March 18.—George Ralph, appointed by Judge Watts as surveying engineer for the proposed judicial ditch north and east of Roseau, is here and from this point will direct the survey. He will put on two crews and hopes to complete the work by April 1. He says the drainage system will be one of the best and most complete in the state. The area to be drained lies between Roseau river, Mud Creek and Algoma township, with one main ditch extending into Algoma. The viewers are expected to follow up the survey while the ground is frozen and thus expedite the work.

BOND FOR NEW COUNCILMEN

Commission Passes Suburb Payrolls and Orders Improvements.

Sanitary Sewers Provided for Gary and East Seventh Street.

Besides ordering bonds for the two commissioners to be elected on April 6, the city council at a special meeting yesterday afternoon passed the New Duluth and Gary payrolls, ordered gas and water mains installed in various sections of the city and the construction of sanitary sewers at Gary and East Seventh street.

Mayor Prince and Commissioners Merritt and Murchison were present at the meeting, which was called for the purpose of passing on the payrolls for the sewer work at Gary, so that the men can be paid today. In this way the laborers will not be compelled to wait until the end of the month for their wages.

The payroll passed amounts to $3,173.67 and will come out of the permanent improvement fund.

The council passed a resolution ordering the advertisement for bids on furnishing the city with two $25,000 safety bonds for the commissioners to be elected on April 6, a $10,000 bond for the city engineer and a $3,000 bond for the clerk of the municipal court. The ordinance appropriating $800 for the payment of the premium on these bonds was introduced by Mayor Prince and given its first reading.

Sanitary sewers were ordered constructed in Ninety-ninth avenue west, from Gary to Crestline court, and Seventh street from Sixteenth to Seventeenth avenue east. On motion of Commissioner Merritt the council ordered sewer and water mains installed in Fifth street, from the east side of Nineteenth avenue a half avenue west to a point 150 feet north, and in Fifth avenue west from a point 200 feet south of Commerce street to a point 208 feet south.

OPERATIONS AGAINST DARDANELLES FORTS NOW IN FOURTH PHASE

served by the allied fleet in the Dardanelles, says the Daily Mail Toledo correspondent in describing a visit to the French Rear Admiral Guepratte's flagship.

"Some of the vessels," the correspondent adds, "are daubed with irregular white patches on their gray sides, and the big masts and funnels are a irregular mass of stripes. All this tends to make them less visible at a distance."

Prudence to Govern.

Milan, March 18, via Paris—Prudence will govern the efforts of the admirals of the allied fleet to force a passage of the Dardanelles, according to a special correspondent of the Corriere Della Sera, who gives the captain of the French hospital ship Canada as authority for the statement. At least another month, he says, will be spent in efforts to silence the Turkish fortifications, especially the ones guarding the narrows at Chanak Kalessi.

The operations against Smyrna, the correspondent declared, had a double object. The first is said to have been to prevent the transfer of the Thirteenth Turkish army corps which was preparing to leave for the Dardanelles, and the second to cut the communications of the Ottoman army which was sent against Egypt.

figure stuck in the ground in front of the parts in trenches. Upon being moved the figure exploded and one of the British soldiers was injured.

Describing the shelling of Aubers by the British howitzers the eye witness says a great tower which was a prominent feature of the landscape, was suddenly projected into the air. It dissolved in midair and came down in a cloud of dust.

Prisoners who have been all through the war declare that never have they experienced such a bombardment as that which preceded the assault upon Neuve Chapelle. One wounded Prussian officer declared indignantly that it was not fighting at all. My regiment never had a chance from the first. Nothing could live under such a fire." The resentment of prisoners against the British artillery has been frequently expressed.

German Discipline High.

In spite of their exhaustion, the aspect of the prisoners spoke highly of German discipline. Their persons were extraordinarily clean and most of them were fresh shaven. The were unanimously optimistic, believing they soon would finish with the Russians and that they then would crush France and Great Britain.

One officer stated that three German princes, including Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern, were serving in one of the battalions at Neuve Chapelle. This prisoner expressed the belief that all the princes had been killed.

In conclusion, the eye witness says he believes the Germans lost 18,000 men at Neuve Chapelle.

lighted navy ordnance experts. The gun was built at the American naval gun factory and has been undergoing tests for several months.

Weighs Over 100 Tons.

Some idea of the probable size of the new American gun may be gathered from the fact that each of the eight 15-inch guns of the British battleship Queen Elizabeth weighs 86 tons, while similar rifles designed in the Krupp works for German battleships laid down this year each weigh more than 82 tons. The 14-inch rifles of the battleships New York and Texas and for the five new American dreadnaughts now under construction, weigh 63.3 tons each, and it is certain that the new 16-inch weapon weighs more than 100 tons without its mounting.

Krupp engineers have designed a 16-inch gun which fires a projectile weighing 2,025 pounds, against the 1,675-pound mass of steel hurled by the 15-inch rifles adopted for the German navy and the 1,720-pound projectiles poured into Turkish fortresses of the Dardanelles by the British battleship Queen Elizabeth. None of the German or British vessels of the first line carries any weapon exactly similar to the American 14-inch gun, a jump having been made last year from the standard 12-inch rifle to the 15-inch type.

The New York, Texas, Nevada and Oklahoma each carry ten 14-inch guns, while the Pennsylvania, California, Idaho and Mississippi each will carry twelve, placed three to a turret. These weapons throw projectiles weighing 1,400 pounds as is the case with the 14-inch guns designed for the four Japanese batt eships estimated for in 1914.

Life of Gun Shortened.

With the increase in size, the life of the gun is shortened by erosion, due to the heat generated by the explosion of the huge charge of powder necessary to hurl nearly a ton of metal thirteen miles that is said to be the range of the American 16-inch weapon. The rifling of the gun burns out under the blast. Drops of melted steel are visible in the bore after each shot and it is said that the life of the Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch weapons is less than 100 shots each. After that the gun is so inaccurate as to be virtually useless.

Navy gun designers have overcome that obstacle somewhat, it is said, with the new American 16-inch gun; but the life of the gun is still far below that of the 14-inch.

The Krupp works, before the outbreak of the present war, announced that a process of steel and powder manufacture had been evolved that decreased erosion; but the factory is understood to have refused to contract to supply a large number of great guns under guarantee of 250 rounds accuracy-fire life.

In placing aboard the Queen Elizabeth the 15-inch weapon designed for her class, British navy officials are understood to have depended upon a cheap process for relining, perfected by their engineers, to offset the short life of the gun. If that be true it is probable the Queen Elizabeth soon may be compelled to return to England and have new guns placed aboard, if the steady pounding at the Dardanelles forts exhausts her main battery.

Cost Would Be Great.

It has been suggested that 16-inch guns could be substituted for the 14-inch batteries of the American battleships now under construction, placing them two to a turret instead of three, and giving the ships eight guns each instead of twelve. Navy officers say, however, that the cost of such an alteration would be very great if it could be made at all. They also hold that the American 14-inch gun is the equal of the British or German 15-inch for all practical purposes.

With any target in plain view, it is said, the American gun has equal range and nearly equal penetration, the difference being more than counter-balanced by the larger number of guns carried. Thus, in action against such a ship as the Queen Elizabeth, the Pennsylvania would have twelve 14-inch guns against eight 15-inch and would have 50 per cent greater opportunity for scoring hits. For indirect fire, such as the work in which the Queen Elizabeth shared in the Dardanelles, the 15-inch gun's greater range would be important; but it is not believed it would be a factor in a purely naval battle.

During the present war, big gun naval engagements have been fought at a range of from seven to ten miles, effective distance for either 12 or 14-inch guns.

As a matter of fact, it has been pointed out that the German 8-inch guns outranged larger British guns because of the higher gun elevation provided by German designers. German naval guns, as a rule, have a maximum elevat on of 30 degrees against 15 degrees aboard British and American ships. That is another problem upon which American designers are concentrating attention in planning new ships.

out of six of the new German army corps are said to be engaged on and beyond the frontier of East Prussia, a fact which British observers think will make it difficult for Germany to meet the demands likely to be imposed on her in the west.

Just Grasping Victory.

The full import of the British victory at Neuve Chapelle is only now beginning to be grasped by the public. It has greatly cheered both troops and civilians as confirming the belief that the German line can be broken if the allies care to pay the price. Several thousand wounded men from this battlefield already have arrived in England, five trainloads having reached Brighton during the twenty-four hours ended last evening.

The press today again cautions the people that the taking of the Dardanelles is likely to be a slow affair, to accomplish which the allies must pay the price just as they have done at Neuve Chapelle.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 18, via London, 3:10 p. m.—The German war department gave out the following statement today:

"Western theater of war: A French advance against our position on the southern slope of the Lorette hills was repulsed.

"Partial French attacks in Champagne to the north of Le Mesnil, were brought to a standstill by a counter-attack. A French attack which was begun there last night has been repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy.

"In the Argonne yesterday, the fighting abated. French aviators threw bombs on the undefended Alsatian town of Schlettstadt, only one bomb took effect, falling on a seminary conducted by women teachers, killing two children and severely wounding ten. In reply German aviators last night dropped bombs of big size on the fortress of Calais.

"Eastern theater of war: Russian attacks on German positions between the Pissa and Orzyc rivers in Northern Poland, as well as northeast of Przasnysz, continued yesterday without success. West of the Skwa river we took 900 prisoners of war and east of the Skwa 1,000 prisoners and four machine guns.

"Hordes of the Russian imperial militia gained a cheap victory by invading the most northern corner of East Prussia, in the direction of Memel. They pillaged and burned villages and estates. As a retaliatory measure towns on Russian territory occupied by us were compelled to make payment of large sums. For every village burned down by these Russian hordes on German territory and for each estate destroyed, three villages or estates on Russian territory occupied by us will be sacrificed to the flames. All damage caused by fire in Memel will be answered by the destruction by fire of Russian government buildings at Suwalki and other provincial capitals in German hands."

French Statement.

Paris, March 18, via London, 3:50 p. m.—The war office this afternoon gave out the following statement:

"The Belgian army continued its progress on the Yser. Its artillery bombarded one of the enemy's convoys on the road from Dixmunde to Lesen.

"From the Lys to the Oise there was artillery action. The enemy bombarded in particular the spur of the hill at Notre Dame de Lorette and the villages of Carnoy and Marincourt.

"There is nothing new in the operations in the Champagne.

"In Lorraine there was an artillery duel. One of the aviators of our army bombarded the railway station at Conflans."

up as a special order the Vermilya senate bill repealing the Elwell road law. Representative Larimore, at the request of Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth and others, asked that the special order be put over till March 26 to await a ruling from the supreme court on the Elwell law, but his motion was voted down, 69 to 46, being opposed by the enemies of the Elwell law.

The friends of the law had prepared four amendments which they hoped would meet the objections raised to it, and thus save it from repeal. These amendments are as follows:

Requiring a petition signed by 51 per cent of the resident land owners, liable to be assessed for an Elwell road, before proceedings can be started; requiring a four-fifths vote of the county board instead of a majority; providing that not more than 70 per cent of the state allotment to any county can be used on Elwell roads, and forbidding the state highway commission to approve any Elwell road petition unless the money to meet it will be due from the state to the county within ten years.

To Limit Tax Commission.

Representative Searls of Carlton introduced a bill prohibiting the state tax commission from making an increase in the total assessed valuation of any county without a public hearing in such county.

• • •

A new bill providing for a fourth state hospital for the insane was introduced in the house by Representatives Searls and Larson. It appropriates $25,000 to buy a site, north of the southerly boundary of Pine county and east of the easterly boundary of Douglas county, and provides that after locating the hospital the board shall prepare plans for submission to the next legislature.

• • •

All real estate dealers are required to take out county licenses and file bonds of $2,000 to protect clients, under a bill introduced by Representative Thompson.

• • •

Criminal complaints must be filed with the justice of the peace nearest the point where crimes are committed under a bill introduced by Representatives Murphy and Bessette.

• • •

To Amend County Option Law.

Representative Welch introduced a bill amending the county option law so as to allow brewers in dry counties to sell beer in five-gallon lots within such counties for private use only.

• • •

Representative C. M. Bendixen of Morgan had his amendment to the Bendixen 2-cent passenger fare law advanced to the calendar. It is drawn to meet the decision by the supreme court allowing railroads to charge 3 cents for the first mile of any trip, when the legislature intended only to allow that rate for five-mile trips.

• • •

The Moeller bill allowing regulated boxing in this state was advanced to the calendar in the house, subject to amendment.

• • •

Representative Corning this morning got through the house, under suspension of the rules, his new bill requiring political communications to newspapers to be signed. He explained that his former bill, requiring newspapers to publish answers from the candidates attacked, was killed in the senate because it was unconstitutional, so he had stricken out that provision in the new bill.

• • •

Must Adjourn April 22.

The attorney general's office has ruled that the legislature must adjourn April 22, and that March 29 is the last day for introducing bills.

• • •

A state printing plant is created by a bill introduced by Senator Pauly of Minneapolis, which also appropriates $25,000 for that purpose.

• • •

Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth introduced a bill making it a crime for a sheriff to make false entries in his books or records.

• • •

To encourage savings, Senators Dengree and Wallace introduced a bill allowing banks to receive deposits in schools, libraries and other public places.

Saloon Closing Hours.

The senate was engaged in a battle over saloon closing hours. The Swanson bill fixing the closing hour at 11 p. m. in cities of the first and second classes, 10 p. m. in third and fourth class cities, and 9 p. m. in villages, had been amended by Senator G. H. Sullivan to make the closing hour 11 in all cases as it is now, so that the bill would simply make the opening hour 6 instead of 5. Senator Lende moved to reconsider this amendment, and early this afternoon a call of the senate on this motion was in progress.

Being unable to complete its call, the senate adjourned without taking any action on the saloon closing bill, which will be brought up again tomorrow.

• • •

The senate killed the J. D. Sullivan bill approving the taking of the 1915 state census as provided by the Constitution.

COLLISION STARTS TWO INJURY SUITS

Cyclists Demand Damages From John Seigal, Auto Owner.

Chester Lathrop, with Marie Hegler on a seat behind him, was taking an evening spin on a motorcycle over the Gilbert-Virginia road one balmy October night last fall when John Seigal came along with an automobile and interrupted their pleasure. The car and the motorcycle collided, and Lathrop and his companion were thrown forcibly to the ground.

Lathrop was badly cut about the head and face and Miss Hegler's left leg was so badly cut that it required nine stitches to close the wound. The accident occurred on the evening of Oct. 28, last, at Gilbert hill, near the village of Gilbert. Siegal, it is claimed, was driving on the side of the road and running at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred.

A jury was selected in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning to try a cause of action which Miss Hegler believes she has against the owner of the car. She is suing for $1,775 damages. Lathrop has also filed suit, but his case will be tried separately. He is demanding $1,770.

Seigal, the defendant, is a Duluth resident. The plaintiff in the case before the court is a resident of Virginia. She is represented by Attorney D. D. Morgan of Virginia. R. N. Caverly of Minneapolis is attorney for Seigal.

ARMY TRANSPORTS AS FREIGHTERS

May Be Used to Bring Exports From the Philippines.

Washington, March 18.—Because of the lack of shipping facilities between the Philippine Islands and the United States, army transports will be utilized for carrying goods from the Islands which could not be transported in any other way.

Secretary Garrison today called President Wilson's attention to reports from Governor General Harrison on the "unfortunate condition" in the Philippines because of lack of ships for exports to the United States.

At first it was suggested that naval colliers returning from the Islands be used. Secretary Daniels was advised that was not authorized by law. Secretary Garrison found, however, that there could be no objection to using returning army transports provided their freight is first made over to the Island government.

GETS WIRE FROM SECRETARY BRYAN

Eau Claire Man Notified Sisal Can Be Shipped From Yucatan.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 18.—F. R. Sebenthal of this city, president of the National Federation, has received a telegram from Secretary of State Bryan confirming the Associated Press dispatches that Gen. Carranza has rescinded the order closing the port of Progoso, Mexico, through which shipments of sisal fiber are sent to this country from Yucatan and that the American twine-making industry will not be stopped as feared.

"This means," said Mr. Sebenthal "that the implement dealers have been successful in their effort to lift the embargo on sisal fiber, out of which binding twine is made. While there will be a shortage of twine at least, the fight put up by the Implement Dealers' federation has been won and farmers will be able to get what is necessary to bind this season's crop."

What Wisconsin Farmers Use.

The importance of this matter is apparent when it is known that Wisconsin farmers use about 250,000,000 pounds of twine in a year, with Kansas needing twice as much. The harvest in Texas may begin as early as May 1, and the fiber has in the meantime to go through the process of manufacture. At Yucatan there was said to be 200,000,000 tons of the sisal fiber, in warehouses, most of it owned by Americans. The embargo was put on by Gen. Carranza, apparently for tribute, and was enforced by two or three dinky little Mexican gunboats as told in our Associated Press dispatches. The embargo has lasted since Feb. 12.

The Plymouth Cordage company and the International Harvester company probably make 95 per cent of the binding twine, the state prisons making only a few millions of pounds.

REV. LOUIS PATMONT PLACED UNDER ARREST

Newark, N. J., March 18.—Rev. Louis R. Patmont, whose home here was burned on July 2, 1912, and whose church, the Christian Baptist church, was destroyed by fire on April 10, 1913, and who was subsequently indicted for arson, was arrested here last night. Later he was released under $1,500 bail.

Some time ago Prosecutor Guild received a letter from the minister, who was then in the West, to the effect that he would return to Newark and clear himself of the charges against him.

MINISTER ASKS GIRLS TO POSE IN THE NUDE.

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 18.—Rev. L. G. Kelly of Bonesteel, S. D., who was arrested in Sioux City for attempting to induce girls to pose for him in the nude to provide illustrations for his forthcoming novel, "The Temptress," is in custody in Sioux Falls, a Federal officer having brought him there. MANY TOAST EMERALD ISLE

Irish-American Club Holds Banquet in Memory of St. Patrick.

Duluth and Superior Sons of Erin Unite for Celebration.

The Emerald Isle was toasted and her cherished memories recalled and many of her present-day perplexing problems were discussed last night at Badger Inn, Superior hotel, when 500 sons of Erin's Isle gathered around the banquet board at the St. Patrick's day gathering of the Irish-American club. Almost as many Duluthians as Superiorites were present and Irish eloquence and wit and good fellowship made the occasion one long to be remembered.

Speaks for Sixteenth Time.

Attorney C. D. O'Brien of St. Paul, who has spoke sixteen successive years before the club at the St. Patrick's day feast, was present and said that he hoped to "make it seventeen" even if he had to be taken up from his grave.

Shure, and the green flags and golden harps were there, the well-loved Irish airs played by an orchestra brought closer the green fields and simple life of the Emerald Isle. The

M. K. STACK.

banqueters were greeted with an immense shamrock of electric lights, and a green flower could be seen on the coat lapel of every guest.

"Irish Turkey" Served.

The wit of the Irish was conspicuous from the start, when the waiters served "Irish turkey," a delicious concoction of corn beef and cabbage. The remainder of the menu followed in the same style and the whole dinner reminded the guests of the things "mother used to make."

Mr. O'Brien in an eloquent address discussed home rule, the present situation and the past, and the effects of the present war on Ireland and home rule. The treatment accorded Ireland under the present system of government he said could be witnessed by loyal Irish-Americans only with an aching heart.

"Now we are in the midst of war," Mr. O'Brien said. "The effect of the struggle is eagerly awaited by all Irishmen. I am thoroughly convinced —and most others also are—that the result of the present war will give Ireland her most long-for chance, the arrival of home rule. It is inevitable and the situation now spurs England on to give Ireland her right."

Urges Support of Administration.

"The young men of today face the crisis visible in the United States, and with no regard to affairs abroad, it is their duty to support the administration," declared W. J. Dwyer of St. Paul, former Superior attorney. "This function tonight is an expression of one nationality toward the United States. The young men present show their patriotism, and next year I hope to have my three sons at the Irish-American banquet."

Dwyer expounded the need for "young Irishmen" to pursue the best aims in life. He laid special emphasis on the home rule struggle and corroborated P. D. O'Brien in believing that the outcome of the European war would determine largely the future of the struggle in the Emerald Isle. He declared himself as confident that home rule would win the prolonged fight, "something when we can celebrate in America."

"More Irish" Requested.

In response to a request from Toastmaster Crawford that "more Irish" be put into the program, Thomas B. Mills of Superior told a lot of Irish stories that kept the banqueters in an uproar of laughter. Thomas Joyce of Duluth, John A. Cadigan, Father Fardy and Father P. J. O'Mahoney gave short talks. Father Fardy who has been ill for several years, appeared last night for the first time since 1912. William R. Walsh was chosen president to succeed W. J. Stack. M. K. Stack of Duluth was chosen vice president; Frank Conley, secretary; John O'Rourke, treasurer.

¼

In retiring from the presidency Mr. Stack gave way to W. P. Crawford, who presided as toastmaster for the evening.

The Musical Program.

The musical program breathed the spirit of Irish-American patriotism and romance. The famous songs of Thomas Moore, Chauncey Olcott, Fiske O'Hara, and other Irish-American song writers were sung, and if there was anything about the program that wasn't Irish, it was American.

CLAN STEWART GIVES PROGRAM

Sing "St. Patrick Was a Scotsman" and Play Irish Airs on the Bagpipes.

Clan Stewart, Order of Scottish Clans, celebrated last night the birth anniversary of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick—a Scotsman, they claim; and those who attended declare that the clan members did it right.

A program consisting wholly of Irish music, together with an interesting paper on St. Patrick by G. A. Finlayson, was thoroughly enjoyed. One of the big hits of the evening was a vocal solo by James Downie entitled "St. Patrick Was a Scotsman" and sung to the air of "The Wearin' o' the Green." Another number that "got" the audience was the playing of Irish airs on Scots bagpipes by Robert Mowbray, official piper for the clan. It is claimed that never before have the pipes sounded so well.

A banjo and guitar trio, playing Irish airs, by Clansmen Burnett, Warren and Downie, proved very pleasing, and John Anderson's vocal solo was encored.

The clan last night announced that on April 16 the Baldwin Players will give a Scots play at the Lyceum and the clan will have the theater for that night.

Next Wednesday evening another "guid Scots nicht" will be given to clansmen and their families.

MURDER TRIAL TO ANOTHER COUNTY

Change of Venue Granted in Case Against Three North Dakotans.

Bismarck, N. D., March 18.—Judge C. W. Buttz has granted a change of venue from Benson to Tower county in the case against Betsy Jones, her husband, Elmer Jones, and her mother, Mrs. Hans Sogge, all of Benson county, charged with murder in the first degree. The motion of the attorneys for the defense, to take the case out of Benson county on the ground that it would be impossible to secure a fair and impartial trial on account of the sentiment which had developed against the three defendants, was substantiated by affidavits of well-known citizens, State's Attorney T. H. Burke did not resist.

Infanticide Is Alleged.

The defendants are charged with doing away with the babe of Betsy Jones which, the state charges, was thrown while still alive into a vault.

It is thought the defense will endeavor to prove the child died of natural causes. Separate trials have not been demanded by the defendants who, according to the present plan, will be tried jointly.

PAPER MILL ENDANGERED

Big Plant at International Falls Has Close Fire Call.

Shaving Conveyor Catches Fire But Flames Are Soon Extinguished.

International Falls, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city had a big fire scare night before last, when the big paper mill whistle blew shrill blasts and word was passed about town that the great plant was on fire.

There was a general rush towards the mill, while the fire-fighting apparatus hurried to the scene. Flames were issuing from the south side of the structure, and at first it looked like a bad fire.

The shaving conveyor on the northeast corner, leading into the boiler room, had become ignited and quickly grew into a furious blaze at the lower end. A system of automatic fire protection, which is inlaid throughout the plant, prevented the fire from spreading to the boiler room to any serious extent. The fire department checked the ravages of the flames, preventing any great damage.

One Small Building Destroyed.

A small building at the lower end of the conveyor was completely destroyed and the motor likewise lost. The "hog fuel" chute nearby was damaged slightly and some little damage occurred in the boiler room.

The origin of the fire has not been ascertained, although it is believed that it was started by some one who violated the rules of the place by smoking. Investigation of all bearings showed that no "hot boxes" had occurred, and the place is one easily fired because of the large amount of dry, highly inflammable matter there.

A crew of men was soon at work on the conveyor, and it is in operation today.

BALL PLAYER HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Alleged to Have Caused Death of Ranier Young Woman.

International Falls, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Sheriff Hugh Van Ettan returned yesterday morning from Minneapolis with H. H. Tufford in custody, the charge against him being a statutory offense, in connection with the death of Inga Emerson, a 17-year-old girl of Ranier, who died at the Northern Minnesota hospital Saturday night.

Kept Death Secret.

The girl's death was kept a secret until Tufford was apprehended. The latter spent last summer here as second baseman of the local ball team and afterwards was employed in the Enger-Nord office, going to Minneapolis about three months ago.

SPECIAL SESSION IN NORTH DAKOTA

Failure of Lawmakers to Perfect Certain Bills May Require It.

Fargo, N. D., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—"It looks like we may be compelled to return to Bismarck and do some of our work over again," confessed a member of the state legislature from the northern part of the state today.

"I admit our failure to comply with the new provisions for the application of the emergency clauses on important legislation was almost assinine," he continued, "but it was one of those inexplainable things which was everybody's business and no one attended to it.

"I note the prediction," he continued, "that petitions will be circulated against certain enactments. I understand the chief opposition is to the immigration bureau, the state board of regents and similar measures, which were in reality our most important constructive legislation and in my estimation are imperatively necessary for the advancement and the development of the state.

"In our section, I am convinced the demand for a special session of the legislature will be strong, provided the referendum is applied to these measures for the purpose of holding them up for the next two years. It would be a heavy expense, but Governor Hanna would be generally commended by the voters for calling the session, rather than permit the progress of the state to be retarded or some of its institutions be closed merely to satisfy the revenge of a few people who were opposed to certain acts of the legislature."

His hearing will be next week.

Face Eruptions Have Deep Significance

Often They Indicate Impurities Deep in the Tissues.

The results shown by S. S. S. in clearing the skin reveal how searchingly and how deeply this famous blood purifier attacks blood troubles. Facial eruptions are more often significant of impaired nutrition resulting from faulty elimination of body wastes.

Most people realize this to be true. And yet it is a difficult matter to convince such people they should avoid those harmful drugs such as mercury, iodide of potash, arsenic and so on. S. S. S. gives just as good effect without the destructive results, because it is more searching. It goes deeply into the circulation wherever the blood flows, but it does not remain to clog the system. And its effect is complete and thorough as indicated by blood tests. One of the strange things today is that so many people are wedded to the notion that mercury is the one antidote. It is not so. There is in S. S. S. a product of nature that is rated one of the most potent principles known for the complete elimination of blood troubles.

Wherever you go there are people who know this to be true from their own experience, for it has been clearly shown there is one ingredient in S. S. S. as essential to health if the blood be impure as the nourishing elements of the grains, sugars and salts of our daily food. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist, but insist upon S. S. S., accept no substitute. And if your case is peculiar or of long standing, write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 101 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

SKIN ERUPTION ITCHED AND BURNED

On Face and Shoulders. Scratched and Made Worse. Great Disfigurement. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Spots All Gone.

R. F. D. No. 3, Box 9, Joplin, Mo.—"My trouble began first as little red spots appearing on my skin. They affected my face and shoulders. They itched and burned terribly. Then I would scratch them and it would make them worse. My whole face and shoulders would be sore. The eruption would burn and itch especially when I would get in the sun and get very warm and when I did my face would break out worse. It was a great disfigurement while it lasted. Some nights it kept me awake. I could hardly bear any clothing on my shoulders at all.

"I tried several different remedies all in vain. I almost gave up trying when a friend advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In a week my face began to get better and in another two weeks the spots were all gone." (Signed) Miss Alta Scott, June 2, 1914.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MAY FOLLOW DULUTH FORM

Virginia Charter Commission Favorable to Zenith City's Plan.

Expected People of Range City Will Vote on Commission Form Soon.

Virginia, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unless there is radical change in the present sentiment prevailing among members of the Virginia charter commission the people of this city will be afforded an opportunity during the coming summer to vote on changing the form of city government from the aldermanic and ward system to the commission form.

This developed at the meeting of the charter commission last night. The commission has abandoned the idea of having three commissioners with a city manager like Dayton, Ohio, and has practically decided to propose the adoption of the Duluth charter with five commissioners.

The pay of the commissioners has not been decided upon.

Up to Special Committee.

The charter commission will take final action on the matter when it gets a report in May from a special committee named to report definitely on a charter along the lines of the Duluth one. This committee consists of John Lamont, C. C. Butler, Andrew Grande, Edward C. A. Johnson and Frank Hughes.

There is said to be a growing sentiment here in favor of the adoption of the commission form of government owing to its apparent success in Duluth, Eveleth and other places.

BLACKBERRY MAN FROZEN TO DEATH

Leaves Grand Rapids Intoxicated and Falls on Ice.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Victor Vickstrom, living near Blackberry, was frozen to death last Monday night.

He had come to Grand Rapids on Monday and had represented himself to be in destitute circumstances. He secured some money from the Security State bank, part of which was used to secure liquor, and when he left for his home on the afternoon train he was under the influence of the intoxicant. He started to walk to his home from the station and fell while he was crossing the ice on Blackberry lake and his dead body was found Tuesday morning.

Vickstrom was about 40 years of age and it is said that one of his children was living with him at the time of his death.

COLERAINE IS PLEASED.

St. Patrick's Entertainment Gives Delight in Western Mesaba.

Coleraine, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is never a failure to celebrate St. Patrick's day in a proper manner on the Western Mesaba range, and the program given at the village auditorium last evening was one of the best.

The catchy solos with choruses by Levi Seeley, two high school seniors, the vocal selections by Mrs. Caldwell and Miss Selma August and J. E. Jennings merited and received hearty encores, while the male quartet songs by Messrs. Fahey, Woiski, Schoengarth and Jennings took the house by storm. A novel and interesting feature was the three-part detective moving picture drama. Among the attractive musical numbers was a piano duet by Mesdames Johnson and Fisk.

A capacity house enjoyed the program, which was followed by dancing.

PROOF OF WAR SERVICE.

Hibbing Greek Able to Establish He Is Balkan War Hero.

Hibbing, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Positive proof that Stephen Katsurenis of Hibbing fought in the Balkan war in Company A, Fourteenth regiment, Eighth division of the Greek army, is furnished by P. A. Callan of Minneapolis, who was visiting his brother J. A. Callan here yesterday. Several local Greeks, seeing a publication about hardships and suffering experienced by Katsurenis, in a communication intimated strongly that the Greek soldiers suffered no hardships whatever in the war.

Stephen Katsurenis was one of the first Greeks to return after the Balkan war and the papers contained several columns relating to the horrors of war as graphically told by the young soldier. Although only 22 years of age, Katsurenis has several gray hairs.

Katsurenis has received medals for bravery in the war. He also has papers directly from King Constantine showing that he was in the regiment that did much to win the war for the Grecian army.

"If any one declares that the victories for Greece were won without any effort, they lie," declared young Katsurenis. "I'm very much inclined to believe that the motive of those who tried to discredit the story that I fought in the war due to spite and jealousy."

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind and You Save $2. Fully Guaranteed

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 54 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Gets Verdict for $397.15.

D. T. Collins represented the plaintiff.

AURORA COUNCIL FOOLS BIG CROWD

Expected Action on Light and Water Commission Is Not Taken.

Aurora, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of the village council last night was the largest attended of any meeting of that body in months.

The matter of appointing a commission for the light and water department, having been under consideration for some time, was the magnet that drew the people to the meeting. There has been considerable feeling about town against the appointment of a commission at this time, many contending that as the new council will go in April 1, the matter should be left over to them. The council room was packed with people ready to protest, should the matter be taken up, but nothing was done in the matter.

Talboys Makes Protest.

F. C. Talboys protested to the council against selling of a lot owned by the village in the township at private sale. The lot is at the rear of Mr. Talboys' store and he has wanted to purchase it for some time, but has been unable to do so. The lot was sold recently to the township and Mr. Talboys protested the same on the grounds that it was not fair, as the property should have been advertised and bids received.

Many small matters were considered in an endeavor to wind up the year for the present council. Bills were allowed, arrangements were made for a meeting today with Mr. Robertson, who is installing electrical machinery in the new light plant, and the recorder was authorized to employ an expert accountant to audit the books of the village.

NEW JERSEY SHOT.

One-Time Noted Race Horse Killed at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., March 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—New Jersey, a family driving horse belonging to James E. Nicholson that one time held a world's record for pulling a four-wheeled conveyance, had to be killed yesterday. The animal's record was 2:07¼ and was made on a Philadelphia track.

New Jersey, while in the stable of Mrs. Nicholson, was kicked recently in the hip by another horse. As veterinarians declared that the horse would never recover from the bruise, he thought it best to shoot the beast, and, as coincidence would have it, asked Peter McDermitt, once a Western jockey and driver of New Jersey in the East, to dispatch the steed.

Old race track followers will recall a wonderful race in Memphis, Tenn., when New Jersey first ran himself into the limelight. At this time the speed of the horse was unknown and few, if any, backed New Jersey, which won everything that day and was responsible for thousands of dollars in "loose change" being lost to those betting on a "sure thing." Nicholson bought the horse from Mrs. Keller of Superior.

Baking Helps

Valuable Suggestions

By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, Exponent of the Art of Baking, as taught by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill

Helpful Cake Making Hints

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter the cake. Remember that! To cream butter and sugar quickly, warm the sugar slightly. Beat yolks of eggs with rotary beater. Whip whites of eggs with flat spoon whip. Water makes lighter cakes; milk makes richer cakes.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add yolks, if used. Then alternately add moisture and flour that has been sifted with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

Always use K C Baking Powder.

Biscuit Helps

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times.

Have shortening cold and firm. Mix dough as soft as it can be handled. The softer dough goes into the oven, the lighter the biscuit when it comes out. It is easier for K C Baking Powder to do its work in soft than in stiff dough. Mix biscuits very little. Do not knead. Stir up with spoon or knife and press in shape to roll on floured board.

With K C Baking Powder results are sure and certain. Ask your grocer for K C. 39

WILL FIGHT EXTRADITION

Prisoner Held in Milwaukee Is Wanted at Hibbing.

Arthur B. Pett, 23, arrested two weeks ago at Milwaukee on a charge preferred by a 15-year-old Hibbing girl, refuses to return to Minnesota for trial without extradition papers, according to information which has reached the county attorney's office.

Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, armed with requisition papers from Governor Hammond at St. Paul, addressed to Governor Philip of Wisconsin asking that a warrant of extradition be issued, will leave Sunday for Madison, where he will appear on the following day at a hearing in the matter. Attorney Forbes will represent the state.

Deputy Sheriff S. Levy will also leave for Madison Sunday and in the event that the extradition warrant is issued by the Wisconsin executive, the St. Louis county officer will bring the prisoner back to Minnesota to answer to the charge which has been preferred against him. He will be tried at Hibbing.

From Madison, Mr. Forbes will go to St. Mary, Kan., where he appears for the state Thursday, Feb. 25, at a hearing at which depositions will be taken on behalf of the defense to be used at the trial of Thomas P. Meyer, charged with burglary in the first degree. Meyer is awaiting trial at Virginia.

The prisoner was indicted by the grand jury at Virginia on Dec. 3 on a charge of having broken into the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway ticket office in Virginia on the night of Nov. 26. He is supposed to have two other accomplices. The burglars who rifled the cash drawer in the ticket office succeeded in getting only $23.50. When Meyers was arrested he had in his possession, it is claimed, a kit of burglar's tools. The Virginia police believe that he is associated with a gang of yeggmen.

THE AMERICAN DISEASE

Neurasthenia may be called a distinctively American disease because the condition of nervous strain that produces it is more prevalent here than in any other country. Overwork and worry, ambition, haste, the high tension at which business is conducted, all use up the nerve force and produce neurasthenia, for the disease is simply exhaustion and excessive irritability of the nerve centers.

A tendency to neurasthenia is inherited by many Americans whose ancestors had but a small stock of nervous energy to bequeath. Grief, excessive worry or disappointment in love, business or school work may cause neurasthenia.

The symptoms include a feeling of exhaustion upon rising in the morning, of disturbed sleep, headache, with a sense of weight and tightness about the head. The patient is irritable, difficult to please, and suffers from depression.

The treatment is to remove the cause if possible (as when overstudy is responsible) take abundant rest, spend ten hours in bed out of every twenty-four, eat as much nourishing food as possible and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore the nerves. The ice was thick over most of the water, but in one place, probably something in the nature of an air hole existed, and through this the animals plunged. One was probably injured by the fall and by its own helplessness dragged the other down before help could be secured.

Very Effective Method for Banishing Hairs

(Modes of Today)

At very little cost any woman can rid her face of hairy growths, if she will use the delatone treatment. This is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This paste is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm results from this treatment, but care should be used to buy real delatone.—Advertisment.

HIGH SCHOOLS IN STATE TOURNAMENT

Virginia Will Represent Eighth District at Northfield Meet.

Virginia high school basket ball team will represent the Eighth district, of which the local Central high school team is a member, at the state high school basket ball tournament which will be held tomorrow and Saturday at Northfield, Minn., under the auspices of Carleton college.

One team has been selected by elimination from each congressional district and will represent its section at the tournament. Preliminary games will be played tomorrow and semi-finals and finals on Saturday.

Virginia, Fosston and Breckenridge are teams from the northern half of the state which will be strong contenders for the silver trophy emblematic of state championship.

Duluth Central high school team has questioned the championship of the Eighth district and claims that although the Virginia aggregation defeated the locals on the range town floor, they would not repeat the trick on a local floor. The local backers say the range team refused to play a return game.

ALL-STAR BOUTS IN QUAKER CITY CLEAR FISTIC ATMOSPHERE

ENGLISHMAN BESTS JIMMY CLABBY

Hammond Middleweight Aspirant Outclassed By Young Ahearn.

Philadelphia, March 18.—Young Ahearn, middleweight champion of England, won the popular decision over Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., aspirant for the title in that class, in their six-round bout here last night. With the exception of the first round, in which Clabby opened a gash over Ahearn's eye, the English champion excelled.

Ahearn was rather slow getting started, and Clabby, by his fast work, was entitled to the opening round. After this the British champion went better, and at times made his opponent miss badly. Both on the offensive and defensive Ahearn showed the better form, and his jabs while in the clinches apparently bothered Clabby very much.

White Stops Robideau.

Charley White, the Chicago lightweight, stopped Sam Robideau of Philadelphia in the first round of a scheduled six-round bout here last night. After Robideau had received a terrific uppercut on the point of the jaw and had been knocked down three times for the count of nine, the Philadelphian seconds, fearing he was in a helpless condition, stopped the fight.

MERCY SAKES! FREDDIE WELSH WINS A BOUT.

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 18.—Fred Welsh of England, lightweight champion, outfought Hal Stewart of Fort Wayne in a ten-round boxing contest here last night. Stewart had the better of the first two rounds, the third was a draw, while the last seven went to Welsh, according to newspaper writers present.

BANTAM CHAMP NO MATCH FOR JOHNNY

Featherweight Champion Outfights Williams All the Way.

Philadelphia, March 18.—Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, outfought Kid Williams, the bantamweight title-holder, all the way in their six-round bout here last night. Both men weighed in at 122 pounds a half hour before the fight.

The men boxed Philadelphia rules—keep punching till ordered to break, and then break clean; kidney punch barred.

The two little champions feinted and sparred for an opening in the first two rounds, during which few blows were struck. Williams gave ground continually, and both rounds were a succession of clinches in which the bantamweight title-holder made ineffectual leads for the body. Kilbane eluded most of Williams' leads, and toward the end of the second round rocked Williams' head with right uppercuts in rapid succession.

Both men mixed it in the third round, which ended with Williams making a rally after Kilbane had jabbed him with lefts to the face.

Kilbane had all the better of the fourth round, driving Williams to all corners of the ring and forcing the bantam champion to resort to frequent clinches.

Williams missed a hard left for the face in the opening of the fifth round, and Kilbane led straight lefts to Williams' head, the latter replying with right and left swings to Kilbane's body. The round ended with the men fighting furiously in the center of the ring.

After shaking hands at the opening of the final round, both rushed to a clinch. Kilbane held Williams off and then sent hard rights and lefts to the bantam's face.

Williams was forced to the ropes, but came back strong. A few seconds before the bell Kilbane landed a hard right and left to the jaw, which jarred Williams considerably.

M'LEOD WINS UNIVERSAL

Veteran Skip Defeats Forsyth in Finals of Last Trophy Event.

McLeod played a winning game last night and he had little trouble in defeating his rival. He was in the finals of the Manley-McLennan, but lost out to Will Dinham last Tuesday night.

Naughton went into the finals of the Blaze o' Glory event last night by defeating Magie, 13 to 4. But two games are left in this event and the curling season will then came to a close. The game between Myron and Hoene in the semi-finals of the Blaze o' Glory event will be played tonight. The winner will then play Naughton. Several practice games were also played last evening.

tigers have been playing some practice games.

Detroit sport writers have evidently taken a liking to the Sturgeon Lake boy, as they have given considerable attention to his work.

"Cunningham, the rugged boy from Duluth," says Batchelor in the Detroit Free Press, "is the sort of pitcher to develop into an iron man. He has a lot more steam than is apparent at first glance, and has a deceptive delivery. Above everything else, he has a fine physique."

Writing of Cunningham's work in a game with the Pelicans at New Orleans, Batchelor characterized him as "unsteady, but good in the pinches."

"Three recruits will be carried with the Tiger first squad this year and if George can keep going at his present rate he has a good chance to land.

OLDFIELD WINS RACE AT VENICE

Carlson Close Behind—Winner Never Stops During Contest.

Venice, Cal., March 18.—Barney Oldfield won the 300-mile St. Patrick's day Grand Prix automobile race here yesterday. William Carlson was second and George E. Ruckstell, third.

The official time was: Oldfield, 4:21:09 2-5; Carlson, 4:24:43⅘. Ruckstell 4:27:27. Nineteen cars started and twelve finished.

Not once during the race did Oldfield stop. He was fifth at the ninety-second lap, then forged ahead of Dave Lewis and Eddie Hearne, who were forced to give up the lead owing to engine trouble, and finished the ninety-seven laps with Carlson close behind him.

Marquis' car, going seventy miles an hour, struck J. N. Ortiz, an aged spectator, severing his left leg. Surgeons said Ortiz probably would recover.

DILLON WILL MEET MIDDLEWEIGHTS

Signs for Hudson Bout After Sinking the "Gunboat."

After trimming "Gunboat" Smith at Milwaukee on Tuesday night in the light heavyweight class, Jack Dillon of Indianapolis, has agreed to return to the middleweight class and try to duplicate the dose on any battler, who can make the weight, that Mike Collins, Hudson promoter, can book for his needs. Collins was at the ringside when Dillon sank the gunboat and afterwards induced the Hoosier fighter to sign up. The month of April, dates wild, was agreed on. Dillon weighed 171 pounds with his clothes on Tuesday evening, which would bring him down to about 160 stripped for action. He claims that he can easily do less than that and lose no stamina.

Mike Gibbons may be matched with Dillon, but Billy Murray, the former coast battler, now of Minneapolis, is talked of.

The trouble heretofore in matching Gibbons and Dillon was the latter's uncertainty about making the 158-pound limit, but Mike Collins seems to have convinced Dillon that he can do it.

There has always been a desire to see Dillon matched up with Murray for the reason that they fight in like fashion, both being two-handed punchers who would slam at each other and fight all the way, hoping for a knock-out at any stage of the game.

L. F. Hackett, secretary of the newly organized baseball team at Baudette, Minn., says that an effort is being made to form a league which will include Baudette, International Falls, Fort Frances, Warroad and Roseau, the plan being to play week-end games during the season. The Herald was notified a few days ago, and announced it at the time, that the team at International Falls has been formed, and is looking for a game schedule; so this effort, if it comes to anything, may solve the Falls' problem.

Mr. Hackett writes that the Baudette team will be composed of local and part salaried players. The officers elected for the Baudette Baseball club are as follows:

President, W. T. Noonan; treasurer, T. J. Clauson; secretary, L. F. Hackett, and captain-manager, Charley Wubbens.

TRACTION COMPANY WINS DAMAGE CASE

Held Not Responsible for Two Collisions With W. S. Rider's Auto.

No blame attaches to the Duluth Street Railway company because an automobile owned by W. S. Rider was bumped by street cars twice within five weeks, according to a verdict which was returned yesterday afternoon in Judge Fesler's division of district court.

Rider sued the traction company for $735. His automobile was struck by a street car near the Interstate bridge Sept. 22, 1914, and it was claimed that another collision occurred on Oct. 25 at Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street. Rider charged the company with negligence.

Thomas S. Wood appeared in court as attorney for the street railway company and Clarence C. Teare prosecuted the case for the plaintiff.

BRITISH STEAMER IS SUNK OFF HOLLAND.

London, March 18.—The British steamer Leen Warden, bound from London for Harlingen, Holland, has been torpedoed by the German submarine U-28 four miles southeast of the Maas, Holland, lightship, according to Reuter's Manaluis correspondent.

The crew of seventeen men were given five minutes to take to their small boats, which the submarine towed until a pilot steamer was met. The men were then transferred to the pilot boat and landed at Hook of Holland.

The ship was a cross channel steamer of 374 tons and was owned by the Steam Navigation company of London.

TO CLEANSE DOCK SLIP

City Council Will Protect Shipping From Sewage Blockade.

Boat Lines Refuse to Dock Boats Under Present Conditions.

Because lake lines are refusing to dock their boats alongside the Rust-Parker-Martin warehouse slip, owing to the collection of sand and sewage at that point from the First avenue west sewer outlet, Commissioner Murchison, head of the public works division, has agreed to raze a boathouse at Railroad street and construct a safety crib for the sewer pipes from the tracks to the outlet in the bay.

Hugh McClearn, attorney for the Rust-Parker-Martin company, appeared before the commissioners at their special meeting yesterday afternoon and asked the council to remedy the conditions, so that the boat lines would dock their boats on the west side of the slip. He introduced several letters from traffic managers of the boat lines to the effect that they will not dock their boats under present conditions. They claim that it is not safe for a boat to come in at this point, owing to the collection of sand and sewage.

As a result, the Rust-Parker-Martin company claims that it will lose several thousand dollars a year as the result of such action and Mr. McClearn asked the council to make the necessary changes before the opening of navigation on the lakes, otherwise the company would be compelled to go to a great expense, he said, in renting other docks and paying for drayage.

After the conference, Commissioner Murchison announced that it would be up to the company to dredge the slip, but that the city would take the necessary precautions against the repetition of the refuse condition in the future. A small boathouse, formerly owned by the naval militia, will be torn down, he said, and a safety crib constructed along the sewer, from the tracks to the shore line.

Work on this will begin just as soon as several boats stored in the boathouse are removed by the owners, Commissioner Murchison said.

SPRING AUTO TRAVEL BEGUN

Two Range Men Make Trip From Duluth to Virginia.

Spring is here, at least, as far as automobile traveling on state highways is concerned.

On Tuesday afternoon W. H. Fleer and Edward Ala, both of Virginia, made the trip from Duluth in their new Ford cars, which were delivered to them that morning by the Mutual Auto company. They went by way of the Miller Trunk road, and over the long distance telephone Wednesday reported that the roadway from Duluth to Cloquet river was in a bad condition, but that beyond the river traveling was almost perfect.

Both Mr. Fleer and Mr. Ala are the first to take range trips in automobiles this year and have practically started the spring travel out of Duluth.

E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company, agents for the Ford, is very much pleased with the way the two cars made the trip to Virginia at this time of the year. However, he does not expect motorists to start taking this trip until early in May.

Duluth friends of William F. Fitch of Marquette, Mich., former president of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway company, are concerned as to his condition of health.

Since before Thanksgiving, Mr. Fitch has been confined to his home at Marquette with an illness and Duluth friends, who have visited him recently, declare that he is improving but slowly.

Mr. Fitch has a wide circle of friends in Duluth and is the owner of considerable property here.

Runs Blockade.

London, March 18.—The Anchor line steamer Cameronia, which arrived at Liverpool from New York, March 15, with a cargo valued at $5,000,000, successfully ran the German submarine blockade. The vessel reports that she was chased by three German submarines on her voyage through the Irish sea.

POSITIONS OF ALL DEFINED

United States Has Answers From England, Germany and France.

Now Confronted With Question of Protesting Double Blockade.

Washington, March 18.—Six diplomatic notes were made public last night by the state department, constituting the entire correspondence of the last few weeks between the United States and Germany, and between the United States and Great Britain and France, relative to the abandonment of submarine attacks on merchant ships, the shipment of conditional contraband and foodstuffs to civilians in a belligerent country, the use of neutral flags by belligerent merchantmen, the removal of mines, and the proclamation of a virtual blockade by the allies against Germany.

The communications revealed that the United States government, realizing the difficulties of maintaining an effective blockade by a close guard of an enemy coast on account of the newly developed activity of submarines, asked that "a radius of activity" be defined. Great Britain and France replied with the announcement that the operations of blockade would not be conducted "outside of European waters, including the Mediterranean."

While Germany agreed, it is disclosed, to abandon her submarine attacks on "mercantile of any flag," except when they resist visit or search, provided foodstuffs were permitted to reach her civilian population, Great Britain and her allies rejected the proposal made by the United States in order to bring the belligerents into an arrangement which would safeguard the interest of neutrals.

Cause Previously Unknown.

Furthermore, the documents show that, in a message of inquiry to Great Britain and France, the United States asked whether the embargo on all commerce between Germany and neutral countries was to be carried out under the rules of a blockade or by interference with ships and cargoes, "as if no blockade existed," the two together presented in the view of the American government "a proposed course of action previously unknown to international law."

The answers from both Great Britain and France reveal for the first time that the allies officially regard their policy as a "blockade" but desire to refrain from exercising the rights of belligerents under a blockade to confiscate ships and cargoes as a penalty for breach of blockade, substituting for it procedure in prize courts and compensation through sale of the detained merchandise.

The definition of a "radius of activity" for the allied fleet in European waters, including the Mediterranean, is the first intimation of the geographical limits of the blockade. Its limits were not given more exactly, the allies claim, because Germany was equally indefinite in proclaiming all the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland "a war zone."

European Waters.

The restriction of the area of operations of the blockade to European waters, followed this observation by the United States to both Great Britain and France:

"While this government is fully alive to the possibility that the methods of modern naval warfare, particularly in the use of the submarine for both defensive and offensive operations, may make the former means of maintaining a blockade a physical impossibility, it feels it can be urged with great force, that there should be also some limit to 'the radius of activity,' and especially so if this action by the belligerents can be construed to be a blockade. It would certainly create a serious state of affairs if, for example, an American vessel laden with a cargo of German origin should escape the British patrol in European waters, only to be held up by a cruiser off New York and taken into Halifax."

The publication of the correspondence cleans the slate of diplomatic notes, and leaves the United States confronted with the question of whether it will acquiesce in the form of blockade announced by the allies, or make protest. President Wilson himself has indicated that a strong protest will be made, and officials already are gathering material for it.

Brings No Agreement.

The notes record the failure of the United States to bring the belligerents into an agreement on the use of submarines and mines, the fixing of a definite rule governing shipments of conditional contraband to the civilian population of a belligerent, and the abandonment of neutral flags as a ruse of war.

Officials admitted being somewhat puzzled over the British rejection of the proposals made by the United States in this connection. They observed a statement in the British reply to the American note which is not borne out by comparison with the German note. The British reply refusing to enter into the agreement says in reference to the American communication:

The reply of the German government to this note has been published and it is not understood from the reply that the German government is prepared to abandon the practice of sinking British merchant vessels by submarines. What Germany said was as follows:

Except When Necessary.

"The German government would undertake not to use their submarines to attack mercantile of any flag except when necessary to enforce the right of visit and search."

The proposal of the United States was that Great Britain and Germany should agree that "neither will use submarines to attack merchant vessels of any nationality except to enforce the right of visit and search."

The only explanation advanced by officials as a possible reason for the misunderstanding is that a newspaper report, also published in the United States, reached Great Britain to the effect that Germany had agreed to abandon her submarine warfare, against neutrals, but not against belligerent merchantmen.

Officials declined to say whether this misunderstanding would furnish the basis for further negotiation. It was evident that they were deeply disappointed at the failure of their efforts to bring the belligerents to a realization of the difficulties in which their actions involve the neutral commerce of the world.

BUSY MONTH FOR ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

February, 1915, was a busy month with the Duluth Associated Charities, according to the report of the month's activities which has been prepared by Miss Edna G. Meeker, secretary. The report shows, among other things, that 109 new cases were handled by the office during the month as compared with 88 for the corresponding month of 1914. The cases investigated last month involved 243 persons, while those of February, 1914, included 186 individuals. The society distributed 539 articles of clothing and 21 pairs of shoes during the past month.

THE GRAIN & STOCK RAISERS' CONVENTION ADOPT RESOLUTIONS OF THANKS TO THE GOOD JUDGE.

JUDGE, HERE'S A RESOLUTION WE PASSED AT THE CONVENTION— "RESOLVED THAT WE OWE THE GOOD JUDGE A LASTING DEBT OF GRATITUDE FOR TELLING US OF THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW."
MR. COMMITTEEMAN: THE MEMBERS OF YOUR CONVENTION OWE ME NOTHING. THE PLEASURE OF TELLING MEN ABOUT WHAT I KNOW IS ALL I WANT.

THAT'S the way it is—as soon as men get to know the Real Tobacco Chew, they go out of their way to thank the man who told them about it.

Next thing you know, they are boosting it to others—and so it goes.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how, much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Miss O. M. asks: "I have pimples, oily skin, and suffer from constipation, headache, and never feel strong and well. Please prescribe for me."

Answer: You should overcome constipation and cleanse the system of accumulated poisons by taking three-grain sulperb tablets (not sulphur) for several weeks or more. These tablets are very beneficial, especially in hot weather, as they have a tendency to cool the blood and improve its quality.

"Poorly" writes: "Being past middle age and observing that my nervous system is in bad shape, I write for a prescription. I do not gain strength from my food, am weak, listless, forgetful, sleepless at times, tired, and unable to act the part of a strong man of health, such as I was at one time."

Answer: Get from a well-stocked pharmacy a sealed tube of three-grain cadomene tablets, which are especially made for those needing a strong, harmless, rejuvenating tonic. Astonishing and pleasing results follow and life and hope are renewed.

• • •

"A Fat Woman" asks: "Would you please prescribe a safe reducing remedy for too much fat?"

Answer: At this season many fat people suffer greatly as you do, and to all I recommend that they reduce with five-grain arbolone tablets, the most successful and convenient prescription I know of. Druggists supply in sealed tubes, with full directions.

"Edna" writes: "I suffer with rheumatism all the time and I shall be very glad if you tell me something to relieve me."

Answer: I can give you a prescription which will not only relieve, but should obliterate your rheumatism. This is my favorite remedy, and from the number of letters received from people who have used it proves its value in rheumatism. The following is made by mixing well, taking a teaspoonful at meal times and again before retiring: Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; iodide of potassium, 2 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ oz; sodium salicylate, 4 drams.

Miss C. W. R. asks: "I have tried for two years to diet so as to increase my weight and improve the quality of my blood, but in vain. Please prescribe for me?"

Answer: Thin, scrawny, bloodless people need assistance in absorbing nutrition from the food eaten, and for this particular purpose I always prescribe three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, a most effective preparation if regularly and persistently used, as it seems to increase the red and white corpuscles of the blood, thus affording health, strength and increased weight.

M. J. B. asks: "My hair is too oily and my scalp itches with dandruff, and of late it is combing out too much. What is a good treatment?"

Answer: Obtain plain yellow minyol from your druggist in 4-oz. jars and apply as per directions. This cleans, purifies, cools and invigorates the hair and scalp, thus stopping the death of the hair. Dandruff and itching are at once relieved. Men and women all over the country now use it regularly.

"Essex" writes: "What should I do to relieve a severe case of kidney and bladder disease? Urine is dark, foul of odor, and passage is irregular, painful, etc. Have depression, fever, chills, pains like rheumatism, and soreness in region of bladder.

Answer: For such symptoms as you describe I prescribe my favorite formula under the name of balmwort tablets. This is a splendidly efficacious remedy for such abnormal conditions. Begin their use as per directions on each sealed tube.

G. R. G. writes: "I am in business and work so constantly that my stomach has not kept pace. I suffer shortness of breath and heart palpitation after eating, becoming drowsy, and my breath is bad, tongue coated, eyes inflamed, and my meals don't seem to give me strength and vitality."

Answer: Nervous energy consumed in your work and unwise diet cause such symptoms. You need treatment to help the functional organs catch up. For these symptoms I advise "double-four stomach and bowel medicine," sold by druggists in sealed packets with complete directions.

"Laura" says: "Some time ago I contracted a very severe cold and cough. I have tried many remedies, but they do not seem to help me at all. I wish you would advise me what to do."

Answer: What you need is a laxative cough syrup, one that will drive the cold from your system. The following prescription will check your cold and cough: Get a 2½-oz. package of concentrated essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle. Take a teaspoonful every hour or two or until your cold is better. This will relieve you in a very few days.

"Sister" asks: "I have a younger sister who is affected with what is termed green sickness, also catarrh, very bad. She is losing strength and her health is quite poor. What do you advise?"

Answer: Such cases should adopt both tonic and local treatment. For a tonic and flesh-builder have her take three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets. For local treatment get either a 2 or 8-oz. package of antiseptic vilane powder and follow carefully the directions for catarrh of the head and pelvic catarrh. Great relief and recovery should soon be manifested if this splendid treatment is followed.—Advertisement.

WHEAT TRADE IS NERVOUS

After Early Weakness Market Turns Strong on Good Buying.

Flaxseed Makes Sharp Moves—Up at Close on Crushers' Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 18.—The market was strong at the close on good buying. May wheat closed 1¼c up; July ¾@⅞c up and September ⅝c off. May durum closed 2c up and July 2c up.

Oats closed 1⅛c up at 53⅝c for on the track; rye 3c off at $1.15@1.16 and barley unchanged at from 67 to 78c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½c up at 66c bid and July ⅝c up at 66c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.46 asked and calls at $1.53 asked.

After showing weakness at the opening today, and selling off nearly 1c, the wheat market turned suddenly strong on buying credited to short-covering at the outset, and which was later inspired by reports of liberal export inquiry. The general news was on the bearish order, Liverpool being lower on expectations of increased Argentine shipments, while further intimations that Italy would probably enter the European war on the side of the allies, would ordinarily be interpreted as a card in favor of the shorts.

Duluth operators expressed the opinion that they could see no reason for the strength imparted to the market, other than that a few scattering reports of damage to the winter wheat plant in some sections of the Southwest might be considered a factor. They were inclined to consider the advices of extensive export orders for flour said to have been placed comprising from seaboard, as largely overdrawn. The Northwestern and Chicago millers are generally complaining of slowness of trade, and in some instances the outputs of the mills have been curtailed, Holland, according to the news from New York this morning, has placed large flour contracts ling, has placed large flour contracts within the last couple of days, and that with orders placed by France and Switzerland, has led operators at New York to estimate recent export flour bookings at 500,000 bbls.

Receipts of wheat have been falling off of late, due to the roads having broken up in some sections, and farmers getting ready for their spring work.

Primary receipts today were just 147,000 bu ahead of last year, at 656,000 bu. Inspections here today were 46 cars, exactly the same as a year ago. Clearances have again fallen off, due to shortage in ocean steamer space, only aggregating 399,000 bu, whereas they had been averaging around the 1,000,000-bu mark.

May wheat opened ⅞c off at $1.48½, sold up to $1.51 in the next few minutes, and stood at $1.51⅜ around the noon hour, July opened ⅝c@¾c up at $1.46⅛, and gained ⅜c more. September opened ⅛c off at $1.15.

May durum opened unchanged at $1.54½, and gained 1c more.

Flaxseed Erratic.

Flaxseed market was again on the erratic order. At the start prices went on the toboggan to the extent of 6c, and then with the appearance of some inquiry from crushers it recovered the entire drop. The close was strong.

May flax opened ¼c off at $2.03¼, and closed ¼c up at $2.03½ bid. July opened ½c off at $2.04½, and closed unchanged at $2.05 asked. September opened ¼c off at $2.03, and closed ¼c up at $2.04 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¼c off at $1.83 bid, and July ¼c up at $1.85¾ asked.

At Buenos Aires, May flax closed 1⅞c off, and London ⅞c off.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Cash demand at Duluth for the best grades of wheat was good, but the off-grades were still slow of sale. Cash No. 1 northern sold at 3½c over May; durum at the May price, and flaxseed at 1 under May.

Minneapolis cash market was strong with good demand. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 5½@6c over, choice to arrive at 6½c over May, and velvet chaff at 3@5½c over May. Country receipts were almost nothing as the roads are bad and farmers are getting ready for field work. Flour trade was dull. Dutch government was said to be in this market for flour. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.51½ to $1.54½, and No. 2 northern at from $1.48 to $1.52. Stocks of wheat in Minneapolis elevators have decreased 1,160,000 bu in the last five days.

Northwestern Miller's New York representative says: "Exports of oats to date have been about 51,000,000 bu and with contracts already made it is believed that fully 30,000,000 bu more have been sold and not cleared."

Members of the Duluth Board of Trade enjoyed apples at the expense of E. N. Bradley this morning. He has become a grandpa. A boy was born to his son, Ralph, on St. Patrick's day, and at that he contends there is no Irish on either side of the family.

Foreign crop summary:

Russia—Weather has turned unfavorable over a large area with freezing and thawing. Owing to a shortage of labor and other facilities, it is believed that there will be a serious shrinkage in the wheat area.

India—Weather is unfavorable in harvest districts and dry elsewhere. In the Punjaub rain is badly wanted. Offers of new crop are light as the government regulations are interfering with business.

Germany—Weather and crop prospects are on the whole favorable and the area planted to wheat will be large.

Italy—Owing to overflowing of the River Vatino, a rich wheat-growing district is inundated and serious damage reported.

Argentina—Weather continues fine for the movement of grain and also for the further development of corn. Broomhall's agent reiterates that there will be a corn crop of about 332,000,000 bu and an exportable surplus of 204,000,000 bu.

* * *

A New York wire said: "A report has been current that France bought 200,000 bbl flour within a few days. There have been inquiries in the market from Greece and other countries for flour.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Easy American cables yesterday and fine weather in Argentina had an effect, but offers are well taken and millers continue to absorb wheat at the slight decline. Argentine shipments are expected to be large this week and Plate steamers afloat are freely offered at 3d decline, while winters are 1d lower. Outside advices received here are to the effect that less progress is being made at the Dardanelles and this affected sentiment and then again Indian offers are light. Spot market was steady, although prices were unchanged to 1½d lower, but the demand generally is small.

"Corn was steady. Spot demand was good, owing to colder weather and expectations of lighter Argentine shipments. Distant positions are easy as Argentine weather and crop news is excellent. American offers are easy."

Broomhall's International Grain Review says:

"The probable imports of wheat to Germany through neutral countries is claiming much attention here. After carefully investigating available statistics I am convinced only a small quantity is going through. Belgium and Holland together have from the beginning of the season imported at a maximum one-fourth of their annual requirements, and I estimate these countries will need 2,500,000 bu weekly for the remainder of the season, unless a substitute is used.

"Italy—The urgent buying is believed to be due to the fact that the bulk of the native crop was consumed or sold during the early part of the season and therefore reserves are greatly depleted. It is estimated that this country will require 2,000,000 bu weekly for the remainder of the season, including the amount necessary for Switzerland. Therefore, these figures indicate that import requirements promise large and also must be reckoned the wants of the United Kingdom, France, Spain, Portugal, Greece, Scandinavia and Ex-Europe. Much depends upon North and South American liberal shipments as India's supply may be delayed as trading there is being held in abeyance owing to government regulations."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from New York: "France and Greece have bought between them 500,000 bbl flour and are after more. Some reports have the transaction as 1,000,000 bbl. The Dutch government crowd are showing activity in export crowd. I hear it is on wheat."

SHARP ADVANCE IN MINING STOCK

Issue Bulges on Expectation of Resumption of Dividends.

An advance of $2 a share in Miami was the feature in mining stocks at Boston today. The boost came with heavy buying on the rumor that the company is about to resume payment of dividends. The stock moved up to a close of $23.38. Butte & Superior also attracted good trading, closing 50c up at $47.75. Business in the balance of the list was quiet. Alaska Gold closed a shade off at $32.63; Calumet & Arizona unchanged at $63.75; Copper Range 25c up at $35.25; North Butte 50c up at $24.75 and Shattuck 75c off at $20.50.

At New York Amalgamated Copper closed 50c up at $55.12 and Anaconda 25c up at $26.50.

In the Boston curb list, as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Calumet & Corbin sold at 16c, United Verde Extension at $3.43, Stewart at $1.94, Calaveras at $1.81, First National Copper at $1.56, Atlanta at 42@44c, Houghton at $1.67 to $2.25, Goldfields merger from $1.67 to $2.25, Goldfields merger at 22c, Jumbo Extension at 94c, South Lake at $5.25@5.38, Davis-Daly at 86c, La Rose at 69c and New Baltic at $1.63.

At St. Louis lead closed strong at 4.12½c and spelter strong at 10@10.50c for spot.

New York wire said: "A large agency which refused to make open quotations since the first of the week when the London market began its sharp advance, is now asking fifteen cents for electrolytic copper, and the smaller concerns are strengthening their prices."

Boston—South Lake will issue 10,000 shares of treasury stock at $5 per share. Stockholders as of April 3 will be given the first right to subscribe to this preferential right expiring April 19. There are approximately 70,000 shares outstanding, thus giving each stockholder of seven shares the privilege of subscribing to one share of the new issue. The stock now to be issued has been underwritten.

* * *

Report of Ahmeek for year ended Dec. 31, last, shows net earnings of $462,644, or $9.26 per share, compared with $4.00 per share in the previous year.

* * *

The following came from Douglas, Ariz., to Paine, Webber & Co: "United Verde Extension is looking fine and predictions are that it will go to $5.00 in thirty or sixty days. The rise from $2.00 to $3.00 was largely due to the widening of the ore body in the 1,200-level from two to eight feet. They are shipping six to eight tons per day and the first smelter shipment showed an ore tenure of 37 per cent copper, which roughly would be worth $100 per ton. Of course, that does not mean that all their ore will be nearly as high as that."

Copper metal is now being firmly quoted by the large agencies at 15 cents a pound, whit the smaller concerns quoting 14¾@14⅞ cents.

The needs of ammunition makers and allied industries is now a large factor in the domestic demand for the metal. A heavy call for copper was met with last week, and some of the Lake Superior producers are said to be practically sold up through May.

The market in electrolytic copper is strong at London, spot there advancing five shillings and futures 10 shillings a ton yesterday.

According to Juneau advices, Alaska Gold Mines company's mill is crushing 1,000 tons per day at present, "and volume will be doubled when the mammoth pumping plant goes into service."

WILL PURCHASE CARGO OF DACIA

Paris, March 18.—The French foreign office it is understood, has decided to buy the cargo of cotton aboard the steamship Dacia, which was seized by a French cruiser and taken into Brest while on a voyage from the United States to Rotterdam. The cotton is valued at about $750,000 and it has been proposed by the owners of the vessel that the French government purchase the cargo.

The disposition of the ship must be left to a prize court, but the official view is clear. The French law, it is pointed out, does not permit the transfer of a ship belonging to a hostile country to a neutral during war. The Dacia belonged formerly to the Hamburg-American line, but she changed her registry and became an American ship after the outbreak of hostilities.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Persistent Selling of Reading and Pressure on Steel.

Leaders Make Substantial Recoveries in the Late Dealings.

New York, March 18.—The feature of today's early market was a one-point decline in Reading, despite the maintenance of the regular dividend. The stock was the most active of the leaders in the initial trading and offerings suggested short selling rather than liquidation. Other prominent issues were affected in lesser degree, the Pacific and United States Steel falling under yesterday's close. Coppers, American Smelting and Motor shares and Mexican Petroleum were fractionally higher.

Reading today was the overshadowing feature of the morning session, supplying over 3½ per cent of the first hour's business and declining to 142⅛, or 1⅜ points. The fact that the interstate commerce commission now has the affairs of the anthracite roads under review was the chief argument advanced in connection with Reading's weakness. Lehigh Valley, however, was dull and scarcely affected. Other leaders held within easy range of their opening prices, while coppers made additional gains. Bethlehem Steel scored a new high price at 68¾, but United States Steel was under pressure. Minor bond issues were weak.

Steel became the center of a bear drive during the mid-session, the stock declining over a point to 43¾ on fairly extensive offerings. Other active issues yielded in sympathy.

Persistent selling of Reading and pressure on United States Steel contributed largely toward today's uneven price movement.

High grade issues like Northwestern and American Tobacco were sold in the late dealings, while leaders made substantial recoveries. The closing was irregular.

BIG INCOME FOR YEAR 1914

Annual Report of C. & A. Shows Gross Receipts of $8,518,999.

A satisfactory showing was made by the Calumet & Arizona Mining company in its annual report for the year ended Dec. 31 last just issued.

The consolidated income for the year, including receipts from copper, silver and gold ore, and miscellaneous items, reached the handsome total of $8,518,999.34. Expenditures, including mining and smelting, freights, salaries of officers, general expenses and taxes, came to $3,345,712.96, leaving a net balance of $3,085,635.50.

From that $2,472,850.61 was disbursed in dividends, leaving a balance of $612,654.89 to be carried forward. Cash, copper, silver and gold on hand amounted to $1,149,079.34.

Of the net income from operations the mines of the Calumet & Arizona property contributed $190,216.57 and the Superior & Pittsburg Copper company's properties $2,895,318.93.

Manager's Report.

Touching upon the mining operations of the company, John C. Greenway, the general manager, said in his report:

"During the first seven months of 1914 we operated on a record basis of 65,000,000 pounds production per year for the Bisbee mines, and notable reductions were made in all of our unit (ton) costs.

"Early in August, following the breaking out of the European war, a curtailment of 50 per cent was put into effect both at the mines and smelter.

"The Oliver and Hoatson shafts were closed down and every effort was made to hold costs as low as possible under this reduced production. All requisitions for supplies were cut to the minimum and in some cases, as with coke, no new purchases were made until early in December.

"In spite of the fact that development work was held at normal and the mines were operated for five months of the year under a 50 per cent production, the mining cost for the year showed a reduction of 53 cents per ton and the smelter operating cost a reduction of 35 cents per ton over 1913.

"The cost of copper showed an increase of fifty-four hundredths of a cent per pound, due to curtailment and the fact that the grade of ore mined was developed deliberately in order to add to the longevity of the mines.

"One of the most gratifying results of the year's work was the increase in ore reserves. A net gain of crease in ore reserves. A net gain of 556,427 tons was made, equivalent to a 52.8 per cent increase over the reserves of December 31, 1913. This gain was, of course, in addition to the ore mined and shipped, which amounted to 608,126 tons. However, owing to a decrease in grade of ore in total ore reserves, the amount in pounds of copper contained shows only a 31.7 per cent increase as against a 52.8 per cent increase in tonnage."

A total of 668,776.56 tons of dry ore was treated during the year of which of which the Calumet & Arizona mines accounted for 64,701.83 tons, and the Superior & Pittsburg 465,348.69 tons.

During the first seven months of the year, 24 lots were sold and 26 buildings erected at the company's townsite, Warren, Ariz., but since the curtailment at the mines in August, there has been no building activity.

The Warren-Bisbee railway carried 2,001,266 passengers during the year, a decrease of 60,365 over the previous year. Up to Aug. 1, 1,302,520 passengers were carried, breaking all previous records.

NEW METHOD OF TAXING GRAIN

Wisconsin legislators now are considering a bill to tax grain in terminal elevators on April 1, instead of on May 1, and also a bill to establish a system modeled after the Minnesota one, by which elevators are taxed for each bushel moving through the house during the year.

Under the provisions of the first act considerable grain, which now is shipped down lake as soon as navigation opens and thus escapes a tax, will be covered. Should this bill become a Wisconsin law, local grain men believe that it would benefit the Duluth elevators, as the system on this side of the lake is much more satisfactory to the grain man.

The bill before the Badger assembly calling for a system similar to Minnesota's provides for a higher fixed rate than used in Duluth and the Twin Cities, and unless it is amended, the Minnesota elevator men probably will profit if either bill passes.

Vesselmen who handle grain are considerably interested in both

BILL TO RAISE TAX ON TELEPHONE COMPANIES IS ADVANCED BY HOUSE

Adverse Report By Committee Is Overturned By Heavy Vote.

C. P. Craig Makes Report to Senate on the Efficiency Bill.

Senate Kills Bill for Higher Salaries for Hibbing Officials.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house this morning overturned an adverse committee report on the C. H. Warner bill, increasing the gross earnings tax on the large telephone companies, and placed the bill on general orders by the adoption of a minority report. The bill was reported on adversely by a vote of 7 to 6.

Instead of a flat 3-per-cent tax on earnings, the bill taxes at 4 per cent companies earning $500,000 or more, leaving the smaller companies at 3 per cent and those earning less than $400 to be taxed at 10 cents per instrument.

Representative Warner led the fight for the minority report, declaring that the companies had confessed that the present rate is less than they would pay on the ad valorem basis, and deriding their claim that they could not afford to pay more taxes. Though some members thought the tax should be uniform, and others that possibly the lack of uniformity makes the bill unconstitutional, by a vote of 66 to 23 the house adopted the minority report.

Strong Delegation From Duluth and Cloquet Presents Project.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The possibilities of the proposed Jay Cooke state park as an outing place, a health resort and a beauty spot were developed by a strong delegation from Duluth and Cloquet last night before a joint meeting of the senate committee on finance and the house committee on appropriations.

As a result of the hearing, after reducing the appropriation from $40,000 a year to $20,000 a year for the next two years, the bill carrying the appropriation was recommended to pass by the house committee on appropriations, on motion of Representative Sam Y. Gordon. It is understood that the reduction of the proposed appropriation was satisfactory to the authors of the bill.

The delegation urged the committees to take steps to embrace the opportunity to get without cost from the Jay Cooke estate the gift of 2,500 acres that is within reach, so that the scenic beauties of the dalles of the St. Louis may become the property of the state, and in order that it may be lined up with the Duluth boulevard system to make one of the great show places of the continent.

The delegation included Judge W. A. Cant, Mayor W. I. Prince, Francis W. Sullivan, John G. Williams, Col. H. V. Eva; H. W. Cheadle, Millie Bunnell and W. E. McEwen of Duluth, and C. I. McNair and Huntington Taylor of Cloquet.

Hearing on Horn Indictment Is Continued at Bangor, Me.

Bangor, Me., March 19.—The Federal commissioners hearing in the case of Werner Horn accused of having illegally transported explosives in connection with his attempt to wreck the international bridge at Vanceboro, was resumed today. It was expected that arguments of counsel would be concluded before night. Commissioner Charles H. Reid must then decide whether Horn shall be sent to Boston for trial on the indictment returned by the Federal grand jury there.

The defense yesterday filed documents in support of its claim that as a German belligerent engaged in an act of war, Horn was not subject to the laws of this country. The prosecution offered no evidence except a copy of the indictment.

State Auditor Preus Reports on Efficiency and Economy Bill.

Ironton and Crosby in Fight Over Transfer of Territory.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the efficiency and economy bill would produce a saving of $161,120 in the next two years is the conclusion reached by State Auditor J. A. O. Preus in a report made to the senate today in response to a resolution offered by Senator George H. Sullivan.

Mr. Preus figures that it would cost $4,120,890 to conduct the government on the present plan, and $3,959,770 to conduct it on the plan proposed in the efficiency bill.

However, he believes that the saving would actually be greater than these figures would indicate, as he shows in the following statement:

"It is with much hesitancy that I have complied with the request contained in your resolution, and I beg leave to state as a matter of personal privilege that, as state auditor for a period of two months, without performing the functions of public examiner and without making an investigation such as should be made and which only could be made by the Kaiser's Troops Needed in Both East and West.

Considerable Mystery Surrounds Next Move of Teutons.

London, March 19.—The apparent failure of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's various attempts to reach Warsaw, the reappearance of Russians over the East Prussian frontier near Tilsit, and the allied offensive in the West has, according to British observers, put Germany in a position where she dare not shift any substantial force from either East or the West.

Although there are rumors of reinforcements being hurried from Poland to France or Belgium to meet the French and British thrusts, military writers in London hold to the opinion that Germany must maintain her present armies in both areas of fighting intact. This will necessitate the finding of new forces for both the east and west if she would effectually meet the increasing strength of her enemies. It is pointed out that the plan to deliver a crushing blow in one theater and then to rush across the country to the other has miscarried on

TURKS CLAIM TO HAVE SUNK FRENCH BATTLESHIP BOUVET

No Confirmation of Report Received From Either London or Paris.

Turkish Fleet Is Actively Engaged in the Black Sea.

The Turkish war department announced today that the French battleship Bouvet had been sunk during the bombardment of the Dardanelles. No confirmation has been received from Paris or London.

The Constantinople statement indicates that the Turkish fleet, whose location has been unknown for some time, again is engaged actively in the Black sea. It is said to have attacked a Russian naval base on the Crimean coast, inflicting considerable damage.

What is said to be a presentation of Austria's attitude toward Italy, as set forth in a Vienna dispatch to Rome, contains the statement that Austria, if she agrees to make territorial concessions sufficient to satisfy Italy, will defer formal transfer of the territory until after the war. Austria, it is said, desires to assure herself that Italy will adhere to her promise of neutrality in return for the grant. This attitude is described in Rome as unsatisfactory to Italy. A Paris dispatch states that Austria is resisting German pressure, and that several representatives of the dual monarchy will go to Berlin to present their reasons for desiring to resist Italy's wishes.

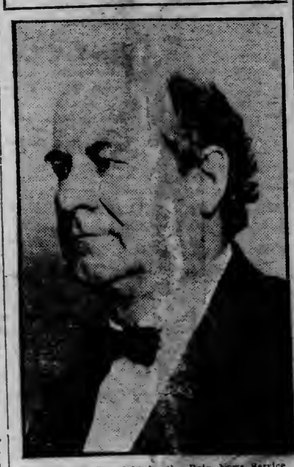
BRYAN RATIFIES PEACE TREATY ON BIRTHDAY



—Copyright by the Bain News Service.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

Washington, March 19.—Secretary Bryan celebrated his 56th birthday anniversary today by exchanging ratifications of the peace treaty with Italy, with the Italian ambassador, Count Di Cellere.

Later at his home, Secretary Bryan entertained all the employees of his department at his birthday party. He also entertained the cabinet at luncheon.

On his way to the cabinet meeting, wearing a cluster of roses of the valley in his coat lapel, Secretary Bryan smilingly announced: "I have just celebrated my birthday by ratifying the peace treaty with Italy."

On Monday, ratifications of the treaty with Russia will be exchanged and fifteen of those conventions will actually be in effect.

Only Greeks, Turks and Albanians are permitted instruction in their mother tongue. The Serbian language is required in all other schools.

APPALLING ACCOUNTS OF CONDITIONS IN ARMENIA.

London, March 19.—Appalling accounts of conditions in Armenia have reached the officials in London of the Armenian Red Cross fund.

The latest recital is from an Armenian doctor named Derderian, who says that the whole plain of Alashgerd is virtually covered with the bodies of men, women and children. When the Russian forces retreated from this district, the Kurds fell upon the helpless people and shut them up in mosques. The men were killed and the women were carried away to the mountains.

The organizers of the Red Cross fund say there are 120,000 destitute Armenians now in the Caucasus.

As the legislature has adjourned, the governor's veto of the measure is final.

British Steamer Hyndford Sent to Bottom By German Submarine.

Blue Jacket Hit and Badly Damaged, But Keeps Afloat.

Glasgow, Scotland, March 19, via London.—The British steamer Hyndford was torpedoed today in the English channel by a German submarine. It is reported that one member of her crew was killed.

This steamer was torpedoed in the favorite hunting grounds of the German submarines off Beachy Head while she was proceeding for London under her own steam.

Steamer Blue Jacket Hit.

London, March 19.—The British steamer Blue Jacket, with wheat from Liverpool, has been torpedoed by a German submarine off Beachy Head. The crew took to the boats. The steamer, although badly damaged, remained afloat.

The steamer Hyndford was of 2,777 tons net burden. She was 376 feet long and was built at Port Glasgow in 1905. She was owned by the Scottish Ship Owners' company of Glasgow.

The Blue Jacket was of 2,271 tons. She was 336 feet long and owned by G. Hallet of Cardiff, and was built at Sunderland in 1904.

Beachy Head is a promontory on the south coast of England, projecting into the English channel about twenty miles east of Brighton.

NEW ASPECT OF CAMPAIGN IN THE EAST

Czar's Tenth Army Recently Severely Defeated in This Territory.

Muscovites Say This Invasion Is Not So Significant.

German Report Says Russians Have Entered City of Memel.

Petrograd, March 19, via London.—The campaign in the east has assumed a new aspect with the penetration of the northernmost point of East Prussia by Russian forces. This invasion in the north in many ways parallels the advance into East Prussia of two months ago when the Russian Tenth army, which it was thought might flank the German positions near the Mazurian lakes, was defeated and driven out. On this occasion, however, Russian military authorities say unanimously that the invasion does not possess a like strategic significance. The Russian force has penetrated East Prussia to within twelve miles of the important seaport of Memel.

Have Entered Memel.

(The official report from Berlin today, evidently based on later information, says that the Russians have entered Memel.)

Of equal importance is the general shifting of directions of the German attack in Poland, accompanied by new concentrations of forces, which has now become apparent. Although fighting is still in progress to the north of Przasnysz the Germans apparently have abandoned their efforts to break through the fortified line in the north and approach Warsaw from that direction. They are transferring troops to the southern bank of the Vistula,

SHRAPNEL FAILS TO HIT AIRSHIP

Zeppelin Drops Bombs on Calais in Spite of Artillery Fire.

Calais, via Paris, March 19.—A shower of shrapnel from French artillery greeted the Zeppelin which raided this city Thursday and dropped bombs which killed seven persons without damaging the railroad station at which they were aimed. The characteristic throbbing of the Zeppelin's engines gave warning of the airship's approach between midnight and 1 a. m. The rays of powerful searchlights were turned upon the clouds in an effort to locate the aerial invader, but the German craft flew high above banks of dark clouds and for some time was invisible. Finally, however, it came into view and the artillery was trained upon the airship. Notwithstanding the bombardment it dropped several bombs which missed their target and then made off as rapidly as possible.

Second Writ Issued Questions His Commitment to Matteawan.

New York, March 19.—As the result of various writs and orders sworn out in his behalf, Harry Kendall Thaw is in no danger of being returned to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan for at least a month.

Supreme Court Justice Bijur, signer of two writs of habeas corpus in Thaw's behalf, said today upon the conclusion of a conference between himself, counsel for Thaw, the sheriff of New York county, the warden of the Tombs prison and representatives of the state attorney general's office, that Thaw's attorney could, by means of securing adjournments, delay the final hearing upon the first writ, secured early in the week, until April 19. John B. Stanchfield, Thaw's chief counsel, said he intended to make such moves.

Second Writ Signed.

Justice Bijur late last night signed a second writ of habeas corpus bringing up the issue that Thaw's commitment to Matteawan is illegal. The first writ was designed to bring about a test of Thaw's sanity. Both writs were returned to Justice Bijur today. Hearing on the first one he adjourned until later today to allow time for service of an order of Justice Ingraham of the appellate division of

CONSIDERING NOTE TO GREAT BRITAIN

President and Cabinet Discuss Matter of Protest on Blockade.

Washington, March 19.—The note to be sent to Great Britain in the near future, protesting against some features of the British order in council and asking for more detailed information about other features, was taken up at today's cabinet meeting.

The two points considered were the probable effects of the order on American commerce and on the rights of American citizens. Information laid before the president by Secretary Redfield regarding the export trade of the United States since the outbreak of the war was gone over in detail.

It was understood that the president's advisors did not believe the order would have a demoralizing effect on American commerce because of the continuance of trade with Great Britain, France and her allies.

The part of the order giving notice that goods suspected of having an enemy destination sent to neutral countries would be liable to seizure was understood to have been agreed upon as one of the chief points to be protested against.

GERMANY MUST HOLD FORCES IN THEIR PRESENT POSITIONS

ALLIES ON OFFENSIVE

Kaiser's Troops Needed in Both East and West.

Believed New Forces Necessary in Both Theaters of War.

Considerable Mystery Surrounds Next Move of Teutons.

London, March 19.—The apparent failure of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's various attempts to reach Warsaw, the reappearance of Russians over the East Prussian frontier near Tilsit, and the allied offensive in the West has, according to British observers, put Germany in a position where she dare not shift any substantial force from either East or the West.

Although there are rumors of reinforcements being hurried from Poland to France or Belgium to meet the French and British thrusts, military writers in London hold to the opinion that Germany must maintain her present armies in both areas of fighting intact. This will necessitate the finding of new forces for both the east and west if she would effectually meet the increasing strength of her enemies. It is pointed out that the plan to deliver a crushing blow in one theater and then to rush across the country to the other has miscarried on Supporters of local no-license also lost their fight. The vote on both questions, which was close, follows:

For local no-license, 229,274; for continuance, 274,405.

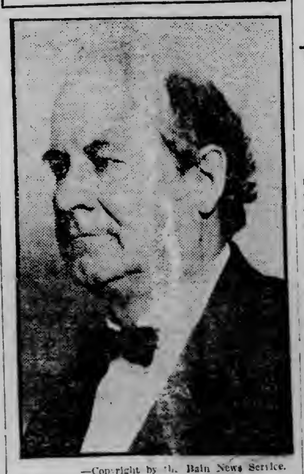
BRYAN RATIFIES PEACE TREATY ON BIRTHDAY



—Copyright by Th. Bain News Service.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

Washington, March 19.—Secretary Bryan celebrated his 55th birthday anniversary today by exchanging ratifications of the peace treaty with Italy, with the Italian ambassador, Count Di Cellere.

Later at his home Secretary Bryan entertained all the employes of his department at his birthday party. He also entertained the cabinet at luncheon.

On his way to the cabinet meeting, wearing a cluster of roses of the valley in his coat lapel, Secretary Bryan smilingly announced: "I have just celebrated my birthday by ratifying the peace treaty with Italy."

On Monday, ratifications of the treaty with Russia will be exchanged and fifteen of those conventions will actually be in effect.

No Confirmation of Report Received From Either London or Paris.

Turkish Fleet Is Actively Engaged in the Black Sea.

The Turkish war department announced today that the French battleship Bouvet had been sunk during the bombardment of the Dardanelles. No confirmation has been received from Paris or London.

The Constantinople statement indicates that the Turkish fleet, whose location has been unknown for some time, again is engaged actively in the Black sea. It is said to have attacked a Russian naval base on the Crimean coast, inflicting considerable damage.

What is said to be a presentation of Austria's attitude toward Italy, as set forth in a Vienna dispatch to Rome, contains the statement that Austria, if she agrees to make territorial concessions sufficient to satisfy Italy, will defer formal transfer of the territory until after the war. Austria, it is said, desires to assure herself that Italy will adhere to her promise of neutrality in return for the grant. This attitude is described in Rome as unsatisfactory to Italy. A Paris dispatch states that Austria is resisting German pressure, and that several representatives of the dual monarchy will go to Berlin to present their reasons for desiring to resist Italy's wishes.

BULGARIAN LANGUAGE FORBIDDEN IN SERBIA.

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 13, by way of Berlin and London, 12:23 p. m.—The Bulgarian news agency announces that the Serbian minister of education has forbidden the use of the Bulgarian language in private schools in an effort to destroy every trace of Bulgarian culture in the country. Only Greeks, Turks and Albanians are permitted instruction in their mother tongue. The Serbian language is required in all other schools.

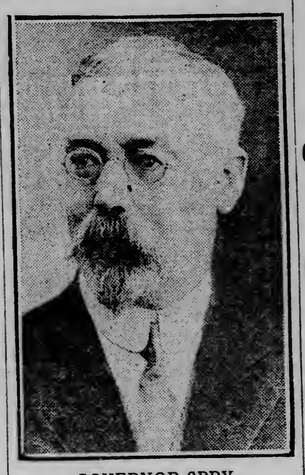
APPALLING ACCOUNTS OF CONDITIONS IN ARMENIA.

London, March 19.—Appalling accounts of conditions in Armenia have reached the officials in London of the Armenian Red Cross fund.

The latest recital is from an Armenian doctor named Derderian, who says that the whole plain of Alashgerd is virtually covered with the bodies of men, women and children. When the Russian forces retreated from this district, the Kurds fell upon the helpless people and shut them up in mosques. The men were killed and the women were carried away to the mountains.

The organizers of the Red Cross fund say there are 120,000 destitute Armenians now in the Caucasus.

PROHIBITION IN UTAH IS KILLED BY GOVERNOR



GOVERNOR SPRY.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 19.—Governor Spry filed with the secretary of state yesterday afternoon the veto of the Wotton state-wide prohibition bill, which passed the recent legislature by a vote of 40 to 5 in the house and 16 to 2 in the senate. As the legislature has adjourned, the governor's veto of the measure is final.

TWO MORE TORPEDOED

British Steamer Hyndford Sent to Bottom By German Submarine.

Blue Jacket Hit and Badly Damaged, But Keeps Afloat.

Glasgow, Scotland, March 19, via London.—The British steamer Hyndford was torpedoed today in the English channel by a German submarine. It is reported that one member of her crew was killed.

This steamer was torpedoed in the favorite hunting grounds of the German submarines off Beachy Head while she was proceeding for London under her own steam.

Steamer Blue Jacket Hit.

London, March 19.—The British steamer Blue Jacket, with wheat from Liverpool, has been torpedoed by a German submarine off Beachy Head. The crew took to the boats. The steamer, although badly damaged, remained afloat.

The steamer Hyndford was of 2,777 tons net burden. She was 376 feet long and was built at Port Glasgow in 1905. She was owned by the Scottish Ship Owners' company of Glasgow.

The Blue Jacket was of 2,271 tons. She was 336 feet long and owned by G. Hallet of Cardiff, and was built at Sunderland in 1904.

Beachy Head is a promontory on the south coast of England, projecting into the English channel about twenty miles east of Brighton.

NEW ASPECT OF CAMPAIGN IN THE EAST

Czar's Tenth Army Recently Severely Defeated in This Territory.

Muscovites Say This Invasion Is Not So Significant.

German Report Says Russians Have Entered City of Memel.

Petrograd, March 19, via London.—The campaign in the east has assumed a new aspect with the penetration of the northernmost point of East Prussia by Russian forces. This invasion in the north in many ways parallels the advance into East Prussia of two months ago when the Russian Tenth army, which it was thought might flank the German positions near the Mazurian lakes, was defeated and driven out. On this occasion, however, Russian military authorities say unanimously that the invasion does not possess a like strategic significance. The Russian force has penetrated East Prussia to within twelve miles of the important seaport of Memel.

Have Entered Memel.

(The official report from Berlin today, evidently based on later information, says that the Russians have entered Memel.)

Of equal importance is the general shifting of directions of the German attack in Poland, accompanied by new concentrations of forces, which has now become apparent. Although fighting is still in progress to the north of Przasnysz the Germans apparently have abandoned their efforts to break through the fortified line in the north and approach Warsaw from that direction. They are transferring troops to the southern bank of the Vistula,

SHRAPNEL FAILS TO HIT AIRSHIP

Zeppelin Drops Bombs on Calais in Spite of Artillery Fire.

Calais, via Paris, March 19.—A shower of shrapnel from French artillery greeted the Zeppelin which raided this city Thursday and dropped bombs which killed seven persons without damaging the railroad station at which they were aimed. The characteristic throbbing of the Zeppelin's engines gave warning of the airship's approach between midnight and 1 a. m. The rays of powerful searchlights were turned upon the clouds in an effort to locate the aerial invader, but the German craft flew high above banks of dark clouds and for some time was invisible. Finally, however, it came into view and the artillery was trained upon the airship. Notwithstanding the bombardment it dropped several bombs which missed their target and then made off as rapidly as possible.

Arguments Begin in Case Against Former Directors.

Boston, March 19.—Arguments in the suit of minority stockholders of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad to recover for the company approximately $102,000,000, alleged to have been wrongfully spent in the purchase of railroad, steamship and trolley enterprises and in addition double that amount in penalties, were made before the full bench in the supreme judicial court today.

The defendants who were directors of the road at some time during the period between 1904 and 1909, when the money is alleged to have been wasted, are: William Rockefeller, Charles M. Pratt, Lewis Cass Ledyard, George McC. Miller, James S. Hemingway, A. Heaton Robertson, Frederick F. Brew-

Result of Various Writs and Orders in His Behalf.

Second Writ Issued Questions His Commitment to Matteawan.

New York, March 19.—As the result of various writs and orders sworn out in his behalf, Harry Kendall Thaw is in no danger of being returned to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan for at least a month.

Supreme Court Justice Bijur, signer of two writs of habeas corpus in Thaw's behalf, said today upon the conclusion of a conference between himself, counsel for Thaw, the sheriff of New York county, the warden of the Tombs prison and representatives of the state attorney general's office, that Thaw's attorney could, by means of securing adjournments, delay the final hearing upon the first writ, secured early in the week, until April 19. John B. Stanchfield, Thaw's chief counsel, said he intended to make such moves.

Second Writ Signed.

Justice Bijur late last night signed a second writ of habeas corpus bringing up the issue that Thaw's commitment to Matteawan is illegal. The first writ was designed to bring about a test of Thaw's sanity. Both writs were returned to Justice Bijur today. Hearing on the first one he adjourned until later today to allow time for service of an order of Justice Ingraham of the appellate division of

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

DEFECTIVE PAGE

A MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENT TO BE PROUD OF

We wonder how many people know that in the whole United States there are very few retail hardware stores equal to the Kelley Hardware company. Stores of this class can be counted on the fingers of one hand, and Duluth is to be congratulated in having an establishment of this kind.

There is nothing fussy or specially fine about this place, but one feels at home the moment one enters the door. The clerks are courteous and know their goods, in fact, they have been drawn from the best stores in this line for their special department. The store fixtures are not elaborate, in fact, many of them are old and a number are home made, but they show the goods to the best advantage and are well arranged.

This store has always enjoyed a good trade due to the complete line carried and the policy of the management of selling only good reliable goods and backing up every sale with their personal guarantee of satisfaction.

As Duluth has grown in population this store has grown with it. The last change just completed is a big improvement and will be greatly appreciated by their lady customers. The house furnishing department has been taken from the front basement and placed on the second floor, giving it more room for display and plenty of daylight. A rest room has been added on this floor, making it a convenient place to meet ones friends when down town; comfortable chairs, the latest homefurnishing magazines and both phones being provided for your convenience, a new modern electric passenger elevator makes access easy to this floor. On the main floor a special department has been arranged to show the latest designs in fire place and irons and fire screens. Something rather unique in this line as it will enable the buyer to see the fixtures under the same conditions as in the home.

The next time you have a few moments to spare, drop in and see these new arrangements. It will please the manager to have one show an interest in his efforts to give Duluth the best in this line.

UNDERTAKER PREACHES BARNUM FUNERAL SERVICE.

Cloquet, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. L. Fansher, a local undertaker, while conducting a funeral at Barnum this week, acted also as soloist and minister. Mr. Fansher was formerly a Methodist minister and also traveling Evangelical singer.

Oldest Michigan J. P.

Hubbell, Mich., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—In point of years of service, who is the oldest living justice of the peace in the state of Michigan? Casper Brand, a Copper country magistrate, a citizen of Houghton, is believed to hold the distinction. Mr. Brand has been in active service on the bench for twenty-eight years. He is 59 and in point of continuous residence is Houghton's oldest inhabitant. He has dwelt in the village for fifty-seven years, going there with his parents when the settlement consisted of but five houses.

Polish hall—Young men's rally; Bernard Silberstein, speaker.

Chris E. Evens will arrive tomorrow night from San Francisco, and at that time it will be definitely decided whether he and William L. Bernard will be in the race for the commission.

Friends of Commissioners Hicken and Murchison are still hopeful that both Mr. Evens and Mr. Bernard will withdraw from the race and a committee of citizens will meet Mr. Evens at the train, and the matter will be taken up immediately after his arrival in the city. If he agrees to drop his name, then Mr. Bernard will also withdraw, as he has announced he would follow the action taken by Mr. Evens.

Mrs. Evens received a letter yesterday afternoon from Mr. Evens, stating that he left San Francisco on Wednesday and that he will arrive in Duluth from St. Paul some time Saturday evening. He makes no mention of the political campaign and it is believed that he knows nothing of the proposal that he and Mr. Bernard withdraw.

Mr. Evens' acceptance was received here from Los Angeles, and Mr. Bernard filed his, although the latter agreed to withdraw at any time, providing the former dropped out. Otherwise, they will both be in the race.

It was announced this morning by friends of both Mr. Bernard and Mr. Evens that no definite arrangements will be made for a campaign until Mr. Evens' return tomorrow night. If he refuses to drop out, then campaign committees will be appointed and active work started in their behalf.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Life's Shop Window."
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.
REX—"The Love Route," photoplay.

A Priest's Problem.

The conflict between a Roman Catholic priest's love for his brother and his oath to the church forms the theme of the play which will be presented by the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum next week, beginning with the Sunday matinee.

"The Confession" is the name of the play. It tells the story of the trial of a young priest's brother for murder. The brother is unjustly accused of the crime, and the priest has learned, under the seal of the confessional, the identity of the real murderer. If he does not violate his oath to the church his brother will be hanged for a crime which he did not commit. This is the problem which confronts the priest, and how it is finally solved, is said to make a most interesting and gripping drama. "The Confession" had a long run at the Bijou theater in New York before it was released to stock companies.

This week's bill is "Life's Shop Window," a play made from the novel of the same name, but with the objectionable parts expurgated. Three more performances of it will be given, this evening and tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. The Baldwin Players are already preparing for the production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which will be the attraction for five days beginning March 28, and Mr. Baldwin promises the most ambitious production of the season in it.

"Money," the great five-act production now playing its second day at the [illegible] theater, is the first of a series of big feature productions planned for the local photoplay house. The plot is a strong one, and the acting is excellent. The leading characters are all stars who have appeared on the legitimate stage, and are now being featured in the silent drama on the motion picture screen. Shubert and Brady present this big production. The scenes follow in rapid succession, taking one from poverty stricken homes to scenes of wealth and splendor, showing suffering wives and children, and men and women living in luxury. The theme is capital versus labor, and tells of the love of a young man named Wilson, and Ruth, the daughter of an ironworker, the sinking ship, the burning palace, the kidnapping of Ruth, the exciting struggle, in all make one of the greatest productions yet presented at the [illegible]. It will be seen tonight and tomorrow.

Comedy Reigns at Grand.

A good bill of vaudeville and motion pictures opened at the Grand yesterday, and large audiences were well entertained at each show. Comedy constitutes the major portion of the bill, and the show is one that makes a strong popular appeal.

Madison and Nace in Harmony in a singing act offered a pleasant bit of entertainment that was warmly welcomed. The act is well staged and the players possess good voices and an attractive appearance.

Lawrence Johnson, "king of ventriloquists," took his audiences captive because of clever comedy and voice gymnastics. His work is pleasing and original.

The Four Charles in a European transformation offer a combination of entertainment including juggling, legerdemain and illusion that keeps the interest of the audience from the start.

Arthur Van and Gladys Pearce in a sketch entitled "Get a License" put over a clever piece of work that is full of laughs and pleasing situations.

The Hearst-Selig News is unusually thrilling this week. A fast Lackawanna express train is shown in a plunge from the rails in a New Jersey city endangering the lives of hundreds of passengers. The Boy Scouts in their annual affair at Washington, D. C., and Grace Darling, the news reporter, taking a trip through the Panama canal, are some of the best features. Helen Holmes appears in another of her thrilling railway episodes in the "Hazards of Helen" series. Several one-reel pictures offer a variety of good entertainment.

"The Love Route."

"The Love Route," a distinct screen novelty, in four parts is being shown at the Rex.

"The Love Route," the current Famous Players production on the Paramount program was written by Edward Peple, author of a former Famous Players success, "The Spitfire," and the recent theatrical triumph, "A Pair of Sixes." The theme of the play is based on one of the most original foundations ever utilized for a stage or screen subject, the actual construction of a railroad. The screen clearly shows this fascinating work, with the necessary paraphernalia, material and men required for railroad-building. Added to this novelty is a thrilling romance and a battle between man and woman and men and men that will keep the audience breathless.

CANADIAN TROOPS ARE WELL TREATED

Duluthian Receives a Letter From His Nephew at the Front.

The greatest ambition of the Canadian troops at the front in Europe is to "Keep the proud banner of Britain flying triumphantly over her enemies," according to D. J. McDonald, Regiment No. 24615, Royal Highlanders of Canada, in a letter written to his uncle, Charles E. McGillis, 4510 Rene street, West Duluth.

The Highlanders wore kilts all winter except for about four weeks around the holiday season, McDonald says, and the boys did not suffer with the cold. The temperature in England ranged from 20 to 55 deg. above zero and the only thing that caused discomfort was the dampness of the air, which is a marked contrast with the dry Canadian atmosphere.

The Canadian troops are getting plenty to eat and wear and all their wants are well supplied, the letter states. The soldiers are now near the firing line, but no engagements were mentioned in Mr. McDonald's letter. Patriotism, he says, is at high tide among the Canadian Highlanders. The beautiful rural scenery around London is spoken of as making a marked impression on the Canadians.

Mr. McDonald is with the First Canadian division, British expeditionary force, Third infantry brigade, Thirteenth battalion, Royal Highlanders of Canada, machine gun section, now stationed in France. He says that letters received by the soldiers are not censored, but all outgoing mail is inspected.

"Looks right when you buy it, Stays right after you wear it."

SILENT AS TO ENFORCEMENT

Hicken Charges His Opponents With Dodging Real Issues.

Defends Fire Department Expenditures; Murchison Stands on Record.

"My opponents do not dare raise the issue that they want—that of making Duluth a wide-open town," was the statement made last night by Commissioner W. A. Hicken at a meeting of the Men's club of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. The meeting was attended by about 200 residents of the district.

Commissioner Hicken said that so far, the question of whether or not the law had been enforced had been left strictly alone by campaigners opposing him. He asserted that the real issue would not be touched by the opposing candidates, as they would not dare come out openly in favor of opposing law enforcement.

Mr. Hicken spoke of criticism of the public safety department relative to the expenditures made in purchasing equipment for the fire department, but showed by figures that this department had been operated at a lower cost than under the preceding administrations, and that now the department was one of the best equipped in the state.

Commissioner R. Murchison spoke on the work of the public works department. He told of the number of improvements that had been accomplished, and touched upon plans for the future.

"I have been charged with offering work for the city at 16 cents an hour," said the commissioner. "I do not deny offering some men work at that price, but it was during the winter, and this work and wages were offered men who, as far as the department could ascertain, were transients. In cases where the men applied for work and absolutely needed it, and were residents and householders, better wages were given. Most of the work offered was provided as an emergency to tide needy men over a short period."

WEST END A BEAUTY SPOT

Commercial Club Begins Clean-Up Campaign and Contest.

Schools Lend Support and Prizes Will Be Given.

A general "clean-up" contest in the West end school districts was launched last night at the meeting of the West End Commercial club. Principals of schools in the district will be enlisted in the movement and children of these schools will be asked to do the work.

The club arranged to provide prizes for the district that makes the best showing. The movement is for the purpose of making this end of the city the beauty spot of Duluth. The West end will be divided into sections, each comprising a school district. Individual prizes will also be given.

The committee in charge of the clean-up movement consists of L. A. Simonson, K. A. Franklin and August B. Width. This contest will be in place of the garden contest, which the club abandoned at its last meeting.

The club indorsed the proposed free dental clinic, which the Women's Council is furthering. Financial support to the extent of purchasing tooth paste sold by the council, was given, many of the members subscribing for packages.

That the city may lose entirely a 30-foot roadway, known as Railroad alley, unless immediate action is taken, was the statement made by James W. Preston, chairman of the club's street committee. He said the strip was situated between the Soo and Northern Pacific railroads and that these roads would obliterate the thoroughfare unless some action was taken. The attention of the city authorities will be directed to the alley. Mr. Preston announced that First street would be paved this spring and that Twenty-second avenue would be graded and possibly paved.

WILL GET $1,500 FOR SON'S DEATH

W. W. Anderson Settles Claim Against Duluth Street Railway Co.

Wallace W. Anderson yesterday accepted $1,500 from the Duluth Street Railway company as settlement in full for his claim against the traction company for the death of his 9-year-old son, Wallace W. Anderson, Jr. The boy was run down by a street car on the Piedmont avenue line near the Ensign school on Jan. 20. He died the next day at the hospital.

The settlement was approved yesterday by District Judge Cant, who directed that one-half of the money received be turned over to the boy's mother, Mrs. Fred O. Anderson, who, since the death of her son, has been prostrated. Anderson stated in his petition to the court that it was necessary to leave the city to secure a change of environment for her at once.

HEAVY LOSSES IN BRITISH FORCES

Fierce Fighting in Flanders Has Resulted in Many Dead.

London, March 19.—Evidence is accumulating of the heavy British losses in the recent fighting in Flanders. Lord Claud Hamilton, addressing a meeting in London last night, said that the papers were not giving full lists of the losses. His own regiment, the Grenadier guards, he declared lost their colonel and 16 officers killed and wounded, and of 1,100 men, the finest in the army, only 300 survived.

The Cameronians, also seemed to have been almost totally wiped out; their lists of killed and wounded were appalling.

The system of concealment on the part of the military authorities he asserted was most ridiculous and he was afraid it would have the effect of prolonging the war. Owing to the anxiety felt in Scotland regarding the Sixth battalion of Gordon Highlanders, John E. Sutherland, member of parliament, made inquiries of the government, whereupon the under secretary of war replied that he greatly regretted to state that Col. McLean and four officers had been killed and several wounded.

A dispatch to the Times gives a list of 25 British officers killed whose names have not appeared in the official lists making a total of 338 officers killed or wounded in the recent fighting.

Lieut. Bromley Wounded.

Ottawa, Ont., March 19.—Last night's list of casualties among the Canadian expeditionary force given out by the military department carried among the wounded the name of Lieut. H. A. Bromley, whose next of kin is Lady Bromley of Cambridge, England. No additions were made to the list of killed. Many non-commissioned officers and privates are on the wounded list.

Koochiching County Drug Fiend, Deprived of Morphine, Goes Crazy.

International Falls, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local authorities for the first time contended with a victim of the Harrison law Wednesday. Oscar A. Simmonds, a cook in a lumber camp and addicted to the use of morphine for seventeen years, was brought before Probate Judge John Berg and sent to Fergus Falls for treatment. Simmonds' supply had run out and he had had only a small quantity each day for several days. About a week ago he began to show signs of insanity and to break down physically. He had used from 40 to 50 grains of morphine a day.

FINDS STOLEN TROUSERS HANGING ON HIS FENCE.

Bismarck, N. D., March 19.—Frank Evarts, a local restaurant man, missed his trousers from their accustomed place on a chair in his home yesterday morning and later found the garment hanging on his dooryard fence. Between $50 and $60 that was in the pockets was missing. A burglar had invaded his home during the night and made away with the trousers, abstracting the money and thoughtfully left the clothes behind.

NORTH DAKOTA AS DAIRYING STATE

Dairy Commissioner Miller Says Industry Is Growing Rapidly.

Bismarck, N. D., March 19.—Dairy Commissioner Miller has returned from a three weeks' trip to various parts of the state where he has been attending farmers meetings.

"I have been attending meetings with the better farming experts for the last three weeks and find that there is much more interest in dairying in the localities where such agents have been working for some time," Mr. Miller said.

"We had meetings in Ward county, where the farmers are very much in the dairy business. In one place alone 400 cows have been imported during the past year. Mr. Peck, the better farming expert, is confident that more than 100 silos will be built in the county this season. The bankers are taking a great interest in all this development.

Creameries to be Opened.

"There are a number of creameries going to be opened this spring after being idle for two years or more, and there are some new creameries being built, all of which will help to stimulate interest in dairying. There is a tendency for our creameries to grade the cream, which will enable them to pay higher prices for the best cream which will be quite an inducement for the farmers to produce a better quality and receive the maximum return for their labor. Many farmers have been storing ice this winter so they will be in a good position to furnish sweet cream during the hot summer months. Farmers' clubs are becoming numerous all over the state, and through them we will have shipping associations, breeding and testing associations."

PASSENGERS UNPROFITABLE

James J. Hill Says Railroads Lose Money on Passenger Traffic.

Roads Driven to Last Ditch and Unable to Compete.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Predicting that next year would see a fall in the prices of all farm products and that interest rates would soar to high figures after the end of the European war, James J. Hill yesterday afternoon told the joint railroad committees of the senate and house that the railroads of this country had been driven to the last ditch and "were no longer able to compete with anything or anybody."

Mr. Hill predicted an early close of the war and 70-cent wheat in 1916. A speedy exhaustion of the railroad properties of the country unless passenger rates were raised, he pointed out, was but a logical step.

"If I could secure a franchise or a grant for a railroad that would not have to carry passengers I should hasten as fast as I could to put money in that road," he told the committee. "Passenger rates have never paid for the service necessary to the transportation. It has cost the railroads of this country much more money per mile to carry passengers than they have ever received. And what is the result? Railroad stocks and bonds are now a drug on the market. They are drugs because of one fact. And that is because foreign governments and other industrial stocks pay a higher rate of interest. The railroads of this country have been unable to pay more than 4 or 5 per cent on their investments at the most and foreign governments that are now raising money in this country and industrial stocks pay from 6 to 8 per cent.

Interest Rates Will Rise.

"After the war is over, and it will be brought to a speedy close because of the physical and material exhaustion that will and is ensuing, interest rates will be even higher. How are we then to raise money to build more railroads? We shall not be able to do it unless passenger rates are increased."

Members of the committee had under consideration the bill introduced into the senate by Senator E. J. Westlake, raising passenger rates to 2½ cents a mile.

"Some years ago when I wanted to buy some furnaces to make coke from the big peat bogs in Northern Minnesota I tried to raise money to form a company to develop that industry," Mr. Hill said. "Do you suppose I could do it? No. One fine man who had invested with me in many places declared he didn't want investments in Minnesota. That is the reputation Minnesota has.

"It costs more money per train mile to operate passenger trains than the railroads receive for it. You know how long that condition can exist and what ultimately will come of it. Twenty-seven per cent of all the dividends of the Great Northern railroad is paid in taxes. And dividends are not mandatory, you know. They can be paid only after they have been earned, but taxes must be paid—or you go to jail.

Unfair to the People.

"Intelligent legislation is an advantage for any state, and an advantage for the railroads, but legislation that is unfair to the railroads is unfair to the people of the state, for sooner or later they will have to put their necks under the yoke and help share their burdens. The railroads of this country are staggering under too great a burden now. And they are right at the last ditch. They are no longer able to compete with any one or with each other. They are too busy trying to solve their financial problems that will let them live a while longer.

"All our elemental wealth comes from the soil, and the transportation of that wealth is a great advantage to its owners. We hear a great deal about watered stock. Let me tell you if the laws in this state were enforced we should have no watered stock. Several years ago a law prohibiting the sale of any railroad stock at less than par was drawn up at my direction in my offices. It was enacted into a law but every day I see some stock offered for sale with bonuses of common stock thrown in. Why aren't the laws enforced? Then we'd have no watered stock.

"They say that canal rates will be cheaper than railroad. Some statesmen who meet regularly want to lath and plaster the bottom of the Mississippi river, but I have made an investigation in St. Louis where they have water shipping. Very little of the freight handled out of that city goes by water. It goes by rail because the people have grown to demand quicker and better service in all lines."

The Panama Railroad.

"Touching upon government ownership in Panama, Mr. Hill compared the earnings and costs of that railroad with the privately-owned railroads in the country. He showed their earnings were higher on the government road and that costs were much higher and that the government road's profits were greater than the gross earnings of the railroads of the United States. Mr. Hill dwelt upon the fact that the legislature should not attempt to take away property of the railroads by unfair legislation.

"Years ago old Curtiss Pettit, who now, I think, is in the front rank of angels in heaven wearing red and white feathers, went to the supreme court at Washington and showed that robbery of fair profits was just as much a robbery as any other kind. That is what you men must have in mind. Unfair legislation against the railroads will work as much hardship against you as against the railroads, in the end."

At the close of his speech Mr. Hill asked for questions, and several representatives and senators asked him if he thought it fair to compare his road with the Panama railroad.

"They say the Great Northern road is Jim Hill's road," he said. "Bless your soul, I am but a small shareholder, although I have a great deal of money in it for me. The road is owned by people in moderate circumstances, who depend on its earnings for their living. It isn't Jim Hill's railroad. It certainly was fair to compare the two."

President Gardner Talks.

William A. Gardner, president of the Omaha and Northwestern railroads, was the first speaker before the committee. He told the committee that the Northwestern's earnings in Minnesota for the past year had been but 2.71 per cent and that the Omaha had earned 5 per cent.

"This state is on the threshold of prosperity, and the railroads can't be prosperous unless the state is," he said. "The value of farm land is largely due to the transportation facilities. I don't want to suggest to you that you transfer any of your prosperity to our pockets, but I want to remind you that our prosperity is linked with yours. Each needs the other." Mr. Gardner quoted statistics to prove that the demands the public have made for safety devices have increased the costs of passenger service and that rates had not been advanced proportionately.

President Pennington Speaks.

Edmund Pennington, president of the Soo line, also spoke. He left figures from the railroad and warehouse commission reports and from the Soo railroad's reports to substantiate his claims.

Senator Westlake urged the passage of the bill. "Eight years ago the senator who would have dared to introduce such a bill would have been met with the call that he was the rankest reactionary," he said. 'Strange as it may seem, this bill was not introduced at the request of any railroad. I spoke to a railroad official and asked him to lend his support to such a measure and see that one was drawn up. The railroads have been imposed upon and need protective and constructive measures to help them."

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

HAS BILL REGARDING ROAD AID BY STATE

CHARLES S. WILKINS,
Representative From Wadena, Who Would Have State Aid Given to Counties for Road Expenses Required By Dunn Law.

is contained in the estimate herewith.

"1. The consolidation of the numerous commissions, bureaus and departments of the state in six departments should tend to lessen the number of state employes or at least to check their increase in the future.

"2. The same consolidation should tend to reduce actual clerical labor in the way of bookkeeping and otherwise as well as enable the directors to standardize salaries.

"3. The same consolidations should reduce the expenses of the state in printing reports for various departments, especially by way of printing a year book by the governor's office, which no doubt would be divided into bulletins or separates for the various departments.

"4. The abolishment of forty-seven boards will reduce the expenses of the state for traveling and otherwise.

"5. The abolition of the boiler inspection department and the continued collection of fees by the labor department for such inspection would bring revenue into the state, all of which need not be reappropriated or expended.

"6. The same argument applies to surveyors general of logs and lumber as does to boiler inspectors.

"7. A slight off-set to these savings must be looked for in the salaries of new department heads."

Mr. Preus' statement is one of the most forceful arguments yet made for the passage of the efficiency bill. Possibly it comes "the day after the fair," since the general presumption throughout the legislature is that the efficiency bill is doomed to defeat. However, on the other hand it is not improbable that this concrete showing of benefits to be expected from the operation of the proposed new system may stem the tide that has set in against it during the last few days.

Battle Over Cayuna Range Bill.

The Syverson bill to permit the village of Ironton to take over a part of the village of Crosby in Crow Wing county, has stirred up quite a little battle on the side lines.

Delegations are here both for and against the bill. For the bill are the following: From Ironton—E. A. Lamb, Ed Kruger, D. B. McAlpine, E. R. Burns and O. E. Skalman; from Crosby—Isaac Fraser; from Duluth—Ira W. Smith; from Brainerd—C. B. Rowley.

Against the bill—Will S. Pitt, president of the village of Crosby; William Deering, president-elect; F. A. Lindbergh, village attorney; Mark Atkinson, W. G. Young, A. J. Hayes, A. O. Radbideau and F. E. Murphy, all of Crosby.

The bill permits this change to be made by vote of the people living in the territory to be transferred, without giving the rest of the village a vote. The Ironton people say that the section affected is handier to Ironton than to Crosby, and must go to the former place to get the benefit of the village organization. The Crosby people say it is simply a scheme to increase the assessed valuation of Ironton.

The house committee on villages, of which Charles T. Murphy of Aurora is chairman, had reported the bill for passage, and it is now on general orders in the house. A similar bill, introduced in the senate by Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker, is on general orders in that body. In both cases the Crosby contestants have had the bills referred back to committee for a hearing, and they are here for that purpose.

Second Choice Feature.

The bill amending the election laws to do away with the second choice feature and to provide a more practical method of handling state-wide election contests is the product of the Rines-Preus contest over the state auditorship, and while it is the work of former Speaker Rines, the unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for state auditor, it has the sanction and support of Mr. Preus.

The second choice feature figured largely in the Rines-Preus contest, and the contest also developed the fact that it is virtually an impossibility for anybody, and certainly an impossibility for a poor man, to contest a state office when it is necessary to have canvassers in every county of the state. The Rines-Preus contest did not go that far, a partial count satisfying Mr. Rines that he could not succeed.

Delegations from Otter Tail and Polk counties in opposition to the new county division bill which would apply to those counties the scheme developed in the Hibbing end of the Mesaba range, will be here tonight to protest against the passage of the bill that would permit parts of these counties to secede by their own votes alone. The house committee on towns and counties has announced a public hearing on the Boyd bill at which the opposition will state its case.

Weights and Measures.

F. S. Holbrook, chief inspector of weights and measures in the United States bureau of standards, appeared before the house committee on commerce and retail trade yesterday afternoon in opposition to the bill now pending in the senate, transferring the department of weights and measures from the railroad and warehouse commission to the dairy and food commission. Mr. Holbrook said that the change would work no economy whatever, but might mean a loss in efficiency.

To show the importance of this work, Mr. Holbrook stated that he had inspected weights and measures in Minnesota before the present system was adopted. He found then an average of 36 per cent of the scales incorrect. Last year 88 per cent were found correct, an increase of 25 per cent. On his former inspection, a number of the cities had local inspection, and while in these cities the percentage of incorrect scales averaged about 28 per cent, in Winona, where there was no inspection, the percentage of incorrect scales was 48.

To have efficiency under the proposed bill, it would be necessary to employ the same staff, so that there would be no economy. The idea of having the same inspector handle the subject of pure food as well as the scales, would not work. There would not be a cent saved, he said. He also criticised the proposal that the inspection should be made every two years instead of one on the ground that it would give too much leaway for dishonest merchants, who, he said, are a small minority; and the proposal that local communities by ordinance could evade state regulations. Mr. Holbrook said that he believed that the fee system should be abolished, as provided in the bill by Senator George M. Peterson.

WOULD MAKE BIG SAVING

legislative body, the estimate made must necessarily be a matter very largely of personal opinion, to which no doubt each department affected will object and will indeed be in a better position to estimate the effect of consolidation than I.

"I have, however, endeavored to the best of my ability, without prejudice for or against the report of the efficiency and economy commission, to compile the four exhibits hereto attached. In all fairness to the efficiency and economy commission I would also submit that a further saving to the state may be expected than

REGULATING JITNEYS.

Fargo City Commission Already Figuring on Adequate Provisions.

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regulation of the jitney busses is now occupying the attention of the Fargo city commission. The first ordinance submitted was regarded by some of the members as too drastic. The commission wants to safeguard the pedestrians but does not want to make the bonds for that feature so high they will be prohibitive and freeze out many people who may wish to engage in the business. Each car will be required to pay a license and especial provision will be made for their numbers and other concessions. The jitneys are already doing a rushing business.

CAUGHT AFTER YEAR.

Alleged Akeley Blind Pigger Finally Nabbed at East Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., March 19.—Although he has evaded arrest for more than a year, Joe Bahr, who is under indictment in Hubbard county on a charge of blind-pigging at Akeley, was arrested at East Bemidji Wednesday morning by Sheriff Dan Petrie of Hubbard county and Deputy Sheriff George Denley of Beltrami county. He was taken to the Hubbard county seat at Park Rapids. Since the indictment was returned against Bahr the officers have been unable to locate him. He is well known in Bemidji and his family resides here.

"For some time I was a sufferer from bronchitis and spent a great deal of money doctoring, until I heard through a friend of the wonderful merits of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Early in the fall I began taking it and since have been entirely free from the bronchial attack. I consider it my duty to thank you but have not enough words to say in praise of this wonderful Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine that is good for everyone.—Miss Mae Rodgers.

Today she is well and strong with no return of bronchial trouble, as her recent letter proves: "My health is perfect. Am entirely cured of bronchial trouble, but still continue to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a tonic, and I recommend it to all my friends."—Miss Mae H. Rodgers, 202 S. Grove St., E. Orange, N. J.

HICKEN CODE IS UPHELD

Supreme Court Declares Election at Which It Was Adopted Valid.

Technical Violations of City Charter Not of Vital Importance.

Upholding District Judge Dancer in his contention that the special referendum election of Sept. 16, 1913, at which the so-called Hicken liquor ordinance was declared adopted, expressed the will of a majority of Duluth voters and was in all respects valid, the Minnesota supreme court today handed down a decision disposing of an appeal which had been taken by W. W. Clayton, who brought a taxpayer's suit to have the election declared void.

The appeal to the supreme court was taken from Judge Dancer's order denying the contestant's motion for an order vacating and setting aside the trial court's previous decision in which it was held that the referendum election in question was a valid one. The order denying the motion was affirmed by the supreme court in a decision written by Commissioner H. B. Dibell, formerly of Duluth.

Alleged failures in many instances on the part of election judges to require two other voters and property owners in the same district to attest as to the qualification of unregistered voters and also a failure in a number of cases to administer the proper oaths to such unregistered voters, were not omissions of such a serious nature as to invalidate the election, the courts held.

Technical Violation.

Although there was a technical violation of the provisions of section 38 of the Duluth city charter, the supreme court held that it was of no such importance as to invalidate the election. Hugh J. McClearn, attorney for the contestant, insisted that the provision of the city charter requiring unregistered voters to present to the judges of election affidavits showing their qualifications verified by two freeholders, was mandatory in its nature, but the supreme court held otherwise.

The court's language is as follows: "The provisions of section 38 of the Duluth city charter requiring an unregistered voter desiring to vote at a municipal election to deliver an affidavit of his qualifications to the judges of election is directory and a failure to observe such requirement does not avoid the election."

The result of the election as canvassed by the city council was that the ordinance, known as No. 355, had been adopted by a clear majority of the 9,514 votes cast. Attorney McClearn, counsel for the contestant, admitted that if the courts ruled against him on the point which he had raised, the code would have been carried by a majority of 21 votes. Harvey Clapp, city attorney, claimed a majority of 52 votes.

At a recount of the ballots, 31 votes were held out as disputed ballots, but the court did not decide which way they should be counted. The gravamen of the appeal involved the legality of 2,316 ballots, which the contestant contended, should never have been counted, since they were voted contrary to the provisions of the city charter. It was shown that this number of ballots had been received from voters who had not registered at the general election April 1, 1913, and who did not, contrary to section 38 of the city charter, present to the judges of election affidavits showing their qualifications. The ballots were received and counted pursuant to instructions given the election officials by the city clerk.

Took Broad View.

Judge Dancer of the lower court, in his interpretation of the election law, took a broad view. He held that while the clerk or his advisers were responsible for the irregularity, due directly to inadvertance or error of judgment, that it was not of sufficient importance to warrant the court in overturning the election. In no instance, the court held, had there been anything on the part of the election judges more serious than an honest mistake.

The contest case was begun in district court a year ago last October. It was submitted to Judge Dancer in district court for his decision in March, 1914. The trial court rendered an opinion in the matter on April 18, 1914, and shortly thereafter an appeal was taken to the state supreme court.

ROAD LOSES RIGHT OF WAY

Norton Estate Awarded Strip of Land a Mile Long.

Northern Pacific Forfeited Title By Tearing Up Its Tracks.

After a fight which dragged nearly three years in the state courts, the Norton estate has finally established its claim to the possession and ownership of a mile of abandoned railroad right-of-way within the city limits of Duluth as against the claims of the Northern Pacific Railway company.

The Minnesota supreme court, in a decision handed down today, sustains District Judge Ensign of the trial court, who held that because the railway company had failed to operate over the right-of-way in question since it took possession in 1902, it had forfeited all claim under a right-of-way deed and that the strip of land has reverted to the possession of the Norton estate, the fee owner.

As a result of the decision of the higher tribunal, a permanent injunction will issue from the district court against the Northern Pacific enjoining that company from taking any steps to build or maintain a line of railway over the old right-of-way in question or from asserting any claim of ownership. The decision means that if the Northern Pacific desires to re-establish possession of the old right-of-way, it will be obliged to institute condemnation proceedings.

The right-of-way in question is a strip of land about a mile in length and seventy-five feet in width. It starts at a point near Kingsbury creek at Seventy-second avenue west and follows a general southwesterly direction for about one mile until it reaches Ironton. The old roadbed parallels that of the present Northern Pacific Fond du Lac short line.

Gave Road Easement.

George W. Norton, at the time of his death July 18, 1889, was the owner of the strip of land in question. On Nov. 23, 1894, the executors of his estate, executed a deed conveying an easement for right-of-way purposes to the Duluth Transfer Railway company. This company operated over the right-of-way until 1896, when it went into the hands of a receiver. The line was operated between 1896 and 1902 under the receivership of John Eliot Bowles.

During the month of January 1902, a committee of bondholders of the transfer railway company organized the Duluth Transfer Railroad company and took over the property of the defunct transfer railway company. In May 1902, however, the property and rights of the bondholders company was acquired by the Northern Pacific Railway company.

When the Northern Pacific took charge of the line, it took up the rails and tore down the bridges and trestles. This the trial court held constituted an abandonment. On Dec. 1, 1912, two days before the suit to quiet title was instituted by the Norton estate, the Northern Pacific took possession again and relaid a portion of the rails. The bridges, however, were not rebuilt.

With reference to this move the trial court held that the Northern Pacific had "without the consent of the plaintiff, entered upon a part of said strip of land, not for the purpose of building or operating a railroad thereon, but with the intent of heading off an attempt on the part of another company from acquiring said strip of land for railroad right-of-way purposes by condemnation."

The Duluth Transfer Railway company, the Duluth Transfer Railroad company, and the Bankers Trust company, the Farmers Loan & Trust company and the Guarantee Trust company, three surety companies were made co-defendants in the action with the Northern Pacific Railway company but were in default when the case came on for trial before Judge Ensign in May 1913. The real fight was between the Northern Pacific and the Norton estate. The suit to quiet title and for an injunction restraining the Northern Pacific from taking possession of the property was instituted by George W. Norton, Jr., and surviving executor under the will of his father, George W. Norton.

Railroad's Contention.

The contention of the Northern Pacific at the trial was that the title secured by the transfer railway in 1893 vested an ownership in fee of the land with the railway company and its successors and that by virtue of that instrument and the fact that the transfer railway had passed into control of the Northern Pacific, the company was within its rights in relaying its tracks on the property.

The trial court held, however, that the instrument given in 1893 did not convey a fee interest in the land, but an easement for railroad right-of-way purposes only. The court found that the instrument was a cloud to the title of the property which should be removed and ordered it cancelled of record.

The contention of the Norton estate was that the action taken by the Northern Pacific in taking up the tracks and tearing down the bridges in 1902 after it had secured control constituted an act of abandonment and asserted that this amounted to a forfeiture of the easement granted in 1893.

The supreme court upheld the lower court in its interpretation of the title which had been vested with the railroad company in 1893. Chief Justice Brown, who wrote the opinion, declared that "the conveyance of a strip of land to a railroad company for a right-of-way 'to have and to hold the same, for and so long as the same is used for railroad purposes' should be held to convey an easement only, and not absolute fee simple title."

The higher court also held that "an easement so held may be lost by abandonment" and that the evidence adduced at the trial supported the contentions of the trial court that there was intentional abandonment of the right-of-way involved in the litigation.

Attorneys A. L. Agatin and Richardson, Day & Cheadle represented the Norton estate in the lawsuit. The Northern Pacific was represented by Attorney Oscar Mitchell of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell.

Mrs. Minnie Montgomery Recovers Damages Against the City.

Mrs. Minnie Montgomery will recover $250 damages from the city for injuries which she sustained in a fall on a defective sidewalk on Maple street between Lemon and Quince streets, Duluth Heights, on the afternoon of Sept. 16, 1915. A jury in district court last evening agreed upon this amount as a fair compensation for her damages. The verdict was reached at 7 o'clock last night but was not delivered to the court until Judge Cant's division convened at 9:30 o'clock this morning. She sued for $1,000. Thomas J. McKeon appeared as her attorney and William P. Harrison, assistant city attorney, represented the municipality.

BULLET HOLE IN HIS FOOT

"Tilt" Lewis Wounded By Bullet From Friend's Pistol.

Tilton Lewis, former manager of the St. Louis hotel, is today suffering from a bullet wound in his foot as the result of the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of his friend, "Tex" Stafford, last evening shortly after 6 o'clock.

Lewis was taken to St. Mary's hospital in the police emergency ambulance and it was found that a bone in his foot had been fractured by the bullet. He will be confined for a week or ten days, according to hospital authorities. Since relinquishing the managership of the hotel, Lewis has been promoting wrestling matches.

Lewis, Stafford and W. P. Adams have rooms adjoining on the fourth floor of the hotel. Adams and Lewis had been visiting Stafford, and when they started to leave his room, Stafford, who was lying on the bed, tried to pull a revolver from his hip pocket. The gun caught on the bed clothes and was discharged, according to the story told detectives by Lewis. The bullet was 32-caliber, with a steel jacket, and the wound will cause little trouble, it is said.

TO MAKE BASES FOR HIGH EXPLOSIVES

Commercial Manufacture of Rittman Discoveries Expected Soon.

Washington, March 19.—Commercial manufacture of bases for high explosives and dyestuffs by the processes discovered by Dr. Walter F. Rittman of the bureau of mines, is expected by the bureau within the next two weeks, as a result of experiments being conducted by Dr. Rittman at the Pittsburg plant of the Aetna Explosives company.

Dr. Rittman reported today that a small quantity of benzol, one of the much-sought bases, had been manufactured on a commercial scale and that at the end of ten days he expected definite results on both the dyestuff and explosive and the gasoline processes.

Officials of the interior department expect the Rittman patents to make possible at once general American production of carbolic acid, which has advanced more than 1,000 per cent in price as a result of the difficulties of trade between this country and Germany.

FARGO EXPECTING MANY NORWEGIANS

Gathering of Different "Lagets" in June Expected to Bring Thousands.

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo will entertain from 8,000 to 10,000 Norwegians during the Bygdelag meetings to be held here in June.

The Bygdelag is the central organization of the different "lagets," which are the sub-organizations from the different localities and provinces of Norway and are maintained by the former residents and their descendants who are now in the United States. It is anticipated that the entire Northwest will be represented and practically all the prominent Norwegians of the entire country will be here during those meetings. Excellent speakers have been secured for each of the sessions of the sub-organizations.

Eight "Lagets" Expected.

At least twelve and possibly more of the "lagets" will be represented. Eight of these have already selected dates running from June 3 to June 25. The dates for the other four who are known to be coming have not yet been determined. Fargo is regarded as the greatest Norwegian center in the Northwest and its accessibility makes it a convenient meeting point for the people of Norwegian ancestry.

BIG AUDIENCE ENJOYS THE BOYS' DEPARTMENT MINSTRELS

"Mistah Bones" and his end men invaded the Y. M. C. A. last night and amused a large audience with their quips and songs. It was the annual minstrel show of the boys' department of the "Y," and the affair was an unqualified success. A second performance will be given tonight. Proceeds of the show will be used by the boys in providing war canoes for their summer outing at Camp Miller.

Supported by a chorus of fifty voices, the fifteen soloists showed the result of their long training and made a "hit" with their many "getoffs" and well-rendered songs.

With N. D. McLeod as interlocutor and Lincoln Brown, Laurence Duby, Russell Duncan and Townsend Hoopes as end men, the troupe was one of the most capable ever appearing in a show given by the boys' department of the association. The minstrel show proper was prefaced by a sketch entitled "The Train Going North," in which Laurence Duby and Lincoln Brown took the leading roles.

The musical program included:

Opening chorus—"Well, We've Come Back," "When You Were a Tulip," "When It's Night Time Down in Burgundy" and "Aba Daba Daba."

Soloists—"Celebration Day in Tennessee," Harold Hein; "Ward Schneider's Grocery," Edwin Skinner; "Weep No More, My Lady," John Shields; "I Don't Want to Go to War," Russell Duncan; "Dixie," Charles Le Richeux; "Down on the Farm," George Ward; "In the Valley of the Moon," Ray Anderson; "Billing the Jack," Townsend Hoopes; "In the Hills of Old Kentucky," Ed Scriven; "Dixie Rose," Charles Diers; "Tip Top Tipperary," J. R. Batchelor; "You Ain't a Playing," Laurence Duby; "When I Was a Dreaming, George Macaskill; "The Little Old Ford," Lincoln Brown.

EXPLOSION OF DUST CAUSE OF DISASTER.

Hinton, W. Va., March 19.—An explosion of dust following a "blow-out" shot was responsible for the disaster on March 2, which cost the lives of 111 men in the Layland mine of the New River & Pocahontas Consolidated Coal company, according to a verdict of the coroner's jury here today. The jury did not attach blame to anyone.

A number of miners who were imprisoned in the workings for ninety-five hours after the blast were witnesses. They told of eating the bark from the timbers in the milling rooms, and one testified to having gnawed an entire day on a pair of buckskin shoestrings.

EX-AMERICANS WORST CLASS IN MEXICO SAYS S. G. STEVENS

Lawbreakers, robbers, highwaymen, cutthroats, gamblers and swindlers—the men who are to blame for the lawlessness in Mexico at the present time, are in most cases ex-Americans, according to S. George Stevens, who returned to Duluth Saturday after a two months' visit in lower California and Upper Mexico.

"Mexico and her harmless peons have been unjustly censored by American newspapers," he declared, "because of the depredations of gangs made up of the lawless scum of America. The American people placidly believe that the Mexicans are to blame for the lawlessness rife at present, when the real citizens of the country are harmless and peaceable.

"Ten miles from San Diego, there is the town of Tia Juana. Visitors to San Diego flock across the line in hundreds to see the sights, and a gang comparing favorably with any New York or Chicago gang sees to it that the visitor misses nothing.

"Roulette, trumped-up arrests and robbery at the point of a gun are tried in turn, and one of the three methods usually is successful. The United States inspector told me that these thugs average from $3,000 to $5,000 a day from the visits of peaceable Americans.

"At one point on the border a bridge had been washed away and a plank affair 200 feet long substituted. Visitors were met halfway by a reception committee of highwaymen and relieved of sums ranging from $200 to $700."

While in Lower California Mr. Stevens studied work in homecrofting, in which he is greatly interested. He installed the Oliver Iron Mining company's exhibit at the San Francisco fair.

BRITISH PROVIDING "TUBS FOR TOMMIES."

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, March 4.—The thought of the British soldier going unbathed affects the British public so much that "Tubs for Tommies" is now the cry of a group of patriots, which has raised a fund sufficient to provide thirty tubs with twelve stoves and plenty of soap and towels. Five of the baths and two stoves were recently sent to Solasons by motor car, and within seven hours 100 men had enjoyed the delights of a hot bath.

The bathing scheme is warmly indorsed by the medical officers, who say that cleanliness will do much to prevent the infection of wounds.

BULLET HOLE IN HIS FOOT

"Tilt" Lewis Wounded By Bullet From Friend's Pistol.

Tilton Lewis, former manager of the St. Louis hotel, is today suffering from a bullet wound in his foot as the result of the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of his friend, "Tex" Stafford, last evening shortly after 6 o'clock.

Lewis was taken to St. Mary's hospital in the police emergency ambulance and it was found that a bone in his foot had been fractured by the bullet. He will be confined for a week or ten days, according to hospital authorities. Since relinquishing the managership of the hotel, Lewis has been promoting wrestling matches.

Lewis, Stafford and W. P. Adams have rooms adjoining on the fourth floor of the hotel. Adams and Lewis had been visiting Stafford, and when they started to leave his room, Stafford, who was lying on the bed, tried to pull a revolver from his hip pocket. The gun caught on the bed clothes and was discharged, according to the story told detectives by Lewis. The bullet was 32-caliber, with a steel jacket, and the wound will cause little trouble, it is said.

Commercial Manufacture of Rittman Discoveries Expected Soon.

Washington, March 19.—Commercial manufacture of bases for high explosives and dyestuffs by the processes discovered by Dr. Walter F. Rittman of the bureau of mines, is expected by the bureau within the next two weeks, as a result of experiments being conducted by Dr. Rittman at the Pittsburg plant of the Aetna Explosives company.

Officials of the interior department expect the Rittman patents to make possible at once general American production of carbolic acid, which has advanced more than 1,000 per cent in price as a result of the difficulties of trade between this country and Germany.

FARGO EXPECTING MANY NORWEGIANS

Gathering of Different "Lagets" in June Expected to Bring Thousands.

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo will entertain from 8,000 to 10,000 Norwegians during the Bygdelag meetings to be held here in June.

The Bygdelag is the central organization of the different "lagets," which are the sub-organizations from the different localities and provinces of Norway and are maintained by the former residents and their descendants who are now in the United States. It is anticipated that the entire Northwest will be represented and practically all the prominent Norwegians of the entire country will be here during those meetings. Excellent speakers have been secured for each of the sessions of the sub-organizations.

Eight "Lagets" Expected.

At least twelve and possibly more of the "lagets" will be represented. Eight of these have already selected dates running from June 2 to June 25. The dates for the other four who are known to be coming have not yet been determined. Fargo is regarded as the greatest Norwegian center in the Northwest and its accessibility makes it a convenient meeting point for the people of Norwegian ancestry.

BIG AUDIENCE ENJOYS THE BOYS' DEPARTMENT MINSTRELS

"Mistah Bones" and his end men invaded the Y. M. C. A. last night and amused a large audience with their quips and songs. It was the annual minstrel show of the boys' department of the "Y," and the affair was an unqualified success. A second performance will be given tonight. Proceeds of the show will be used by the boys in providing war canoes for their summer outing at Camp Miller.

Supported by a chorus of fifty voices, the fifteen soloists showed the result of their long training and made a "hit" with their many "getoffs" and well-rendered songs.

With N. D. McLeod as interlocutor and Lincoln Brown, Laurence Duby, Russell Duncan and Townsend Hoopes as end men, the troupe was one of the most capable ever appearing in a show given by the boys' department of the association. The minstrel show proper was prefaced by a sketch entitled "The Train Going North," in which Laurence Duby and Lincoln Brown took the leading roles.

The musical program included: Opening chorus—"Well, We've Come Back." "When You Were a Tulip." "When It's Night Time Down in Burgundy" and "Aba Daba Daba."

Soloists—"Celebration Day in Tennessee," Harold Hein; "Ward Schneider's Grocery," Edwin Skinner; "Weep No More, My Lady," John Shields; "I Don't Want to Go to War," Russell Duncan; "Dixie," Charles Le Richeux; "Down on the Farm," George Ward; "In the Valley of the Moon," Ray Anderson; "Billing the Jack," Townsend Hoopes; "In the Hills of Old Kentucky," Ed Serlven; "Dixie Rose," Charles Diers; "Pip Top Tipperary," J. R. Batchelor; "You Ain't a Playing," Laurence Duby; "When I Was a Dreaming, George Macaskill; "The Little Old Ford," Lincoln Brown.

Closing chorus — "Cotton Pickin' Time" and "Back to Carolina You Love."

CROWD HEARS CANDIDATES

City Administration Attacked By Silberstein and Farrell.

Latter Says "Turkish" Methods of Espionage Are Practiced.

Voters of West Duluth taxed the capacity of Dormedy's hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street, in an effort to hear campaign speeches made by James A. (Bert) Farrell, Bernard Silberstein, and other speakers before the Silberstein-Farrell club last night. It was estimated that more than 500 men were present during the evening.

Mr. Farrell scored the public works department for what he termed a "Turkish" method of espionage. He said the department hires street commissioners, and then employs men to watch them, and that Commissioner Murchison watches the latter. This method, he said, was extravagant.

The speaker criticized the department for employing men and offering them 15 cents an hour for work, and at the same time raising the salary of office employes. "Raising the salary of the office man at the expense of the day laborer is not fair nor a square deal," he said. Mr. Farrell denied that he had been discharged from the employ of the public works department, but that he had resigned, giving the department thirty days' notice. In speaking about the employes of the department, he said that there were a number of capable men working for the city, but that these were not saying anything.

"There will be no autocratic rule at the city hall if I am elected," said Bernard Silberstein. "No punitive action will be taken before accused persons are given a hearing. The city council must get nearer to the people. If I am elected, all citizens will be welcome at the city hall. People have asked me if I stood for law enforcement. The idea of asking such a question of Bernard Silberstein!" he said.

Mr. Silberstein scored the public works department for hiring men at a wage of 15 cents an hour. "I would be ashamed to pay any man such wages. In previous hard times Duluth did not have to offer such small wages to any man."

Mr. Silberstein touched on economy in the city government and said that many unnecessary expenditures had been made by the present commissioners. He said that, if elected, he would try to introduce business methods into the workings of the council.

A short talk was given by M. E. Louisell and W. H. Smallwood, candidates for municipal judge, and Latrault, president of the club, introduced the speakers.

CARLOAD OF TROUT FRY FOR STREAMS

West Duluth Sportsmen Will Distribute Spawn Near Duluth.

A car containing about 165 cans of trout fry is expected to arrive this afternoon from the state game and fish commission to be distributed in the streams near Duluth. The fry was secured through activities of the West Duluth Commercial club and is consigned to W. A. Pond, president of the club.

At a gathering of a number of the members of the club held at the clubrooms last night, plans for distributing the fry among the various streams in St. Louis county, were made. Several automobile owners will take the cans in their machines as soon as the car arrives, and begin the distribution.

Among those who offered to take part in this work are: Dr. W. E. Judson, Dr. E. W. Boerner, Frank M. Ashley, W. A. Pond, Fred Deboer, F. G. Suggs of Proctor, James E. Foubister, Charles Iltis, A. L. Stevenson, D. C. Wakeman, Oscar Peterson, Charles E. Wilcox, Dr. C. R. Keyes, Charles Mattson and Otto Haller.

"We will have no difficulty in getting rid of the trout fry," said Mr. Pond this morning. "All sportsmen in this end of the city have offered their assistance, and it has been gladly accepted."

WOMEN WILL AID IN THE CAMPAIGN

Hicken, Murchison and Windom Indorsed By W. C. T. U. Members.

The candidacy of Commissioners Hicken and Murchison and Judge Windom was indorsed owing to their law enforcement stand, and a proposition to organize women's clubs throughout the city for the furthering of the reelection of these men was made at the meeting of the West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance union held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. David Adams, 2314 West Second street.

The present officials were given praise for the work of cleaning up the city morally. The resolution adopted follows:

"Resolved: That the West Duluth W. C. T. U., is well satisfied with the present administration of the city government and that we hope for the reelection of Commissioners W. A. Hicken and Roderick Murchison and of Judge W. L. Windom to the municipal court."

The society also voted to send resolutions to the state legislature asking that it vote favorably on the amendment providing for a referendum vote on state-wide prohibition.

"Good Music and Literature for Children," was the subject of papers read at the meeting. Mrs. Harry Merritt gave a talk on good music for children. She suggested the age of 6 as being the proper time to begin the study. She played selections from Grieg and Bach to illustrate the point of impressing good music on the minds of little folks.

Mrs. L. H. Merritt gave an instructive talk on good literature for children. She suggested that while books selected for children might be simple they should be of the best. Among the books mentioned were Robert Louis Stevenson's "Child's Garden of Verses," "Arabian Nights;" Kipling's "Jungle Book" and Grimm's and Anderson's Fairy tales.

The program also included a vocal number by Mrs. Marcus Walker, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Merritt. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Leigh Gunther and Mrs. George King. During the afternoon a home cooking sale was conducted. The members in charge of this consisted of: Mrs. T. F. Olson, Mrs. C. R. Keyes, Mrs. A. G. Macaulay, Mrs. H. Olson, Mrs. A. Alkirk and Mrs. E. W. Boerner.

WANTS BONDSMEN TO PAY CONTRACTOR'S BILL

Erick G. Wallinder, proprietor of the Wallinder sash and door factory at West Duluth, today started suit in district court against the Title Guaranty & Surety company to recover $2,241.20 claimed to be due from Edward Jackson, a contractor, for whom the surety company furnished bonds.

Jackson, it is alleged took a contract from School District No. 1, Itasca county on Oct. 29, 1913, to erect a school building for $30,137. The contractor purchased mill work and other supplies from the plaintiff but did not pay for them in full, it is claimed. Wallinder is seeking a recovery on the ground that the act of Jackson in refusing to pay for the material which went into the construction of the building was a breach of the condition of his bond and one for which the surety company is liable.

Up to March 13, Judge Windom spent $89.31 and Mr. McFarlane spent $22 up to March 18. He also reports that $16.50 was pledged to his campaign fund by his supporters. Capt. Smallwood reported last Tuesday that he spent $43.14 up to March 13.

According to the state election laws, each candidate must file a statement on every other Saturday and on the Saturday preceding the election, showing just what expenses were incurred and all the moneys received. It also provides that a candidate cannot spend over $500 in his efforts to get into office.

TRAFFIC MEN IN CONFERENCE HERE.

R. D. Springer, commissioner of the Traffic Bureau of Sioux Falls, S. D., arrived this afternoon and will spend today and tomorrow in conference with G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, and other members of the traffic committee.

The subject under discussion is the alleged discriminatory charges of the Great Northern and Northwestern roads on freight from Duluth to Sioux Falls. A hearing of the matter was recently held at Sioux Falls and was attended by Mr. Hall and B. M. Ruse, traffic manager of the Bridgeman-Russell company.

Duluth traffic men are interested not only because of the usual policy of offering aid to tributary cities, and because of the city's own interest in the freight rates under dispute, but because this case is considered the opening gun in the great Southwestern case, in which Duluth is vitally interested.

Corsets for the Youthful Form

We have not told you of the new Bon-Ton models for the slender girlish figure.

"As the twig is bent the tree inclines." Correspondingly the youthful figure should be carefully corseted in order that the woman of the future may have that personal charm of a graceful carefully developed figure.

The bustless, topless, spineless exaggerations in corsets prevailing the past two years are giving way to corsets molded on truly natural lines such as nature gave woman in the first place.

A straight line in front, a slight curve at the waistline at the sides, and comparatively straight back.

Fortunately the new Bon Ton models for youthful figures are admirably adapted to correct the faults of recent fashion and develop the figure according to the style lines for the coming season.

And these special models for youthful figures are priced at $3.00 and $3.50. They cost a bit more than common corsets, but they are a real economy considering what they accomplish.

Let our corset expert show them to you tomorrow.

SOCIETY ✿ WOMEN'S CLUBS ✿ MUSIC ✿ THE DRAMA

ALL traditions in wedding ceremonies have been cast aside in the preparations for the wedding of Miss Marie Merrill and Francis P. Sears, which will take place next Saturday afternoon at Trinity cathedral.

It has been the custom for modern brides to go through an exhausting series of social affairs prior to the wedding ceremony, and the day of the wedding too often found the bride on the verge of a physical breakdown. There will be no formal entertaining for Miss Merrill and Mr. Sears prior to the wedding. Outside of a few informal gatherings at her own home, the bride will not accept invitations prior to the wedding, and has requested her friends not to plan any formal events in her honor. In place of a round of social activities she has planned a course of outdoor exercise.

Mr. Sears and Miss Betty Merrill, who will be her sister's bridesmaid, will arrive in the city next Thursday from Boston where Miss Merrill has been attending school. Among the guests at the wedding will be Miss Penelope King of Cambridge, who visited here at the time of Miss Merrill's debut and with whom Miss Merrill later made her Boston debut.

Among Miss Merrill's wedding gifts are some magnificent pieces of jewelry. Her gift from an uncle of Mr. Sears is a pendant about three inches long and an inch wide at the bottom tapering to a width of half an inch, a solid mass of diamonds surrounding a magnificent yellow diamond. The gift from her father and mother is a hair ornament of sapphires that may be worn on two ropes of diamonds or two ropes of pearls, according to fancy.

Miss Merrill's engagement ring is set with an oblong brown diamond and her gift to the bridegroom is a ring, an exquisite cat's eye in a wonderful and unusual setting.

Sandstrom-Netser.

The wedding of Mrs. Arabella Sandstrom and James Percy Netser took place last evening at 7:30 o'clock at their future home, 14 Osborne block. Rev. Father Knudson performed the ceremony. Mrs. J. A. Pearson, sister of the bride, and William Henderson were the attendants.

The bride wore a blue messaline gown and carried white carnations.

A wedding dinner for twenty-six was followed by a reception. Pink and white carnations and roses were the decorations.

INSTITUTE PLANS SPRING ART EXHIBIT

Artists of Five Northwestern States Will Be Invited to Participate May 1 to 9.

Announcement has been made that an extensive exhibition of the work of Northwestern artists in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Wisconsin and Montana will be presented in St. Paul, May 1 to 9, under the auspices of the St. Paul institute. This plan, it is claimed, is more ambitious than any other that has been independently undertaken by St. Paul management for the promotion of art interests. Its fulfilment, along the broad lines laid out by those responsible for its inception, will, it is hoped, result in a quickening of artistic interest and appreciation throughout Minnesota and the surrounding states.

For a time it appeared probable that there would be no large spring art exhibition in St. Paul such as has heretofore been assembled by the Minnesota State Art society and presented locally by the St. Paul institute. It has come to regarded as by all odds the outstanding event in St. Paul art activities, and admittedly much to the credit of the Minnesota State Art society and its director, Maurice I. Flagg, it presented in a very comprehensive way the achievement of the artistic talent of Minnesota in the field of fine and applied arts. There was displayed each year a collection of American paintings declared to be representative of the best contemporary art of this country.

After careful consideration of all matters and parties involved last yeeur, the state art society decided to present its annual exhibition as a feature of the state fair where it was felt it would do the greatest good to the greatest number, and an agreement was made between the managements of the state fair and the state art societies whereby for at least three successive years the two organizations would jointly present the annual art exhibitions. The conspicuous success of the exhibition shown by the Minnesota State Art society on the fair grounds last September, it is felt, proved the wisdom of the change. At the same time the St. Paul institute felt that it would be a misfortune to lose the cumulative value which has been gained by repeated presentation of the state art society's exhibition in previous years, as the community has come to look forward to a big art display as an annual event in the late winter or early spring months, and it was felt that the response would continue to incease if some aggregation of art could be shown at that time. It was felt, too, that in some respects this season of the year is rather the more favorable to an enjoyment of painting, sculpture and other fine arts. So, with an entire absence of any feeling of rivalry or competition, and enjoying the cordial disposition of the State Art society, the institute has developed and will carry out its plan for a spring exhibition this year. That this first exhibition will be followed by similar successive annual exhibitions, is the confident expectation of the committee that is executing the scheme in behalf of the institute.

The scope and purpose of this undertaking will differentiate it from the annual exhibitions of the state art society. Instead of limiting the field from which artists may submit their work, to the boundaries of Minnesota, the institute will extend it to include Wisconsin, Iowa, the Dakotas and Montana.

Those in charge have decided not to include the craft arts and architecture in this display, confining it strictly to the fine arts. There will be a competent jury of artists of established reputation, non-residents of St. Paul, who will decide to whom honors are to be awarded. Medals, which will have an accredited and authoritative significance, bearing the stamp of the St. Paul institute, will be presented as prizes to the winning artists in the various branches of art. These medals, awarded each year, will have a standard valuation in relation to artistic achievement and will be a symbol of merit.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Live Within Your Means.

When you commence to consider all the dire fatalities that may overtake a man with a wife and a home and the responsibilities they entail, the amount that a man needs to safely enter the matrimonial state seems to approach that from which a steady income for life may be derived that will assuredly keep them in necessities.

Fortunately there are few men who fear the future or give too much thought about what it may have in store, few men, really who have any desire to shirk the responsibility of husbandhood or fatherhood. No matter how big a failure they make of either or both roles, their intentions in the long count are honest and sincere.

Though there is not the slightest excuse for a man earning a weekly salary of $15, $18 or $20 not having something saved toward the day he shall establish his own little home, unless he is the sole support of dependents, there are many well-intentioned men who have not a cent ahead of them save that which they hope to collect payday. Yet these men marry and prosper.

I believe that all young men and women should be brought up in the expectation that they will marry. I believe that they should be brought up to think that, as people who will sooner or later enter wedlock, they owe a duty to themselves and to each other. And so the man who can save money should as soon as possible begin to save a certain sum out of that which he earns and increase that certain amount as his earnings increase. It will not come amiss whether he marries or not. The opportunity to save is when one is young, single and responsible only for themselves.

And now how much money ahead is necessary before a man earning $18 a week may feel justified in letting his heart talk? If a man has saved $5 out of his $18 salary for a year, in all $260, I should say he might speak and feel free to do so. Even $200 is sufficient. If he has twice or many times that amount, so much the better. A large part of it, however, should remain in the bank to his credit, for $250 should easily pay for most of the furniture needed at the start, and what it will not buy can, in most cases, be counted on from relatives, friends and what the bride brings to her home.

A man earning $18 a week can only afford a simple home, though it need not lack comfort. If he can be induced to begin simply and only increase his expenditures as they are necessary, or as he can afford them, there will be no danger of his falling behind or of his failing in his attempt at home making.

OLD DANCES ARE BEING REVIVED

Multiplicity of New Steps Has Caused Pendulum of Popular Favor to Swing Back.

Farewell to the Fish Walk, the Texas Tommy, the Canter, the Opera Hesitation, the Ragtime Crawl and the Hitchy Koo, because the old dances are coming back. That does not mean that the old fashioned waltz and two step will alone be danced, but the simple hesitation and one step will be the most popular.

After a riotous orgy lasting several seasons the muse, Terpischore, again has become staid, ladylike and graceful, say dancing instructors.

The keynote of the new dances this spring and summer is the return to the closed position, say Duluth dancing instructors.

Hundreds of varieties of dances prevailing now, which have confused the dancer and compelled him to stop and figure out the next step each time, have been responsible for the downfall of the many freak steps, according to Duluth teachers.

LUCKY PRISONERS.

Wide World Magazine: Whatever may be the fate of political prisoners in Portugal, ordinary offenders have a pretty easy time of it. The windows of the low tiers of cells are often quite close to the ground, and they are frequently situated near some highway. Prisoners are permitted to ask alms of passers-by, and tourists may often be seen in the act of giving a man a coin, under the very eyes of the soldier on guard. Where the windows of the cells are high above the ground the occupants let down bags or small tins by means of long pieces of string or cord, and there is one prison in Oporto, close to a church, where such a receptacle is continually dangling before the eyes of folks going to and from the church. These contributions enable the prisoners to purchase many little luxuries from their accommodating jailers.

DRIVING JITNEY BUS IS NEW FIELD OF WORK FOR WOMEN

St. Louis Has Several Women Drivers—Duluth May Come to It—Posing Instinctive With Jitney Patrons—Joy Rides for Ten Cents—Courtesy Revived.

Jitneys have opened up a new field of work for women—St. Louis has several women jitney drivers, they have introduced a special social code for the riders and have made possible 5-cent joy rides and 10-cent round-trip joy rides. As yet Duluth's drivers are all men—but perhaps—.

The trips of the first woman jitney driver in St. Louis became regular social events; her friends waited for her car and chance passengers became her friends. But even her friends did not make her wish to keep the distinction of being the only woman jitney driver in the city for she said, "I'll be glad, so glad, when other women come into the business."

Jitneys and Human Nature.

Marguerite Martyn of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who is authority because she has made several jitney trips as a driver, announces the following adaptations of human nature brought about or developed during the first week of jitneying in that city:

"1. Democracy between women—Yes, actually. Women who haven't been introduced talking to each other without resentment on either side!

"2. Speed limit.—In the exchange of amenities necessary to the close quarters, the air of privacy attaching to the small compartment, and the feeling of companionship in sharing a new adventure, formality is lost sight of. Jitneyers who are strangers at Taylor and Delmar find themselves telling each other their real names by the time Broadway is reached.

"3. Posing.—That I've-been-used-to automobiles-all-my-life attitude seems to be instinctive with these nickle-a-riders, and bragging matches to show which knows the most about the mechanism of the motor car seems to be one of the chief pleasures of the jitneyer—to the male of the species, anyway.

"4. Public Spirit Backed Up by Generosity.—Many of the chauffeurs tell me they have been liberally tipped, me they have been liberally tipped, usually with the attendant explanation, 'I want to help the thing along.' It might be remarked in passing that the innovation has not affected one phase of the eternal feminine—women, the chauffeurs say, have not been among the tippers. One driver had at the end of the day fifty pennies which he said represented ten fares by women.

"5. Courtesy.—If courtesy is not something new under the sun, at least it has been so long since it has seen the light of day in street transportation that its revival may be attributed to the new service. When fifty persons waited at the Taylor-Delmar terminus Friday morning, I noticed that until the women occupied the seats the men stood aside, then sat on doors, hung on the running boards or waited for the next car."

Joy Rides for Dime.

The same authority on jitneying, jitney manners and jitney customs says many young women who work downtown have splendid joy rides during the noon hour for 10 cents, that women wait for aristocratic-looking touring cars and limousines in preference to roomy trucks and motor busses that have joined the ranks of jitneys, that the middle of the morning most of the passengers are shoppers and many of the afternoon passengers are women taking their babies out for the air.

A young woman jitneyer said to a man who was smoking a cigarette: "See here, I work in a close office all day and I take the jitney for the sake of fresh air. If you'll throw away that pill you're smoking in my face I'll pay your fare." He threw away the cigarette and she paid a jitney for him, but as he was leaving the car he pressed a dime into her hand.

The following is given by the "expert jitneyist" as an example of how jitneys promote sociability:

"'Speed 'er up a little,' a man in the front seat said to the chauffeur.

"'Can't do it, boss. The cops are watchin' us. One of the boys got pinched for speedin' yesterday.'

"'Yes, I was in that car. We were going fifty miles an hour,' rejoined the man, and his chest swelled visibly.

"'You were! When the driver was arrested? So was I,' called another man from the depths of one corner. Somehow they squirmed and twisted until they got their heads together and were conversing like long-lost friends.

"'How many cylinders did you have?' asked another passenger.

"'Must have had six to have got up to fifty miles an hour,' he vouchsafed with superior knowledge.

"A man who got on at Newstead, looking rather sheepish, began to explain:

"'I have a Packard of my own, but it is too cold a morning for an open car.'

"'So?' responded another. 'The Packard is a good car, but I have my eye on a Hudson.'

"'Oh, I have a Hudson, too,' responded the first man, his diffidence evaporating.

"We were about three deep on the back seat by this time and a fat man, half-standing, half-lying over the back of the front seat, twisted his head around and remarked: 'Well, this beats strap-hanging, anyway.'"

BEAUTIFUL PIANOS

go for freight money this week. American leading manufacturers' sample pianos and player pianos must be sold this week in order to get my money back for the freight, and what do I care for the balance. I cannot represent all the piano manufactureres in the country no matter how good their instruments are. Come in this week before I return them and pay me the freight money and pay the balance to the manufacturers in cash or monthly payments. What do I care; time is up after this week. A safe investment to buy from the manufacturers who have many millions of dollars capital back of their guarantee. Our store is the real piano market place this week. No use to give out any prices now because bargains are so great that you will not believe unless you see them. Be sure and call this week, or write if you cannot call. NO COMPLAINT OF CONGESTION

Mayor Discredits Charge of Overcrowding at Sunday Concerts.

Neither Mayor Prince nor Building Inspector Kielley has received any complaints about the overcrowding of the Central high school auditorium on the days when concerts were given by the orchestra, and no action will be taken next Sunday, it was said this morning.

"I have attended two of the concerts," said Mayor Prince this morning, "and the hall was not overcrowded at either time. The main auditorium was packed both times, but the small gallery had many vacant seats. I never saw anyone standing in the aisles or blocking the doors."

"No complaints have been made to me," said Building Inspector Kielley, "and, of course, it would be foolish to announce that some action would be taken at the concert next Sunday. Those in charge would see that there was no overcrowding. However, if any complaints are made to this department, we will look into them and see that the laws are obeyed.

"I understand the crowds have been large at these concerts, but no one has mentioned anything about there being no passages in the aisles and blocked doors."

TEN BATTLESHIPS IN BOMBARDMENT

Allied Fleet Hammers Away in Dardanelles—Bouvet Strikes Mine.

Berlin, March 19, wireless to London. —A squadron of six British and four French battleships at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning attacked three fortresses of the Dardanelles.

At the same time another squadron of the allied fleets commenced operations against three forts in Saros bay.

After a fierce artillery duel the hostile ships withdrew at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, but part of the squadron continued its fire until 5 o'clock at long range and at great intervals. The French battleship Bouvet struck a mine at 2:30 o'clock in the vicinity of the entrance to the straits and sank in three minutes.

A British torpedo boat was sunk by the fire from the forts. The British battleship Irresistible was put out of action, while another battleship was seriously damaged.

NORTH DAKOTA OIL TO BE INSPECTED

Oil Men and State Officials Agree to Paying Fees.

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be oil inspection in North Dakota, despite the fact the new law failed to have an emergency clause attached and does not become effective until July. This was decided upon at a conference of representatives of oil companies called here today at the request of Governor Hanna, who with Attorney General Linde appeared before the oil men and explained the situation. The oil men agreed to pay the fees required under the new measure, beginning with the date of the passage of the bill by the legislature last month, and not wait until July.

Old Law Knocked Out.

The supreme court had knocked out the old inspection law on the ground that the inspection fees charged were greatly in excess of the inspection expenses and the measure was in reality exorbitant, as it was revenue producing. The charges under the new bill are only 5 cents per barrel. The action today on the part of the oil men was unanimous and both Governor Hanna and Attorney General Lindee expressed the greatest satisfaction over the success of the conference.

MILLER IS NOT COMING

Congressman Cannot Attend Office Men's Dinner to City Employers.

Prof. R. R. Price Will Speak —Each Member Will Bring His "Boss."

Congressman Clarence B. Miller will be unable to attend the dinner of the Duluth Association of Office Men to be given at the Commercial club in honor of the employers of the city, according to word received last night by J. Harris Trux, secretary to Mayor Prince.

Mr. Trux, who is president of the association, announced this morning that Congressman Miller is unable to get away from some very important committee work at Washington at this time. He said that Richard R. Price of the general extension department of the state university, H. W. Richardson, weather forecaster, and T. S. Settle, field secretary for the Playground and Recreation Association of America, would be the principal speakers.

An effort will be made, Mr. Trux said, to have Congressman I. L. Lenroot of Superior make an address, but he had made a previous engagement and could not attend. Congressman Lenroot addressed the association at a meeting last year.

The dinner tonight is to be a novel one, in that every member will bring his employer to the feast. The plan, as explained by Mr. Trux, is to bring the employer and employe into closer social relations and to show the "bosses" of the city just what the organization is doing.

In addition to the addresses, there will be a program of music and motion pictures of American and British men-of-war. The banquet will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

FIRST WARBLER ARRIVES

His Companion, the Robin, Is Due Shortly; Jay Cooke Park as Refuge for Birds.

Out near the Northern Minnesota experimental farm there is a tiny warbler, with several chickadees, trying to find a warm refuge from all this snow and cold.

Lured on by the warm weather of the last two weeks, the warbler ventured north until it reached Duluth, the first bird visitor of the spring. S. George Stevens, Duluth attorney, well known also as an ornithologist, is authority for the statement. He saw the warbler.

Robins and the warblers usually come together in the spring, but this year one warbler, at least, broke a record. Bird lovers have started their annual search for the first robin red breast, but so far the red-throated songster has kept out of sight.

"Two years ago," said Mr. Stevens this morning, "we found where a robin had stayed in Duluth all winter. It's very possible that some of them repeated the experience this winter, and that when we see the first bird, it won't be the first one, after all."

With the coming of the Jay Cooke state park, Mr. Stevens, in common with the other lovers of bird life, hopes to have a game reserve created so that the feathered folk will have a place to live. He believes that people throughout the United States are thinking more of the birds and realizing the truth of government reports which show that the country loses hundreds of millions annually because so many of the birds have been killed.

"In California they have more birds than we do," declared Mr. Stevens, "but even at that I was disappointed in them. Their most common bird is the meadow lark, excepting, of course, the blackbird. I believe we may get meadow larks north as far as Duluth when the land is settled up more, but we have yet to see them.

"There is so much snow further south, in Kansas and Nebraska, that the birds will be hedged off this year longer than usual, I believe," he concluded, "but we can start looking for the robin, or the slate-colored junco almost any time now."

The junco is a very common bird in this part of the country, and is distinguished by white feathers on each side of the tail.

Ornithologists who proposed a war on the English sparrow some time ago have an opponent in Mr. Stevens, who believes that even the little gray "pests" do good, instead of harm.

CASE OF MRS. ANGLE NEARING AN END

Arguments Completed and Judge Makes Charge to Jury.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 19.—State Attorney Homer S. Cummings today made the closing argument for the state in the manslaughter trial of Mrs. Helen M. Angle, accused of having caused the death of Waldo R. Ballou in Stamford last June.

Ballou, Mr. Cummings declared, was precipitated down the stairs in the Rippowam building at 10:45 on the night of June 23 and half an hour later was dragged down to the door way. The conviction or acquittal of Mrs. Angle, he said, depended on the question whether he fell by accident or violence.

When Mr. Cummings finished his argument recess was taken.

Judge Williams began his charge to the jury after recess. He explained the nature of the allegation as amended and said three verdicts were possible under it: Guilty as charged, guilty of assault or not guilty. The state, the court understood, did not claim the second. It was not essential under the allegation of the state to show a motive for the crime charged, he said.

HOPEFUL OF GETTING PARK APPROPRIATION.

If the state legislature is as generously disposed as the appropriations committee of that body, Duluth will receive $40,000 from the state for the Jay Cooke park.

Postmaster William E. McEwen, who was a member of the committee that appeared before the legislative committee to secure an appropriation, returned to Duluth this morning and reported a very satisfactory outcome of the conference. The appropriations committee gave close attention to the requests of the Duluth men, and will urge the legislature to make the appropriation liberal.

Other speakers were Mayor W. I. Prince, Judge William Cant and Francis W. Sullivan.

PLAY HOCKEY TITLE GAMES

Amateur League Will End Season at Curling Rink.

Improved Ice Makes Concluding Games Possible; Three-Cornered Tie.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Big Duluths	5	2	.714
Northerns	5	2	.714
Universals	5	2	.714
Two Harbors	4	3	.571
D. C. H. S.	1	5	.166
Bagleys	0	7	000

Tonight two hockey games will be played at the curling rink in an attempt to settle the championship of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league. The process of elimination has been halted by the balmy weather, which made the ice so soft that it was in no condition for skating; but with the present cold spell the ice has hardened up, and it is hoped that the matter can be disposed of.

The games will be between the Two Harbors and Northern teams, and between the Big Duluth and the Universals.

At present a three-cornered tie exists, the Big Duluths, Northerns and Universals leading, as shown in the preceding standings. The Big Duluths had one game more to their credit, having beaten the Central high school team, but that has been dropped in order that the championship may be decided, for the other leading teams will not have time to meet Central.

Tonight, if the Two Harbors aggregation defeats the Northerns, the winner of the clash between the Big Duluths and the Universals will have the championship; but if the Northerns win, then there will have to be one more game to decide the honor.

Great interest has been shown in the fight in the amateur league for the championship, and it is expected that, despite the short notice of tonight's games, there will be a large crowd at the curling rink.

K. C. FED CASE MAY BE SETTLED

Chicago, March 19.—A rumor was circulated in court circles today that the troubles between the Kansas City club of the Federal league and the league have been settled out of court and that the injunction suit instituted to enjoin the league from eliminating Kansas City from the league will be withdrawn. Clarence E. Eldridge, counsel for the club, said:

"I can make no statement until the case comes up before Judge Baldwin next Tuesday."

JOHNSON WANTS TO RETURN TO "CHI"

Chicago, March 19.—Jack Johnson, the pugilist, is tired of expatriation and hopes to return to his home in Chicago where he is under conviction of violating the Mann act, according to a letter received by his mother today.

"I am getting tired of knocking around," Johnson's letter read. "As soon as I have whipped Willard, I will come back to Chicago and take my medicine, as the government has fixed it up for me."

United States District Attorney Cline laughed when the letter was quoted to him and said:

"I guess Johnson wants to come back bad enough. In the last month there have been more lawyers here to see me on his behalf than Jack will be able to pay in years. He is hiring more lawyers than any man in Chicago."

NORWEGIAN GIRL WINS NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

New York, March 19.—Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the Norwegian champion, won the woman's national indoor tennis championship here today, defeating Miss Marie Wagner, the title holder, 6—4, 6—4.

WOULD SUBSTITUTE HOOFEDS FOR KAWFEDS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 19.—That an effort would be made to transfer the Federal league club of this city to Newark, N. J., by President Gilmore, who arrived here today, was admitted by members of the board of directors of the Indianapolis club. President Gilmore will meet with the board at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when he will take up the question of the transfer.

Fay Murray, vice president, and John A. George, secretary-treasurer of the club, both said there would be strenuous opposition to taking the club away from Indianapolis.

Lead in Doubles.

Peoria, Ill., March 19.—In the doubles at the tournament of the American Bowling congress this morning, W. Remias and F. Kafora of Chicago rolled into first place with 1,237. S. Johnson W. Fuhl of Chicago went into sixth place with 1,167. No changes have been made in the ten highest in the fives or singles up to noon.

TRAINS WILL RUN OVER NEW LINE

Freight Traffic From Winnipeg to Toronto Will Begin May 1.

It has been announced by Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern railroad, that through freight traffic between Toronto and Winnipeg will be begun on May 1 and that a fully-equipped through passenger service to comprise seven trains will be in operation by June 1. The new stretch of track of nearly 700 miles between Port Arthur and Sudbury is said to be in good condition, and as the grades are light, it is expected that long trains will be moved over it.

To show the excellent condition of the Canadian Northern lines in the West, it is mentioned that in the course of a recent tour of inspection, Sir William Mackenzie's private train made a run of seventy-six miles between Dauphin, Man., and Winnipeg in seventy-two minutes. The company's lines in British Columbia are approaching completion, and it is planned to institute a through service from coast to coast some time during the summer.

MARINE

FINGER PRINTS FOR SEAMEN

New Law Requires Identification on Certifying Cards.

Thirty Thousand Men to Be Examined By July 1.

Crews of all vessels on the Great Lakes will be registered and identified by the finger print system before the new seamen's law goes into effect, July 15, 1915, according to word from Washington.

Each man who passes the examination as an "able seaman" or "certificated lifeboat man" will be given a card, giving his classification, on which will appear his finger print in black ink and his signature.

The method used in getting finger prints of men in the merchant marine will be similar to that used by the army and navy.

The decision to adopt the finger print system for the merchant marine was reached at conferences of officials of the bureau of navigation, the board of supervising inspectors of steamboats and the coast guard. It was pointed out that unless some safeguards were devised a man who had qualified as an able seaman or as a certificated lifeboat man could sell his card to a man who had never been at sea. The law provides that during the first year it is in operation at least 40 per cent of the deck crew must be of a rating not less than able seamen. As the law goes into effect next July, the department must test 30,000 men prior to that date.

The commerce department will be assisted by the coast guards. They will go aboard all ships of over 100 tons and give the men individual tests on deck. The crews will be tested on the lowering and raising of lifeboats, the handling of oars and their ability to handle life rafts without mechanical devices. Before the officers leave the ship the finger print records of the men will be taken.

Examining the Men.

Great Lakes ports to which the coast guard officers will give assistance are: Detroit, Buffalo, Sault Ste. Marie, Milwaukee and Chicago. No such provision is made for Duluth so far as known, there being no coast guard officers, but it is understood that where there are no such officers the examinations will be given by the supervising inspectors of steamboats. Capt. John Monaghan and M. F. Chalk are the inspectors here. At the Sault, officers of the cutter Mackinac will give the tests.

In order to determine an efficient seaman or lifeboat man without a great deal of time being devoted to each one of the 30,000 to be examined before July 1, department of commerce officials say the initial tests will be made on the Potomac river passenger steamers running from Washington to Norfolk, Va. The first of these will be given within a few days. When the seamen's law was under consideration, representatives of steamship companies contended that waiters could be trained to handle lifeboats just as well as the men who work on deck. According to one of the coast guard officials, one of the first tests will be that of taking all of the negro waiters on the Washington-Norfolk boats on deck to see how they can lower lifeboats and row them away from the side of the ship.

The district steamship inspectors are now meeting in Washington and under the direction of Supervising Inspector Uhler are formulating the department of rules and regulations which will govern the operation of the new law.

In the case of Great Lakes sailors having had three or more years' experience able seaman certificates will be issued by steamboat inspectors on the filing of affidavits without examination, covering experience and length of service. These sailors, however, will be subject to the finger print regulations. Eventually other examinations may be required. The formulation of the rules and regulations will not be completed before April 1 at the earliest.

MARINE INSPECTORS WANTED.

U. S. Government Will Fill Forty-Eight Vacant Positions.

Sixty-eight vacancies for the position of inspector in the bureau of navigation, department of commerce, are announced by the Federal civil service department. Examinations will be given at Duluth and many other large cities on March 27.

The positions are for periods from three to five months beginning in May or June, and the salaries are from $2.50 to $4.60 a day. Full details regarding the examinations may be learned from C. E. Barker, superintendent of the registry department at the Duluth postoffice.

SETTLES CASE WITH OIL BURNED WOMAN

Mrs. Zernich of Biwabik Gets Damages—Badly Mixed Oil.

Because Matt Vidas, a Biwabik merchant, sold her a mixture of kerosene and gasoline when she ordered kerosene Sarah Zernich was badly burned when she attempted to light a kitchen fire with the oil. So she sued the merchant and the Standard Oil company.

Settlement of the suit against the Standard Oil company to recover damages was approved by District Judge Fesler this morning. The court approved the payment of $1,300 to the injured woman. She sued for $6,500.

Mrs. Zernich claimed that the oil company delivered the explosive mixture to Vidas by mistake and that he had contracted for a supply of kerosene for illuminating purposes guaranteed not to ignite below a temperature of 120 deg. The supply she obtained, she claimed, would ignite at 65 deg.

Theodore Hollister and Walter F. Dacey represented the plaintiff and Thomas S. Wood appeared in the case as attorney for the Standard Oil company.

BREWING COMPANY LIABLE FOR INJURY

Judge Cant's Decision in Personal Injury Sustained By Supreme Court.

When Charles De Cook, 2924 West Huron street, attempted to fashion a key for a lightning protector out of a supposedly empty cartridge while working at the plant of the Duluth Brewing & Malting company on April 8, 1914, the shell exploded in his hands. As a result his right eye was put out.

The state supreme court today, in a decision handed down in certiorari proceedings, affirmed Judge Cant in holding that De Cook was entitled to receive compensation for his injuries. The lower court found that he was entitled to receive $8.10 a week for 100 weeks and that the brewing company should pay a doctor bill amounting to $115.

The main question in the case was whether or not the accident arose out of his employment. The supreme court sustained the finding of the trial court that the accidental injury arose out of and in the employment within the meaning of the workmen's compensation act.

OBITUARY

James H. Baird, probably the best known trade paper editor and lumber writer in the world, met death in a wreck at Nashville, Tenn., March 16. Though his home was at Nashville, and he had extensive timber land interests throughout the South, he was as well known among Northern lumber men as in the South. He was the founder of the Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoo, whose membership includes lumber men and newspaper men, and it was his interest which kept the order to the front in trade circles.

Sir John Edward Bingham, a pioneer in the electroplating industry, died in London March 18. He was identified for many years in the silverware and cutlery business of Sheffield. He was born in 1839.

J. Ames O'Donnell, a member of congress from 1884 to 1892, died at Jackson, Mich., March 17. He was born in Connecticut 73 years ago. Mr. O'Donnell was one of the earliest advocates in congress of rural free delivery of mail. For many years he was editor of the Jackson Citizen.

Charles F. Viebahn died at Watertown, Wis., March 17 at the age of 73 years. He was one of the most prominent educators of Wisconsin, and was a former member of the legislature, retiring from active political life in 1912. He leaves a widow.

BREAK ICE IN ELEVATOR SLIPS

Releasing Steamer Corrigan to Move Her Under Elevator Spouts.

The first attempt of the year to open up the bay for the purpose of expediting navigation was made this morning, and it is believed that today or tomorrow tugs will have succeeded in moving the first steamer this year from one slip to another to load.

The tugs Minnesota and Wisconsin started out this morning and made a lane through the bay ice to the Peavey slip, where they started to work releasing the steamer James Corrigan from the ice. When released, the Corrigan will be transferred to the Capitol elevator slip, where she will load. Wheat will make up her entire cargo.

Next week, it is expected, other steamers will be shifted for loading. Quite a number are expected to take on cargoes at once to be ready for the opening of navigation, which is expected to occur about April 15 or 20.

WILL MOVE MAIN OFFICE TO DULUTH

New State Boiler Inspector Finds General Demand for Its Return.

Frank W. Lowe, the new state boiler inspector for the Eighth congressional district, will move the main office for this district back to Duluth from Hibbing, where it has been for the last four years. Mr. Lowe's determination to make the move is in response, he says, to a general demand on the part of those patronizing the main office. During the time the office has been at Hibbing, Duluth has had a deputy with an office here, but it is believed that with the main office here and duties in charge at other points, the arrangement will be much more satisfactory. Mr. Lowe will name his deputies as soon as he has had time to look over the territory.

FRANK W. LOWE.

The new boiler inspector resides at 316 North Sixtieth avenue west, and is a mechanical engineer by trade. This is not his first experience as boiler inspector, for he was a deputy for his father, John D. Lowe, who was state inspector for this district during the time the late Governor John A. Johnson was state executive.

Mr. Lowe enjoys a wide acquaintance in Duluth and on the ranges, and as an applicant for the office to which he has been appointed, he was indorsed by the locomotive engineers and firemen, the International Machinists' local of Duluth, the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly and many political leaders and business men.

Our Milk Supply

COUNTRY END—Our dairies are regularly visited by trained inspectors to secure clean, healthy cows—well-lighted and ventilated cow stables—milk rooms and supplies of ice for the cooling of milk. Our contract with each producer states that in case of the outbreak of any infectious disease at the farm, shipment of milk shall be stopped.

CITY END—Our milk is transported to the city in refrigerator cars in express trains and is received in a modern plant with every facility for the sanitary handling of milk; viz.—machinery for the cleansing of cans and bottles by caustic alkalies and steam—filling and capping of bottles by automatic apparatus eliminating handling by men, a chemical laboratory to guard the richness of our milk.

PASTEURIZATION—We do not stop with this, but finally subject our milk to Pasteurization in recently perfected apparatus which holds the milk for thirty minutes at a temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit. Pasteurization under these scientific conditions destroys any germs of disease which may have reached milk in spite of the above described system of precaution and, according to our best investigators, does not injure the digestibility of milk. The system above described gives our supply the highest possible degree of security. Our plant and methods of handling milk are open at all times for your inspection.

PREPARE PLEA TO PARK PEOPLE

Tennis Thought Timely—Supporters Strenuously Seek Space for Sport.

Tennis players and enthusiasts in the net sport would have the city establish public courts in several of the city parks.

They have appealed to Mayor Prince, who plans to take the matter up with Park Manager Cleveland. The request is made that the city prepare courts in about four parks so that those who are unable to join the various clubs will have an opportunity of playing during the summer months. The expense, it is claimed, would be light and the residents of the central section, the West end and West Duluth could be provided with an opportunity for clean, wholesome sport.

The city has no public tennis courts and the plan of those, who have made the request, is that the park department arrange for courts in two of the parks in the center section of the city, one in Lincoln park and another at Fairmont park.

"The idea is a very good one," said Mayor Prince this morning, "but our parks have very little good level space for courts, with the possible exception of one or two and these are used for playgrounds for children. However, I will take the matter up with Mr. Cleveland and see what can be done. The light expense warrants the construction of these courts, but it is mostly a question of space."

BLOW GIVEN TO OLD TRADITION

Cinderella's Slipper Not of Glass, But of Squirrel Skin.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, March 4.—Cinderella never wore glass slippers. The slipper that the prince fitted to her small foot, and which her two ugly, mean and scheming sisters tried in vain to get into, was not glass. It was made of squirrel skin.

This blow to a tradition dear to childhood was delivered by Cecile Hugon, lecturer in French literature, to the Oxford Society for Women's Education, in a paper on the subject of fairy tales. When the Cinderella story was turned from French into English, the translator mistook a word.

Perrault, who wrote the tale in French, described the slipper not as "soulier de verre," but as "soulier de vair." Verre and vair sound alike in French, but verre means glass, while vair means the fur of the squirrel.

Miss Hugon suggests that the slippers might have been of gray, with a dainty trimming of squirrel about the top. Otherwise, they might have been all fur top. But in no case did Cinderella receive a pair of glass slippers from her fairy godmother and drop one in the ballroom for the prince to find.

KHARTUM IN HANDS OF THE DERVISHES

Parts of Nubia Also in Possession of the Fanatics.

Berlin, March 18, by wireless to Sayville.—A German merchant who recently has returned from Egypt, is authority for the declaration that the whole of the Sudan, including Khartum, and also parts of Nubia are in possession of the Dervishes. The statements of this traveler are publish in the Vossische Zeitung. He describes also an engagement near Fashoda last December in which Gen. Hawley of the British army, and a number of other officers together with almost 2,000 men lost their lives.

PRODUCE IS PLENTIFUL

Prices Average Lower Than They Were a Week Ago.

Apples in Good Demand—Potatoes and Eggs Cheap.

Everything in the Duluth produce market is plentiful, and prices today average up lower than a week ago, according to dealers' lists.

Produce men express the opinion that the range of fruits and vegetables available for the Easter trade will be the best in years as a result of exceptionally favorable growing conditions in the South and at the Pacific coast. California, Florida and Louisiana are now supplying the markets in the Middle West and East, and supplies of Texas vegetables are expected on a liberal scale within the next ten days.

The sale of apples is reported by the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Stacy-Merrill Fruit company to be remarkably good for so late in the season. Stocks of barrel apples are now practically down to Ben Davies and russets, but the choice in Western barrel fruit is still extended. Moderate advances have been made to cover storage charges.

The splendid quality of the grapefruit being offered and its low figure is said to be responsible for an increasingly liberal supply of it. Receipts of oranges have been heavy, and the market in them is being maintained at the range at which it has been held during the last few weeks. With the season for their use approaching, lemons have been advanced slightly. Supplies of cranberries are being cleaned up for the season. Their quotations are much lower than the average.

Potatoes Continue Cheap.

There is said by the trade to be a tempting supply of all greenstuffs, and that list is expected to be still further extended next week. Minnesota potatoes remain cheap at from 47@52 cents a bushel, and it is thought unlikely that prices will be raised, in view of the large stocks still held by farmers and dealers in Northern Minnesota. Old cabbage has again been advanced to cover the depreciation inevitable in cellar and roothouse supplies. New cabbage from California is cheaper and the movement in it is reported better.

Low Egg Prices.

Lowest prices in eggs in many years have been set, at 19@21 cents a dozen for the fresh article. This is off 1 cent from a week ago, and ranges at around 10 cents a dozen below the figures quoted at this time last year. Though the hens are keeping busy, any further drop in the egg market is not looked for by dealers, as the low prices are leading to a marked increase in consumption.

Butter Market Steady.

Creamery butter is steady at 28@30 cents a pound, and no immediate decline is expected by dealers. The Bridgeman-Russell company and the Victor Produce company reported that good inquiry is being received here from New York state points, and that fair shipments are being made down that way. It is conceded that the butter market is likely to go lower next month, with the increased make to be looked for in all sections of the country.

Meat Figures Higher.

There has been practically no change in the poultry list. Receipts of live poultry are nominal, and are not cutting any figure marketwise, but good offerings are thought to be assured for the Easter trade.

Meats have again firmed up, and especially so in veal, in which supplies are scarce. Mutton is also higher, its figure having been advanced a cent a pound.

REPRESENTATIONS ARE INDEPENDENT

United States Note to Japan Not in Connection With Other Powers.

Washington, March 18.—It was stated officially at the White House today that representations by the United States to Japan concerning the latter's demands on China had been entirely independent of any action by Great Britain and Russia or other powers.

Further than this statement, officials in all quarters preserved the strictest silence, regarding the situation as one of delicacy. State department officials, however, have admitted that since the beginning of the negotiations between Japan and China over the former's demands for commercial and other concessions the United States has been endeavoring to influence Japan to ameliorate her demands and to prevent any infringement of the rights of the United States. None of the steps in the representations, which have been made to the Japanese ambassador here, as well as to Tokio and Peking have been made public.

MISSION SOCIETY SHORT OF FUNDS

Baptist Foreign Board Accepts Resignation of Secretaries.

New York, March 18.—The American Baptist Foreign Mission society announced today that for reason of economy it had accepted the resignations of the two most recent additions to its staff of secretaries, the Rev. Dr. Emory W. Hunt, former president of Denison university, Granville, O., and the Rev. Arthur C. Baldwin, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church of Fall River, Mass.

Messrs. Hunt and Baldwin, it was announced, had voluntarily and without suggestion tendered their resignations because of the critical financial situation which the society faced. The resignations have been held in abeyance since January as the society was unwilling to lose their services, the announcement continues, and were reluctantly accepted when the financial situation became so acute that it became necessary to accept them.

Dr. Hunt was general secretary of the society and Mr. Baldwin was foreign secretary. Referring to the gravity of its financial crisis, the society's statement says:

"The possibility that it might be necessary for financial reasons not only to send out no new missionaries the coming year, but even to retain at home most of those now in this country on furlough and to reduce appropriations for the maintenance of the work of those on the foreign fields has given both the members of the board of managers and officers of the society and denomination at large the gravest concern."

ARRESTED IN NEGAUNEE ON NEW YORK CHARGE.

Negaunee, Mich., March 18.—Andrew Lundgwest, or Sundquist, as he is known here, was arrested Tuesday by Marshal Newcombe on complaint of Dan Aklin, deputy sheriff of Lisbon county, N. Y., for criminal assault and robbery. The deputy arrived yesterday to take charge of the man. He has already procured extradition papers from Governor Ferris.

The New York officers have been seeking for Sundquist since December. He was located here by Marshal Newcombe and the sheriff of Lisbon county was notified in January of his whereabouts.

Sundquist is well known in Negaunee, having been a resident of this country for a number of years previous to his leaving nine years ago for a trip to Finland and Sweden. He told the officers that he had borrowed the $30 he is accused of stealing and that his friend is holding his trunk for security. He denied that he assaulted a woman as alleged and said that he would be able to prove his innocence. He is a married man and has a wife and five children in Sweden.

PAY HONOR TO UNITED STATES

Washington's Birthday Is Celebrated By Exercises in Belgian Schools.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Brussels, Feb. 26.—No foreign holiday has ever been celebrated so fervently in Belgium as was Washington's birthday, but in the city of Brussels, St. Valentine almost usurped the honor which the Belgians wished to pay to the memory of America's first president. Someone started the story that St. Valentine's day was the national fete day of the United States, and consequently on the 14th thousands of citizens wore small American flags, and letters of good wishes poured into the American legation.

The province of Liege made no mistake in the matter, and the city council of Liege ordered that Washington's birthday should be celebrated with formal exercises in the schools which were also granted a vacation on the 23rd.

The following circulars was therefore sent to the head masters of the various schools: "The United States of America have, of late, shown deep interest in the welfare of Belgium. By revictualling the population which has suffered so much from the war, America has rendered an immense service to our country. The 22nd of February is a national holiday in the United States. I desire that on this day the pupils of all professional schools for girls and of all grammar schools partake in the celebration, and that on this occasion the importance of the services rendered by the American republic to the motherland and the noble example set by this act of international solidarity be clearly illumined. I leave it to your judgment to arrange the details of the manifestation."

EXTENDING GERMAN TO SPORT VOCABULARY.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, March 1.—The process of clearing out all foreign elements from the German language has now been extended to the vocabulary of sports. A long list of words, mainly English, has been made up by the committee in charge of this reform, and Germans from all parts of the country have been invited to make suggestions for German equivalents for these words.

Some alterations have been already accepted, among them being: For steeplechase, "hindernisrennen;" for start, "auffahren;" for handicap, "ausgleichrennen;" for maiden race, "rennen fur slegiose pferde."

Such words as cricket and golf, it is admitted, present difficulties, as do all the terms connected with those two games. The trouble is to find expressions, without too much length, which will accurately say what is meant. But the greatest difficulty of all is with the word "sport" itself.

LASSO USED TO CAPTURE GERMAN

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, March 3.—The second lieutenant of a battalion of Alpine chasseurs tells how the lasso was utilized against the Germans in the Vosges.

"We occupied a wooded knoll," he says, "so well placed the Germans couldn't think of taking it by assault, so they set their miners and sappers at work. They arrived thus within a few yards of our trenches and had the audacity to place a sentinel there, well protected in a sort of armored box with loopholes in it. There was no way of driving him out. One day a chasseur, who had seen life on the American plains, asked permission to try his hand with a rope. At midnight he slipped out of the trench and crept close enough to throw a slip noose over the box, then another and another, before the German realized what had happened. With the aid of a number of comrades, the box with the German in it was dragged into our trenches."

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

When the bronchial tubes are affected with that weakening, tickling cough, they need immediate and sensible treatment. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present and your head jars with every cough. Your chest aches and the inflammation often spreads to the lungs.

The food-tonic that has proven its worth for forty years is Scott's Emulsion. It drives out the cold, which is the root of the trouble, and checks the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you are troubled with bronchitis or know an afflicted friend, always remember that Scott's Emulsion builds strength while relieving the trouble.

WHY IS IT?

If you hire a man to dig a ditch or paint a picture or run a business establishment or department, and you give him a copy of the rules by which you want that work done, you expect him to do it that way, as a matter of course. If he doesn't do it that way you call his attention to the fact. And then if he doesn't come to time you fire him.

What's more, he understands that when he undertakes the work, and he hasn't any illusions on the subject. He knows that if he doesn't make good under the terms on which he was hired, he won't last.

All of which is very interesting to remember when we come across such a statement as this one of Mayor Towl of Two Harbors to the effect that he proposes to enforce the law. The mayor's words seem to have created quite a bit of astonishment in some quarters. Nor is this the only case in which such a statement has been made, nor in which said statement has created quite a bit of astonishment.

If some mayor or chief of police or governor or some other officer held a corresponding position in a private corporation, would there be anything surprising in his saying he intended to do what he was hired to do? Hardly. It wouldn't even be thought necessary for him to say anything about it.

And yet when we hire some executive to do the work for the city or the county or the state, and after he has agreed to do the work according to the rules (only he actually swears to do it according to the law), we all look at him in wonder if he says he is going to keep his word and do what we pay him to do.

Maybe there's a reason back of it all. Or maybe it just happens to be that way. Who knows? Is private business so much more important than public business? Or is public office in fact only fit for men who aren't willing to do what they are hired for?

Certainly there is a big difference of some kind. Why is it?

Those bomb-dropping aeroplanes must raise perfect Ned with cold frames.

ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY AGAIN.

At this writing the outlook for the passage of the economy and efficiency bill by the legislature is very dubious. If the opponents of the bill win, the state and the people will be the losers, for this bill presents a plan under which the affairs of the state would be handled in such a way as to get the best possible results at the least possible cost—and that is an end to accomplish which every private business is striving, and toward which all too few of our American governments—big and little—are striving.

In the Herald's dispatches from St. Paul one point has been emphasized as perhaps largely responsible for the failure of the bill to go through without serious opposition, and that is the failure of the people in the different parts of the state to give it their active support.

Evidently there is a lack of realization of one point about this legislature—that the very fact of its nonpartisanship necessitates even closer relations between the people back home and the legislators. There is no party to appeal to, or to look after the actions of members, and surely any member could defend any action of his on his return home by saying, "You never gave me reason to think you wanted me to do otherwise."

There is time yet to save the efficiency and economy bill, if the people will bestir themselves. If you want the bill passed by the house, write to your representative and tell him so. And don't lose any time about it. Do it now, and tell somebody else to do the same thing.

As Farm, Stock and Home said in a recent issue, "This bill concerns YOU," but unless you acknowledge an interest in it and tell your representative how to vote, he is going to vote in a way that you won't know anything about in advance.

Now is the time to make your opinion and a postage stamp count for something. Write and tell your representative that you want the efficiency and economy bill passed—and if a majority of the voters of the state would do that, there would be a great big waking up on the part of the legislators and the bill would be passed.

Bob Fitzsimmons is to be married again. He'll soon be qualified to understudy Nat Goodwin.

HOW THE COUNTRY PAYS.

Every once in a while something bobs up to make a new and deeper impression as to the effects of war. This time it is the statement of J. H. Gray, secretary-treasurer of the Cambridge University Athletic club; that "out of 3,600 students, 2,400 are away on military duty," and that the war has taken away so many ablebodied students that there are none left for Cambridge to hold its annual athletic contests with Oxford.

If evolution means the survival of the fittest, then war is the greatest enemy of evolution. It takes not the unfit, but the fittest. It makes the best physique the highest ideal for the bullet or the bayonet or the shrapnel or the bomb. It leaves, for the further propagation of the race, only the weak or in some way deficient ones—those who could not do a man's work in the field, or those who lack the courage to stand up and fight for whatever cause their brothers and friends are fighting.

That is how the country pays for war. Treasure must be spent, but that can be regained in time. Property must be laid waste, but that can be restored. Fields must be left uncultivated, but they can be plowed and sown once more after the war is over.

But for the slaughter of her strongest and bravest men no nation can be repaid, and the loss is as great to the race as to the nation. It means a setback in the development of humanity, both mentally and physically. It means the loss of a generation or more, and that is a loss that never can be made up.

That is how a nation pays for war.

Italy is advising Germans there to seek some other country. Will said Germans be as deaf to advice as a lot of Americans were in Mexico?

REFUGES FOR GAME.

One of the most important movements backed by Carlos Avery, the new executive agent of the state game commission, is that to have places of refuge for the wild things established by the state.

Mr. Avery pointed out, in his talk yesterday in Duluth, that there is not a very wide margin between the present number of moose and of certain birds in the state, and actual extinction. And extinction of any of these species is something we want to avoid.

There are considerable timber areas left in the state, where these creatures now make their home. But these areas are nearly all of them invaded by the hunters, or are liable to such invasion. What Mr. Avery wants is to have the legislature designate certain areas where hunting shall not be permitted, so as to give the wild things not only protection for themselves, but an opportunity to rear their young in safety.

Such action as this will not mean that there will be absolutely no hunting. It might operate to diminish the number of animals killed for a couple of seasons, but by that time there would be so many growing up in the restricted area that they would begin to leave and get into the portions open to hunters. And with a protected breeding place, or better yet, with two or three such places, it would not take long to make the hunting even better than it is at present.

The establishment of such a refuge as this is one of the features of the bill that provides for the Jay Cooke state park in Carlton county. The bill is getting warm support, and the recommendations of Mr. Avery should operate to strengthen that support. The proposed park would not only preserve to the state a beautiful stretch of natural forest land, but would provide an ideal refuge for wild things. And we do not want the state stripped of its natural life.

If they change its name to "Czarigrad," what is to become of the old stunt of "spelling Constantinople"?

Public Schools Studying Foreign Trade.

U. S. Commerce Reports: The pupils in the Chattanooga high school and in the University of Chattanooga have, as a part of their Spanish lessons, prepared a Spanish booklet enumerating all of the articles made in Chattanooga, as well as a description of that city and its facilities and advantages as an export center.

In the Chattanooga public schools the children have outlined maps of the world with marks showing every place where Chattanooga goods are sold. They study geography in this way, and whenever Chattanooga manufacturers desire Spanish catalogues prepared, the educational authorities of the city assist them by having the pupils prepare such catalogues.

Versatile.

Wisconsin State Journal: The vicar advertised for an organist the other day. Among the replies he received was the following:

"Dear Sir.—I noticed that you have a vacancy for an organist and music teacher, either lady or gentleman. Having been both for several years, I beg to apply for the position."

In "Conquered England"

From the London Chronicle.

One of the most interesting souvenirs of the war which has come into my possession, writes a correspondent is a little red book entitled "Torniater Worterbuch Englisch." He writes:

It means an English dictionary for the knapsack, and it constitutes overwhelming evidence of Germany's preparation for the war, and of a still more interesting fact not hitherto revealed, namely, the existence of an expeditionary force especially designed to land on our shores. For this book has not been issued to all the German troops. Others have been given a Franco-German dictionary of words and phrases constructed on similar lines.

The particular copy that lies before me was the property of a German corporal wounded in the recent fighting near La Bassee. He was too badly hurt about the head to talk much, but he insisted on presenting the book as a souvenir to the chaplain, and added that there had been issued to other army corps similar dictionaries not only in French but in Russian.

This little work is another good example of German thoroughness and thought. Of the four thousand or more words in the actual dictionary more than half of them apply solely to naval and military operations. There are two chapters of phrases for invading troops, which, if they had come to the notice of any British publicist before August last, would have almost infallibly precipitated the world's strife.

Probably the book was issued from the secret storehouse of the German war office after war broke out but there is evidence that it was printed in 1912, after the Agadir crisis.

The Worterbuch, which gives the English pronunciation phonetically, starts with a list of place names, in which figure most points of military importance in the United Kingdom. Then follow two maps one of the British isles, another of London and equivalents in coin and weights and measures.

Next we find seven pages devoted to the uniforms and marks of rank of officers and men of the British navy and army.

Evidently the producer of the book—it might have been Bernhardi himself—knew a great deal more about modern military and naval developments than is vouchsafed to the ordinary lexiconeer.

"Geisch" (hostage) is a hint that a German army would operate in England in the same genial way that they have behaved in the territory they have invaded on the continent. There is plenty of the gospel of frightfulness in this little manual.

The Germans are told the English are for "hand-to-hand fighting" and "extended formation." Even the dictates of gallantry are not forgotten, for the phrase, "Give me a kiss," is set out especially for their benefit.

Now we come to Gesprache—Das Quartiermachen—i.e., billeting. What is not in the interrogative is in the imperative, as will be seen from the following representative extracts taken textually from the little red book, each sentence being followed by the phonetical spelling:

Where does the mayor (head local authority) live? Show me to him! Send him here!

Give me billets for five officers, 220 men and eight horses.

Send somebody with me who will show me the rooms for the officers.

Is that the room for the officer? Don't you have a larger room? The rooms must be heated tomorrow. Put clean sheets on the bed.

See that the captain may have lunch immediately after arriving. Have any sick horses been in this stable? Take that cow away!

Give notice by the drum that the inhabitants will have to furnish the food for the soldiers quartered with them.

Every soldier will be entitled to one and one-fourth pounds of meat—in addition to that, a pint of beer. For the night every soldier must have at least a straw bed, a pillow and a blanket.

Take care that my orders are strictly obeyed. I shall hold you responsible for that.

Any resistance will be severely punished.

The community (oder municipality) will have to pay a heavy contribution.

Whoever makes an attempt on one of my soldiers will be condemned to death.

The village will be razed.

The mayor will certainly be shot. You will answer with your life for their safety.

Thus, having shown us something of the rigors of a German occupation, the manual tells the triumphant soldier what to say after his billet has been indicated to him:

Show me to my room! That dirty hole? What do you think! What? You have no other room in this big house? Open the doors! I am going to choose a room myself. Here I shall stay. Take these things out of the room!

Quick! I should like to have something to eat. A light refreshment will do for the present. Bread, butter, cheese and some meat. Some wine, a bottle of beer, a glass of milk. I am very thirsty.

See that I am not disturbed! Don't make any noise! Now I want to sleep for an hour. At 2 o'clock you will have dinner ready. Call me when dinner is ready.

Then comes praise indeed and a touch of politeness.

The food is well cooked. May I ask for a little more beer? Don't you have a better sort of beer?

Next a strange request for an English housewife:

Will you give us some matches and a bootjack?

Tomorrow morning we must have breakfast in due time. We should like to have coffee or a milk soup.

Make some sandwiches for us to take along with! Fill this bottle with coffee!

After a section dealing with stabling of horses we arrive at the section, "Auf Vorposten und Patrouille"—on outpost and patrol duty. Several forms of challenge lead up to the following:

Halloo! What are you roving about here? Come here! You will come with me to the piquet.

Walk in front of me! Be silent! You have only to answer my questions!

You seem suspicious to me. Show me your pocketbook!

You will stay here until further notice. If you make any attempt to escape you will be shot.

A series of queries with regard to roads and distances and then imagine a dumfounded East Anglian peasant, with bayonets in unpleasant proximity to his ribs, being obliged to submit to the following catechism:

Is that village occupied by troops? When did the troops arrive there? What number of men do you think are there? Well? About two or three companies? How many officers were with them? Was there any artillery? How many guns? Did you see any cavalry?

Speak the truth! A lie could cost your life.

Stay here! I will call the miller myself. Hallo! miller! Have any hostile troops marched through this place?

You do not speak the truth! Here are distinct and quite new traces. I am sure there must have been a bivouac here.

Halt! Surrender! Don't move or you will be shot at! Dismount and put down your arms! What is your mission? Give me your message, your letter! You are a prisoner! Mount again, and give the reins of your horse to that hussar!

At last we have reached the chapter on Betreibung—requisitioning. Subjoined are salient passages which our local mayors should take to heart in order to be ready for "the Tag:"

Mr. Mayor (oder sir), I have orders to carry out a requisition of food and forage in this place. I hope you will not compel me to apply force.

Within an hour you will have to furnish on the spot —— head of cattle, —— hundredweights of oats, flour, hay, —— hectoliters of wine, potatoes.

In case of refusal you will be arrested. I shall cause my soldiers to take the articles required where I shall find them. You see, your refusal would be of no use. Any resistance of the inhabitants would be severely punished.

You will get a receipt for the articles furnished. By virtue of this receipt you will be compensated later on.

Take a resolution! I have not much time! You will not be able to call for assistance. All exits are watched.

Well, you force me to take myself what I need. It goes without saying that I shall start in your house.

You have a lot of fowls. You will furnish 300 eggs! Your fowls don't lay? Well, then, we will take all these useless creatures with us and slaughter them. Eggs or fowls! You may choose!

In the restaurant military severity is relaxed though the cloven foot peeps out now and again. The German invader asks:

Which is the best hotel in this place?

Waiter, make haste! We don't like to wait a quarter of an hour for every glass of beer.

Sir, the attendance is very bad. The waiter is too slow. He seems to be obstinate.

We want another waiter. Otherwise, we shall send for some soldiers to attend on us.

Tell those people to keep quiet (behave properly). Otherwise they must leave the room.

I want to pay (oder, my bill, please). Supper, one brandy (whisky), and three glasses of beer. Here are five shillings.

The Real Cause of the War

Indianapolis News: Thanks to Dr. Robert Tuttle Morris who has spoken his mind freely in New York, we know at last what cause lies at the bottom of the European war. It is all due, he says, to two utfong dominant types of varietal hybrids, each trying to get control of the other. In other words, "a powerful, haughty, nouveau-riche protoplasm is in conflict with an equally powerful, old patrician protoplasm." And that, we take it, is plainly sufficient, as any one can see, to cause a war anywhere and any time. Biologists, or naturalists, Dr. Morris assures us, have known this from the very beginning; they are, indeed, the only persons who have understood the situation at all. Yet, all the while, they have selfishly kept the facts to themselves, "laughing up their sleeves at the troubles" other folks were encountering in trying to explain what ails the warring nations. He goes on:

It makes no difference how many allies they have or how much the world suffers and pays out. They're going to fight it out and one side is going to dominate. What's going to happen to Germany? Crush her? No. You can't crush a splendid protoplasm of 70,000,000. Press it down on top and it bulges out at the sides. The Prussian is always there, and he will be there ten years from now. Nor can you crush Great Britain, a splendid type of protoplasm that has dominated so long.

This whole explanation is much simpler than anything to be found in the rainbow "papers" issued officially by the belligerent governments. One can read the "papers" from beginning to end and find no reference at all to "protoplasm" or "varietal hybrid." So they are not to the point, as Dr. Morris' explanation is. Moreover, he shows that the war was inevitable. "Varietal hybrids" had appeared, and what happened thereafter was a matter of course, as any biologist could have foretold. Down in Mexico, however, where there is evidence of a similar unrest, "we have specific hybrids," he says, "that is, hybrids between the Aryan-Spanish and Mongolian-Indian." And the specific hybrid is more erratic and less persistent. "So, of course," he adds, "we may expect a series of short, sharp revolutions down there." And naturalists have known this, too, and again have been "laughing up their sleeves to see good people getting excited because the Mexicans cannot govern themselves."

It is a good thing for us, in this country, and particularly at this time, that one bold naturalist has shown courage enough to draw the veil aside and reveal the truth as it is.

What Constitutes a State?

What constitutes a state?
Not high-raised battlements or labored mound,
Thick walls or moated gate;
Not cities proud, with spires and turrets crowned;
Not bays and broad-armed ports,
Where, laughing at the storm, rich navies ride;
Not starred and spangled courts,
Where low born baseness wafts perfume to pride.

No! Men—high-minded men—
With powers as far above dull brutes endued,
In forest, brake, or den,
As beasts excel cold rocks and brambles rude;
Men, who their duties know,
But know their rights, and, knowing, dare maintain;
Prevent the long-aimed blow,
And crush the tyrant while they rend the chain.

These constitute a state:
And sovereign Law, that state's collected will,
O'er thrones and globes elate
Sits empress, crowning good; repressing ill.
Smit by her sacred frown,
The fiend Dissension like a vapor sinks;
And e'en the all-dazzling crown
Hides his faint rays, and at her bidding shrinks.

Such was this heaven-loved isle;
Than Lesbos fairer, and the Cretan shore!
No more shall Freedom smile?
Shall Britons languish and be men no more?
Since all must life resign,
Those sweet rewards which decorate the brave,
'Tis folly to decline,
And steal inglorious to the silent grave.

—Sir William Jones.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The president of the United States is a lonely man—an extremely lonely man. To start with, the position itself carries with it a certain inevitable loneliness because of its dignity. A president must necessarily have a few confidants. And, added to this, is the fact that since he became president, Woodrow Wilson has seen his family circle broken by the marriage of two daughters and the death of Mrs. Wilson.

But even aside from these conditions, which make for loneliness, is the fact that Woodrow Wilson is not a type to have many intimates. His disposition is to play a lone game. He is human enough, but one of his traits is to keep a great many things to himself. Mrs. Wilson was one of the few to whom the president talked freely.

There are probably not more than three living persons toward whom the president feels such an intimacy that he can sit down with them and unbosom himself. And the president became acquainted with these three since he entered public life. The trio consists of Col. House of Texas, Secretary Tumulty and Dr. Grayson, the White House physician. To any one of these Woodrow Wilson would probably say exactly what is in his mind on almost any subject. But to these three only.

Dr. Grayson has the gift of silence. He has little to say and yet has a wonderful knack of sensing another's mood. If the president wants his companion to talk to him, Grayson knows it. And if, on the other hand, the president desires to let his mind wander where it will as he looks over the country from the seat of an automobile, it is not necessary for Grayson to undertake any exchange of small talk to find this out. He falls into the same mood.

When Franklin K. Lane became secretary of the interior he issued an order that all letters of complaint against any work of the department should be brought right to him. Before that such letters had always been sent to the branch of the department that the complaint involved. Handling all these letters personally and giving personal attention to tightening loose places that they showed up meant a great deal of toil for Lane and his assistants. But he stuck by his new system. The other day, after nearly two years of this, it suddenly occurred to Lane that he was not finding many complaint letters on his desk.

"Where are they all going?" he asked. "I asked that such letters be brought right to me. Isn't that order being followed?"

"The fact is," one of the clerks explained, "there aren't many complaints any more. You've got a lot of the troubles remedied."

"Well, well," commented Lane, thoughtfully, "it never struck me before that there was so much relation between cause and effect."

* * *

Whenever he is at his home in Milwaukee, between sessions of congress, Representative W. H. Stafford has an odd little scheme for obtaining recreation. One of Stafford's friends is a successful pill doctor, with a large country practice. Stafford's scheme consists simply in accompanying his doctor friend on long rides into the country. The beauty of the plan, Stafford says, is that it takes him back to his boyhood days when he sought recreation by riding about with a young friend who acted as guiding spirit of a grocer's delivery wagon. If the doctor tarries with a patient until Stafford grows restless, he has an understanding with the doctor as to where he may be found. He will be at the nearest schoolhouse making a speech.

Social Liberty

Chicago Evening Post: One of the most curious of all the "war" advertisements appearing in the London papers nowadays is this:

"Five questions to those who employ male servants:

"1. Have you a butler, groom, chauffeur, gardener or gamekeeper serving you at this moment who should be serving your king and country?

"2. Have you a man serving at your table who should be serving a gun?

"3. Have you a man digging your garden who should be digging trenches?

"4. Have you a man driving your car who should be driving a transport wagon?

"5. Have you a man preserving your game who should be helping to preserve your country?

"A great responsibility rests on you. Will you sacrifice your personal convenience for your country's need?

"Ask your men to enlist today.

"The address of the nearest recruiting office can be obtained at any postoffice.

"God save the king!"

Few appeals could grate more strangely than this upon our American sense of democracy.

It is not that we object to the "male servants" going to the front. It is well that they should go, just as the "young master" is going from all the great houses of England.

But the implication is that he should be ordered to go. It is delicately suggested to his overlord that he ring up the postoffice, find out the nearest recruiting office and then pack Jeames right over there in a pony cart.

The Wool Tariff and Its Effect.

Louisville Post: The Democrats placed wool as a raw material upon the free list. At once the American Woolen company predicted red ruin to all industries, among others the sheep raising industry in America and the woolen manufacturing interests.

The Evening Post calls attention to the fact that neither one of these predictions has been realized. American wool has brought higher prices than for many years, and it has been a complete demonstration that the tariff on wool did not protect the American wool raiser. Being free to import some foreign wools, the manufacturers called for more of the American product. Before the war came the fallacy of every contention of the opponents of free wool was manifest.

Now the American Woolen company comes in with its annual report to show an increase in its net income of $3,500,000; that is, the profits of 1914 amounted to $2,788,602, compared with a deficit for 1913 of $617,685.

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Duluth Would Be Left.

Holdingford Advertiser: Congressman Miller of Duluth has discovered that an enemy could capture the port of New York in five hours. Who cares; we would still have Duluth, wouldn't we?

Furthering a Suggestion.

Albert Lea Tribune: It is suggested by The Duluth Herald that the history of the suffering and destruction in the European warring countries be recorded on moving picture films and kept in every country for display whenever attempts are made to incite the people to a point of war. And in order to make the program complete we would suggest that another reel be added depicting the dangers, the business losses and inconveniences every innocent country on the face of the globe must undergo. If The Herald will put the whole suggestion in the form of a motion we will be glad to second it.

Relief in Sight.

Tower News: Lake sailors can now take a hitch in their belts, shift their "snus" to "port" and heave a sigh of satisfaction the size of a sheet anchor, for the papers state that a survey of the Duluth harbor is to be made looking towards the placing of a breakwater. It is barely possible now that the man on the yardarm of today will see the cement go in. Certainly this breakwater is needed.

Idea Indorsed.

St. Peter Free Press: The Duluth Herald suggests that the history of suffering and destruction in the European war zone be recorded on moving picture films and kept in every country for display whenever attempts are made to arouse the people to a point of war. Such a display might have a deterrent effect, sure enough, and it cannot begin too soon in our own country, where a certain element is doing all it can to induce our government to take an active part in the fight across the ocean. But in getting out the films care should be taken that they represent real facts and not be based upon fake illustrations, so much in evidence in a certain class of our daily papers, tending to engender bad feeling among our own people.

Admires Duluth Preacher.

Virginia Enterprise: Rev. George R. Gebauer of the First Unitarian church in Duluth is an interesting minister. He preaches to a much larger congregation than is found inside his church on the Sabbath for his sermons published in The Duluth Herald have come to be carefully read on the ranges and no doubt wherever The Herald circulates. Rev. Mr. Gebauer preaches a mighty hopeful religion. He says the world is growing better. He is right. Men like Mr. Gebauer help wonderfully. All the ministers help. They are doing a great work and they are too little appreciated. There should be more appreciation of the substantial kind and less of self-sacrifice in the work of the average pastor. That would be one of the most substantial proofs of which we can think that the world, as Dr. Gebauer says, is growing better.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

The Love of God.

Like a cradle rocking, rocking,
Silent, peaceful, to and fro,
Like a mother's sweet looks dropping
On the little face below,
Hangs the green earth, swinging, turning,
Jarless, noiseless, safe and slow;
Falls the light of God's face bending
Down and watching us below.

And as feeble babes that suffer,
Toss, and cry, and will not rest
Are the ones the tender mother
Holds the closest, loves the best—
So when we are weak and wretched,
By our sins weighed down, distressed,
Then it is that God's great patience
Holds us closest, loves us best.
—Saxe Holm in Lutheran Observer.

Micah vi, 6-8. The Old Testament prophet was given a vision of what is required to make the old world happy. It is not by sacrifice and gifts, although these show our love of God, but it is "to do justly, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with thy God."

Be unselfish. (1 Sam. xviii, 4.) Read the story of Jonathan and David and see how the unselfishness of the princely Jonathan and the sincere friendship of the two young men gave happiness to David, preserved his life, and through that life has made the world happier through the psalms written by Jonathan's friend. The world could not do without the Twenty-third Psalm.

Dayton, Ohio.

On Salads and Things.

W. A. White in the Emporia Gazette: Mrs. Homer Hoch, in the Marion Record, is trying to make it appear that the Emporia Gazette has started a campaign against all salads per se and as such. The which we deny. We are in the fight against fruit salad and shall give no quarter nor ask it. But for salad properly constructed the Gazette has the highest opinion. It cleanses the teeth, sweetens the breath and is a palladium of our culinary liberties. But we insist and repeat, fruit salad is not a salad. It is a compromise between a dessert and a reproach.

Mrs. Hoch is an estimable woman and means well. She has even done well, rather exceptionally, with her husband. But if she would stoke into his system about seven or eight nights a week one large dish of salad—a lettuce salad doped up with a little oil and vinegar, paprika, onion and cheese—Mrs. Hoch would soon have something to look at, something in the way of a man built on substantial lines less like a beanpole complicated with haberdashery than she has at present. A good man's sized portion of salad with an oil dressing, or even a boiled dressing, will take the wrinkles out of a man' vest and a wife's brow.

Try it, Sister Hoch.

De Quincey's Monotonous Diet.

London Chronicle: De Quincey's style was variegated enough, but his diet was monotonous to a degree, his dinner for the last thirty years of his life invariably comprising some loin of mutton, boiled rice and coffee. Every day he interviewed the cook, and told her to prepare these dishes, adding:

"If you do not remember to cut the mutton in a diagonal rather than a longitudinal form, ocnsequences incalculably distressing to my system will arise, and will prevent me from attending to matters of overwhelming importance."

No wonder the bewildered Scotswoman, when thus drenched with polysyllables for the first time, was heard to remark:

"The body has an awful sicht of words."

Why Golf Is.

Chicago News: "One learns something every day, Arabella," said Wilson Beach, sparring for an opening.

"Does one? Which one?" quickly countered Mrs. Beach.

"This one," rejoined Beach calmly. "For instance, I have just found out what golf is for, after watching several of my tired business friends aiming over the landscape.

"I had always thought that golf was something to take respectable, elderly gentlemen out in the open air so that they would not get in the way of the haughty stenographer and the toplofty bookkeeper, but I find a number of able-bodied but self-sacrificing men dedicating their lives to the game. And what do you suppose they do it for, Arabella? Why, these heroes in human form immolate themselves upon the altar of golf for the purpose of training the caddies to make good citizens!

"You see, a boy will not work unless he has a man to drive him, and in golf each man takes turns driving the boys and teaching them what is good for them—with no extra charge for instruction in language not taught in the schools. A caddie develops keenness of vision by being compelled to keep his eye on the ball; he acquires fortitude by enduring abuse when his instructor slices a drive; he becomes strong and agile through carrying heavy bags of clubs and the excess clothing of his employer. In all, he receives the sort of training that the Spartan lads of Lycurgus' time received, and is made a fit citizen of the foremost republic of all time."

"Well, what of it?" queried Mrs. Beach.

"Oh, nothing," said Wilson. "Only I was thinking that it might be my duty to contribute to the education and happiness of some caddie. There is a vacancy in the club and they are calling for volunteers to take up the onerous duty."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

Apparently many readers of the Open Court were more familiar with Robert Louis Stevenson's stories than The Editor was, for several have written or telephoned to tell the author of "Will o' The Mill." The Herald acknowledges these with thanks.—The Editor.

SOCIALIST DISCUSSES "CHRISTIAN MERCHANT."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Some time ago I asked the question in the Open Court, "Who is Freda," but received no reply to the same. Now, with the editor's permission, I would like to make another query, what does Dr. Hoffman mean when he says "Christian Merchant"? I was talking to a retail grocery man the other day about the scriptures and he said that no man can be a Christian and be in business, for as long as a man lives by taking profit by others he is unjust and goes contrary to the teachings of Christ. We find in St. John where Jesus drove the sellers of doves from the temple. Again in James it says "they have withheld by fraud from labor his due." Now if the men of the cloth expect the working man to take any interest in religion and churches whatever, why not come out and take some interest in his moral welfare as well as his spiritual, and not always smooth it over so that it sounds good to their wealthy audience to the utter disgust of the poor?

I notice the churches are always ready to come out and meddle in politics when there is a temperance candidate running for office, but when it is a question of semi-monthly payments or an eight-hour law proposed, we do not see the churches come out and indorse that. Mr. Merchant and the like should compare their lot with ours. Whilst they live in peace and luxury, in the midst of plenty, we are exposed to heat and cold, slavery and hunger. In order to satisfy their craving for enjoyment it is not sufficient that we work the soil with the sweat of brow. What have they done to warrant their living luxuriously at our cost?

Mr. Collins, the Knights of Columbus speaker, who spoke in the Armory about a year ago, said to leave present existing conditions alone and everything will be all right if we stop agitating. Those remarks sound rather peculiar to a workingman like myself who has to work seven days a week and then cannot give my wife and children the comforts, yes, even necessities of life that they are entitled to. "Go to Church Sunday" is a joke with the likes of us; we would lose our job if we went. The sooner Mr. Hoffman and others come out and help us shorten our day's and week's work, the sooner they will see an increase of working men in their audience on "Go to Church Sunday." Yours for one church and Socialism.

Please answer in your Open Court column, this question: If a man living in this country or state, but not a citizen, should die, leaving money in one of the banks but did not leave a will, would his parents or people be able to collect this money, or would it go to the state? yours truly,

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"Red Wing," from Helen Larson of Biwabik and Adeline R. M. Wargin of Hermantown.

Requests have been received for the following: "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," "Fallen Leaf," "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Put on Your Old Grey Bonnet," from Helen Larson of Biwabik.

Red Wing.

There once lived an Indian maid,
A shy, lovely, prairie maid,
Who sang all day her love song so gay,
As on the plains she'd while away the day.
She loved the warrior bold,
This shy little maid of old,
When so brave and gay he rode one day
To battle far away.

Chorus.

Oh! the moon shines so bright on pretty Red Wing,
The breezes sighing, the night birds crying,
For so far off the battlefields are sleeping,
While Red Wing weeping her heart away.

She watched for him day and night,
And kept all the camp fires bright,
While under the sky each night she would lie
And dream about his coming by and by.
But when all the braves returned,
The heart of Red Wing yearned,
For so far far away her warrior so gay
Fell bravely in the fray.

SEARCH FOR INDIANS HAS BEEN CALLED OFF.

Denver, Colo., March 19.—The posse of Federal deputies under United States Marshal Nebeker, at Bluff, Utah, which for more than a month has been attempting to arrest Tse Ne Gat, a Flute Indian wanted by the Federal authorities on a charge of murder, has been ordered home, according to a dispatch to the Rocky Mountain News of Bluff last night.

"Old Polk," father of Tse Ne Gat, and a large party of renegade Indians, have for several weeks been aiding the fugitive in resisting arrest. No reference is made in the dispatch to the activities or present whereabouts of General Scott, chief of staff of the army, who arrived in the Bluff district to attempt to pacify the recalcitrant Plutes.

According to the dispatch the Plutes are believed to have encamped in the foothills of the Navajo mountains on the Arizona-Utah border.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Best Kind of Health Insurance

SICK and accident insurance can be bought at reasonable terms everywhere. Health insurance is more economical and more necessary than any other kind of insurance you can mention, yet only a minority of people ever invest in it. Why not? Simply because no agent canvasses prospects and no great organization advertises its availability.

When you take out a policy on your life the insurance company invests at least $5 of your money in a medical examination. The company doesn't spend this money merely as a matter of habit or sentiment, but purely as a business proposition. From experience the company has learned that although you may look fine and hearty and feel just great all the time, still there may be some insidious disease already pursuing sapping operations against your life. The purpose of the medical examination is to bring to light any evidence of this kind, in order that the company may not assume a bad risk.

Now if it pays the insurance company to purchase an expert opinion upon your chance of survival, surely it would pay you to purchase similar information as a regular yearly habit. You know what can't be cured may be prevented and prevention is a lot cheaper and pleasanter than cure.

Every individual from 1 to 100 years of age should have a thorough physical examination once a year. The advantages to be gained from such a custom are so great that it seems a pity the state cannot furnish a physical examination to every one of its wards once a year.

More disease, discomfort, deformity, unhappiness and inefficiency can be prevented by this kind of health insurance than any city or state or national health department has yet dreamed of. If you are wise you will not wait for state action. You will act on your own initiative and begin right now to take stock of yourself once a year.

Significance of Pulse Rate: I understand 70 is the normal pulse rate. My pulse is usually 80 to 90, and runs up to 100 or 120 on exertion. I am in fair health otherwise, excepting a slight headache occasionally. Would moderate use of tobacco be injurious? Age 23, weight 150, height 6 feet, 10 inches.

Average pulse rate is 60 lying down, 70 standing up, 80 moderate exertion, 90 active exertion. When there is such a marked variation as in your case the heart is weak, there is anemia, intoxication, thyroidism or some physical ailment. Didn't you slip up a foot in the measurement? You ought to weigh 250 at that height.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

MURDER THEORY NOT SUSTAINED

Coroner Finds Mrs. Hicks Was Not Murdered or Robbed.

A Waukesha, Wis., dispatch says that a coroner's investigation late yesterday revealed that there was no hint of murder and robbery in the death near there yesterday of Mrs. Frank K. Hicks of Milwaukee, whose mangled body was found near the Chicago & Northwestern railroad tracks shortly after she was missed from her berth, as reported in The Herald yesterday. The coroner decided it was a case of suicide.

Mrs. Hicks was attired only in her night robe when she jumped from the train. When the train pulled in at Waukesha, a window was found to be shattered and an investigation disclosed that Mrs. Hicks had disappeared, leaving her clothing behind. When her mangled body was found a short time afterward, three diamond rings and her wedding ring, valued altogether at $1,000, were on her fingers. A report current that she might have been robbed and thrown from the train was exploded by the authorities.

Mrs. Edward Wrege of 120 North Park street, Saginaw, Mich., is a sister of Mrs. Hicks, whose maiden name was Louise Schroeder of Saginaw, Mich. She was the oldest of the family. Mrs. Henry Hanley of 4109 West Third street, Duluth, is also a sister. Mrs. Hicks had been visiting this sister and also her mother-in-law, Mrs. Thomas K. Hicks, at Duluth, and was on her way home.

CURACAO VICTIM OF WORLD'S WAR

Pressing Call for Aid Is Made By Dutch Island Colony.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

The Hague, March 1.—Curacao, the Dutch island colony near Venezuela, although far away from the scene of hostilities and belonging to a neutral nation, is one of the victims of the world's war. In answer to a pressing call for aid, Queen Wilhelmina and the minister of the interior have appointed a commission to inquire into the condition of the colonists.

Thousands of the natives, it appears, have been thrown out of work by the disappearance from the seas of German merchant ships, which made the capital of the Dutch colony a regular place of call. Many persons have been forced to return from Venezuela and the other South American republics to their homes in the five islands of Curacao, Bonaire, Aruba, Sabaneta and Santa Cruz, because all trade between Venezuela and Germany has stopped.

The industries of the Dutch islands themselves have been brought to a standstill. Many of the phosphate mines have ceased work, as it was found impossible to export their products, and the straw hat trade, which usually keeps the peasants alive in times of drouth, has been ruined. Hats to the value of $400,000 were generally sold every year until the outbreak of the war. This season, however, scarcely any orders have been received, and the poor people, whose harvests have been ruined by the drouth, have been left almost without food in many districts. Official reports received by the home government show that numbers of the inhabitants of Aruba have succumbed to famine and that the situation is gradually growing worse.

PASSPORTS FOR BABIES DEMANDED IN GERMANY.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Copenhagen, March 1.—The German authorities now also demand passports for babies. A Danish woman in Kolding (Jutland) wished to pay a visit to some relations on the other side of the frontier. She had a passport for herself, but this was not sufficient The German soldiers also demanded passports for her two small children, who are twins, and only 4 months of age.

BULLETS GO WILD.

Army Officer, Shooting at Deserter, Wounds Several Others.

New York, March 19.—By a fusillade of shots Sergeant Henry Wetiting of the Sixty-sixth Coast artillery, U. S. A., fired at Joseph Fleischman, deserter, a blind peddler was dangerously wounded, Fleischman was slightly wounded in the neck, Dr. Charles Hunt of Washton, D. C., was struck in the cheek and a crowd of pedestrians narrowly escaped injury when a bullet whizzed over their heads. Fleischman had surrendered at a police station early yesterday. Sergeant Wetiting went over to arrest him. On the way back to Governor's island, Fleischman started to run. His pursuer drew his pistol and the bullets started to fly. The blind peddler dropped to the sidewalk as Dr. Hunt grabbed Fleischman and threw him down.

Sergeant Wetiting was charged with felonious assault and paroled in army custody to appear in court today.

Breaks Through Ice; Drowns.

Albert Lea, Minn., March 19.—Andrew H. Wallin was drowned in the channel of Fountain Lake, near the Rock Island depot, as he was attempting to cross on the rotten ice. His body was recovered shortly after noon. He was an old resident of this city, 61 years of age, and leaves a wife and seven children.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

Smart Originality of Design

Expresses Parisian Influence in these

Wooltex Tailored Coats and Suits

Suit No. 1710

THE handsome suit shown in the picture is a Wooltex adaptation of a recently imported Doucet model and it is representative of many of the charming garments that we are now showing.

Wooltex designs always get their first inspiration in Paris. Even under the handicap of the great war in Europe, Madame Savarie, director of the Wooltex fashion bureau in Paris, paid her accustomed visit to the great Parisian designers with whom she has been familiar for so many years.

The suit illustrated has a 27-inch jacket with the new flare below a partial belt on each side of the jacket, where there is a slash, the open edges of which are trimmed with buttons and buttonholes.

The belt confining the jacket gives the new outline, suggesting a slightly smaller waist-line. There are clever coin pockets in the belt on each side; officer's military collar, overlaid with detachable white pique collar that gives a charming spring-like effect.

The skirt has a fashionable yoke with narrow front panel, finished with nine buttons and worked buttonholes at the top in front where the skirt closes. There is a slight fullness over the hips below a smooth-fitting yoke. Price of this suit, $25.00.

Many other styles in Wooltex suits at $25.00, $30.00 and $35.00.

Wooltex coats, $16.50, $20.00 and $25.00.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decisions were rendered today by the Minnesota supreme court:

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Edward P. Alexander, appellant, vs. Neil McInnis et al, respondents—

In an action to enjoin the issuance of bonds for the construction of a state rural highway, pursuant to Laws 1911, chapter 254, known as the Elwell law, it is held:

1. That the law is not unconstitutional as conferring legislative powers upon the judiciary.
2. That the law is not invalid because its provisions are so indefinite that a legislative intent, capable of ascertainment, is not expressed.
3. That the law makes the county primarily liable for the cost and expense of construction of the highway; and that an issue of bonds for the cost of the whole construction is not invalid.
4. That the law makes the county a taxing district; and the plaintiff, residing and having taxable property in a municipality within the county, is properly taxed for the cost of the highway.
5. That an issue of bonds is not invalid because the law puts one-fourth of the cost on specially benefited property, one-fourth on the county, charging the county with the burden of financing the project, and one-half on the state, with a provision that the state may pay in ten annual installments, or when funds become available, without specifically charging either the state or the county with the payment of interest upon the state's one-half.
6. It is not necessary that the viewers determine both special and general benefits; and it is enough that the special benefits exceed one-fourth of the cost of construction.
7. The county is not limited in the issuance of bonds to the one-fourth to be paid by itself, or the one-fourth to come from local assessments, but may issue bonds sufficient to finance the whole construction including the one-half to be paid by the state.
8. That the law is not invalid because no limit is placed upon expenditures and the issuance of bonds; and if the law is defective in this respect it is for legislative correction and is not of judicial cognizance.
9. That the bonds may be issued serially.
10. That the proposed bonds are valid general obligations of the county.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.
Brown, C. J., dissents.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

George W. Norton, ex. respondent, vs. Duluth Transfer Railway Company, et al, appellants—

1. The conveyance of a strip of land to a railroad company for a right-of-way, "to have and to hold the same, for and so long as the same is used for railroad purposes," held to convey an easement only, and not the absolute fee simple title.
2. An easement so held may be lost by abandonment, and the evidence is held to support the findings of the trial court that there was an intentional abandonment of the right-of-way, involved in this action.
3. The court did not err in its rulings excluding certain evidence.

Order affirmed.

BROWN, C. J.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Verdict Sustained.

State, ex rel, Duluth Brewing & Malting Company, relator, vs. District Court St. Louis County, et al, respondents—

The finding of the trial court that an accidental injury arose out of and in the employment, within the meaning of the workmen's compensation act, is sustained.

Affirmed. HOLT, J.
Brown, C. J., dissents.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

W. W. Clayton, appellant, vs. W. I. Prince, et al, respondents—

The provisions of section 38 of the Duluth city charter requiring an unregistered voter desiring to vote at a municipal election to deliver an affidavit of his qualifications to the judges of election is directory; and a failure to observe such requirement does not avoid the election.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Liable for Damages.

Emily W. Skinner, et al, as executors of the last will and testament of M. W. Skinner, deceased, and V. H. Van Slyke, respondents, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant.

1. One who obstructs the natural flow of water through a natural water course is liable to an upper landowner whose lands are damaged and flooded thereby irrispective of negligence.
2. One may improve his own lands and thereby interfere with the natural flow of surface waters; but in doing so he must proceed reasonably, using his own so as not to interfere unreasonably with the rights of others, and is liable for negligence.
3. A railroad company acquiring its right of way either by purchase or condemnation, may make appropriate use of it for the purposes for which it is required; but if it obstructs a natural water course, or unreasonably and negligently obstructs the flow of surface waters, it is liable for the damage which it causes.
4. An instruction as to the effect of a public highway, paralleling the defendant's right of way, upon the duty of the defendant to care for the waters running in a natural water course, held not prejudicial error.
5. When the particular tract of land damaged is part of a larger tract constituting a single farm used as such damages may be assessed upon the basis of the decreased rental value of the whole tract as a farm.
6. When an injury to land is a continuing one, but subject to remedy and not in its nature permanent, a recovery may be had for damages accruing with six years of suit brought, though the cause of the injury arose prior to such six-year period; and in such case one who purchases land after the cause of the injury arose may recover damages accruing while he was owner not antedating the six-year period.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Judgment Reversed.

William Bofferding, respondent, vs. Alex Mengelkoch, et al., appellants—

So much of Laws 1913, chapter 375, General Statute 1913, Section 7961, subdivision 16, as is contained in the proviso thereto rendering the wage exemption prescribed by the main portion of the act inoperative as against a debt for necessaries supplied to the debtor of his family dependent upon him, where he has been paid $35 or more on account of his wages for the thirty days next preceding the levy, is obnoxious to Constitution Article 1, Section 12, and therefore void; but the remainder of the act is not thereby invalidated.

Judgment reversed. SCHALLER, J.

RAMSEY COUNTY—
Does Not Establish Insanity.

Elsie Ledy, appellant vs. National Council of the Knights and Ladies of Security, respondent—

1. Where the insurance contract between a fraternal beneficiary association and its members provided that if the insured committed suicide, sane or insane, within two years, the association should be liable for only one-fifth the amount of the benefit certificate, and that the insured should be bound by the laws of the order then in force or thereafter enacted, a subsequent amendment making the suicide provision effective for a period of five years in binding upon a member who commits suicide while sane, and upon those claiming under his benefit certificate.
2. Sanity is presumed and the taking of one's life does not, in itself, establish insanity.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Order of Court Sustained.

I. A. Stub, appellant, vs. Joseph E. Hein, defendant, First National bank of St. Paul, respondent—

A judgment cannot be rendered against a garnishee upon an unevasive disclosure which does not affirmatively and clearly show liability on his part.

Garnishee's disclosure and supplementary evidence considered and held to sustain the order of the trial court discharging the garnishee.

Order affirmed. SCHALLER, J.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Defendant Not Liable.

Albert Olson, respondent, vs. Hoy & Elzy company, appellant—

Plaintiff was engaged with others excavating for a cellar. He was directed to shave two feet off the surface of a jog in the dirt wall. The jog was six feet wide. Plaintiff started at the bottom, but left a pillar of earth which supported the soil above. After he had mined in this manner for some time, his employer, without his knowledge, directed one of the numerous laborers in the cellar to go and work with him. This laborer had a pick and dug with his pick into this pillar of earth to such an extent that a cave-in occurred. Held, the only negligence was the negligence of the laborer, who was a fellow-servant of plaintiff, and that defendant was not liable.

Order reversed and judgment ordered for defendant. HALLAM, J.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Reversed With Directions.

George T. Williams, respondent, vs. The Pullman company, appellant—

In an action to recover damages for malicious criminal prosecution, proof of an acquittal upon a trial for the crime charged is not prima facie evidence of want of probable cause for the institution of the prosecution. What facts and whether particular facts constitute probable cause is for the court.

The facts in this case upon plaintiff's own testimony do not prove want of probable cause for his arrest and prosecution upon the charge of drunk and disorderly.

Reversed with directions. HOLT, J.

MARTIN COUNTY.
Decision Reversed.

J. D. Drake, appellant, vs. Fairmont Drain Tile & Brick company, a corporation, respondent—

In this action in equity to rescind a purchase of shares of defendant's stock, on the ground that plaintiff was induced to make the purchase in reliance upon false representations as to the quality of a clay bed owned by defendant and from which it was to procure the raw material for its business, the court found that false representations were made in respect thereto, but also found that before they were made defendant made some investigation as to the quality of the clay and that in making the representations it, in good faith, believed them to be true. It is held, that the last mentioned finding is immaterial and does not justify a denial of rescission. A contract entered into under such circumstances is upon the same footing as if there had been a mutual mistake in respect to the subject matter, at least in an equity suit for relief.

Not do the false representations found relate to the expression of a mere opinion upon which plaintiff was not entitled to place reliance.

Plaintiff had the option of seeking the equitable remedy or one at law.

Reversed with directions. HOLT, J.

MARTIN COUNTY.
Judgment Affirmed.

County of Martin, respondent, vs. A. F. Kampert et al., appellants.

The objection that viewers appointed in proceedings to establish a county ditch are disqualified by reason of interest in land which may be affected cannot be raised for the first time as a defense to an action on a bond to pay expenses, if the proceedings are otherwise according to law.

The sureties on such a bond contract to pay in the event the county board shall fail to establish the ditch. When that event happens, they must respond. The determination of the county board is not open to collateral attack, except on the ground of fraud or collusion or want of jurisdiction. No fraud or collusion is claimed in this case, and the objection to the qualification of the viewers does not go to the jurisdiction of the board. A proper petition duly filed and proper notices is all that is required to vest the board with full jurisdiction.

Judgment affirmed. HALLAM, J.

ITASCA COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Abram Palon, father, etc., of Kenneth Palon, an infant, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway Company, appellant—

1. The evidence justifying a finding of the jury that the defendant was wilfully negligent in failing to exercise ordinary care after seeing plaintiff's ward in a position of peril.
2. The trial court did not abuse its discretion in permitting a witness to testify as an expert as to the time in which a train could be stopped.
3. An award of $22,500 for the loss of both legs half-way between the ankle and knee, the injured person being a boy 12 years old, is not excessive.

Order affirmed. DIBELL C.

POLK COUNTY.
Judgment Affirmed.

State of Minnesota, ex rel, William F. Lowe, respondent, vs. George H. Barlow, et al, appellants—

1. In determining the date from which to compute the six months within which a proposed home rule charter shall be submitted to the mayor under constitutional article 4, section 36, a date earlier than the date of the appointment of the last member of the charter commission will not be taken.
2. When a common council refuses to call an election for the submission of a charter duly returned by the charter commission upon the ground that it should have been submitted at a state election occurring after its return to the mayor, at which election the council did not submit it, it will be compelled by mandamus, there being no laches, to call an election within the time fixed by general statute 1913, section 1348, regardless of whether the intervening election was one at which the charter might properly be submitted.
3. On a motion for judgment on the pleadings findings are not proper. In mandamus the pleadings are the writ and the return. When the motion is by the relator for judgment on the pleadings the court looks to the allegations of the writ admitted by the return and the allegations of new matter in the return.

Judgment affirmed. DIBELL, C.

ITASCA COUNTY.
Judgment Reversed.

A. M. McCallum, as Minnesota Cedar & Logging company, vs. Minneapolis & Rainy River Railway company, respondent—

The defendant, a railroad company, owns and operates a main line of railroad extending from Deer River to the north in Itasca county. It operates a number of connecting stub lines, the road-bed and ties of which are owned by a lumber company. It owns the rails and fastenecrs, it laid the rails, and it maintains the tracks and road-bed in condition. It is in exclusive control of the stub lines as a common carrier. It maintains a distance mileage tariff for freight originating on the stub lines and consigned to Deer River the same as from points on its main line to Deer River. It exacts a charge of $1 per car, called a trackage charge, in addition to its published tariff rates, for cars originating on the stub lines, except those of the lumber company, and pays it to the lumber company. It renders no service for such charges. It is held that such charge is invalid, and that the plaintiffs, paying involuntarily, are entitled to recover it.

Judgment reversed. DIBELL, C.

WASECA COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

W. J. Armstrong, a corporation, respondent, vs. New York Central & Hudson River company, appellant—

Summons was served on a foreign railroad corporation by leaving a copy with a soliciting freight agent employed by defendant and other corporations operating connecting lines and associated under the name of New York Central Fast Freight Lines. Under that name defendant and its connecting lines solicit freight systematically throughout the state of Minnesota for transportation out of the state. They transport freight solicited under a single through tariff. They maintain offices in the state for the purpose of such solicitation. This cause of action arose out of a shipment of freight from a point in Minnesota to New York city which was solicited in this manner. The statutes of the state authorize service of a summons on a foreign corporation by service upon an agent in the state for the solicitation of freight traffic over its lines outside the state.

The statute authorized service of summons upon the agent who was in fact served. The agent of the associated corporations was the agent of each of them.

Three conditions are necessary to give a court jurisdiction in personam over a foreign corporation; first, it must appear that the corporation was carrying on business in the state; second, that the business was transacted by some agent of the corporation in the state; third, the existence of some local law making such corporation amenable to suit.

Where a state by statute designates an agent of a particular character as an agent upon whom process may be served, the corporation by sending such an agent into the state assents to the statute and clothes the agent with authority to receive service in its behalf.

Without invoking this principle, the state may designate the agent upon whom service of summons may be made, but the agent must be one sustaining such relation to the corporation that such service constitutes due process of law.

A foreign corporation keeping and maintaining agents in this state for procuring business for its benefit and profit may be required to answer in this state to a citizen thereof for a breach of contract or duty arising out of business so procured, and an agent engaged in procuring such business may be declared the representative of the corporation for the purpose of bringing it into court.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.
"Certiorari" Judgment Affirmed.

State of Minnesota, ex rel, John Garrison, relator, vs. District Court of Cass county, et al, respondent—

1. Section 15 of the Workmen's Compensation Act limits the liability of an employer for accidental injury to an employe, where such employe had before entering the service suffered an injury which resulted in permanent partial disability, to the compensation provided for by section 13 for a permanent partial disability, though both injuries result in permanent total disability.
2. Prior to the time relator entered respondent's service he had lost the sight of one eye by accidental means; after entering respondent's service he lost by accident happening during the course of his employment the sight of his other eye, thus rendering him totally blind. It is held that under section 15 of the compensation act the last employer is liable for a permanent partial disability only, for that was the extent of the injury which the employe suffered while in his service.
3. The findings of the trial court, in the absence of a settled case, are presumed to be within the issues litigated on the trial, whether presented by the pleadings or not.

Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

ROSEAU COUNTY.
Judgment Reversed.

Anna Connelly Olsen, appellant, vs. Eddy E. Billberg, respondent—

1. Publishing and distributing a circular to influence voting which falsely accuses a candidate of trickery and deceit in his campaign, and falsely imputes to him disreputable private and official conduct, is a violation of the corrupt practices act which cannot be disregarded as immaterial or trifling.
2. If the language used would naturally tend to induce a belief that the candidate had been guilty of disreputable conduct or practices, the law cannot be evaded by framing the statement so as to avoid a direct assertion to that effect.
3. If the successful candidate has published and distributed such circulars, the defeated candidate may maintain a contest to oust him from office.
4. The false statements and insinuations concerning contestant published and circulated by contestee were "deliberate, serious and material" within the meaning of the law and disable him from holding the office to which he was elected.

The judgment is reversed with directions to amend the conclusions of law to accord with the views here expressed and to render a judgment of ouster. TAYLOR, C.

DAKOTA COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Emma Gill, as administrator of estate of Thomas Gill, deceased, respondent, vs. Minneapolis, St. Paul, Rochester & Dubuque Electric Traction company, appellant—

1. One who, after discovering another, though he be a trespasser, in a position of peril, fails to exercise ordinary care to avoid injuring him, and because of such failure injury results, is liable to the one injured.
2. Applying this rule it is held that the evidence was sufficient to charge the defendant with liability for the death of plaintiff's intestate, a trespasser on its right of way, run into and killed by one of its trains.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.
Schaller, J., took no part.

CROW WING COUNTY.
Judgment Affirmed.

State of Minnesota ex rel. Light & Power company, respondent, vs. V. N. Roderick, et al, appellant—

1. An ordinance duly enacted by a municipal council was by the city clerk formally presented to the mayor for his approval or disapproval; subsequently on the same day, the mayor requested the clerk to withdraw such presentation and to make a re-delivery thereof to the mayor on the next following day; this the clerk agreed to and he "took back" the ordinance and caused a re-delivery thereof to the mayor on the following day. It is held, that the time within which the mayor might veto the ordinance commenced to run on the first presentation of the ordinance; and since such presentation was in fact made, and the official duty of the clerk was completely performed, the effect thereof could not be destroyed by an agreement with the mayor to make another presentation at some time later.
2. The disapproval of the mayor not having been made within the time prescribed was ineffectual, and the ordinance became a valid enactment, and the respondent was properly required by the judgment to publish the same.

English Paper Tells of Long Speech By "Senator Jones of Duluth" in the United States Senate.

"In the American senate Senator Jones of Duluth completed a fourteen-hour speech today. Senator Jones is one of the Republican American legislators who are trying to talk out the ship purchase bill——"

From a recent number of the London Daily Mirror.

Looking through the binoculars furnished by the illuminating columns of the Daily Mirror, official London now has a mind picture of Senator Jones of Duluth—our Dick Jones—talking the ship purchase bill into its coffin.

William T. Atherton, proprietor of the English Inn, has received the copy of the Mirror containing the item from which the above is an excerpt. Mr. Atherton has not apologized for the English Mirror.

Dr. Felix Fake of The Herald staff, after a long session with the dictaphone and two hours' work in his laboratory, said:

"The bloomin' Hinglishmen have confused the American senate with the Minnesota state senate. They have said fourteen hours instead of fourteen minutes. They have said 'talk out the ship purchase bill' instead of 'talk in the bill providing bathtubs for lumberjacks.'

"Otherwise their little account is substantially correct. Wonderful thing—this modern Hinglish journalism, eh Watson?"

In the meantime, fully equipped with the wisdom of his eight and twenty years, the "baby" of Minnesota's state senate is talking the ship purchase bill to death in Washington.

His talk lasted through the wee sma' hours and when the haggard senators returned to their places, "Dick" still was nailing long, wriggly nails into the hard oak coffin of the ship purchase bill.

"A rum crowd—these Americans. Fancy talking a bill to death. Silly blighters, eh what?

"Senator Jones, eh? Never heard of him. Duluth, eh? Some rough place in provinces, no doubt, what, what?

"Should buy ships. American navy might followed Britannia with benefit. These American barristers talk all night—awful blighters.

"Daresay they never saw ship. Eh what?"

(This last is an attempt at a reproduction of comment probably made by certain Englishmen, when they read the above article in the Mirror. It is not Mr. Atherton's version.)

Mother's Friend Before Baby Arrives

During several weeks of expectancy there is a splendid external embrocation in our "Mother's Friend" in which thousands of women have the most unbounded confidence. They have used it and know. They tell of its wonderful influence to ease the abdominal muscles and how they avoided those dreaded stretching pains that are so much talked about This safe external application is gently used over the skin to render it amenable to the natural stretching which it undergoes. The myriad of nerve threads just beneath the skin is thus relieved of unnecessary pain-producing causes and great physical relief is the result as expressed by a host of happy mothers who write from experience.

It is a subject that all women should be familiar with as "Mother's Friend" has been in use many years, and is recommended by grandmothers who in their earlier days learned to rely upon this splendid aid to women.

You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store. Get a bottle to-day and then write for our little book so useful to expectant mothers.

M. E. Louisell—Handling his own campaign.

John H. Norton—Announcement later.

W. H. Smallwood—A. F. Conley, 415 Palladio building.

W. H. Windom—Handling own campaign.

About 100 voters will organize within the next few days to direct the campaign in behalf of Commissioner Hicken, head of the public safety division, who is a candidate for re-election. This is one of the latest developments in the present municipal campaign, and this morning J. L. Norman, candidate for commissioner, and Capt. W. H. Smallwood, candidate for judge, announced their committee chairmen and headquarters.

Friends of Commissioner Hicken said this morning that when the petitions signed by 3,000 were presented to him several weeks ago, they agreed to conduct the campaign in his behalf. This plan, they said, will be carried out and work will be begun at once to organizing his supporters and to begin a campaign. Headquarters will be established in one of the downtown buildings and at West Duluth, it was announced.

Commissioner Hicken is too busy with his duties to devote very much time to the campaign, he told his friends, and for this reason all the work will be handled by the executive committee. This plan is being followed out by the committee working for Commissioner Murchison, headed by Z. D. Scott of the Scott-Graff Lumber company.

Other Managers.

J. L. Norman, candidate for commissioner, has appointed Albert Parent as his campaign manager and headquarters have been established at 407 Columbia building. The members of the campaign committee, Mr. Norman said, are: Mr. Parent, chairman; Fred C. Harris, Capt. George H. Vrooman, George Tieveranus, Louis A. Berg, Maj. John D. Gunn, Dr. O. W. Westlind and Helmer Johnson.

Capt. W. H. Smallwood, candidate for municipal judge, announced this morning that A. F. Conley will be his campaign manager and that his headquarters have been established at 415 Palladio building. None of the other candidates for judge plan to appoint any managers, it was learned this morning, although their present plans may change at any time.

James Maghan, manager for R. E. McFarlane, announced that the latter's committee will meet this afternoon to discuss campaign plans.

The only important meeting scheduled for this evening will be at the French Naturalization club, where any of the candidates will be given permission to speak. The Interchurch council, which will meet tonight at the First M. E. church, will hold a general discussion on the issues in the campaign.

OPPOSED TO EMIGRATION

American Consul General Explains Belgian Attitude as to Refugees.

United States Too Far Away —Holland Takes Matter Up.

The Duluth Commercial club has received another letter anent the proposed colonizing of Belgian refugees in this part of the world, the latest being from S. Listoe, American consul general at Rotterdam, Holland. Consul General Listoe confirms the declarations made in a letter received some time ago from Dr. Henry Van Dyke, American minister to Holland, and one from Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, received yesterday, in which they declared that they can do nothing in the matter, and that the Belgian government is against the idea. However, Consul General Listoe has turned the matter over to a committee of Hollanders who are looking after the Belgian refugees. The letter received today from Mr. Listoe follows:

"Your letter of Dec. 28, 1914, addressed to the American minister at The Hague, has been referred to me, inasmuch as it is not within the province of American diplomatic representatives to attend to commercial matters. In reply to the same, I would say that under the present circumstances it is impossible for me to take any definite action in regard to the emigration of Belgian refugees from Holland to your section of the United States.

"While the Belgian government has no objection to Belgians leaving for Great Britain or other countries in Europe, they do not feel kindly disposed towards having their subjects emigrate in large numbers to the United States. The reason for this is that the United States is too far distant from Belgium, the mother country—it being the desire of the Belgian government to have said refugees return and repopulate Belgium as soon as circumstances will permit.

"There is, however, a committee of prominent Hollanders who have general charge of all the affairs of the Belgian refugees. At the head of this committee is a certain Mr. Niermeier, a professor at the Utrecht university. I have seen him and given him a copy of your letter, and he says that he will make the necessary investigations and probably take the matter up with you at a later date."

The Real Secret of Rejuvenating the Face

She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded, or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed, in an entirely safe and rational manner, by the nightly application of ordinary mercolized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful to behold, has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store (an ounce is sufficient), is applied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, moth patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles, an excellent recipe is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution produces quick and wonderful results.—Advertisement.

JURY TO SETTLE VALUE OF LAND

A. F. Kehl Appeals From the Award Made By City Appraisers.

Another of the appeal cases growing out of the city of Duluth's condemnation proceedings to acquire a right-of-way for the proposed north shore boulevard from Lester Park to the Lake county line, was brought to trial before Judge Cant and a jury in district court this morning.

The case is one in which August F. Kehl, dissatisfied with the award made him by the board of appraisers in condemnation proceedings, is asking a jury to fix the amount to which he is entitled by reason of a strip which will be taken by the city from his land.

Victor H. Gran is attorney for Kehl, appellant, and the city is represented by William P. Harrison, assistant city attorney, and Frank Crassweller of Crassweller, Crassweller & Blu.

SUPERIOR

"LADY COP" IS HELD UP

Highwayman Takes Her Pocketbook But Leaves Her Badge.

Miss Emma Tyler, Superior's lone policewoman, was held up and robbed of her pocketbook and all of her small change by a highwayman on Twelfth street, about midway between Tower and Ogden avenues at 10:30 o'clock last night. The highwayman refused to take her badge or "night stick" probably believing that he would be unable to raise any cash on them if offered as collateral.

Miss Tyler had just left Tower avenue in order to patrol Ogden and as she reached the alley a man stepped up to her and pointing a gun in her face demanded her pocketbook. Believing discretion to be the better part of valor she complied with the request.

Two suspects were arrested later in the evening but Miss Tyler was unable to recognize either as the hold-up artist. The holdup occurred so suddenly, she said, that she was unable to get an accurate description of the man.

Miss Tyler has been a member of the police force in Superior for about a year.

Farmer Asks to Have His Papers Canceled By Court.

Contending that his right to vote has failed to keep him in farming, John Anderson, who owns a 40-acre tract near Black River Falls, appeared before Charles Nelson, deputy clerk of court, and asked to have his citizenship papers cancelled. He said he had not progressed any better with his papers than many farm laborers who were without them. On being told that in order to lose his citizenship he would have to serve a term in prison, Anderson left saying that he would find some other way of doing it.

Dismisses McGraw Case.

After hearing arguments of the state in the trial of William McGraw, who was charged with having aided and abetted an unqualified voter to cast his ballot in the Seventh ward last fall, Judge Charles Smith of the superior court, dismissed the case. The jurist held that McGraw had committed no moral crime and that although he might be found guilty of a technical crime he had in all probability not understood its seriousness. He emphasized the fact that McGraw had made damaging admissions before Court Commissioner Pickering but had been helpless at that time owing to not having had counsel. Following the dismissal of the case State's Prosecutor Clarence Hartley announced that he might appeal to a higher court in order to have the case prosecuted.

HAVE RIGHT TO ISSUE BONDS

Counties May Finance Elwell Law Roads Without Election.

Supreme Court Upholds Decision of Judge Fesler in Test Case.

Counties of Minnesota are invested by law with authority to issue, without a special election, bonds to finance the construction of state rural highways built under the Elwell law, according to a decision handed down by the state suppreme court today in a case appealed from the St. Louis county district court. The question has been a subject in dispute since the Elwell law passed in 1911.

The decision of the high tribunal upholds Judge Bert Fesler of the district court who signed an order sustaining a demurrer to an injunctional suit brought bby E. P. Alexander against the St. Louis county board to restraining the county commissioners from proceeding with the sale of bonds issued for the purpose of financing the construction of the Duluth-St. Vincent road, otherwise designated as State Rural Highway No. 4.

In sustaining the demurrer, Judge Fesler held county boards had authority under the law to issue the bonds without a special election, when it was desired to finance the construction of a staate rural highway built under the Elwell law. The suit was brought to clear up legal difficulties which had proved stumbling blocks for bonding companies. Attorneys for bonding companies which had refused to handle the bonds had frequently raised the question and it was practically impossible to dispose of the bonds it was decided to make a test case of an instance in this county.

Mr. Alexander, a taxpayer and citizen, brought suit in which he sought to restrain the county from proceeding with the sale of a $150,000 issue. He alleged that the board had no right to float the bonds unless authorized to do so by the people at a special election. His attorney was John H. Brigham of this city.

To this action Charles E. Adams, special county counsel, interposed a demurrer on the grounds that the facts alleged did not state a cause of action. Arguments on the demurrer were heard before Judge Fesler. The court sustained the demurrer and an appeal was taken immediately to the supreme court in order to get a speedy final determination of the matter.

Supreme Court Opinion.

The supreme court, in an opinion written by Commissioner H. B. Dibell, formerly of Duluth, and concurred in by all of the supreme court justices with the exception of Chief Justice Brown, holds as follows:

"1. That the law is not unconstitutional as conferring legislative powers upon the judiciary.

"2. That the law is not invalid because its provisions are so indefinite that a legislative intent, capable of ascertainment, is not expressed.

"3. That the law makes the county primarily liable for the cost and expense of construction of the highway; and that an issue of bonds for the cost of the whole construction is not invalid.

"4. That the law makes the county a taxing district; and the plaintiff, residing and having taxable property in a municipality within the county is properly taxed for the cost of the highway.

"5. That an issue of bonds is not invalid because the law puts one-fourth of the cost on specially benefited property, one-fourth on the county, charging the county with the burden of financing the project, and one-half on the state, with a provision that the state may pay in ten annual installments, or when funds become available, without specifically charging either the state or the county with the payment of interest upon the state's one-half.

"6. It is not necessary that the viewers determine both special and general benefits; and it is enough that the special benefits exceed one-fourth of the cost of construction.

"7. The county is not limited in the issuance of bonds to the one-fourth to be paid by itself, or the one-fourth to come from local assessments, but may issue bonds sufficient to finance the whole construction including the one-half to be paid by the state.

"8. That the law is not invalid because no limit is placed upon expenditures and the issuance of bonds; and if the law is defective in this respect it is for legislative correction and is not of judicial cognizance.

"9. That the bonds may be issued serially.

"10. That the proposed bonds are valid general obligations of the county."

Was a Test Case.

About ten or twelve counties in the state have been experiencing difficulties of a similar nature with reference in disposing of bonds issued by county boards under the same law. Now that the supreme court has given a ruling which will determine the important question regarding the operation of the Elwell law, it is probable that many of them will now be able to dispose of their bonds and that construction work on a number of highways may go on without further interruption due to legal difficulties.

DEATH CLAIMS FRANK CURTIS

Frank R. Curtis, deputy state grain inspector, 712½ East Fourth street, died at his residence Wednesday evening. He is survived by a widow and four daughters, who are residing in Duluth, and a brother, whose home is in Cairo, Ill.

The funeral will be held from the family residence at 2:30 p. m. today, and interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery. He was 33 years of age.

both fronts. This was seen first in the dash to Paris, second in the rush for Calais, third, in the battle of Ypres, and then repeatedly in the east as Field Marshal von Hindenburg sought to break through the Russian lines to the Polish capital.

Considerable mystery surrounds the next move of the Germans, although the prevailing belief here is that it will be a big offensive in the west, probably against the British front.

Great Britain has made no official reply to the German allegations that a British squadron fired on the German cruiser Dresden while she was within the three mile limit of Chilean waters, and no denial has been forthcoming of the German statement that the Dresden was blown up by her own crew.

The government is proceeding with the plan to mobilize women to replace men needed in the war. Upward of 700 women willing to substitute for men have been registered during the past twenty-four hours.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 19, by wireless to Sayville.—The German general staff today gave out a report on the progress of the war, reading as follows:

"In the Champagne district further French attacks have failed. One of these was to the north of Le Mesnil and the other to the north of Beausejour. We took prisoner two French officers and seventy soldiers. After heavy losses the French retreated under our effective fire back to their former positions.

"To the southeast of Verdun the French have made several advances. In the plain of the Woevre French attacks have been repulsed, while on the east side of the heights of the Meuse the fighting continues.

"The situation in the vicinity of Memel, in East Prussia, is not yet clear. It would appear that minor Russian detachments have entered Memel. Counter measures have been taken.

"All the Russian attacks between the River Pissa and the River Orzyc, to the northeast of Przasnysz, have been repulsed. In some of these engagements the enemy lost heavily.

"The situation south of the Vistula shows no change."

French Statement.

Paris, March 19, via London, 3:40 p. m.—The war office communication of this afternoon is as follows:

At Notre Dame de Lorette we have made ourselves masters of communicating trenches which run from the hill captured by us toward the village of Ablain. We destroyed them after having killed, expelled or captured the defenders.

In the Argonne between Bolante and Four de Paris, after a violent fight we progressed 150 meters. In the forest of Consenvoye we repulsed a counter-attack last night and maintained the ground gained on Thursday. At Les Eparges we carried a salient east of the position in which the enemy had successfully maintained himself since the fighting of last month. We repulsed two counter-attacks yesterday and a third last night.

THAW SAFE FROM ASYLUM FOR ONE MONTH AT LEAST

the supreme court. The second writ was referred to Justice Alfred Page, before whom the trial of Thaw was recently conducted. This writ, it was admitted, was simply a technical move. As Justice Page had already ordered the return of Thaw to Matteawan he was expected to promptly dismiss the second writ. Then the order of Justice Ingraham, requiring that Thaw be kept in the Tombs until argument was heard upon the appeal from Justice Page's decision, was to be served.

To Admit Adjournments.

After this, Justice Bijur said he would grant Thaw's attorneys a week adjournment upon writ No. 1, and at the end of each week for the following two, similar adjournments would be granted.

In the meanwhile the appeal will have come up on Friday next, and will probably have been decided. Upon this appeal depends decision of the question whether Thaw should be sent back to New Hampshire or to Matteawan.

TO RECOVER $102,000,000

ster, Charles F. Brooker, D. Newton Barney, James S. Elton, Henry K. McHarg, Robert W. Taft, William Skinner, Charles S. Mellen and Alexander Cochrane. The other defendants are the executors of the estates of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, Edwin Milner, I. De Ver Warner and Amery Lawrence; and the following who have served as directors since 1909 and who are alleged to be liable for failure to bring suit against their predecessors: John L. Billard, George F. Baker, Thomas De Witt Cuyler, Edward Milligan, Francis T. Maxwell, Theodore N. Vail, Sidney W. Winslow, Lawrence Minot, Samuel Rea, Morton F. Plant, De Ver H. Warner, Howard Elliott, James H. Richards, W. Murray Crane, Arthur T. Hadley and James H. Hustis.

Charges in Bill.

The bill charges that about 1904 Rockefeller, Mellen, Brooker, Barney, Skinner, Miller and Taft, acting in concert with J. Pierpont Morgan, Edwin Milner and I. De Ver Warner, conceived and entered upon a plan to effect a monopoly of all transportation companies operating in New England and certain parts of New York and in acquiring such properties paid large sums in excess of the actual value. For street railways it is claimed $40,000,000 was thus wrongfully expended; $16,000,000 was lost in steamship enterprises; $22,000,000 on stock of the Boston & Maine railroad, and $18,000,000 on the New York, Westchester and Boston railroad.

The principal contention of the defendants is as to the right of minority stockholders to bring a bill of this nature, their claim being that such a bill could not be maintained even if brought in the name of the corporation itself. The plaintiffs set forth that under the Sherman law they are entitled to recover for the road three times the amount named in the suit or $306,000,000.

RUSSIAN TROOPS AGAIN INVADE EAST PRUSSIA

presumably in preparation for a resumption of the attack along the front to the west of Warsaw, near the Bzura river, where for two months they vainly hammered the strong line of Russian defenses which separates them from the Polish capital.

Heavy Artillery Fire.

Heavy and continued artillery fire is now under way, marking the beginning of this fresh German movement. Occupation by the Russians of Archawa, a Turkish port on the Black sea near the Russian border through which the Turks have been receiving supplies and reinforcements, has caused an important movement in the Caucasian campaign.

This Russian victory, together with the continual pounding in the valley of the Tchoruk river, has caused the Turks to beat a disorderly retreat toward Erzerum, according to telegraphic reports from the Caucasus. The road between Archawa and Choppa, to the eastward, was defended strongly and the Turks were defeated only after a series of stubborn battles. The Russian advance created a panic throughout Tchoruk valley and the inhabitants fled to the mountains, abandoning the villages.

Partial Victory Claimed.

In recent fighting in Russian Armenia partial victory over the Turks is claimed here, although mountain heights in the district of Ardanuch are strongly fortified and are still holding out. The Russians are bombarding Turkish positions at Ardanuch. The fortifications were built and the defense is being conducted, it is reported by a German officer.

A telegram from Urumiah, Northwestern Persia, says that prior to the evacuation of towns between Julfa and Tabriz, the Turks and Kurds, who were retreating before the Russian advance, pillaged and burned the villages and put to death some of the inhabitants. At Salmaz, Pagaduk and Sarna orders are said to have been given by the Turkish commissioner for the destruction of the town. All the Armenian inhabitants at Antvat were collected and, according to this message, 60 males were put to death and the women, after being compelled to embrace Mohammedan faith, were divided into parties and sent to various interior towns.

TURKS CLAIM TO HAVE SUNK FRENCH BATTLESHIP BOUVET

reported recently that the Austrians were being hard pressed and might be forced to evacuate Czernowitz.

The new Russian invasion of Germany apparently has led to the occupation of Memel, an important Baltic port at the northern tip of East Prussia. The German official report of today indicates that Russian forces have entered the city.

Petrograd believes that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg has decided to launch a new attack on Warsaw from the west. Russian military authorities assert that the Germans have abandoned their attack in the north.

The developments of yesterday in the western front were a repetition of the local engagements. Minor successes are claimed by the French in Northwestern France and in the Argonne. The German statement says several attacks by the allies failed.

The Russian army, which is invading Turkish Armenia, is said to have won another victory, capturing a Turkish base on the Black sea near the Russian border.

Two more British steamers have been torpedoed by Germany's submarines in the English channel.

Turks' Statement.

Constantinople, by wireless to Berlin and London, March 19.—One official statement issued from Turkish headquarters says:

"Our fleet early today bombarded the shipyards and maneuvering place of torpedo boats west of Theodosia (on the Black sea, in Crimea, a part of Russia), and set the building on fire.

"An allied enemy fleet heavily shelled the forts of the Dardanelles, which replied effectively, sinking the French battleship Bouvet."

The French battleship Bouvet, which is reported in a Turkish official statement to have been sunk in the Dardanelles, was a vessel of 12,000 tons displacement, laid down in 1893, with a complement of 621 men. Her armament consisted of two 12-inch guns, two 10.8-inch, eight 5.5-inch, eight 3.9-inch, ten 3-pounders and ten 1-pounders, besides two torpedo tubes.

Artillery Duel.

Paris, March 19.—An artillery duel in the Dardanelles between Turkish shore batteries and warships protecting allied mine sweepers lasted from midnight until 2 a. m. yesterday, says an Athens dispatch to the Havas agency, based upon information from Tenedos. The warships are reported to have been struck by several shells, but the damage done was slight. Two shore batteries were silenced.

GIVES GRANT OF $20,000

present to conduct the hearing.

Tells of Negotiations.

Mr. Sullivan, the first speaker, told of the negotiations with the Jay Cooke estate and the understanding that had been reached, that if the state would keep this land inviolate as a public park, it would be turned over to the state free of charge, the estate reserving only mineral and riparian rights. The proposed park would cover about 6,000 acres, 3,500 outside the gift; but it was only proposed for the present that this area be set aside as a game preserve, and that the state acquire such land as it is able to afford. The additional acreage, it was hoped, would some time all be secured so as to round out the park and take in scenic features that would embellish it.

Mr. Sullivan described this stretch of eight miles of wooded, hilly land from Thomson to Duluth, and exhibited charts, maps and photographs illustrating its character. He said that the land covered is largely valueless for agricultural purposes.

"A gift worth $60,000 to $75,000 is within the grasp of the state," said Mr. Sullivan. "It is offered for the purpose of perpetuating the memory of the late Jay Cooke, the man who conceived the possibilities of the St. Louis river water power, and who was one of the first to realize the potentialities of Duluth's situation.

"The main thing we ask is that something be done in good faith to meet this offer, which is made in good faith."

Beautiful Driveway.

Mr. Sullivan also showed that the old roadbed of the St. Paul & Duluth —formerly the Lake Superior & Mississippi—the first railroad from the Twin Cities to Duluth, was still there, and could with small expense be made into a driveway, connecting the Duluth-Twin City highway with the boulevard system of Duluth. The city plans, he said, to acquire the land inside the city limits adjoining the park, and connect with the boulevard drive, leading on the east to the Congdon boulevard along the north shore of Lake Superior to Two Harbors, twenty-six miles.

"This will make a beautiful driveway, fifty to sixty miles long," said Mr. Sullivan. "There will be no finer park in the United States, and with the splendid summer climate of Duluth it will bring thousands of visitors to the state from all over the country."

Judge Cant said that the chief purpose of the bill is to permit the state to proceed in good faith under the terms of the proposed gift.

"We urge it seriously upon your consideration," he said, "that this opportunity should not be lost. All that is asked is that the state accept this gift and show in good faith its purpose to dedicate it to park purposes and use it as such."

Mayor Prince Talks.

Mayor Prince said that the city of Duluth expects to spend about $25,000 in making the connection between this park and its boulevard and park system. The line from the boulevard to the park will be surveyed this year and it will be commpleted as soon as it is financially feasible, probably within the next two years.

To show the sincerity of the offer that has been made, Mayor Prince told the story of how J. Horace Harding of New York, a son-in-law of the late Jay Cooke, had given to the city $30,000 for the erection of a statue of the man whose vision of the futire gave so much courage to the pioneer builders of Duluth.

W. E. McEwen told of the historic significance of the spot, showing that Fond du Lac is the oldest settlement in the state and that there the first Minnesota treaty with the Indians was arranged by Gen. Lewis Cass in 1825.

"This park can be made a readily accessible and economical outing place in a splendid summer climate, available to all the people of the state," he added.

M. Bunnell said that the acceptance of the gift would be a good business investment for the state.

Place for the Poor Man.

"I hope," said John G. Williams, "that the legislature will be able to see its way clear to grant this bill. There are fine boulevards in Duluth and the Congdon boulevard will be a splendid acquisition. But they are largely for people who own automobiles. This park will be a place where the poor man can go and spend a week in camping, finding rest and recreation."

Mr. Williams suggested that that part of the proposed park which is now bare of trees could be easily and cheaply planted to forest by the students at the forest school experiment station at Cloquet, where he understood that there are a million young trees ready for planting.

"This park could be developed into a famous beauty spot," he added, "cheaper than any other place in Minnesota."

"How much are we to expect this project to cost us after we get it?" asked Representative Larimore of Minneapolis; "that is, how much will the cost of improvement and maintenance be?"

It was explained that this would be very small. Only one road would be feasible, and that is all but ready in the old railroad right-of-way.

Mr. Sullivan pointed out that the appropriation of $40,000 yearly for the next two years could be used either for acquiring land or for improving the park.

SECOND COMPLAINT BY GERMAN CONSUL

Violation of Treaty Rights Alleged By Dr. Mueller.

Seattle, Wash., March 19.—Complaint of a second alleged violation of treaty rights of Germany was made last night by Dr. Wilhelm Mueller, German consul at Seattle, charged in a state warrant with conspiracy to bribe an employe of a corporation. Dr. Mueller, through the German embassy at Washington, complained that treaty rights had been violated when state officers invaded his office.

The second alleged violation is charged against Federal customs officers, who, Mueller declared, on Monday boarded and searched the Hamburg-American liner Saxonia, interned at Eagle Harbor across Puget sound from here, without notifying him.

The captain of the Saxonia reported the matter to the consul yesterday.

No Search Made.

Senior Capt. F. M. Dunwoody of the United States coast guard service said last night that no search of the Saxonia had been made. He explained that Capt. Benjamin Tichtenberg, commanding the coast guard cutter Scout, while calling at Eagle Harbor on his regular rounds, had boarded the Saxonia to make a "social call' and that there had been no thought to search the vessel.

Dr. Mueller wrote a letter yesterday to Sheriff Robert T. Hodge complaining that Deputy Sheriff Fred Lathe, special investigator attached to the prosecuting attorney's office, had invaded his office in search of Dan Tarnisasky in violation of treaty rights and demanded an explanation. Chief Deputy John Stringer, in the absence of Sheriff Hodge, replied that he knew nothing of Lathe's action and that he had visited the consul's office without orders from the sheriff.

Dr. Mueller said he would forward the correspondence with the sheriff's office to the German embassy.

ON THE IRON RANGES

BUHL AFFAIRS IN NEW HANDS

Patrick McQuire Appointed Police Chief, Succeeding John McDonald.

Buhl, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The old and new councils held a joint meeting this week and exchanged places. Oaths of offices were administered to the new members by the old council, which after passing on the pay roll for the month, adjourned.

Retiring Mayor W. J. Doyle, in giving over the chair to Mayor George Barrett, wished his successor and other members of the new administration success in their work.

Outlining his policy as that of being in the interests of the general community and Buhl as a whole, Mayor George Barrett, assured that the object of the council will be to advance the village along all lines. He gave a broad outline of his plans for the year.

Have Police Matron.

Mrs. E. W. Howenstein was appointed police matron. Nestor Peltinen, Albert Johnson and John Spolar were appointed patrolmen. Patrick McQuire was appointed chief to succeed John McDonald.

Joseph Grant and John Turnquist were appointed street commissioners.

KEEWATIN JOBS WILL BE FILLED

Considerable Interest in Who Will Land Different Positions.

Keewatin, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new village council will hold its first meeting on April 6, and it is expected that a record crowd will be in attendance, as the matter of appointments is causing much interest. There is much speculation as to who will be the lucky ones, but some surprises are certain. John Webb is slated for chief of police, with Joseph Graham as a running mate, it is understood. Mr. Webb has held this job for a number of years. It is a matter of speculation as to who will be village attorney. Some think that J. C. Lewis of Nashwauk will stand a good chance of securing the appointment. For street commissioner it is expected that there will be a number of applications. It is understood that Charles Adams will be retained as superintendent of the water and light department.

The council will also decide on a nine-hour work day, and while it will be necessary to curtail in the spending of money, the council will do any work that is deemed a necessity or will help to beautify the village, and every effort will be made by the new council to regain Keewatin's financial standing, which at present stands at an extremely low rating.

Gunhild Olson, as Mrs. Briggs, contributed much to the success of the performance. Dan Kinsman portrayed the part of Ralph with cleverness. NINETY DAYS FOR ROBBING DRUNKARD

Chisholm Petty Thief Gets Little Sympathy From Judge Masters.

Chisholm, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Masters in municipal court Thursday had a busy day. Oscar Colby was found guilty and sentenced to ninety days at the county gaol for picking the pockets of a drunken man in a local saloon Wednesday evening. Colby was seen to be hanging around the victim and was watched by the man's friends. After extracting a purse containing $14.50, Colby went into a cold storage room and threw the empty purse in the water tank. Two $5 bills he rolled up in his trouser leg and the $4.50 in silver he put into his pocket. All of his movements were observed, the police sent for and the pickpocket arrested. He was taken to Duluth today.

Struck With Cuspidor.

Mike Desliven and Joe Andrella were arrested Wednesday evening and charged with bodily assault upon Vincent Nara. The men had quarreled in a local saloon when the accused, it is alleged, beat him, one picking up a cuspidor and striking the unfortunate man a blow on the right eye which forced the optic to hang on the cheek. The loss of the eye is almost a foregone conclusion. Some evidence was taken Thursday morning and the case adjourned until Thursday of next week.

"Slim" Anderson and Joe Wolf, two reputed safe-blowers and all-round bad men were arrested Thursday evening on suspicion of robbing the V. B. Erspamer store of an automatic revolver and a tool to be used as a "jimmy." The men are being held pending an investigation of their conduct while in Chisholm. Several robberies committed lately still baffle the police.

A scandal in which two young girls of the village implicated many young men and some business men is going the rounds. The girls were interviewed by Probation Officer Everett and Assistant Lee Reil and some unsavory evidence was obtained. Further proceedings before Judge Hughes is anticipated.

TWO HARBORS NOW DRY MUNICIPALITY

Soon as Vote Is Canceled, All Saloons Are Forced to Close.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saloon patrons tasted their last liquor over legalized bars here last night, for all of the ten saloons were closed by order of the mayor, just as soon as the city council had canvassed the vote of Tuesday's election by which the voters decided by a vote of 646 to 284 to make this city "dry." All ten saloons were closed as soon as the proprietors got orders about 8:50 p. m., when the chief of police and mayor, accompanied by members of the council, served notice on the saloon keepers that they must close at once.

In a few minutes every saloon was vacant and the lights out, to remain so for at least two years. There was a great demand for liquor during the last hour or so, and consequently the saloon men got rid of much of their stock. At 9 o'clock the streets were crowded; some mingled to and fro with the aid of a friend, while others were busy laying by a little private stock for future reference.

Mayor Towl stated that it was the desire of the citizens to have a "dry" city, and consequently he would exert every effort possible to see to it that no booze of any kind was sold in the city in the future for drinking purposes. Blind-pigging and the like would be watched for by the police very carefully from now on.

MOOSE LAKE GIRLS BEAT TWO HARBORS.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Moose Lake girls' basket ball team defeated the local girls' five last night at the Y. M. C. A. by the score of 18 to 10. The visiting girls showed better team work and showed up well on basket shooting and exceptionally well in the guarding department. The local girls played well, but were no match for the farmer girls. Esther Sullivan, for the locals, played a star game. Her playing was in evidence at all times. Two Harbors lined up as follows: Hanna Anderson, forward; Esther Sullivan, forward; Pelto, center; Agnes Irwin, guard; Margaret Peterson, guard.

A large crowd came up from Moose Lake to witness the game. The hall was packed with nearly 300 people.

YOUR FRECKLES

Get an ounce of othine—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

WANT BREAKWATER ALONG NORTH SHORE

Petition Circulated in Two Harbors for One at Two Islands.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A petition for presentation to the government, asking that a breakwater be constructed at Two Islands to furnish shelter for boats trading along the North shore, between Two Harbors and Grand Marais, is now being circulated here and a large number of signatures have already been secured.

The north shore of Lake Superior, between Two Harbors and Grand Marais, is very bold and rugged and there is no place for a distance of about eighty miles where a boat can possibly seek shelter in case of a storm. There are now a large number of small boats trading along the north shore during navigation season and there are no inlets or bays which could offer these boats the slightest protection and consequently during uncertain weather it makes navigation for the small boats extremely hazardous.

Two islands is about half way between Two Harbors and Grand Marais and those who have been studying the question claim that a breakwater 500 feet in length would furnish ample shelter. The water at that point is very deep and consequently the cost of constructing such a breakwater would not amount to much.

The water route along the north shore affords about the only means that the settler, living along the shore, have to get to and from their places and also this route is the only way they have to get supplies in. The numbers of settlers is increasing each year and consequently the demand for some suitable protection to the boats which carry their supplies becomes more in demand and more of a necessity. Those who have instigated the movement are certain that the desired action on the part of the government will be made as soon as the petition is presented.

COLDER

Deceptive as the weather may be today, this is not the day before Christmas. Still, one might do Christmas shopping early at that. Following a day that, on the whole, was fair, some time during the night flurries of snow started—just as the weather man had said they would—and today a first-rate imitation of a midwinter snow storm set in. It's cold, too. But the weather man, agaille donning his thinking cap, declares that tonight and tomorrow will be fair but colder.

A year ago today was pleasant. The sun rose this morning at 6:13 and will set this evening at 6:18, giving twelve hours and six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Colder weather prevails throughout the entire Northwest, the Middle West, Rocky mountain and Plateau region. The temperature has fallen to points slightly above zero in Northwestern North Dakota and Saskatchewan. Light frosts occurred at Fort Smith, Ark., and Spokane, Wash. During the last twenty-four hours light rain or snow fell over the central valley states, the Rocky mountains and portions of the Lake region."

Building Aurora Church.

Aurora, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Finnish Methodist church society has started the erection of a new church here on Second avenue, in the Second addition to the village. The building will be 24 by 40, with modern conveniences. This society is growing, and the members feel the need of a building for regular services.

WHITE SLAVERS MUST GO TO JAIL

San Francisco, Cal., March 19.—The convictions of F. Drew Caminetti, son of Anthony Caminetti, United States commissioner general of immigration, and Maurice I. Diggs, former state architect, under the white slave act, were affirmed yesterday by the United States circuit court of appeals.

Diggs and Caminetti were tried and convicted before District Judge Van Fleet in 1913 for the transportation of Lola Norris and Marsha Warrington from Sacramento to Reno for immoral purposes. Diggs was sentenced to imprisonment on McNeil island for two years and fined $2,000. Caminetti was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment and a fine of $1,500.

The case was taken to the higher court on a writ of error.

MAINTAIN BLOCKADE IN MEDITERRANEAN

London, March 19.—Considerable confusion has resulted from the varied interpretations of the language in the note of Foreign Secretary Grey concerning the effect the British blockade would have on Mediterranean waters. To clear this up the foreign office says specifically that Mediterranean waters are regarded as European waters and that consequently the blockade will be maintained there just as in the North sea.

DEFINITE FOREIGN POLICY NECESSARY

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis Gives Warning to United States in Speech.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 19.—Warning that the United States must now decide on a definite foreign policy was given by Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, who addressed the Missouri legislature today.

Senator Lewis said the United States should decide whether she would retain the Philippines and maintain two large fleets to resist aggression on the part of foreign powers, or leave the Philippines and return to the traditional policy of isolation. Senator Lewis said:

"Should the United States find it necessary to make a protest against Japan forcibly seizing China, Japan would probably exact of her present allies—England, France and Russia—that they support her against the United States. Then America would be confronted with a remarkable situation. Should Japan, in conjunction with China, be forced to vent the grievance of her people by war, she would seize the Philippines and then Hawaii as the base from which to intercept our fleet on its way to recover the Philippines. Then Russia, the ally of Japan, would seize Northern Alaska.

Would Divide Forces.

"This would divide our army and navy. England, because of her alliance with Japan, could render no aid to the United States in Canada or Alaska—nor would she dare to do so in view of English possessions and English citizens in Japan and China.

"Central America, which has a grievance against us because of the claim that we forcibly took Panama, might aid our foes by destroying the Panama canal to prevent our fleet in the Atlantic and Pacific from joining.

"If we continue to advance our civilization into the outposts of China and Japan, and continue to insist on the supervision of South American countries—then we must be prepared to maintain an Atlantic fleet large enough to cope with combined Europe and we must have a Pacific fleet large enough to defend the coast and the islands in the Orient against the combined powers of the Orient."

GOVERNOR ZAYAS OF SAN DOMINGO KILLED.

New York, March 19.—The steamer Iroquois brought to this port today news of the assassination of Governor Zayas of San Domingo, and two of his children at Azua, a small town about fifty-five miles southwest of Santo Domingo. Governor Zayas, it was said, went from Santo Domingo to Azua as a passenger aboard the Iroquois to begin his duties as governor of the province. He was in office two days when adherents of a rival political party shot and killed him and his two children.

Zayas was in command of the forces which bombarded Azua during the recent uprising.

DIETING TO KEEP WELL

Some people are born with a tendency to certain diseases. What they eat either aggravates this condition or tends to correct it.

Anybody can see the importance of a proper diet but human beings, unlike the lower animals, lack the instinct that tells them what to eat and what to avoid.

It is a fact that proper diet and a good tonic will keep people well under most conditions and restore them to health except in acute diseases where the need of a physician is imperative.

Start today by writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. for a copy of the diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat." It is full of useful information and describes the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, for those conditions of flatulency or gas on the stomach, discomfort after eating, caused by lack of tone in the digestive organs. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply the stomach with well-oxygenated blood without which good digestion is impossible. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic and are free from poisons.

A short course of treatment with these pills will show in an improved appetite, better digestion, refreshing sleep and quiet nerves. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

TO WITHHOLD INFORMATION

Movements of German Cruiser Will Be Kept Secret.

No News From Warships Waiting Off Coast to Seize Her.

Washington, March 19.—No information will be made public by the United States government which might in any way aid British and French cruisers waiting off the Virginia capes to catch the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, in the event her commander should decide to make a dash for the high seas from Newport News.

State and navy department officials made it clear today that they intended to overlook no point in preserving the strictest neutrality in the treatment of the refugee ship. Secretary Daniels said he had received a partial report from the American naval officers who inspected the Eitel with a view to ascertaining the extent of repairs necessary to make her seaworthy, and expected to receive a final report in the course of a day or two. He announced in advance, however, that he would not make public the conclusions of the board either as to the amount of repairs necessary or the length of time they would consume.

Counselor Lansing at the state department, which must serve notice upon the German commander of the extent of his privileges, also declared positively that the state department would make public no information whatever from this time on regarding the Eitel Friedrich.

If the captain of the ship is authorized to make repairs and begins to do so, there will be visible evidence of his intentions, though naval officers recalled today that the commander of the German gunboat Geier, after making extensive repairs at Honolulu, allowed his ship to be interned.

LAWLESSNESS IN INDIA SUPPRESSED

Military Authorities Given Special Powers to Act in Emergencies.

Delhi, India, March 19, via London.—Sir Reginald Henry Craddock, member of the viceroy's council, has made the declaration that it was necessary to arm the military authorities with special powers to act in emergencies and nip in the bud any and all manifestations of lawlessness. This statement was made in connection with the introduction of the defense of India by the governor general's council.

Continuing Sir Reginald alluded to the "campaign engineered on the Pacific coast of America, whence some deluded men had returned during the last few months with their minds poisoned and had committed acts of violence in Bengal."

Seditious activity was breaking out afresh, the speaker said, but the looting in the Western Punjab, he declared to be largely due to economic causes and racial conflicts between Hindus and Mohammedans. The danger, he said, was only serious if not checked promptly.

Baby's Happiness Depends on Health

Cross, fretful babies usually need a laxative to make them comfortable, and comfort begets happiness. Constipation is the cause of much discomfort. Mothers should watch closely the condition of their children's bowels and see that they are regular.

A mild, pleasant tasting laxative such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is ideal for children because of its natural composition and gentle action, and because it contains no opiate, narcotic or other harmful habit-forming drug. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists everywhere. A teaspoonful at bedtime will bring easy, certain relief.

A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

DULUTHIAN IN THIRD PLACE

Murphy Among Top-Notchers in Singles of Bowling Tournament.

Other Changes in Singles and Doubles—Twin City Cracks Coming.

In the bowling tournament of the Northern Bowling association, on this week at the Grand alleys, the games in last night's sessions were in the doubles and singles only, no five-men teams competing. In the doubles, three Superior teams rolled into the list of ten leaders, and one Virginia game got into the honor roll. Some great bowling took place in the last shift last night.

In the two-men event, Gallipeau and Hutchison of Superior, rolling 1,147, went into third place, and F. Anderson and Erickson of Superior went into sixth. Rivers and Taylor of Virginia and Jepson and Kampman of Superior rolled into, respectively, eighth and ninth places.

Murphy of Duluth is now third man in the singles, Jacobson of Virginia is tied with Geering of St. Paul for fourth place, and Baker of Duluth is ninth.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening scores of bowlers from the Twin Cities are coming to compete in the final day—Sunday—of the bowling tournament. It is expected that the schedule of games will be a long one and that the bowlers will begin to make the alleys hot shortly after sunrise Sunday morning.

Some of the best bowlers in the Twin Cities are said to be coming and it is expected that almost all standings made so far will be smashed.

Following were the scores made in last night's sessions:

WOULD ENTER TRACK MEET

Two Athletes From Central School May Go to Badger Tourney.

Several Duluth Men Could Make Good Showing in Contests.

At least two star athletes from Central high school may be entered in the Wisconsin state track tournament, which is to be held at Oshkosh on April 16. G. A. Glyer, director of athletics at the local high school, has written to the Badger state authorities in an effort to determine whether or not outside schools may compete. An answer is expected early next week, and if favorable, two well-known Central track stars may be sent down. If their expenses are paid, more than the two men will be sent.

Skull Hrutford, the best all-round track athlete at Central high and one of the very best cinder men in the city, may be a contestant at the meet.

"Bob" Paine, the school high jump "champ," is the other man who will probably be sent. Paine, in the indoor interclass meet held recently, cleared the bar at 5 feet 5 inches, breaking his former school record, which was an inch less. In the National Hexathlon meet held at the Y. M. C. A. this week, Paine tied with Wolebln with 5 feet 4.5 inches. The lanky high school lad has made 5 feet 6 inches in practice, and thinks that he can repeat on a favorable outdoor course. In the Wisconsin tournament, if a man leads his nearest rival by three inches in the high jump, he carries off all three prizes. Paine could undoubtedly make a good showing at the meet.

Track Capt. Hrutford believes that the chances are very bright for a representative Central cinder team being sent to the Minnesota state tournament. If the students back up the team it is very probable that Duluth will be represented at the state meet. Besides Paine and Hrutford, a number of other good athletes wear the red and white jerseys, and it is believed that the local representation would make an excellent showing at the big Minnesota meet.

NO CHANGES IN A. B. C. LEADERS

Chicago Man Breaks Records for Individual Score in Fives.

Peoria, Ill., March 19.—Bowling teams from Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Chicago and St. Louis are here to take a whirl on the alleys at the American Bowling congress. Sixty-two doubles, 126 singles and 28 five-men teams will compete today and tonight.

Yesterday vicious attacks were made on the scores of the leaders in each division, but to no avail. The Bob Plummers of St. Louis, with 2,833 in the fives did not see any new team closer to them than eleventh place.

V. Davis of the Diana team, Chicago, succeeded in making the highest individual score ever rolled in a five-men event in the American Bowling congress, when he knocked down pins for a total of 297. Davis made eleven straight strikes. Bowlers on the thirteen other alleys stopped to see the finish but only seven pins went down. His team finished in eleventh place.

In the doubles, B. Weinold and W. Matthes of Chicago, with a score of 1,233, are leading.

J. Lellinger of Chicago, has been leading the singles with 671 since last Sunday.

J. L. Spaulding of Taylorville, Ill., with a score of 1,848 tops the list in the all-events.

Crack teams from Minneapolis, Cincinnati and Louisville are scheduled for Saturday.

STILL AT LOGGERHEADS OVER GAMES SCHEDULE.

Chicago, March 19.—The schedule committee of the American Baseball association, after an all-day session, adjourned yesterday afternoon until next Tuesday, when the members will hold another meeting in Chicago, in the hope of reaching an agreement.

"The meeting was harmonious, but no definite agreement was reached," said President Chivington.

'CYCLE CLUB GIVES SPREAD

Dr. Park Lauds Officials for Good Roads Work.

About fifty motorcyclists and motor enthusiasts attended the first annual banquet of the Twin Ports Motorcycle club held last evening at the Holland hotel. The dinner was a complete success, according to the members, and will be repeated every year.

Dr. J. D. Park, president of the Duluth Auto club, was the principal speaker at the banquet and he gave a short talk lauding city and county officials for their good work on roads. He especially emphasized the fact that the officials have at all times responded to any request for a road improvement and that the introduction of the King drag, at the suggestion of the Duluth Auto club, has aided to a great extent in keeping highways in good condition.

Alonzo Eveland, president of the Twin Ports Motorcycle club, presided at the banquet, and also delivered one of the principal addresses. Dr. William A. Abbott was another of the speakers.

Go to Evanston Meet.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 19.—Eight University of Minnesota track men and six swimmers left here last night to take part in the contests at Evanston tomorrow. The track men who accompanied Coach Frank, were Capt. Molumby, Bierman, Montgomery, Ritter, Rapacz, Watson, McKay and Cross. The swimmers were Pynn, Uehland, Little, Washburn, Serum and Gaumnitz.

LAST GAMES OF SEASON

Naughton and Hoene in Finals of Blaze o' Glory.

Oldham and Bradley Rinks Will Play Annual Match.

Duluth's 1914-5 curling season will come to an official close tonight, when Colle Naughton and Art Hoene will meet in the finals of the Blaze o' Glory event, the victors to receive handsome sweaters purchased with the money paid by each rink to enter the event. In addition Johnny Oldham and Ralph Bradley will play their annual match tonight for the "big feed."

Hoene defeated Jimmie Myron in the semi-finals of the Blaze o' Glory last night, by the score of 12 to 10. He entered the finals and tonight he will play Naughton for the spoils.

Each rink entered in the Blaze o' Glory gave $1 as a filing fee and with this money Secretary Oldham has purchased some sweaters and other gifts to be given the winners and the runners-up.

For the last five years Oldham and Bradley have played a special game at the close of each season to see which rink must feed the other. Bradley has won three times, while Oldham has been victor twice and, according to the latter, he expects to tie the score this evening.

Sam Cleveland and Ray Bishoff will again play with Bradley, while Rudy Schiller, Palmer Harbison and Ed Deetz will complete the old lineup with Oldham.

Play still continues in the Au Revoir event, which was started last week for those rinks out of everything else. This event will continue until the weather prohibits any more playing. Matzke defeated McGilvray, 14 to 7. In this event last night, while Harris and Burns will play tonight.

LOSES WEIGHT IN WINTER IDLENESS

George Dauss, Former Duluth Pitcher, Now Tiger, Upsets the Dope.

Gulfport, Miss., March 19. — George Dauss, Detroit pitcher, graduate of the Duluth, Minn., team, is a peculiar young man.

He crosses up all the known dope in regard to a ball player's condition by losing weight in the winter and putting it on in the playing season. Most men get a little fat when the baseball campaign ends and they resume sedentary habits, but the Indianapolis lad thrives on hard work and loses flesh when he is sitting around and doing nothing.

This season Dauss reported at Gulfport a good ten pounds light, which is a lot for a man of his size. He hadn't been able to get enough work at Hot Springs to begin to gain and weighed just about the same as he did when he left home in February. Already he has begun to pick up and by the time the club is ready for the championship season he expects to tip the beam at 170—just ten pounds more than he is able to muster at present.

April 30, Yale freshmen; May 5, New Hampshire college; May 8, Princeton freshmen; May 12, Harvard second team; May 15, Pilgrims; May 19, Harvard freshmen; May 22, Hotchkiss at Louisville, Conn.; May 25, Dartmouth freshman; May 29, Worcester academy; June 2, Cushing academy, and June 5, Exeter at Exeter.

Last Monday the Andover swimmers defeated Harvard in a return meet by the score of 38 to 25, Harvard having defeated the prep school "mermen" two weeks ago by a narrow margin. Capt. Fitzgerald of the Andover team, son of ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, won the 200-yard relay race for his team from Capt. Fullerton of Harvard, after a hard battle. He also won the 50-yard dash and established a new school record of 60 seconds flat for the 100-yard dash. This is four-fifths of a second better than the old record.

SUPERIOR HIGH LOSES ITS CHANCE

Quint Loses to Chippewa Falls in Northern Wisconsin Tournament.

Menomonie, Wis., March 19. — Fighting gamely to the last minute, Superior high school lost its chance to retain a place in the Northern Wisconsin Interscholastic basket ball tournament yesterday afternoon by losing to Chippewa Falls high school, score 21 to 15. The game was one of the best played in the first day's round to determine representative quints to play in the state tourney at Appleton next month.

Both the Chippewa and Superior teams played strong games, their floor work and general teamwork showing well. The Chippewa five won its game by gradually wearing down the Head of the Lakes team. The end of the first half saw Superior on the bottom of a 14 to 10 score.

The most exciting game last night was the Menomonie-Hayward mix, which resulted in the home team winning, 40 to 20. Baskets were frequent in the game, keeping the spectators on edge at all times. Eau Claire won from Cameron in the afternoon with a score of 37 to 12. Ellsworth defeated Arcadia, 24 to 20.

The four remaining teams will go into the semi-finals tonight. Eau Claire being drawn to play Ellsworth and Menomonie to meet Chippewa Falls. The finals will be played tomorrow night.

Members of the Superior high school contingent will return home today.

Saginaw, Bay City, Jackson, Battle Creek and Flint, Mich., and South Bend, Ind., make up the league as it will start the season April 28, with a schedule calling for 135 games. Toledo, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Adrian are the cities dropped.

Opening games will be played as follows: Flint at Battle Creek, Bay City at Jackson, Saginaw at South Bend.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four battles in the rlatic arena last night attracted a fair crowd, and while only one was in any way decisive, all of the bouts were good and were enjoyed by the spectators.

In the same ring, according to newspaper decisions, Frank Whitney defeated Joe Thomas, Jim Walsh won over Johnny Ritchie, and Bobby Scanlon bested Rabbit Hedlin.

MINNEAPOLIS PIN MEN COME AFTER MONEY.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minneapolis will be represented in the A. B. C. bowling tournament at Peoria next Saturday night, when the Centrals, considered by many the most consistent pin getting team in the city, will go on the drives at 8 p. m. Three other teams will make the trip to Peoria next week.

Four Minneapolis fives will appear on the drives at Duluth next Saturday night in an effort to get into the prize money list in the northern tourney, now in progress there. The City Treasurers, Wests, Lake Shores and Bradys will try for the money.

A $10 PUPPY GROWS INTO A $2,500 DOG

MATFORD VIC.

George Quintard's "Matford Vic" was awarded the first prize as the best of all the dogs at the New York dog show last week. Matford Vic was picked up as a puppy by an English dog-fancier, who gave less than $10 for him. He offered the puppy to his sons, who wouldn't take it as a gift. Later when Matford Vic grew up she took so many prizes that Mr. Quintard paid $2,500 for her.

DILLON WILL BOX BILLY MURRAY

Matched for Hudson in April—Will Meet Gibbons Afterwards.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Collins, Hudson promoter, has announced that Jack Dillon would box Billy Murray at Hudson some time in April, and that if Dillon succeeded in beating the Pacific coast middleweight, an effort to match him with Gibbons would be made.

Collins says his program is satisfactory to Dillon, who is not averse to "showing goods" at Hudson before tackling the king of middleweights.

Dillon says he will post $2,000 to make 158 pounds for Gibbons at 3 o'clock and his manager, Sam Marburger, says if Gibbons desires, he can have a side wager of any sum up to $5,000, and he will leave the verdict to the Twin City critics.

In conversation with Collins at Milwaukee, Dillon said he believed he could beat any white fighter now before the public from 158 pounds upward, and he does not bar Willard or any other white hope.

Dillon said he had been boxing light heavyweights and heavyweights because he could not induce middleweights to meet him.

Gibbons said today that he would be willing to talk terms for a match with Dillon, stipulating merely that if he is offered a match with McFarland it would take precedence over any other bout.

SUNDAY CAN STILL SPRINT ON DIAMOND.

Philadelphia, March 19.—Billy Sunday, erstwhile champion baserunner of the National league and present day champion devil chaser, hit the old trail the other day. Billy has not been on a ball field professionally for twenty-four years. Accompanied by Uncle Ben Shibe, the evangelist peeped in at the Athletics' park. With Uncle Ben performing the pitching stunt, Billy cracked the first offering far into deep center. He then started to sprint. Sunday made the circuit of the bases in sixteen seconds.

Chicago, March 19.—George Moore of New York, defeated John Hahman of Minneapolis yesterday in the world's championship three-cushion billiard tournament by a score of 50 to 41 in 98 innings. Moore's high run was 8, and Hahman's 5.

TUNNEL BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, March 4.—Proposals for a tunnel between Great Britain and Ireland, underneath the Irish channel, have been revived by the difficulties of navigation since the new German submarine warfare came into effect.

One of the questions answered by Premier Asquith in the house recently was "whether, in view of recent operations in the Irish sea and possibility of blockade in the future, the government would consider the advisability of constructing a tunnel between Great Britain and Ireland?"

Mr. Asquith's reply did not commit the government either for or against the scheme. He contented himself with the observation that "the suggestion of the honorable gentleman is hardly practicable in the present circumstances."

WILL INSPECT AND REPORT UPON ALIEN PRISON CAMPS

United States to Act as Friend of All Belligerents.

Will Distribute Supplies and Arrange Exchange of Prisoners.

Washington, March 19.—An arrangement by Great Britain and Germany and Austria, by which representatives of the United States will inspect and report upon alien prison camps in those countries and distribute to prisoners supplies from their own government or other sources, was announced last night by the state department. At the same time it was stated that through the good offices of the American government similar arrangements were under contemplation between Russia and France and Germany and Austria-Hungary.

These arrangements are based upon recommendations contained in a report by Chandler P. Anderson, former counselor of the state department, who conferred with the foreign offices of Great Britain, Germany and Austria-Hungary last November and visited some of the detention camps in those countries.

Mr. Anderson also reported upon the exercise of good offices of the United States to bring about a better understanding among the European belligerents regarding the repatriation of civilian prisoners. In this connection it is announced that Great Britain and Germany and Austria-Hungary have expressed a willingness to exchange, man for man, detained enemy civilians of military age, while an arrangement for the release of civilians of non-military age has been held up so far by Great Britain's refusal to agree to the age limits proposed.

To Inspect Prisoner Camps.

The department's statement follows:

"Through the good offices of the government of the United States an arrangement has been entered into by Great Britain and Germany and Austria-Hungary, and a similar arrangement is under contemplation between Germany and Austria-Hungary and Russia and France by which the representatives of the United States in these countries will be authorized to inspect and report upon prisoner camps and distribute to the prisoners the supplies from their own governments and from other sources.

"The bases of this arrangement are briefly as follows:

"1. Each of the belligerent governments undertakes to furnish for the information of the others a complete statement of its policy with regard to the treatment of prisoners, with full details showing the supplies furnished and the conditions of their life during interment, supplemented by copies of orders and instructions issued from time to time to the commandants of the prisoners' camps.

"2. The belligerent governments will permit the representatives of the United States in each country to have access to the prisoners and will allow the prisoners to furnish statements about their treatment, the conditions of life and requirements which they wish to have communicated to their own government.

Assumes No Responsibility.

"It is understood that the government of the United States in undertaking this work assumes no responsibility of any kind beyond the mere transmission of the statements and the distribution of supplies furnished, as above indicated, in accordance with such restrictions and regulations as are imposed by the governments concerned.

"These arrangements are based upon recommendations contained in a report made at the end of November to the department of state by the Hon. Chandler P. Anderson, formerly counselor for the department, who early in November discussed the subject with the foreign offices of Great Britain, Germany and Austria-Hungary and visited detention camps in these countries.

"The good offices of the United States were exercised at the same time to bring about a better understanding among the belligerents in regard to the repatriation of prisoners detained in these countries.

"Mr. Anderson's report shows that these governments then had agreed not to detain any women or children or males under 17 or over 55, between Great Britain and Germany, or under 18 or over 50, between Great Britain and Austria-Hungary, or physicians or clergymen; unless some special reason justified detentions in individual cases.

"Both sides agreed to arrange for the reciprocal release of all civilians physically disqualified for military service.

Exchange of Enemy Aliens.

"In addition to the arrangements thus adopted, these governments have under consideration further arrangements for the exchange and release of detained enemy aliens, which arrangements and the respective positions of the belligerent governments with respect thereto are understood to be as follows:

"1. The German and Austro-Hungarian governments are prepared to agree to the reciprocal release of civilians over the age for compulsory military service under their respective laws, which in Germany is 45 years and in Austria-Hungary 42 years of age. The British government have refused as yet to reduce the age below 55 in the case of Germany and 50 in the case of Austria-Hungary, but this question has been under consideration and may be reconsidered.

"2. Both sides have expressed a willingness to agree to an exchange, man for man, of civilians of military age on lists to be proposed on each side for the approval of the other.

"3. The British and German governments are disposed to observe the provisions of articles 6 and 7 of the eleventh Hague convention of 1907 regarding the crews of enemy merchant ships captured by a belligerent, but there has been a difference between the two governments as to the meaning of these provisions.

Different Interpretations.

"The German government interprets these articles as meaning that the crews of captured ships are not only to be released from imprisonment but permitted to return to their own country without hindrance, if they so desire, under parole against employment in any service connected with the operations of the war.

"The British government on the other hand interprets these provisions as merely requiring the liberation on parole in Great Britain of the crews of captured merchant ships, under the reservation that subsequently they will be treated no more favorably than other Germans residing in Great Britain.

"It is understood that the British government are re-examining these provisions in the light of the meaning attributed to them by the German government.

"This question has not arisen between Great Britain and Austria-Hungary, as these two governments reached an agreement at the beginning of the war, releasing each other's merchant ships and crews and very few have since been operated.

"The arrangements made by France and Russia with Germany and Austria-Hungary are understood to be similar to those made by Great Britain.

Military Prisoners.

"In regard to military prisoners, no arrangements have been made for the exchange of such prisoners, except that on the suggestion of the government of the United States, early in November, both sides have agreed that all wounded prisoners who are permanently disabled for military service shall be released on a reciprocal basis.

"With regard to the treatment of prisoners, it appears from Mr. Anderson's report that each of the belligerent governments has established for itself standards and rules governing its treatment of military prisoners of war and civilians in detention camps. They have all announced their willingness on condition of reciprocity to give effect to articles XIV and XVI of the annex to The Hague convention number IV of 1907 which provide for the establishment of a prisoners' of war inquiry office for furnishing information about prisoners in each country and the delivery of mail, money and parcels to prisoners of war. In many other respects the arrangements adopted are similar on both sides but as inevitable where no common basis of treatment is established there are also many important differences.

"Attention is directed by Mr. Anderson to the fact that Germany alone claimed several months ago to have upwards of 530,000 prisoners of war, consisting of about 20,000 British, over 300,000 Russians and 200,000 French and Belgians. There are several thousand German prisoners of war in Great Britain, in addition to the 12,000 or more German and Austrian civilians in concentration camps. Many thousands of German and Austrian soldiers are known to be held as military prisoners in France and the number of prisoners of war who have been taken on both sides between Russia and Germany and Austria-Hungary runs to very large figures.

Stories of Maltreatment.

"It is unquestionably true that each government desires to deal with this very difficult situation in a manner which will be satisfactory to all concerned in so far as circumstances permit. Nevertheless, in view of the known differences, there naturally have been misunderstandings and misgivings on both sides about the treatment of their subjects who are held as military or civilian prisoners in enemy territory. This situation has been aggravated by sensational stories of abuse and maltreatment of prisoners on both sides, which have been given wide circulation in the newspapers in many countries, and although for the most part without foundation of fact have been popularly accepted as true. The result of all this has been to incite and inflame public feeling in these countries to the extent of demanding retaliation and reprisals.

"In this difficult and dangerous situation the governments of Great Britain, France and Austria-Hungary have called upon the government of the United States, as the friend of all parties and the representative of their interests in enemy territory, for information, assistance and advice. Perhaps the most important and useful service which this government as the custodian of their interests has rendered to these belligerent nations has been to bring about through the exercise of its good offices, the present arrangement which will lead to a better understanding among them as to the existing facts and the best method of dealing with this situation in future."

PLAN CRUISE FOR AUGUST

Minnesota Naval Militia Will Spend Seventeen Days on Trip.

Will Visit All Principal Ports on the Great Lakes.

One hundred and fifty-five members of Minnesota's naval militia, aboard the training ship U. S. Gopher, will make a 17-day cruise in August, 1915, and visit all of the large ports on the Great Lakes. This was learned yesterday by Commander Guy A. Eaton, who received an outline of the plans for the annual maneuvers from naval authorities at Washington.

Patterned on a more elaborate scale than any previous trip made by ships comprising the lake naval militia fleet, these plans call for a rendezvous at Erie, Pa., on Aug. 7, to be followed by more than two weeks of maneuvering. Ships participating in the trip will be the Isla De Luzon, the Wolverine, the Don Juan De Austria, the Essex, the Hawk, the Gopher, the Dorothea and the Yantic.

These boats represent companies of naval militia from New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Minnesota. More men will participate in these maneuvers than ever before, according to naval militia officers. The fleet will outfit and secure provisions at Erie, before Aug. 7.

"We will leave Duluth aboard the Gopher, Aug. 3 or 4," said Commander Eaton, "and that will give us a day in Buffalo before work starts. We also will have an opportunity of going ashore at Cleveland, Detroit, and other cities on Lakes Huron, Ontario and Erie."

QUALIFY FOR REGULAR NAVY

Militia Officers Will Have Opportunity to Take Examinations.

As a part of the United States navy's policy of equipping all naval militia officers for positions in the regular navy, the Federal examining board will quiz officers of the Minnesota state naval militia at Duluth early in May, according to information received by Commander Guy A. Eaton.

Under the supervision of Capt. William Gill, stationed at Washington, the examining board will make a trip to the Head of the Lakes, so that all officers so desiring may try to qualify.

Every naval militia officer must pass this examination, according to the terms of an act passed early in 1915. Four examinations will be given between May, 1915, and February, 1917, and naval militia officers must qualify before the last "exam."

When successful in the quiz, the officers are given the same rank in the United States navy that they hold in the naval militia.

MANY BELGIANS RETURNED HOME

Endeavor to Escape Impost Laid By Germans on Absentees.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

The Hague, March 1.—Thousands of Belgians who fled at the moment of the invasion of their country by the Germans have returned to their homes during the past few days, in order to escape the impost laid by the German authorities on all Belgians absent after March 1. This tax amounts to ten times the total of the ordinary tax paid yearly by Belgian business men and is applicable only to those persons who deserted their business and country at the appearance of the Germans on Belgian soil or when towns were taken by the German troops and have since resided in Holland, England and France.

All the leading hotels of The Hague and other big Dutch cities have been filled with the wealthier class of Belgian refugees for several months, but today many of the men among them have disappeared, leaving their women and children behind in safety. Some of the men however, are firm in their intention not to do business in Belgium while the Germans occupy the country, and they express their willingness to suffer loss of fortune rather than do any trade with an enemy who has devastated their cities.

The middle class Belgians who took refuge here, many of whom have been taken as guests by Dutch families, which refuse any remuneration for the shelter and food given, have not been so greatly affected by the new German regulations, as many of them were employes possessing no real estate or business premises on which distraint might be made in default of the payment of the new tax.

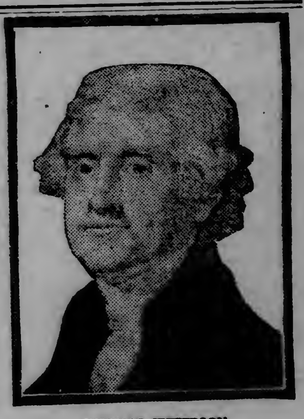
FOE OF HAMILTON IN ALL SAVE TEMPERANCE



THOMAS JEFFERSON

Born 1743. Gov. of State of Virginia. Minister plenipotentiary to France. Sec. of State. 3rd Pres. of U. S. Died 1826. America's greatest Democrat.

Thos. Jefferson, 3rd President, and greatest democrat of the United States, was opposed to Alexander Hamilton in everything except the temperance question. There the two were united, and both, on the floor of congress, advocated the encouragement of the brewing industry as an aid to agriculture and to promote temperance.

In the words of Jefferson: "No nation is drunken where wine is cheap." That is: Those nations which recognize the good in wine, and the good in the still lighter, and more healthful beverage beer; and who understand the need of their peoples for the enjoyment of those beverages and so encourage their production,—those nations lead their peoples to paths of honor and prosperity.

A SEEMING CONTRADICTION— NATURAL DRAUGHT BEER IN BOTTLES

Fitger Natural Beer, a brilliant draught beer of the best quality in bottles, is due to Fitger's Kieselguhr filter, the only one of its kind in America. This new process "keeps" beer by eliminating the yeast cells which cause beer troubles. This elimination by filtration preserves in the beer its full natural character, taste and aroma.

Pasteurizing, that is steaming the beer after it is in the bottle, in order to stop further fermentation, kills the ever present yeast cells, but it does not eliminate them. Kieselguhr filtration eliminates them, and it separates them from the beer without spoiling the delicious natural taste and flavor of the beer.

Which process do you prefer? Think it over.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

HANNA MAY TAKE HAND

If Referendum Is Invoked Against Important Act May Call Special Session.

North Dakota's Governor Will Only Act in Case of Urgent Need.

Bismarck, N. D., March 19.—"I will not attempt to call a special session of the legislature," declared Governor L. B. Hanna, "unless the referendum is used against some law that is of vital importance to the state. It would have to be on some law without which some of the institutions would be unable to run. If anyone should attempt to cut off the appropriations for the penitentiary or the asylum for the insane, it would be almost an absolute necessity to call an extra session."

Asked if he would call a special session if action were taken against the immigration bill or other similar measures, the governor said: "No, I do not think I would, although I consider that one of the most important bills and one that will do the state a great deal of good if it is put into operation, but for many at home I do not consider it would be advisable to call an extra session."

There are many rumors of action to be taken on bills. Some are of the opinion that the board of regents bill will be attacked, others that the bill affecting the asylum for the insane and the penitentiary will be referred to the people, but up to the present time no definite action has been taken on any of them.

STATE CAT LICENSE

Is Favored By Game Warden William R. Oates of Michigan.

Marquette, Mich., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Provided the legislature acts favorably upon the recommendation of State Game Warden William R. Oates of this city, a license will be imposed upon domestic cats. Not only is the cat an enemy to bird life, Mr. Oates says, but it is a direct menace to human life.

"In the nursery, its germ-laden pelt and its fetid, death-dealing breath condemn it, without regard to its faults in killing activity," the game warden declares. "Little can be said in favor of the cat as a mouser. Not one in a hundred give the killing attention to rodents that is given to birds. A 5-cent trap is much more effective than the average cat in clearing the pantry and cellar of mice." Mr. Oates recommends the enactment of a law providing for the licensing of domestic cats and the killing by any official in the state of cats untagged under such law.

PAROLE-BREAKER IS RETURNED TO PRISON

Matt Longsio, Convicted in Carlton County, Goes Back to Penitentiary.

Carlton, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The February term of district court was concluded by Judge Dancer Wednesday. The final cases brought up yesterday were on the criminal calendar. Matt Longsio was ordered to the penitentiary for breaking parole.

He was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary by Judge Cant last summer and sentence suspended, following a plea of guilty to an information charging him with selling whisky to Indians. He has been drinking this winter, which violated a provision of the parole.

Charles Cadott, also of Cloquet, was sentenced to the state prison for giving Indians booze. He is an old offender.

Young Lawbreaker Committed.

Sheriff McKinnon went to Red Wing yesterday with Nilie Sauntanen of Moose Lake, who was convicted several weeks ago of breaking into the store of the Mahtowa Mercantile company at Mahtowa last month. FARGOANS LOOK AHEAD.

Preparing for Time When Clay County Will Go Dry.

Fargo, N. D., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.) — Fargoans are already preparing to form an organization to restrict the anticipated violations of the prohibition law when Moorhead and Clay county go dry.

With the closing of the Clay county saloons it is natural that some men will endeavor to take advantage of the opportunity to sell liquor and open blind pigs in Fargo for the convenience of the former patrons of the places over the river.

It primarily is for the purpose of frustrating these efforts that the good government league is called in to existence. The organization was formed as a result of the addresses here by two or three speakers, including Atylus R. Jones of Minneapolis. The preliminary steps toward forming the organization have been taken and later the officers will be elected. One plan is to make a provision for the employment of a force of detectives for the purpose of keeping track of the alleged violators.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let Your Sore, Swollen, Aching Feet Spread Out in a Bath of "TIZ."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." Its grand—its glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

DIDN'T SEE "OTHER FELLOW."

But Prisoner's Wounds Are Defense to Assault Charge.

DECORATED with criss-cross plasters on his nose and a generous showing of black and blue marks, Alexander Anderson, 48, appeared in municipal court this morning on a charge of assaulting one Eugene Hill with a shovel and iron crowbar.

"Are you guilty or not guilty?" asked Judge F. H. Cutting.

Anderson pointed to his badly battered nose.

"Enter a plea of not guilty," said the judge to Clerk Walter Richeson.

Anderson is alleged to have had an altercation with Hill near his home at Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. He will be given a hearing on March 23.

CONVICTED BY PENNIES.

Prisoner Had Exact Amount of Money Reported Stolen.

Two pennies were important witnesses in a case of petty larceny this morning before Municipal Judge W. L. Windom, and probably helped William C. Miller in drawing a sixty-day sentence at the work farm.

Miller, who said he was a roller in a steel mill, was charged with "rolling" Paul Knaynak out of $4.42. Not content with taking Kmynak's $4, he went through his pockets and took everything, down to the two pennies.

When searched at police headquarters, Miller had the $4.42 in an outside pocket, and 31 cents carefully tucked away in his belt. The contrast was too much for the judge. Patrolmen Dinkel and Honnold arrested Miller in a West Michigan street saloon last night.

ECHO OF RAIDS.

Blind Pigger Pays Fine of $100 in Police Court.

As a windup to the recent disorderly house raids made by Duluth police, Helma Nevar, age 31, paid a fine of $100 in municipal court yesterday afternoon after being found guilty of conducting an unlicensed drinking place at 426 North Fourth avenue west. The charge of conducting a house of ill fame, also placed against the Nevar woman, when she was arrested by Detectives F. A. Schulte and Donald Irvine March 5, was dismissed.

Mrs. Clara Erickson, aged 19, charged with living at the Nevar place, was allowed to go free. Attorney O. J. Larson appeared for the defendants.

MARRIED OR SINGLE?

Police Court Prisoners Have Appeared in Both Roles.

Shortly after the first of the year Hilja Suoja and Walter Johnson announced to their friends that they were to be married soon. On Feb. 1, as a bride of two weeks, Mrs. Walter Johnson, nee Suoja, attempted suicide by drinking half a bottle of lysol.

This morning Walter Johnson and Hilja Suoja, both single, were arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. The question of deciding whether the girl was single or married was not settled by the court, who fined both of them $17.50.

They have been living together at 220 South First avenue east for several weeks, according to complainants.

AGREE TO DISAGREE.

Youthful Bride Will Not Return to Youthful Husband.

After a year and a half of married life Frank Moylan, aged 20, and his wife, aged 19, talked things over in municipal court this morning and agreed "to disagree." The girl will have the custody of a child several months old.

Mrs. Moylan admitted that her husband had given her money, and that he had written her more often than she wrote him, when he was away. Despite the fact that she made no specific complaint, she was firm in her determination not to go back to him.

Moylan was brought into court on a complaint sworn to by his wife, charging him with non-support. They have been living in Duluth for some time, the girl's parents being residents of this city.

CAME BACK FOR MORE.

Prisoner Alleged to Have Made Second Visit as Burglar.

Business was so good when James Hageganes, aged 24, visited 128 West Third street about ten days ago that he returned on March 13 and walked off with some more stuff. On the first trip he secured a rifle, and the second time he was richer by a suit of clothes and a raincoat.

R. J. Gorman, owner of the gun, went to a pawnshop at 427 West Superior street with Lieut. N. U. G. Terry yesterday and identified the gun. While looking around the shop he spied a suit and a raincoat that looked familiar, and upon investigation he found that they were the property of R. H. Hanson, who lives at 128 West Third.

Hageganes was described by the shop keeper and arrested this afternoon, charged with grand larceny.

SETTLEMENT MADE OUT OF COURT

Hegler Damage Suit Ends By Mutual Agreement of Parties.

After an adjournment was taken yesterday afternoon in Judge Dancer's division of the district court, attorneys concerned with the trial of a personal injury suit brought against John Seigal by Marie Hegler agreed to settle the case out of court. Announcement to this effect was made this morning when D. D. Morgan, of Virginia, attorney for the plaintiff, moved for a dismissal of the action on its merits. Judge Dancer granted the motion. R. N. Vaverly of Minneapolis appeared as attorney for the defendant.

Miss Hegler sued Seigal for $1,775 damages. She claimed that while she was riding behind Chester Lathrop on a motorcycle near Gilbert, they were run into by an automobile driven by Seigal. The accident happened on Oct. 28, 1914. Both occupants of the motorcycle were injured. Lathrop sued for $1,770 and it is understood that his case was also compromised out of court.

WORLD NEEDS FORGIVENESS

Modern Inventions Cannot Take Religion's Place, Says Dr. Hoffman.

Tells Noonday Audience That Religion Is Necessary.

A capacity audience again greeted Rev. Dr. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, at the noonday Lyceum service today. The sermon was on "Forgiveness," and the text was from Isaiah, 55: 7, 8.

The meetings have grown in interest every day since Monday, and both the musical programs and the sermons have been heard with the closest attention. Today the Rev. H. Edward Sayles, pastor of the First Baptist church, led in prayer, and George Suffel sang "Oh Loving Father." Dr. Hoffman said:

A Voice From the Past.

"Many centuries have come and gone since this Hebrew prophet discussed the dissimilarity between the ways of God and men. His message is hoary with age. It was delivered long before modernism had given us invaluable guidance or modern science had discovered a new world. Since the keen-visioned Isaiah spoke, steam, electricity, synthetic chemistry and the telephone have been at work developing a better civilization. Facilities for education have been increased and broadened, culture has been deepened and enriched. Legislation is incorporating the humanities of our modern era, and the democratic idea is pervading the whole of life. That the world has made vast progress and is exhibiting greater refinements of speech and conduct is self-evident. Blind or hopelessly biased must be the one who cannot discover vast improvements in our methods of business, our industrial aims and processes, and our determination to establish social justice.

"Notable as have been our advances in general culture, in technical skill, in material comforts, and in social democracy, it requires neither a keen intellect nor a vivid imagination to discern that an alarming number of persons have no relish for the aims of God and no passionate purpose for Jesus Christ. Murder, theft, adultery, drunkenness, greed, vice, unbelief, brutal selfishness, cultivated heartlessness still wreck homes, break hearts, and blight the child. Baseness and badness even yet walk the avenues of life unashamed, while dishonesty parades itself under the garb of goodness. We are an incorrigible optimist, but not that unintelligent sort which sees not the wrong, the evil, the moral perversity and open wickedness of a suffering and sinning world.

Not Followers of God.

"The facts of life when fairly appreciated compel every sensible man to recognize that many do not cherish the thoughts of God and do not practice His immaculate ways. If all men are to aid in enthroning the rule of God, ways that are selfish and unclean must be changed, thoughts that are vain, violent and vindictive must be cleansed. The despair and hopelessness of humanity can only be relieved as man receives forgiveness from God; he must forsake sin and return to God. 'Men know,' writes a modern essayist, 'that the true man needs no right about face; but that, if God is, true to the manliness within is the way that leads to God.' According to this writer and others like him, our approach to the infinite is a development of what is within rather than any direct action on the part of the Almighty. It is a piece of that fascinating but quite superficial view that education and information are quite ample for the needs of the race. Regeneration, repentance and forgiveness are useless and impossible. It is a curious fact that the advocates of this idea have absorbed the ethical values of Christianity and are themselves the products of Christian training. They are, however, utterly unconscious of the source of their moral power and with stupid daring would destroy the very basis by virtue of which they, themselves, have triumphed over the baseness and badness of life. In the native goodness of the human heart, the undisputed excellence of the cultivated mind, and invaluable function of socialized law, we have unquestioned confidence. We do not forget, however, that life reveals habits, ideals, practices, which can only be righted and moralized as man yields himself to God.

Need of Forgiveness.

"The consciousness of sin and the need of forgiveness are evidenced in every smoking altar and gorgeous temple. In the oriental pagoda or the western wigwam there is the cry of the suffering soul. In the ancient ritualism and the primitive astral worship there is this longing for reconciliation with God. The Greek myths and Roman classics exhibit it as well as the Jewish tabernacle and Christian church. Why are you always talking religion? It raises, so we are informed, no man's wages, it builds not more sanitary homes, it feeds not the hungry, it has nothing to do with juster working conditions. The inventor rather than the prophet is the real benefactor of the race. Our philosophy is that of the hand, not of the head or soul. Christianity is a myth, declared the fervent orator as he made a dramatic pause. 'Explain if you will,' said a workingman from the audience, 'how comes it that a myth has greater efficiency than skill, science, legislation, affection of wife and children? Thirty years ago I was a disgrace to my family, a curse to this city and worthless as a worker. Today I am sober, prosperous, determined to lift my fellow men toward God who saved me.' We persist in talking religion. It is the sole hope of this sinning, suffering, sobbing world of ours. Steam cannot make men honest, electricity does not inspire the proper ballot, synthetic chemistry does not impell men to accept the responsibilities of citizenship, the printing press is wholly unable to cleanse the conscience of men of low aims, strynicia cannot impart moral vigor to the will, and the sewing machine is utterly incompetent to develop love for wife and home and God. Religion, with its message of reconciliation and forgiveness, is still essential. Holiness, righteousness, service as incarnate in Jesus Christ are possible only as men trust God and obey Him.

Psychology of Forgiveness.

"We do not undertake to explain all the psychological and moral difficulties connected with divine forgiveness, any more than the wise psychologist can give us an adequate account of the origin of consciousness and sensation, or the biologist can describe for us the origin of life. It is a matter of experience. The best mystery is that which makes Christ our master and God our savior. From every walk of life comes the jubilant testimony of religious experience. The human race in its best moments has seen God, has felt its sin and found reconciliation. It is these who have imparted to humanity impulses creative, basal, moral. It is upon these men who became like God, who brought the message of forgiving love to this old earth of ours, that civilization builds its noblest structures and achieves its finest triumphs. Seek God now and be forgiven."

NOT AUTHORIZED TO SOLICIT ADVERTISING.

Herman A. Horowitz of the National Musicians' Directory company arrived in Duluth today from St. Paul and will investigate reports that a former employe of the company, is soliciting advertising here and representing himself as an employe of the National Musicians' Directory company.

Horowitz denies that the man has any connection with the national organization, and stated that he believed he had been selling advertising here in the national company's name. The firm which Horowitz represents issues annual directories for musicians in various cities of the United States.

WISCONSIN STATE FAIR THREATENED

Committee Favors Bill Repealing Appropriation for Improvements.

Madison, Wis., March 19.—Two things threatening the future of the state fair developed in the legislature today, one the finance committee's favorable report on the Bradley bill repealing $255,000 of appropriations for fair improvements and appeals made by telegraph to Senator Kellogg by Fond du Lac business men's organizations offering strong inducements to locate the fair in that vicinity and offering a permanent site easily reached by travelers.

The senate concurred in the Carl Hansen resolution for an investigation of university land purchases.

An anti-hazing bill was advanced and the bill abolishing the Milwaukee county municipal court passed.

Engrossment was ordered for the Culbertson bill, perfecting that process by which a city of commission form of government may return to the old form after four years' trial.

Without debate the senate, by a viva voce vote, killed the Bray resolution, as recommended by the committee, to invite E. A. Gilmore to give advice to the legislature on water power legislation.

Hunting licenses may not be issued to foreigners who have not taken out their first citizenship papers, under the Everett bill which was advanced in the senate.

The assembly passed the Smith bill permitting schools to furnish free lunches to school children.

Indefinite postponement was recommended by the assembly committee on education for the Hambrecht bill increasing the non-resident tuition fees at the state university from $100 to $150 a year.

The assembly adjourned until Saturday forenoon and the senate until Monday night.

SPECIAL ORDER FOR THURSDAY

Amendment to Workmen's Compensation Act Before the Senate.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The amendment to the workmen's compensation act, agreed upon by representatives of labor and employers, was reported for passage by the senate committee today and made a special order for next Thursday morning.

The house committee on public accounts and expenditures was empowered by the house to compel testimony, as a result of charges made last night by Col. R. A. Wilkinson that the Minneapolis chamber of commerce had contributed to the agricultural extension division of the state university.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

ASK DISSOLUTION.

No Further Business for Gunflint Land Company and It Will Quit.

Stockholders of the Gunflint Land company, which organized in February, 1912, to engage in business in St. Louis county, today petitioned the district court for an order dissolving the corporation. The petitioners are John B. Arnold, W. H. Yawkey and Charles D. Joslyn and Cyrus C. Yawkey and W. H. Yawkey as trustees of the estate of Augusta L. Austin. They represent that the company has no further business to transact, that its debts have been paid and its property distributed pro rata among the shareholders.

An order of the court was signed today fixing the date for a hearing on the petition as April 17, 1915, at a special term session of the court. The company was organized with a capital stock of $10,000.

Creamettes

Cooks in one-third the time

IF you like macaroni, you will like Creamettes. The real difference is that Creamettes is more tender, has a rich new flavor of its own, and cooks in a much shorter time. Ordinary macaroni, as you know, takes from 30 to 35 minutes to cook. Creamettes cooks in from 5 to 8 minutes.

Try it with cheese, with ham, with bacon, with tomatoes, or with nuts.

WHEAT AGAIN TURNS WEAK

Market Declines Sharply on Lighter Export Call—Is Strong Early.

Heavy Break in Flaxseed on Argentine News—Liquidation Appears.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 19.—The market was weak at the close on further selling and the catching of stop loss orders. May wheat closed unchanged; July ¾c off and September ⅝c off. May durum closed 1c up and July 1c up.

Oats closed ¼c off to ¼c up at from 58⅜ to 58⅝c for on the track; rye, unchanged at $1.15@1.16, and barley unchanged at from 67c to 78c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed unchanged at 66c, and July ½c up at 66½c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.44½ and calls at $1.50½.

Wheat started in strong today under the spur of higher Liverpool cables and reported good export inquiry at the seaboard. An advance of 3c was recorded during the first hour's trading. Later the market turned easier on the failure of the expected foreign bidding to materialize to any extent, and on predictions of increased Argentine shipments from now on. That conditions was foreshadowed in shipments from that country of 5,128,000 bu this week, as against 3,360,000 bu a week ago. Great Britain, Italy and France are now reported to be competing for grain on that market, and while freight rates are still firm, with figures yesterday showing an advance of 1s, an easier situation is predicted shortly owing to a number of additional steamers becoming available for that route.

The Dardanelles situation is exercising a bullish influence in the grain markets, it being realized that the passage cannot be forced by the allied fleet as speedily as had been looked for. That is leading to renewed inquiry for supplies on the American and Argentine markets and it is predicted that at the present rate of export trade, surplus stocks in the United States will have been contracted to go out for export before the Russian movement begins. Export bidding for flour was reported from the seaboard and Minneapolis, but nothing definite in the way of business was noted.

Strength in oats under the spur of buying by Great Britain and France was a feature. New York exporters estimated oats sales to the British government during the last couple of days up as high as 3,000,000 bu. A Duluth house was this morning sold 100,000 bu of oats for shipment all-rail from Minneapolis to Newport News for export.

May wheat opened ¾c up at $1.62, sold up to $1.63¼, and stood at $1.62⅝ at the noon hour. July opened ⅞c up at $1.47, advanced 1⅛c more and then receded to $1.48¼.

There was a persistent demand for demand durum, but trading in it was light on account of limited offerings. The May future advanced 2c to $1.58½.

Sharp Break in Flax.

Flaxseed turned weak under heavy liquidation and realizing sales and a heavy decline was recorded. Final prices showed breaks of 4½@4¾c.

The club over the market was the report that a cargo of $00,000 bu of flax now afloat at Buffalo might be returned here at the opening of navigation. According to the gossip current, the oil concern owning it figurent, the oil concern owning it figurent, that it can lay down Argentine flax at New York at 30c a bu cheaper than the quotation on the Duluth market. That intimation was the signal for an unloading movement by traders here today.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.03¾, and closed 4¾c off at $1.98¾ asked. July opened unchanged at $2.05, and closed 4½c off at $2.00½ asked. September opened unchanged at $2.04, and closed 4¾c off at $1.99½ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 5½c off at $1.77½ asked, and July 5¾c off at $1.80 bid.

The steamer Corrigan is being moved today from the Peavey to the Capitol elevator, where she will take on a load of wheat. Two tugs are now at work in the harbor breaking up the ice around the slips. Other boats will be moved to the elevators for loads within the next few days, as some of the houses are beginning to require more room to take care of current grain receipts.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Firmness in America and reported liberal export takings by outside countries, caused lighter offerings here and the undertone was firm. Heavy shipments from Argentina this week and a comparatively large quantity to the United Kingdom, was offset by firmness in Indian offers and liberal consumption here. Spot market was firm and winters and Plates were both held at 3d to 4½d advance.

"Corn—There is a better spot demand with the weather turned cold, but distant positions are neglected with Argentine crop and weather advices highly favorable on the whole."

Weather in Argentina is generally favorable for the movement. Freights are strong at 1s higher than Tuesday, with an urgent demand from the United Kingdom, and that country is buying freely, with Italy and Greece competing.

Buenos Aires wheat closed strong with free export takings at advanced prices. Oats are firm with a good business and corn is easier with free offers. Private firms there are receiving cables which place the exportable surplus of corn at 217,000,000 bu.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Advance, Influenced By an Upward Swing at Liverpool.

Chicago, March 19.—Wheat made a fresh advance in price today, influenced by an upward swing in quotations at Liverpool. Argentine shipments were large, but vessel rates from there were said to be rising rapidly and values also, with Italy and Greece competing against Great Britain. Requirements for Italy alone were estimated as being at least 18,500,000 bu. Prices here after opening ⅝@2⅛c higher, steadied at a moderate reaction from the top side of the range.

Increased strength developed after the reported sinking of a French battleship in the Dardanelles, but the market later suffered a decided drop due largely to assertions that recent export business on the flour had estimated much too high, and that a crisis had been reached in the Austro-Italian situation. The close was unsettled at ¼c to ⅝c under last night.

Although trade in corn was mainly of a local character, the market was strong owing to some sympathy with other grain. Rural offerings to arrive were small. The opening, which varied from a shade to ⅛@⅜c up was followed by a substantial further gain.

Slowness of cash call led subsequently to a setback. The close was heavy at a shade to ¼c net decline.

Oats continued to be in active demand from cash houses. The market was at times almost bare of orders to sell.

Firmness in the hog market steadied provisions. Support, however, was poor.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

No Traces of the Recent Reactionary Tendency Are Visible.

Entire List Moves Upward and the Closing Is Strong.

New York, March 19.—London's long-delayed decision to meet the minimum prices fixed by the New York stock exchange seemed to exercise a stimulating effect at the outset of today's local trading. Reading and Lehigh Valley advanced a point, with substantial gains in other active shares. United States Steel was heavily traded in at a moderate gain and the copper group as a whole was at a higher level, while Bethlehem Steel made another high record. Specialties also shared in the upward tendency, which was attended by a fair degree of activity. More gold imports from Canada were announced.

The London market's price revision of the International list today not only failed to provoke liquidation from foreign sources, but seemed actually to bring about a moderate demand from across the water. Trading fell away in marked manner towards midday, but gains were fully maintained in some instances, notably Bethlehem Steel and the Metal shares, higher levels being registered. Leading railway issues also showed improvement, although shares of the western roads were relatively backward. Heavy sales of New York Central debenture (s at new low prices was the main feature of an otherwise dull and irregular bond market.

Increasing dullness overtook the list in the early afternoon, the demand for leading stocks being less pronounced. Quote values lost none of their firmness, however, some of the specialties mounting to higher levels.

No traces of the reactionary tendency recently manifested by the stock market were visible today, the entire list moving upward.

New points of strength developed in the final hour, with greater activity in the Pacific's and other railway issues. Bethlehem Steel increased its gain to 5 points. The closing was strong.

EFFICIENCY BILL NOT LIKELY TO REACH VOTE AT PRESENT SESSION

Partisanship and Selfish Opposition of Office-holders the Cause.

Rumor of Move for Another Commission to Study Subject.

Seven Gordon Bills Also May Fail to Secure Passage.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The efficiency and economy bill probably will not come to a vote in the house Monday—very likely not at all in either house at this session.

A persistent rumor has been afloat for several days that when the time comes for the special order on the bill Monday afternoon, instead of moving the passage of the bill, Chairman Lewis C. Spooner of the special house committee on efficiency and economy, which has charge of the bill, will bring in a proposal for an interim commission to study the subject and report at the next session.

While not confirmed from any official source, this rumor has assumed proportions that make it impossible to ignore it.

And the fact that it is not denied gives anybody who feels so disposed the right to believe that it is true.

Reason for Abandonment.

The reason that is likely to be given for this abandonment of the measure on which a commission of thirty citizens spent eighteen months at their own expense and at great personal sacrifice is that those who insist on such things as retiring the board of control, protecting the board of health, keeping the grain inspection service under the railroad and warehouse commission, leaving this official or that untouched, etc., have between them created an opposition difficult to meet by amendments at this late date in the session.

The fact is that virtually everybody in the legislature has realized for a week that the bill would not pass. Partisanship, the fear that a Republican legislature might hand too much power to a Democratic governor, has been the leading factor in this unhappy

CAPTURED FOR SECOND TIME

American Steamer Maracas Was Formerly the Carmarthenshire.

London, March 20.—It has been ascertained that the American steamer Maracas, now being held at Hull for action by a British prize court, was formerly the British steamer Carmarthenshire and that she was transferred to American registry since the outbreak of the war. Her owners today are the New York Trans-Atlantic Steamship company.

The Maracas left New York Feb. 22 for Rotterdam and Copenhagen, with a cargo of packing house products. She has been detained at Kirkwall by the British naval authorities since March 11.

This is the second time the Maracas has been taken into custody by the marine authorities of Great Britain. She was convoyed into Halifax by a prize crew from a British warship early in December. She was on her way from New York to Genoa. Subsequently she was permitted to proceed, assurances having been given that no part of her cargo would be sent to any country hostile to Great Britain.

NORTH GETS BILL PASSED

Measure for Public School Education of Deaf Through House.

Probe Asked of President Vincent's Relation With Rockefeller Foundation.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative W. J. North of Duluth and Representative P. H. Konzen of Hallock succeeded yesterday afternoon in passing through the house by a vote of 98 to 1 their bill providing for public school education of deaf children, blind children, children of defective speech or children that are mentally subnormal.

Under the terms of the bill the state must contribute $100 a year for each pupil to the district which takes up this work, though there must be at least five children to make a class. Children from 4 to 10, above which latter age the state institutions take charge, are provided for.

HOUSE HAS HOT SESSION

Special Order on Appropriation Bills Left in the Air.

Proposal Forbidding Aliens to Hunt Meets Sudden Death.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the house last night, after a characteristically stormy session, adjourned to Monday morning, it left a special order on about twenty important appropriation bills up in the air, and among them is the bill for the Jay Cooke state park in Carlton county on the Dalles of the St. Louis. It will be necessary for a new special order to be arranged for these bills Monday, for some time during the week. Aside from this, the house passed three game and fish bills, killed another, and wrangled over prohibition.

Broke Into Room.

When the time for the special order arrived, there was barely a quorum, and a call of the house was ordered. When Sergeant-at-Arms Gordon Bright went out looking for members, he found the temperance committee holding a meeting in a locked committee room. Nothing daunted, he put his shoulder to the door, got a policeman to put his there too, burst into the room and took the committee back to the house.

There the committee found Representative A. V. Anderson, Prohibition-

JAP ASSURANCES WILL SATISFY U. S.

Foreign Office at Tokio Comments on American Note.

Tokio, March 20.—Press dispatches from America in which it is reported that the United States has issued a warning to Japan in connection with the Chinese negotiations, are expected here as an exaggeration of the fact that the United States recently made inquiry concerning several points in the Japanese demands as communicated to the powers. While the foreign office declines to discuss the question, Japanese statesmen express the belief that their country's assurances will satisfy the United States.

The agreement reached between Baron Takahira, when he was minister to the United States, and Elihu Root, at that time secretary of state, gives America the right to consult Japan at any time concerning the status quo in the Pacific or the independence of China. When Japan entered the war and besieged Tsing Tau, the United States amicably called attention to the Takahira-Root agreement, which provides for maintaining the independence and integrity of China and equality of commercial opportunity in that country.

The inquiry of the United States, according to information obtained in Japanese quarters, concerned minor points on the Japanese demands and Japan in reply gave a full explanation which the United States approved.

ANOTHER HEARING FOR EXPRESS COMPANIES.

Washington, March 20.—Formal orders reopening the express rate case, requested in the petition filed a few days ago by four of the principal express companies, were issued today by the interstate commerce commission. Hearings will be held at dates to be named later. Pending such hearings, however, no changes in rates may be made.

ALLIED FLEET CONTINUES DETERMINED EFFORT TO FORCE DARDANELLES STRAITS

BELIEVED GERMAN RAIDER WAS SUNK NEAR WEST INDIES

Crew of Karlsruhe Said to Have Reached Germany Months Ago.

Much Mystery Has Surrounded Movements of the Cruiser.

London, March 20.—The secretary of the admiralty announces that there is every reason to believe that the German cruiser Karlsruhe was sunk in the neighborhood of the West Indies at the beginning of November, and that those of her crew who were rescued reached Germany early in December in the steamer Rio Grande, which had been acting in concert with the Karlsruhe.

Saw Wreckage.

New York, March 20.—Edward Wadsworth of Newark, N. J., a passenger aboard the steamer Parima, which reached port today from the West Indies, said that he had seen in Grenada two life buoys with the word "Karlsruhe" on them and that several German officers' caps had been washed ashore in Charles bay, Grenada, and picked up by a fisherman.

Mr. Wadsworth said that there was a report in the West Indies that the Karlsruhe had run ashore on a reef and had been blown up by her officers to prevent her being captured. Ac-

SAIL FOR ENGLAND WITH BRITISH CREW

Ships Captured in West Indian Waters Sold By Prize Court.

New York, March 20.—The American steamer Lorenzo and the Norwegian steamer Thor, captured last September by a British cruiser in West Indian waters while they were delivering supplies to the German raider Karlsruhe, sailed March 5 and 6 for England with British crews aboard, according to passengers of the steamer Parima, which reached here today from the West Indies.

Passengers and officers of the Parima assumed, in view of the departure of the two captured vessels, that they had been sold by order of the prize court, although positive information was lacking on this point.

The Lorenzo is one of four vessels named in an indictment recently found in this city against officials and employes of the Hamburg-American line here, charging conspiracy to defraud the United States in clearing from this port to false destinations vessels laden with supplies to be delivered to German warships at sea.

CHAS. FRANCIS ADAMS DEAD

Famous Publicist and Historian Passes Away at Age of 80 Years.

Great Grandson and Grandson of Presidents of United States.

Lincoln, Mass., March 20.—Charles Francis Adams died at 2 o'clock this morning at his winter residence, 1701 Massachusetts avenue, Washington. He had been ill with the grip for a week. Mr. Adams was born in 1835. Word of his death was received at his home here this forenoon.

Ancestors Presidents.

Charles Francis Adams was widely known as a publicist and historian. He was a great-grandson of President John Adams, a grandson of President John Quincy Adams, and a son of Charles Francis Adams, minister to Great Britain in the Civil war period. A biography of his father, which included a review of the diplomatic negotiations between the United States and Great Britain over Civil war problems, was one of Mr. Adams' most notable books.

Born in Boston, May 27, 1835 and graduated from Harvard in 1856, he was admitted to the Massachusetts bar two years after leaving college. He served in the Union army throughout the Civil war, rising in rank from first lieutenant to colonel and brevet brigadier general of volunteers. After the war he was identified with railroad affairs for many years, serving for six years as president of the Union Pacific railroad and for ten years as a member of the Massachusetts board of railroad commissioners. He was chairman of the commission which planned the metropolitan park system in and about Boston.

Never Sought Public Office.

Never seeking public office, Mr. Adams took an active part, as an independent, in political affairs through his writings and speeches. His addresses in Chicago in 1900, when he gave high praise to Gen. Robert E. Lee and suggested the erection of a monument to Lee at Washington, and at Richmond in 1908; when as an "Independent Democrat" he urged the election of Taft over Bryan, attracted wide attention.

Mr. Adams was a member of the board of overseers of Harvard university for more than twenty years. In 1913 he lectured at Oxford on American history. He was the author of numerous books on railroads and on various phases of American history, and was a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

BELGIANS MUST BOARD 1,000,000 GERMAN PIGS.

Brussels, Belgium, March 20, via London.—One million German pigs have been billeted on the civilian population of Belgium. The pigs must be fed and cared for by the Belgians without distinction as to class. One of the wealthiest inhabitants of Brussels has been compelled to take twelve hogs on what he styles "reduced rates by the week." For some time there have been reports of a shortage of fodder in Germany, whereas the amount in Belgium is nearly nominal, hence the importation of the swine.

HOLLAND PROTESTS BRITISH BLOCKADE.

London, March 20.—The government of The Netherlands, according to the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company at The Hague, has sent to Great Britain and France a protest against the British blockade of Germany.

Holland is the fourth state to make formal protest against the reprisal measures adopted by Great Britain and France. Denmark, Norway and Sweden the early part of this week made identical representations to the allied governments against the Anglo-French policy of reprisals on German commerce.

THREE SHIPS STRIKE MINES AND ARE SUNK

Two British and One French Battleships Go to Bottom.

Land Forces May Be Necessary to Assist in Reducing Forts.

Turks Again Begin Preparations to Leave City of Constantinople.

SIXTY-FOUR MEN SAVED FROM FRENCH WARSHIP.

Paris, March 20, via London.—Official announcement was made here this afternoon that sixty-four men have been saved from the crew of the French battleship Bouvet, sunk in the Dardanelles, March 18. The losses on the other ships of the French division, which took part in the action, are declared to be very slight.

London, March 20.—With the Russian Black sea fleet reported knocking at the door of the Bosporus and six allied battleships renewing the bombardment of the Turkish positions on the Dardanelles, the fate of the straits is today hanging in the balance, according to opinions freely expressed in London. Nevertheless, reports from Turkish sources still profess supreme confidence in the impregnability of the defending forts, which it is claimed, have successfully sustained a bombardment extending over twenty-one days.

The report of the British admiralty giving news of the sinking of three battleships, two British and one French, is rather hazy as to the results achieved by this loss and it gives weight to the growing belief that the straits will not be won until the naval operations are supported by effective land forces. The bombardment of Friday was interrupted by bad weather, but it is anticipated that the operations will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Gaulois Suffered.

The French admiralty, while expressing the hope that some members of the crew of the battleship Bouvet have been saved, confirms reports from neutral sources that the French battleship Gaulois also suffered severely in the battle of March 18.

Although Turkish official reports minimize the effect of the bombardment and declare that Constantinople is not afraid, intelligence received from other near Eastern points sets forth that negotiations already have

ASKS COURT TO DISMISS SUIT

German Corporation Would Hold Wireless at Tuckerton.

Trenton, N. J., March 20.—The German corporation which owns the wireless station at Tuckerton N. J. today asked the court of chancery to dismiss the suit brought by a French corporation to gain possession of the Tuckerton station and the wireless station at Ellvese, Prussia.

The French company charges that the German concern, before the European war started, had agreed to sell the Tuckerton station to it. The papers filed by the German corporation today are in the form of an answer to the suit. They ask the court to dismiss the suit or withhold action in the case pending the outcome of the war. The answer further states that any steps taken by the court at this time would be incompatible with the neutrality of the United States.

The French corporation is known as Compagnie Universelle de Telegraphie et de Telephone Sans Fil, with offices in Parris. The German corporation is the Hochfrequenz-Maschinen Aktiengeselleschaft Fur Drahilose Telegraphie of Berlin. The United States service corporation, now in control of the Tuckerton station, is also a defendant.

The answer further says the real object of the suit is to bring about a cessation of communication between Germany and the United States.

SHIP ESCAPES DURING FIGHT

Lapland Gets Away While Destroyer Battles With Submarine.

Steamer Zigzags Down Irish Channel at Full Speed.

New York, March 20.—Passengers aboard the British steamer Lapland, which reached here today from Liverpool, witnessed a battle in the Irish channel between a British torpedo boat, which escorted the Lapland, and a German submarine. The Lapland, crowding on all steam, fled in a zigzag line from the combatants.

The Lapland picked up her naval escort outside the entrance to Liverpool harbor. Before the steamer sailed reports were current in Liverpool that submarines were in nearby waters. Steamer and convoy were not far from Liverpool when the torpedo boat opened fire.

The raider fired a torpedo at another vessel. Passengers aboard the Lapland watched the progress of the missile through the water and saw that it went wide of its target. No torpedo was discharged at the Lapland so far as could be learned.

Gunfire Quickened.

Meantime the torpedo boat's guns had quickened their fire to a fusillade of shots. The Lapland's captain ordered full speed ahead and the steam-

WOMAN FALLS FIVE STORIES TO DEATH

Mrs. Ellen Heney, Editor and Author, Ends Life While Delirious.

New York, March 20.—Mrs. Ellen Heney, editor of the Woman's Magazine, published in Detroit, and writer of short stories, plunged five stories from her room to her death at her home here today. She was delirious from typhoid fever at the time and made her way to a window during a brief interval in which her nurse had left the room for medicine.

Mrs. Heney, who was a sister of W. W. Farley, state excise commission, had been ill since Sunday. She was 32 years old and came to this city fifteen years ago from Binghamton, N. Y.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The attack on the Dardanelles was resumed yesterday, notwithstanding the heavy losses of the allied fleet on the preceding day. No official announcement has been made concerning the result of yesterday's operations, but unofficial advises are to the effect that little was accomplished on account of unfavorable weather conditions. A Constantinople dispatch says that the sinking of the British battleships Irresistible and Ocean and the French battleship Bouvet, ascribed by the British admiralty to floating mines, was due to torpedoes.

The Turkish positions on the mainland near Smyrna are being strengthened and large reinforcements have been sent to the assistance of the defenders. Efforts are being made to repair the damage already done to the defense of Smyrna and to plant mines.

The new naval policy of the allies is now in operation against Austria, according to word which has reached Rome. The commanders of the Anglo-French fleet in the Adriatic have been notified to prevent transportation of all goods to or from Austrian ports.

The government of the Netherlands has sent a formal protest to France and Great Britain against their naval policy.

The British assertion that in four days of the fighting at Neuve Chapelle the Germans lost no less than 17,000 men is disputed by the German general staff. An official statement places the total German losses at about 6,000 men.

SALOON WILL BE CLOSED

Council Will Refuse to Grant Renewal to Charles Carlson.

Contract for Furnishing Cast Iron Pipe Will Be Awarded.

Charles Carlson's saloon at 513 West Superior street will be closed on Monday, when the council will refuse to grant him a renewal of his license.

Two weeks ago Commissioner Hicken announced that two more saloons would be closed, because the owners had permitted the sale of beer to women and had conducted their places in violation of the law. Andrew Miller's saloon at 1119 West Michigan street was closed the following day and, as Mr. Carlson's license does not come up for consideration until Monday, no action could be taken at the time. His application for a renewal is in and Commissioner Hicken said that it will be refused at the meeting Monday afternoon.

In addition the commission will award the contract for furnishing the water and light department with cast iron pipe to the United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry company on its bid of $28,377.50, and the contract for furnishing a five-passenger automobile to the department to Leonard McNamara on his low bid of $1,430, of which $430 is to go in return for the old automobile now in use.

The ordinance appropriating $800 from the general fund in payment for the premiums on the bonds for the new commissioners will be given its second reading.

Bids on furnishing the city with oil sprinkling machines are to be opened Monday morning and at the meeting of the commissioners in the afternoon it is expected that the contract will be awarded to the lowest bidder.

A sanitary sewer in Tenth street, from Ninth to Tenth avenues east, will also be ordered at the meeting. The improvement will cost about $800.

With the closing of Mr. Carlson's saloon on Monday, it will be the eighteenth saloon, a license for which was either revoked or refused since Commissioner Hicken took office two years ago.

Ensign school—All candidates.

Four more candidates filed their expense statements yesterday and this morning, bringing the total to nine.

The latest candidates to file are Commissioner Murchison and Bernard Silberstein, who are out for the commission, and John H. Norton and M. E. Louisell, candidates for municipal judge. The three candidates who have yet to file are Commissioner Hicken, William L. Bernard and Chris Evens. The last two have not incurred any expenses, with the exception of the filing fee of $5, and it is not certain whether they will be in the race. Mr. Evens will arrive tonight from San Francisco and the candidacies of the two men will be finally decided on when he reaches the city.

From March 6 to March 20 Mr. Silberstein spent a total of $136.50; Commissioner Murchison, $121 from March 6 to March 20; Mr. Louisell, $103.19 from Feb. 21 to March 19, and Mr. Norton, $21 from Feb. 27 to March 13.

Candidates must file their final statements on April 3, the last Saturday before election, according to the election laws of the state. Their total expenses must not go above $500.

J. A. Farrell still leads all the candidates with a total expense of $226.84, while J. L. Norman is low man, with an expense of but $6, which he paid as a filing fee to the city clerk.

BLAMES THE STATE FOR "DOPE FIENDS"

Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the city health department, is of the opinion that the state should establish a sanatorium for persons addicted to the use of narcotics. Although there are said to be few, if any, habitual drug users in Duluth, he believes there are many in the state in need of treatment.

"Since the enforcement of the Federal drug act," said Dr. Webster yesterday, "many pitiful cases have come to public notice and I think the state should provide a remedy for those addicted to the use of drugs. The government has stopped the promiscuous sale of opiates and narcotics, but has not provided for the relief of those who must have drugs. Inasmuch as the state has allowed the unlimited sale of harmful drugs, I think it is responsible for the unfortunate condition now existing and should come to the relief of those in need of medical attention."

HAS BEEN NO UPRISING AMONG THE DERVISHES.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 20.—No uprising among the Dervishes of Egyptian Sudan had occurred up to Dec. 27 last, according to Rev. D. D. Oyler of Atlantic, Iowa, a missionary of the United Presbyterian church, who left his mission at Boleib Hill, about fifty miles from Fashoda on that date. This was the statement of Mr. Oyler over long distance telephone to The Associated Press. He declared the report that a British general named Hawley and his command had been killed by Dervishes near Fashoda on Dec. 13, was absolutely false.

Ottawa, Ont., March 20.—Ten privates of the Canadian expeditionary force are given as killed in action, two deaths from wounds are recorded and fourteen wounded are mentioned in the casualty list issued last night by the militia department.

TONSILITIS, SORE THROAT, CHEST COLDS CAN BE CURED OVER NIGHT

They vanish quickly if Goos-olene is rubbed in.

When the throat tickles, when it hurts to draw a long breath, when you feel as if a knife were stuck in your side, it's time to draw out the congestion that would soon become worse. Nothing is known that possesses more merit in such cases than Goos-olene. Rub liberally over the sides and chest. Rub it hard. The warm, soothing effect of Goos-olene will be apparent in five minutes. Nothing like it for quick relief. Takes the soreness out of the throat in one rubbing, breaks up the chest cold, draws out the inflammation, stops the cough quickly. Rub it on for rheumatism, it drives the pain right away. For babies use Goos-olene No. 2. Specially prepared for and commonly called Baby Goos-olene, in sanitary tubes. 25c and 50c at all drug stores. Goos-olene Company, Superior, Wisconsin.

OBITUARY

Cardinal Anthony Agliardi, chancellor of the Catholic church and subdean of the Sacred college, died in Rome March 19 at the age of 83 years. He was the titular bishop of Albano and was proclaimed a cardinal in 1896. Mrs. Alice Haldeman of Girard, Kan., sister of Miss Jane Addams and one of the few women workers in the United States, died in Chicago March 19. Death occurred in the hospital to which Mrs. Haldeman came for treatment a few years ago. Mrs. Haldeman was not only a banker, but a vice president of the Western Bankers' association.

PAID POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.

Inserted by James A. (Bert) Farrell in behalf of himself, candidate for Commissioner. Amount to be paid, $8.96.

FARRELL WANTS GOOD STREETS AND GOOD ROADS

James A. (Bert) Farrell makes no secret of the fact that if he is elected commissioner he hopes to be assigned to the Division of Public Works. His experience peculiarly fits him for that office.

Mr. Farrell knows every foot of the street and sewer systems of Duluth. He knows where improvements may be made with profit to the city. He believes that improvements should be made in all parts of the city as soon as the development warrants; that preliminary work should be thorough to avoid mistakes; that efficient engineering and inspection must go with good material; that the greatest good to the community as a whole should be the first consideration.

Furthermore Mr. Farrell believes that the roads out of the city should be given attention. Good roads lead up to the city limits from the country and the effect is spoiled by poor roads within the city. A railroad would not have a good main line and terminals that destroyed its operating value; neither should Duluth fail to connect the county roads with the city streets. Such connections would hasten to develop the surrounding country and the city with it.

Vote for James A. (Bert) Farrell if you want a thorough, economical, comprehensive program of public improvements in Duluth.

WITH THE CURLERS.

Play for the Bagley Event Is Finished at Midnight.

Richard F. Wade won the Bagley trophy at midnight last night at the Western Curling club by defeating E. J. Zauft in the finals of the event after each rink had played three games of six heads each. Games were played from the preliminaries to the finals of the event in order that it might be entirely wound up.

In the first series of games R. F. Wade won from Iltis, Judson won from Mallory, Simpson's rink forfeited to Olson and Zauft won from F. F. Wade. In the second round Judson won from Olson and Zauft won from Kriedler. The latter game was in the semi-finals and in the other set of semi-finals between Judson and R. F. Wade the latter won easily.

Curlers are hoping that the sport will last until next Thursday night. George J. Mallory announced last night that if curling was still good on that date the curlers would be given a box of cigars to play for. That day happens to be Mr. Mallory's birthday and, incidentally, he said he intended to skip a rink and try to win the box for himself.

The ice last night was in excellent shape. Believing that the sport may continue the drawing for the West Duluth Commercial club was made. In this event three games will be played tonight. The games are: Evered vs. Donald, R. F. Wade vs. Kriedler and Quinn vs. Judson.

The following is the draw:

WOMAN MIXED ON OSBORNES

Sues Former District Attorney of New York for $50,000.

New York, March 20.—Miss Rae Tanzer, who recently sued James W. Osborne, former assistant district attorney of New York, for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise and who was arrested last night on a charge of using the mails for purposes of extortion, appeared before United States Commissioner Houghton today and was held in $6,000 bail for further hearing next Wednesday.

Miss Tanzer was accompanied before Commissioner Houghton by her attorney, David Slade. Mr. Slade requested that the hearing be held today, saying "it is an unjustice to this poor little girl, who has no friends but her attorneys to adjourn this case."

An United States district attorney named Wednesday next as a date that would suit the government for the preliminary hearing, and Wednesday was set.

Wants Both Present.

When the bail had been agreed upon Miss Tanzer's attorney requested the commissioner to instruct the district attorney to have James W. Osborne and Oliver S. Osborne of Boston present on Wednesday. The commissioner replied he had no power to instruct the district attorney to do anything.

Miss Tanzer, in her suit, alleged that James W. Osborne used the alias of Oliver Osborne when he accompanied her to various places. Yesterday Oliver Osborne of Boston appeared and announced that he knew Miss Tanzer well and that while she was writing letters to James W. Osborne, insisting that he was "Oliver," she was at the same time writing to him in Boston. The information furnished to Oliver Osborne caused the arrest of Miss Tanzer. Neither James W. Osborne nor Oliver Osborne was at the hearing today.

When the hearing was concluded Miss Tanzer was taken into an adjoining office by a special agent of the department of justice while her attorney went out to look for bail.

MORE REPORTS OF BIG EGGS.

The Herald as the medium of the poultry raisers of Northern Minnesota continues to get reports of big eggs.

Yesterday Maurice Hart of Woodland reported having become the possessor of the newly laid big one. It was laid by one of his White Orpington pullets. The egg measured 7 7-8 inches the long way and 6¼ inches the other way, and Mr. Hart brought in the egg as proof. When placed on the breakfast table this morning it proved to have two yolks.

BANK ROBBER SCARED.

Apparently Tried to Dig Under Grafton Strong Box and Quit.

Grafton, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Something frightened away a would-be safe robber, who at some time during the last few weeks had made an unsuccessful effort to burglarize the safe of the Grafton National bank. Armed with a pick, a short crowbar and a two-edged saw, the man had got into the basement of the bank and dug a hole about two feet wide in the foundations of the vault, evidently intending to drill a hole or dynamiting one through the bottom of the strong box. He had evidently become frightened and abandoned the plan. That the attempt was made at least several weeks ago is indicated by the rust on the saw.

MEETINGS END AT THE LYCEUM

Dr. Hoffman Preaches on "The Supreme Question" —Christ the Example.

Capacity Crowd Attends the Service—Pastor Is Well Pleased.

In his final appeal at the noonday religious meetings at the Lyceum theater, Rev. Dr. John Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, preached on "The Supreme Question," and took the life and personality of Christ as an example.

Today's service closed the meetings, and the theater was crowded. The sermon was one of the strongest of the series, and Dr. Hoffman both today and throughout the week has made an excellent impression. Today he said he was well pleased with the response of the Duluth people, and he thanked the newspapers for their help in giving publicity to his work.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, led in prayer, and Miss Gladys Reynolds was the soloist. Dr. Hoffman said in part:

"No personality has ever engaged the attention of the best minds of history as has that of Jesus. Innumerable have been the attempts to explain, interpret, and appreciate the genius of His character and influence. The thoughts He uttered, the principles He practiced, the ideals He incarnated, and the character He achieved have enriched and directed the intellectual and moral currents of nineteen centuries. Unique, original, creative He is confessedly the most absolute challenge to action man has ever met. His chief value, however, is not that of an intellectual nor is it that of an economic leader, but that of the moral and spiritual life of God. He is the translation of the heavenly Father in terms of religious thought and conduct. We may not agree in our dogmatic estimates of the Christ, neither may we describe in identical terms the manner of His activities but all must agree that the richness of His life, the beauty of His character, the love of His soul, and the regenerating energy of His spirit is the inspiration and hope of millions.

No Untried Principle.

"It is not, therefore, wholly upon an untried experiment in conduct we urge you. Back of us are centuries of the exhibition of the unique power of Jesus and His matchless leadership. His moral worth, spiritual power, religious value have been attested in every age. In His revelation of God, in the possibilities of human life, in the assurance of immortality He brings, He is singularly alone. To abstract Christ from our civilization would be to take the sun out of the heavens, the soul out of the body. Ideas that have guided the race into holiest experiences, ideals that have lured mankind from greed and gold, enthusiasms that have stimulated men to their highest, trace back to Jesus Christ as their personal source.

Attitude Is Voluntary.

"One's attitude is voluntary and responsible. It is not coerced or automatic. We may regard Him solely as an object of thought, a subject for investigation, a problem to be solved. This is reasonable and right. We must know before we can do, we must have information before we can act. It is only fair that men should make a candid and impartial analysis of the elements and characteristics of the teaching and character of Christ.

Christ Is Hope.

"Christ is the hope of labor, of capital, of the state, of the home. In Him are concepts and dynamics which will create equality of opportunity and inspire justice that is social, righteousness that is political, and a humanity that is holy and sympathetic. But not one of these attitudes is fundamental and equal to the best there is in Christ. Christ declared a message, study is essential. He presented in Himself an ideal of incomparable beauty, admiration is legitimate.

The Portrayal of God.

"Jesus, Himself, is a portrayal of God never approached. He is an illumination for the problems of life and duty outshining all others. He is a revelation of the path to perfection absolutely accurate. He is authority and finality on destiny. In Him the practice of sacrifice, the passion of service and the law of love reach their highest form in the cross. In only one way can this wonderful Christ impart the full vigor of His power—we must trust and obey Him. To this the conscience of Pilate urged but material and political considerations diverted him. The joy of Christian service, the freedom of soul, the fullness of life, the character and habits of Christian conduct all have their origin in unqualified personal dedication to our Lord Jesus Christ. 'I resolved,' writes John Ruskin, 'that I would believe in Christ and take Him for my master in whatever I did; there were mysteries either way; the best mystery was that which gave me Christ for a master.' Inward peace, moral purpose, spiritual triumphs, holy service all develop from obedience to the Christ. It is not what we think, it is not how much we admire, it is what we do with Jesus that determines character now and destiny hereafter. Reject or accept Him. The conscience of Pilate impelled him toward Christ, but cowardice and selfishness made a tragedy of his career. What are you doing with the Christ?"

FROZE FEET IN ESCAPING

Girl Wife Fled From Husband's Threats on Christmas Eve.

Fear of being murdered by a drunken and brutal husband, who, with a curse on his lips, vowed that he would shoot her down in her tracks, prompted Gertrude Mattila, 15-year-old wife of William Mattila, 24, to steal from her home into a bitter cold winter night and seek what refuge a nearby forest offered her.

That night was Christmas eve for most of the world, but for the child-wife in the wilds of a Northern Minnesota woods it was a night of horror and suffering. For several hours she stumbled about through the snow among the trees mindful only of escaping from the man who had vowed to kill her. Later when she was found by friends, both of her feet were frozen, but she was still trembling with fear.

The next day she was taken to a hospital at Aurora where she was confined for several weeks as a result of her frozen feet. Mattila was arrested a few days later for the assault which he had made on his wife, and was committed from a range court to the city and county work farm, where he is now serving time. The Mattilas lived on a farm near Palo.

The tragedy in the life of the young wife occurred on the evening of Dec. 24, last. It is made a basis for a divorce action which was begun today in district court. In papers filed by her today, she recites the story of the outrage perpetrated upon her and asks the court to grant her an absolute separation from him. There are no children.

Mattila and his wife were married March 26, 1914, less than a year ago. According to her complaint, he began to mistreat her soon after they were married and continued his abuse up to the time of the Christmas eve incident. On that night, Mattila was heavily under the influence of liquor and particularly cruel in his treatment towards her.

She alleges that after he had vowed that he would kill her, she found his gun and emptied the cartridges from it before he obtained possession of the weapon. Enraged at finding no shells in the gun, Mattila cursed and swore again that he would kill her. It was while he was searching about the cabin for other cartridges that she took advantage of an opportunity to escape.

The young wife alleges that had she not left the house and hidden in the woods that she believes she would have been shot down.

SUPERIOR

DESERTED WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Mrs. Lawrence Harrar, 24, is at St. Francis hospital in a critical condition because of an attempt to commit suicide by drinking carbolic acid some time during last night. She was found unconscious in her room at the home of her brother-in-law, Paul Harrar of the East end, this morning.

Despondency, caused, it is believed, because her husband had left her, led her to make the attempt. Yesterday afternoon, on arriving from a shopping trip down town, she found a note left by her husband in which he announced that he intended leaving her. She immediately swore out a warrant for his arrest and later told a policeman who had the warrant in charge that she would kill herself if her husband refused to come back and live with her.

"I cannot live without him and I'll commit suicide if he doesn't come back," is the assertion she is said to have made. She is expected to recover. Her husband has not been located by the police.

Mrs. Harrar and her husband came to Superior two months ago from Hibbing. She is said to have a brother residing at Virginia but his name is not known.

Twice the Signers Needed.

More than twice the number of signatures necessary have been secured by advocates of a saloonless city in Superior during the week. Almost 1,000 names have been secured to the petitions although only 473 are needed. After checking up the names it is proposed to file them with the city clerk. The petitions will probably be ready to file before the middle of next week.

EXCITING CHASE AFTER FUGITIVES.

Special agents and employes of the Soo railroad had an exciting chase of nearly half a mile after two men who are alleged to have attempted to steal from box cars in the yards near Twenty-first street and Grand avenue last evening. After a series of falls that would do credit to a comic film in a motion picture house, the two men were arrested. They gave their names as Emil Soley and Thomas Gloneck. After a short hearing in the municipal court they were bound over to the superior court.

Cloquet Club Meeting.

Cloquet, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Woman's Friday club met with Mrs. W. L. Chase yesterday afternoon, and the following program was rendered: "Nordica," Mrs. F. E. Wilhelmi; "Overdid," Mrs. J. Fleming; piano selections from "Lohengrin." The roll-call was answered by patrons of music.

Trying to Sell an Automobile?

—or are you trying to buy one. A plain, friendly talk from business men to business men.

By Hugh Chalmers and E. J. Filiatrault

To Automobile Owners:

Most men who own motor cars in the class of the Chalmers cars ($1400 to $2400) are business men.

Many are in the farming business, but nearly all are in business of one kind or another.

Eighty-five per cent of each year's purchasers of motor cars are business men who are already owners of other motor cars.

Hence, they are in the market as a buyer of a motor car and as a seller of a motor car at the same time.

In fact, so many used cars are on sale each year, or up for a "trade-in" on a new motor car, that one of our dealesr good naturedly said:

"Everybody is in the automobile business. Every time I sell a car I have to sell it in competition with 100 other manufacturers and 250,000 owners."

It is natural and proper that you should desire to purchase the best car for your use at the best price you can get.

It is just as natural and quite as proper that you should desire to sell or trade your old car to as great advantage as possible; but we know that the two issues are often confused to our detriment and we believe they are to yours.

Say that you were in need of a large quantity of material, or had a large order of any kind to place, it is natural for you to desire two things.

1st. To get the best price.

2nd. To give the business to some one who patronizes you.

But if you went out to sell some man your goods at the same time or as part of a deal for the purchase of his goods, wouldn't you put yourself immediately at a disadvantage?

Wouldn't you rather seek bids or prices on a basis of cost and service, and after you had made your selection from that strictly unbiased standpoint, endeavor to work in the sale of your own goods?

Now how does the owner usually buy a new motor car?

In just the opposite way.

He comes to the various dealers to sell us his old car rather than buy our new one, and many, many times, you hear the owner say, "I would much rather have had a ..... car this year, but the ..... people gave me more for my old car."

Now, no standard car manufacturer varies his price, and but few dealers do. The fluctuation, the "jockeying" comes in the exchange for the old car.

Many a $50 greater allowance for an old car, has cost $250 worth of new car to the owner.

But while such a loose screw in his business would arrest the business man's attention in a minute, it seems to get by him in the matter of purchasing a motor car, which is, however, none the less a business transaction.

One business man who noticed this peculiar bit of psychology, buys a new car each year.

He goes to each dealer in the class in which he is interested, as the buyer of a motor car.

The dealers vie with each other to sell him. They show him everything they have in the shop and put the best foot forward.

After he decides what car he wants—for cash—he brings up the subject of his old car.

Then he and the dealer endeavor to work out by trade, or by selling the old car for him — or by him selling it for himself—a satisfactory deal.

We sold him twice on this satisfactory basis — once he selected another car and they sold him on the same satisfactory basis.

We don't expect to sell everybody a Chalmers car who looks at it, but we boast that we have never yet missed the sale of a car to a man who went through our factory—and there have been thousands of them.

We have, however, lost lots of sales on the basis of buying an old car to sell our new one, when we would have made the user a much better deal than he got if he had looked over the Chalmers with the critical view of buying a car, rather than selling one.

Of course, our attitude is admittedly self interested.

But isn't your self interest in the same place that ours is?

Model 32 New Six-40—$1400

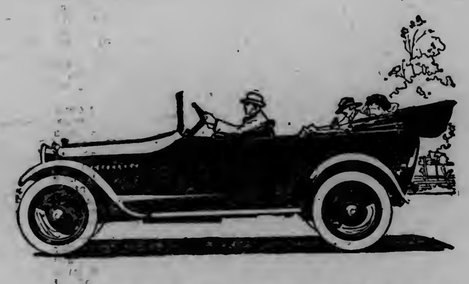
This new Chalmers Six is the result of a demand for a quality car at $1500 or less.

It is not a cheaper edition of the "Light Six" or the "Master Six."

Its type of construction is unique.

The motor is of unusually small bore and extra long stroke—high speed on minimum gasoline.

In material and workmanship also it is a Chalmers car—with all that means—at $1400.



Model 26 Light Six-48—$1650

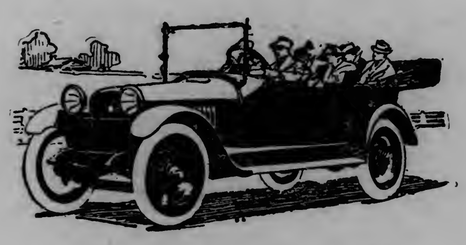
This is probably the most popular Chalmers car.

It is notably beautiful; mechanically perfect.

But in addition it has proved the most economical in monthly upkeep cost of any car in its division—$1500 to $2000.

Though it uses no more gasoline, oil or tires than many heavier cars, its great record is made by its economy in repair cost.

Will go anywhere and all the time.



The Master Six-54—$2400

This car can go 70 miles an hour without effort; but can also be throttled down to a snails pace in crowed streets.

It is built in two bodies. The torpedo seats five people, has but a single door in the center on either side; the front seats are divided by an aisle and the lines are extremely racy and smart.

The body is a wonderfully handsome example of the foreign "boat" type design.

It is the Master Six of all its division.

Quality First

We recommend your coming in and talking it over. We also especially invite the ladies of your family to come and see the car, sit in the tonneau, ride in it. Our experience is that men buy largely from investigation, consideration, explanation, but ladies from appearance, comfort and the name it has among their friends. We are ready for either test—or both of them.

CHURCHES TO AID HICKEN

Murchison, Evens and Bernard Also Indorsed—Will Open Headquarters.

Campaign Committee Will Be Organized in Behalf of Candidates.

Churches of the city will tomorrow organize a campaign committee to work in behalf of Commissioners Hicken and Murchison and Judge Windom, all candidates for re-election, and Chrts E. Evans and William L. Bernard, according to action taken last evening by the Duluth Men's Interchurch council at its regular meeting in the First Methodist church.

As announced in The Herald last evening, there will be more than 100 men on a general committee working in behalf of Mr. Hicken. A campaign committee, headed by Z. D. Scott, has already been organized for Commissioner Murchison. This committee, and a similar organization for Commissioner Hicken, will establish headquarters early next week in one of the downtown buildings and at West Duluth.

At the meeting last night the members of the council were stirred to action when several of the leaders declared that "it was high time forces for a closed town and clean government were getting busy in the campaign." The five men were given the unanimous indorsement, although it was decided to investigate further the proposed withdrawal of both Mr. Evens and Mr. Bernard.

A committee, consisting of Bert Wheeler, John G. Ross and G. F. Hanson, was appointed to notify all the clergymen of the city that following the regular services tomorrow the men should hold an informal meeting and organize in behalf of the five men indorsed by the Interchurch council. Each committee will work in its own parish and among the members of the church, so the entire city will be covered.

Friends of Commissioner Hicken announced yesterday that a campaign committee would be organized in his behalf and from present indications active work will be well under way by the middle of next week. The head of the public safety division has declared that he is too busy in his office to make much of a campaign, and it is planned by the committee to take all the work out of his hands entirely.

In case Mr. Evens and Mr. Bernard withdraw, and this will be decided tonight when Mr. Evens returns from San Francisco, the Interchurch council will campaign in behalf of Commissioners Hicken and Murchison and Judge Windom.

SHIPS ESCAPE DURING FIGHT

er shot forward. To dodge torpedoes and to afford the submarine a poor target, the Lapland was steered at intervals abruptly to port and to starboard in a zigzag course. Going at her highest speed the steamer left the combatants behind and made the safety of the open sea.

The Lapland carried 113 passengers. In the steerage were two American boys, Harold and Howard Hudson of Bridgeport, Conn., twins about 15 years old, who had attended school near London. The boys wanted to see actual warfare and enlisted in the British army, giving false ages and not mentioning their nationality. Their parents in this country learned what had happened and invoked the aid of the state department to secure their release.

Through the efforts of Ambassador Page at London the boys were released.

cording to this rumor, Mr. Wadsworth said, the officers and crew of the Karlsruhe put to sea on one of the ships which the Karlsruhe had captured.

Mr. Wadsworth said that the rumor was unverified.

A Copenhagen dispatch of March 18 said a local newspaper published a story emanating from a German merchant, that the crew of the Karlsruhe had arrived in Germany early in December on the steamer Rio Negro, not Rio Grande, as the British admiralty stated. The Rio Negro reached Swinemunde on Dec. 6 from Brazil.

A previous report had asserted that the Karlsruhe had been blown up by an explosion, and that a portion of her crew had reached Swinemunde. Still another report had the Karlsruhe lying on one of the Grenadine Islands in the Caribbean, having been wrecked in a storm or destroyed by an explosion.

Little News of Her.

Since the Karlsruhe, on Oct. 26 sank the steamer Van Dyck in West Indian waters, little has been known of her movements, although there has been various reports concerning her. On Nov. 13, it was reported from New Orleans that the cruiser had been cornered by British warships, but had fled to the Canary islands. On Jan. 4, a dispatch from Willemstad, Curacoa, said the steamer Maracaibo had sighted the Karlsruhe Jan. 1 off Laguayra, Venezuela.

The Karlsruhe, according to a San Juan, P. R., dispatch was sighted off Moro on Jan. 21 by the steamer Cosmo. Later the warship was said to have taken on supplies in Haiti and in February a letter received in New York from Germany, said she was safely in Wilhelmshafen.

Several times the Karlsruhe had been reported to have been sunk in an engagement with enemy warships but this seems improbable, as neither the British nor French admiralty departments have made any such claim.

NORTH GETS BILL PASSED

sentative T. T. Morken of Crookston and P. H. Frye of Willmar are the authors. The bill must still go through the senate before the change is made.

* * *

Representative Tom J. McGrath of St. Paul yesterday afternoon put through the house the bill by Representative L. A. Lydiard of Minneapolis requiring one day's rest in seven in workshops, factories and mercantile establishments. The vote was 67 to 35, and the bill was passed only after repeated roll calls had brought in enough votes.

Vincent and Rockefeller Foundation.

Representatives Devold and Teigen yesterday afternoon introduced a caustic resolution calling for an investigation of the policy of having President Vincent of the state university acting as a member of the general education board of the Rockefeller foundation, and of the attitude of the university toward organized labor.

The resolution was put over for the day by a notice of debate, given by Representative Paul W. Guilford of Minneapolis.

Under its terms the committee on public accounts and expenditures, which is now investigating the business management of the university, would be required to make a separate investigation and report on the relationship of the president of the university with the Rockefeller foundation, and on the following matters: The condition of the labor employed by the school; whether preference is given to contractors employing low-priced labor; whether any attention is paid to employing union men, or residents or non-residents of the state; whether the university permits its employes to belong to unions; whether or not men have been discharged for belonging to unions, "the lately organized janitors' union in particular;" and whether the university, through its extension course, may not mould public opinions "to suit the ends of the special interests of the nation, as a result of the connection of its president with the Rockefeller foundation."

Representative A. F. Teigen yesterday afternoon proposed that each member of the house be permitted to pick out a general bill—"not a temperance measure"—to be placed at the head of general orders for Monday in an order to be determined by lot. Representative Rodenberg put the resolution over to today by giving notice of debate.

The Crosby-Ironton War.

The little war between the Crosby and Ironton folks was still unsettled last night, though attempts had been made to effect a compromise.

The Ironton men deny that there is any attempt whatever to "slip anything over" on the Crosby people. They declare that the move is solely in the interests of the people living in West Park and Keating additions to Crosby, which adjoin the village of Ironton, but are a mile from Crosby. While these people are virtually a part of Ironton so far as location is concerned, Representative Syverson said yesterday afternoon, they are denied the benefits of municipal government such as water and streets, police protection, and sewer, because they are not a part of the village of Ironton and are too far out to get these privileges from Crosby.

State Bonding Department.

Representative Elmer E. Adams yesterday afternoon succeeded in getting a special order for Wednesday on the Adams-Bendixen bill creating a state bonding department to bond public officials at cost, and the bill to provide for short term insurance, introduced at the request of merchants all over the state. The bill requires insurance companies to make short-term policies at a pro rata of the regular rates, plus 10 per cent.

* * *

The senate committee on public domain yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the bill by Senator George M. Peterson of Duluth extending the time allowed the city of Duluth to take advantage of the opportunity to lease the old state elevator site at Duluth for public dock purposes.

* * *

Representative Magnus Johnson tried yesterday afternoon to advance his bill repealing the appropriation for a state historical society building made two years ago. He wanted it taken from No. 80 on general orders to No. 1, but failed, getting 57 votes to 41 against when he needed 87, or two-thirds, to carry his motion.

Against Soil Survey.

The senate, by the adoption of an adverse report from the committee on finance, yesterday afternoon killed the bill appropriating $25,000 to carry out the provisions of the forestry amendment to the Constitution, the only constitutional amendment ratified last November. The bill provided for a soil survey and for the setting aside of forestry purposes of land better fitted for that purpose than for agriculture.

* * *

Representative John H. Boyd of Crookston yesterday afternoon gave notice to the house that he would shortly move to recall from the committee on roads and bridges his bill abolishing the state highway commission and putting all road work under county boards, the division of state aid to be made by a state commission that would be without authority to supervise its expenditure.

* * *

The house yesterday afternoon passed the following bills:

By Senator Denegre of St. Paul—Authorizing St. Paul to issue bonds at 5 per cent, notwithstanding the charter limitation of 4 per cent.

By Representative Pendergast—Validating certain warrants of the city of Bemidji.

By Representative A. M. Peterson—Giving the county attorney of Itasca county $3,000 salary and $800 for stenographic help.

EFFICIENCY BILL NOT LIKELY TO REACH VOTE AT PRESENT SESSION

result, of course, though the selfish opposition of office holders jealous of their powers and prerogatives has united with this factor and has been closely intertwined with it.

At any rate, it is a 10-to-1 bet that no efficiency and economy bill will pass at this session, and it is a 2-to-1 bet that not much of anything at all will be done along this line.

Gordon Bills May Not Pass.

The seven Gordon bills, lightly termed the "seven Sutherland sisters," are a special order for Wednesday, and some of them may be passed—possibly all of them, possibly none of them. The fact that some of the members may remember that there was a good deal of talk about making the state government more economical in form before the session began—much more than there has been since—might help these bills, or some of them, to become laws.

The net results of the session to date are the repeal of the Elwell road law and the enactment of the county option law.

There is nobody hereabouts today who is ready to predict with certainty that this showing will be much increased before April 22, which is the day for final adjournment.

Would Throw Down Bars.

The senate committee on railroads, grain and warehouse will introduce as a committee bill Monday afternoon a measure prepared by Senator Olaf Lende of Canby regulating the Minneapolis chamber of commerce and the Duluth Board of trade, and throwing down the bars completely on memberships in those exchanges.

The principal feature of the bill is that both of these bodies must admit to membership anybody who can pay the membership fee.

The measure is introduced at the instance of the rural co-operative grain organizations which from time to time have attacked the Minneapolis chamber of commerce in one way or another.

* * *

Railroad Bills.

Attorneys for the railroads yesterday added their arguments to those of James J. Hill, W. A. Gardner and Edmund Pennington, that the passenger rates should be raised to 2½ cents a mile.

J. B. Shehan, general counsel for the Omaha, and F. W. Rott of the Milwaukee appeared before the senate committee on railroads and warehouses and urged the passage of the raise in rates bill. Action on it was deferred until next week.

A. H. Alfred, representing the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, urged the passage of Senator F. H. Peterson's bill prohibiting the length of trains to be more than 2,800 feet.

Senator Van Hoven's bill allowing railroads to give passes to widows or orphans of employes who die in service was recommended for passage.

Red Schoolhouse Saved.

The little red schoolhouse that rural communities feared would disappear if the educational re-organization bill before the legislature should pass was saved yesterday afternoon. The senate committee on education decided to split the proposed organization of school affairs and school boards into two bills.

At the same time they decided not to touch the county unit of school supervision, thus saving the little red schoolhouse. Rural communities had opposed the bill, but members of the committee said yesterday that feature of it would be eliminated.

ist, complaining because it had not acted on his statutory prohibition bill, notwithstanding the fact that the three days allowed it to act since he gave notice of a motion to withdraw the bill from the committee expired yesterday. Chairman Dwyer explained that it had been impossible to hold a meeting, as everybody could see, and that the first chance was the one the sergeant-at-arms interrupted. The house gave the committee until Monday to act.

Action on Game and Fish Bills.

The proposal to forbid aliens to hunt or carry guns met with violent opposition in the house and was killed, 28 for and 48 against. The bill changing the limit on the number of game birds that can be killed in a day to fifteen for ducks and ten for all others, the bill limiting the bass and pike catch to fifteen a day, and the bill providing that no game may be had in possession after Dec. 31 for birds and Jan. 31 for deer were passed.

The house was in a turmoil over Representative Lydiard's motion to adjourn until Monday, nearly half the members shrieking that it should not prevail, and when it was declared carried, that had not prevailed, but prevail it did, so there is no session today.

Destruction of Karlsruhe.

Rumors of the destruction of the German sea raider Karlsruhe have received some confirmation by the guarded statement of the British admiralty. There is every reason to believe that this cruiser was sunk in the West Indies last November.

Relative inaction prevails along both battle fronts in Europe, which again seem to have relapsed into the condition of siege warfare which prevailed during the winter. Austrian reports by way of Berlin claim that the Russian offensive movement in the Carpathians through the Lupkow pass has resulted in failure, but direct reports from both Vienna and Petrograd agree that Austrians as well as Russians are making attacks and counter-attacks in the Carpathians without any decisive results.

The Germans still are bombarding Ossowetz without success, according to the Russians, who claim to have destroyed the advanced trenches of their antagonists.

Neither side reports any important actions on the western front during the past week.

Sinking of Battleships.

London, March 20.—The admiralty last night gave out the following statement:

"An account of the operations at the Dardanelles on the 18th of March: Mine-sweeping having been in progress during the last ten days inside the straits, a general attack was delivered by the British and French fleets Thursday morning upon the fortresses at the narrows. At 10:45 a. m. the Queen Elizabeth, Inflexible, Agamemnon and Lord Nelson bombarded Forts G., L., T., N. and V., while the Triumph and Prince George fired at Batteries F., E. and H. A heavy fire was opened on the ships from howitzers and field guns.

"At 12:22 p. m. the French squadron consisting of the Sufferin, Gaulois, Charlemagne and Bouvet advanced up the Dardanelles and engaged the forts at closer range. Forts J., U., F. and E., replied strongly. Their fire was silenced by the ten battleships inside the straits, all the ships being hit several times during this part of the action.

Forts Cease Firing.

"By 1:25 p. m. all the forts had ceased firing. The Vengeance, Irresistible, Albion, Ocean, Swiftsure and Majestic then advanced to relieve the six old battleships inside the straits. As the French squadron, which had engaged the forts in a most brilliant fashion, was passing out, the Bouvet was blown up by a drifting mine. She sank in thirty-six fathoms, north of Erenkeui village, in less than three minutes.

"At 2:36 p. m. the relief battleships renewed the attack on the forts, which again opened fire. The attack on the forts was maintained, while the operations of the mine sweepers continued. At 4:09 p. m. the Irresistible quitted the line listing heavily and at 5:50 o'clock sank, having struck a drifting mine. At 6:05 o'clock, the Ocean, having also struck a mine, sank. Both vessels sank in deep water, practically the whole of their crews having been removed safely under a hot fire.

"The Gaulois was damaged by gun fire. The Inflexible had her forward control position hit by a heavy shell and requires repairs.

Terminates at Dark.

"The bombardment of the forts and the mine sweeping operations terminated when darkness fell. The damage to the forts, effected by the prolonged direct fire of the very powerful forces employed, cannot yet be estimated and a further report will follow. The losses of the ships was caused by mines drifting with the current, which were encountered in areas hitherto swept clear, and this danger will require special treatment.

"The British casualties were not heavy, considering the scale of operations, but practically the whole of the crew of the Bouvet were lost with the ship, an internal explosion having apparently supervened on the explosion of the mine.

"The Queen and Implacable, which have been dispatched from England to replace the ship losses in anticipation of this operation, are due to arrive immediately, thus bringing the British fleet up to its original strength. The operations are continuing with the naval and military forces available on the spot.

"On the 16th, Vice Admiral Carden, who had been incapacitated by illness, was succeeded in the chief command by Rear Admiral John Michael De Robeck, with the acting rank of vice admiral."

French Statement.

Paris, March 20.—The ministry of marine gave out the following communication last night:

"In the course of the operations in the Dardanelles on March 18, the allied naval forces were subjected to a very intense fire and warships ran against floating mines in the straits. French and English battleships violently bombarded Forts Kilid, Bahr, Chanak Kalessi and also Forts Souain Dere, Dardanus, and Kephez point.

"The results during the course of this hot day, were acquired at the cost of a considerable loss. The Bouvet was sunk following the explosion of a mine. The Gaulois was momentarily put out of action by reason of damage caused by the fire of the enemy. The English fleet suffered equally, two of its battleships being sunk by mines. These losses, painful as they are, will not stop the course of the operations.

"As soon as the news of the accident to the Bouvet was received, the minister of marine sent a dispatch to the battleship Henri IV which was on the Syrian coast, to replace the Bouvet. Information as to the fate of the crew of the Bouvet has not yet been received. A certain communication permits the statement that part of the crew, the exact number, unknown, has been saved."

The British battleship Irresistible was commanded by Capt. the Hon. Stanhope Hawke and in times of peace had a complement of 780 men. She was the largest of the three allied battleships sunk, being of 15,000 tons displacement and 430 feet long. The chief armament of the warship consisted of four 12-inch and twelve 6-inch guns. She also carried sixteen 12-pounders, six 3-pounders, two maxims, four submerged torpedo tubes and was protected by Krupp armor. The speed of the warship was eighteen knots an hour. She was built in 1908 at a cost of $5,000,000.

The Ocean was commanded by Capt. Arthur Hays-Sadler and had a crew of 750. She was 418 feet long and of 12,950 tons displacement. Her armament was composed of four 12-inch and twelve 6-inch guns, ten 12-pounders, six 3-pounders, two Maxims, four submerged torepdo tubes and her armor was of Harvey-Nickel make. She was of 18-knot speed and was built in 1898.

German Statement.

Berlin, March 20, by wireless to Sayville.—The German general staff today gave out a report on the progress of the fighting which reads as follows:

"On the road between Wytschaete and Ypres, near St. Eloi, German soldiers captured from British troops a group of houses on the south slope of the Lorette heights.

"In the Champagne district the day generally was quiet, with the exception that early in the morning German troops occupied some French trenches to the north of Beausejour.

"French attacks to the north of Verdun, in the Woevre plain and at a point near Combras to the east of the heights of the Meuse all were repulsed, the enemy sustaining heavy losses. French troops made several advances against the German positions at Reich Ackerkopf and Hartmann's Wellerkopf but these attacks soon broke down and the French sustained heavy losses under the German fire.

"On the eastern front the day was comparatively quiet. Memel, the Prussian port on the Baltic, has been occupied by the Russians."

French Statement.

Paris, March 20, via London, 3:27 p. m.—The French war department reported this afternoon there was nothing to communicate on the progress of hostilities.

GERMANS LOST 6,000 AT NEUVE CHAPELLE.

Berlin, via Amsterdam and London, March 20.—An official statement issued today by the German general staff declares the total German losses in the fighting in the vicinity of Neuve Chapelle were about 6,000.

A semi-weekly report of the progress of the fighting given out by the British authorities on March 15 stated that the German losses during the operations at Neuve Chapelle from March 10 to March 13 could not have been less than 17,000 or 18,000.

BRIDGE DYNAMITER IS HELD FOR TRIAL

Bangor, Me., March 20.—Werner Horn, who is charged with illegal interstate transportation of explosives in connection with his attempt to wreck the international railroad bridge at Vanceboro, will be taken to Boston for trial at the present term of the United States court, as a result of the finding of Federal Commissioner Charles H. Reid yesterday.

The commissioner decided that the indictment warrant, which was the only evidence offered by the prosecution, was sufficient basis for holding the prisoner. The motion of the defense for the release of Horn, on the ground that he was a belligerent engaged in an act of war and was not amenable to the courts of this country, was denied.

Horn was ordered to the county jail in Portland, pending his removal to Boston. It is expected that he will be taken to Massachusetts early next week.

At the suggestion of District Attorney Morrell, the commissioner named $10,000 as the amount of Horn's bail, should he desire to furnish it. His counsel, Former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell and Daniel T. O'Connell, said that no bonds would be arranged.

MRS. HELEN ANGLE ACQUITTED BY JURY

Bridgeport, Conn., March 20.—Mrs. Helen M. Angle was found not guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the criminal superior court here late yesterday. She was accused of having caused the death of Waldo R. Ballou at Stamford on the night of June 23, last.

The announcement of the verdict was greeted with cheers by the courtroom audience. Mrs. Angle collapsed and would have fallen to the floor had she not been caught by her father, Leonard Blondell, who was beside her as he had been throughout the twelve days of the trial.

When Mrs. Angle had been revived sufficiently, she left for Stamford. Outside the courthouse crowds lined the street for two blocks, waiting for her appearance.

The accusation on which Mrs. Angle was brought to trial was that of having caused her aged suitor, Waldo R. Ballou, to plunge to death down the stairs leading to her apartment in the Rippowan building.

POLICE SEARCH FOR TWO HOLD-UP MEN

Police are looking for two hold-up men, who, they believe, are responsible for two "strong-arm" robberies in the last week. Peter Laedo, 324 South First avenue east, reported to the police last night that he had been held up at the point of a gun and relieved of $38.60 shortly before 10 o'clock. Laedo was walking along First avenue east between First and Second streets when confronted by the two men.

Similar tactics were used by an unidentified pair who lured Harry Gordon to a room at 1001 West Michigan street on March 13, and left him unconscious after they had bound, gagged and robbed him.

A search for Laedo's assailants has been started but the victim was unable to furnish much of a description.

Much Flour for Europe.

St. Louis, Mo., March 20.—A local milling company yesterday completed the shipment of 100,000 sacks of flour to New York from where it will be shipped to two different European nations now at war. The sum involved was said to be $1,000,000. The milling company purchased 512,000 bushels of wheat in filling the order.

WORKING IN INTEREST OF POSSIBLE PEACE.

Three other vessels which were torpedoed were able to reach port.

The total losses to British commerce from the beginning of the war to March 17 were 96 merchant vessels and 47 fishing vessels.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

STAND FOR ENFORCEMENT

Silberstein and Farrell Hotly Resent Charges Made By Hicken.

Capacity Audience Hears Candidates Who Address French Club.

Bernard Silberstein and James A. Farrell, candidates for commissioner, scored Commissioner Hicken at a meeting of the French Naturalization club last night for what they termed an insult in an address given by him the previous evening at a West end meeting, when he was quoted as having said that candidates did not dare come out openly on a stand for a "wide open" policy, which he said they favored. Both men stated flatly that their platform was that of law and order.

Crowd Fills Hall.

The large hall was well filled with members, fully 400 being present. Several speakers were present, among them being J. H. Cook, Jr., who spoke in favor of the second amendment; Commissioner Murchison, M. E. Louisell, candidate for municipal judge; R. E. McFarlane, candidate for commissioner; John H. Norton, candidate for municipal judge; Mr. Farrell, Mr. Silberstein and M. J. Filiatrault.

"By his statement that candidates are avoiding the issue, and his intimation that they represent the forces of evil, Commissioner Hicken has insulted other candidates," said Mr. Silberstein. "I stand for law enforcement, and I know Mr. Farrell does, as well as some other candidates besides Commissioners Hicken and Murchison. We are not trying to dodge the issue. We stand for clean government, but we also, gentlemen, stand for reasonable government and the absence of fanaticism and ruinous bigotry from the government of one of the best cities in the United States. The Hicken-Murchison element has no monopoly on the righteousness of the universe.

Money for "Persecution."

"The city commission is paid by the people. Your money and my money goes to pay for public service, not persecution. The council members are servants of the people, not their masters. Our present administration has lost the confidence of the voters by high-handed tactics and removing itself too far from the people. We do not want an autocracy. We want government of the people, by the people and for the people. We are not paying our good money to have commissioners establish such practices as conviction without trial and riotous waste of the taxpayers' money in fads.

"When a man seeks to set himself up as the only good man on the ticket and starts to accuse candidates who have sought to avoid mud-throwing, he should be reminded of the Biblical character, Stephen, who was about to be stoned to death for his sins. Did not the Christ stop the violence by saying: 'Let him who is guiltless cast the first stone?'"

Mr. Farrell reiterated that he was in favor of the law enforcement and had always favored strict enforcement of the law. He said he did not know how the impression got out that he was not in favor of the law being enforced. Although in favor of the strict observance of the law, he said he did not indorse autocratic rule but wanted every offender to be given a fair hearing. He also touched on the conditions of roads connecting the city and country districts, which he said required better care by the city.

"Five Independent" Rulers.

Mr. Norton touched on commission government, saying that the people expected a government by five men, but that since the present governing body was elected, the people had found that there were five independent rulers at the city hall. He said that fair hearings were not being given offenders and this was un-American.

Commissioner Murchison spoke briefly and principally in answer to charges of paying 15 cents an hour for laborers. He said this had been fully explained at the time and that these wages were offered transients more to test the desire of these unfortunates for work. He said that expenses of the department had been materially reduced since the beginning of his administration.

Mr. Filiatrault spoke in opposition to the first amendment, but said the second should carry. He said that $100 was sufficient for the council to spend without the formality of an ordinance, claiming that if larger amounts had to be expended the council could easily wait the necessary ten days to get the money.

WILL ADDRESS "Y" MEN.

E. W. Peck Will Speak at Star Theater Sunday Afternoon.

E. W. Peck of Minneapolis, state secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, will be in Duluth to speak at the men's meeting at the Star theater at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Peck is a strong speaker, and, because of his experience all over this country, he makes an excellent appeal to men. Last August Mr. Peck returned from a trip around the world in the interests of the Men and Religion Forward movement and addressed men's audiences in China, Japan, India, South Africa and visiting the associations in the large foreign cities. He was impressed with the great idea that the Christian nations today are leaders in morality, education and in the works of civilization. Since he returned from his trip, he has given addresses to many audiences all over the state and in other parts of the country.

There will be no charge of admission.

"RUSSIA THE MENACE."

England and Germany Must Unite Against Muscovites, Says Lefkovits.

That England blundered when she entered the present war and that the time is not far distant when both England and Germany will be compelled to unite for common protection against Russia, were the claims made by Dr. Maurice Lefkovits of Temple Emanuel in his lecture last evening on "England and Her Stake in the War." This was the eighth lecture in the series on "Nations at War."

"England blundered in declaring war on Germany," said Dr. Lefkovits. "She had nothing at stake and the British nation stands for the essentials of civilization, as does Germany.

"Russia, however, is the greatest menace to the present standards of European civilization and she represents a type of non-civilization. The time is not far distant when both England and Germany will be forced to unite to protect themselves against the Russian power."

EMPEROR WILLIAM IS SAID TO BE ILL AGAIN.

Geneva, March 20, via Paris.—The affection of the throat from which Emperor William of Germany suffered two months ago, has attacked him again, according to apparently reliable information received here. It is said that the ailment has taken on a severer form as the result of continuous traveling, anxiety and lack of good care.

German doctors, it is stated, frequently have advised an operation and it is said that the Swiss specialist, Dr. Vermod of Lausanne, considers it essential that there should be an immediate operation which would involve at least two months of complete inactivity. A dispatch received here tonight from Berlin by way of Basel, states that the emperor is seriously ill in the German capital. Other reports, however, say that he is visiting the battle front.

"Y" EDUCATORS GIVE BANQUET

Students and Faculty Join in Second Annual Spread; Speakers Tell of Remarkable Growth of Educational Work at "Y."

The second annual banquet of the educational department of the Young Men's Christian association was held in the association assembly hall last evening.

An interesting program of music and speeches enlivened the evening.

General Secretary B. S. Wade acted as toastmaster and introduced G. Hartman, who spoke for the student body.

He told in an interesting way how circumstances had compelled him to give up an occupation, which he had followed for nine years, to take up new work. He said he found the knowledge from the two courses that he is pursuing in the Y. M. C. A. night school is giving him great assistance in his everyday work and that he has been enabled because of his night school work, to master the details of his new vocation much more rapidly and effectively.

Clyde F. Potts, instructor in shorthand and typewriting, as a representative of the teaching staff, spoke of the privilege he had found it to be to work with the present faculty and characterized them as the finest group of men it has been his opportunity to meet.

Mr. Wade then introduced Harvey Hosbour, who is the instructor in business subjects and the civil service course.

Mr. Hosbour dwelt upon the splendid caliber of men who come into the night school and of the unusual opportunity they have at the Y. M. C. A. He referred to the fact that efficiency is the great aim in the business and industrial life of today and that the highest form of efficiency is Christian efficiency in life. He then pointed out that the initials "Y. M. C. A." contains the letter "C," and that it stands for just that ideal in life and work so necessary to real success and which is more easily attained in an environment like that offered in the association than elsewhere.

A. L. Turner, educational secretary of the Y. M. C. A., referred briefly to the work accomplished this year in so far as figures can reflect results. He said the work is divided into two general types—regular and extension. Both of these consist of two forms, class work and practical talks.

The records of the year from Oct. 1, 1914, to Feb. 28, 1915, show the following:

	Classes.	Subjects.	Enrollment.	Sessions.	Attendance.
Class work.
In building	20	18	265	631	3,278
Outside	6	4	112	179	1,412
Class totals	26	21	377	810	4,690
Practical talks			281	27	1,422
Grand totals.			658	837	6,112

Mr. Turner also referred to the tremendous growth the educational work of the Y. M. C. A. has made during the last twenty-two years; how the student enrollment in North America has grown from 10,000 to 84,677; day school students from none two years ago to 8,213; students outside the building from none to 17,900; men in classes to learn the English language, from none to 20,980; student tuitions from none to $785,274 a year, and cost of carrying on the work outside of heat, rent and light, from $54,000 to $1,086,762.

He mentioned the new developments of this year as an electrical equipment for laboratory work in this important branch, and the fitting up of a room for instruction in window trimming.

Each year shows some special feature of service, but the great emphasis is, and will remain to be, the training of men and boys in the fundamentals of an education, which can be utilized immediately in increased ability and earning power.

The basic principle that has made the work so phenomenally successful is the policy of offering instruction in many lines to small groups of men of similar aims and ambitions, grouped as nearly as may be according to advancement, under the instruction of skillful specialists of thorough training and practical experience.

CANADIANS ON FIRING LINE

Associated Press Correspondent Visits With Troops at Front.

Finds Entire Contingent as Happy as a Winning Ball Team.

(From Frederick Palmer, Associated Press correspondent at the front.)

British Headquarters in France, March, 19, via London, March 20.—"Gangway! Look out for that bunch of wagons!" a voice with an American accent called, and one knew he was near the part of the line held by the Canadians.

It was pitch dark and at the hour when the supplies go up to the trenches. There was not a light on any vehicle or in any habitation but, after stumbling along, the correspondent passed through an open door and the darkened hall of a farmer's house and entered the brilliantly illuminated room, with thickly curtained windows, of the brigade headquarters. An officer was talking over the telephone. He had just had word that a man had been shot in the back by a concealed sniper in the rear of the trenches.

The commander and his officers gathered around the correspondent from the United States whose request to go into the trenches had been gladly granted. The correspondent soon was on his way down a dark road with a sergeant from Ottawa as his guide to the battalion headquarters.

Germans Not Satisfied.

Passing through the ruins of a village, the sergeant remarked: "The Germans are not satisfied yet. They chuck a few shells into the wreckage every day. The shells made us kind of nervous at first, but we are used to them now."

In a peasant cottage, battened down like a photographer's dark room—(an enemy fires at a light)—the correspondent found the battalion commander, who was from Quebec. He sleeps in the cellar and the other officers of the battalion staff, in dugouts. The officer remarked that a shell had knocked off a piece of the roof the other day but that the missile did no harm except to make some dust. The colonel was going down into the trenches himself for the night and took the correspondent with him.

Walk in Inky Night.

"Look out for that narrow footbridge; and here you are likely to slip off into the ditch," warned the colonel as he advised the correspondent to stay close beside him in the inky night.

"Right along here is a favorite place for the Germans to loosen up with a machine gun, for they have a clear field for fire," the colonel added when an open space was reached. "There is nothing to it but to lie flat and wait until they are done shooting."

A German searchlight's rays swung toward the colonel and the correspondent and then rested on the clear spot. "Stand still," said the officer.

"That's the rule until it sweeps off. Thus they are not able to spot us."

Occasional shots were heard behind the trenches.

"There's a sniper in our rear," the colonel said. "Occasionally one gets through. We don't know how. He is always in khaki. We are out after this fellow and we will get him before long."

Food for Trenches.

The colonel and the correspondent kept passing lone soldiers carrying food and ammunition to the trenches, or returning from the trenches empty-handed. The colonel spoke to them as "boys," a greeting which one never hears from an English officer. As the trenches were entered, a sudden command was given to some one showing an electric flash to turn to it off, as the "patrols are coming in." Several men who had been out, crawling up in Indian fashion to see if the Germans were up to anything new, came hustling over the top of the trench. Some bullets swept overhead. The Germans had noted the movement and fired, but hit nobody.

"We got within seven feet of the bunch in that old house and heard them whispering," said one member of the patrol.

When the strapping, tall Canadians took the position over from an English regiment they found the crest too low for their height and had to raise it several inches. They have shown characteristic American ingenuity and initiative in arranging trenches to suit themselves and besides have made them wholly dry and comfortable.

Chipper as a Ball Team.

The entire contingent of Canadians was as chipper as a winning baseball team. "We don't care to go to the fireworks any more when we return home," said a man from Ontario, who asked the correspondent if he knew Toronto and Buffalo. "We get enough of German flares," the man added, as the flares kept rising at intervals, illuminating garishly the 300 yards of space between the trenches. "They are worried lest we are going to spring an attack on them, and we shall pretty soon, too, I hope," the soldier said.

Occasionally, as the correspondent walked along, he could hear distinctly the sounds of snoring. In their shelter-proofs, the men, wrapped in blankets in frontier fashion and despite the German flares and firing which go on all night, were sleeping until their turn to go to watch.

The absence of exhaustion among the men as they came out of the trenches is the cause of universal comment.

"They say we are making good, and I believe we are," the colonel added when he bade the correspondent good night.

"Y" TRAINERS FEEDING BLOOD TO ANIMALS

"No Tame Wild Beasts," Edict of the Circus Management.

Tame wild animals have been scorned by the management of Jingling Brothers' circus, scheduled for Duluth's Y. M. C. A. in April, and nothing but the wildest, most ferocious and bloodthirsty of beasts will do.

In charge of the animal man, who, like King Charles' executioner, remains incognito, Y. M. C. A. members have started a campaign to scour the city in search of man-eating tigers, kidnaping lions, half-crazed "elephants," deadly boaconstrictors, and other "gentle" beasts.

As a special feature, "Props" announced yesterday that he positively had secured a genuine "woof," and that the "woof," growl and all, would take his place in the front row when the animals were placed on exhibition. In any event, it will be the most awe-inspiring display that ever frightened Johnny Jones and made him shrink behind his father.

J. B. Crane again will make his appearance as ringmaster, while Axel Lavin, champion slack wire artist of the world and Proctor, will defend his title against all comers, on anything from a fence to a clothes line, or a telephone wire.

Chairman of the various committees have been named as follows:

Harold Thomas, clowns.
Axel Lavin, property.
W. A. Kingston, pink lemonade and crackerjack.
L. S. Gordon, ushers.
F. A. Hathaway, kale keeper.
H. Strum, ticket seller.
J. B. Crane, ringmaster.
A. F. Olson, chief barker and general ballyhoo man.

IS YOUR SKIN TENDER? TRY RESINOL SOAP

Any soap will CLEAN your skin—a bar of laundry soap will do if you do not care what becomes of your complexion. But you know that laundry soap contains harsh, drying alkali that would ruin your skin and hair, so you never think of using it for your toilet.

Many toilet soaps contain this same injurious alkali. Resinol Soap contains absolutely no free alkali, and to it is added that medication which has made Resinol Ointment so successful in the treatment of skin and scalp affections. This gives it soothing, healing properties which clear the complexion, comfort tender skins and keep the hair rich and lustrous. Resinol Soap and Ointment are sold by all druggists. For trial free, write to Dept. 18-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

PLAYGROUNDS PLAN FAVORED

Duluth Office Men Recommend City and County Support.

Weather Forecaster Testifies to City's Climatic Fitness—Banquet Held.

At its banquet given at the Commercial club last night, the Duluth Office Men's association passed resolutions favoring the installation of the playgrounds system for Duluth as recommended by T. S. Settle of New York. Mr. Settle, a playground expert, has just completed a survey of the city's recreational needs.

In the resolution it was suggested that city and school officials take steps to insure the adoption and execution of the plan recommended by Mr. Settle. This action followed an illustrated address by the New York man, in which he explained the system favored, and estimated that the budget for maintenance during the first year would be $12,000.

"I cannot imagine a finer thing for some of our wealthy citizens to do than to endow at least one such playground and recreation center," declared H. W. Richardson, local weather forecaster, in the course of an address describing his work at the United States weather bureau. He strongly urged the adoption of the plan, and asserted that Duluth is an ideal place, climatically, for playgrounds of this kind.

Congressman Clarence B. Miller, who was to have given an address, was unable to come to Duluth to attend the meeting.

R. T. Price of the University of Minnesota extension division gave a talk on "The Easiest Way."

Help for Members.

As chairman of the committee on employment, C. Ray Pattinson, former association president, announced that a plan had been perfected to help members secure better positions, in cases where a change is desired. J. Harris Trux, who presided, reported that the association now had ninety-six members. Plans are being made to increase this list to 150 in the near future.

Following the dinner, association members and their guests adjourned to the Rex theater, where they saw Duluth in the "movies." Pictures taken in this city last Memorial day, were exhibited by Operator Andrew Modin, as were scenes on the lake and about the harbor, taken during a stormy day last fall. Views of the infant welfare exhibit at the Masonic temple on May 22, 1914, also were shown, as was a special reel of pictures of the United States and British navies in action.

WILL DISPLAY ART WORK.

Duluth Will See Noted Collection of Photos Easter Week.

The conceptions of the greatest camera experts of America will be on display in Duluth during Easter week and Duluthians will have the opportunity of seeing what the critics have pronounced the "last word in photographic art" at that time.

J. R. Zweifel, who has drawn many premiums and prizes at the national exhibitions, is bringing to Duluth this collection of remarkable samples of the photographers' skill, which has been shown in the chief centers of the country. They were collected, originally, for display at the annual convention of the National Photographers' association at Kansas City last summer, and since then they have been shipped from place to place for exhibition. It will be Duluth's turn week after next. They will be displayed at the Zweifel studio.

There will be no admission charge. Mr. Zweifel desires that Duluthians may see the work that they may judge of the high plane that the photographic profession has reached. Mr. Zweifel was at the Kansas City convention, in charge of one of the departments of instruction, and there saw the collection that will be brought here.

ROTARIANS BACK UP AMENDMENT

Members Hear Report of Civic Committee and Indorse Measure.

Hearty indorsement of the second proposed amendment to the city charter, to be voted on April 6, is given in a report made today by the civic committee of the Duluth Rotary club. The report was transmitted to the club's publicity committee, which will begin work at once to give the second amendment all the publicity possible, both through its own work and by urging the members of the Rotary club to explain the amendment to voters wherever the opportunity arises in conversation.

"The Rotary club is back of this amendment to the limit," said President Elmer Whyte after receiving the report of the civic committee. "We heard an explanation of the second amendment at our meeting Thursday and we referred the proposal to our civic committee, with instructions to take up with city officials the question of whether reduction of the minimum assessments that can be paid in installments would have any serious effect on the city finances.

"Our committee interviewed members of the city commission and also had a talk with City Treasurer McLean, and found that the amendment has the most hearty indorsement at the city hall. Investigation as to how the proposed change would work out has convinced us that the amendment is necessary, in order to rectify some unintentional discriminations in assessments against property.

"The Rotary club realizes fully the necessity for the widest publicity for this amendment, since it will take three-fifths of the total vote cast in the election to pass it. So we are back of it, as I said before, to the limit. We know it ought to be adopted, and we are going to do all we can to insure its adoption. It means more homes and better homes for the wage earner and small-salaried men and that is what Duluth or any city needs."

ACHES AND PAINS

Don't neglect a pain anywhere, but find out what causes it and conquer the cause. A pain in the kidney region may put you on your back tomorrow. Don't blame the weather for swollen feet, it may be an advanced warning of Bright's disease. A pain in the stomach may be the first symptom of appendicitis. A creak in a joint may be the forerunner of rheumatism. Chronic headaches more than likely warn you of serious stomach trouble. of the new styles in Women's and Misses' apparel is seen in our display of spring and summer fashions which you are invited to view

Monday Evening, Tuesday and Wednesday.

You Are Interested

in having individuality of style in your suit or coat. You don't care to see two or three other garments identical with yours, for that puts it in the "common" class. Wouldn't it please you to have the positive assurance when you buy a garment that there is no other model like it in the city? It would give you a satisfied feeling of exclusiveness, wouldn't it? That is just what you get when you make your selection at our store. There are no duplicates of the models shown; each is distinctly different and correctly typifies some trend of the season's fashion.

Coupled with this advantage of individuality is flawless tailoring, undeniable quality and low cash prices.

Style tendencies for the spring and summer favor short full skirts and short suit jackets with high waist line in strictly tailored effects—

WAR AND RELIGION.

"A revival of interest in religion is one of the features of the war," says an article in Leslie's magazine, telling of conditions in England. Why? It would seem that when men are engaged in slaughtering their fellows and in the deliberate and intentional destruction of property, religion would be one of the last things they would think of.

But of course there is another side to the war than that of the rage of battle. It is the state of mind of those left at home to live through hours upon hours of fear and anxiety for the men at the front; and it is the state of mind of the convalescent who has had "a close call," but who is looking forward to returning to the ranks. Will he have another close call, or will he "go" the next time? And if it should prove to be his turn to go, what about the future?

But this revival of interest in religion goes more deeply than either of these theories would indicate. It goes to the very root of human life and human experience.

The child in distress turns naturally to the parent, or if the parent be not near, then to the nearest adult who has the capacity to inspire the child's confidence. The man or woman in distress seeks instinctively the aid or comfort of some power greater than their own. And the human mind and soul reach instinctively for the help of the superhuman when the threat of disaster draws nearer and nearer.

Never before in the experience of the present generation have the people of Europe faced such conditions of doubt and suffering, both physical and mental, as those confronting them today. What wonder, then, that they are turning to the superhuman as a protection against the horrors of humanity? And since it is the common experience of mankind that the superhuman is sought ordinarily through the avenues of religious thought and belief, it would be far stranger if there were no "revival of interest in religion" than it is to see such a revival.

Perhaps through this same movement we are to see the end of the war, for most of the nations engaged in the conflict are made up of people trained in the Christian religion, and it would not be remotely impossible that this similarity of training, operating through this revival of interest, should bring about a state of mind that would compel the leaders to inaugurate a peace movement. Who can tell?

What's this about a "buy-an-Easter-hat" movement?

A PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED.

During the hearing in Dallas, Texas, by the United States industrial commission, the phrase "tenant farmers" was used over and over again, and the condition of a good many of these people was portayed as anything but enviable. At the same time it was declared that, compared with land owners, there has been a decided increase in the number of tenant farmers both in the Northwest and the Southwest in the last few years.

There may be no ground to doubt that the tenant farmer is better to have in the country than none at all, since it is undeniable that he does till the soil and get crops. But there are several reasons why the tenant farmer is not nearly so desirable to have as the farm owner who operates his own place.

In the first place, the tenant has no such incentive to keep the farm up as the owner has. He may rent it for a term of years, and take all he can out of both land and stock in that time, and leave it in such shape that it will take two or three years to get it into proper condition again.

In any case, the tenant has not the same reason for development that the owner has. It may be that some soil treating or tree-planting or some other work ought to be done, not for immediate gain, but that the place may be the better off in five or ten or fifteen years. Is this anything the tenant can be expected to get deeply interested in? Hardly. And yet he has possession of the property, and the owner would not feel justified in going on it to do this work, even if he has the time.

The tenant farmer proposition is one that must be studied and solved. According to those who have made a study of it, who are familiar with it, the thing most needed at present is a series of fundamental changes in the laws, in the interest of the "own your own farm" movement. Difficulties in getting credit and in borrowing at a low rate of interest were declared to be the great trouble met by the farmers.

If it is a matter of legislation, the remedy should be quickly administered. It is recognized that soil prosperity is the chief factor in general prosperity, and it does not seem as if there could be serious opposition to any bills that would clearly operate to aid farm development. But whether the problem is one of legislation or of some other nature, it is one that must be met and solved before we can see the development in this country that is possible with our natural resources and other facilities.

Uncle Sam has a new dreadnaught, but nobody but Hobson knows how many submarines there are in Japan's navy.

REMEMBER AMENDMENT NO. 2.

Before the city campaign gets so warmed up that you begin to lose sight of everything but the candidates, just make a mental note to remember proposed Amendment No. 2 to the city charter; and when you get to the polls, vote for that amendment.

As stated on the lavender colored ballot, this amendment will appear in these words:

> Proposed Amendment to the City Charter, No. 2, Reduces the minimum requirement under which the council may allow assessments to be paid in four instalments, and permits the payment of sidewalk assessments in instalments.

The purpose of that amendment is to help the men of small means, who are trying to build or buy homes, and its adoption is imperative if conditions that at present constitute severe hardships on home builders are to be remedied.

But it will not be adopted unless it gets votes equal in number to three-fifths of the total vote cast at the election. The registration is over twelve thousand, which means that if all the twelve thousand vote, there must be nearly eight thousand votes cast for this amendment to carry it.

Put it another way: Out of every ten men who vote on April 6, six of them must vote for this amendment or it will be lost. It means that every man in the city who wants to see Duluth become more than ever a city of homes must vote for this amendment, and remind all those with whom he comes in contact to do the same.

Vote for the second amendment. More than that—boost for it, and help to get out, at this election, eight thousand votes for the home builders.

'Pears like being a candidate is a sure cure for spring fever.

ANOTHER POSTAL SCHEME.

In a long article contributed to the Postmasters' Advocate, F. W. Fitzpatrick of Washington, D. C., urges the establishment of still another form of postoffice activity—postal insurance.

Mr. Fitzpatrick has become widely known for his advocacy of the systems of parcel post and the postal savings bank, and has for many years made a study of postoffice management and the possibilities of varied applications of postal service both here and abroad. In this article he presents some figures gleaned in reviewing foreign systems of pensions and annuity payments, and urges that the conclusion he arrives at—that the postal insurance system is perfectly practical and a good thing—be concurred in by congress and the system established in this country.

It must at least be conceded that Mr. Fitzpatrick makes out a logical case. He cites the great success of the postal savings bank, and shows how the new system could be operated, not as something new, but as an extension of the savings bank feature. He foresees the charge of "paternalism" and meets it by citing the expenditures on hospitals, poorhouses and asylums. He continues:

> When a man is dying of hunger we pick him off the streets and fix him up in state for his final dissolution. When things get so bad that they are intolerable and a shame to us we step in with a great flourish of trumpets and proceed to eradicate them. But why, under heaven, do we have to wait until such deplorable conditions exist? Why not do something to prevent those things, rather than wait to cure them?

The postal insurance system, he thinks, would accomplish this by letting the working man deposit weekly a sum of from half a dollar to two dollars or more, and when he had accumulated a stated amount, purchase therewith an annuity, payment of which should begin when he was fifty or sixty years old. The same man could, under this plan, purchase more than one annuity, by saving the required amounts to pay the premiums on the additional ones.

Mr. Fitzpatrick points out that this plan would be within the means of the men not reached by the big insurance companies, but would give the benefits of insurance to those who need it the most—those who, with their dependents, rely on day-to-day or month-to-month earnings, and who, when age or incapacity or bereavement comes, are left penniless and helpless.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is not the one to let a proposition like this drop. It may not take hold right now, but he is sure to bring it up again and again. Perhaps it will have to be changed somewhat in working it out, but at least he makes a good impression with it as a beginning, and that is a big start toward getting sympathetic attention.

America's annual drink bill, says Secretary Bryan, would build six Panama canals. But what th' blazes would we want with six Panama canals?

FOR HUMAN WELFARE.

One of the most instructive and interesting publications that has come to hand recently is a bulletin issued by the United States Steel corporation in which are given reproductions of the San Francisco exhibits of the corporation's bureau of safety, sanitation and welfare. In something more than a hundred large pages are given illustrations and reading matter showing how human life is protected and health and development assisted in the various localities where the corporation or its subsidiaries have interests.

The illustrations are not mere diagrams, but are reproductions of photographs showing different devices in actual operation, and various other means of helping or encouraging workers and their families. It takes in not only the factory and mining operations, but the home, school and recreation systems as well. The front of the bulletin is a map showing the location of the different interests, and at the back is a series of diagrams dealing with accidents and their cause. Duluth and Iron Range town scenes are included in the illustrations.

That the Steel corporation is among the leaders in providing for safety and sanitation for employes is generally recognized. A study of this bulletin will help anybody to realize better the great extent to which this work is carried.

If it's true that Villa is dead and buried, the latest victory over the Carranza troops indicates that Carranza might profit by finding a grave somewhere and jumping into it.

FEDERAL FINANCES.

"You pays your money and you takes your choice" so far as views on the financial situation of the United States are concerned, or at least so far as concerns the causes of it.

Congressman Fitzgerald, a Democrat, sees in the big appropriations of the Sixty-third congress only a meeting of the demands of the several members and of the people, under conditions heretofore unknown in world history, and puts whatever blame there may be on the shoulders of committees.

Congressman Gillett, a Republican, denounces the appropriations as outrageous and puts all the blame on the executive department of the government—that being the department the Republicans are most desirous of hitting in the next election.

The thoughtless citizen will look at the billion dollar record of the congress and quote the old, familiar phrase, "Well, this is a billion dollar country."

That phrase brought with it all the danger that is likely to accompany a catch-phrase, and it used to serve, in Republican times, to cover a multitude of appropriations. It is reasonable, however, to believe that in recent years the people have become more careful in their consideration of public matters, and that they will see the need of something more than a phrase to satisfy the demands of critics of Federal expenditures.

Representative Towner of Iowa, in a debate not long ago, took issue with the position now taken by Representative Fitzgerald, saying:

> I think that there is more fault to be found with the membership of the house than with the membership of the committees. The pressure that is brought to bear upon the various members of these committees by the membership of the house is sometimes, as we know, tremendous. The pressure that is brought to bear through individual interests, acting through their representatives on the floor of this house * * * is tremendous.

Representative Towner has hit very close to the nail, but Representative Fitzgerald comes neaer to it. The truth is that while the appropriations are the acts of committees, there is at present no way in which those committee questions can be brought under such supervision as to make regulation possible.

In other words, our Federal appropriation system is wrong to begin with. That being the case, it would be strange not to find poor results springing from it. The remedy has been pointed out again and again in the last few years—the adoption of the budget system in handling appropriation matters.

President Taft recommended this, but the recommendation came so late in his term that action on it was impossible. President Wilson took up the proposition, and some steps have been taken towards the inauguration of such a system, but the work has not been completed. It is a more or less intricate task, involving the reorganization of the powers and duties of many committees, and radical changes in some of the congressional processes.

It may be, however, that the Sixty-fourth congress will find opportunity to make the change from the chaos system to that of the budget. Then congress and the country will be in position to know accurately and in advance exactly what expenditures are to be made, and it may easily be that means will be found to save something out of the millions now spent by every congress at every session. At any rate, the country will then have the satisfaction of knowing that congress has the data to enable it to act intelligently and economically.

The man who kicks on being a strap-hanger inside a comfortable car thinks it's fun to hang on by his eyebrows to the steps of a jitney when it's raining and freezing.

DON'T MISS IT.

Don't miss the style show opening next Monday evening.

Don't miss the chance to see Duluth's shopping district at its gayest.

Don't miss the chance to see all the very latest things in all kinds of styles, masculine, feminine and neuter.

Don't miss the chance to see the new colors and combinations of colors.

Don't miss the chance to see anything that may be visible at the style show.

Duluth merchants have been working hard in preparation for this event. They have brought here the latest and most attractive articles in wearing apparel, house furnishings and other goods, and they are going to spread them all out where you can see them to the best advantage.

Monday night will be the big time of style show week. All the stores will be open and on parade, but not to sell goods. Oh no! You can look at things that night, but if you see something you want to buy, you'll have to get a label put on it somewhere.

Monday night—don't forget. It will be worth taking a whole lot of trouble to see, and it won't cost you a cent except carfare.

Don't forget—Monday night.

Who can think of a more ignominious death than being killed by a jitney bus?

1916.

One date can fill with magic thrill the hopeful breasts of suffering politicians—1916. It bears the sheen of long deferred but vigorous ambitions. Who'll lead the race? Who'll set the pace in striving to regain their former losses? A likely winner—saint or sinner—is all that is demanded by the bosses.

Though months must pass before the next Republican convention is in session, the leaders of the G. O. P. are looking high and low for the right man. Nor is it so much too early, for whoever is picked must be carefully groomed for the job. He must have plenty of time to familiarize himself with an international situation never before known. He must be constantly on the lookout to find fault with a national management that has thus far met unprecedented crises in a way that has aroused the admiration of thinking men both at home and abroad, and he must have plenty of time to do all this.

Who will finally be chosen? Wisconsin of course will offer La Follette, though the result of the last election held in that state would seem to hold little encouragement for success with him except on the principle that "a prophet is not without honor except in his own country and among his own people." And there is some question whether even that rule would apply in a case in which the prophet had formerly had honor even in his own country.

Borah of Idaho, Cummins of Iowa and Whitman of New York are regarded as being openly ready to be struck by the nomination lightning; but Borah and Cummins have not consistently "regular" records, and the former has made rather a poor spectacle of himself with regard to the Mexican situation. As to Whitman, his term as governor of New York still is young, but already he has become involved in such a clash with his party that he is likely to lose prestige.

More logical than any of these would seem Ohio's four offerings—Governor Willis, Burton, Herrick and Harding. Mann of Illinois and Weeks of Massachusetts, both "mentioned," would hardly either of them pull anything certainly except the votes of "straight" partisans. Hadley of Missouri would be sure to meet with powerful opposition, while Fairbanks is hardly to be considered seriously.

There are signs that point to a fondness for Taft, thought it would be strange indeed to see a man nominated on the strength of his record as an ex-president instead of as president. Justice Hughes also is getting some attention, though few will think it likely he could be persuaded to leave the supreme bench for a political effort. Strange as it may seem, there is a lack up to date of a boom for Uncle Joe Cannon—which is rather a mean slap at the old man.

Of course there is another possibility—always there, constant, unvarying, domineering if not dominating. In view of the lack of effort to revive a dying party that once was his own personal and particular pet, his availability in case the Republicans should want him is unmistakable. Maybe the Republicans will wind up by choosing him. Who knows? They could hardly do anything, probably, that would please him better.

One trouble is that so many who register seem to forget where the polling place is by the time election day comes around.

TWIN FOES OF THE RACE.

Some startling comparisons on conditions in Europe and America are given in an article in the Medical Times, of New York. In these days when we are constantly being confronted with the awfulness of the big war, it may be a good thing that we have these comparisons called to our notice. It may serve to remind us that a fight begun some years ago and periodically brought to our attention still is going on, and still needs our support. The Medical Times says:

"Over a million people die annually of tuberculosis. Huber estimates that tuberculosis claims, between infancy and old age, every seventh, and between adolescence and maturity every third or fourth life—in some of our communities every other life. Every other adult negro succumbs to it. According to Allport, out of 20,000,000 school children 1,000,000 have tuberculosis.

"If in the present war of the nations we total the standing armies of the powers engaged and the first and second reserves, about 15,000,000 men are or will be fighting. To this must be added the personnel of the navies engaged—say half a million more men. If the war lasts long enough for five millions of these men to be killed, and if we add to these the total mortality of the preceding wars since the French Revolution, then the total mortality—ten millions—would equal the total tuberculosis mortality of the civilized world for the short period of ten years.

"The war of the nations is costing at least $55,000,000 a day. When this war shall have lasted as long as the Franco-Prussian conflict, the cost will exceed five thousand million dollars. The wars preceding the present one, beginning with the French Revolution as before, cost $20,000,000,000. On the other hand, Huber estimates that tuberculosis costs the United States alone at least a billion a year.

"Do we not, after all, have the one because we have the other? That is, the popular mind is attuned to the inevitability of both. If we are ever going to abolish one kind of warfare, why not abolish the other kind, too? Why have the one and not the other? Why tolerate the greater evil, tuberculosis, while we strive to stop the operation of what is almost like one of the windmills of Don Quixote in comparison?"

Great strides have been made in the fight against tuberculosis, but it is apparent that there still remain many rows of trenches to be taken. The least of us can help in the work to some extent, and all should be ready at all times to do their utmost in the movement. It is a work for humanity that at the present time has few equals.

Apparently "Irresistible" isn't a safe name for a battleship, either.

The Road Breaker

Herbert Quick in Farm and Fireside: The civilized man makes roads; the savage does not. That is the safest test of civilization.

Among us in all communities are individuals who are not really civilized. They do not take any interest in roads.

A man's scale in civilization is very correctly tested by his attitude toward the stone which has rolled into the road, or the tree which has blown down across it. The man who drives around the obstacle day after day is one sort of man, the one who stops his team and rolls or drags it away is another. And a person passing along a road which he does not expect to retrace, who removes the obstruction for the sake of the stranger who comes after him, responds to a very high test of civilization. He feels socially.

When the snow piles up in the road the man who goes ahead and breaks the path for others bears the burden which he who has made progress always must bear. There is snow in every road—to co-operation, to better schools, to better business methods. There must be road breakers for every path.

The road breaker is the great civilizer.

Troubles of the Chair.

Washington Star: "How are you getting on as the presiding officer of your new club?"

"Pretty well," said the emphatic woman.

"No trouble with parliamentary points?"

"Not much. The only difficulty I have is to remember that you must hold on to the gavel and hammer with it instead of throwing it."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary of War Garrison sat at a dinner table the other day conversing with Congressman Julius Kahn of California. The talk turned to the days when Kahn was an actor.

"You know," laughed the secretary of war, "I was on the stage at one time myself. During the year I served at Harvard—back in '82—I used to make spending money by serving, along with a number of classmates, as 'supe' at various Boston theaters. I appeared several times as a Roman soldier, and I was part of the mob on hand when Julius Caesar was killed. Once I had a part that required a bit of makeup. It was in a production headed by the older Salvini, and they took me into the dressing room of a regular actor who made me up. I never have experienced such a thrill of pride as I felt when I occupied that dressing room with a sure-enough actor. We had a good heart-to-heart talk, I remember, and he said there was nothing to the life on the stage. He told me he intended to retire from the profession."

"Now that you mention it," spoke up Kahn, "I recall that same conversation very well. For I was that actor."

When the late Justice Harlan was on the United States supreme court bench there was a newspaper man in Washington who was usually able to forecast the supreme court decisions with remarkable accuracy.

He would have been even more accurate in his surmises except that he first guessed what Harlan would decide and took that to be the opinion of the supreme court. This made his forecasts wrong about half the time, for Harlan did not always agree with his associates. He was the Great Dissenter.

Harlan was lecturer at a law school in Washington at that time, and the newspaper man referred to was studying law. Now Harlan had a habit of using whatever important case that he had just been deciding to illustrate points that came up before his law class. He would cite a hypothetical case, trace it out, showing the items that might be subject to dispute, and give his opinion of the proper view to take.

One day the newspaper man noted the striking similarity between a case of national interest decided by the supreme court and a hypothetical case of A versus B discussed by Harlan at the law school.

After that, by keeping tab on the cases being considered by the supreme couft, and paying close heed to Harlan's lectures, he was able to do a line of forecasting that was a mystery to his associates for many months.

Because he has a solemn face, learnedly seamed, Senator Burton is commonly supposed to have no sense of humor. This is entirely erroneous. Burton has a way of extracting humor out of a situation. It is a dry kind of humor, but humor nevertheless. For example, when he was getting together the material for his all-night speech against the ship purchase bill a while ago, Burton had on hand enough documents from the Congressional library to have cooked up a speech lasting a fortnight. While at his office engaged in sorting out this mass of material, Burton picked up a book that looked older and duller and carried finer print than any of the others.

"Ah," said the senator, turning to a friend who was waiting on him, "here is something that will be of interest. Yes, here is a matter that will attract attention. It will be instructive. Everybody should know about it."

The book that had so delighted Burton was an account of a debate in the house of commons in 1740, or thereabouts, between Fox and another nice chap on the subject of executive usurpation of power.

"Yes," repeated Burton, as he brushed the dust off the giddy volume, "this will be of the greatest interest—and very instructive."

And nobody who saw the sly little twinkle around the senator's eye would have questioned that he has a certain sense of humor.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinthus, the Sunshine Man.

And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be delivered; for in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant whom the Lord shall call. —Joel ii, 32.

God declares that the invocation of His name in a despairing condition is a sure port of safety. What the prophet had said was certainly dreadful—that the whole order of nature would be so changed that no spark of life would appear, and that all places would be filled with darkness. What, therefore, he says now is the same as though he declared, that if men called on the name of God life would be found in the grave. Since then God invites here the lost and the dead, there is no reason why even the heaviest distresses should preclude an access for us or for our prayers. If there is promised salvation and deliverance to all who shall call on the name of the Lord, it follows, as Paul reasons, that the doctrine of the gospel belongs to the Gentiles also. It would have been a great presumption in us to present ourselves before God, except he had given us confidence and promised to help us. We learn from this place that however much God may afflict his church, it will yet be perpetuated in the world; for it can no more be destroyed than the very truth of God, which is eternal and immutable.—"Exhortation."

A snow-rim on my brow,
But summer in my heart,
My feet are weary now—
Soon earth and I must part;
But God has made my pathway bright,
And now, at evening time, there's light.

A staff of easy grasp
Supports my yielding limb;
He bids my faith to clasp
Its hold, and trust on him;
His love and will are my delight,
And, lo, at evening-time, there's light!

My outer vision's dim,
My inward eye is clear,
My every thought of Him
Disperses every fear;
I know life's outcome will be right,
For now, at evening-time, there's light.

"Tomorrow," she answered, glancing at the clock. "Yes, I should feel sorry—I thought you might go away tonight."

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

In the Minnesota house this morning, Speaker Van Sant announced that he had a pleasing duty that was somewhat out of the ordinary, in view of a domestic happening in Representative W. A. Cant's family, all having heard of the twin boys that arrived yesterday. He considered Mr. Cant a true Duluthian, who believed in increasing the population, and he felt that everyone up there would heartily approve. He expressed the confident belief that all joined with him in hoping that the mother, the twins and especially Mr. Cant, were doing well. In honor of the occasion he presented to Mr. Cant, in the name of the house, a box of cigars, saying that in case of one baby the father was expected to treat the cigars, but in the case of twins he thought the situation was different.

There will be two live tug lines in operation in the Duluth harbor this summer. Capt. W. H. Singer of the Lake Superior Towing association is in charge of the new line, and his fleet will be composed of the Howard, Mariel, E. P. Fish and Zenith, the latter a magnificent new tug with all the latest improvements. He is also figuring on two more large boats. Capt. Singer has rented the southern portion of the Culver dock and will establish offices there.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 24 deg. above zero; maximum yesterday, 33 deg. above zero; minimum yesterday, 20 deg. above zero.

The Grand Marais & North Shore railroad has filed articles of incorporation. C. E. Bateman of Minneapolis, one of the incorporators, says it is planned to build at once a shore line from Two Harbors to Grand Marais, about sixty-four miles, and later extend it to Port Arthur.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Duluth presbytery held its annual meeting at the Glen Avon church and elected the following officers: Mrs. W. S. Albertson, president; Mrs. T. G. Findlay, Mrs. Hackett, Mrs. S. A. Jamison and Mrs. S. H. Boyington, vice presidents; Mrs. George Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. A. H. Carver, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. T. Waugh, treasurer; Miss Agnes Gibson, contingent fund treasurer; Mrs. Susan Hatch, literary secretary; Mrs. Semple, young people's secretary.

Miss Fannie Kelley, who has been visiting relatives in Duluth for several weeks, left today for her home at Fargo, N. D.

An important legal question is being raised by West Duluth and Oneota property owners, which attacks the legality of all assessments for local improvements levied by the village of West Duluth up to the time of its consolidation with the city. It is alleged that chapter 146 of the laws of 1891 is unconstitutional and that the village never had the power to levy assessments. Agatin, Davidson & Carey are attorneys for the property owners.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Dead Reckoning.

There are days at sea when the sky is overcast and it is impossible by observation to determine a ship's position. Occasionally even whole voyages are made without a glimpse of the sun. In such seasons of cloud and fog charts are useless. The captain must sail by dead reckoning. From the course held and the rate of speed attained alone can he tell where he is.

Not otherwise is it in the lives of men when the light of heaven is withdrawn. We must simply keep the sails filled and hold the rudder true until the sun shines again.

Moods of weariness and dullness will sometimes settle on the spirit. We must work without inspiration and labor without hope. We must laugh when the mood forbids. We get into what the English call a "blue funk." Doubt may sometimes rest on one like a sable pall. A man questions everything. The foundations become wobbly beneath his feet. Truths upon which he has based his life are obscured. There are no lights to guide and reassure him. He moves through darkness. At such unillumined seasons the only safety is to sail by dead reckoning.

A ship enveloped in fog and mist does not ordinarily stop all progress nor should a human being. Both may keep on the course as definitely as if the skies were blue overhead. Duty is not dependent on moods. Right is not conditioned on our apprehension of it. Both remain the same in any conditions.

It is important to get accurate bearings at the start of the voyage. We must see the sun in the right quarter when we leave land behind. After that, for a time at least, a daily view is not indispensable.

The trouble with many people who get muddled and confused in the voyage of life is that they have never gotten proper bearings in the beginning. They have never clearly seen the sun. They have had no hour of open vision. They are not sure of where they are going, of the port they want to make. It is small wonder that they are lost in a fog who are irresolute in fair weather.

The first requisite of success is to get a clearer view of what life is, to know its big motives, its great rewards, its ultimate goal. One should discover some practical reason for his existence. He should know why he is here and what he is to do. He should shape his course in the light of reason and of conscience. The course is then to be held equally whether gloom fills the skies or all the stars are shining down upon him.

Blind faith may not be the best kind of faith but it is sometimes the only possible kind. Many a time it may be necessary to keep on along the great circle we are traveling without any possibility of checking up our position. We saw the sun clearly a day ago, or a month or a year—no matter just when. Let us believe it is still shining above the mist. By and by the clouds will break and the mariner can again use the sextant. Then he is glad if he has not idled away those dark days of stormy weather when he might have sailed by dead reckoning.

THE PARSON.

Raised Doubts.

Washington Star: "When I go home at night," said the querulous man, "my wife always seems glad to see me."

"Is there anything surprising about that?"

"I don't know how to look at the matter. When I look into the glass I can't help feeling that anybody who is glad to see me must have mighty little artistic sense."

ANOTHER LOOK AT CHAMP

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was March 7, 1850, perhaps at the very hour Daniel Webster was delivering that memorable speech in the senate at Washington, that Champ Clark was born on a farm in Kentucky. It is a coincidence such as is bound to be pleasing to all who love to compare dates and events connected with public affairs. Clark is more like Lincoln than he is like Webster, and yet there is nothing, or little, in common between Clark and Lincoln except a sincere and a devoted love of their fellows of the common herd.

But Lincoln never dealt in the extravagant or the superlative; Clark has in stock vast stores of both. We cannot imagine Lincoln carried off his feet by applause, or fishing for the plaudit of the vulgar as a reward for the cheap tinsel of stump eloquence. If Donn Piatt had the proper estimate of Lincoln, and I am persuaded that he was as shrewd observer of men as our country has produced, Champ Clark has a far more generous heart than Lincoln, though all must agree that Lincoln was a greater man than Clark.

Webster had a greater mind than Lincoln, but in Lincoln's place Webster would have been a helpless failure. The only other man of our history who could have brought to a successful issue the task set before Lincoln was Andrew Jackson, who, however, might have been on the other side of the hedge in that great struggle, as probably he would have been, had he been born three score years later.

We cannot call Champ Clark's mind great. His is an intellect that can only be classified as sprightly. Yet he has one element of intellectual superiority—his memory is prodigious. If it were ballasted by the splendid reasoning powers of the late John G. Carlisle, Champ Clark would be in the front rank of our foremost thinkers.

* * *

I will try to illustrate my idea of Champ Clark's oratory by an anecdote. Many years ago when I was much younger than I am now in old Kentucky and a "near lawyer" with small and diminishing practice, I was one forenoon in glorious, exubernant and opulent October sitting in front of my office, reading one of Macaulay's essays instead of Blackstone, or Kent, or Chitty, or Greenleaf, or other gibberish of legal lore, and along came James Alexander Stovall, with gun on shoulder, eldest son and heir-at-law of the immortal Credall of that family. "Jim Eck," as the vandals round about had corrupted and depraved a christening more or less patrician, had as spoil of his rifle that morning killed some half a dozen squirrels, young, tender and fat; and they had been nicely dressed and were ready for the pot or the griddle.

We soon struck a trade and I paid him two bits for his game. Then a confab like this arose:

"'Jim Eck,' how's all at home?"

"All well, 'ceptin' mam."

"I'm sorry she's ill; what ails Aunt Susan?"

"Wal, you know, a ole ooman will go to hell attera hen-ness. So mam clem up in the stable loft last Monday a-huntin' of aigs and fell through and broke her laig, an' Webb (the doctor) says she will be laid up six weeks or more."

* * *

Precisely. Champ Clark will go to Tophet to make a speech that will fetch down the house. And that is what is the matter with the Hon. Champ. It cost him the nomination at Baltimore. For example, when the silver question was rife and the Democratic president very unpopular, one day Champ from his seat in the house of representatives made this tremendous pronouncement:

"Mr. Speaker, the greatest calamity that has overtaken mankind since the fall of Adam was the election of Grover Cleveland to the office of president of the United States."

Of course it brought down the house. The applause was vociferous and tremendous. I was in the gallery at the time and mentally muttered: "Aunt Suse is atter a hen-ness."

Now Champ for an instant was decidedly of opinion that Cleveland was the enemy of mankind; but it was only one of his extravagances, an ebullition that was as vapid as the froth on a glass of beer.

As president of the United States Champ Clark would be the most miserable man in the world. He is as honest as the sun, as sensitive as honor can get to be, a man that adverse criticism wounds to the quick, a man of emotions and impulses. I happen to know that the Republicans, confident of his nomination at Baltimore, had collected numerous extravagances of his, and that was why every devil of 'em felt that it was a public calamity and personal affront that the Democrats nominated Woodrow Wilson, who never yet went off half cocked. Champ Clark would not have survived the cruel slanders that would have pursued him had he been nominated. He would have met the fate of Greeley.

Clark has extravagant admiration for the preachments of Joseph W. Bailey, whom he never tires of lauding to the skies as a giant intellect. At the same time Clark is a grateful man—none more so—and had he been chosen president in 1912 Hearst would have asserted ownership of him, and carried it to consummation, if he had exercised the skill—as he would—to conceal his mastery from his victim, and it is doubtful that he would have succeeded for long. And that would have made trouble.

And here, between Bailey and Hearst, my friend Champ would have been in a devilish deal worse fix than was Aunt Suse when she fell through the floor of the stable loft—a-huntin' of aigs.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Meaning of Abdominal Pain

PAIN is the language of a suffering nerve. It is a language difficult to interpret. Too often when it is trying hard to say gallstones, the sufferer thinks it is saying stomach. And instances are not unknown where it said pneumonia and the doctor misunderstood and removed the appendix.

A pain in the pit of the stomach usually indicates some trouble apart from the stomach. "Stomach trouble" is in most cases either gallstones, or appendicitis, or duodenal ulcer, or heart disease. The stomach, like the liver, is indicted for many a crime of which it is wholly innocent.

The abdomen is a veritable Pandora's box of troubles, which, thank goodness, fly away when the box is opened. Nothing less than a spring opening will suffice to clear up the cause of pain, sometimes. It is better to be speared and saved than never to have been scared at all. The "exploratory" operation is truly an autopsy performed when it can still be of some use to the subject.

Duodenal ulcer, ulcer in the duodenum or small bowel just beyond the stomach, is characteristically accompanied with a sharp pain which comes on some time after eating, an hour or two hours after eating. The pain is in the stomach. "Digestive tablets" are quite as ineffective as they are in the treatment of "indigestion."

When a pain in the abdomen becomes so severe as to demand a hypodermic or even a night visit by the doctor, it is not caused by "indigestion," you may be sure of that. Disordered function does not cause unbearable pain. Disease of an organ does.

A diseased gall-sac commonly masquerades as "stomach trouble" or "intestinal indigestion."

The heart disease known as angina pectoris often expresses itself by severe attacks of pain in the pit of the stomach. Indeed the only explanation for the many instances of fatal attacks of acute "indigestion" is that some organic disease of the heart or other part has expressed itself in language which was not understood.

Questions and Answers.

Booze, Sickness, Death: Can anything be done for a periodic drinker? How does acute alcoholism cause death?

REPLY.

His family doctor can administer the so-called Lambert treatment to destroy the craving. It is a non-secret, harmless treatment. Alcoholism (acute) is delirium tremens; it kills by causing edema of the brain (wet brain), or uremia, or heart failure, or pneumonia. By the way, why license the booze emporium? Or why not license the opium den and the cocaine dealer, too?

* * *

In Defense of the Baby: For a baby fed on modified milk, when the stool is green, what amount of castor oil would you advise? How often, for a one-month-old baby?

REPLY.

1. None. 2. Never. Regulate the diet to correct the trouble. Send stamped addressed envelope for suggestions on infant feeding.

* * *

Obstetrical Asepsis: What is "milk leg" and how can it be prevented?

REPLY.

Infection, producing inflammation and clotting in the principal vein of the leg, which swells, pains, looks white. The patient is profoundly ill and in great danger from general blood poisoning. It may be prevented by practicing perfect obstetrical asepsis—the same exquisite cleanliness which is nowadays considered indispensable in preparing for an operation. Many cases are attributable to the bungling of old "experienced" grannies.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. IN THE LITERARY WORLD

Tarkington's Big Novel.

THE TURMOIL. By Booth Tarkington. New York: Harper & Brothers. $1.35 net.

Most of us have heard, at one time or another, a fluent and pleasing speaker who seemed to be talking merely for amusement, and have wondered what he would be like if he ever became really in earnest in his efforts. Somewhat the same question has often been raised by the reading of some of Booth Tarkington's works, and here the question is answered. For "The Turmoil" is not just a story, but a story with something back of it—a message or a theory, call it what you will.

But the fact doesn't hurt the story a particle—not in the hands of Booth Tarkington. He conveys his message and it interests you, but all the time you are interested in the affairs and the fate of the several members of the Sheridan family. And you feel this interest, not only because it is part of a story, but because you get so well acquainted with the Sheridans and those about them that you have a personal desire to know of their fortunes and mishaps, just as with those of your acquaintance outside of books.

"The Turmoil" deals with modern conditions and ambitions and activities. It is a story of big business, with the accent on the big, and it shows the grip of the commercial idea as that may fasten itself both on individuals and groups of individuals.

The Sheridans are the central figures in the story. Risen from comparative penury to nearly limitless affluence through the business operations of the head of the family, they have set about, at the beginning of the story, to break into the most exclusive set of society in a good-sized middle western city—name and locality not specified, though you are tempted to christen it Chindianapolisburg." Only one sore spot remains in the mind and experience of the elder Sheridan, and that is the character of his youngest son, "Bibbs." The two older boys have taken to business like ducks to water, and their father rejoices in that fact. But Bibbs sees nothing attractive in that kind of thing, and when his father tries to start him at the bottom of the family industries and work him up from there to the top, Bibbs finds the strain too much, and finally lands in a sanatorium, whence he comes, months afterward, very much the worse for wear, and with plenty of reason to feel put out and disgusted with his own relatives.

Of course, Bibbs lives to surprise them all, but the way he does it and the manner in which the story is worked out make one of the most readable and enjoyable yarns imaginable. The scenes of the story stick in the mind as if burned there. Dramatic clearness is a feature of one setting after another. Take even the "housewarming" dinner at the very beginning, when Sheridan senior invites all sorts and descriptions of guests to his table.

The new house is next door to that of the most exclusive first family in town, and among the guests is the daughter of that family, who is present partly from curiosity, but more because, with her father's fortunes no better than bankruptcy, she has been instructed to set her cap for one of the Sheridan boys. Other guests include people from the society set which the Sheridans hope to invade; people from the set they hope to evade, and long-time employes in the various Sheridan enterprises.

All the guests are seated at an immensely long table, at the head of which sits Mr. Sheridan, surrounded by the most favored guests. At the foot sits Mrs. Sheridan, with the employes sitting nearest her. Rich and rare decorations and service are spread over the intervening space, but prominent among them are three candy and pastry buildings of goodly size—models in miniature of the Sheridan building, the Sheridan apartments and the pump works, the institutions and enterprises that contributed most generously to the Sheridan fortune.

The social possibilities of the younger people have been multiplied by their training at school, but it is worth while to let Booth Tarkington himself give you another portrait:

> It was a great night for Sheridan—the very crest of his wave. He sat there knowing himself Thane and master by his own endeavor; and his big, smooth, red face grew more and more radiant with good will and with the simplest, happiest, most boyllke vanity. He was the picture of health, of good cheer, and of power on a holiday. He had thirty teeth, none bonglit, and showed most of them when he laughed; his grizzled hair was thick and as unruly as a farm laborer's; his chest was deep and big, beneath its vast facade of starched white linen, where little diamonds twinkled, circling three large pearls; his hands were stubby and strong, and he used them freely in gestures of marked picturesqueness; and though he had grown fat at chin and waist and wrist, he had not lost the look of readiness and activity.
> He dominated the table, shouting jocular questions and rallieries at everyone. His idea was that when people were having a good time they were noisy; and his own additions to the hubbub increased his pleasure, and, of course, met the warmest encouragement from his guests. Edith had discovered that he had very fogey notions of the difference between a band and an orchestra, and when it was made clear to him he held out for a band until Edith threatened tears; but the size of the orchestra they hired consoled him and he had now no regrets in the matter.
>
> He kept time to the music continually with his feet or pounding on the table with his fist and sometimes with spoon or knife upon his plate or glass, without permitting these side products to interfere with the real business of eating and shouting.
>
> "Toll 'em to play Nancy Lee," he would bellow down the length of the table to his wife while the musicians were in the midst of the "Toreador" song, perhaps. "Ask that fellow if they don't know Nancy Lee." And when the leader would shake his head apologetically in answer to an obedient shriek from Mrs. Sheridan, and the "Toreador" continued relentlessly, Sheridan would roar half remembered fragments of Nancy Lee, naturally mingling some Bizet with the stir of that uxorious tribute.

It doesn't need the excellent illustration by C. E. Chambers for you to get a vivid picture of Sheridan.

If Tarkington has written anything better than "The Turmoil" he ought to take it out of its pigeonhole and publish it. None but the rashest of mortals would hail any publication produced thus early as "the novel of the year," but when one comes upon a piece of work like this, one is sorely tempted.

Zangwill Presents a Problem.

PLASTER SAINTS. A play by Israel Zangwill. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

"When I look at my old sermons," says Dr. Vaughan, pastor of a church in a small English city, "I blush at the impudence and ignorance with which, I, an innocent at home, dared to speak of sin to my superiors in sinfulness."

The doctor has been much worried by his one mis-step, and finally has been found out by his wife. The problem that confronts him is whether to give up the ministry, whether to acknowledge his fault, whether to make his fault public and demand that he be kept in the pulpit or whether to hide his fault and remain a pastor. He is talking with his wife, who cites the old idea that "a priest must be perfect." This the doctor ridicules, and says:

> Now I know the difference between good and evil. It was through sin that Adam and Eve learnt it. Has that profound allegory no teaching for us? Oh, this fantastic hypothesis of perfection! A sea captain who has never made a voyage—the perfection of ignorance—and you trust him with the ship. You take a youth—the fool of the family for choice—keep him in cotton-wool under a glass case, cram him with Greek and Latin, constrict his neck with a white choker, clap a shovel hat on his sconce, and lo! he is God's minister!

Neither of them advances the point that on this theory Christ would have been a more effective teacher had he yielded to the temptations in the wilderness, but maybe it is as well, seeing that this is a problem play, not to include anything like an obvious solution of the problem. There are several sub-plots that contribute to a series of excellent climaxes.

A $10,000 Prize Play.

CHILDREN OF EARTH. A play by Alice Brown. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

Play-writing is, perhaps, a little more full of pitfalls for the inexperienced than any other form of production, and some of the difficulties are not overcome in Miss Brown's work, though it was found of sufficient excellence to secure the prize, even from such judges as Augustus Thomas, Adolph Klauber and Winthrop Ames. The play had a six-weeks run in New York during the first two months of this year—a run that should easily satisfy the author of so serious and yet unimportant a piece of work as is this one.

The action is laid in New England and chief among the characters is a woman who, after sixteen years of grieving for a lost lover, suddenly falls in love with a man who is unhappily mated. In spite of severe temptation and misleading opportunities the woman remains true to her lifelong training, but there is plenty of climactic action in the piece.

In view of the fact that this is the work of a writer to whom, so far as publicity goes, dramatic construction was a new effort, the dialogue is exceptionally well handled. The sentences are natural and the development of the action is superior to much of that kind of work that gets before the public.

Applied Religion.

OUR UNCLE WILLIAM. By David Skaats Foster. New York: The Franklin Book company.

Crudely written, but bearing a straightforward and important message, the story of Uncle William is unusual both in theme and purpose. If it is to be compared with anything in the publications of the last dozen or two years, the other volume must be "What Would Jesus Do?" And yet this present story makes no such plain point as did that of Sheldon, nor does it move with the same smoothness and logic.

The story concerns the Carson family, whose members are perhaps a trifle more than ordinarily self-seeking and avaricious. A letter comes from a man who says he is the brother of the late Mr. Carson, and that he has closed out his affairs in the West and is coming to New York to end his days. References to the Carson family and its members seem to establish his identity, and he is received with open arms as a rich and hitherto unknown relative. It turns out that he is rich in nothing but character and faith, but through those two means he is able to exert a tremendous influence on the members and fortunes of the Carson family before the wholly unexpected and unexplained denouement.

Modern Christianity.

THE RISE OF MODERN RELIGIOUS IDEAS. By Arthur Cushman McGiffert, Professor of Church History in Union Theological Seminary. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50 net.

Dr. McGiffert does not exactly maintain that the faith of the fathers is lost, but he does assert that the fundamentals of that faith are viewed today in a vastly different light than that in which our fathers saw them. He undertakes in this book to trace the origin of the modern ideas, and the influences which helped to promote them. He deals frankly with all questions presented, favoring neither one creed nor another in his presentation either of fact or theory. The sympathetic tone of the entire work is indicated in the closing sentences, in which he states his conclusions thus:

> We may fairly hope that in the future as in the past there will be growing adaptation between Christianity and the world in which it lives. The church has commonly been slow to change—a great institution necessarily is. But in the end it has always adjusted itself to the ethical and intellectual tendencies of the age. Had it not, it would long ago have perished from the earth. That Christianity continues to reveal this adaptability to the developing mind of man is a proof that it is alive, not dead, and is the best guarantee of its permanent influence and power.

Dr. McGiffert seems to ascribe the first breaking away from the modern church to unrest under the insistence of dogmatism and restraint that forbade the exercise of individual reason. He traces the breaking down of the older conceptions of Christianity through the operation of pietism, the development of natural science and the critical philosophy that came with the study of natural forces. Then he takes up the process of reconstruction which has led from those denials of Christian teaching to the readjustment of that teaching to fit modern knowledge. Speculation and returning faith, both the result of the emancipation of religion from enslavement to dogma on the one hand and conduct on the other, he finds as predecessors to the interpretation of human history in the light of evolution. He recognizes agnosticism, not only as having had a negative influence on Christian faith, but as having "served to shift the emphasis at many points, and in doing so has given new significance to certain ranges of religious value."

The chapter on "The Character of God" is one of the most interesting in the book. In this the author reviews the various conceptions, not only as expressed in creeds, but in different philosophies. He points out discrepancies and difficulties in the assignment of the dual natures of love and justice, and finally says:

> The most important contribution of modern times to an understanding of the divine character was made by Ritschl. He too, like Schleiermacher and Hegel, interpreted God as love. But the love of God, as he understood it, was not the impulse to make His creatures comfortable, or to promote the happiness of the virtuous; nor did it find exercise in impulses of divine nature, or in awakening men to a quickening consciousness of the divine. It was rather the will to promote the spirit of love among men. * * * The divine love terminates, according to Ritschl, not in anything passive, but in active social service. It accomplishes its purpose in arousing men not to their oneness with the divine, but to their duty toward their fellows; not to love for God, but to love for men.

Throughout his book Dr. McGiffert appears to emphasize this social force operating under the influence of religious thought and conception. His book will be found by many to be in fact a crystallization of their own more vaguely formulated conceptions, and the clearness with which it is written makes it readily comprehensible by the reader who has had little to do with other writings of a philosophical character.

Among the Magazines.

All business men should be interested in an intimate article by Harold Kellock in the April Century dealing with George Walbridge Perkins. As "A Pioneer of Big Business," this full-length portrait of "the little father of the trusts" is notable for its penetration and sympathy. It is the first of an informal series of articles that the Century purposes to add to from time to time under the general title of "Constructive Americans." The present article is written in a vivid, graphic style, which should insure attention to whatever papers follow. The portrait gallery of our so-called "Captains of Industry" is a large one, and the conception of their portraiture in such a manner one which reflects credit upon a modern magazine.

There is an impressive reserve and dignity in Col. Goethals' own account of the building of the Panama canal. It is a straightforward narrative of the difficulties that had to be met and of the successful adjustment and harmonizing of the countless problems involved in handling a great army of diversified races. In his second article in the April Scribner he writes of "Labor Problems Connected With the Work." The reputation of the isthmus as a pest-hole made it necessary to offer special inducements in the way of wages, and laborers had to be recruited in large numbers from the West Indies and other islands, even from Spain. It took not only wise judgment but patient kindness and firmness to keep the army of men at work. In the closing words of Col. Goethals' article probably lies the secret of his success: "It is a body of men to be proud of and a source of pride to be one of them." Thomas Nelson Page, United States ambassador to Italy, made a motor trip to the scenes of the recent earthquake in the Abruzzi the day after the shock, and he and other Americans gave valuable aid in many ways. He gives in this number a graphic account of the terrible scenes in Avezzano and other towns where the destruction was greatest. The article is illustrated with a remarkable series of photographs.

April brings forth several unusual and worth-while stories in Woman's World. "The Man Who Wasn't Wise," by Imogen Clark, tells of a father's love for his little girl—a theme worthy of being treated oftener in so charming a manner. The country minister, who was introduced to the reader last month, now presents his wife as assistant pastor, and describes some of the problems she solved for him. Grace Sartwell Mason relates "The Doctor's Story of Hester Winfield," the strange tale of a young girl's thirst for travel and adventure.

In its April issue the Woman's Home Companion continues its movement for better motion picture films throughout the United States. In the same number Anna Steese Richardson begins a new series entitled, "Mrs. Larry's Adventures in Thrift," in which practical demonstration is given of the advantage to housekeepers of the Housewives league, which gives women practical help on buying for their households. Alma Gluck, the famous soprano in the Metropolitan Opera company of New York city, writes on "Sincerity in Singing." Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, contributes a "Talk to American Girls" entitled, "The Girl and Her Future." Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle in New York city, writes an Easter sermon. Lee begins a new series entitled, "Made-in-America Vacations."

You'd almost think, from a "look in" at the March Sports Afield, that spring is here, that the violets are peeping through the dead leaves and that the robins are on the wing; bluebirds and robins are on the wing; certainly that the fish are biting, as this number contains some beautiful pictures to start the angler to "fooling around" with his rods and reels. In "Sunset Camps and Trails" we have three more interesting chapters, wherein the scene shifts from the Texas mesquite plains to the swamps and bayous of Louisiana, with some thrilling account of duck and jack-snipe shooting. "On the Upper Des Moines" will please every fisherman who is fortunate enough to read it. In the "Pannate enough to read it. In the "Pannate of Rocky Creek" we are given a ther of stirring tale of pioneer days—one of the truest-to-life stories we have ever read.

"The Greater Obligation," by Gordon Wright, opening novelette in April Young's magazine, deals powerfully with the world-old problem: Does the individual owe first duty to himself or to the race? "Mrs. Beverley's Grey Hair," by Isabel Ostrander, is the haunting story of a woman who waits at her husband's side for the coming of the letter which will tell him of her one rash infidelity. But a naval officer's mail is often delayed, and so she waits in terror day after day, until—but the story is well worth reading.

After pointing out the vast acreage which will be planted to crops this year, in order to feed the people of our own land and those of other lands; the renewed activities in railroad circles, consequent upon the recent rate increase; the reopening of steel mills, affording work to thousands, and the fact that, during the time of stress, business failures have been remarkably few, H. H. Windsor, in an editorial entitled "Spring and Hope," in the April Popular Mechanics magazine, asks: "What's the matter with us, anyway? Big crops for two years and now wartime prices for grain and the money piling up in the banks." "We're scared," he answers himself, and declares that "it is time to rise above our fears, and with firm hands and brave hearts march confidently out into our future and our destiny—and do things." An interesting article discusses the "wobbling" of the North Pole as a possible cause of earthquakes, scientific investigation having shown some remarkable phenomena bearing on the point. A number of views of Avezzano, Italy, since the recent shock there, accompany the article. Salvage work on the sunken Empress of Ireland is shown in a page group of views. It is stated that all the bodies that could possibly be reached, as well as the mail and silver bullion on board the ship, have been recovered.

In the April American Magazine Cleveland Moffett tells the story of a wonderful new invention, which, it is believed, will prevent collisions at sea and render the deadly submarine practically useless so far as injuring an enemy's ships is concerned. In the same issue Ring W. Lardner, the famous baseball writer, author of "The Letters of a Busher," picks an all-American baseball team. He takes his men from the two major leagues and describes them humorously, yet pointedly. Ida M. Tarbell, continuing her new business series, "The Golden Rule in Business," contributes an article on "The Hours of Labor." By the use of interesting stories taken from actual businesses, she makes out a convincing case for a reasonably short day, showing how excessive hours of labor produce no advantage for employers or employes. Conspicuous among the short stories in this issue is a political story entitled "The Lame Duck," written by Brand Whitlock, former mayor of Toledo, and present minister to Belgium.

The April number of the Yale Review establishes a new record for variety and interest of content. It is dominated by the great war; but in no sense devoted to it. The leading article is an intimate and vivid study of England in the midst of her experience with "the real thing" by L. P. Jacks, the distinguished editor of the Hibbert Journal. It is followed by an interesting prophecy of the geographical and racial realignment of Europe likely to take place with the coming of peace by the Harvard historian, Archibald Cary Coolidge. Another distinguished Harvard scholar, George Grafton Wilson, authority on international law, contributes a discussion of the rights and wrongs of neutralization as applied to such countries as Belgium. Benjamin W. Bacon, whose knowledge of early Christian history gives his words especial weight, establishes an analogy between Caesarism and kaiserism in conflict with enduring Christian ideals, which is of very great and immediate significance.

The greater part of the Keramic Studio for March is taken up with exhibits of the Keramic Society of New York, among which are some very pretty pieces. The supplement, as usual, contains very attractive designs for flower and berry borders, pins and buckles, honey jars and salt and peppers, besides a beautiful study of water lilies for vases by Jeanne M. Stewart. One of the colored supplements has a very effective design for an Egyptian vase and bowl, in gold and black, and the other supplement has four dainty panels in roses and daisies.

It is proposed that a war medal of uniform design, and bearing the simple inscription, "I was there," should be distributed among all the allied troops.

REV. DR. JOHNSON, one of the most noted clergymen and pulpit orators of the Protestant Episcopal church in America, will arrive in the city during the coming week and will preach at St. Paul's Episcopal church on Palm Sunday and every day during Passion week.

FAVORS COURT OF CONCILIATION

Dean Vance Would Have Petty Cases Settled Without Formal Trials.

The establishment of a court of conciliation in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, for the settlement of petty civil differences, neighborhood squabbles, wage accounts and minor claims, without the aid of lawyers or resorting to formal legal proceedings, was advocated yesterday by Dean W. R. Vance of the university law college, in an address before the Minneapolis Association of Office Men.

Dean Vance has spoken in Duluth on several occasions and is very well known here.

During his address he declared that the state legislature should pass a bill establishing these courts in the three largest cities of the state, as the court of conciliation has proven to be a great success in Norway and several cities in this country.

In a court of conciliation the complainant simply tells his grievances without any formal pleading, and then the other party in the case is summoned. The court then advises them of their rights and suggests a settlement. That's all there is to it.

WANTS $20,000 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Widow of Waldemar Jurevitz Sues Northern Pacific Road.

Minnie Jurevitz, widow and administratrix of the estate of Waldemar Jurevitz, yesterday started suit in district court to collect $20,000 from the Northern Pacific Railway company on a cause of action for alleged wrongful death.

Jurevitz on Jan. 14 last was run down and killed by a flat car which had been shunted on to a track where he and others were at work removing water from a drain by means of a suction pump. Both of his legs were amputated and he died soon after the accident. William J. Robinson, foreman of the switching crew which handled the car, was named in the case as a joint defendant with the company. Jurevitz is survived by a wife and two children, for whose benefit the action was brought. Courtney & Courtney are plaintiff's attorneys.

First Place in Debate.

Whitewater, Wis., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Addison Haugen of the Milwaukee state normal school won first place in the annual state inter-normal oratorical contest here last night. His subject was "The Meaning of the Conflict."

Joseph S. Zellner of Oshkosh was second, and James E. Jones, Platteville, third.

Maddock, N. D., Fire.

Maddock, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire started in a local garage here and gained such headway that the garage, the Hammer blacksmith shop, and the Raddison restaurant were burned before the flames could be gotten under control.

Full Petticoats

The announcement that wide full petticoats will be worn this Spring will be met with dismay by the women-folk.

A few years ago such an ultimatum would have caused not even a ripple on the Sea of Fashion. But today, when every suggestion of width has been carefully removed from the underskirt, leaving it narrow to skimpiness, this latest style will mean no inconsiderable annoyance to womankind.

Such a decree has, of course, come about since wide skirts are vogue, and, as this latter style shows no inclination, at this time, to recede, it is perhaps quite natural that the full petticoat craze should follow.

Spring styles in petticoats of the newest design are now being displayed in the smart shops in town, and, after consulting the advertising columns of The Herald for announcements of these, it might be well to look over the supply for suggestions for renovating old models.

How effectively the university puts all effort for intellectual attainment on a common level is shown in the current number of the alumni weekly, where statistics showing the nativity, religious prefecence and cost of living of men and women enrolled are given. The Methodists and Lutherans are tied with 523 each; and there are 471 Presbyterians. Of Roman Catholics there are 460; Congregationalists, 451; Episcopalians, 313; Baptists, 186; Christian Scientists, 92; Jews, 88; Christians, 28; Universalists, 27; and Protestants of no denomination, 26. There are 129 students who profess no religious affiliation, and 503 did not answer the question when asked to state their affiliation. It cost the average male student $536.18, including every item of expense, to go through the university one year. The average woman student gets through for $474.48. The average for men is raised by the higher fees for the professional schools. Many go through much more cheaply. Seventeen men and women got through last year under $250 each. The average man student who works to help pay his way earns $161.16 a year; and the average woman student earns $99.14; of the men 56 earn more than $400; of the men students, 47.6 per cent work to help pay their way, and 11.9 per cent of the women do likewise.

PRAISES RECORD OF THE DEMOCRATS

Senator Lewis Tells How Present Administration Has Saved Country.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 20.—A review of the record of the Democratic national administration, praise for President Wilson and denunciation of Republican leaders and Republican policies were included in the speech of Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois at a banquet of Democratic members of the Missouri legislature last night.

"Ex-President Taft," he said, "in an address in New York called attention to the fact that in 1910, this nation was on the eve of a revolution.

"The answer is that the Republican masters had so administered this government that the courts were toppling, judges believed to be universally corrupt, corporate power had been permitted to subordinate the individual to the point that he had become a subject. Competition in the arts of mankind, was throttled, and in the race of life, men were hobbled and an attempt was made to gag them to prevent them from crying out their grievances. In high quarters, it was proposed that armies be established to barricade every factory, and to 'turn every municipality into a fort for the suppression of revolt against oppression which the citizen was suffering.

"This is the state to which policies of the Republican masters had brought this republic.

"To remedy such a state, the Democracy was called to power. Notwithstanding the treachery in his own party, the relentless obstruction of organizations calling themselves Republican, and the tyranny of large business was rebelling because its privileges of exploiting the American republic, looting corporate treasurers, defiling legislatures and corrupting the courts had destroyed—despite this the president and his administration moved on and mankind will witness that it has carried out its promises to a greater extent than has any other administration since the Civil war. The Democratic administration dispatched the money monopoly, shattered the money trust barons and sent them to outer darkness. Thus distinguished masters meet to bewail the misery of the country, but among themselves chuckle with delight at the contemplation of once again going into power in the name of political party, where they can further loot railroads, rob banks, in the name of insurance companies, take the funds of widows and orphans, defile legislatures, corrupt courts, debase the republic and bring the nation again to the extreme of what ex-President Taft aptly described as the verge of revolution."

DRAMA VAUDEVILLE MOTION PICTURES

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS — WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

LENT has weeded out all but the strong and flourishing of the New York dramatic productions, and those which survive, especially those which have a record of at least 150 consecutive performances, may be looked upon as "successes."

Here is the list of the twelve New York attractions which have survived the Lenten period and have a record of at least 150 performances:

"Twin Beds," "On Trial," "Under Cover," "It Pays to Advertise," "Daddy Long Legs," "The Law of the Land," "Kick in," "Chin-chin," "A Pair of Silk Stockings," "Experience," "Outcast," "The Only Girl."

The list shows a rather odd mixture. There is a little farce and a little comedy. There is a little music and a deal of melodrama. It may be noted that, with two exceptions, the plays are all of American craftsmanship, for there is simply no thinking of George Broadhurst as an English author, and it would be idle to ascribe the success of "The Only Girl" to its misty, distant foreign origin. A few paragraphs of cheer for the heart of the budding American dramatist might be found suggested by the contents of this list. Also it may be noted that, with three exceptions, the twelve have flourished starless. Columns might be written with that as a starter.

DREAMS of making Duluth a producing center are harbored by Walter S. Baldwin. Mr. Baldwin has visions of more prosperous times in the theatrical business in the near future, and with them the possibility of making Duluth a theatrical center for the Northwest, taking the best productions of the local stock company and sending them on the road, for tours of the smaller cities within a radius of several hundred miles of Duluth.

The scheme is an ambitious one, and full of many interesting possibilities. Perhaps it will be worked out some day.

A MINNEAPOLIS newspaper man is having the good luck of seeing his play produced in the East. John Cort secured the right to "The Natural Law," first presented in Minneapolis Dec. 22, 1913, by a stock company. The author is Charles Sumner, and with Howard Hall, Carl Eckstrom, Austin Webb, Helen Holmes and Teresa Maxwell Conover in the cast he will have an opportunity to see it open at Hartford on Monday evening. If it is well received it will be taken to New York within a short time.

THE art of matinee-idoling has been revived in New York. The matinee idol has rather fallen into disrepute of late years. The stock star generally tries to avoid the stigma. He no longer thrives on scented notes—at least he no longer boasts of them—and he strives for a popularity that is not expressed in the sighs of the matinee girl.

But in Lou Tellegen, New York is said to have a modern edition of the matinee idol who is striding through a path of perfume and flowers, violet stationery and sighs, to financial heights.

Tellegen, who was Sarah Bernhardt's leading man on her last tour of America, is acclaimed by the critics as having too much ability as an actor to be offered up as a sacrifice to the matinee girls.

SCENE FROM "THE CONFESSION,"
Presented By the Baldwin Players All Next Week at the Lyceum.

"THE CONFESSION" AT THE LYCEUM

Baldwin Players Will Stage Drama of Young Priest's Battle.

Conflict between a young priest's love for his brother and his duty to the church forms the theme of "The Confession" which will be staged by the Baldwin Players all next week, beginning with the matinee tomorrow afternoon. The usual matinee will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

"The Confession" was originally produced at the Bijou theater in New York, and enjoyed a long run there. It is the work of James Halleck Reid.

The hero of the play, a young priest of the Roman Catholic church, is confronted with the necessity of breaking the seal of the confessional, or seeing his brother hanged for a crime of which he is innocent.

The story tells of the young priest's work in a small New England town. His brother is a cause of much worry to him because of his dissolute habits. In the priest's parish is a young woman, the daughter of wealthy parents. The priest's brother is engaged to marry the young woman, whose brother has traveled rather farther along the road of dissipation than the priest's brother. The two young men become companions in dissipation, and one evening quarrel publicly in a saloon. They leave and shortly afterwards the body of the girl's brother is found with a bullet wound through his head. The priest's brother is promptly arrested for the crime.

While the young man is in prison awaiting trial, a French-Canadian confesses to the priest that he was the murderer, having killed to avenge his sister who had been ruined by the victim of the shooting several years before.

The priest is then confronted with the alternative of breaking the seal of the confessional, or allowing his brother to be hanged for a crime of which he is innocent. The trial is held and the priest's brother is convicted and sentenced to hang. To disclose in advance how the dramatist solves the problem would be unfair, but the play is said to offer many intensely dramatic situations.

Homer Barton will appear in the role of the priest, and his brother will be played by Walter Baldwin, Jr. Miss Helen Keers will have an important part as the mother of the priest. De Stephani will appear as the counsel for the defense, another important part in the play, and Miss Doris Olsson will be cast as the girl.

For the following week Mr. Baldwin's long heralded production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is scheduled. It will be played for five days only, beginning Sunday, March 28. Following that "Within the Law" will be staged.

Some additions to the company are expected to be made after Lent, and one of these will bring A. Romaine Callender back to Duluth. He was very popular with the patrons of the company last summer.

"Potash & Perlmutter."

A. H. Woods will present at the Lyceum on April 2 and 3, "Potash & Perlmutter." Montague Glass' famous characters, "Abe" Potash and "Mawruss" Perlmutter, are among the most popular characters in modern fiction. Their trials and their triumps, their joys and their sorrows brought smiles and tears to millions of readers but when Mr. Woods undertook the seemingly impossible task of presenting them in the flesh and blood on the stage there were many who declared that it "couldn't be done." "Potash & Perlmutter" was presented at the Cohan theater, New York city nearly two years ago and scored an instantaneous success. From that night, until Mr. Woods was compelled because of existing contracts to send the play on tour, the theater was crowded to the doors at every performance.

"Ziegfeld Follies."

"Ziegfeld Follies" are announced for presentation at the Lyceum for two days in April. This will mark the first presentation here of this famous institution and the indications are that the S. R. O. sign will be displayed in front of the theater long before the curtain rises. The big cast comprises the names of 150 entertainers. Among the important players may be noted such popular local favorites as: Bert Williams, Leon Errol, Vera Michelena, Louise Meyers, Ed Wynn, Arthur Deagon, Anna Pehnington, Stella Chatelaine, Herbert Clifton, J. Bernard Dyllyn, C. Morton Horne, Johnny Dove, Kay Laurell, May Carman, Gladys Feldman, Jean Barnett, Lottie Vernon, Addison Young, Harold Dunham, Dorothy Newell, Dal Vayne, Arthur Rose, Daisy Virginia, Dorothy Godfrey and many others. Besides the principals mentioned the original Broadway beauty chorus will be exhibited.

POPULAR BILL AT NEW GRAND

Classic Dances and Many Other Good Features for Next Week.

Novelty and comedy combine to make the present bill at the New Grand one of the best seen at that popular playhouse this season.

Madison and Nace, in harmony singing, offer a diversion that is pleasing and entertaining and which gives them ample opportunity to display their talent. Both have excellent voices.

Gladys Van and Arthur Peace, in a one-act classic, are in a class of their own. Their sketch, "Get a License," contains a laugh a second, due to their clever handling.

Lawrence Johnson, "king of voice throwers," offers an act out of the ordinary. He entertains in a style that is pleasing and original.

The Four Charles in a European transformation novelty provide a half hour of legerdemain, juggling and illusions. The act is a distinct novelty full of surprises set off by magnificent and electrical trickery.

This week the Hearst-Selig News is brimming over with interest. The fast Lackawanna express plunging from the rails at Marion, N. J., endangering the lives of hundreds; the Boy Scouts in their annual drill and inspection at Washington, D. C., and Grace Darling, the News reporter, on a trip through the Panama canal, are among the interesting events.

The photoplay feature is "The Lady of the Cyclamen," in two reels, and is full of heart interest. One of the Helen Holmes stories of railroad life, "The Open Drawbridge," and a comedy, "Rastus Knew It Wasn't," complete the bill.

A fine assortment of vaudeville and photoplays has been arranged for the new bill opening Monday matinee.

Steve Jahusz, better known as "the king of bunkology," is a tip-top entertainer and puts over a routine of comedy magic exhibitions.

A versatile singing and dancing duo is Williams and Sterling in their comedy offering, "The Bug and the Buggy." Their patter is new, funny and in good taste and the songs are new and away from the beaten path.

Loraine and Mitchell, in a revolving ladder display, with beautiful scenic environment, are the peers in their particular line of endeavor.

An artistic and classic terpsichorean triumph is the offering of Ernette Ansoria, who is ably assisted by Chevalier de Mar and Miss Eliante. This offering has been described as a terpischorean "bedazzlement."

The photoplay feature will be "A Daughter's Strange Inheritance," in three reels. Two comedies, "Mustang Pete's Pressing Engagement" and "For Repairs," and an educational comedy reel complete the bill.

MEXICAN WAR FILMS AT ORPHEUM

Uncle Sam's Navy Shown in Action—Many Thrilling Scenes.

"Say, you're dead up there!" was the message that floated from the captain's bridge of the battleship Wyoming to Lyman H. Howe's camera man, perched high on the mainmast of the flagship during the battle maneuvers of the Atlantic fleet in Mexican waters a few months ago.

Every superdreadnaught of the American navy and most of the battleships were in "action formation" to permit the photographers to make the splendid moving picture spectacle that comes to the Orpheum theater next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The "battle ground" was fifty miles off Vera Cruz in the most remarkable sea setting in the world for such a reproduction. Uncle Sam's great giants of the deep swept the tropical sea in the entire game of war, and during the "firing" the Wyoming, in the estimation of the naval strategists, was disabled by the (imaginary) destruction of the mainmast, where one of the Howe camera men was busily operating his picture-taking apparatus. Consequently the photographer was considered technically or strategically "dead." But he did not know it. He wanted to remain a real live photographer, especially while such absorbing scenes were being enacted. So he refused to "die" at the moment the mainmast was supposed to be out of commission, and it was at this juncture that the officers "reminded" the camera man that he was "dead."

Aside from such tense phases of life in the navy, the series also depicts its light—or creative—side, scores of bluejackets plunging overboard for a refreshing swim, and a visit up on the forecastle, the "ship's playground," where groups are squatted on the deck playing "acey-ducey," cards, tangoing, etc. In short, this series sets forth the daily life and the day's work of the 60,000 men who today man the fighting vessels of our navy. It shows in detail the means taken to promote and insure the battle efficiency alike of men and ships. It opens up an entirely new world to most spectators.

The romance of history as expressed in the making of a cash register constitutes another feature of the program. Howe selected this particular plant not alone because it is typical of American skill, enterprise and organization, but because it is recognized the world over as a model manufacturing plant—a monumental realization of an idea and an ideal. The variety of the scenes may be imagined when it is remembered that ninety trades and professions are engaged here in manufacturing machines from 8,800 different kinds of raw material coming from all quarters of the globe. The registers are shipped to seventy-five different countries and protect thirty-three different coinages of money.

The Philippines of today and yesterday—the past and present customs, costumes, dances, habits, etc., of a strange people—form another noteworthy subject of vital and absorbing interest, besides many other features of rare charm and beauty, not to mention entirely new animated cartoons which always form such a welcome and pleasant diversion.

ORGAN RECITALS AT REX.

Mrs. McKindley and Miss Rogers to Appear on Star Programs.

The Rex theater management has arranged with Mrs. McKindley and Faith Helen Rogers to conduct a series of organ recitals to be given every afternoon each week with the exception of Sunday. The first recital will be Monday afternoon with Miss Rogers at the organ.

Beautiful, gifted Clara Kimball Young will be at the Rex Monday and Tuesday. Everyone remembers the sensation she created as "Lola," and her new play, "My Official Wife," in which she appears Monday and Tuesday, is considered even more of a sensation than "Lola." The story, in brief, is woven around a fascinating nihilist, Helen Marle, who, in order to get by the secret police, induces Lennox, an American, to introduce her as his wife that she may enter on his passport.

Tuesday and Wednesday one of the most unique and amusing photoplays ever produced will be shown at Rex the Beautiful. The title, "A Gentleman of Leisure," gives very little idea of the situations in this latest Jesse L. Lasky release. Wallace Eddinger, playing the title role, is very popular in New York and expects to appear in Duluth the latter part of September.

"Rule G," the film adaptation of Rufus Steel's stories, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post recently, is the biggest thing in next week's program. It will be shown for only two days—Friday and Saturday. "Rule G" is action so swift that it takes one's breath away. The little bits of by-play and the charming love story are more than welcome as they give one a chance to draw their breath between the "punches" scattered so profusely throughout the story. There are scenes showing accidents and near-accidents that leave us with our hearts in our mouths and then again scenes so dramatic and with such gripping appeal as to bring tears.

Arthur Rice, the producer of "Rule G," believed that railroad men, because of their high efficiency, could be readily developed to play the role. The railroad company permitted Mr. Rice to inspect the men of the Western division and engage on furlough trainmen and shopmen as were desired. As a result every member of the cast is the workman he pretends to be and in the whole five reels there is not a false whisker or a facial wrinkle not pencilled by nature. Just think—a whole division, railroad trains, shops and yards were placed at the disposal of the "Rule G" producers. It will be shown Friday and Saturday.

FILM STARS AT ZELDA.

Alice Brady in "As Ye Sow" Coming Next Week.

Alice Brady, for years one of the favorites of the legitimate stage, will appear at the Zelda theater for three days, commencing Monday matinee, in her great success in five acts, entitled "As Ye Sow," presented by William A. Brady. The part Alice Brady plays is that of a wife, who through the husband's carelessness, rather than badness of heart, finds herself absolutely destitute, although for his sake, she left a wealthy home and parents and all the luxuries in the world.

Mr. Mistachkin, manager of the Zelda, has returned from his booking trip and has made arrangements to present some great stars during the week. He will show the world's feature productions with such stars as Robert Warwick in "The Dollar Mark," in five acts; Lew Fields in "Old Dutch," five acts; Tom Wise in "A Gentleman From Mississippi," five acts; Vivian Martin in "The Wishing Ring," five acts; coming for three days, March 29, 30 and 31, the Brady feature, "The Lure," in five acts, a strong moral play; Barbara Tennant in "The Marked Woman," five acts; Clara Kimball Young in "Hearts in Exile," five acts; Beatriz Michelena in "The Lily of Poverty Flat," five acts, and Robert Warwick in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," five acts.

PRIZE FILM AT SUNBEAM

Francis X. Bushman Will Appear in Essany Feature.

Francis X. Bushman, leading man with the Eastern Essanay Stock company, has scored a great success in "The Battle of Love," the fourth Essanay complete prize mystery play produced in conjunction with The Ladies World. This photoplay will be the feature attraction of the Sunday program at the Sunbeam theater.

Especial emphasis was placed on the clever acting of Mr. Bushman. Exhibitors have declared that their audiences were stirred with enthusiasm over his part, and that the play was so well constructed that the interest was sustained to the very end. The story was written by Mrs. Wilson Woodow, one of America's leading short story and fiction writers. It is one of exceptional merit.

"The Legend of the Love Tree," an Indian fantasy with Miss Myrtle Gandzalo in the leading role, is another feature for Sunday. The third in the "Patsy Bolivar" series also comes Sunday with the installment of "Patsy at College." In this film are shown many of the antics of a college boy at school.

MISS NANSEN AT DIAMOND.

Noted Tragedienne Will Play in a War Romance.

Miss Betty Nansen, the distinguished tragedienne, will appear at the Diamond theater tonight and tomorrow in the four-reel drama entitled "Princess Elena's Prisoner." The Great Northern Film company in announcing this attraction presents Miss Nansen, who has achieved distinction as a tragedienne in the principal capitals of Europe.

At the opening of this story the Princess Elena is entertaining an evening party during the absence of her father, who is fighting for his country in distant lands. During the progress of the party a message is received announcing another victory for the king. Everyone is elated with the exception of the princess, who recalls a young Capt. Versin of the opposing forces. She remembers him as a dashing young officer and, when the prisoners are brought in, he is found among them. She attempts to liberate him and he succeeds in escaping, but is followed and, after a hard chase, is again captured. A court-martial quickly follows and he is sentenced to death. She pleads with the prime minister that he be set free and the minister consents on the condition that the princess becomes his wife. The princess tells him she would rather see the captain die, and she determines to steal to the prison to aid her lover. Arriving there she offers the captain a dagger, but this he declines, with the statement that his country needs him. The princess appropriates a uniform for the captain and, as he kisses her hand impulsively and takes his leave, she sinks upon the bench and slowly draws the blade across her wrist and dies.

The famous "Leipziger Messe" at Loipzig, Germany, is said to have opened as usual with splendid attendance, in spite of the war. The "Leipziger Messe" is undoubtedly the most famous of those street fairs which are still held in many of the leading German cities, and smaller ones, too, for that matter. They originated in the Middle Ages.

• • •

Two stars that have won fame in musical comedy in England are said to be booked for productions in this country. They are Gertie Millar and Gladys Cooper.

Valeska Suratt will appear in blackface in a new turn which she is preparing for vaudeville, according to reports. In the sketch will be, besides Miss Suratt, Melville Stokes and Willie Solar. The former has been her leading man in the near past.

• • •

Ada Lewis will make her first vaudeville appearance in the near future in a sketch by Edgar Allen Woolf.

• • •

After much discussion as to why she did not appear when first booked for the two-a-days, Calve last week was seen at the Palace, New York, and proved to be a great drawing card, as had been expected.

• • •

Marie Cahill is said to be a strong probability for vaudeville in the near future. Miss Cahill was co-star with Richard Carle in "Ninety in the Shade," which recently breathed its last at the Knickerbocker, New York.

• • •

Cecil Lean is said to be guilty of having written a farce, with the purpose of having it serve as a vehicle for himself and Cleo Mayfield. The name is "Come Hither."

Petrova has been obliged to cancel her vaudeville engagement, objection having been raised thereto by certain "movie" people, who had her under contract.

In spite of the brave effort to remain with the production, Leon Errol, one of "The Folly" stars, has been obliged to deliver up his role to his understudy for a time in order to give his bruised body a chance to rest. It will be remembered that Errol was hurt a short time ago by a fall.

• • •

Kolb and Dill, the well-liked German comedians of the Pacific coast, are to have a new vehicle. The play in which they gathered fame was "A Peck o' Pickles." The new production is to be made in San Francisco, April 4, and is entitled "This Way Out." The music has been written by Henry Orlob, one of the younger generation of composers. After the exposition the show is to be taken to Chicago.

THE MELTING POT OF WAR

America as an International Forum—The People's Concern in Permanent Peace.

By EDWARD A. FILENE, Boston Merchant, Connected With International Congress of Chambers of Commerce, Who Has Recently Returned From a Study of the European Situation.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

My recent studies in the warring countries have convinced me that there is no immediate possibility of bringing about peace and that there will be none, until either exhaustion or a decisive victory comes to one side or to the other. I was in France, for the most part in Paris, during August and September, and in Germany, Belgium, Holland and England during October and November. Discussion of the possible terms of peace without regard to the time when peace could be made was equally impossible.

Yet peace must come, and I believe that we in the United States have a very definite duty to perform in the face of the situation that confronts us. For if something is not done by some neutral nation, the struggle will be greatly prolonged and will end in a settlement that will leave Europe an armed camp—with disastrous consequences to all the world.

Real Peace Dependent on Masses.

No other nation is quite so well fitted as ours to initiate action. If settlement is to bring a real peace, and not a mere truce, the masses of people in all the nations interested, neutrals as well as belligerents, must have a part in the discussion of its terms and must wield a powerful influence in shaping them. Unless some feasible plan is furnished in advance, this participation will be denied them, and the treaties of peace will be written in terms supplied by the same type of diplomats who were either unable or unwilling to avert this great war.

It is clear that we cannot depend upon the warring nations to begin of their own accord, a discussion of the terms of peace sufficiently in advance of the actual peace-making to insure to the people their proper participation in the settlement. Fortunately, however, there is an opportunity to induce such a discussion. This opportunity is in the United States, by reason of the fact that all the belligerent nations are represented here by great numbers of men who were either born in one of those countries or are the immediate descendants of their nationals.

Laboratory for Peace Basis.

Thus I believe this country is in a position to furnish the warring nations what they will not provide for themselves—a field for just such a discussion as is the necessary preliminary of a sound peace, and a laboratory in which the action and reaction of all the elements involved in the war may be had.

We have in this country millions of citizens of German, French, Austria, Russian, English and Italian origin. These people, while retaining an understanding of the problems of their native lands, have yet for the most part been here long enough to have acquired a sympathetic knowledge of the basic principles of our racial, religious and political freedom, and of our democratic institutions.

Therefore, I propose that there be initiated in this country a nation-wide and thorough discussion of the principles underlying permanent peace and the bases of a settlement in Europe. This discussion, to be effective, must reach the masses of the people, especially those whose foreign origin gives them a greater sympathy with the interests of one or the other of the belligerents.

At first there will be some confusion, some errors, differences, and, naturally, some racial and national prejudices. But gradually a better understanding of the fundamental principles, rights and possibilities involved, will come. The discussion would inevitably attract the attention of all parties to the strife in Europe and they in turn would communicate to their compatriots in this country something of their own attitude toward the settlement of their differences.

Testing Sentiment of Peoples.

It is extremely probable that those in authority in the nations at war would use this opportunity to test indirectly the probable attitude of their own peoples and hose of their enemies toward the different proposals they have in mind for a settlement. There would develop in the minds of the masses on both sides of the Atlantic a comprehension of the fundamental bases of a more lasting peace.

Peace constructed upon such a foundation, and wrought by such processes, will be less likely to carry in itself the seeds of future wars. It will have its base in the judgments and feelings of the masses of people, who in belligerent countries have suffered so much directly, and in neutral countries have suffered indirectly.

My experiences of the past year in Europe have left me very optimistic as to the possibilities of attaining a higher degree of international co-operation. Since questions of trade and commerce are already recognized as among the chief underlying causes of war, any organized movement seeking to deal intelligently with these problems will be striking at the very roots of the evil.

What has been done, for instance, by the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce furnishes a good illustration of the possibilities in this direction, even under the old conditions.

I went to Europe last March to attend the meeting of the permanent council of the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce. At that meeting, in Brussels, the council voted against my proposition to submit all the controversial international business questions of sufficient importance to warrant such treatment to an international referendum. My plan was to refer all such issues to the chambers of commerce in all the countries represented in the international body for their opinion and vote. It provided for the establishment of a permanent bureau at Brussels, through which questions might be submitted to the constituent organizations, and their responses received and collated.

Business Men and Internationalism.

I was convinced that the adverse vote at the Brussels meeting did not represent the real opinion of the majority of the organizations behind the delegates who voted against the plan. As the biennial meeting was scheduled for June, in Paris, I spent the intervening months in criss-crossing Europe, laying my proposition before the leading business men, government officials and publicists in the various countries.

The result of this campaign justified, I believe, my faith in the possibilities of world-wide co-operation and proved that the business men of the leading nations are ready to play their part in a program of constructive internationalism. At the Paris meeting we got the necessary votes, and when the war broke out in July, I was in Brussels, where we were preparing for the first international business referendum the world had ever seen.

The subject of the first referendum was "disloyal competition," or, as we say in this country, "unfair competition." It dealt largely with the falsification of trade marks, falsification of points of origin, and similar unfair practices which have had a far greater influence in causing and keeping alive international prejudices and distrust than is commonly understood. This first referendum, which was, of course, interrupted by the war, was to have been followed by the submission of other and even more important issues to the business men of the world through their chambers of commerce.

What these referenda might in time come to embrace, after the world had recognized the possibilities that lie in such a medium for gathering and digesting world opinion, is indicated by the fact that the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce, at its meeting in Boston in 1912, went on record in favor of the arbitration of controversies arising between governments.

BOILING WATER AS DISINFECTANT

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

Measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria and various other communicable diseases are perhaps most readily transmitted by the discharges from the nose and mouth of the patient. When the patient is cared for in the home and some member of the family must act as nurse, it is necessary for the protection of whoever acts in this capacity and for those who come in contact with the patient that the utmost care should be exercised in handling them.

Instead of the handkerchiefs commonly used for this purpose, the patient should be supplied with cheese cloth or paper napkins and in a sufficient quantity so that they can be handled with comfort. Those which have been used and discarded should be handled only by the nurse and immediately burned. After handling such materials the hands should be thoroughly disinfected in a bichloride of mercury or other good antiseptic solution.

The dishes and eating utensils which are used for the sufferer should in no instance be washed with those used in the household but should be placed in a receptacle kept just outside the sick room door, containing a disinfecting solution of cresols or formaldehyde and then placed in boiling water and allowed to boil for ten or fifteen minutes.

The sheets and bed clothes which will invariably be covered with fine particles of sputum when the patient coughs or sneezes, should be placed in a tub containing one of the three disinfecting solutions and allowed to soak for three hours after which they should be boiled for one hour.

When there is a sufferer from tuberculosis in a household they should not use the dishes and eating utensils which the other members of the family do, but should be supplied with individual utensils. These should always be first boiled and then washed separately.

These are fundamental precautions in the handling of communicable disease which can only be disregarded at the peril of the nurse and the entire household. Unquestionably the transmission of disease from one member of a family to another in many cases is due to the failure to follow out this method of procedure consistently.

A Chicago scrubwoman has invented a three-wheeled vehicle in which she drags herself over the floor she is operating on. She saves her knees and does much more work.

SOMETHING MAY DROP THIS YEAR IN THE BATTLE RING OF BASEBALL

Feds and Organized Forces Are Spending Huge Piles of Money in Effort to Crush One Another; Gunboat Smith Has Fallen Like Lucifer; Johnny Kilbane Shows a Dash of Speed.

BY BRUCE.

ARE the Federals fluttering, fluctuating, and otherwise displaying signs of weakening, or is the receding from the rampant ranting of last year merely the lull before the storm? You can get a play on either side of the question. Wise baseball men, high in the councils of the game, come through with diverse opinions. Some say the Feds are beaten and are bally well aware of that fervid fact; while others, leaning in sentiment to the well cultivated side of organized baseball, shake their heads and ominously declare that there is too much money behind the Federal league to permit of its dying of inanition.

But most of those qualified by experience and position to express a weighty opinion on the battle that is in progress between the forces of organized ball and the impudent outlaws, believe that something decidedly decisive will occur during the season that is about to open. Like the war in Europe, the sanguinary conflict in the forces of baseball is exhausting a tremendous amount of money, and losing money hurts—ouch!

This shifting of Eddie Collins to Chicago, one of the greatest centers in the world of the great national game—the bolstering up of the New York Americans—and other preparations upon the part of the American league to strengthen the weakest links in the chain, are evidences of the determination of the younger major to make a hard fight of it. No such alert evidence has been given by the moguls of the National league. In the matter of enterprise the older league is lagging with protruding tongue behind the Johnson organization. The National is lying down and the American is bucking up. It is going to cost a lot of money, some say, to win the fight, and it looks like the brunt of the spending will fall on the shoulders of the magnates of the American.

Gunboat Smith Out of It.

ONCE upon a time—all fairy stories start in this fashion—the followers of the fight game proclaimed Gunboat Smith as the greatest of the white heavies and perhaps the greatest of all fighters. Visions of a new heavyweight of the bright and charming stripe of Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Jeffries flashed across the minds of some of the more optimistic of the votaries of the glove game.

While the progress of the gunner was not all that could be hoped for, still it was pointed out that the progress of Jeffries had been painfully slow and his path up to the pugilistic peaks beset with thorns and stony obstacles.

After the first meeting with Sam Langford the Smith jubilee shouters rose on their hind legs and let loose a mighty and exultant yell. After the second meeting with the squat and grinning negro the shout died out in a plaintive and hoarse-throated whisper.

In the wake of the successive defeats at the hands of Langford and Jack Dillon, a lad who stoutly maintains that he is still able to make the middleweight limit, comes an interesting story of the battle between Gunboat Smith and that picturesque youth, Georges Carpentier.

Whispers that have worked their way across the Atlantic and gradually made the rounds of sporting places, do say that the French boy really had the gunner beaten and that the foul upon the part of Smith was real and intentional, and made to escape a sure beating that was already being administered in its initial stages to the American fighter.

Some of the rotten starts the gunner has made since the meeting with Carpentier, a really great fighter they do say, serve to bear out the stories of the intentional foul upon the part of Smith.

The Hudson Card.

MIKE COLLINS, who blithely leaped into the big league class of promoters by staging the successful soiree between Mike Gibbons and Eddie McGoorty, has another good card scheduled for next Tuesday evening. The meeting between Ray Temple and Red Watson should be interesting because of the vastly different styles of the two men.

Watson is a rusher—an aggressive boxer who literally compels the other one to fight for sheer self protection. Temple is one of the foxes of the ring: one of the cleverest boys flirting with the gloves—a boxer competent enough to stake Joe Mandot to a real lacing and one able enough to make Johnny Tillman recently look like a fool.

Too often boxers make a rotten exhibition. The history of fistiana is filled to brimming verification of this statement; and on the other hand the rushing and slugging fighter and the boxer with the rapier like mode of attack often make an interesting setto.

There was Sharkey and McCoy, and Jeffries and Corbett, and Kid Carter and McCoy. Watson sets sail and starts those short and thick arms of his going like flails. Temple is an artist, a lad who can jab with almost the unerring accuracy of Jim Corbett. The Temple one can also sidestep, duck and has a real ring noodle.

Some declare that Watson would rock Ray to sleep; and others of far different ring persuasion declare that the red head will be made to appear foolish.

Speaking of Kilbane.

SOME disgruntled followers of the ring game occasionally take a verbal slap at Johnny Kilbane. Some of the starts of the present featherweight champion have been bad and disappointing to followers of boxing; and yet when some boy has been brought forward and touted as a winner over the little Cleveland Irishman, Kilbane comes through and does some real fighting.

Kid Williams has been called a second Terry McGovern and several other laudatory ring names. Kilbane doused the ring light of the little Baltimore Dane in a thoroughly workmanlike manner, if one can judge from the reports emanating from Philly. Staking this Williams one to a beating is quite some feat.

BIG NINE'S INDOOR MEET

Minnesota Not Mentioned in List of Possible Point Winners.

Illinois Looked on as Favorite Team for Honors.

Evanston, Ill., March 20.—The Big Nine's star athletes compete tonight in Patten gymnasium here in their biggest track event of the winter season, the conference indoor meet. As usual, Illinois, winner of both indoor and outdoor meets last year, is favorite, but the Illini expect stiff competition from Chicago.

Some fast time is expected in the track events, where the fields include a number of veterans. In the 50-yard dash, especially, is expected a record performance, since the entries include Hammitt, Illinois, who defeated his teammate Hohman, on the same track the other night; Knight, Ward and Barancik, the Maroon sprinters, and others of note.

Ward, Bancker of Purdue, and Ames and McKeown of Illinois, are expected to put up a lively fight in the 60-yard high hurdles.

May Make Record.

Another chance for Dismond, the Chicago runner, to try for a record in the quarter mile will be furnished in the fast competition he is due to get from Goeltz of Illini. In this event, Hotchkin of Northwestern and East of Purdue are rated probable point winners. In the half, the Illinois veteran, Tapping, is rated as favorite and the strength of the Urbana contingent in this event makes possible a slam for it, but Osborne of Northwestern carries the hope of the Purple rooters for a point, and, perhaps, more.

Osborn in the mile and Traxler in the two-mile run seem likely to count for Northwestern, but the Illini are strong also in this event and Mason of the Gold and Blue, in conference record time, beat Traxler in the dual meet recently.

Wisconsin's chances for a good showing suffered a serious setback through the illness of Keeler, who was depended on to win five points in the shot put. News that Keeler had been stricken with appendicitis just before the Badgers left Madison reached Evanston today. Stiles in the high jump is the Cardinals' main reliance now.

Only conference teams compete in the indoor meet and but eight have entered. Iowa declining because of the expense sending a squad to Evanston entails.

MINNESOTA FAILS IN SWIM COMPETITION.

Chicago, March 20.—The Northwestern university won the fifth annual intercollegiate conference indoor swimming meet last night. Six conference records were broken. The scores were: Northwestern, 37; Chicago, 22; Illinois, 17; Wisconsin, 12. Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio state and Purdue failed to score any points.

V. Johnson of Northwestern broke the record in the 40-yard swim by one second, making the distance in 20 2-5, beating the mark held by J. M. Griffin of Illinois.

Taylor of Wisconsin set a new mark of 2:46 for the 200-yard breast stroke, cutting down his record by one and three-fifths seconds.

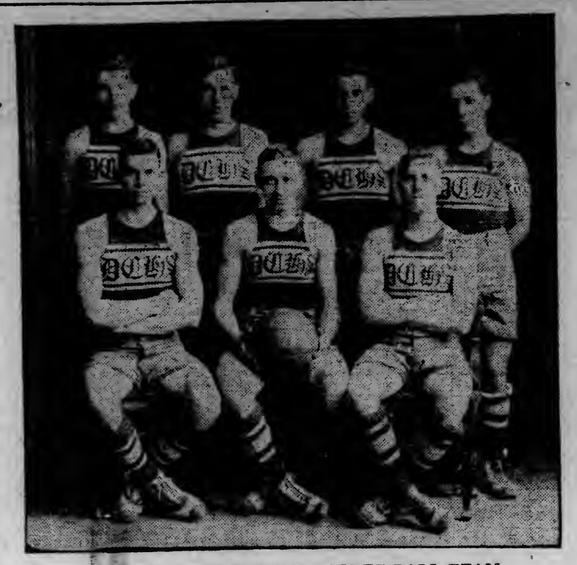
C. B. Pavlicek of Chicago swam the 150-yard back stroke in 1:58 3-5, the former record held by him being 2:02 4-5.

In the 100-yard swim, Johnson cut four-fifths of a second off the record held by Vosburgh of Illinois.

In the 220-yard swim, I. Wood of Northwestern lowered his own record of 2:47 4-5 to 2:40 3-5.

Northwestern broke the former record of 1:29 1-5 made by Illinois in the 160-yard relay.

DULUTH CENTRAL QUINT ENDS VERY SUCCESSFUL SEASON



CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL BASKET BALL TEAM.
Left to Right, Top Row—Shaw, Taylor, Karon and Farah. Lower Row—Moore, Capt. Solheim, Scrivens.

The Central high school basket ball team has recently completed a very successful season. By defeating Superior last Saturday night the squad closed a schedule which has shone with several victories, and was marred by but few defeats. The only defeat that had any bearing on the state basket ball championship, as determined by the Carleton college tournament, was at the hands of the crack Virginia five, the team that is now playing at the tournament as representing the Eighth congressional district. The Red and White men do not believe that the range team could repeat its victory on the local floor.

Hard Game at Start.

In Central's initial game of the season the husky Northland college five defeated the locals in a heart-breaking overtime contest by the score of 24 to 22. It was originally thought that Northland would win easily. Cathedral high is the only other team that has a victory over the Central men. No disgrace is attached to this defeat, as the Catholic quint is one of the very best in the state. The Cathedrals did not defeat the Central machine by anything like an overwhelming score.

Some of the quints that have fallen before Central this season are: Cloquet, one game and one forfeit; Denfeld high, two games; Superior high, two games, and Hibbing, two games.

Made Rapid Progress.

At the beginning of the season it was generally believed that Central would not be able to turn out a winning combination this year because of the scarcity of material. Through the diligent efforts of Coach Glyer and Capt. Solheim, to say nothing of the "pep" demonstrated by every member of the team, the squad turned in a very satisfactory record. Four of the regulars are to be graduated this season—Capt. Solheim, Scrivens, Taylor and Moore being among the list of seniors. Only one regular, Karon, is left for next year. Shaw and Farah, who showed up especially well whenever used this season, should make valuable men for the 1915-16 squad.

Having had their picture taken before they crossed the bay to play the return Superior game, the boys, of course, show no egg marks.

CURLERS PLAY 538 GAMES

Contests in Feature Events Would Greatly Increase This Number.

Club Will Not Be Closed Until Ice Is Melted, Says Oldham.

Just 538 regular games were played at the Duluth Curling club during the season that is just coming to a close.

John H. Oldham, secretary of the club, announced yesterday that these games do not include the various bonspiels held during the winter, or the Blaze o' Glory and Au Revoir events, the former having ended last night and the latter to be finished this evening.

The curling club will not be closed until the ice is all melted, Secretary Oldham said, so that curlers can have their last practice games during the first part of next week, at least. No other events will be started, he said.

The 538 games were played in the Universal, Herald, Bagley, Manley-McLennan, Columbia and Columbia Consolation events. Will Dinham was the winner in the Manley-McLennan and Herald events, R. J. McLeod in the Universal, Earl Bradley in the Bagley, Leslie Coson in the Columbia and H. Ditzell in the Columbia Consolation.

In addition to these games, the Northwestern Curling association held its annual bonspiel at the club during January and the contests for the championship of the state and Head of the Lakes were played on Feb. 22 and 12, respectively.

BLUME DOESN'T LIKE SCHEDULE

Owner Blume of the White Sox declared today that there would have to be some radical changes in the Northern league schedule before he would agree to it. President John Burmeister is away at the present time and will not be back before Wednesday.

In the meantime the schedule promises to rest where it is.

Duluth is after Bachant, the catcher of Winnipeg last year, Baker and Kirkham and also Swalm. Just why Horace Webb is not endeavoring to sign some of the stars of last year's team is some sort of a mystery.

DULUTH BOWLERS MAKE AN EXCELLENT SHOWING

Brown and Berini Move Into Second Place in Doubles.

Michael Rolls Best Game of Tourney Among the Locals.

In the Northern tournament bowling games of last evening Duluth bowlers made an excellent showing. Brown and Berini of Duluth moved into second place of the two-man event, while Summers and McKenna of Duluth rolled into fourth place.

In the singles Michael of Duluth progressed to a tie for second place with Muggley of St. Paul, Michael made a total of 425 for two games. In his third game, in the eighth frame, he had 172 with a strike up. In the tenth frame he got a 5-10 split. If he had cleaned this split up the Duluth boy would have gone into first place. The game rolled by Michael was one of the best that has been shown during the tournament.

Women Take a Hand.

In the singles of the women's games Mrs. Hallam rolled a total of 384 for three games. Miss Larson made the high score for a single game, with a mark of 153. The games played by the women last evening were the first instance of women bowling at any of the tournaments of the Northern association.

The strongest representation that the Twin Cities have ever sent to the Head of the Lakes began arriving early today. There will be sixteen five-man teams here for the final games of the tournament, which will be held today and tomorrow. The final game of the tournament will be rolled late tomorrow.

The Bowlers' Inn team and the Buegers are both strong teams, and the Hotel Sherman team is also another of the prominent ones of St. Paul that will be on hand. The El Artistico five is also rated very strong. It is expected that today and tomorrow will produce the best games of the tournament. All tourney marks are expected to fall by the wayside. The tournament to date has been by far the most successful ever held hereabouts, and the final games are expected to reach beyond the high marks already set. About fifty-five five-man teams have already rolled, about 111 doubles and 250 singles.

Following are the results of the play of last night and the complete schedule for Sunday, the closing day:

UNIVERSALS COP TITLE IN AMATEUR HOCKEY RACE

Big Duluths Beaten By Flour Men By 5-to-2 Score.

Pennant Cinched When Northerns Lose to Two Harbors 3 to 2.

Team Standing.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Universals	6	2	.750
Big Duluths	5	3	.625
Two Harbors	5	3	.625
Northerns	5	3	.625
D. C. H. S.	1	5	.166
Bagleys	0	7	.000

Ed Harris' crack Universal hockey team last evening won the championship of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league on the ice of the Duluth Curling club by defeating the Big Duluths by the score of 5 to 2. The title was cinched by the defeat of the Northerns on the part of the Two Harbors septet, both of the games being contested last evening.

There was little to choose between the Universals and Big Duluths in the first half. The initial period of play closed with the score knotted at two points. In the second half the flour makers gradually drew away, displaying more dash, a better defense and improving in team work as the game progressed.

Bartlett shot a cage from near center of ice shortly after the opening of the second half. The long shot seemed to shake the confidence of the merchants, for after this the Big Duluth defense weakened and the play lacked dash.

Brown and Harris of the flour men played an excellent game. However, it was the excellent team work and the sturdy defense, as well as the alert ability of the Universals to take quick advantage of all opportunities that in reality proved the turning point of the game. There was not one weak point on the Universals.

Two Harbors Strong.

Many of the followers of the amateur league had picked the Northerns as the winners of the league pennant. The defeat suffered at the hands of the railroad gang came as one of the distinct surprises of the season. The game was close and fast and uncertain until the final bell ended the strife.

Little Sullivan, the ubiquitous Turk, and La Fleur of the railroad gang played an excellent game. The aggressive work of the Two Harbors team was spoiled in many instances by the excellent defense of the Northerns. Zierath at goal was a tower of strength and also played a strong game.

The line-up and summary of the two games:

Big Duluths—		Universals—
Anderson	c	Harris
Blais	lw	Brown
Landgren	rw	Taylor
Olson	r	Woods
Miller	cp	Bartlett
Berg	p	Wharton

JEANETTE EARNS DECISION.

Defeats Another Smoke at Montreal; Milwaukee Has Lightweight Go.

Montreal, Can., March 20. — Joe Jeanette of New York earned a decision over Cleve Hawkins of Montreal in a ten-round bout here last night. The weights of the two negro fighters were: Hawkins, 170 pounds; Jeanette, 190 pounds.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 20.—Mel Coogan, Brooklyn, and Ritchie Mitchell, Milwaukee, lightweights, fought to a draw in a fast ten-round no-decision bout here last night, in the opinion of a majority of newspaper critics.

FIRST DISPUTE IN CUSHION TOURNEY.

Chicago, March 20.—Charles Morin of Chicago was given a close game from Fred Eames of Denver in the world's championship three-cushion billiard tournament yesterday, when Fred Conklin, referee, decided that the local man had legitimately made a difficult corner bank shot.

It was the first disputed point in the tourney. Morin won 50 to 49 in 74 innings. High runs: Morin, 3; Eames, 5.

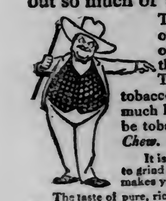
THE GRAIN & STOCK RAISERS' CONVENTION ADOPT RESOLUTIONS OF THANKS TO THE GOOD JUDGE.

JUDGE, HERE'S A RESOLUTION WE PASSED AT THE CONVENTION:— "RESOLVED THAT WE OWE THE GOOD JUDGE A LASTING DEBT OF GRATITUDE FOR TELLING US OF THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW."
MR. COMMITTEEMAN: THE MEMBERS OF YOUR CONVENTION OWE ME NOTHING. THE PLEASURE OF TELLING THEM ABOUT WHAT I KNOW IS ALL I WANT.

THAT'S the way it is—as soon as men get to know the Real Tobacco Chew, they go out of their way to thank the man who told them about it.

Next thing you know, they are boosting it to others—and so it goes.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.



Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Blade-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

DULUTH VOLLEY BALL TEAM WILL PLAY RETURN GAME WITH EAU CLAIRE

DULUTH VOLLEY BALL TEAM.

Next Saturday night the Duluth Y. M. C. A. volley ball team will meet the Eau Claire team in the latter's gymnasium for the fourth game in the series between these two organizations. Duluth has won two out of the three games played so far.

Several weeks ago the Eau Claire team came to Duluth and the local men had an easy time defeating the Wisconites, thus bringing the odd victory to Duluth. Last year two games were played, one here and one at Eau Claire and each team won on its own floor.

Physical Director Olson of the Y. M. C. A., said yesterday that the following volley ball players will make up the Duluth team in the game at Eau Claire a week from tonight: Dr. Grawn, Carmon, Mace, Morterud, Jamar, Andresen and Colman.

DULUTH MAY MEET SAULT

Manager Jacobi of the Duluth Curling club hockey team early today dispatched a telegram to Manager Ferguson of the American Sault septet, guaranteeing the expenses of that team and also some money in addition. The Sault seven is wanted here for games on Monday and Tuesday of the coming week.

It is expected that definite word from the management of the Sault will be received some time today. Should the games be scheduled, the contests will in all probability bring the local hockey season to an end.

National Bowling Association Puts Contests Over a Week.

New York, March 20.—Maj. M. W. Gage, secretary of the National Bowling association, announces that the opening date of the association's forthcoming tournament had been postponed from March 27 to April 3. This action was taken as the result of urgent requests from bowlers who wish to participate, Maj. Gage said, and who had not had sufficient time to arrange for teams.

The tournament is to take place in the Grand Central Palace in this city. Under the new arrangement entries will close March 26.

Denegre, who resigned recently on the advice of physicians. Sturtevant rowed No. 4 in the varsity boat last year.

ALL-STAR TEAM WILL BE FORMED

Commercial League Basket Shooters Are After More Glory.

Exhibition games between an all-star team from the Commercial basket ball league and other local quints will be played during next week, if present negotiations go through.

Physical Director Olson of the Y. M. C. A. said yesterday that plans are now being made to select an all-star team from the five teams in the Commercial league and to have this quint meet the high school, Rotary club and other teams of the city in a series of exhibition games.

The Kelleys won the championship of the Commercial league, when the team defeated the Northern last Tuesday night. The other teams that played during the winter were Fenton-Dubys, Lakes and Big Duluths. Each team played eight games.

A tentative lineup, which includes the following players, was announced by Mr. Olson:

Forwards—Boerner and Smith, (Northerns), Foryziak, (Kelleys).
Centers—Dworschak, (Kelleys), Becker, (Fenton-Dubys).
Guards—Burnett, (Fenton-Dubys), Wisted, (Fenton-Dubys), Beck, (Kelleys).

This lineup will probably be changed and some new men added, depending on the form shown in practice.

NAUGHTON WINS "BLAZE O' GLORY"

Colie Naughton last evening defeated Art Hoene in the final game of the "Blaze of Glory" event, winning out by the score of 10 to 8. With Hoene laying a four head in the first end, Naughton negotiated a perfect shot and won the end. The game was close all the way, the rinks being tied at the eleventh head. Naughton played a fine game in the final end and laid two and won the final competition of the season.

Ralph Bradley was defeated in the annual game between his rink and Johnny Oldham. The game was for a dinner and Ralph bought. The two rinks will meet again on Tuesday evening when sixteen heads will be played. Each member of the two rinks will take a turn in skipping four heads.

The score by ends between Naughton and Hoene:

Naughton	1100301110 02—10

"U" ATHLETES AT EVANSTON

Eight Track Men and Six Swimmers Compete for Honors.

Poor Class Work Cuts "Gym" Team; Co-eds Good Swimmers.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eight track men and six swimmers, in whom rest Minnesota's chances in the Evanston meet today, left Thursday night for the indoor track and swimming meet. The new board of athletic control at its first meeting Wednesday authorized the trip.

Coach Frank took the following track men: Capt. Molumby, Bierman, Montgomery, Ritter, Rapacz, Watson, McKay and Cross. Molumby will represent Minnesota in the dashes, Bierman and Montgomery in the 440, with Ritter and Cross in the half mile. Watson and Rapacz will enter the two-mile run and McKay the pole vault. Coach Frank believes that his men will bring home a few points. Bierman, Montgomery, Cross and Ritter will be members of the relay team. In the swimming events, Minnesota will have Pynn, Ueland and Little in the dashes, Washburn in the 220-yard swim, Serum in the 440, and Gaumnitz in the breast stroke. The preliminary contest was held last night at Evanston and the winners in the different events are eligible to compete in the finals tonight. The new board also performed one more official act, that of awarding the basket ball "Ms." Capt. George Pynn, Richard Lewis, George McGeary, "Bee" Lawler, Thomas Croswell, Gray Little, Jarrould Petraborg, Ingvar Huseby and Addison Douglas were given letters. It was also voted to give blankets to the second team men.

Lewis Heads Basket Shooters.

Immediately after the basket ball victory last Saturday night, the squad elected as its captain for next year Richard Lewis, the plucky little right guard, who by his heady, consistent work has distinguished himself all through the season. Remarkably brilliant was Lewis' work in the last game, which was a sort of climax of the season, for he caged nine free throws and brought in the winning point in the last five minutes of nerve-racking play. Richard Lewis is a junior in the college of agriculture and is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

A novice track meet, wherein only the rankest amateurs will be admitted, will be contested April 24. This is new in college athletics. It is the result of the many efforts that have been made this year at the university to get a large percentage of the students to take part in athletics. All male students in the university will be eligible, except those who have played on athletic teams. Not even second string track men are permitted to enter. Coach Frank says he hopes to discover some new track material, but does not expect to break any records. Minnesota will send three relay teams to the Drake relay carnival April 17, it was announced Thursday. The Gopher athletes will be entered in each of the intercollegiate relay events, including the one, two and four-mile races.

"Gym" Team Hit Hard.

The heavy hand of the university eligibility committee descended swiftly upon the gymnasium team, with the result that Minnesota will hardly be a serious factor in the Western intercollegiate meet at Nebraska April 10. Only two members of the regular team were passed by the committee. There is a bare possibility that certain members of the team will be able to pass examinations and bring their college work up to grade. For that reason, Coach Foster has refused to announce the names of the ineligibles. One favorable factor in the situation is the fact that J. C. West, captain of the team, was one of the men passed by the committee. West is looked upon as a strong contender for the individual honors for the conference at the Nebraska meet. The gymnasium team, which will represent the university tonight in the Northwestern gymnastic meet, has been announced by Coach Foster. No eligibility rules obtain for this meet, so that a full team will represent the university. The team includes: Class A—West, Hoff, Good. E. Carlson and Fritchie. Class B—E. I. Eisler, Swan Erickson, Leo Schulman, John Hicks and E. J. Magney. Class C—The university will be represented by sixty-three students, who are leaders in the gymnasium classes.

Four coeds broke university swimming records Thursday in the preliminary tryout for the girls' swimming meet. Miss Laura Cooke swam across the tank, a distance of twenty-five feet, in two strokes. Miss Cecile Chadsey made the plunge in 18 4-5 seconds against a previous record of 25⅘ seconds. Miss Rachel Lynch of St. Paul and Miss Lucy Gibbs broke the 25-yard dash record with the back stroke. They swam the distance in 25 3-5 seconds, which clipped two seconds from the record.

Few students realize that there is now being erected at the agricultural college a gymnasium, which is nearly as large as the main "gym" at the armory. The "gym" floor is 75 by 110 feet. It is now completed and the authorities are planning a track meet for next Saturday. The track surrounding it makes 17¼ laps to the mile. On the second floor over the office rooms are the rooms for boxing, wrestling and weights. The basement is divded into two parts, one for girls and one for men. Three handball courts are provided with a gallery for spectators behind each. The gymnasium also contains a swimming pool.

Indoor Track Meet.

The annual indoor track meet held last Saturday afternoon went to the academics, with the aggies and engineers tied for second honors. The academics scored thirty points; the engineers and aggies, twenty points each. The laws were only able to count up a total of eleven and a half points; and the medics took last place. McKay, an engineer, lowered the indoor pole vault record, by clearing the bar at 10 feet 9 inches, which is 3 inches better than the old record. Moersch, academic freshman, was another star of the meet. He won first place in both the high jump and the high hurdles. Moersch will do great things in outdoor track work this spring, judging from his several good showings in the indoor meets. The relay race, run off in a new manner, the men shuttling back and forth instead of circling the track, was quite an interesting part of the program.

In a few days now, if the sun shines, the baseball nine will don their spiked shoes and trot out on the diamond. Things in general seem to point towards a successful season, but little eligibility trouble has developed so far. Only a few of those aspiring to baseball fame have put in much time working out in the cage, but many pitchers have been conscientiously warming up daily. The players in the other positions can get into condition rapidly enough when outdoor practice comes. The schedule has been made up and offers plenty of practice games. The season once started, games will be coming off frequently enough to satisfy the demands of the most ardent student fans. The schedule in detail follows:

April 14—Hamline at Northrop field.
April 16—St. Thomas, Northrop field.
April 20—Macalester, Northrop field.
April 23—Iowa at Iowa City.
April 24—Chicago at Chicago.

VIRGINIA TEAM STILL IN RUNNING

Quint Defeats Lake City in Interscholastic Tournament; Faces Red Wing.

Northfield, Minn., March 20.—In two red-hot games played yesterday afternoon in the tournament to determine the interscholastic basket ball championship, Red Wing eliminated Fosston and Virginia, from the extreme north, defeated Lake City from the extreme south. The score of the first game was 27 to 21, the second contest ending 27 to 26.

The Red Wing team started out with a rush, slowed down a bit and finished with a spurt. Nordly starred for Red Wing by making a total of 17 points. Curley Movold played the best game for Fosston. Capt. Cussen of Virginia gave one of the best exhibitions of all-round work so far in the tourney, in the second game. Wise was the star on Lake City side.

The Merchants' victory over Breckenridge in the morning was an easy one, the trainer's superiority being early marked.

The lineup of the Virginia-Lake City game follows:

Virginia—	Position.	Lake City—
Cussen (capt.)	lf	Wise
Enright	rf	Kobo
Rooney	c	Prior
Spain	lg	Anderson
Dolg	rg	Reding

Virginia plays Red Wing today and has an even chance to win. Mechanic Arts high of St. Paul was eliminated by Mountain Lake 30 to 20. Bemidji defeated Rush City 32 to 14.

SUPERIOR WINS FROM CATHEDRAL

The Cathedral high school basket ball team was last evening defeated by the Normal quint of Superior by the score of 25 to 23. As the score indicates, the game was a beauty all the way through and its result uncertain until the referee blew the final whistle. The contest was played on the Cathedral floor before a large throng of spectators.

At the end of the first half the score was 14 to 11 in favor of the team from across the bay. This score was tied at 23 at the end of the second half. An overtime period of two and one-half minutes was agreed upon, Schmeider of Superior throwing the winning goal in this period of play.

MUST DEFEND HIS RIGHT TO OFFICE

Defeated Candidate Says Victor Bought Too Many Cigars.

E. T. Sandberg, recently elected supervisor of the town of White, must defend his right to the office in the courts. An action to oust him from the office on the grounds that he violated the corrupt practice act while a candidate was instituted yesterday in district court by August Knuti, defeated candidate. Sandberg received 112 votes and Knut 82.

Knuti claims that Sandberg spent more money in running for the office than the law permits, that he provided drinks, cigars and entertainment for more than fifty voters and that he solicited votes for himself at polling places, all of which, he alleges, is in violation of the corrupt practice act.

TWO HARBORS AUTO OWNERS PLAN CLUB

Two Harbors, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty-five local automobile owners met at the courthouse last evening to discuss the coming auto season, and endeavor to form some kind of an organization. Another meeting will be held in the near future when a permanent organization will be effected. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, and as soon as the committee is ready to report another meeting will be called. The following are on various committees: George Munford, Walter Murphy, Andrew E. Haugan, Dr. H. C. Hamilton, W. M. Moulton, Oscar Bergman, Fred A. Hall, Levi J. Bruitt, David Elg, J. M. Elliot, Glen S. Locker, F. E. Evans, James H. Lunz, George H. Spurbeck, A. J. Geroix, Emil Strom, and Joseph M. Latta.

Fifty Autos in City.

There are now over fifty automobiles in this city, and an effort will be made to have all owners become active members of the organization.

One of the first matters that the proposed club will undertake will be the placing of road signs in various places in the surrounding country. This matter is now in the hands of a committee. As soon as possible the roads running out of the city for many miles will be raked of their stones and otherwise improved. This undertaking has been a yearly task of local auto owners and by so doing they have kept the roads in very fine condition and thus made it a pleasure to motor.

TOWER HOTEL IS DESTROYED

Vermilion Hotel Catches Fire From Unknown Cause and Burns in 30 Minutes.

Firemen Unable to Save Building and Little of Contents Saved.

Tower, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Vermilion hotel was totally destroyed by fire of unknown origin yesterday afternoon. The alarm was turned in at 2:45 p. m. and the building was burned to the ground in thirty minutes, due to the fact that the walls of the structure throughout were made of beaver board, there being no plastered walls in the entire building.

The fire department responded quickly but the building was a mass of flames when they arrived, and their efforts were put to saving adjoining property. The total loss is estimated from $20,000 to $30,000, partly covered by insurance.

The property was owned by G. W. Michael of Parma, Mo., and the saloon was operated by John Hickey of this city, whose loss on stock has not been estimated. He carried no insurance.

This hotel was built in 1909 by the Vermilion Hotel company, composed of Pittsburg, Pa., capital, with Ferd E. Kolb as president of the company, and was sold to Walter Boswell of Pittsburg on mortgage foreclosure sale in November, 1912, who operated it until August, 1913, with J. B. Longmore as manager, when it was sold to J. M. Montgomery of the same city, and in October, 1914, he sold it to G. W. Michael, who placed his son, Morris S. Michael, in charge.

Hotel Closed Jan. 7.

The hotel was closed on Jan. 7 last, for the winter and was to be opened for the summer on May 1. M. S. Michael and wife have occupied two of the rooms on the main floor since it was closed.

The hotel was a two-story frame building and basement. The basement was used for kitchen, dining room and sample room, the lobby, barber shop and bar room was located on the main floor and the balance of the main floor and second floor contained forty-four rooms. The building was about 60 by 80 feet. The only furnishings saved were those in the lobby and barroom.

This is the second hotel burned on this site, the first burned to the ground in August, 1904, together with six store buildings in the same block. A peculiar incident is that the brick smokestack of the first hotel stood and was used for this hotel, and is still standing.

GIVES STATISTICS ABOUT RAILROADS

Eveleth, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fortnightly study meeting of the Presbyterian Boys' Study and Recreation club which was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Goard of 710 Douglas avenue, was an unusually interesting and profitable one.

John F. Pratt of St. Paul, private secretary to the general manager of the Great Northern railway and a son of Thomas A. Pratt of this city spoke on "Railroading" and gave the club a most instructive address on the growth and magnitude of railroad operations in the United States.

After showing how complete and thorough a railroad was organized and speaking of its stocks and bonds, construction and equipment, its right of way and tariff, he took up the different departments, the legal, traffic, accounting and operating that have charge of its business, each with its proper head or vice president. The present mileage is 249,852 miles with an investment of more than $20,000,000,000. Within the last ten years railroad taxes have increased about 100 per cent until now the railroads are paying $120,000,000 in taxes. They employ 1,716,000 employes and pay out $1,252,347,000 in wages. Many more facts and figures were given that interested the boys and held their closest attention.

Mr. Pratt advised the boys to be industrious and faithful should they ever enter the railway service and to be alert for opportunities for self-improvement and advancement.

The study subject of the evening was "Courage and Endurance," and the lives of some famous Arctic explorers were studied under direction of Rev. P. A. Schwarz, leader of the club. Short papers about these explorers were read by Howard Goard, Ernest Hogan and Matthew Nettell.

Refreshments were served for the hostess, Mrs. Goard, assisted by Miss Hazel Goard.

Damage Action for Fire Loss on at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of the Gilbert Land company vs. the Minnapolis & Rainy River Railway company, which was commenced Wednesday, is still on trial. Much time was occupied in checking off on the records the holdings of the Gilbert Land company, which is claimed to have been damaged by fires, alleged to have been set by the railway company's locomotives. The fires which destroyed timber on the Gilbert lands ran through that section in the fall of 1910.

The first witness was W. C. La Croix, general superintendent of the railway company. His testimony was relative to the width of the right-of-way, the nature of the country through which the railroad passes, etc. Both sides has quite a number of witnesses and the case promises to be long drawn out.

C. C. McCarthy and Thwing & Rossman are representing the Gilbert Land company and George T. Simpson, former attorney-general, and E. E. McDonald of Bemidji the defendants.

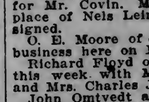
EXPLANATORY NOTES.

SNOW



Duluth is again enveloped in her snowy mantle, and—well that's about enough of that stuff, and there is about enough of the snowy mantle too; but the weather man says that the city is going to get more tonight and tomorrow. It is hoped he misses his guess as he did on the matter of fair weather for last night and today.

A year ago today was fine. The sun rose this morning at 6:11 and will set this evening at 6:20, giving twelve hours and nine minutes of sunlight. Tomorrow will be the first official day of spring, and theoretically is the date on which the day and night are of equal length. This does not apply in this latitude, but, according to Mr. Richardson, it does apply in more places than it doesn't. Now figure that out.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The twenty-four-hours temperature changes were generally slight, but freezing weather prevails south and southwest as far as Texas and New Mexico. Killing frosts occurred at Fort Smith, Ark., and Shreveport, La. During the last twenty-four hours light snow or rain fell throughout the Northwest, Rocky mountain, Central and Eastern states."

DULUTH CONCERT ORCHESTRA

High School Auditorium, Sunday at 5 P. M.
Tickets, 25c.

REQUEST PROGRAM FOR LAST OF THE TWILIGHT CONCERTS

THE "request" program which will be given by the Duluth Concert orchestra at the high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon is most interesting in that it represents the selections that have appealed to the orchestra's patrons during the winter series and will also serve as a guide in catering to the musical taste another season.

Director Bradbury considers the public's choice excellent and has arranged the various selections in such a way as to make the program interesting without two or more selections of a like nature coming together.

Beginning with the wonderful "Tannhauser" number by Wagner, comprising the Pest March, Evening Star, Pilgrim's Chorus and the Venusberg music, the program will next offer the two movements from Haydn's "Military" symphony of which the orchestra gave a delightful rendition a few weeks ago, followed by the dainty "Whispering Flowers" in which the tolling of a village church bell in the distance gives a very pretty effect. "In a Clock Store," a descriptive fantasia is a very interesting example of program music. The scene is laid in a little shop in Germany; the time, 4 o'clock in the early morning. The apprentice opens the store when is heard the ticking of the clocks, then their tones as they strike the hour; first the cuckoo, then the deep-toned grandfather's clock.

Charles Helmer's trumpet solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," is the great aria that occurs in the second act of "Samson and Delila," by Saint Saens. The scene in the opera shows the valley of Sorek and Delila's dwelling, on a dark, stormy night, and Samson, beguiled by the charms of the beautiful Delila, has come to her when she sings the beautiful aria from which the melody is taken.

Puccini's popular opera, "Madam Butterfly," will contribute its bit to the interesting program in Mary Gladys Reynolds' rendition of "One Fine Day," the great aria which occurs at the opening of the second act. Butterfly, who, in the three years since Pinkerton's departure has never given up hope that he will return, calms her fears in the beautiful aria in which she tells of the great ship which will surely come again and bring happiness to her.

Roy Knapp's marimbaphone solo in Suppe's "Light Cavalry" overture is an interesting number, in that the principal melody is first played on the xylophone then on the marimbaphone, which is a refinement of the former instrument, and returning to the xylophone, then on the marimbaphone, who is the tympanist of the orchestra, is thoroughly at home on the difficult instrument and was obliged to respond to an insistent encore in this number at the last concert.

"Saeterjenten's Sondag," a famous folk song of Norway, by Ole Bull, with a tender, plaintive melody, is again to be played by Mrs. J. Frederick Finkelson as a violin solo. Mrs. Finkelson's playing aroused her hearers to a high pitch of enthusiasm on her previous appearance and she was obliged to respond to a double encore, and even then the audience was reluctant to let her go.

"Woodland Whispers," another charming little rustic tone poem, by Czibulka, and two movements from the popular "Peer Gynt" suite, "Ase's Death" and "In the Hall of the Mountain King," will complete the program and bring to an end for the present season a thoroughly delightful series of concerts.

Mr. Bradbury and his orchestra have been unceasing in their efforts to carry out the series as originally planned and it is gratifying to know that it has been a success artistically as well as financially.

Local music lovers will look forward to their appearance next season with much interest.

Tomorrow's program, with the same soloists, will be repeated by the orchestra for the benefit of St. Mary's hospital, Sunday afternoon, April 11, in the auditorium of Central high school.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Keep Looking Forward.

"Oh, to Be Twenty Again!" This is the title to some verses that came to my notice today, but I do not know how many times I have heard others express the same sentiment. Until people are 25 they are only too anxious to grow up. When you are but 16 you are constantly looking ahead to the time when you shall be 21 and your own master, or maybe 25, and married, with a family of your own. But when we approach the two score age, the desire to get back to the early twenties seems to be strong.

Only after your teens are well over do you begin to have a small conception of what it means to be a care-free child. By that time all the griefs, difficulties and injustices that seemed so monumental to you in their day are completely lost sight of in the present ones that are too big for comfort.

When you attain the dignity of 25, you begin to feel as though you would be contented if the years passed you by in their rapid flight; when you are 30 you would be glad to be 25, and when the age of 40 confronts you, half of what you possess would be given for the removal of the years that would make you 20 again. After 50, one sadly and tenderly remembers his extreme youth as the happy land to which he would return. And curiously enough after we pass our zenith we lean toward childhood in body and mind and as we grow older and older, the oldest memories become the freshest.

There are probably few people who have lived half an ordinary lifetime who have not wished a part of their years back. They think they would live them differently for their several reasons. Some feel that they have wasted them and that they would, if they had the opportunity, make them yield more in solid worldly returns. For one reason and another most of us think we would gladly go back several milestones, and from some well selected spot take up our lives again and live them wiser and better.

The going back is not for any of us in this life. We must go forward. We may look back over the years and remember, and in remembering, suffer, but no human being has power to either relive the years that have flown or alter any of the deeds that were accomplished during them. When a person wishes part of his life back, he means that he would like to have an opportunity of reliving it with his knowledge and experience as accessories to its betterment.

When we get to feeling that we would like to be 20 again, we should try to bear in mind that the best and the worst that has come to us, according to our standpoints, is in all probability what we have most needed at the time to prove our mettle and develop our characters, and also that every morning light gives us the chance to begin a new life.

REQUEST PROGRAM FOR LAST OF THE TWILIGHT CONCERTS

THE "request" program which will be given by the Duluth Concert orchestra at the high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon is most interesting in that it represents the selections that have appealed to the orchestra's patrons during the winter series and will also serve as a guide in catering to the musical taste another season.

Director Bradbury considers the public's choice excellent and has arranged the various selections in such a way as to make the program interesting without two or more selections of a like nature coming together.

Beginning with the wonderful "Tannhauser" number by Wagner comprising the Fest March, Evening Star, Pilgrim's Chorus and the Venusberg music, the program will next offer the two movements from Haydn's "Military" symphony of which the orchestra gave a delightful rendition a few weeks ago, followed by the dainty "Whispering Flowers" in which the tolling of a village church bell in the distance gives a very pretty effect. "In a Clock Store," a descriptive fantasia is a very interesting example of program music. The scene is laid in a little shop in Germany; the time, 4 o'clock in the early morning. The apprentice opens the store when is heard the ticking of the clocks, then their tones as they strike the hour; first the cuckoo, then the deep-toned grandfather's clock.

Charles Heilmer's trumpet solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," is the great aria that occurs in the second act of "Samson and Delila," by Saint Saens. The scene in the opera shows the valley of Sorek and Delila's dwelling, on a dark, stormy night, and Samson, beguiled by the charms of the beautiful Delila, has come to her when she sings the beautiful aria from which the melody is taken.

When a person wishes part of his life back, he means that he would like to have an opportunity of reliving it with his knowledge and experience as accessories to its betterment.

When we get to feeling that we would like to be 20 again, we should try to bear in mind that the best and the worst that has come to us, according to our standpoints, is in all probability what we have most needed at the time to prove our mettle and develop our characters, and also that every morning light gives us the chance to begin a new life.

CUSTOM dictates that, as compared with Christmas, the Easter gift shall be but a trifle—yet it shall convey the true spirit of the season—The spirit of good-will and friendship and kindliness. And when to these it adds the personal touch, it conveys sentiment without sentimentality.

PERFECT BEAUTY
The fashion of the present day requires that the complexion of the well-groomed woman shall be clear and of snowy whiteness. The regular use of GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM
will bestow the charms that are so admired. Gouraud's Oriental Cream is a liquid powder, far surpassing the dry powders that have to be applied so frequently to gain the desired effect. It whitens, softens and clears the skin. It is absolutely free from grease and consequently does not encourage the growth of hair.

NEWS OF DULUTH'S WOMEN CLUBS AND MUSICAL CIRCLES

DULUTH'S CLUB SEASON IS DRAWING NEAR END

Matinee Musicale Will Give But One More Program—Drama League Plans Its Closing Play — Russian Drama Being Studied — Events of Coming Week.

DULUTH'S club season is nearing an end, but the week just closing has been marked by many interesting events. Several voice and piano and organ numbers by Jan Sibelius, the Finnish composer who is considered one of the foremost living composers, and an octet of women's voices were the distinguishing features of the Matinee Musicale program arranged by Miss Clara Stocker for last Monday afternoon. Only one more regular Matinee Musicale program remains to be given. The time of this has been changed from Monday afternoon, March 29, to Monday evening, April 5, on account of Holy week. This program will be given at the First Methodist church, and will be for members of the Matinee Musicale and their friends.

At last Monday's concert, Tuesday, April 6, was announced as the date for the annual meeting of the Matinee Musicale. The annual reports will be read and officers elected for next year. All members of the club are invited to hear the reports, but only active members will take part in the election of officers.

"Origin of Patriotic Movements in America" was the subject of the talk made by Mrs. O. H. Clarke at the meeting of Greysolon du Luth chapter, D. A. R., held Tuesday, for which Mrs. C. F. Naughton and Mrs. Dunbar Lippitt were the hostesses at the home of Mrs. Naughton.

The members of the Housewives' league heard a talk on sanitation for dentists' offices at their monthly meeting, held Tuesday afternoon in the library clubroom.

Little Theater Plays.

Tuesday evening "How He Lied to Her Husband" and "The Dear Departed" were given at the Little theater by members of the Drama league. Mrs. John A. Sinclair, who was in charge of the plays, was assisted at the rehearsals by Mrs. F. A. Patrick, Francis Webb and Joseph de Stephani. No more one-act plays will be given by the league this season. A longer play will be given at one of the larger theaters some time this spring.

An Irish program was given at the meeting of the Bishop's club Tuesday evening in the Bishop's club rooms.

Miss Grace Wright spoke on "The Life and Public Service of J. C. Fremont" at the meeting of Daughters of Liberty chapter, D. A. R., held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George St. Clair.

Study Russian Drama.

The Duluth Drama Study club began the study of Russian drama at the meeting Thursday morning with the reading of Andreyev's "Anathema," under the leadership of Mrs. D. Freimuth. Arrangements were made for the spring causerie that will be given April 8, at which the members of the Friday club of Cloquet will be special guests.

At the meeting of the literature department of the Twentieth Century club, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George A. St. Clair, there were talks on Dickens and David Copperfield and readings from both authors.

At the meeting of the Saturday club this afternoon, Mrs. O. A. Oredson spoke on "Sculpture and Painting of Ancient Egypt," and Mrs. F. O. Sherwin spoke on "Nubia."

Mrs. George A. Reifsteck and Miss Elizabeth Porter read from Alfred Noyes, other members of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae gave college news, and Mrs. W. S. Adams sang at the college tea held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. McGonagle.

The most interesting club affair of next week will be the last artist concert of the Matinee Musicale that will be given by Ossip Gabrilowitsch Monday evening at the First Methodist church. Numbers of the Gabrilowitsch program will be studied under the leadership of Miss Faith Helen Rogers at the meeting of the study class of the Matinee Musicale Monday morning.

NEW SPRING STYLES AS POSED FOR THE HERALD PHOTOGRAPHER

Recalling costumes of a century ago, as worn by fair women of Gen. Washington's "court," the colonial gown pictured above is one of the marked successes designed for the coming spring season.

It is a "white and black" creation of pussy willow taffeta.

The bodice is laced in front with ye olde tyme black velvet ribands, on which gleam slides of bright cut metal.

The waist is of black Brussels net with puff sleeves of the same material. A high standing point demi-collar of white lace gives a smart touch to the back of the neck.

Six ruffles, edged in black velvet graduate gracefully with great fullness at the bottom of the skirt. The back view shows the panniers which are caught with a well placed tie. This gown is from the George A. Gray company and was posed specially for The Herald to illustrate a much-talked of style.

ONE RAGTIME SONG INSPIRED THE "TOMMIES" MORE THAN ALL WAR POETRY

ALFRED NOYES, the English poet who will conclude the lecture course of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae April 6, expressed himself in a recent interview regarding war poems. On account of haste and lack of perspective in writing he thinks for the most part they are inartistically expressed.

Of himself he says: "From the art standpoint I probably am as guilty as the others. Though I had been called a pacifist and had a smaller audience probably than some of my comrades, I felt it my duty to enact a role in which I had had some recognition and address my country on the burning question of the hour. As a poem, perhaps, that contribution is no worse than many others similarly inspired—but it will not be included in any future volume of my poems.

"The great bulk of this poetic expression appeared during the two weeks following the shock of the first general knowledge that war was inevitable. It was the shock that stirred the patriotism of the poets. You might say that now they were patriots first and poets secondarily. But no sooner had they performed their duty as patriot-poets than their art standards were to the fore again and they realized that the great poems about this war would not be written until the war was long over. Accordingly the output of poetry suffered a sharp decline."

Mr. Noyes, who thinks Kipling's poem "For All We Have and Are" was splendid propaganda for the war office, says: "What able-bodied Englishman could resist the appeal of the first four lines:

For all we have and are,
For all our children's fate,
Stand up and meet the war,
The Hun is at the gate!'

But that poem has nothing to do with Mr. Kipling's reputation as a poet."

What One Song Did.

Speaking of the power of poetry he says: "Sad to relate one rag-time song, guiltless of a rag of art in either its verses or its music, has done more to harden our 'Tommies' in the trenches than the whole of the current output of war poems. High-minded and well intentioned persons in England have done their utmost to substitute for this music hall ditty words and music of a high or artistic value, but all in vain. 'Tommy' simply would have his 'Tipperary.'"

"To Alfred Noyes, apostle of poetry and peace, an April greeting on his return from the South," is the dedication of a poem written by Edwin Markham two years ago when Noyes was on his first visit to this country. After placing the poems of Keats, Blake, Shelley, Milton and Shakespeare above the material possessions of England, Markham says:

ALFRED NOYES.

"But none of all the line
(Save only Shelley, darling of the nine)
Has cried as you have cried the valorous vow
Of Love's heroic heart, God's prayer to men
To cease the wolfish battles of the den.
And so the Muses bind upon your brow
The olive with the laurel: for your song
Bears on that dauntless prayer against the wrong,
The cry the embassy of angels sent
Of old across the Syrian firmament,
Above the stable door,
For in your voice we still can hear their cry
Sound down into our sky:
'Let there be peace: let battle be no more!'"

Harry Harrington of 3240 Minnesota avenue has just returned from New York, having spent the last sixty days visiting the larger cities of New England, New York and Pennsylvania. He reports that these states have experienced one of the mildest winters on record, that spring business has started everywhere and the building season has begun much earlier than usual.

Business conditions, he says, vary according to the different localities, as most Eastern cities produce only one line of goods. One town may manufacture practically nothing but pianos, another shoes, etc. One good-sized city, for instance, makes nothing but whips, another produces nothing but combs.

Some of these products are in great demand, while others are not, hence some towns are booming, while business is very dull in others. On the whole, the business men, especially in the larger cities, are growing more optimistic day by day, he says.

Mills and factories are reopening everywhere and great numbers of people who have spent an idle winter are now returning to work.

Many people who are in the habit of spending the summer abroad will be compelled to remain in America the coming season and it is expected that many of them will visit Duluth by way of the Great Lakes and in this connection Mr. Harrington suggests that Duluth citizens enter heartily into the "clean-up" movement now being urged by The Herald.

HOLIDAYS DRAW NEAR

Easter Vacation in Public Schools Will Begin Next Week.

Few Social Activities—Plans Made for Affairs Following Easter.

Next week will mark the close of the second month of the final semester and incidentally the last week before the Easter vacation at Central high school. This rest continues one week, beginning Friday and concluding on Monday, April 5. This is the last important vacation of the year.

The second estimates of the semester will go in next week, the individual reports will be issued, and the honor role announced.

Socially, the school was very quiet during the last week and will probably remain so during next week. After Easter, however, the spring social activities will become prominent, many important dates having been set for April. The senior class play, April 16 and 17, will be the most important event. Several class parties, among them the junior affair on the evening of April 9, will also be held. The Lambs club members had almost decided upon a benefit for late April, but the date was changed to May 3 and 4. The several clubs and societies will become unusually active again during the month of April.

In commemoration of St. Patrick, the music during the Wednesday morning chapel exercises was such as appeals to the heart of a native of the Emerald isle. Mr. Young mentioned that the music was not to be connected with the senior boys. The first real appearance of the Central Boys Glee club was well received by the students. The boys have always been active members of the choir, but have occupied back seats. They made a decided "hit" in their first open appearance. Responding to an encore after their first number, the boys sang "It's a Long Way to Tipperary." The boys are trained by Mrs. Dixon, the head of the music department. Corresponding to them is the Girls' Glee club which sings during the chapel period together with the boys' organization.

Not to be outdone by the senior girls when they observed their annual class day with the usual ceremonies, the fourth year boys celebrated their class day with some rather unusual ceremonies. The time falling on Wednesday, the boys could, in addition, use the excuse of its being St. Patrick's day. Green was in profusion, but for the sake of contrast many of the boys were well bedecked with a clamorous supply of orange.

Several costumes that were extreme were not tolerated by Principal Young. Some boys appeared in styles from the backwoods. Flannel shirts, corduroy trousers, high-top boots and white wool socks made up their dress. Short trousers on some of the boys who had not been in the habit of wearing such clothing for some time, made a decided hit. As to costumes generally, the girls admitted that they had been far outdone. Many other elaborate costumes scored sensations with the students who did not have the honor of participating. This custom has become so popular that it will undoubtedly be repeated annually in the future.

The second of a series of lectures arranged by the vocational guidance committee of the Schoolmasters' club was heard in the auditorium following the close of school Tuesday. M. J. Thompson, superintendent of the Northeastern demonstration farm, addressed the boys on the subject, "Agriculture as a Vocation."

Both practical work on a farm and a university course in agriculture were regarded by the speaker as absolute requisites for the young man who was especially desirous of meeting with success in the field of scientific farming. Opportunities are innumerable, the speaker declared, for boys inclined along these lines. Mr. Thompson appeared especially enthusiastic over the wonderful progress being made by the Central boys' agricultural classes.

The agricultural work has been connected chiefly with the short course that has been conducted at the Northeastern demonstration farm for the last two weeks. This work comes to a close today, when the final groups will make tours of inspection. Several trips were made also to many of the dairies, Grogan's farm and other places. On the whole, the boys have gained a great amount of good information from the trips and have gained some exceedingly valuable experience thereby.

Up to yesterday the butter-making department reported a total of 2,662 pounds of butter having been turned out by the school creamery.

Thirty-two pounds of choice tomatoes were picked from the vines in the greenhouse. These commanded the best market price.

Caps and gowns for the graduation exercises of the seniors will again be prominent this year. This novel idea, originated last year and rather uncommon in high schools, will be continued this year when the seniors take part in the annual commencement exercises in June. This eliminates the expense connected with the buying of special gowns for the girls and proved very popular last year. Principal Young will ask for the measurements of the students in the near future, and the caps and gowns will then be rented.

Under the able supervision of Prof. L. C. Rasey of the English department, the work on the senior class play is progressing rapidly, and, according to the coach, the results have been especially encouraging. The play will be held on the evenings of April 16 and 17.

* * *

From now on the school printing department will be rushed with the work of printing the Zenith, the school annual. Editor-in-Chief Coe and Mr. Rankin, head of the printing department, appear exceptionally enthusiastic over the progress made so far and over the possibility of turning out a most excellent book. The greater part of the engraving work has now been completed. An expert corps of student printers, together with a hired man from outside, are centering all of their efforts on this work. Every two weeks the Gazette is turned out, this being about the only interruption that the force will encounter in its work on the Zenith. The next issue of the Gazette will appear next Friday.

The contest for the prize poem for the Zenith is still open and several of the hopeful poets are working hard to secure honors.

The new senior class pins, for which orders were placed some time ago, have been received, and according to those who ordered and received pins, they more than come up to expectations. Several who were unable to take advantage of the first order will be given a last chance to obtain their class pins next week. A second order will be made up and the pins sent for. Stanley Laskey is the chairman of the committee in charge of the pins.

* * *

The senior English students have begun active work on their "senior essays," prepared annually by each member of the graduating class. In most of the fourth-year English classes the bibliographies, or lists of reading references, were required to be handed in yesterday. The essays are due early in May.

* * *

Company A of the school cadet corps held its drill following the close of school Thursday. Several new faces appeared in the ranks. Lieut. Jones, the corps instructor, introduced several new ideas besides giving the boys plenty of drill on the old exercises. A reply from Congressman Miller is expected in the near future concerning the securing of rifles. A local citizen has promised to see to it that the boys are well equipped with uniforms. The order for these has been placed, and it is expected that the boys will appear in their new regalia very soon.

The Lambs club held its regular weekly meeting following the close of school yesterday. An interesting talk by Mr. Rasey, the club adviser, featured. He read a selection from a certain play, which was well received by the members. The club, after much discussion, decided upon two important changes relative to the membership. The membership had heretofore been restricted to thirty, but it was decided yesterday to raise it to forty-five. Those desiring admittance to the club will place their names on the waiting list and the club members will then vote on who may enter. If a member is absent from one meeting without an excuse, he is dropped from the club and the members then proceed to vote upon the next name on the waiting list.

The next benefit to be given by the club will be held at the Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday evenings, May 3 and 4. Several possible sketches have been considered, but a definite one has not yet been decided upon. This matter will be decided very soon and work on the play will begin as soon as possible.

The picture, which the club had taken some time ago, was exhibited yesterday.

WANTS STREET CAR TRANSFER; WHAT NEXT?

Golden State Collector Asks Commercial Club to Help Him.

Have you a street car transfer that you don't want?

Douglas G. Montell of 135 Rigg street, Santa Cruz, Cal., is saving 'em, and he wants one from Duluth. So George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of Duluth's Commercial club, has undertaken to provide Douglas with a neatly punched transfer as issued by one of the Zenith City's polite conductors.

"Perhaps you've never heard of a street car transfer collector," writes Douglas, "but say what you will—that's what I am.

"I never was aware of Duluth's being such a large city," goes on the letter, "as on the map it is away up in the corner, nearly lost. Transfers from Minnesota are a rarity, so I would welcome one from Duluth."

Douglas saw a picture of Superior street in the American City magazine recently, and in one corner of the picture was a sure 'nough street car, so then he knew that Duluth had street cars and right away he wanted a Duluth transfer for his album.

All donations will be gladly received by Secretary McCarthy, who is planning to send Douglas a nice pink transfer, and a yellow one, and a green one, and a brownish-yellow one from the Park Point, and thus make his heart glad.

Collectors of stamps, coins, photographs, post cards, campaign buttons, locks of hair, autographs, dance programs, wedding invitations, love letters, pennants, souvenir spoons, and other little things have withdrawn and now Douglas G. Montell of 135 Rigg street, Santa Cruz, has the spotlight all to himself.

ANOTHER "POME" COMES; SPRING HERE SUNDAY

Sun Is Due to Cross Equator on Journey North at 10 a. m.

"Oh, it's sweet to watch the busy bee
As it wanders to and fro,
Seeking honey from the blooming flowers,
Deep buried in the snow.
Oh, it's grand to hear the sparrows sneeze
As 'round the windows they appear,
And when they cry for bread and cheese
We know that spring is near!"

After reviewing and considering the above offering from every thinkable angle, the only excuse that can be offered for the human mind getting into such condition that it will produce a "pome" of that sort is that the approach of the vernal equinox has had some effect, similar to lunar influences.

This is the time of year one must look for these afflictions in a philosophical spirit, for tomorrow marks the first official day of spring. At 10 of the clock, ante meridian, tomorrow, the sun will journey across the equator on its way north for the summer season. The sun, being a great traveler, has formed the habit of spending the summer in the north every year. The climate agrees with it better for some reason or other. In winter it goes south to see how Australia, South America and those places are getting along. It will continue its journey northward until June 21, after which it will start leisurely back to the south, arriving at its most southern destination on Dec. 21.

Whether or not the vernal equinox is responsible for the present climatic disturbance, following a long period of almost May weather, is a question. The weather bureau would deny it; but the old-timers point to the record and will tell you that the weather begins to pick up trouble every time the crossing of the equator is due, spring or fall. Tomorrow is the day, and the city gives every appearance of being in the grasp of early winter.

LARGE AUDIENCE SEES "Y" MINSTRELS

Final Show Makes Big Hit; Prizes for Best Ticket Sellers.

The biggest crowd that ever attended any performance at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was present last night at the second night of the boys' department minstrel show. Fifteen minutes before the curtain was lifted every seat was taken and standing room was at premium. The minstrels were at their best and for two hours kept the big audience in laughter. The opening sketch, "The Train Going North," by Laurence Duby and Lincoln Brown, was a scream all the way through.

The prize for selling the most tickets went to Edward Evans, who sold 238; Harvey Bronson came second with 163. Both boys will go to Camp Miller for the excellent work they did. Last night marked the last minstrel show in the present building. The show next year will be given in more commodious quarters.

GIRL BREAKS LEG IN CROOKSTON GYM.

Crookston, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Irene Wurden of Western Polk county, a student at the Crookston School of Agriculture, fell while exercising in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon and sustained a bad fracture of her leg between the knee and ankle. Another girl student fractured her arm in the gym last week and speculation as to whether the rule of three will apply is rife.

FORMER SHERIFF ADJUDGED INSANE.

Lisbon, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—After an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide, Sol Robinson was adjudged insane and sent to the state asylum at Jamestown. Robinson was formerly proprietor of a hotel here, once sheriff of the county and for many years a traveling man. In recent years he had met financial reverses.

FAWN CROSSES THE LAKE AND WANDERS THROUGH CHESTER PARK

East end residents yesterday were honored with a visit from a small deer which crossed the ice from the Wisconsin side of the lake, wandered out along London road for several blocks, and finally investigated the fastnesses of Chester park.

A fair motorist, driving along London road, saw the fawn while it was still on the ice, and stopped her car to watch the progress of the graceful animal. Oblivious of prying eyes, the deer gingerly stepped ashore near the curling club, nosed around the building, and then started east along London road.

Keith Astell, living at 1420 London road, is something of a naturalist, and ran out to the walk to get a closer view of the denizen of the forest. Frightened by the approach of the budding Thompson-Seton, the deer bounded up the street and disappeared in Chester park.

It was the first time this season that Duluthians have had a visitor of this kind.

Harry Harrington of 3240 Minnesota avenue has just returned from New York, having spent the last sixty days visiting the larger cities of New England, New York and Pennsylvania. He reports that these states have experienced one of the mildest winters on record, that spring business has started everywhere and the building season has begun much earlier than usual.

Business conditions, he says, vary according to the different localities, as most Eastern cities produce only one line of goods. One town may manufacture practically nothing but pianos, another shoes, etc. One good-sized city, for instance, makes nothing but whips, another produces nothing but combs.

Some of these products are in great demand, while others are not, hence some towns are booming, while business is very dull in others. On the whole, the business men, especially in the larger cities, are growing more optimistic day by day, he says.

Mills and factories are reopening everywhere and great numbers of people who have spent an idle winter are now returning to work.

Many people who are in the habit of spending the summer abroad will be compelled to remain in America the coming season and it is expected that many of them will visit Duluth by way of the Great Lakes and in this connection Mr. Harrington suggests that Duluth citizens enter heartily into the "clean-up" movement now being urged by The Herald.

HOLIDAYS DRAW NEAR

Easter Vacation in Public Schools Will Begin Next Week.

Few Social Activities—Plans Made for Affairs Following Easter.

Next week will mark the close of the second month of the final semester and incidentally the last week before the Easter vacation at Central high school. This rest continues one week, beginning Friday and concluding on Monday, April 5. This is the last important vacation of the year.

The second estimates of the semester will go in next week, the individual reports will be issued, and the honor role announced.

Socially, the school was very quiet during the last week and will probably remain so during next week. After Easter, however, the spring social activities will become prominent, many important dates having been set for April. The senior class play, April 16 and 17, will be the most important event. Several class parties, among them the junior affair on the evening of April 8, will also be held. The Lambs club members had almost decided upon a benefit for late April, but the date was changed to May 3 and 4. The several clubs and societies will become unusually active again during the month of April.

In commemoration of St. Patrick, the music during the Wednesday morning chapel exercises was such as appeals to the heart of a native of the Emerald isle. Mr. Young mentioned that the music was not to be connected with the senior boys. The first real appearance of the Central Boys Glee club was well received by the students. The boys have always been active members of the choir, but have occupied back seats. They made a decided "hit" in their first open appearance. Responding to an encore after their first number, the boys sang "It's a Long Way to Tipperary." The boys are trained by Mrs. Dixon. The head of the music department. Corresponding to them is the Girls' Glee club which sings during the chapel period together with the boys' organization.

Not to be outdone by the senior girls when they observed their annual class day with the usual ceremonies, the fourth year boys celebrated their class day with some rather unusual ceremonies. The time falling on Wednesday, the boys could, in addition, use the excuse of its being St. Patrick's day. Green was in profusion, but for the sake of contrast many of the boys were well bedecked with a clamorous supply of orange.

Several costumes that were extreme were not tolerated by Principal Young. Some boys appeared in styles from the backwoods. Flannel shirts, corduroy trousers, high-top boots and white wool socks made up their dress. Short trousers on some of the boys who had not been in the habit of wearing such clothing for some time, made a decided hit. As to costumes generally, the girls admitted that they had been far outdone. Many other elaborate costumes scored sensations with the students who did not have the honor of participating. This custom has become so popular that it will undoubtedly be repeated annually in the future.

The second of a series of lectures arranged by the vocational guidance committee of the Schoolmasters' club was heard in the auditorium following the close of school Tuesday. M. J. Thompson, superintendent of the Northeastern demonstration farm, addressed the boys on the subject, "Agriculture as a Vocation."

Both practical work on a farm and a university course in agriculture were regarded by the speaker as absolute requisites for the young man who was especially desirous of meeting with success in the field of scientific farming. Opportunities are innumerable, the speaker declared, for boys inclined along these lines. Mr. Thompson appeared especially enthusiastic over the wonderful progress being made by the Central boys' agricultural classes.

The agricultural work has been connected chiefly with the short course that has been conducted at the Northeastern demonstration farm for the last two weeks. This work comes to a close today, when the final grasps will make tours of inspection. Several trips were made also to many of the dairies, Grogan's farm and other places. On the whole, the boys have gained a great amount of good information from the trips and have gained some exceedingly valuable experience thereby.

Up to yesterday the butter-making department reported a total of 2,662 pounds of butter having been turned out by the school creamery.

Thirty-two pounds of choice tomatoes were picked from the vines in the greenhouse. These commanded the best market price.

Caps and gowns for the graduation exercises of the seniors will again be prominent this year. This novel idea, originated last year and rather uncommon in high schools, will be continued this year when the seniors take part in the annual commencement exercises in June. This eliminates the expense connected with the buying of special gowns for the girls and proved very popular last year. Principal Young will ask for the measurements of the students in the near future, and the caps and gowns will then be rented.

Under the able supervision of Prof. L. C. Rasey of the English department, the work on the senior class play is progressing rapidly, and, according to the coach, the results have been especially encouraging. The play will be held on the evenings of April 16 and 17.

* * *

From now on the school printing department will be rushed with the work of printing the Zenith, the school annual. Editor-in-Chief Coe and Mr. Rankin, head of the printing department, appear exceptionally enthusiastic over the progress made so far and over the possibility of turning out a most excellent book. The greater part of the engraving work has now been completed. An expert corps of student printers, together with a hired man from outside, are centering all of their efforts on this work. Every two weeks the Gazette is turned out, this being about the only interruption that the force will encounter in its work on the Zenith. The next issue of the Gazette will appear next Friday.

The contest for the prize poem for the Zenith is still open and several of the hopeful poets are working hard to secure honors.

The new senior class pins, for which orders were placed some time ago, have been received, and according to those who ordered and received pins, they more than come up to expectations. Several who were unable to take advantage of the first order will be given a last chance to obtain their class pins next week. A second order will be made up and the pins sent for. Stanley Lackey is the chairman of the committee in charge of the pins.

* * *

The senior English students have begun active work on their "senior essays," prepared annually by each member of the graduating class. In most of the fourth-year English classes the bibliographies, or lists of reading references, were required to be handed in yesterday. The essays are due early in May.

* * *

Company A of the school cadet corps held its drill following the close of school Thursday. Several new faces appeared in the ranks. Lieut. Jones, the corps instructor, introduced several new ideas besides giving the boys plenty of drill on the old exercises. A reply from Congressman Miller is expected in the near future concerning the securing of rifles. A local citizen has promised to see to it that the boys order for these has been placed, and it is expected that the boys will appear in their new regalia very soon.

The Lambs club held its regular weekly meeting following the close of school yesterday. An interesting talk by Mr. Rasey, the club adviser, featured. He read a selection from a certain play, which was well received by the members. The club, after much discussion, decided upon two important changes relative to the membership. The membership had heretofore been restricted to thirty, but it was decided yesterday to raise it to forty-five. Those desiring admittance to the club will place their names on the waiting list and the club members will then vote on who may enter. If a member is absent from one meeting without an excuse, he is dropped from the club and the members then proceed to vote upon the next name on the waiting list.

The next benefit to be given by the club will be held at the Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday evenings, May 3 and 4. Several possible sketches have been considered, but a definite one has not yet been decided upon. This matter will be decided very soon and work on the play will begin as soon as possible.

The picture, which the club had taken some time ago, was exhibited yesterday.

WANTS STREET CAR TRANSFER; WHAT NEXT?

Golden State Collector Asks Commercial Club to Help Him.

Have you a street car transfer that you don't want?

Douglas G. Montell of 135 Rigg street, Santa Cruz, Cal., is saving 'em, and he wants one from Duluth. So George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of Duluth's Commercial club, has undertaken to provide Douglas with a neatly punched transfer as issued by one of the Zenith City's polite conductors.

"Perhaps you've never heard of a street car transfer collector," writes Douglas, "but say what you will—that's what I am.

"I never was aware of Duluth's being such a large city," goes on the letter, "as on the map it is away up in the corner, nearly lost. Transfers from Minnesota are a rarity, so I would welcome one from Duluth."

Douglas saw a picture of Superior street in the American City magazine recently, and in one corner of the picture was a sure 'nough street car, so then he knew that Duluth had street cars and right away he wanted a Duluth transfer for his album.

All donations will be gladly received by Secretary McCarthy, who is planning to send Douglas a nice pink transfer, and a yellow one, and a green one, and a brownish-yellow one from the Park Point, and thus make his heart glad.

Collectors of stamps, coins, photographs, post cards, campaign buttons, locks of hair, autographs, dance programs, wedding invitations, love letters, pennants, souvenir spoons, and other little things have withdrawn and now Douglas G. Montell of 135 Rigg street, Santa Cruz, has the spotlight all to himself.

ANOTHER "POME" COMES; SPRING HERE SUNDAY

Sun Is Due to Cross Equator on Journey North at 10 a. m.

"Oh, it's sweet to watch the busy bee
As it wanders to and fro,
Seeking honey from the blooming flowers,
Deep buried in the snow.
Oh, it's grand to hear the sparrows sneeze
As 'round the windows they appear,
And when they cry for bread and cheese
We know that spring is near!"

After reviewing and considering the above offering from every thinkable angle, the only excuse that can be offered for the human mind getting into such condition that it will produce a "pome" of that sort is that the approach of the vernal equinox has had some effect, similar to lunar influences.

This is the time of year one must look for these afflictions in a philosophical spirit, for tomorrow marks the first official day of spring. At 10 of the clock, ante meridian, tomorrow, the sun will journey across the equator on its way north for the summer season. The sun, being a great traveler, has formed the habit of spending the summer in the north every year. The climate agrees with it better for some reason or other. In winter it goes south to see how Australia, South America and those places are getting along. It will continue its journey northward until June 21, after which it will start leisurely back to the south, arriving at its most southern destination on Dec. 21.

Whether or not the vernal equinox is responsible for the present climatic disturbance, following a long period of almost May weather, is a question. The weather bureau would deny it; but the old-timers point to the record and will tell you that the weather begins to pick up trouble every time the crossing of the equator is due, spring or fall. Tomorrow is the day, and the city gives every appearance of being in the grasp of early winter.

LARGE AUDIENCE SEES "Y" MINSTRELS

Final Show Makes Big Hit: Prizes for Best Ticket Sellers.

The biggest crowd that ever attended any performance at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was present last night at the second night of the boys' department minstrel show. Fifteen minutes before the curtain was lifted every seat was taken and standing room was at premium. The minstrels were at their best and for two hours kept the big audience in laughter. The opening sketch, "The Train Going North," by Laurence Duby and Lincoln Brown, was a scream all the way through.

The prize for selling the most tickets went to Edward Evans, who sold 238; Harvey Bronson came second with 163. Both boys will go to Camp Miller for the excellent work they did. Last night marked the last minstrel show in the present building. The show next year will be given in more commodious quarters.

GIRL BREAKS LEG IN CROOKSTON GYM.

Crookston, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Irene Wurden of Western Polk county, a student at the Crookston School of Agriculture, fell while exercising in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon and sustained a bad fracture of her leg between the knee and ankle. Another girl student fractured her arm in the gym last week and speculation as to whether the rule of three will apply is rife.

FORMER SHERIFF ADJUDGED INSANE.

Lisbon, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—After an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide, Sol Robinson was adjudged insane and sent to the state asylum at Jamestown. Robinson was formerly proprietor of a hotel here, once sheriff of the county and for many years a traveling man. In recent years he had met financial reverses.

FAWN CROSSES THE LAKE AND WANDERS THROUGH CHESTER PARK

East end residents yesterday were honored with a visit from a small deer which crossed the ice from the Wisconsin side of the lake, wandered out along London road for several blocks, and finally investigated the fastnesses of Chester park.

A fair motorist, driving along London road, saw the fawn while it was still on the ice, and stopped her car to watch the progress of the graceful animal. Oblivious of prying eyes, the deer gingerly stepped ashore near the curling club, nosed around the building, and then started east along London road.

Keith Astell, living at 1420 London road, is something of a naturalist, and ran out to the walk to get a closer view of the denizen of the forest. Frightened by the approach of the budding Thompson-Seton, the deer bounded up the street and disappeared in Chester park.

It was the first time this season that Duluthians have had a visitor of this kind.

DULUTH IS ON THE AUTO MAP

Visitor Says Auto Show Advertised City in the Trade.

"Duluth has established itself on the auto map of the nation," declared J. D. Shotwell of Minneapolis, prominent manufacturer of radiators and fenders, who made his first visit in six years here yesterday.

"Your automobile show here last month has advertised the city all over the country and from now on you may rest assured that Duluth is on the auto map. Automobile men throughout the country are constantly watching those cities presenting their first show, and the success of the week's exhibit has spread far and wide.

"Although we have been in business for many years, I never came to Duluth but once or twice. However, after hearing so much about the show, I decided to come and see what the boys here are doing. You have some beautiful show places and the auto business here is sure humming. From now on I am going to come here once or twice a year and oftener, if I can get away."

NEW RECORD FOR SILVERTOWN CORD TIRES

Goodrich Silvertown cord tires have broken another record.

The latest feat of these cord construction tires is the carrying of a Maxwell, which set a new record of 305 miles without a stop at the San Diego races in January. More remarkable still, the car that made the record on Silvertown had a gallon of gasoline left in its tank at the end of the race.

Billy Carlson, the speed boy who made the non-stop record on Silvertowns, says it was the cord construction of his tires which enabled him to go 305 miles without a stop, and which also enabled him to make the record with a gallon to spare.

The remarkable resiliency and lack of resistance to the road, which are qualities produced by the cord construction, make these tires develop more power at the wheel. Averages from countless tests have shown that these tires increase engine efficiency 15 per cent and reduce gasoline consumption 25 per cent.

Carlson's feat at San Diego beats records set by Ed Pullen in a Mercer at Elgin last August, and by Barney Oldfield in a Maxwell at the Corona races last November. The previous record was 301 miles without a stop.

The wonderful durability and enormous strength of Goodrich Silvertown cord tires was shown in the San Diego race when three cars started with Goodrich Silvertown tire equipment and not one of them had to make a tire change.

The Point Loma course at San Diego is a tough one, with many sharp turns, which put extra strains on tires.

MOST CARS OWNED BY MIDDLE CLASS

Income Tax Returns Show Interesting Facts, Says Kissel Agent.

"The national income tax returns furnish a lot of food for thought, especially to those of modest resources, who have hesitated about buying an automobile," says J. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the Kissel Kar.

"It appears that of the cars registered in the United States only about 400,000 are owned by persons having an income of $3,000 a year or more, while about 837,000 are owned by those who receive less.

"This does not mean that vast thousands of people owning automobiles cannot afford it—not at all. It means rather, that a great percentage of the American public has come to look upon motoring as a comfort and a convenience that pays dividends in health and efficiency. Most owners find that the expense of maintaining an automobile is easily met by pruning other indulgences, less attractive and beneficial.

"A great majority of those of limited means who buy cars, are thrifty folk, primarily proved by the fact that they have the money to buy a car in the first place. You will find most of them improving their condition during their ownership of the car, the next best possible proof."

MOTOR CAR TAKES PEOPLE OUTDOORS

Hudson President Says That "We Are Rediscovering America."

By Roy D. Chapin

(President of Hudson Motor Car Co.)

The motor car is bringing to the world the out-of-doors habit in greater degree than has almost any other human invention.

It is so easy nowadays to slip away out of the city for a few days or hours, that we are rediscovering America. Railway travel, after all, gives one but a limited impression of the real country. Railway routes, as a rule, traverse the backyards of the world. To see the real beauties, to visit the choicest spots, one must travel across country, over hill and dale, now in the valley and now in the clouds. This is being done, literally, by many tourists. And thousands more are planning this year to visit the show-places of America in their own private car, personally conducted.

The advancement of the Lincoln highway to a point where the trip across America is now a practical possibility has done much to foster this widespread touring spirit. We have many letters from Hudson owners in California, Florida and other attractive sections, speaking of their many delightful experiences. To have a thoroughly dependable motor car is, of course, one of the indispensables of such an outing. The lightweight, low fuel consumption and extreme flexibility of the Hudson six make it very popular for this purpose.

CHECK AGAINST ERROR.

Expert Inspectors Look Over Materials for Saxon Cars.

The Saxon Motor company has just instituted a plan that provides a double check in assuring quality of materials and high grade of workmanship in Saxon motor cars.

In addition to a perfected method of inspection at the Saxon factory in Detroit, this concern has gone a step farther than is customary among automobile makers. By the new plan, expert inspectors will be assigned to the different plants where the parts and materials for use in Saxon cars are produced. It is the duty of each inspector to see that such parts and materials exactly measure up to the specifications called for by the Saxon engineers.

This advanced and progressive plan has been put into effect by the Saxon company at a considerable expense, but it is declared to more than pay for itself in eliminating the chance for error in construction and preventing any inferior materials from getting by.

SECRET OF DRIVER'S SUCCESS LEAKS OUT

Romance Embracing Two Continents Back of Resta's Victory.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 20.—The secret of Darius Resta's brilliant driving in the recent Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races at San Francisco, both of which he won handily, is out. It involves the culmination of as pretty a romance as ever embraced two continents.

Several years ago, Resta met the sister of the late Spencer Wishart in Deer ol' Lennon. Their acquaintanceship was but brief, yet resulted in a correspondence, after the two had again taken up their permanent abode on different sides of the Atlantic, that soon evolved into more than friendship.

It was not long until matrimony was a frequently discussed topic between the two, yet the ocean offered a seemingly unsurmountable obstacle. With the outbreak of the European war, however, and the consequent abandonment of racing abroad, opportunity came, and soon Resta was on his way, to seek both bride and fortune.

The bride came first, Resta and Miss Wishart being married immediately after his arrival, and the rest is history. Should, in addition, Resta manage to win at Indianapolis, where a gross purse of $50,000 is offered, he will be fixed for life.

CANADIAN BRANCH.

Ford Company Opens $325,000 Factory in Toronto, Ont.

The opening of the new $325,000 Ford branch building in Toronto, Ont., last week added one more large unit to the chain of handsome buildings which the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, is gradually establishing at various strategic points throughout the Dominion.

This is a year of Ford expansion in Canada. Recently the great branch building at Montreal was opened to the public, being dedicated by the annual Montreal Motor Show, which was held in the new building through the courtesy of the Ford officials. Another new building is now nearing completion for the London, Ont., branch, and in the early summer the Ford company will open a $300,000 addition to the main plant at Ford, Ont.

Open house was held in the new Toronto branch all the week. Visitors were given the freedom of the building daily and were also entertained with a special program, the principal feature of which was a moving picture show with films taken and produced by the Ford moving picture department. Thousands of people took advantage of the opening and filled the building daily.

The new Toronto building conforms to the general architectural style adopted by the Ford company and is a distinct asset to Toronto's industrial life. It is five stories high and of fireproof construction, the materials being brick and reinforced concrete, trimmed with mat glazed terra cotta. The total area of floor space is 132,800 square feet, and the equipment includes many thousands of dollars worth of machinery installed principally for the purpose of providing quick and reliable service to Ford owners. Part of the building is also devoted to the assembling of new cars manufactured at the factory in Ford, Ont.

MOTOR "CRADLES."

How Chalmers Engines Are Assembled at Big Plant.

Rocking automobile motors in "cradles" is one of the latest developments in the manufacture of motor cars, according to E. J. Fillatrault of the Mutual Auto company, the local Chalmers dealers. Black-faced Titans of the shops are the nurse-boys who rock these extraordinary "cradles" as Chalmers motors are soothed and nursed into mechanical prodigies.

The cradle is a combination of truck and stand equipped for the most efficient and accurate assembling. The old way was to put together certain parts on a stand, then move this assembly of parts to a truck and carry it on to the scene of the next operation. During the progress of the motor toward completion, it had to be put on the stand and taken off repeatedly, then placed on trucks and carted around laboriously, while the mechanics went through all sorts of contortions to reach the parts upon which they wanted to work.

All this has been changed in the great Chalmers factory in Detroit since the production engineers devised the "motor cradle."

A casting is placed in the "motor cradle" at one end of the immense assembling room, and from that time on it is not removed until the conveyance is wheeled out of the other end of the room bearing a completely assembled motor.

The "cradle" is a truck on stilts, with a top which permits the motor to be swung to any angle, even upside down, and locked there, so that any part of the engine upon which the mechanic wishes to work is easily and instantly accessible without straining or bending. Such work, requiring as it does the greatest accuracy and care, can in this way be done under the most favorable conditions.

Every motor, as it begins to gather within itself its appointed pistons, valves and cam shafts, travels along from man to man with never a back track. When it has run its course, every working part has been fitted into place by a specialist, and each specialist has worked on the motor to the very best advantage.

Chalmers motors are inspected at every stage of manufacture, and when complete, receive several tests, the last of which is given by a battery of dynamometers often referred to as the "Chalmers $100,000 Hill" because it has replaced the former hill test.

FORD CAR IN ALASKA.

Being Used By Stage Company for 320-Mile Trip.

To demonstrate that the Ford car is a commercial factor in the transportation of freight and passengers in the interior of Alaska, three Ford cars are operated by the Sheldon, Gibson & Ashton Stage company on the passenger run from Fairbanks to Chitina, 320 miles away. The best time made on this trip was two and one-half days, and the average is from three and one-half to six days, depending on the weather. When it rains in Alaska, the bottom falls out of what they call roads, and the automobile becomes a submarine.

The stage fare by a Ford is $100 per passenger, and forty pounds of baggage is allowed. The fare on the horse stage is $120 for the same trip, but the expense enroute by horse stage will average $75 per trip for accommodations at the roadhouses as compared to an average of $25 roadhouse cost when the trip is made by Ford. The saving in dollars and cents, therefore, is about $80, and the saving in time about six to eight days. This is certainly a justification of the use of Fords for transportation even where conditions are so difficult.

According to Dr. Leonard S. Sugden of Los Angeles, Cal., who has recently returned from extensive travel through Alaska, in one camp a Ford special laundry car has taken the place of a team of dogs, composed of Scotch collies, which hauled a box on runners in the winter and on wheels in the summer. These dogs were kept tied when not working, and they displayed great exuberance of spirit by galloping up and down the streets, making dashes to right or left, and relieving pedestrians young and old of chunks of their anatomy or clothing. The Ford, up to the time of his leaving, had not displayed any tendency toward carnivorousness. In fact, it was doing the work in a fraction of the time and in a decorous manner, and the driver did not have to cook any food for it, much to his relief. There are two more Ford cars used at this point, running as stages to mines in the vicinity and meeting with great success operating and also financially.

OWNER CANNOT SHIFT LICENSE RESPONSIBILITY

Under the new automobile law, passed by both branches of the Minnesota legislature and signed by Governor Hammond, the purchaser of the auto license is personally responsible for the number wherever it is placed. The owner, not the machine, will be licensed and the owner may put the tag on any car. If accidents occur the owner of the number will be liable and the usual "alibi" that he had sold the car to another man will not go.

Only professional chauffeurs will be licensed. After Jan. 1, 1918, the license fee for autos will be $5 for three years. It is estimated the revenue will be nearly $1,000,000 for the three years, all of which goes into the road and bridge fund.

LATEST TYPES OF THE KING CAR ARE ON EXHIBITION IN THE SHOW ROOMS OF THE INTERSTATE AUTO COMPANY AT 8 WEST FIRST STREET.

ACROSS THE CONTINENT IN FORD

Carl W. McDowell of Rockford, Wash., tells of a trip to the East in his Ford touring car, from which he recently returned. Mr. McDowell was accompanied by Mrs. McDowell and their 12-month-old baby boy.

"We left Rockford bound for Orrville, Ohio, in our five-passenger Ford," says Mr. McDowell. "We carried a tent, folding cots, bedding, cooking outfit, provisions, extra tires and tubes and various other equipment. We drove through by way of Coeur d'Alene, Wallace, Murray and Thompson Falls, arriving at Eddy, Mont., twelve miles out of Thompson Falls, the first day out. This was a run of 160 miles, part of which was over very crude roads. We found the road to the Montana state line to be very good, excellent in some places, but with many steep pitches.

"The second night out we camped at Deer Lodge, having passed through Plains and Missoula. The third day out, just after leaving Butte we encountered a heavy electrical and rain storm. We crossed the continental divide in the mud and had very muddy roads all day and camped at Willow Creek, near Three Forks, the third night out. The fourth day out we fought mud from morning until night.

"At Bozeman we were informed that it would be impossible to make the summit of the Rockies on account of the slippery roads, but we pushed on in a driving rain and went over O. K., although it was a dangerous undertaking. We passed through Livingston and put up the fourth night at Hunter's Springs. After leaving Hunter's Springs we had hard road surface.

"From Livingston we had a marked road, the Yellowstone trail which runs from St. Paul to the Yellowstone national park. The markings are made with yellow paint on the telephone poles, bridges, rocks and any other conspicuous places. We had excellent dirt roads practically all the way from Billings to Miles City. After leaving Miles City we encountered bad roads for several hundred miles. Much of the road has not been worked and is more of a trail than a road. At Terry, Mont., we left the Yellowstone trail, following the line of the Milwaukee railroad.

"In Western Minnesota we found the Chippewa river out of its banks and over the road for about sixty rods. We were told that the road was impassable and that we would not be able to cross anywhere for several days or until the water dropped. Not desiring to be delayed, I forded the stream over the roadway and found that the roadway had not been washed out. I started through with the Ford, and for about thirty rods the water was from two to four inches from the carburetor, but took it slow and went through all right.

"After leaving St. Paul we went East by way of Eau Claire, Milwaukee and Chicago.

"We had no breakdowns and no serious trouble of any kind, although my car had been run 8,200 miles before starting."

HAYNES CAR AT THE EXPOSITION.

"A Haynes light six model 30 chassis will be exhibited at the Panama-Pacific exposition, San Francisco, in the palace of transportation," states M. W. Turner, local distributer of America's first car. "The chassis will be identical with the one exhibited at the New York and Chicago automobile shows. A skeleton cowl is fitted to the chassis to carry the control instruments in such a manner that their connections with the various units may be seen at a glance. While the chassis is complete in all details ready for running, the important features are emphasized by nickel plating, in order to give the exhibition an educational value. The latest developments of the automobile industry are embodied in the design of the Haynes light six chassis. Its simplicity and compactness will offer a great contrast to exhibits of former years.

"The palace of transportation contains exhibits of all means of conveyances for travel under the water, on the water, on land and in the air, but the automobile section is expected to be the most extensive division. The automobile booths, which occupy the entire eastern half of the building, will be uniform in design, and there will be no railings or partitions between exhibits. The decoration of the automobile section comprises some very appropriate panoramas that, though serving as mural decorations, are in reality topographical maps.

"The Lincoln highway is shown in this manner on a scale of about ten miles to the foot, so as to form one gigantic panorama over 350 feet in length. All colors of the various sections of the country through which the highway passes are accurately represented. Other sections of the United States are exactly reproduced in the form of these maps that give

DON'T DRIVE IN THE RUT.

Motorists Urged to Follow Texas Good Roads Club's Motto.

"All automobilists should be exponents of the Texas Good Roads club's motto, 'Don't drive in the rut,'" in the opinion of Arthur Holmes, sales manager of the Franklin Automobile company. "Conservation of good roads is just as important as the encouragement of good road building. Good roads cost a lot of money and a motorist pays a great deal toward it. The owner of an automobile should feel the responsibility in making his share of the investment in good roads go as far as possible.

"Bad roads discourage motoring, yet to a certain extent motorists are responsible for them. How often have you seen a well-oiled road in fairly good condition, or a new section of highway just built, become almost impassable by constant usage of a rut that was first marked by the initial car to travel over it. Six inches of road, often twelve to sixteen feet wide, is called upon to stand the strain of all the traffic over it. This really should not be. Of course, it is the natural tendency to drive on the crown of the road, but in principle it is wrong, if the road is to be used to the best advantage.

"After these ruts are started and the surface has been broken through, come the chuck holes and dust holes, and in rainy seasons you have the water to contend with, which softens the surface and decreases the efficiency of material used in making the road.

"'Don't drive in the rut,' if lived up to, would save thousands of dollars annually in the building of roads, increase the pleasure of the tourists many times and in the end save the automobile."

TOURS FOR MOTORISTS.

Uncle Sam's Islands Will Offer Good Substitute for Europe.

That the island of Porto Rico with its unexcelled system of roads affords an excellent substitute for European tours during the coming year, is the gist of a letter received from W. S. M. Mead, export manager of the Chandler Motor Car company, who has spent the past three months in that section.

"Shut off from foreign tours, there is no reason why American motorists should not turn to some of Uncle Sam's island possessions for novelty," says Mr. Mead. "Porto Rico is especially adapted to the needs of motorists. Since the American occupation millions of dollars have been expended on good roads, until the whole island is covered with a network of fine highways of stone construction. Excellent roads follow the shore line and also cross the island through the mountains, reaching an altitude of 3,600 feet in places. The tropical scenery is unsurpassed and in addition the tourists have the advantage of fine hotels in the larger cities. At San Juan, Ponce and Coamo Springs, the latter a famous health resort, the hotels are superior to many along the main touring routes of Europe.

"Some 1,500 motor vehicles are registered in the island and many of these can be rented for long tours. The tourist who wishes to use his own car, however, will find unusual accommodations to his hand from the time he ships his car at New York. He can place his car on board without the unusual preliminary of boxing and will find it on the dock at Porto Rico before he leaves the ship. Tourists are not bothered by customs officials, and upon driving to the road commissioners' office, a few blocks from the wharf, they can obtain a temporary license for $2 and a driving license for $1. An additional nominal charge is made for license plates, but this money is refunded upon the return of the plates."

Mr. Mead has offered to provide information and letters of introduction to any motorist who decides to make the tour, and as he has made several trips to Porto Rico, his advice will be valuable to those making their first visit.

OVERLAND CLUB.

How John N. Willys Makes Life Worth Living for Employes.

On Maumee bay, near Toledo, Ohio, there is a country club with wide verandas, sloping green lawns, boats and bath houses and other conveniences that combine to make the club life of today. It was built by John N. Willys, principal owner of the great Willys-Overland automobile factory, and presented to his employes for their own use. Throughout Ohio it is known as the Overland club.

Since the start of his career as a manufacturer, Mr. Willys has endeavored to make life more worth living for his employes. In this he has been more than moderately successful.

A little more than five years ago Mr. Willys organized the Overland concert band for the purpose of providing entertainment at various Overland functions throughout the year. Today the band numbers fifty pieces and is one of the most famous industrial organizations of its kind in the world. The musicians are all employes of the factory and maintain a strict amateur standing by refusing to accept extra remuneration for their services as instrumentalists. Occasionally they take a long concert tour as the personal guest of their employer, who chooses this means of showing his appreciation of their efforts. Last summer they traveled from Toledo to Houston, Tex., playing in twenty different cities.

Mr. Willys has organized football, basketball and bowling teams, and furnished them with uniforms. These teams have flourished under his patronage and encouragement. The Overland Glee club, consisting of seventy-five male voices, is widely known as a musical organization of much merit.

For several years it has been the custom of the Willys-Overland company to declare a half holiday and send all employes to one of the first games of the Toledo baseball season. On this occasion the entire allotment of seats is purchased by Mr. Willys and the ball park is reserved exclusively for Overland workers. When the American association team was removed to Cleveland last year, it was naturally supposed that "Overland Day" was a thing of the past. But through the efforts of Mr. Willys, and at a heavy personal expense, the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Cubs were secured for an exhibition game, during the regular big league season, to give the 8,000 Overland rooters their annual baseball festival.

BOYS ARE "AUTO FANS."

American Youths Know Every Car and Its Good Points.

By George A. Kissel,
(President Kissel Motor Car Company).

Every red-blooded American youth loves motor cars and studies them. Many can give their elders valuable points on both construction and operation.

Most of them know every car in the neighborhood, who made it and how well it runs. They read every autdmobile advertisement. They send for catalogs and never skip a page or a specification. They are veritable mines of pertinent information that "Dad" never had the leisure or the opportunity to get. Is it any wonder they are consulted when a new car is the topic?

In the sale of an automobile there is, of course, no shadow of question regarding the powerful bearing exercised by the buyer's wife, sister or "intended." If the car does not appeal to her sense of beauty, comfort, convenience and refinement, the strong mechanical arguments that have won the "mere male" will prove of little weight.

And the boy is an influence which to my mind is a very close second to that of the woman. He makes or breaks thousands of sales every year.

The automobile manufacturer fortunate enough to get the ear and the favor of a few thousand boys has acquired an auxiliary sales force that he may well cultivate—to say nothing of a goodly percentage who themselves will be buyers in the future.

So the boys can have our expensive catalogue and should have our time if there is anything they want to know about—that's what we try to impress on every KisselKar dealer and salesman.

CADILLAC GIVEN LOW-SPEED TEST

Latest Motor Shows Remarkable Flexibility During Whole Run.

Since the introduction of the Cadillac eight, motorists have heard much about the continuous flow of power produced by the eight-cylinder engine; and a recent test demonstrates unmistakably the great flexibility of the latest Cadillac motor.

This took place in Seattle, Wash., and was conducted by M. S. Brigham of that city, with a Cadillac carrying five passengers, three of whom were designated observers.

For a distance of 1,211 feet, on a level pavement, the Cadillac—in high gear—averaged a speed of 1.86 miles per hour. At times the speedometer registered as low as one mile, fluctuating between that mark and two miles per hour over the entire distance. After the car had been throttled down, the driver left his seat and for an entire block walked backward in front of the slow-moving Cadillac, which pursued its way without attention to throttle or steering wheel. The time consumed in making the distance of 1,211 feet was 8 minutes 3 3-5 seconds by the stop watch held by one of the observers. This is said to be a new low mark for a motor car traveling in high gear.

RECORD SHIPMENT OF AUTOS FOR WEST.

Leaving Syracuse by special train, the biggest shipment of high-grade automobiles ever made started on its way to the Pacific Northwest the latter part of last week. It consisted of a trainload of Franklin cars bound for the states of Washington and Oregon, twenty cars alone being destined for Walla Walla. The rest of the trainload was made up of cars for Pendleton, Or., and Seattle.

This trainload of Franklins is making the longest trip of any automobile shipment, 2,797 miles. It can claim the distinction of being the first trainload of motor cars practically to cross the continent, going from Syracuse to the Pacific.

In value, this record shipment represents almost $70,000. The item of freight alone means something over $3,000.

This large number of Franklins going in one shipment is typical of the upward movement in business. The big crops in the Northwest have opened up trade in general and have made possible a transaction of this magnitude.

BIG DRIVERS FOR RACES.

Noted Speed Kings Will Be at Tacoma.

Tacoma, Wash., March 13.—Word has been received by Frank Allyn, president of the Tacoma Speedway association, from George Dunn, the secretary, who is in San Francisco attending the Vanderbilt race, that he has succeeded in getting the signature of Bob Burman with a Peugeot car for the Tacoma races and has also signed Earl Cooper with his Stutz. Dave Lewis, who wrove here in 1912, is to drive a Stutz also. Dunn has about closed negotiations with three other drivers now in San Francisco and will be able to announce the result of his work within the next few days.

JITNEY FOR CREAM CITY.

Company Now Established With $100,000 Capital.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 13.—Although the jitney bus made its appearance in Milwaukee several weeks ago, it was not until Monday that the latest public transit idea was firmly and definitely established here. The Milwaukee Jitney Bus company, capitalized at $100,000, was incorporated on Monday, and on Tuesday morning started business with thirty-five seven-passenger cars, running on a strict schedule and over certain routes.

AUCTION SALE OF SECOND-HAND CARS.

New York, March 13.—An auction sale of used cars is being planned for March 22, 23 and 24 in the Madison Square garden, New York city, in which the national shows were held for years. An attempt will be made to make the sale an annual affair and pattern it after the annual horse auctions that have been so successful in many cities. Cars will be taken for sale from individual owners as well as from dealers, and it is stated that each car will be examined by an expert, whose opinions will be given in the catalogue of the sale.

MONUMENT WHILE ALIVE.

Missouri Would Honor Inventor of King Road Drag.

St. Louis, Mo., March 13.—If the plan of the Missouri state board of agriculture is successful, D. Ward King will be one of the few men to have had a monument erected to him while alive. King is the inventor of the King road drag, which has played and is still playing a large part in local road improvement work. Though the drag is patented, King has never tried to make money from it, placing it instead at the disposal of all. In recognition of the service that he has been to the cause of good roads, the agriculture board is planning to erect a suitable monument near Maitland, Mo., King's home town, and will ask the state legislature for an appropriation of $100 for the purpose.

After Mileage Record.

So determined is W. S. Dunbar of Fort Stockton, Tex., to hold the Ford mileage record that he has sent his report to the Ford Motor company in the form of a sworn affidavit. It is certainly an astonishing record, too. Mr. Dunbar makes a regular trip in his Ford between Fort Stockton and Pecos City, a distance of sixty-five miles, and carries four passengers. His model T, purchased in 1909, is still in service with the same wheels, engine and transmission and has a grand mileage of 150,000 miles.

In addition to that Dr. Dunbar has repeatedly made the round trip of 130 miles, sworn to in his affidavit, on 3½ gallons of gasoline or a mileage of 37 1-7 miles per gallon. It isn't remarkable, perhaps, that Mr. Dunbar should insist upon having these extraordinary figures preserved in affidavit form.

Some Ford Orders.

Each succeeding morning, mail is breaking records in the sales department of the Ford Motor company. Amazing figures, even for the Ford, are becoming positively incredible figures. For example, here is a portion of one morning's mail: Hood & Snyder of Jewell, Iowa, ask that a trainload of Fords be shipped as soon as possible; the Repass Auto company of Waterloo, Iowa, want a trainload of Fords at once; the Brownell Auto company, Birmingham, Ala., ask immediate shipment of trainload of runabout cars; the Herring Motor company of Des Moines, Iowa, insist that 1,000 Fords be shipped immediately; William Wernock & Co. of Sioux City, Iowa, write for 1,500 or "more if we can have them;" the Becker Auto company of Grand Rapids, Mich., asks for a modest 700 cars immediately.

With such mail, day after day, as this, it is small wonder that the 300,000-car production has become a well-established certainty.

THE MOTOR CAR

By John N. Willys, President of the Willys-Overland Motor Company.

The motor car is the steed of the present century.

It is power and speed harnessed to the will of man.

It puts speed without hurry into everyday life.

It is a sound investment that pays dividends in time saved.

It is a better tonic than any prescription.

It is the best health insurance you can carry.

It ranks with the telephone and telegraph as a utility.

It is an asset to the family welfare.

It is the most popular source of recreation.

It is a positive necessity to thousands of users.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

Col. Mortimer Delano, chief of the First aviation corps, U. S. A., has started a movement to organize motorcycle companies from all of the F. A. M. clubs for volunteer military service. If the enthusiasm with which the scheme has been received by the clubs to which it has so far been presented can be used as a guide, the movement will meet with unlimited success. For instance, in Milwaukee when Col. Delano presented his plan, thirty-five riders immediately agreed to join the corps, and it is anticipated that the majority of the remaining members of the Milwaukee Motorcycle club will also enlist.

The first entrant for the 300-mile grand prize motorcycle race to be held on the Venice, Cal., track March 28, was E. G. Baker of Indianapolis. Right after him came Mechanic Fletcher of Los Angeles, securing entry No. 2. Many other well-known motorcyclists will take part in the event, including Ray Creviston, "Slivers" Boyd and Don Johns. Also many endurance winners are contemplating trying their luck in the Venice classic.

Of very material help in the suppression of the foot and mouth disease in Illinois was the motorcycle of Dr. T. J. Foster, assistant state veterinary. On his two-wheeler Dr. Foster kept a constant vigil over his territory, examining and treating stock, as well as helping to enforce the quarantine.

An association is being formed in Toronto to promote motorcycle competitions during the summer. The organization is being patterned after the Interstate Racing association of Ohio.

• • •

The Harrisburg Motorcycle association has been formed at Harrisburg, Pa., for the purpose of staging a motorcycle, bicycle and accessories show there.

• • •

The question of what city shall be awarded the honor of entertaining the 1915 convention of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, took a decidedly new turn the other day when Secretary G. B. Gibson received a joint application from the two motorcycle publications, Motorcycling and Motorcycle Illustrated, asking for the privilege of having charge of this year's meet. If these two journals are permitted to conduct the convention, it means that it may be held somewhere in the east, probably Saratoga. The publications declare that if their proposition is accepted by the F. A. M. they will put forth every effort to make the 1915 assembly the most successful of any ever held, and promise an entertainment that "will make folks sit up and take notice." The journals also agree to arrange to meet all expenses in connection with the convention.

The Hudson county boulevard commissioners of Jersey City, N. J., have asked for bids on twenty motorcycles to be used in overtaking "speeders."

A number of motorcyclists of Meridin, Miss., have offered their services to the Lauderdale county tuberculosis hospital. The hospital is located some distance from town and the only means it has of carrying passengers or delivering packages is with one automobile which was donated to the institution. The assistance of the local motorcyclists will therefore prove of material value.

Coyote hunting on motorcycles is becoming quite a popular sport in Sherman county, Kansas. Recently a party of ten cyclists succeeded in rounding up three of the animals.

Baltimore recently purchased twenty-one motorcycles for the city engineer's department, the park board and the electrical commission.

Miss Effie Hotchkiss of Brooklyn, N. Y., is contemplating a cross country motorcycle trip from New York to San Francisco.

GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

New York, March 20.—Six cities are planning big Labor day racing events. They are New York, Minneapolis, Tacoma, Sioux City, Omaha and Kansas City. In the last-named city a speedway equal to that at Indianapolis is projected at a cost of $500,000.

• • •

According to Hugh Ramsey, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles of Kentucky, there will be 20,000 machines registered in that commonwealth by Jan. 1, 1916. During 1914 the number of motor vehicles registered increased 62 per cent over the registry for 1913.

• • •

A rural undertaker with a keen conception of utility, writes to the Kissel Motor Car company, Hartford, Wis., asking if it is possible to build for him a "combination hearse and pleasure car." He hastens to explain: "Our people object to the auto hearse. They are not used to it yet. Now if you can supply a hearse that looks like other pleasure cars, I think it will take O. K."

• • •

Owing to the great influx of 1915 orders, the Studebaker automobile factories, Detroit, are now working overtime. The company is employing as many men as the capacity of the plant will permit, and even with this large force finds it necessary to work several hours each evening.

• • •

Governors are now standard equipment, thus relieving the driver of the care of keeping the speed below a safe limit in the city and protecting the chassis from the evils of overspeeding. The standard speeds for trucks of different capacities vary from sixteen miles per hour for a five-ton truck to five miles per hour by a ten-ton truck.

How much per—— —DELIVERED Mile?

• • •

THAT'S the Tire Question in a Nutshell!

Not—"how much does the Tire Cost"—"how much Rubber is in it"—"how many layers of Cotton fabric"—or "how many different Vulcanizings does it go through."

Because,—Results have shown that some of the Tires which have most Cotton, Rubber, Weight and stiffness, give much less MILEAGE and Resilience than other tires made lighter by more expert workmen, through more direct and precise Methods.

Nor is so-called "Mileage Guarantee" worth considering in purchasing of Tires.

Because—no Tires are actually guaranteed to give definite Mileage, no matter what the surface reading may suggest.

Such "Guarantee" would be impracticable with the best Tire ever made, or that ever will be made.

—This, unless the Tire User could, in turn, guarantee the kind of roads over which he would always drive, the kind of driving his Chauffeur would always do, and the air pressure he would always carry on each Tire.

• • •

THE "Mileage Guarantee" is therefore a deceptive Misnomer.

It does not guarantee given Mileage but is only a figure arbitrarily named "as a Basis for Adjustment" on Claims made for defective Workmanship or Materials.

Read any of these "Guarantees" that are printed (or have the verbal ones defined) and you will see that they don't guarantee anything except that the Maker alone shall decide everything such "Guarantee" is supposed to cover.

The larger the Mileage "Guarantee" the higher the price the Maker must charge, to cover (as with Life Insurance) the increased "risk" of replacing Tires that are reasonably sure to wear out in considerable numbers, before they have given the "Guaranteed" Mileage.

The Careful Driver, over good roads and streets, would thus pay more than the Tire is worth, so that the Reckless Driver, or hu who must continually drive over bad roads and streets, might get Mileage he is not entitled to, at the Careful Driver's expense.

THE Goodrich Safety Tread is the fairest-priced Tire, of similar Quality, in the field.—Ten to 30% lower than other Tires that give less Mileage on average performance less effective Traction, with more Vibration, and greater tendency to separate the layers of Fabric and of Tread.

Compare the "Goodrich Safety" Mileage Costs with that of any other Tire in the field, and ACT on what the Comparison shows you.

This is the Famous Goodrich Safety Tread — The standard by which all other non-skids are judged

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly-advertised tires:

Size	Goodrich Safety Tread	OTHER MAKES "A"	"B"	"C"	"D"
30x3	$ 9.45	$10.55	$10.95	$16.35	$18.10
30x3½	12.20	13.35	14.20	21.70	23.60
32x3½	14.00	15.40	16.30	22.85	25.30
34x4	20.35	22.30	23.80	31.15	33.55
36x4½	28.70	32.15	33.60	41.85	41.40
37x5	33.90	39.60	41.80	49.85	52.05

If you are charged less for any other make than Goodrich, they are taking it out of the tire; if you are charged more, they are taking it out of you.

CHANDLER SIX
$1295

A Letter From Mr. Chandler

Duluth Implement Mfg. Company,
Duluth.

Gentlemen:

We are not surprised to learn that you heard some people express doubts as to whether the Chandler selling for $1295 is the real Chandler, the same car that has been selling for $1595. We get the same kind of reports from all over the country. But at the same time we are getting such a quantity of orders that we are convinced thousands of people are taking the trouble to find out for themselves that it is the same car.

It isn't strange, at all, that there are some doubters. It does seem too good to be true. I recall that you had some doubts, too, at first. It is difficult, indeed, to realize the progress that has come in the automobile industry in the past two years. You remember what a sensation the Chandler Light Six was at $1785 two years ago. And again last year, when the car had been beautifully refined, and perfected in every detail, at $1595. Is it any wonder that people should marvel at the $1295 price?

The fact remains—you know it, and we know it, and anyone else can easily convince himself of it—that the Chandler at $1295 is the identical model that set the quality standard for light sixes and sold for $1595. We are standing absolutely pat on this model. We haven't changed a single part or feature or material, and we won't. This is our car for the year—and doubtless for years to come—and $1295 is the price.

The people who come into your store and examine the Chandler, and who go out and drive it, or ride in it, are convinced; and we won't worry about those folks who doubt without investigating. I feel pretty sure that every man who thinks of spending more than $1000 for an automobile is, as least, going to look at the Chandler. And if he does,—well, we will be satisfied with his decision.

The factory is breaking all our past production records and the big new building is being rushed through to completion.

Very truly, F. C. CHANDLER,
President Chandler Motor Car Co.

Compels All Impurities To Abandon System

Blood Troubles Can not Remain If Properly Treated.

There is in S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, a property that absolutely compels harmful influences to disintegrate and lose their identity. No matter what they are called nor how destructive they are there is in S. S. S. a powerful, searching counter influence to annihilate the most eruptive germ, causes the mucous linings to convert it into an inert substance that is quickly thrown out of the blood and out of the body by the skin, lungs, kidneys, bowels, and destroyed in the liver. There is not a single advance in medicine today that in any sense is an improvement over S. S. S. Surgery is a wonderful, masterful science, but when it comes to purifying the blood S. S. S. stands alone. Thousands of doctors have prescribed it. Their patients do not always know it is S. S. S., because they leave the treatment to the doctor implicitly. But fair-minded doctors long ago realized that in the vegetable nature of S. S. S. were certain ingredients that to the blood in sickness were just as essential as the flesh-building elements of the grains, meats, fats and sugars of our daily food. The average doctor is humane and of trained intelligence. He has seen the recoveries from worst cases of blood trouble by the use of S. S. S. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist. Accept no substitute. And if you wish proper advice on any form of blood trouble, write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 102 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is worth while doing so.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SPRING WORK STARTS EARLY

Minnesota Red River Valley Farmers to Begin Seeding Sooner Than Usual.

Indications Point to Largely Increased Acreage of Grains and Vegetables.

Crookston, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Active preparations are being made by the farmers of the Minnesota Red River valley for seeding operations earlier than usual. The snow is all gone from the fields and because of the large acreage plowed last fall the land is in fine shape.

Inquiries sent out to sixty communities in the ten valley counties indicate that the corn acreage will be increased from 30 per cent to 40 per cent this year over last year and will be doubled in some localities.

The alfalfa and clover acreage will also be increased, as will the potato acreage, while the grain acreage will remain practically the same for all small grains with the exception of wheat, which will be cut down slightly. The total acreage will be larger than ever before, owing to a large amount of new breaking last year and a large acreage of new breaking to be done early this spring to be sown to flax, which makes a very profitable crop. The larger acreage is also due to the fact that summer fallowing is being almost entirely abandoned, and the ground formerly summer-fallowed to get rid of weeds is being planted to corn, potatoes or other cultivated crops.

New Settlers Coming.

The month of March to date has witnessed the largest immigration to Northwestern Minnesota experienced for ten years. Every day a string of cars loaded with immigrants' goods arrives here, some remaining and others going up the various branch lines, every section getting some new settlers.

Ada, Norman county, and Stephen, Marshall county, have received an exceptionally strong influx and indications point to the biggest movement of real estate the coming summer experienced in the last fifteen years. There is nothing in the nature of a boom, but simply marked activity because of the record this section has made in corn and alfalfa production, stock-raising, etc., and the recent Minnesota has made along all lines the last few years as shown by the state and government reports.

NORTH DAKOTANS FOR BIG HIGHWAY

Favor Proposed Summer Auto Route Across That State.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—Special to The Herald.)—The enthusiasm with which the state of North Dakota and the city of Fargo have gone into the new National Highway association to provide an auto summer tour route from New York to Seattle is contagious.

North Dakotans in the counties along the main line of the Northern Pacific are extremely enthusiastic.

At a recent meeting in Bismarck, when the state association was formed, F. W. Turner and John Orchard, both of Dickinson, were chosen president and secretary. A vice president was selected from each of the nine counties through which the route extends, these composing an executive committee, which in turn will select the three members of the board of governors. The association has the cooperation of the good roads organizations, the automobile associations, the commercial clubs and individual auto owners along the route. It is proposed to use the link system and have each organization provide for the care and maintenance of a certain portion of the route.

Crossing the Missouri.

To cross the big Missouri river there are two ferries plying between Mandan and Bismarck, one a gasoline and the other a cable. If the river should ever be in such a condition that it would be impossible to use these, tentative arrangments have been made for a transfer by the Northern Pacific by a specially arranged flat car and a switch engine.

At Medora, a bridge must be constructed across the Little Missouri. The stream through a great part of the summer time is fordable, but small rains cause quick rises which some times are so continued that the fording proposition is not dependable. A steel bridge at that point would cost about $20,000, but one of the new kind of cement culvert bridges, it is claimed, could be constructed at a cost not to exceed $6,000.

North Dakota Contractor Wins Case Against City of Minot.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a hurried trip to North Dakota and winning a $10,000 case against the city of Minot, Contractor James Kennedy, the local contractor and former national Republican committeeman, has returned to California where he has $3,000,000 worth of contracts this winter, which require his supervision. In 1909 he put in a waterworks system in Minot. The city held out a part of the price on the ground the contract was not completed within the specified term. On the trial Mr. Kennedy proved the blame lay with the city in its failure to provide the power agreed upon to make the final test and that he was delayed for several weeks instead of the city of Minot being injured. He was given a judgment against the city.

FARMERS SUING FOR INSURANCE

Bring Action Against Grain Firms and Insurance Compaies.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Naming Turle & Co., a grain commission firm with offices in Duluth and Minneapolis, as codefendants with several large fire insurance companies, six prominent Grand Forks county farmers are suing to secure payment of storage tickets held by them for grain stored in the Walland elevator at McCanna, N. D., which was totally destroyed by fire in May, 1914. The action is brought primarily against the fire insurance companies to collect under the fire insurance carried on the contents of the elevator, but Turle & Co. are joined, as it is charged they secured possession of the insurance money, part of which should be used to pay for and take up the outstanding grain tickets.

Contents Fully Insured.

The elevator was owned and operated by H. H. Walland at McCanna and, when destroyed by fire, the building and contents were fully insured. The contents were doubly insured, there being two sets of policies, one placed by Mr. Walland and one by Turle & Co. There was considerable delay in adjusting the loss, owing to this duplication of insurance.

It is stated that the commission firm held notes and mortgages given by Mr. Walland together with assignments of his insurance, and that because of these, it demanded all of the fire insurance money and secured possession of the loss drafts. The ticket holders maintain they were the rightful owners of part of the grain destroyed and that they should be paid out of the insurance money, either by the insurance companies direct or Turle & Co.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES ON MEASURES

North Dakota's Legal Advisor's Views on Emergency Clause Controversy.

Fargo, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the opinion of Attorney General H. L. Lind some of North Dakota's new laws will become effective June 5 and the rest July 1. Those to which there was an emergency clause attached, even though it was improperly passed, will be held up only for the ninety days following the legislative adjournment on March 5.

The fact that the emergency clause received a majority vote indicated the intent of the legislature but the failure to give it a two-thirds vote as provided under the new constitutional amendment does not make such measure immune from the application of the referendum. This class of legislation will become effective June 5 and all measures to which no attempt was made to add emergency clauses will become the laws of the state July 1. Attorneys are divided in their opinion though a majority appear to agree with Attorney General Lind.

MARKET IS STILL WEAK

Wheat Sells Off on Heavy Realizing—Strong at the Start.

Flaxseed Breaks Sharply, With Further Liquidation Throughout Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 20.—Wheat trading was on the nervous order today. At the outset the market was strong on the execution of some short covering orders after yesterday's break, and rumored further export inquiry at the seaboard. Quotations advanced about ½c. Later weakness developed as a result of a burst of selling by operators who hesitated to carry their trades over Sunday in view of the possibility of Italy's entrance into the war on the side of the allies. Some evening up of trades carried quotations up above their low marks at the close, but there appeared to be no life in operations.

Locally the cash wheat market was strong, No. 1 northern selling at 4c over May. Durum however, was traded in at the May price. With total supplies of 18,279,000 bu of all grains in the local elevators, some of the houses are beginning to require space, and the loading out of a few cargoes on vessels is being arranged for prior to the opening of navigation. Wheat stocks in the houses now aggregate 11,817,000 bu, an increase of 794,000 bu in the six days. As a result of the good cash premiums being paid, receipts at Duluth are being well maintained, inspections today amounting to 96 cars against 24 last year.

May wheat opened ¼c up at $1.51¾, sold off to $1.50¼, and closed ⅝@¾c off at $1.50½@1.50⅝. July opened unchanged at $1.46½, sold off to $1.45, and closed 1c off at $1.45½ bid. The September future closed 1c up at $1.15½ bid.

The market in durum was easy and trading quiet. May opened unchanged at $1.57½, and closed 1c off at $1.56½. July closed 1c off at $1.53½.

Flaxseed Is Weak.

Marked weakness was shown in flaxseed, due to increased fears of Argentine competition on this market. Trading was excited through the session, and with the exception of a couple of rallies, brought about through some buying by crushers and covering on the low spots, the tendency was generally downward. Closing prices were 3¾c off in the near futures. May flax opened ¾c off at $1.98, sold off to a low of $1.95, and closed 3¾c off at $1.95 bid. July opened ½c off at $2, sold down to $1.95¾, and closed 3¾c off at $1.95¾ asked. September opened unchanged at $1.99¼, sold off to $1.96, and closed 2¾c off at $1.96¾ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¾c off at $1.76½ bid, and July ¾c off at $1.79¼.

Oats closed ⅝c off at 57⅝@58¼c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.15@1.16, and barley unchanged at from 67@68c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c off at 65¾c asked, and July ¾c off at 65¾c bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

John Barrett, a prominent Chicago grain operator, was a visitor at the Duluth board of trade this morning. In discussing the general market situation, he said: "We are just as bullish as you are up here on the market outlook. The foreigners have got to have our stuff and they seem willing to pay for it. I don't think we will have any surplus wheat left to sell by the time they open the Dardanelles and get grain from Russia moving. The cash wheat market is especially strong and the trade feels bullish on oats."

Minneapolis cash market was steady with a good demand for the top grades, but slower for low grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 5½@6c over May and velvet chaff at 3@5c over May. Flour continued dull. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.50½ to $1.53½ and No. 2 northern at from $1.47 to $1.51.

C. E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis: "As a market factor, the war news is played out. It may continue to keep prices at a high level and as news is received from time to time it will cause upward spurts or sharp declines, depending upon the character of the news, but it does not have the great influence upon prices now that it did ninety days ago. Our own domestic condition will be a much more important factor in price-making from this time on."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Late decline in America was offset by firmness in Buenos Aires and a continued good demand for spot. Early winters and Plates were 3d lower, but later Plates advanced and sales were made at yesterday's level. Spot market was unchanged, but undertone firm. Indian offers remain firm, but expect lighter American shipments this week to the United Kingdom and the slow progress at the Dardanelles is affecting sentiment. Argentine shipping is attended with difficulty and the fact is that notwithstanding the fine prospects in India merchants there are offering sparingly.

"Corn was firm at a good demand for spot, while distant offers are large on Argentine prospects. Argentine new crop is 3d lower."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Although Wheat Shows Strength at First, Prices Soon Weaken.

Chicago, March 20.—Although wheat at first showed some strength today, the market soon turned weak. Early upturns were ascribed to the steadiness of quotations at Liverpool and to the fact that rumors of a break between Austria and Italy had not been confirmed. The critical status of the relations of the two countries, however, and the quick renewal of attacks on the defenses of the Dardanelles favored the bears and there was a decided setback from the early bulge. The opening, which ranged from ⅝c to 1⅛c higher, was followed by moderate further gains in some options and then a material reaction all around.

Uneasiness that over Sunday developments might be adverse to the bulls brought about further weakness. The close was steady; though at ⅞ to ⅞c under last night.

Corn swayed with wheat. Unsettled weather helped give the market an upward turn at the start, but the effect failed to last. After opening a shade to ⅛@⅜c higher, prices dropped well below last night's level.

Slowness of cash demand acted as a weight on the market. The close, nevertheless, was steady at ¼ to ⅜c net decline.

Shorts covering lifted oats. The market, however, declined when other grain began to sag.

Provisions eased off under selling for packers. Buying was only of a scattered sort.

GOOD ACTIVITY IN LIST OF COPPERS

Confidence Gains Through Metal Selling Up 15½ Cents a Pound.

Good activity developed in copper stocks at Boston today attributed to the best class of buying. Business was better distributed through the list. Final prices on the whole showed moderate gains. The bullish factor in the market was the establishing of copper metal on a basis of 15½c a pound, and better reports regarding operations coming to hand from the mines.

North Butte was a feature. It sold up 75c at one time and closed 62c up at $25.87. Butte & Superior closed unchanged at $47.50; Alaska Gold a shade off at $33.12; Copper Range 25c up at $36.75, East Butte a fraction up at $9.87; Granby 32c up at $69; Greene-Cananea unchanged at $26.25; Miami 50c off at $23.50; and Shattuck 50c up at $21.

At New York, Amalgamated Copper closed 50c up at $56.75 and Anaconda a shade off at $27.12.

In the Boston curb list, as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Calumet & Corbin sold at 14@16c, Calaveras at $1.25, United Verde Extension at $3.38@3.44, Jumbo Extension at 99c, Cactus at 5c, La Rose at 65c, South Lake at $5.50 and New Baltic at $1.87.

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following closing letter from Boston: "Yesterday and today showed the greatest activity in coppers for many months. The buying is increasing in volume and confidence is gaining. The copper metal market is firmly established at 15½ cents, and earnings can be figured on all the producing mines which make the present prices extremely low. This movement has good leadership, and will go much further. Keep long and buy more on any reaction."

Capt. N. R. Roscorla, superintendent of the Iron Mountain mine on the Cuyuna range, has reported to the officers of the company that the installation of the new machinery was completed and the steam turned into the pumps in the two shafts on the 17th inst. The pumps started off well and the unwatering of the shafts is proceeding very satisfactory. Capt. Roscorla figures on starting to hoist ore this month and everything will then proceed towards getting out a large tonnage to be furnished on contracts.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, March 20.—Dun's Weekly Review says: From every part of the country the reports are of trade improvement, which though slow and conservative, serves to reduce the margin of deficiency in production and demand and to bring the volume of transactions closer to normal. Prospects of an early spring promote retail distribution and stimulate the movement of lumber and other building materials, with promising indications of more general construction work. Activity in ship yards continues. The iron and steel trade fairly maintains its recent rate of gain.

In the textile markets there is a steady improvement, both in wholesale and retail lines, but the busiest mills are those occupied chiefly with foreign orders. The shoe trade is more quiet. Wheat, corn and oats vacillate in price and activity with the changes in crop prospects and export demand. Winter wheat conditions give promise of another heavy yield. There is increasing strength in the financial position of the country and exports continue heavy.

Business conditions in this country are remarkably good, considering the fact that the whole world is in a turmoil, and the war in Europe is increasing in violence. That domestic trade has been reduced by such an unprecedented situation is not to be wondered at. The fact that the distribution of merchandise aggregates less than in recent years is by no means as significant as the fact that slow improvement is taking place and that the confidence of business men is but little disturbed.

Bank clearings for the week aggregate $2,682,726,731, a loss of 5.5 per cent from the same week last year and 6.3 per cent from the corresponding week in 1913.

Business failures for the week number 537 against 532 last week with 347 in the like week last year.

WOULD DEVELOP TENNIS PLAYERS

Boat Club Committee Discusses Plans for Coming Court Season.

At a meeting of a temporary tennis committee of the Duluth Boat club, held yesterday, tentative plans and suggestions for the coming season were made and which will be taken up at a smoker of the members of the tennis department, which will be set for the near future.

It is the aim of the members of the committee, Messrs. Washburn, Thompson, Kinkaed and Kennedy to place the tennis department of the boat club under a thorough organization. It is stated that no real efforts have been made in the past to affect such an organization and that no well planned attempts have been made to develop real players.

If the plans suggested by the committe at its meeting are carried into effect, rules governing the use of the courts will be adopted, a thorough reorganization of the department will be made, and an endeavor will also be made to make the approaching season the most successful in the history of the club.

Players will be classed, if the suggestions are carried out, and definite plans acted upon for competition among the boat club players will be formed.

CLOQUET INTERESTED.

Cloquet, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much interest is shown in the indoor baseball league at the Y. M. C. A. The league is composed of four teams whose members are for the most part business men and the games are played two days a week at the noon hour, thus giving everyone a chance to play. The rivalry has been intense and the race for first place fast and exciting. The games will soon be over and as soon as the weather permits outdoor ball will take its place.

GAINS MADE BY STOCKS

Session Largely Dominated By Further Rise in Bethlehem Steel.

Strong Undertone Is Manifested By Balance of the List.

New York, March 20.—The week-end session was largely dominated by a further rise in Bethlehem Steel shares to 68, a gain of 4½ points and a maximum advance of 9½ from its low quotation of the previous day. On the surface the sensational advance in the stock, which was made mainly on small individual transactions, suggested a drive against the short interest. Rumor, however, attributed the high record for this stock to more potent influences. The balance of the list manifested a strong undertone, being unaffected by the latest news from Europe. Motor shares and some of the department store specialties figured to an unusual degree in the day's gains.

Standard stocks also were fairly active at general gains over yesterday's close. United States Steel came out in large individual transactions at a steady advance. Bonds were steady, except New York Central 6s, which repeated their low price on free trading.

GREATEST COTTON CROP EVER GROWN.

Washington, March 20.—The greatest cotton crop ever produced in the United States was grown in 1914.

Census bureau statistics issued today, giving final ginning figures, officially place the 1914 crop as a record with 16,102,143 bales of 500 pounds each. That is 409,442 equivalent 500-pound bales, or 204,721,000 pounds more than produced in the great crop of 1911.

R. P. STEGLER GIVEN SIXTY DAYS IN JAIL

New York, March 20.—Richard Madden and Gustave Cook, who were found guilty yesterday of conspiracy against the United States in aiding Richard P. Stegler, a German naval reservist, to obtain a false passport, were sentenced to ten months each in the New York county penitentiary. Stegler was arraigned and pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to sixty days' imprisonment.

SERIOUS CHARGES IN DIVORCE SUIT

Harry Schapery, 30, baker, must face charges of cruelty and adultery if he defends a divorce action which Fannie Schapery, 23, his wife, instituted against him in district court this morning. Mrs. Schapery asks for a divorce, alimony and the custody and care of their two children, Aaron, 4, and Jeanette, 2.

On Feb. 24 last, she claims, Schapery pawned a diamond belonging to her and secured $25 on the stone. When she asked him for $3 with which to purchase a coat for their son Aaron, he refused her and called her vile names, she claims. On Dec. 15, 1914, she alleges, he knocked her down with his fists.

The wife also urges a charge of adultery as a ground for divorce. She alleges that he has been living with a woman named Kate Hagen at various times since April 15, 1913, and that he has also had wrong relations with other women.

PLANS MUCH EARLY PAVING

Commissioner Murchison Announces Street Improvements Will Begin Soon.

Highland street, from Fifty-ninth to Sixty-sixth avenue west, will be the first highway improved by the division of public works this year.

Commissioner Murchison said this morning that bids are now being received on the work of improving the street and that in all probability work will begin about May 1. It will be the first job of a rather extensive improvement program outlined for 1915, he said.

It is planned to grade and gravel Highland street on both sides of the approaches to the site of the D. M. & N. tunnel, that the railroad is going to build this spring. The city is also advertising for bids on the construction of the approaches, although the company will pay for the work. The approaches, it is estimated, will cost about $14,000 and the tunnel, $30,000.

Following the award of the Highland street contract, Commissioner Murchison plans to start work on the Woodland avenue pavement, from Fourth street to Kent road. This thoroughfare will be paved with a one-course concrete and will cost about $26,000.

In addition the head of the public works division expects to pave Minnesota avenue, from Twelfth to Thirty-second street; First street, from Twentieth to Thirtieth avenues west; Ninth street, from Seventh to Fourteenth avenues east; Oneota street, from the docks to Forty-sixth avenue west, and the New Duluth road, from its present terminus to the west line of Gary.

Many smaller improvements are also contemplated, but these are the more important, Commissioner Murchison declares.

JURORS WILL VISIT LAND

Accompanied by John W. McDonald, a deputy sheriff, the jury engaged at the trial of one of the appeal cases from the award of appraisers in condemnation proceedings instituted by the city to acquire a right-of-way for the proposed north shore boulevard, will visit the property in question Monday morning. Members of the jury will take the early morning train of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad to Palmers, where they will look over the tract in question. The appeal which the jury is trying is one in which August F. Kehl and others are prosecuting. Two 40-acre tracts near Palmers will be affected by the proposed highway.

GAS COMPANY WINS IN BRAINERD CASE.

Brainerd, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Light & Power Gas company, to which had been granted a franchise to construct and operate a gas plant here and which was checked from operating by the actions of Mayor R. A. Henning, appealed to the state supreme court to decide points of law involved in the contention of the mayor that his veto was within the time limit, and the opinion written by Chief Justice Brown sustains the gas company on every point and holds Mayor Henning in error.

The supreme court held that the mayor's veto was not within the time limit and that the gas franchise became a valid enactment. M. E. Ryan was attorney for the light and power company, in which A. G. Whitney of St. Cloud is the chief stockholder. Mr. Whitney gave Mr. Ryan instructions to not tax any costs either in the district or supreme court against the city.

WOULD ADVERTISE ON REFUSE CANS.

Paper receptacles for street corners and parks will be furnished the city and emptied free of charge, if the commission will allow advertisements to be placed on these boxes.

Yesterday afternoon Commissioner Murchison received a communication from the Spindler Card & Window service, in which the company agrees to furnish galvanized iron receptacles, if the council will permit advertisements to be painted on the boxes. The commissioner plans to take the matter up with the other commissioners at the meeting of the council next Monday.

DESERTS HIS WIFE, IS WOMAN'S CLAIM

Milnor, N. D., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. J. H. Ryan was deserted by her husband and she claims he took $200 of her money Three months ago she married Ryan. She was a widow with three children.

They decided to remove from Columbus, N. D., to Milnor. They came down the Soo to Wyndmere and changed to the Northern Pacific for this point. When they got aboard the Northern Pacific, Ryan remarked that he would go into the smoker. On the arrival of the train here he was not among the passengers.

INCREASE OF PRODUCTION BY THE ANACONDA COMPANY

Now Operating About 75 Per Cent of Normal Capacity.

Court Refuses to Extend Injunction Against the Pilot-Butte.

Butte, Mont., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The improvement in the copper situation is evident in the gradual increase of production by the Anaconda Copper Mining company, which has resumed operation at the Buffalo and Pennsylvania mines, the former employing 250 men and the latter 500. Both mines had been closed since last August. The forces at other mines have also been increased slightly and an additional shift added to the week. The Anaconda company now operates at about 75 per cent of normal and is working the St. Lawrence, Anaconda, Steward, West Gray Rock, East Gray Rock, Poulin, Pennsylvania, Original and Gagnon, Badger State, Moose, West Colusa, East Colusa, Leonard, Tramway, J. I. C., Berkeley and Silver Bow. Those still idle are the Neversweat, Mountain Con, Diamond, Belmont, High Ore, Moonlight and Mountain View. With the resumption of mining in the Poulin and Pennsylvania about 850 tons of ore per day is added to the output. The company is now working fifteen shafts. This addition to the working properties is in accord with the general plan of the company to begin operations gradually in the mines that are closed down and as fast as the copper situation warrants. All the mines in operation are still running on the six days a week plan and will continue on that schedule under present orders.

Pilot-Butte.

A petition of the Anaconda company to extend the injunction against the Pilot-Butte company to prevent the latter company from working in some new ground has been refused by the court. The latter suggested that if the Pilot-Butte was working in ground or on ore bodies belonging to the Anaconda company, or claimed by the latter in its suit, the Pilot-Butte might be reached through contempt proceedings, but a new order of injunction would be refused. The Anaconda company claims that the biggest vein in the Pilot-Butte belongs to the Anaconda company and is a vein having its apex in the Emily mining claim. A preliminary hearing on the injunction was had some time ago, but has not yet been decided.

The Pilot-Butte has opened two other large veins, bearing copper and zinc, and has made a number of shipments. It is in position to mine a large quantity of high grade zinc ore, but has not been able to get any mill to handle it. The management thought it had made arrangements with the Timber Butte Milling company, the new Clark concern, but the latter decided that the capacity of its plant could be supplied by the Clark mines. The Pilot-Butte is now negotiating with the owners of the old Heinze mill at Basin to handle the zinc output of the Pilot mine. The Pilot shaft is now down to a depth of 2,400 feet and a great deal of development work has been done on the different levels down to that point since the institution of the injunction suit by the Anaconda company. Raises have been made on the disputed vein and the letter has been opened by crosscuts on different levels from the Pilot shaft. "Since the time of the hearing," says Supt. Gow, in his annual report, referring to the injunction, "development work has been carried on as was outlined, and the facts established by this work are as anticipated by the Pilot engineers." The Pilot-Butte is now developing four separate veins in the Pilot ground, known as the Middle vein, Bornite vein, Gow vein and Glance vein, these being in addition to the South Pilot vein which is involved in the Anaconda litigation.

Boston & Montana.

The war in Europe has seriously interfered with the operations of the Boston & Montana Development company, which is developing a number of mines in the Elkhorn and French Gulch districts and planned to build railroad from Butte to the mines and through the famed Big Hole basin of Southern Montana. The company is owned by Butte and London interests and a contract has been entered into with the contracting firm of McArthur, Perks & Co. of London and New York and an arrangement had been made to place the bonds ($3,000,000) through the London City and Midland bank of London, but the war coming on the issue was deferred until the middle of January, by which time a ruling of the treasury department was made which seems to prohibit new issues in England, inasmuch as the contracts were signed and entered into prior to the war, the company officers have hopes to have the treasury department order modified so that the bonds may be placed. Officers of the company say that if the English treasury department does not amend its order to permit the sale of bonds in England, that they will be placed in America. The bonds bear 6 per cent and are secured by all the property of the company.

It is expected that construction work on the railroad can begin this spring. In the meanwhile the company will direct its energies toward driving the large tunnel on the Elkhorn properties and crosscutting the veins. This will take several months, and, when accomplished, the engineers claim, millions of tons of ore should be opened up. Walter Harvey Weed, former chief geologist of the government, made a very favorable report on the Elkhorn mines. The Elkhorn tunnel is to be the main tramway for the mines of that district. It is in about 1,500 feet and is 7 by 9 feet in the clear, double track, the bore into the mountain being 9 by 11 feet. Machinery for a power plant has been ordered and will be in operation, it is claimed, by May 1. The power plant will be sufficient to carry the tunnel in 3,000 feet. A sawmill has also been installed and lumber camps and boardhouse constructed. A good wagon road has been built from the mines down the Wise river, going over the route surveyed for a branch of the proposed railroad, saving about forty miles from the old road into the camp.

East Butte.

The East Butte company will resume operations in the mine and smelter about the middle of April. The concentrator has been remodeled and the smelter rebuilt. The property has been closed since early last fall. There have been persistent rumors that the East Butte will be absorbed by the North Butte company, but there has been no official confirmation of such a likelihood.

Will Manufacture Brick.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company, among its many new industries which will utilize the waste products of the smelter, will soon begin the manufacture of a very superior brick, to be made from the tailings of the flotation plant at the Washoe smelter. The company expects to turn out 50,000 bricks per day. Samples of the brick have a clear ring with exceedingly fine grain, with much the appearance of gray pressed brick, well suited for building face brick. They have been tested to 15,000 pounds per square inch, and in other respects found superior to the ordinary pressed brick. Owing to its composition, it can be used as fire brick, the tailings from which it is made being high in silica and alumina. The brick will be made from a material much of which is ground to 200 mesh. From 2,000 to 2,500 tons of this material will be discharged daily, but only about one-fourth of these tailings will be required by the brick making machinery now ordered, so that it will be possible to supply any demand that may arise.

Keating.

The Keating Gold Mining company has appropriated, according to reports from Duluth, $150,000 for the building of the proposed narrow gauge railroad from the Keating mine to a connection with the Northern Pacific at Toston, Mont., a distance of twelve miles.

RAILROAD TO THE BIG AJO PROPERTY

Calumet & Arizona Holds 80 Per Cent of New Cornelia Stock.

Bisbee, Ariz., March 20.—With the definite announcement, on the part of T. M. Schumacher, chairman of the board of directors of Rock Island, that a company would be organized to construct a line from Ajo to Gila Bend, new interest is awakened in New Cornelia.

Another feature of the railway man's announcement in Bisbee is the fact that the Phelps-Dodge company will be interested in the new railroad. With Calumet & Arizona, the Phelps-Dodge company's association in the project makes for an added guarantee in the matter that the New Cornelia has a life of promise before it.

At the present time the Calumet & Arizona company has about 80 per cent of the capital stock of the New Cornelia company. A considerable portion of the balance is being held by interests who have accumulated the stock for an investment.

The Calumet & Arizona has had, and now maintains, an efficient corps of engineers on the property in the Ajo. Prospecting is being continued in the surrounding country even to the Mexican border on the south, a matter of thirty miles.

The present tonnage of ore developed on the New Cornelia is by no means the limit of possibilities of this property. Approximately 25 per cent of the drill holes were stopped in ore, and during the year 1914, several additional claims were acquired. Up to the present time, New Cornelia has developed a tonnage of 10,258,000 on approximately fifty-five acres of its ground.

Experiments with the sulphuric acid leaching process using electrolytic precipitation has resulted in the extraction of better than 80 per cent. This was secured from an experimental tenton plant, and if the same results can be secured with a plant handling the tonnage being considered, it will be little short of phenomenal, and compares with an extraction of 67 per cent for Ray, 68 per cent for Chino, and 71 per cent for Miami. Besides, the product of the companies mentioned is in the form of blister copper and it must be refined before it is in merchantable form, whereas the product of sulphuric acid leaching process is electrolytic copper.

It is conservatively estimated that the cost per pound of producing copper by the New Cornelia will not be over 8 cents per pound, and some are of the opinion that the cost will be much lower.

It has been estimated that approximately 80 per cent of the present developed ore can be removed by steam shoveling. The absence of any overburden precludes the possibility of lowering grades by the admixture of barren material and also allows for a low cost of production. In other words, the stripping expense will be a negligible quantity as compared with some of the other porphyries.

AT THE CHIEF CONSOLIDATED

Extensive Stoping Operations Proceeding on Gold-Lead Ore Body.

Eureka, Utah, March 20.—While the company is using a force much smaller than normal and sending out a tonnage that does not compare with the heavy shipments of last year, the Chief Consolidated mine is earning considerable money during these quiet times.

Some very important developments have been made in the underground workings of the mine during the past month or six weeks, chief among which has been the discovery of a large body of gold-lead ore on the 600-foot level.

This ore was first located in one of the drifts, but the bulk of the new deposit was not found until a raise was sent up from this point and now rather extensive stoping operations are under way.

Down on the 1,800-foot level the drift is just getting into the ore deposit, which was followed almost to this depth by means of a winze. It will be some time before a commercial product will come from this part of the property.

The block of Chief Consolidated ground leased to the May Day people and in which work has just been taken up is expected to produce some very good zinc ore, according to information which has just been given out.

During the week officials of the two companies made an inspection of this piece of ground and the examination disclosed some good zinc ore, which will be put on the market at once.

This ore comes as a sort of casing to the high-grade lead-silver ore that was followed over into the Chief Consolidated claim from the May Day.

BUTTE-ALEX SCOTT ABOUT TO RESUME

Force at Work Getting the Shaft in Readiness to Start.

Butte, Mont., March 20.—It is announced that the Butte-Alex Scott will resume operations just as soon as the East Butte is in shape to handle the Scott ores.

This means, in effect, that at least two more mining properties will resume work by April, not including those that the Anaconda company probably will start up again.

At the Butte-Alex Scott a force of men is at work; they are now renewing the guides and repairing the shaft, getting everything in readiness for reopening. The shaft is down 2,100 feet now and will be sunk 100 feet further —the same depth as the West Colusa, which adjoins.

The East Butte company treats the Alex-Scott ore and the two properties, in all likelihood, will start up about the same time.

SHIPMENTS ARE HEAVY

Calumet & Hecla's Smelters Are Forwarding Big Amounts of Copper.

Good Sales By Quincy, Copper Range and Other Companies.

Houghton, Mich., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Calumet & Hecla is forwarding from its two smelters at Lake Linden and Dollar Bay about ten to twelve cars, that is from 500,000 to 600,000 pounds, of copper every day, and on March 16 the number was seventeen cars, or 850,000 pounds. As there were four cars from the smelters of other companies the total shipment of the metal for the day was 1,050,000 pounds. It is said that the rate first given above will be kept up for two months at least, and that there will then be hardly any copper left at the Calumet & Hecla's smelters. This is very unusual for this time of year, as ordinarily the metal is held back to get the low freight rates by the boats. The Quincy, which never has any large quantity on the dock, has on hand about its normal for this time of year. This company sells in times of peace even a smaller proportion of its copper abroad than the Calumet & Hecla, and both companies have, on account of the long time they have been in business, customers to whom they have been selling the metal for fifty years. The Copper Range, which usually disposes of a large part of its production abroad, is making very good sales and is almost up to its normal. The other companies are up to the normal or better.

Osceola.

Osceola's $2 dividend greatly pleased the stockholders here, of which there are a very large number representing all parts of the district, as it was considered that the surplus and the earnings warranted it. The writer believes to take a perfectly safe stand the resources of the South Kearsarge were, to some degree, underestimated in the annual report. The conservative and safe attitude is characteristic of our producing companies, who never knowingly do or say anything which can influence the stock market. From what has been gathered concerning the mineralization of the Kearsarge lode at the Wolverine and Centennial, on the south, the Allouez, on the north, and at the bottom of No. 1 North Kearsarge, it would seem that the last-named mine has the better part of its life before it and that its grade will be increased considerably in the not distant future.

Centennial.

Centennial is sending to the Tamarack No. 2 or little Tamarack at Hubbell about 590 tons daily and it is understood that it is getting a yield of twenty-one pounds of copper a ton, about the same as in 1913. All the levels north of the No. 2 shaft from the twenty-seventh, which has been holed through to the South Kearsarge, with the exception of the thirtieth to the thirty-seventh or bottom level, inclusive, are being extended out under the South Kearsarge and Wolverine and the ground is everywhere keeping up to the high average disclosed when this tract of from four to five "forties" was acquired under the South Kearsarge about 400 to 500 feet in from the shaft, and which there is every reason to believe completely covers this northwestern tract to the very corner. Several of these drifts have a length of several hundred feet and it would seem that the management is carrying the drifts to the Wolverine and North Kearsarge boundaries both for the purpose of finding able to stope back and let the ground cave when it desires a tonnage and to prove up the contents. In the near future No. 2 shaft will be sunk so as to open up more levels. In about five years and perhaps in less time No. 1 South Kearsarge will assist in hoisting the rock, especially that on the northwestern side, thereby effecting a great saving in tramming.

Victoria.

Victoria's directors have decided to carry out what they have had in contemplation for some time, the plan of Superintendent Hooper to add another skipway at the No. 2 shaft, the only shaft that is being operated at the present time, about sixteen feet east of the skipway now in use, consequently leaving a solid support of the hanging-wall or ground above between the two skipways. This skipway is really a shaft, but the two skips will work in balance, and either the hoisting engine now in use enlarged and equipped with a new drum or a new one will be obtained. This is a much needed improvement, as with only one skipway it is impossible to satisfactorily hoist anything like a fair tonnage and be engaged in sinking at the same time. Moreover the hoisting engine, which had come from the Arnold, is in need of repair. Superintendent Hooper is now planning the details of this new work, which will take quite a long time, probably the remainder of the year, as there is 2,600 feet of holing to be done, but most of the work between the levels will be carried on by raises. On the twenty-sixth level very good disclosures of copper are being made in both drifts, which are averaging a little more than twelve feet in width. A drift was made on the eastern side and carried some distance without results, then another was started which immediately encountered the mineralization and has advanced in it twenty-five feet. The western drift has been in good ground all the way from the original crosscut out from the shaft and has covered the distance of 100 feet. On account of the low water in the Ontonagon river the mine is only producing about 40 per cent of its normal, or about forty-five tons for the month. In about two weeks there should be an abundant supply of water.

Mohawk.

Mohawk is still running to the capacity of the mill, averaging about 2,660 tons daily, and there is no reason why this rate cannot be kept up indefinitely. No. 3 shaft has been put out of commission permanently and its mineralized rock will be mined from Nos. 2 and 4. The yield is running better than twenty-three pounds to the ton and No. 5 is now sending up some very rich rock which is better than that from No. 6, the banner shaft for some time, although absolutely no stoping is being done there and only the rock from the extension of the drifts and from the sinking is being taken out. The purpose is at this shaft to extend the drifts so as to stope back leaving the ground above cave in, and this work of opening is proceeding quite fast, about 1,000 feet having been cut out by the drifts already. From the producing side this should be an extremely good year for the mine. The yield through a well worked out system of underground selection and through the natural increase in richness with depth and the taking of more rock from the southern part towards the rich part of the Ahmeek, is very high, the production is to the capacity, and costs through able management quite low, and the probability of hardly any construction expense except that of a new rockhouse perhaps for No. 5 which will not be great.

South Lake.

South Lake has come upon better copper in cutting out the turns or openings to accommodate the curves of the tracks into drifts in the third and fourth lodes than was met with in the crosscut. Lighter drills will be probably employed and it will be possible to put four to work. The work will be pushed on these drifts as fast as possible. Paradoxical as it may seem, the genuine South Lake enthusiasts of whom we have quite a large and increasing number here were better pleased when they learned that the fifth mineralized lode was a baseless rumor than they were when they learned of its discovery, because since the trap was passed through steadily for a week without finding any other mineralization, there has been established an almost complete correspondence with the cores of the six diamond drill cores in all of the essential points, number, width, general characteristics, and lastly—the most gratifying of all—the mineral contents. It would certainly seem to be conclusively proved, as there has been found to be four highly mineralized lodes extending from the Lake or northeast boundary, as far as has been opened in seven different places, and as there is every reason to believe that they further extend to the Adventure or southwestern boundary, as they have a dip or inclination as steep as 70 degs. thus possessing great depth, and as they underlie the superficial area of about one-quarter of a section, 160 acres, that there is here a mineralization which should not only prove to be very profitable, but also one of the most remarkable in the earth's crust.

Mass.

Mass is drilling a hole with a diamond drill into the old workings on the Evergreen lode adjacent to "C" shaft so as to drain off the water and be able to take out the good rock surrounding. According to an old map of 1866 there is a distance on the level where the work is being done, the 6th, of 125 to be crossed to reach these old openings and about 90 feet has been covered already. It is probable that in a short time sinking will be resumed at shafts "B" and "C." The mine made some money in January, more in February, and will do still better in March. For the week ending March 9 the average shipment to the mill was over 1,000 tons daily.

Porcupine.

The Porcupine Mountains explorations on the St. L. Smith lands ten miles west of the White Pine showed the three White Pine beds carrying high values, although not as high as at the White Pine, in a diamond drill hole driven at right angles to the formations so as to cut these three mineralized beds at the vertical depth of about 600 feet in the same line across them as the crosscut which opened them up about 300 feet higher up on the lode about three weks ago with the same values in the disclosures. It is fair to assume that, as no length has been tested on the beds and as it is known that at the White Pine some stretches are lean and some are rich, richer stretches will be found here. The three beds, the first seven feet of sandstone, the second five feet of shade or hardened mud, and the last ten feet of sandstone, lie near the bottom of the formations, which have a width on the surface of about 600 feet. This whole series of formations is called the Nonesuch shales and is just above the Outer conglomerate, which has a thickness of 3,000 feet here and just under the Freda sandstone, the uppermost member of the Keweenawan series which forms on the shores of Lake Superior. A third hole is being drilled on the surface, 500 feet east of the shaft and trenching will be done at intervals for 500 feet west so that soon the nature and contents of the beds will be known for 1,000 feet. It is the present intention, although the future exploration will be guided by results of the holes, to drill about two holes of very thousand feet two and one-half miles to the west and five and one-half to the east so as to give two or three series with different depths. Another diamond drill will soon be taken in. The underground work of drifting and crosscutting is being continued with the same force. Angus Smith of Detroit, son of S. L. Smith one of the owners and holders of the options, is here inspecting the work.

Allouez.

Allouez has been increasing its yield in the last few months. The yield for 1913 was 17.28 pounds a ton. Kearsarge about 400 to 500 feet in The entire force here now comprises 319 men and of these 250 are employed underground.

GREENE-CANANEA MAY START SOON

Delay of Miami Smelter May Force an Early Resumption.

Developments point to an early resumption of operations by Greene-Cananea.

A very significant announcement in this connection was made at Douglas, Ariz., last week, by C. H. Redpath, the senior member of the firm of Redpath & McGregor, who are constructing the new smelter at Miami, Ariz., for the International Smelting (Anaconda) company. Mr. Redpath said that the smelter would "probably" be completed by "June, or possibly before."

This plant has an important bearing on Greene-Cananea.

The smelting contracts for the two big Miami producers, Inspiration and Miami Copper, are held by the Ryan-Cole group, who also control Greene-Cananea. If the Miami smelter cannot be blown in for three months, it will be imperative to blow in the Greene-Cananea furnaces. Otherwise, Miami concentrates, and Inspiration's, too, when Inspiration begins milling next month, will have to be shipped to the rival American Smelting and Refining (Guggenheim) smelter at El Paso, Texas. This would entail considerable financial loss upon the Ryan-Cole interests, and on this account, it is to their interests to blow in the Cananea furnaces as soon as possible.

Just now each day's idleness of the Cananea plant is doubly a loss—not only through the loss of profits which might have been earned by Greene-Cananea's operations, but also through the loss entailed on the smelting contract for Miami concentrates, which must now be turned over to the Guggenheims.

A force of between 300 and 375 men have been at work continuously since before December at Cananea. The property is ready for resumption of operation at a moment's notice. The workings are in complete order, and for lack of anything better to do the force of men is now employed on some important development work.

MINE TO BE UNWATERED

Pumps Will Soon Be Working at the Iron Mountain.

Great Northern Exploration Company Gets Ore in Two Holes.

Brainerd, Minn., March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Iron Mountain mine near Manganese the new boiler house has been completed and fire started under the new boiler, and the pumps will be working soon in the shaft to clear it from water. A carload of machinery for the mine was brought in over the Soo road and will be installed for use. The new shaft house will be erected and work will soon be under way sinking the shaft to the first level.

Drilling on the Duluth Land & Timber company's land west of Manganese is progressing satisfactorily. The drill is now in its second hole. The drilling on Hunter's land in section 27, township 47, range 29 has been discontinued, but it is said work will be started up again in a few weeks.

Lease Surrendered.

The Cuyuna Realty company has surrendered to the O'Brien Mercantile company, R. J. Hartley, James M. Elder, Clarence E. Lum and Leon E. Lum, a south range lease covered by document No. 2298 Torrens. Minnie Beise and husband have leased to the Cuyuna Realty company the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 21, township 45, range 30.

The Wilcox mine of the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company has shipped to date twenty cars of ore to the Superior ore docks. This is the first mine on the range to mine and ship ore this season. Sixty tons daily are being hoisted at the present time. In the cross-cutting being carried on, a distance of seventy-five feet east and west has been attained.

Has Struck Ore.

The Great Northern Exploration company has struck ore in two holes, the first drill stopping at 285 feet, and in ore, and the second having just penetrated sixty-three feet of surface and entering the ore. The Croft mine at Crosby is engaged in sinking operations. The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and Cuyuna-Duluth mines of the American Manganese Manufacturing company, it is expected, will be started up as soon as navigation open. The Duluth-Brainerd Iron company is negotiating to lease its property.

Of the pit mines, the Armour No. 1 mine has two steam shovels at work. The Thompson mine has one shovel at work. The Hill Crest pit is preparing for development work. The Rowe pit is building a concentrator.

EXTRA DIVIDEND MAY BE AFFECTED

Larger Working Capital Required By the Butte & Superior.

Butte, Mont., March 20.—The new smelting arrangement with the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting company will presumably require a larger working capital by Butte & Superior than is necessary under the American Metal company contract.

Under the American Metal company contract the Butte & Superior receives, or is supposed to receive, its cash returns from the smelting company based on the price of spelter when the concentrates arrive at Bartlesville, Okla. If there is any disagreement as to assays, the settlement is held up until an umpire renderes his decision, which both parties accept.

But the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting company, in agreeing to treat 4,500 tons of concentrates a month, is not called upon to act as banker, and in consequence Butte & Superior must "carry" the concentrates or the zinc equivalent until the selling agent makes settlement unless, as is done in the case of copper, the agent makes a loan in the shape of "advances" against the metal.

In any event, while the new arrangement affects only a third of Butte & Superior's product, it tends in the direction of somewhat larger cash requirements and in turn this may have some bearing on the size of the "extra" dividend to be declared three months hence.

The American Zinc company will have its Caney and Deering smelters in shape to receive 1,500 tons of Butte concentrates this month, if the Butte & Superior delivers this amount. In April these plants will be in readiness to receive 3,000 tons and by May 1 the full 4,500 tons.

There will be no necessity therefore of any curtailment in the output of the Butte & Superior company so long as the smelters now treating 2,800 tons to treat the concentrates take the 13,000-ton monthly output which the mine is now making.

FEBRUARY RETURNS ON NORTH MOCCASIN

They Make Better Showing Than the Earlier Estimates.

Butte, Mont., March 20.—The final returns from the Denver mint on the output of the North Moccasin mine for the month of February have been received by the Barnes-King Development company. They made a better showing than the estimates given out earlier in the month. At that time it was figured that the bullion returns would be under $41,000.

The actual value of the bullion was $41,706.14. This was secured from 4,287 tons of ore, giving a yield of $9.73 per ton, or close to the highest average per ton that the mine has realized in the past two years. In January the output was 4,809 tons, from which $44,833.62 was realized, or an average of $9.32 per ton.

Figuring the cost of mining and milling at $4.50 per ton would give a profit on the February operations of $5.23 per ton, or a total profit on 4,287 tons of $22,420.

The January returns at the same cost for mining and milling would mean a profit of $4.82 per ton, or $23,179, or only $759 more in profits for January than in February.

MORE ACTIVITY SHOWING IN LOCAL BUILDING TRADE

Plans for Lincoln High School to Go Out for Figures.

Record Expected to Be Set in Building High-Class Homes.

Taking the list of permits for it, the usual spring improvements and general repair work assumed large proportions in the building trade during the present week. Permits taken out were thirty-one in number, and they involved work estimated to cost $20,169.

Architects and contractors have been occupied mainly with residence proposals during the last few weeks, and judging by plans of that nature in hand, home building during the present season promises to set new high figures in the aggregate amount of the operations carried through. In addition to work of that class that has been recently announced, architects have on their tables plans for a number of modern homes to be built in the newer residential districts in the Eastern sections of the city.

Big Jobs Coming Out.

From the present data at hand, a high record will also be set during the present year in the erection of schools and large commercial buildings both locally and through the district towns.

In that connection the trade were interested in the announcement that the plans for the Lincoln junior high school will go out for figures on March 29 from the office of F. G. German, architect. The plans, as approved by the school board at its last meeting, provide for a structure estimated to cost $100,000.

* * *

Proposals for the erection of a large family hotel in a central location, as intimated a few weeks ago, are said to be making progress, and it is expected that a definite announcement regarding it will be made shortly.

* * *

Shurick & Solheim, architects, are taking figures on a frame and stucco home, to be built at Fifty-eighth avenue east and Superior street, to cost approximately $1,600.

* * *

Jacob Jacobson is building a brick store and dwelling on Third street between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth avenues west at an estimated cost of $6,000.

* * *

Two frame houses are being built for P. George Hanson on Fourth street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues west, to cost $4,000.

* * *

Revised bids for the proposed parochial school at Virginia are due at the office of Holstead & Sullivan, architects, by next Monday. It is expected that the contract will be awarded at once.

* * *

Berquist Brothers, the general contractors, have started work on the superstructure on the Dickerman Investment company's building on First avenue west. According to the plans of the premises prepared by Holstead & Sullivan, the building will have a handsome front, and will be a substantial improvement to the appearance of that corner.

* * *

Arthur Hanford, architect, has plans in preparation for a brick and stucco home for J. L. Streng on Woodland avenue near Victoria street. It will cost about $5,000. That architect is also preparing plans for a home for S. Everson at Fifty-eighth avenue east and Dodge street, to cost $3,000.

* * *

The general contract for a stucco house for B. J. Cook on Woodland avenue, has been let to Peter Olson. Bids on the heating and plumbing will be taken next week by the architect, E. C. Gilluson. Its cost is estimated at $7,500.

* * *

Bids upon the John Wahl Candy company's proposed new factory on West Michigan street were opened yesterday at the office of the architect, J. J. Wangenstein. It is expected that the contract will be let early next week, and it is understood it will be pushed through so that the premises may be ready for occupation during the summer.

* * *

Frederick W. Perkins, architect, will receive bids up to March 29 upon the proposed new home for W. C. Agnew at Congdon park. The plans went out for figures last Saturday, and keen competition for the job is expected between the leading city contractors.

* * *

Members of the local building trade have the joke on James A. Smith of McLeod & Smith, contractors, and they are awaiting his return to the city to twit him upon it. Intimation has been received through train men that while en route for a vacation trip to West Baden Springs, Ind., last Wednesday, Mr. Smith stepped off his car at a station to stretch his limbs, and while his attention was occupied in conversation with some person on the platform, his train pulled off, leaving him standing there. He proceeded upon his journey on a later train, but was compelled to purchase another ticket, the original one and all his belongings being upon the car that he had left.

* * *

O. J. Williams of Kelly & Williams was successful this week in obtaining a patent upon a protractor attachment to a T square. With it any angle required may be obtained without having to pick up an additional instrument.

INTEREST IN REAL ESTATE GROWS AS SPRING ADVANCES

Many Sales of Lots to Those Planning to Build.

Negotiations for Central Business Property Are Under Way.

As the list of real estate transfers shows, interest in well located realties is steadily increasing as the spring season advances.

A reassuring feature in the business being put through comes in sales of lots in sections of the city convenient to street car service to residents who contemplate building in the near future. That, taken in conjunction with the fact that the rental situation is good, and that there are comparatively few vacancies, taking the whole city over, is regarded as indisputable evidence that Duluth's population is growing. Rental agents aver that no difficulty is being experienced in finding tenants for modern houses and flats, and recognizing that condition, owners are showing an increasing disposition to bring their properties up to date. It is said that tenants have in many cases already arranged for renewals of their leases, and waiting lists for modern houses and flats are reported by some of the offices.

Central Property Deals On.

Opening of negotiations for the sale of a central business property was reported by an operator today, and it is expected that a definite conclusion will be reached in it by the end of the month.

Progress is advised in another deal involving a large consideration.

* * *

A broadening inquiry for building lots in the outlying districts was reported by the N. J. Upham company. Three lots were disposed of on McDonald street, Oneota, and three building lots were sold at Waverly Park. Two houses are now under erection in Waverly Park, and it is expected that contracts for two more will be let early next month.

* * *

Charles P. Craig & Co. commented upon the development of interest in properties in Kenwood Park district during the last few days. That is attributed to the impression having gotten out that an extension of the street railway up in that section is under contemplation. The office yesterday sold three lots in Kenwood to Harry L. Dennler.

Inquiry for Lakeside properties was also said to be broadening. A lot for immediate improvement in the building of a home was sold on Dodge street, between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth avenues east, during the week.

* * *

An interesting feature in realty circles during the week was the sale of the old Sargent homestead on London road and Forty-fifth avenue east by Mrs. D. M. Philbin to W. A. McKay, proprietor of the McKay hotel. The consideration is understood to have been $15,000. The transaction was negotiated through the office of W. C. Sargent.

This home was regarded as one of the handsomest in Duluth in its day, and as a result of the introduction of improvements from time to time, it is now fully up to date.

* * *

The Benjamin F. Schweiger company reported the sale of lots 3, 4 and 5, block 17, West Park division, to John Nygard and John Hendrickson, at a consideration of $1,300. This property is on Restormel street, above Third street.

That office also sold lot 3, block 3, Glenwood Park, to Alexander J. Mergener, at a consideration of $450. This property will be improved shortly.

* * *

The A. A. Fider company sold for Elizabeth Bain to S. Sander house No. 1127 East Fifth street at a consideration of $1,775. The purchaser proposes to remodel the house and converting it into two flats.

* * *

The receipt of earnest money on the sale of a house in the East end was advised by the Hoopes-Kohagen company. Two lots were also sold in the Park Drive division for improvement in the building of homes.

* * *

The Field-Frey company sold for Samuel D. Flagg to local investors a double house at Nos. 709 and 711 West Third street at $2,500. Stryker, Manley & Buck represented the seller.

* * *

A flat property on Sixth street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues east, was sold by the Harris Realty company to Otto I. Edlen at a consideration of $6,000.

That office besides sold three and one-half acres on the Hermantown road for George Waddle to Edward Oak at $860.

* * *

The Cooley & Underhill company sold to C. F. Chamberlain, a house and lot on Third street, near Thirty-ninth avenue west at $4,000.

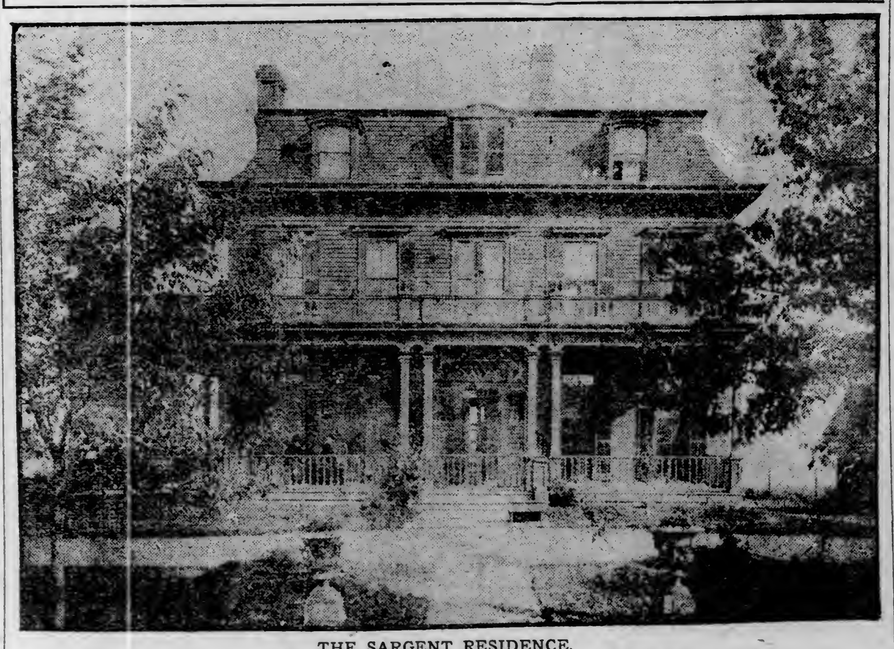
FAMOUS OLD DULUTH LANDMARK PASSES WITH DISMANTLING OF SARGENT RESIDENT



THE SARGENT RESIDENCE.

Duluth will lose one of its oldest landmarks when the old Sargent home at Forty-fifth avenue east and London road is dismantled. The property recently changed ownership and it is announced that the building is to be torn down and that the present owner, W. A. McKay, owner of the McKay hotel, will erect a modern residence on the site. Mr. McKay recently purchased the property from Mrs. D. M. Philbin. The lot is 400 by 400 feet.

The dismantling of the old Sargent home will carry the mind of old settlers back to the pioneer Duluth days, for the old house is closely associated with much of the city's early history. In the early days the place was regarded as a palatial residence. It was built in 1872 in the forest primeval and occupied for the first time during the late winter of 1873.

Burned Beacon for Sailors.

For many years the Sargent place has stood as a famous landmark. In the old days it was known far and wide for its hospitality to rich and poor alike. Being the only sizeable place on that portion of the north shore of Lake Superior, it is said that many a mariner got his bearings from its lights. On stormy nights it was the custom, for years, to keep a bright light burning in a conspicuous place all night for the benefit of incoming ships.

It is also told of the Sargent place that many a belated woodsman, tramping to Duluth from a north shore camp, was refreshed with a warm meal by the late Madam Sargent. In June, 1875, when twenty-seven steamers lay in the ice off Lester river and many of the passengers and the crew came ashore by jumping across the ice from cake to cake, it is said that more than 300 men and women were given a cup of warm coffee and otherwise hospitably provided for by this good woman.

Premier Social Event.

When Gen. George B. Sargent returned from Europe in the summer of 1873 the house was the scene of the biggest society event that Duluth, up to that time, had ever known. Selbert's band and a professional caterer from St. Paul were on hand to make the affair a success. Guests were on hand from far and near and every available conveyance in Duluth was requisitioned to provide means of transportation to and from the Sargent home; and many were brought by scow and tug and landed on the rocks near by.

An article that appeared in The Herald, under date of Aug. 4, 1873, describes the affair. In part, the story reads as follows:

"The magnificence of the parlors, the rich costumes added to the beauty and grace of the ladies and the refinement of the gentlemen, made it as dazzling to the republican eyes in our days as was the display of the court of Louis XVI to the eyes of the philosopher, Franklin. The general appeared in good spirits and the guests, to the number of about 200, passed the evening amid music, dancing, games and a social conviviality seldom equalled."

STYLE SHOW ON MONDAY

Merchants Busy Trimming Their Windows for the Opening.

Wholesalers Will Give Employes Chance to Visit Shops.

Everything will be ready Monday for the opening of Style Week in Duluth, and the merchants declare that nothing of its kind on so magnificent a scale has ever been seen in Duluth. The window trimmers are at work night and day arranging artistic displays and the jobbers, merchants and shoppers are expected to co-operate. A prize of $25 will be given for the best essay on the decorations.

One of the things that has pleased merchants more than anything else was the action of the Duluth wholesalers today. In order that all their employes might go downtown early Monday evening and see the displays they have decided to close sharply at 5 o'clock. Nearly every jobber in the city has made this decision and others are expected to fall in line before Monday night.

Even the weather man is favoring the merchants. H. W. Richardson, local forecaster, said today that unless something unexpected occurred the sun would shine and the air would be warm and balmy. No storms are now pending and good weather is looked for over the whole Northwest.

That the merchants are working with a will, is proved by the fact that many of the windows are already veiled, and the trimmers are at work arranging displays of spring and summer goods. The finest displays ever attempted in Duluth will be seen Monday. Many of the trimmers will work nearly all night tonight, and some will even work tomorrow that an especially good showing may be made.

The store windows will be unveiled at 5 p. m. Monday, when bombs will be shot from fourteen different corners from Second avenue east to Twenty-third avenue west. From 5 o'clock until 7 the stores will be closed. Then the doors will be opened, and the public will be invited to spend the evening inspecting new stocks and admiring the beautifully decorated windows. Shoppers may leave their pocketbooks at home Monday night, as no selling will be done, but during the following three days merchants will put all their goods on sale.

WHEN SPECIALIST FAILED.

James Hageganes Concentrated His Efforts; Is Arrested.

SPECIALIZATION usually brings success but it brought failure to James Hageganes, age 24, who insisted on stealing from one house each time he attempted a nocturnal visit. He will be given a hearing March 22, on a charge of grand larceny, bail having been set at $200.

On March 2, or thereabouts, some one stole a gun from R. J. Gorman, living at 128 West Third street. A few days later some one stole a suit and a raincoat from R. H. Hanson, who also lives at 128 West Third street.

Gorman, accompanied by Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, made a tour of the pawnshops, searching for his gun, and when he reached a shop at 627 West Superior street, he saw the suit and raincoat belonging to his friend, Hanson.

The shop-keeper described the man, who had pawned all the articles, and he was arrested shortly afterward.

HARD ON WIRES.

Telephone Manager Says House-Mover Interferes With Service.

When Andrew Johnson moved the telephone wires on Fourth avenue east, between Sixth and Seventh streets recently, in order to move a house, he disarranged the connections and interfered with the telephone service, according to a complaint sworn to in municipal court this morning by H. J. Gibbs of the Zenith Telephone company.

Johnson is a house-mover, and Mr. Gibbs alleges that when he practices his trade, Johnson disrupts the telephone service in the locality. He has enjoined him from moving the house now on wheels any further. The house-mover pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial. The case will come up before Judge F. H. Cutting on March 23.

Amateur Sleuth Jailed.

Joseph Friberg, alias Dan McGinnis, birthplace, Norway, failed in an attempt to "put one over" on the police last night, and spent the night in jail.

Friberg had heard so much about police headquarters, and the room for lodgers in the basement, that he thought he would do a little investigating, and accordingly applied to Jailer Andrew Wanvick for a night's lodging.

When the guest attempted some humor, with a touch of the third degree combined, Wanvick thought he was a little too "fresh," and when the bandinage failed to stop, he locked McGinnis of Norway in a cell.

The amateur detective found that he couldn't batter down the jail door with his fists, and after calling for help a while, subsided. In municipal court this morning a crestfallen sleuth pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness.

EMMA "IN" AGAIN.

Most Persistent Offender Sent to the County Jail, Her Usual Home.

Three days of freedom proved too much for Emma Star, and she went back to the county jail this morning for another sixty-day visit. Emma is the most persistent offender on record at police headquarters, and was booked last night for the eleventh offense.

She has lived in Duluth for many years and is married. With the exception of two or three day "vacations" every two or three months, she has lived in the county jail or the women's home for years.

She escaped from the home early in the week, and police have been speculating as to how long it would be before she would turn up again. Officer Westerlund picked her up early in the evening and she was "in" again for the limit.

Emma has spent so much of her time at the home or in jail that she has given up her legal residence in Duluth, unless it be the jail, according to police.

NO EVIDENCE; RELEASED.

Police Find No Record of Alleged Robbery and Let John Kozak Go.

Held on a charge of robbing Tom Tirechko, a laborer, of $300 about three years ago, John Kozak, age 38, was released by the police last night because of lack of evidence. No record of the alleged robbery could be discovered on the police records.

Three years ago, Tirechko told the police, he met two men while crossing the Lake avenue viaduct. They asked for money to get food and lodging; and Tirechko gave them 50 cents apiece. Not satisfied with such a small amount the pair persisted, and finally the "Good Samaritan" pulled out his $300 roll and, peeling off a $5 bill, handed it to one of the men.

Sight of so much money started trouble, for then the men drew knives and relieved Tirechko of the entire sum. After a long absence he returned to Duluth several days ago, and yesterday thought that he recognized Kozak as one of the robbers.

MARINE

DEMAND FOR GRAIN BOATS

Vessel Owners Are Offered Cargoes for an Early Opening.

No Ore Shipping Before May and Lull May Follow Rush.

While there is demand for lake vessels to carry grain, as soon as navigation opens, it is believed that it will be close to May 1, before there will be many vessels in the ore-carrying business, wholly because of lack of demand. According to present plans the first boats of the Pittsburg Steamship company will sail on April 28, but all of the fleet will not be in commission before May 6 or 7.

At the various ports of the Great Lakes, where Pittsburg boats have been wintering, about fifteen crews of engineers are getting the boats ready for the season and, it is announced, all of the out-fitting crews will be at work by April 1. Only one steamer and two barges of the Pittsburg company are in this harbor, and their fitting out began some weeks ago. They are the steamer Simon J. Murphy and the barges Malda and Manda.

The Pickands-Mather fleet, according to the Duluth agent, Herman Strom, will not begin fitting out for some time yet, as the season is uncertain as to business; other lines are in the same predicament.

As to the package freighters, it is believed here that they will start some time between April 20 and May 1. The Western Transit company's boats are all fitted out, ready for the engineers to get up steam, this being the only line that gets its boats ready in the fall. The Mutual has not started yet, but word to do so is expected soon. Concerning package freight business, G. L. Douglas, general agent of the Western Transit company, said today that there is a large accumulation of freight to be shipped via the Great Lakes, at each end of the line.

Brisk Opening.

"I look for the first two weeks of the season to be very brisk in freight," said he today, "but after that the prospects are that it will slow down, and unless something unforeseen occurs, business will be quite dull."

The following boats, all but two of them steamers, which wintered in the Duluth harbor, together with the names of their owners, follow:

LOSES WHEEL BUCKING ICE

Tug Minnesota Breaks Down; Steamer Corrigan Not Yet Placed.

More difficulty is being experienced in placing the steamer James Corrigan under the spouts of the Capitol elevator to load wheat than was looked for. To add to the difficulty, the tug Minnesota split her wheel just before noon today and lost it entirely. It is not known whether her shaft is injured. The tug had to be taken to a drydock to be repaired and will likely not be out again until Monday or Tuesday.

The Minnesota and her sister tug, the Wisconsin, started yesterday morning to take the Corrigan from the Peavey slip to the Capitol slip. A great deal of heavy ice was encountered and this morning when efforts were made to get into the Capitol slip clear, blue ice of three feet thickness was found from the entrance of the slip, presumably all the way down. The tugs and the steamer could make little impression on it, and it was while "bucking" it that the Minnesota split her wheel.

It is not believed that the Corrigan will get under the spouts for several days yet, for the thick ice, even if entrance to the slip is accomplished, must be broken away from the side before the steamer can tie up in a position for loading.

Efforts to move other steamers will be guided a good deal by the success attained in placing the Corrigan.

STEAMER FOR ATLANTIC.

Sharples Brings $90,000; Was Wrecked in 1910.

For the steel steamer John Sharples, sold by the Reid Wrecking company to New York parties for $90,000, one-half or $45,000, will be paid in cash and the balance in one and two years. She will go to the coast at the opening of navigation.

The Sharples was formerly owned by the Great Lakes & St. Lawrence Transportation company. She was wrecked on Garden Islands, Lake Ontario, in 1910, and the underwriters settled with the owners for a total loss. The Reid Wrecking company and Capt. H. W. Baker of Detroit floated the steamer and the Reids later bought her from the underwriters.

CITY OF VERA CRUZ BEING FORTIFIED

Washington, March 20.—Carranza forces are digging trenches and fortifying Vera Cruz with a series of barbed wire stockades, apparently in anticipation of attack by Villa-Zapata forces. Advices to the state department today say the barbed wire extends from a point on the beach to the railroad about a mile and a half north of the city and will be continued to Tejeria, making a semi-circle.

ADDING TO LIST OF JITNEY BUSSES

Duluth has had a week of experimenting with the "jitney" bus.

Since a week ago, when two cars were put on by J. O. Renning, a former D., M. & N. engineer, the number has increased to nine. This morning the list was swelled again by a limousine, which joined the Fords and answered to the call for a "jitney."

Cold weather the last two days has interfered with the business to some extent, according to Mr. Renning. A warm street car looks pretty good when the wind blows.

"As soon as we can educate people into the habit of watching for the busses," declared Mr. Renning, "we expect a big improvement. At present, however the idea has not a very firm footing in Duluth.

"We are going to go over the residence sections this afternoon," he continued, "and plan new lines to be started next week. There is a field for four or five more "jitney" lines, and we expect to put on several more cars within a few days."

TRI-COUNTY ORGANIZATION

New Improvement Association to Affiliate With State Society.

Farmers representing St. Louis, Carlton and Lake counties, who gathered yesterday at the Northeastern Minnesota experimental station to attend the closing session of the annual two weeks' short course arranged by the University of Minnesota, yesterday afternoon organized the Tri-County Improvement association, to be composed of farmers of the three counties named. The new organization will affiliate with the State Crop Improvement association.

William Ward of Lake county was elected president; M. J. Martinson of St. Louis county, first vice president; Ole Olson of Carlton county, second vice president, and M. J. Thompson, superintendent of the experimental farm, secretary and treasurer. The association will receive bulletins and publications of the state association and agricultural college and an attempt will also be made to standardize potato and seed varieties.

Yesterday afternoon, an association for the registration of Guernsey cattle was also organized by the farmers' clubs. The association is the first of its kind for this part of the country.

The farmers yesterday adopted a resolution urging the legislature to pass the portion of the university budget, which provides for the erection of a dormitory and other buildings at the experimental farm.

Today farmers and students who have been attending the short course were taken on a sight-seeing tour through Duluth's business district. Packing plants, wholesale grocery and hardware houses, commission firms and other places were visited.

INTEREST IN FARM CLUBS GROWING

Interest in the work of farmers' clubs seems to be growing in St. Louis county, according to H. G. Larson, county agricultural agent. In his weekly letter he says:

"Considerable interest seems to be developing throughout the rural sections. No less than four calls for farmers' meetings have been received at the county agent's office for Saturday evening, March 20. One came from Sawyer, Carlton county, near the Fond du Lac Indian reservation; another from Forbes, St. Louis county; another from the Bear River Farmers' club, thirty miles from Hibbing, and the fourth from Cook, twenty-five miles north of Virginia, where a new club has recently been organized.

"The Bear River people will be accommodated this time. This fact that the farmers think enough of their own business to form a good live and active club in their community means that there are better times in store for the tillers of the soil. A newspaper dispatch recently stated the government spends annually upon her army and navy $350,000,000, while the department of agriculture spends $17,000,000 only. What would happen if that situation could be reversed for a year or two? How many pure bred horses, hogs and sheep would it place in communities where people still think they cannot afford to keep anything but scrub stock of all descriptions?

"Therefore, the more farmers' clubs the better. The more good, interesting farmers' gatherings, the better we like it."

IN 1912
we offered to a prospect a Lake Worth lot and five acres of orange land for $250. He said "tomorrow." In 1914 that lot sold for $6,500 cash money and he blamed his so-called luck. The rapid growth of Lake Worth, Fla., is known in every state of the U. S. A.

TODAY
we offer "you" the chance to buy the last of the low priced fruit and truck lands on the famous southeast coast sold on our most successful combination contract plan.

$175, $10 a month, buys a lot in North Deerfield and five acres of land. Our next good town and the best investment since Lake Worth. Don't say "tomorrow." A postal brings pamphlets.
